INTRODUCING
THE CLASS OF 1999

TO THE CLASS OF 1999

Welcome! You are just beginning one of the greatest adventures of your career--law school. The next few years will be difficult, but can be very rewarding. When you are preparing to sit for the bar examination, you will be truly glad you've had the excellent education you got here at the University of Buffalo Law School.

It probably seems strange to be thinking about graduation so early in your career, but as you will soon recognize, time will seem to fly by very quickly. Before you know it your law school days will be ending and you will need to prepare for the bar exam. A solid bar preparation is extremely important to passing the most important exam of your life. Almost all law students take some kind of bar review course, which will cost them a fair sum of money. The bar exam preparatory course prices have been on the rise for the last few years, and will continue to rise annually. There are two money saving options that all bar review courses recommend. These are:

1. Pay a small deposit to "lock in" the lowest price; or
2. Become a representative of a bar review course and earn yourself either a free, or a substantially discounted bar review course.

We at Pieper Bar Review would like you to consider these options carefully. Either of these options will save you a great deal of money. As prices go up yearly, the student who locked in their rate in their first year of law school will probably save several hundred dollars over what their colleagues who did not sign up until their senior year are going to pay. We certainly want new and energetic representatives as well.

Every bar review course will be offering gadgets and gimmicks to get you to take their course which is "the best". Here is my suggestion: ask around. Speak to your friends and family who have taken the bar exam. Get as much input from those who have had the bar exam experience as you can and then make your decision. But make your decision early.

Pieper Bar Review will honor the current rates throughout this year. They will even work with you if you sign up for another bar review course and later decide to transfer to Pieper. So, ask your friends. I believe that you will like what you hear about Pieper.

In any event, enjoy your first semester: work hard, score well, and good luck during the next three years. If you have any questions, feel free to call us at the office, 1-800-635-6569.
