EDITORIAL POLICY

In the Public Interest, a review of law and society, is published annually by students in the law school at the State University of New York at Buffalo. Staff membership is open to all students. The journal is committed to printing articles which examine legal issues in their social, historical, and political contexts.

Our main source of material is, currently, anonymously submitted seminar papers by law students, however, we welcome manuscripts from faculty and law practitioners as well as written work from the perspectives of other disciplines.

In the Public Interest is distributed to students, law school libraries, and public interest organizations. Subscriptions are currently free; back issues are available for the price of postage. A subscription fee may be requested in the future. To be placed on the mailing list, contact In the Public Interest at the address below.
