[To the Associated Press.] ROCKLAND, Nov. 30.—About 6 o'clock last evening a man was found in an insensible and apparently dying condition on the old Thomaston road, in the suburbs of the city, and on being removed to the police station, was found to have a pistol shot wound in the right side of his head. The ball had penetrated the frontal bone and lodged in the brain. He remained unconscious until 3 o'clock this morning, when he died. A sum of money, a watch, papers and a box of cartridges were found on his person. Subsequently, a pistol was found on the road where the man had lain. The papers proved bim to be Giovanni Battistoni, an Italian, 26 years of age, who had previously worked in the Hurricane Island granite quarries, but had just now arrived from Italy. He was seen here vesterday. It is stated that he lost his baggage on landing in New York. Doubtless he committed suicide from discouragement.

Senatorial Struggle.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—The day was spent in the Senate on the motion to recommit the report of the Kellogg committee. The debate was principally confined to Returning Board questions and to the Hamburg massacre. Ben Hill returned to his attack of yesterday, and while assuming to be a chivalric Southern gen-tlemen, continued to speak of Butler as de-scendant of Perry and Marion, and of Kellogg as "that man." A Massachusetts Senator, in private conversation, stated Hill's position in this epigrammatic way: "The issue is not what blood is in Butler's veine, but what is upon his hands." Gov. Palmer's connection with the Louisiana affair was again brought to nublic notice. The Democrats had charged that the new evidence which they wish to pro-duce in the Louisiana case was that of some official of the Returning Board who claims to have been a witness of the alleged frandulent manipulation of the Vernon partish returns. WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 .- The day was spent have been a witness of the alleged fraudulent manipulation of the Vernon parish returns. Even if this were true, the entire matter was irrelevant to the question of seating Kellogs, for the reason that the member from Vernon par-ish, whose election was claimed to be void, was a Democratic and was not present in the Kellogg Legislature, neither at its organization nor at the time when Kellogg was elected, and had he been would have voted against Kellogg. In no sense, therefore, could the legality of the election of this member have affected Kellogg's election. These facts showed the shallowness of the protest of the desire for justice, and de-monstrated the fact that the Democrats only desire delay. The point was made by the Re-publicans that these Returning Board clerks might be actuated by a desire of gain, as Gov. Palmer said that the famous Littlefield was. Mr. McDonald of Indiana indignanity denied that Gov. Palmer made any such such state-that Gov. Palmer made any such such state-ment. He was soon after referred to the record where Gov. Palmer said these words: "I had in my mind the onioion that Tilden, if elected, would give him (Littlefield) a place somewhere outside of Louisiana—somewhere in the North. I had of a general idea that he might be put in somewhere, and that he would be rewarded in this way." A feature of the day was Mr. Conkling's arraigument of the Democrats for their inconsis-tency. Two days ago they were opposing an investigation of Butler before he was seated, on the ground that delay of that sort was en-croachment upon the rights of a sovereign state. croachment upon the rights of a sovereign state. Today, he said, they are anxious to examine Kellogg on matters entirely immateriai to his right to a seat. The debate upon the Hamburg massacre developed no new features. It con-sisted largely of crimination and recrimination.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—The Senate took up the Paris Exposition bill reported from the committee and passed it after agreeing to all the amendments except that increasing the appro-priation from $150,000 to $185,000, which was left at the sum fixed by the House at the sug-gestion of Mr. Kernan. He argued it was admitted in the Kellogg case that thirteen members of the legislature which elected Kellogg Senator had not been elected by the people but were re-turned as elected by the Returning Board. The Sonators on the other side of the chamber turbed as elected by the Keturning Board. Mr. Howe said Spofford made no charge of frand against Kellogg and the Returning Board before the Committee on Privileges and Elections until the 22d of November, after all the world had been advised that in order to hurry on the Butler case it was necessary to postpone the Kellogg case. Mr. Hill said Judge Spofford presented his charges and offered to prove them in Octo-ber.

Mr. Howe took issue with the gentleman and appealed to the record. He then referred to the action of Returning Board and said the Senator from Delaware (Saulsbury) or Mr.

I feel compelled to give this vote the attempt is made not only to read me out of the party but to place my character beneath contempt. I have thought it due to the Republicans of South Carolina, to the Senate and myself, that I should briefly allade to the the facts upon which the case rests and the principles which coatrol my actions. I shall bear in silence, with such philosophy as I may command, the sneers of enemies, the vituperations of black-guards, and criticism of friends. Patterson, in closing his remarks, referred to the President's Southere policy, criticising it at som elength. The question being on the substitute of Mr. Sanisbury, the vote resulted, yeas 29, nays 29, as follows: history have provinces ever acted as did these despised states of the sunny South? The men of the South had stood up for their convictions. They were victims of the curse of slavery, and plunged by it into war. No men on the face of the earth ever carried themselves better or more nobly. When rain was their portion and their fortunes were poured into the open maw of war, they rose to a nobility that was enb-lime." (The church shook with applause.) He then referred to a new peril-the peril of nfamous dishonesty-that of repudiation of the debt of the country. He claimed that the Feas-Messrs. Bailey, Bayard, Beck, Cockrell, Coke, Davis of W. Infamous dishonesty-that of reputiation of the debt of the country. He claimed that the foreign population had stood sternly for the payment of the debt, and he wished to be us derstood as hereafter advocating full liberty to the humblest individual in the masses of our foreign citizens. He opposed legislating upon the standard of finances, saying Congress could as well legislate eight inches into a foot as to legislate silver into gold. The silver issue he characterized as an pressed reputiation, and said that whoever tampers with the standard of gold tampers with everything that is impor-tant to the country's good and prosperity. He said the prosperity of this country is as-sured. To speak candidly I should prefer the great Republican party by which this country was rescued from peril should continue to hold the helm, but if its hands have become para-lyzed give me some other strong hand. If the lights of the Republican party have been ex-tingaished and can no longer guide the ship of state along the rocky coast, give us others. (Applause.) The Senate on motion of Mr. Dorsey took a recess till 7.30 p.m. At the evening session Bayard spoke against the resolution before the Sanate. He read ex-tracts from opinions of Judges Strong and Bradley as members of the Electoral Commis-sion. The opinions of these two judges were to the effect that the right of each house to insti-tute any scrutiny as to the election of a member was absolute, and Messrs. Hoar and Garfield, other members of the committee, took the same ground. Teneyck the perpetrator of the shocking crime. NORTHAMPTON, Nov. 29.—A stabbing affray which will result in the death of two persons occurred in this town at 5.30 this morning. Matthew Davenport, an Englishman, aged 50, advertised to pay no debts of his wife's con-tracting a month ago, because she had left him. The two frequently quarrelled over their children. She had left him about three times, the third time about a month ago. She has since been living with an American hamed Prat, about 55 years of age, and a sort of preaching Methodist, who recently came to town from parts unknown. Last night Daven-port concealed himself in the cellar of the honse where Pratt and his paramour lived. At half-past 5 this morning Mrs. Davenport went down cellar for wood to light the fire when Daveoport sprang upon her, pounded her on the head with a butcher's knife.

on the head with a ball club and then stabbed her in the right breast with a butcher's knife. Her cries attracted Pratt, who rushed down stairs and grappled with Davenport. The two fought some time, when Pratt received a six inch cut across the abdomen, which let his in-testines out. The neighbors hearing the cries rushed in and separated the men. Pratt can-not live long, and the woman's life is doubtful. Davenport, who was committed to jail, says he doesn't care to live and wished he had killed them both outright.

Every Democrat disfran-chised in Louisiana was disfranchised by the judgment of a tribunal charged by the laws of Louisiana to do so if the laws of the state war-ranted it. Every Democrat was disfranchised on account of crime, but every Republican dis-franchised in Louisiana was disfranchised in defiance of law and by criminals. Mr. Gordon asked if the disfranchisement of the citizens of Louisiana was not in violation of the 94th article of the constitution of the state.

were moulded by the hands of another. It is unnecessary for me to review in detail the causes that led to the assured triumph of the Democratic party in South Carolina at the last general election. It was in my judgment the triumph of might over right. It was not won by any just and lawful methods known to the elective system of the government. To achieve it. A free ballot was crushed in the iron grasp of an armed force. This was my judgment in February and March last, based upon the tes-tionony set forth in a memorial sent to Con-gress signed by Republican state officers and senators and representatives in the general assideration of the case be postponed till then. Mr. Edmunds said this was a violation of the agreement just made that the question should e voted on Mr. Merrimon did not so understand it, but as that view was taken of the amendment he withdrew it. On an observation are as the Executive De-partment an elaborate argument in support of the legal propositions that it contained voluminous testimony to sustain its allegations as to matters of fact. When it became known' that the President contemplated the removal of the troops from the state a thrill of horror went through the heavies of the Remulticence of South through the bears of the Republicans of South Carolina and they crowded the national capi-tel to make a solemn protest and earnest ap-peal against an act which they were bound to hold as the foulest treachery and most unde-served and untimely wrong of which the his-tory of political parties furnishes any record oath. As a single objection is sufficient to prevent a nomination being taken for action on a same day it is reported from a committee, these nominations if reported today will undoubtedly have to lie over till tomorrow, and in the event of there being no executive session be-fore the close of the present legislative day, or if from any other cause they fail to be placed on the celendar before the commencement of on the calendar before the commencement of tomorrow's session, the operation of the same rule will defeat any final action upon them, could they but discover elsewhere in the South that era of good feeling, disintegration of their opponents, or even the uprising of the old line Whig element which was so confidently prophesied and fondly anticipated. They have followed so many strange gods since the death of that noble old party, and been so frequently reinhabilitated in new costumes that they defy recognition by their most intimate acquain-ternes and they will fail at the expiration of the ses sion.

Death of Mr. Burton

Thanksgiving Day in Portland.

Alfred M. Burton, the Treasurer of the Maine Savings, died at his residence in this city Thursday morning, aged 53 years and 8 nonths. He was born in Gorham, Me., March 9th, 1824, and was the son of William Barton, a farmer and well known citizen of Gorham, who survives. His mother, whose maiden name was Mary Berry, is dead. He was well known to our citizens in various ositions which he has filled in mercantile life s book-keeper for the firms of Smith & Hersey and Charles Rogers & Co., as a partner in firm of Fillebrown & Borton, and for many years as Cashier and then Treasurer of the Maine Savings Bank, in all of which he has maintained a high character for honor and ability. He was a member of the New Jerusalem church, and for a long time Superintendent of its Sunday School. In Masonry he was an active and valued member, long S cretary of Atlantic Lodge and Mount Vernon text, which he said was a prophesy now in the Chapter, a member of Portland Commandery course of fulfilment. The Jewish preacher inand of Portland Conneil, of which latter he stanced Christians and Mahommetans as worwas at one time presiding officer. He was also shippers of the God of Abraham, and adverted Treasurer of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of to the growing influence of Unitarian writers Maine from 1868 to 1873, inclusive, and a memin calling back Christians from tritheism: he ber of the Board of Trustees; also President of also instanced the growing custom of an anthe Masonic Relief Association. He was much interested in the cause of education, introduced phonographic writing into this city, and was so earpest in advocating it, that he taught private classes. In his earlier days he was so temarkably fine a penman that his services were sought as teacher in institutes to explain and exhibit the principles of calligraphy. His own education was secured at Gorham Seminary, and after graduation there he taught school for a time. He was an earnest and active member in the Mercantile Library Association. He leaves a widow and two children, a daughter and a son, who is a student in Bowdoin College. The wife was Martha J. L., daughter of John R. Latrabee. His disease was of the valves of the heart, which had given him trouble for several years. His brother-inlaw, Dr. John A. Larrabee, was fortunately visiting here, and he had the most devoted attention and the best of medical skill.

in calling back Christians from tritheism; he also instanced the growing custom of an ap-nual thanksciving, which he declared to be identical with the feast of Tabernacles. Since that sermon was preached the President of the United States had by his proclamation made the day still more universally observed. When the prophesy of Zachariah was uttered there seemed to be no hope that the various nations would unite in thanksgiving to one God and and Father of all. Many deemed it impossible for men to come to any unity of theological belief, but Dr. Hill thought that certainty of knowledge and uniformity of belief would, through the influence of scientific study, grad-nally creep upward and finally include much religious opinion. The heart is wiser than the the head, and is wont to tell a man more than he can learn from all the watchmen that peer out from his eyes and ears. In like manner in religion, the sentiments of awe and veneration, of obligation to daty, of gratitude for blessings lead us to give thanks; and we need not fear that these sentiments lead us astray; or that the thanksgiving when sincere, is not accept-able. The preacher alladed to some reasons why a Christian believer had particular cause for gratitude, because in the gospel, the divine attribute of love was made so prominent, and the words of our Lord Jesus Christ were in-variably such words of comfort and of good cheer, for every one except the self-lighteons, the proud, the hanghty, the malicious, the hardhearted and cruel. Portland, Col. F. E. Shaw and C. M. Bailey have been holding religious services in the Methodist and Baptist churches at Vassalboro, this being the third week. Some considerable English Dramatists of the Elizabethan interest has been manifested, and the continu-ance of the meetings depends upon the con-tinuance of the interest. Three meetings were held Sunday. At the close of the afternoon a large number of inquirers assembled in the ves-try of the Baptist church.

The new meeting-house of the Free Baptist at Deer Isle was dedicated the 14th inst. The sermon was preached by Rev. A. Houston, the dedicatory prayer was offered by Rev. Z. Davis, dedicatory prayer was offered by Rev. Z. Davis, and the benediction pronounced by Rev. L. Collins. The new church is a neat building of a seating capacity of 200. It was projected and nearly paid for by the persistent efforts of a few hard working women. The beginning of this enterprise was a sewing circle ten years ago, to which each woman contributed one egg and one skein of woolen yarn.

THE ULMER BENEFIT. - The threatening weather interfered with the attendance at the benefit to Miss Lizzie May Ulmer last evening, and the audience was not as large] as the merit of the beneficiary and the worth of the performance deserved. Miss Ulmer was very cordially received, and it was evident from the marks of approbation bestowed upon her that she has lost pone of her old-time popularity in Portland. The bill, "The Lady's Battle" and "Crossing the Line," was happily presented and Sir Randal Roberts gave an excellent recitation of the "Charge of the Light Brigade," delivered with fine expression. Th's alternoon and evening "Pink Dominoes," which everybody wants to see, will be produced. This is the best abused play now on the boards, and so excites general cariosity. It has never been brought out in Portland. ENTERTAINMENT IN WILLISTON CHAPEL .-

The reading by Miss S. Emma Cowell of New York in Williston Chapel last evening, was a very enjoyable entertainment. Miss Cowell has a pleasant and expressive face and a full, rich, well modulated voice. Her selections were varied and well chosen, and embraced the serious, the comic and the descriptive in good proportions. Miss Cowell has much dramatic power and her reading of descriptive passages is natural and effective and there is no overstraining for effect as is often observable in professional elocationists. The selections most enjoyed by the audience seemel to be "An" Idyl of the Period", "Badger's Debut as Hamlet" and "Female Tenderness." Where all was so good, however, it is hard to make distinctions, for nothing on the whole programme was poorly rendered. WARWICK MUSICAL .- Next Wednesday eve. accidents there is so very little loss of life.
