Congressman Brown Supports Monument

COLTON -- Today, Congressman George E. Brown, Jr. announced his co-sponsorship of House Joint Resolution 70, a bill which allows the Alpha Phi Alpha Fraternity to construct a monument in honor of Martin Luther King, Jr. on the grounds of the National Mall in Washington, D.C.

The monument to honor Dr. King will be paid for entirely through private contributions. Alpha Phi Alpha will organize a nationwide design competition and led private fundraising efforts to pay for all phases of the monument's establishment.

"I strongly support the construction of this monument...it will not only serve as a tribute to one of America's greatest leaders, but it will continue to remind us and future generations of the struggles endured by Dr. King and the ideals set forth by the Civil Rights Movement," concluded Congressman Brown. "No figure in American history has embodied more genuinely the spirit of unity and cooperation which is so desperately needed today."

Congressman Brown is the Ranking Democratic member on the House Committee on Science and is a senior member of the House Committee on Agriculture.

Will Slaughter's Murderer Go Free?

By Cheryl Brown
Black Voice News

"I'm going to kill the next n..... who messes around with my daughter," said Charles Gilbertson according to attorney Mark Geragos. "I have witnesses who told investigators after the shooting of Jamall Slaughter they heard him say this," explained Geragos "He was also laying in wait which should bring the special circumstances said attorney Al Ross of Beverly Hills, and attorney for the family. The mother was banging on the door with a broom and Gilbertson, who admitted through his attorney that he was standing in the dark, came up behind Jamall on his right, Jamall never saw him. How could this be, he feared for his life," he said.

The retired LAPD Officer Charles Gilbertson, who shot and killed basketball star Slaughter on May 30 said in court yesterday he feared for his own safety during the preliminary hearing. This unusual case allows the potential witnesses in the courtroom. Both children of the accused were there. Daughter Patricia 15, was in the basketball star's apartment when her father killed him. The son Brian called the police to come get his sister out of the apartment.

The potential witnesses in the court room caused extreme discomfort to the family. LaToya Green, Jamall's mother wanted to talk to the family but didn't indicate what she was going to say. Jamall's father, Dwight Slaughter, on the other hand got into a loud argument with son Brian until the Bailiff threatened to throw out anyone arguing.

During Monday's hearing, Gilbertson's Attorney, Deputy Public Defender David Negus and said his client never intended to kill Slaughter, but he feared for his daughter's safety. Later this prompted Jamall's father, to tell Black Voice News, "they are going to try to let this man off. He killed my son. He killed him and he bragged he will not have to go to jail for killing a n....."

Gilbertson's attorney said the father feared for the safety of his daughter. The Public Defender continued to say Jamall was in the process of a felony because he was having sex with a minor. Gilbertson, Negus said, thought she was being raped and thought he (Jamall) was involved in gang activity. He was not a gang banger, he was a student at Chaffey College. All of the basketball players lived in an apartment provided by Chaffey College in a complex managed by Gilbertson's wife.

Editorial

Letters to the Editor

It is clear to us that most of the people who don't live in our community hate us.

We range in age from 10-17 and are mostly male.

We want to thank all of the people who supported the fund-raiser at O.J. Simpson's home. We feel sorry for those of you who called our center and called us niggers and wet backs, who cursed our secretaries most of whom are females. We feel sorry for those of you who called our supporters and tried to close our organization down.

We thank our counselors and staff here at Stop The Violence-Increase The Peace Foundation. We thank God that our community loves us and we love them and in spite of all the horrible racist things that they have said about us, we must not hate you.

To Be Equal -- Church Fires: What Are They Telling Us?

Hugh B. Price

"If you want to defeat them, distract them" - Anonymus

Church fires are horrible assaults on families and communities.

It is critical that we sift through the ashes and determine the real culprits behind the burnings.

The culprit is ignorance, programmed by sensational political rhetoric and others who spew misinformation from high places that heightens hate and mean-spiritedness.

The culprit is the society that tolerates irrational fears and creates the angry white male.

The culprit is the society that breeds the grounds for repulsive acts like church burnings, businesses like The Redneck Shop, and hoisting a Confederate flag atop of the South Carolina State House dome.

In South Carolina, two men convicted of burning the Mt. Zion AME were Ku Klux Klansmen. But are they the real culprits? Wage stagnation, along with massive layoffs, and an uncertain economy has fueled a backlash from the economic "victims." The backlash has resulted in a malicious attack against anything and anybody perceived to be responsible for their condition.

In Charlotte, NC, Urban League President Madine H. Fails sees evidence that whites perceive that "...blacks and other minorities have somehow taken away white people's privileges and rights. Blaming Black people for the economic ills of this country is like being the White man who dropped out of school in the eighth grade, but who beat up a Black man with a Ph.D. because the Black man was driving a better car. What kind of logic is that?"

"It's the same kind of logic that results in the burning of churches. Implicit in that kind of anger is the belief somehow that White people inherently deserve more than Black people no matter what."

The truth of White male fear has been exposed -- it appears that their power structure, stealthily maintained for virtually over 400 years in these United States has been shaken. In South Carolina alone, thirty-six houses of worship have been burned since 1991. The congregations of twenty-one of those churches are predominately Black.

These violent acts of arson have taken a toll on our entire community. Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere.

"Today a Black church, tomorrow a synagogue, or a Muslim mosque," says Laura Keeling, President of the Trident Urban League on Charleston, SC. We have to fight this crime in our community because of the threat it poses for the well-being of us all.

Urban League affiliates throughout America and specifically those in communities that have been affected by the church burnings - Charlotte, Memphis, Portland, Birmingham, Charleston -- vigorously support race relations and anti-hate/anti-crime initiatives.

We must call on those who are still on the sidelines to join us and others to defeat this great evil.

Martin Niemoller, the German theologian once said, "All that is required for evil to triumph is for good men to do nothing."

We cannot do nothing. We must defeat the efforts of those who try to use America's economic worries to manipulate and further polarize people. Those worries must be properly addressed through candid dialogue and education.

That is why we again call on the administration and Congress to enact the National Urban League's proposal to implement a coordinated, targeted, and accountable investment strategy that includes infrastructure rebuilding programs that would train, employ and prepare for the jobs being created by a changing economy.

For Men Only: Marriage Helps You Live Longer

Rockville, Md -- In a research summary released by the National Institute for Healthcare Research, David B. Larson, M.D., president, warned that if you're a man, single life may be hazardous to your health. Larson cites a new study from the Royal Free Hospital School of Medicine in London which suggests that the social support men receive from their wives may actually prolong their lives. Larson quipped, "Who would ever think that a man could actually benefit from a wife who fussed over his health and well-being?"

In a longer term study of nearly 8,000 men, the researchers found that men who have never married or have recently divorced have a significantly greater risk of and non-cardiovascular diseases than married men.

When comparisons were made between the mortality risks of married men with never-married, divorced, or widowed men, the researchers found that never-married men had nearly twice the risk of dying from non-cancer, non-cardiovascular disease causes. Even after taking other risk factors such as age, social class, smoking, and pre-existing diseases into account, being single rather than married still increased a man's risk of dying. "Additionally," Larson noted, "widowed men were nearly two-and-a-half times more likely to die from non-cardiovascular disease causes than were their married counterparts."

Experiencing a major change in marital status was also found to increase a man's likelihood of dying early. Men who divorced during the study increased their risk of dying from cardiovascular disease by nearly 200 percent and increased their risk of dying from non-cardiovascular disease causes by an even greater 400 percent. Divorced men were also much more likely than either married or widowed men to smoke, drink, or be unemployed. Interestingly, men who became widowed during the course of the study did not increase their risk of dying, suggesting that losing a spouse through divorce may be more costly to a man's health and longevity than losing a spouse through death.

The researchers concluded that the increased risk of death among never-married and recently divorced men was not sufficiently explained by poor health or exposure to any other health risk factors. Instead, the researchers determined that "the social support offered by marriage may exert a protective effect for some men."

The National Institute for

Healthcare Research is a non-profit organization dedicated to conducting and disseminating research on the significance of spirituality to health and well-being. The organization produces educational materials, and conducts a worldwide media outreach.

Tri Star Dental Gentle on Kids and Adults

By Cheryl Brown
 Black Voice News

Dr. Lloyd Walker and Dr. Robert Williams had a novel idea. Move a dental practice to a town where Walker grew up. That was seven years ago and the budding practice is now full blown and customers are still coming. But there is still room for more.

Walker a native of Ohio, grew up in San Bernardino. He is a graduate of San Bernardino High School. Walker's victory is sweeter because he was discouraged by a high school counselor who scoffed at his idea of becoming a dentist. "She told me I wasn't college material," he said. As a result Walker was steered into going to school to repair televisions. He didn't have the heart even though he was good the idea of becoming a dentist was paramount. In 1978 he graduated from the University of California San Francisco, and a two year residency in Pediatric Dentistry at the renown King-Drew Hospital in Los Angeles. Of Walker, it is said he is a "people's person," once in his presence, one is immediately at ease. Walker is married to Doshia and he has two children and is now a grandfather.

Dr. Williams is a graduate of Howard University School of Dentistry. He was born and raised in Birmingham, Al where he went to public school during elementary he attended a private Catholic Jr. and High school and finished up at kingly background. He is the perfect example of what they say of African Americans descending from kings and queens of Africa. Williams' speaks fondly of his first wife who put him through school but who died tragically in February 1971 leaving him two children to raise. He did a good job, his daughter graduates from UCLA this fall and his son is a graduate in Marketing and lives in Atlanta.

The team of Walker and Williams both have taken the fear out of dentistry. "We explain to the patient each procedure and even show them with a camera what it looks like," they said. Children love them, they specialize in pediatric dental care but anything you need see them first. You will be happy you did. When was the last time you had a dental cleaning or check up? Call them today for an appointment.

BUSINESS of the week

Dr. Lloyd B. Walker

Parker High School the school where Mrs. Colin Powell's father was principal. "I was good from the very start. I grew up in a segregated system and we were encouraged to reach to the top." His father wanted him to become an electrical engineer and he did everything to oblige him. But it wasn't what he wanted to do. After attending different schools he decided to follow his dream. He graduated from Howard in the top 10% of his class and was awarded a very prestigious internship with the Veteran's Administration.

Williams was Walker's dentist before they began practicing. His pleasant personality and affable smile greet you when you walk in the door. It has been said he reminds one of a Shakespearean actor that is for the moment out of character in his dental coat. He has a deep baritone voice and the mannerisms of a regal,

Two Ladies of CA. Honored

Mrs. Betty J. Foster wife of Dr. LeMar Foster, Sr., recently graduated from the International Minister's Wives and Widows Association School of Instruction (under the direction of Virginia Union College, Richmond, VA). She was one of two Californians to be so honored after twelve consecutive years of one-week courses, held in various U.S. cities one week during the month of June.

Mrs. Betty J. Foster

Mrs. E. Jean Ferrell, wife of Dr. Ferrell, of San Diego, CA was the other California graduate. Mrs. Betty J. Foster is a former 2nd Vice President of Association and Mrs. E. Jean Ferrell is a former State President of Association.

The International Plaza, Toronto, Canada, was the scene of this special day as the ladies (approximately twenty-five) moved down the aisles in white robes and green stoles. Next year they have the opportunity to return for another week of studies and receive a medallion to attach to their green stoles.

All classes offered are church and personal growth related, taken in increments of four one-week classes (a class a year) at which time a certificate of completion is offered. At the end of three groupings of four-year co-related studies, equaling 12-years, which cumulates in calibrated hours of college extension growth.

Congratulations to both ladies who have led the way for California.

Local Alliance Speaks Out on Burnings

SBEA and RCTF Speaks Out on Recent Church Burnings

Recently in North San Bernardino a burning cross was placed in the front yard of African-American family's homes.

Burning a cross is an evil act of cowardice that affects the whole community. It is not just a statement of hatred and violence made to a single family; it is an act of hostility against all people who desire racial harmony. It is particularly an act of hostility against all people who know the cross to be a symbol of peace and reconciliation.

This was a secret act of cowards done in the darkness to which we, the members of the San Bernardino Evangelical Association and the Religious Community Task Force openly reudiate. The symbolism of the burning cross runs counter to what both of these, cross racial, groups have been working toward. Over the past several years in San Bernardino we have been praying together, worshipping together, preaching in one another services, and working together in sponsoring city wide events such as the "here's Hope Crusade" and "Easter services".

To those who did this evil to our whole community know this: God sees all and all men are accountable to Him.

On behalf of the San Bernardino Evangelical Association and the Religious Community Task Force.

Questions & Answers

Dr. Reginald Woods

QUESTION: Dear Pastor Woods: Matthew 28 tells of the commission of the disciples to go out into the world and preach the gospel to all people. My question is doesn't this apply chiefly to pastors, evangelists, and preachers since they are equivalent to the disciples of Jesus' day?

S.W. Highland, CA

"Are We All To Witness?"

ANSWER: This "Great Commission" extends beyond those called to the clergy. This commission contains responsibilities for all believers. II Corinthians 5:20 states that we are all "ambassadors for Christ." We all are to represent Christ through our lifestyle and message. A representative spreads the same message as the person they are representing. Matthew 5:13-14 states, "You are the salt of the earth... you are the light of the world... (you). Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

The scriptures comprehensively indicate that each believer has the responsibility to share Jesus Christ with the world. You may not travel abroad but "your world" is where you live - your family, relatives, neighbors, friends, work and schoolmates. You can reach people that your pastor does not even know.

One does not have to be a Bible school graduate to share Jesus. You do have this message, "I was blind, but now I see." Share with others your personal testimony on how Jesus changed your life.

If you have a question that you would like answered, write: Dr. Reginald L. Woods, Life Changing Ministries, P.O. Box 9778, San Bernardino, CA 92427-9778

Crane and Krushall Wed In Beautiful Ceremony At MAFB

By Cheryl Brown
Black Voice News

On Saturday, June 29, 1996 at 1:00 p.m. Thomas H. Crane and Myrtle J. Krushall exchanged wedding vows at a beautiful wedding and reception held in the gardens outside of the former officer's club at March Air Force Base and (reception) inside of the newly remodeled facility.

Candles were lit by ushers Bret Crane, and Jimmy Wilson although the breeze didn't agree they persisted and the candles were lighted. Rochelle Butler welcomed the audience to this most Holy occasion. Rev. Calvin Cunningham blessed the wedding and Elder Claude Johnson read scripture. Reginald Strickland provided music before the wedding and at the reception. Adriene Hardy sang You and I. Then came the dramatic entrance of the beautiful bride to the song Always. The bride was wearing a beautiful two piece, floor length ivory wedding dress trimmed in beautiful beads, lace and sequins on the sleeves and around the bottom. She was wearing three strands of pearls and earrings to match. Her head was covered with a beautiful veil up off her face. She carried the word of God, a white Bible, with two beautiful gardenias attached with a gold ribbon. The handsome groom was wearing a double-breasted black tuxedo with a traditional white shirt and bow tie. It was indeed their day, shared and witnessed by about 150 people.

The vows and rings were exchanged, the Unity Candle was lit and they received their first Holy Communion as husband and wife. The congregation joined in responsive reading during the lighting of the Unity Candle.

The Officiant Rev. Raymond F. Williams pastor of her church Amos Temple C.M.E. conducted a traditional ceremony but with the personality that only he can present.

Following the Lord's Prayer, he presented the couple to an eager audience.

Attending the bride was her daughter, Dawn Krushall, who dressed in a beautiful blue floor length dress. The Best Man was Clarence Harrison a good friend of the groom. Mr. Alex Mason, the brother of the bride gave her away.

Other participants were Frank McCloud as usher, hostesses, Jackie Harper, Gracie Winn, Gwendolyn Smith, Mattie Grant, Ella Kinnebrew, Carmen Roberts who played the keyboard and Barbara Meekins. The florist was Mrs. Odessa Dunn, Videographer was Mr. Weaver and the photographer was long time friend, Darren Belshan.

Gilbertson Doesn't Deny Shooting

the judge to let Gilbertson out on his own recognizance, his statement according to Ross was that "He is one of us." What the h... does that mean, we are all White or we are all murderers, that is why if the judge doesn't preside over this case in a proper manner we are calling in the Justice Department," he continued.

Slaughter feels it is this attitude that contributed to his son's death. "Gilbertson was arrested once for shooting his gun into a sofa in his home where his daughter and her boyfriend were sitting. He was arrested on a felony charge and it was dropped to a misdemeanor, but the Judge this same Judge Norell order the gun destroyed. The Ontario Police Department gave it back to him. If they had destroyed the gun he couldn't have used it to kill my son," said Slaughter.

The line of questioning taken by Negus was about used condoms found in the apartment and out on the lawn. Detective Robert Acevedo who questioned the neighbors after the crime testified there were condoms but there was no gun in the apartment. Judge Norell, agreed with Deputy District Attorney Joe Gaetano, who could not see the relevance of this line of questioning but he allowed it anyway. Outside of the courtroom, Gaetano explained he felt the judge was allowing them to establish his (Gilbertson) belief that it is reasonable because it is happening," meaning his daughter and Slaughter were having sex. Gaetano quickly added, "It doesn't change the fact he (Gilbertson) walked up to the door and shot Jamall," he continued. Detective Glozer said he had a flashlight but did not use it. He was afraid he would be cut or Jamall would grab his gun and use it on him. He also said there were no threats except where the defendant said he heard Slaughter say "I'll kill you." The only person reporting a threat was Gilbertson.

Norell also would not allow the testimony that Patricia, 15, the girl Slaughter was murdered over was known to be promiscuous. Acevedo testified, Gilbertson and his wife tried to be with her when she had drug or sexual urges. But when the DA, followed up on that line of questioning Judge Norell objected and would not allow him the follow-up.

"They are trying to dirty up the victim and let this man off because he was a policeman. They all stick together," said Slaughter. This was borne out by Negus requesting Detective Dan Glozer, who interviewed Gilbertson after his arrest, testified that Gilbertson knew his daughter was sexually active. She was also sexually active with twenty-six year old Chris Parrish, who is also Black. Reportedly it was Parrish who call Gilbertson and told him his daughter was being raped in the apartment.

"She told him (Gilbertson) she was going to the apartment and he knew she was there. Gilbertson knew she was in no danger. This girl has a reputation of having every and any man. Chris Parrish was angry she wasn't with him anymore and went and told her father she was being raped. He and his wife Lucy are guilty of accessory to the crime. But they are walking the street and Jamall is dead," said the attorney, Ross.

USDA Reports Success of Projects in Rural South

Alvin Brown

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Success stories are beginning to evolve from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Federal Empowerment Zone/Enterprise Community (EZ/EC) projects in some of the poorest rural areas in the south, according to Alvin Brown who was recently cited on the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives for his outstanding work with the Empowerment Zone project.

Brown served until recently as Empowerment Zone/Enterprise

Community Program Director. He said a key goal of the Federal EZ/EC program was to reach out and bring together groups and organizations that had no previous working relationship. He admitted that this was not an easy task in the rural South.

Rep. Bill Emerson, of Missouri, Chairman of the Subcommittee on Department Operations, Nutrition, and Foreign Agriculture, said in formal remarks entered in the Congressional Record that Brown's service "to my constituents in the Eight Congressional District of Missouri and to countless other communities was the embodiment of public service at its finest. As members of Congress with newly designed Enterprise Communities in our district, we are mindful and greatly appreciative of the efforts put forth by Mr. Brown."

The formation of "new partnerships" among groups of citizens, Black and White, who previously had poor working relationships has been an important factor in what some officials have described as "the remarkable success" of new economic development initiatives in these rural areas.

Brown indicated that in 1995 the Clinton Administration selected more than 100 communities to receive federal program resources and tax incentives through the Federal Empowerment Zone/Enterprise Community program (EZ/EC).

New partnerships in rural areas of the South, particularly in Mississippi, Arkansas, and Kentucky, have produced some extraordinary success stories, according to Brown, who held several positions in the Clinton Administration before moving to USDA.

"I am excited over the challenge of the Clinton Administration bringing significant economic change to rural America," Brown said. "And we are encouraged by the progress made in creating partnerships among local leadership and citizens."

Brown said the Mississippi Delta Empowerment Zone project headquartered in Greenville, Mississippi achieved this difficult goal when it brought together Blacks and Whites throughout the six counties that made up the entire EZ/EC and, through the process, forced them to cooperate to create a strategic plan for the whole community.

"In an area plagued with a high poverty rate, a per capita income that was one third the national average, with nearly 40 percent of all citizens living in public housing and almost a 50 percent high school dropout rate, people from all walks of life and all economic levels learned to work to solve their own social and economic problems," Brown said. "It was only when they overcame their differences and worked together that they successfully created partnerships with government organizations, schools and universities."

Brown concluded that, "President Clinton made rural American a top priority because he believes that, ultimately, the future of rural communities depend on their leaders, and the federal government can play an important role as catalyst, provide some resources through such programs as the Empowerment Zone and Enterprise Communities Initiative."

Lifestyles

Our Bodies

Ernest Levister, M.D.

DEAR DR. LEVISTER: I am a high school track and field coach. What precautions can I take to avoid heat problems when our athletes are forced to train during the hot weather? P.N.

DEAR P.N.: Fluids, fluids and more fluids. Years ago, as a young track star, I trained in the blistering heat of New York City. I quickly learned prevention is the key. Use good common sense, hydrate well and devise alternative training methods.

There are a number of precautions to take while training in the heat from taking pre exercise fluids to doing resistance training in a swimming pool. The best way, is to avoid the heat altogether. However, sometimes avoiding the heat is not an option. Play it safe by scheduling peak exercise work outs from dawn to 8:00 a.m. Incidentally, in Southern California, there is less air pollution at that time.

Take precautions and don't over extend. Move your practice routines to a park and look for shady areas. Try deep water running, for alternative resistance training. Make water and other sports drinks readily available and easily accessible. Don't be afraid to stop kids that are trying to prove themselves and run too hard in the heat.

In terms of heat injuries there is first heat cramps, then heat exhaustion and ultimately heat stroke. Heat cramps are painful, involuntary spasms of muscles used in intense exercise. Massage and stretching will help alleviate the pain and allow the athlete to resume training. It is important to prevent heat cramps by maintaining adequate hydration.

Heat exhaustion is associated with a rising temperature and extreme thirst. The obvious symptom that separates heat exhaustion from heat stroke is that during heat stroke the body will stop sweating. If you're not sweating, don't mess around - call 9-1-1. Heat stroke is not something you can just go home and sleep off. Other signs of heat stroke are hot dry skin, extremely high fever and feelings of confusion and delirium which, if not treated promptly, could lead to a coma.

Make your athletes aware of these potentially life saving precautions. Drink 8 to 10 ounces of water before exercising; drink every 15 minutes during exercise, exercise in the cool or early morning hours, run or bike with a partner, cut warm weather exercises in half, wear breathable light colored clothing and lower body temperatures slowly when finished.

Finally this note: an athlete's true grit usually boils down to a delicate blend of skill, perseverance and common sense!

Dr. Levister welcomes reader mail concerning their bodies but regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters through the mail. Your letters will be incorporated into the column as space permits. You may direct your letters to Dr. Levister in care of Voice News, P.O. Box 1581, Riverside, CA 92502.

Family Talks

Joseph Bailey, II M.D.

Hurry! Let's not be late to the theater performances occurring in our minds. We have front row seats to see something unique. Like a circus, there are three stages to look at: the stage of pleasant feelings, the stage of bad feelings, and the rather boring stage of neutral feelings. The ushers provide the subject matter for each stage. They gather the script from what someone outside our minds said or did. But, of course, our imaginations add, subtract, and rearrange things to make the story more exciting. Other ushers bring in stories roaming around in our minds.

Feelings are Performers

In the audience is the committee of our inner self decision-makers. Their job is to huddle around the board room table after each performance to determine which stage will be spotlighted next. The board members for bad emotion -- anger, anxiety, depression, and pain -- sit together on the far side of the table facing those handling pleasant feelings. The Me, at the head of the table, is orchestrating the discussion.

Shhh!!!, the curtain is going up. Watch closely because the feeling performers come on suddenly, do their thing, and leave quickly. One feeling after another floats by with each trying to capture our attention. To do this, they change their shapes, change their colors, change their locations on their stage, and change their intensity. All of this is done in a matter of moments.

For example, intense anger will flash itself as a bright red color while making graffiti-like motions across the stage of bad emotions. Simultaneously, on the stage of pleasant emotions, there are beautiful rose and blue colored feelings engaged in a graceful dance as they pass by. On the neutral stage are feelings waiting for the audience to give them some meaning.

What this imaginary story is saying is that no matter what feelings we have -- good, bad, or indifferent -- by their very nature they will quickly come and go. During bad times, I often heard my mother say "this too shall pass." However, we can delay the passing of a bad feeling by spotlighting it and following that feeling to the exclusion of others. Similarly, we can focus on the good in the midst of the terrible and use that as our guiding light. It is our choice as to whether we see and focus on the bad or the good.

South Stops North: Johnson, Hayes, Miller, Dunn Shine

Capacity crowd enjoys the fireworks on field and in the post game show.

By LELAND STEIN III
BVN Sports Editor

RIVERSIDE - What looked on paper to be a classic battle of evenly matched teams . . . turned out to be a walkover for the South squad.

Led by cornerback Bishop Miller of Palms Springs, the South pounded out a 31-9 victory by controlling the line of scrimmage and the bevy of NFL sized running backs the North lined up.

"This is a fun game, its pretty cool to play in," said Moreno Valley Canyon Springs running back Terrelle Smith, who weighed in at 230-pounds, "because it can't make or break me. So, I came in with a let's have fun attitude, but, I didn't want to get my butt spanked like we did though."

The swarming, spanking South defense turned Wheelock Field into its own personal playground, and, in the process took the suspense out of the 11th Annual Riverside County All-Star Classic football contest early.

"They thought we were going to roll over because of their size, but we just rolled over them," said Temescal Canyon safety Chris Bolton. "They were fumbling all night. Sure the game was fun, but we wanted to win. We really went at them on defense."

The score was 17-0 with only a couple seconds left before the end of the first half, but an errant throw by All-American quarterback Terry Hess was picked by North defensive back Aaron Wright at the South 20. He traversed the minefield of defenders to score the North's only touchdown on the day.

"I just grabbed the ball on the fly," said Wright the former Canyon Springs performer, "after I started running I saw the whole team on the right, so when I cut left I just found myself in the end zone."

Added South coach Bob Burt who led Temescal Canyon to the Division 8 championship and was Riverside County Coach of the Year: "In a real game during the season, I would never attempt a pass like that, but this was different. I thought I'd just let the kids have fun and go for it."

Well, the South defense went for it all game long. They held the North offense to 21 total yards rushing and put enough helmets on people to force five fumbles.

As if the fumbles weren't enough to grey a coach's hair, in this case coach Ken Batdorf's hair, a blocked punt on a snap that sailed over Nick Anderson's head would. Miller scooped the ball out the air on the four yardline and scored the touchdown that gave the South a commanding 17-0 lead first half lead.

"I was trying to get to the punter and wasn't even thinking about getting a touchdown," said Miller who came up with nine tackles, all chopping down North's big backs as they ran laterally.

He continued: "They didn't run the big guys straight up the field. All I did was close quickly and knock their feet out from under them."

South kicker, Eric Hannum from Linfield, showcased his strong leg, kicking field goals from 47 and 27 yards. Hemet's Tony Alvarez (1-yard blast) and Norco's Reggie Williams (1-yard) scored the South's offensive touchdowns.

"It's fun to extend your football season a little," Williams said. "It's like a big bash . . . like your senior year party."

Although the games are fun for the young participants, everyone would prefer to win, of course.

"This was a great group of guys and a joyful experience that I'll always remember," said Ja'Bar Jones of Rubidoux, who pounced on a South runner for a safety. "It would have been better to win, of course, but its still a special way to end your career playing in this game."

Said Temescal Canyon wide receiver Ben Horton: "Its great to get the best in Riverside County on one field playing against each other. I knew I could play with anyone and I think I proved that today."

Arlington's Antjuan White noted: "This is a nice showcase. You have everybody watching, the fans hyped up, your friends in the seats, it's a great event."

Even in winning the competitive juices still rose to the top. How else did these young men reach the level of All-Star if winning and hard work wasn't a part of their program?

Said Hess: "I didn't show like I wanted to, but how can you really complain when you win?"

Moreno Valley's running Shalan Stewart said: "The game was intense and fun. I wanted to run every play, but sharing the load with all these All-Stars was great. It feels great to end your high school career on a winning note."

Said Demairo Lane of Moreno Valley Valley View: "It was a real thrill to play against the caliber of players that was out on the field today. I wish our team could have showed better, but we made too many mistakes."

Added Rubidoux linebacker Aaron Notarianni: "Winning isn't everything in this game, but . . . I met a lot of great people that I'll remember always. It was a blast!"

The SPORTS Foundation awarded scholarships to Mario Alves of Norco, Dung Le of North, Joe Nacinovich of Palm Springs, Kweli Coleman of Moreno Valley and Courtney Hauschild of Corona (the Sports Medicine Scholarship).

BVN Spotlight PHAREZ WHITTED

By ERIC ROBINSON

On his self titled debut album Pharez Whitted astounded jazz audiences with his collection of mid-tempo, uplifting inspirational ballads and jazz standards. The music was exhilarating as he took listeners on a journey with he and his trumpet over the leaps and bounds of musical notes, leaving fans waiting for his sophomore album. Well the wait is over and sorry to say it might have been in vain. Mysterious Cargo falls short of the musicianship displayed on his first album. Whitted seems to take a more relaxed approach towards the songs on this album, straying from the intensity that brought his earlier works acclaim.

Not that taking a mellow approach is a negative in creating and performing jazz, but on occasions, such as on his interpretation of Brownstone's "Grapevine" and Different Kind of Love Song, he seems a little to lax and gets sloppy on his playing. Aside from the two songs mentioned above, the rest of the disc is satisfactory. His interpretation of TLC's "Creep" and Janet Jackson's "Anytime, Anyplace" are superb efforts. The title track is another notable track and "Nature Boy" may have listeners hitting repeat on their disc players.

If you are a Whitted fan Mysterious Cargo will fit in your collection, but if this is your first encounter with Whitted it might be your last.

Courage Under Fire

"January 1991. The world is watching the Gulf War. Day and night, millions tune in to CNN to see a real life and death drama played out in the cities and deserts of Iraq.

As the U.S. Forces take a starring role, the PR department at the White House is working overtime. What they're looking for is a hero. What they find is a scandal. What a troubled officer must now uncover is... the truth."

Academy Award winner Denzel Washington stars with Meg Ryan in the powerful drama Courage Under Fire, set to release July 12, 1996.

Rock'in the House of Blues, July 4th

Snoop Dogg, 2Pac and Hip-hop crew shows up in full effect

Although 2Pac had the ladies and fellas dancing to his licks and rhymes, we couldn't understand what he was spitting out, but no matter, the music makes you move anyway - it must be that dormant African rhythm surfacing in us.

But, it was Snoop Doggy Dogg and the Dogg Pound that brought the house down. Like a electronic elixir intoxicating the crowd, Snoop controlled the flow. As he stepped on to the stage, grabbing a microphone, he shouted "what's my name" as a chorus, of fans responded "Snoop... Snoop Snoop Doggy Dogg," he knew everyone was ready to rock and that's exactly what he did. Packed backs to bellies, cramming and jamming as Snoop and the Dogg Pound took them to another emotional level as they got their groove on.

Reflecting back on groups like the Temptation and Miracles, many of our parents objected to us attending then as some do the hip-hop artist today. The young men and women at the concert looked just as we did, 25-years-ago. Our generation made it OK and we believe this one will too.

Farr and House of Blue Sports Players Night, will be coming at you once every month. They hope that they can continue to merge sport, musicians and actors in their unique format. Also, Suge Knight, President of Death Row Records and "Papa G" worked tirelessly throughout the night to ensure everyone was where they should be and putting out the effort to make the artist available to us.

ROCKIN' THE CROWD: Rapper 2Pac performs as Snoop Doggy Dogg gets his groove on.

HOLLYWOOD, CA - "If now isn't a good time for the truth I don't see when we'll get to it," says Nikki Giovanni.

July 4, 1996, Performers of the Death Row Record Label were unleashed on Los Angeles. Andre Farr of House of Blues Sports -the newest arm of HOB -was responsible for "Independence Day" with Death Row Records.

It didn't happen in Los Vegas and was believed it couldn't happen here. But Farr and HOB sports proved them all wrong when they brought together rappers, R&B Artist and Sports Celebrities for an evening of fun and entertainment.

It was a packed house, standing room only, and, the hip-hop performers were giving us the truth as they see it - and that doesn't mean these writers necessarily agreed with their presentation... but.

If you looked at the young people accompanied by their parents, old heads who just can't get enough of the fresh sounds of their favorite rappers, and that young adult crowd who will go anywhere to hear Snoop Doggy Dogg do his thing, probably feel the rappers are giving them what Giovanni talks about - the truth now.

Among the many athletes and celebrities confirmed to attend were Jerry Bell, Eddie Griffin, Dolemite, Ed and Charles O'Bannon, Jalen Rose, Marcus Patton, Chris Tucker, Kris Johnson, Jodeci, and Keyshawn Johnson. Only HOB Sports could bring together sports, entertainment and the general public in one place with an atmosphere void of fear for the sole purpose of celebration and fun.

Security was indeed the concern of the community and the intention of HOB Sports. On several occasions rap concerts have been marred by violence, but not this one. From the time the doors first opened until the last car rolled out of the parking lot, not a single spark of violence erupted to tarnish the success of the evening.

Although security was important, Farr did not want to give the impression of a jail house rock atmosphere. His security force was stationed strategically throughout the building and sprinkled among the guest in their distinctive dress attire.

The evening started with the fresh new sounds of Danny Boy, the newest member of Death Row Records and the only R&B Artist on the label. The crowd went wild as this 17-year old singing sensation performed his new single "Slip-N-Slid" slated to be released in mid-July. It was clear that Danny Boy loves his fans as much as they adore him. Making himself available for photos and fan autographs, he didn't leave until the last fan rolled out of the parking lot.

Then came 2Pac, and the house started rocking. Known the world over, the crowd was ready to witness the magic of his performance. Like rolling thunder the house was swaying from side to side with hands floating up and down. The energy generated by his performance attracted the audience as if it was an invisible tractor beam pulling them deeper into the musical world of 2Pac.

When I first moved to town, I didn't think I could afford a telephone of my own—especially on my tight income. So I found myself hopping from phone booth to phone booth to make calls—you know, like a rabbit! That's when people started calling me "Hippy Hoppity," but I shortened it to "Hip Hop," because that's a little cooler. I hopped here and there until a friend told me about Universal Lifeline Telephone Service from Pacific Bell.

Universal Lifeline is great for someone like me—it's basic telephone service at a reduced rate. If you qualify, you can get a phone line installed for just $10 and your basic monthly charges can be as little as $3 a month. I just called 1-800-323-ULTS and now I have a phone of my own. Thanks to Universal Lifeline, I'm back in the groove. But I still have this uncontrollable urge to hop whenever I see a phone booth.
