

Publishing, Repositories, and Open Access

Rebekah Kati
she/her/hers
Institutional Repository Librarian
UNC-Chapel Hill

What Do Publishers Do Anyway?

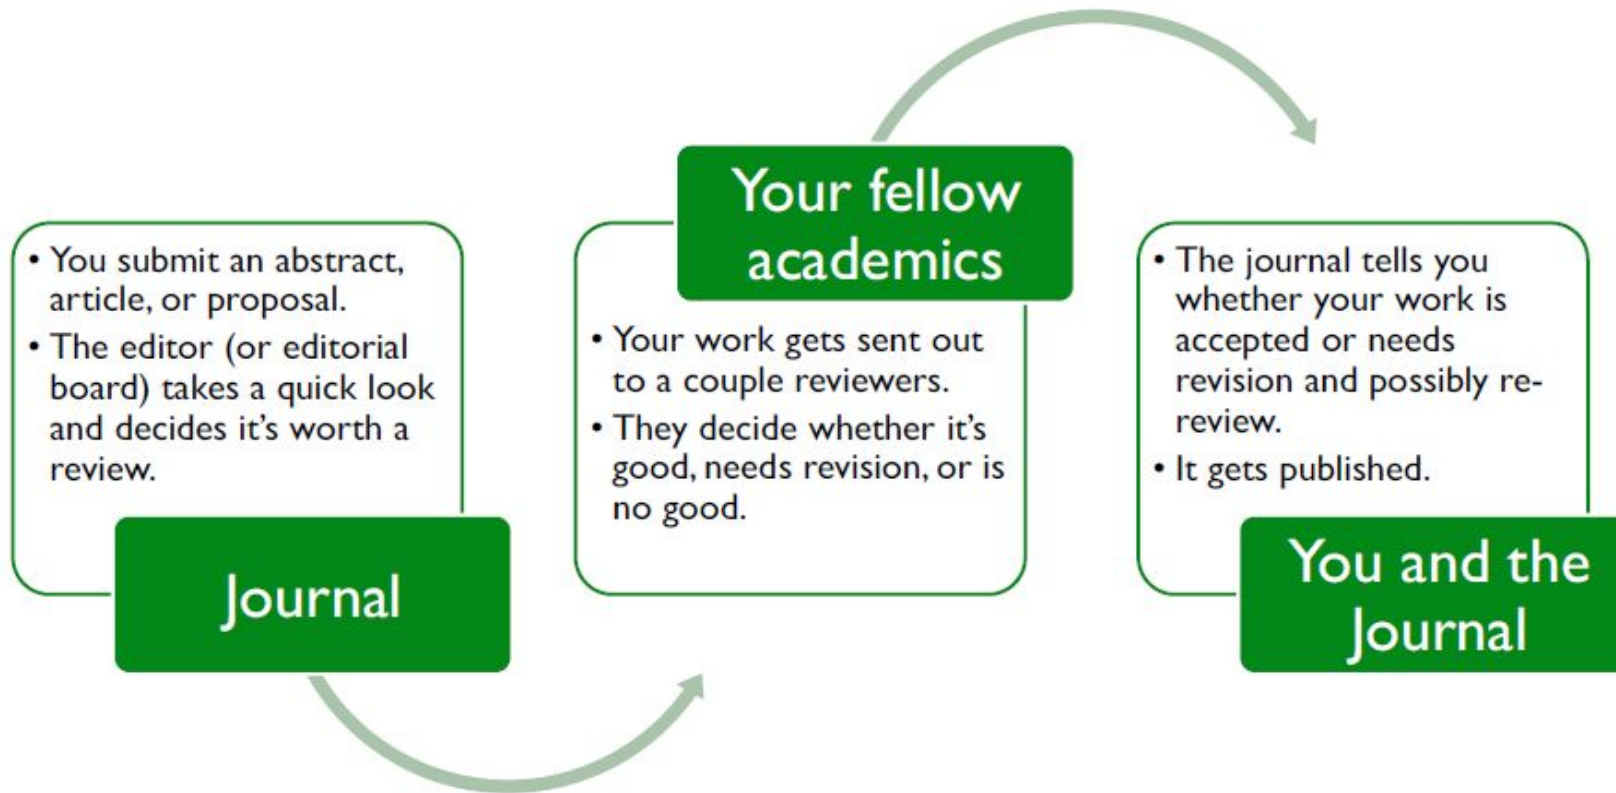

Academic Editors

- Peer Review
- Decision to Publish
- Recruitment of:
 - articles
 - peer reviewers
 - editorial board members

Publishers

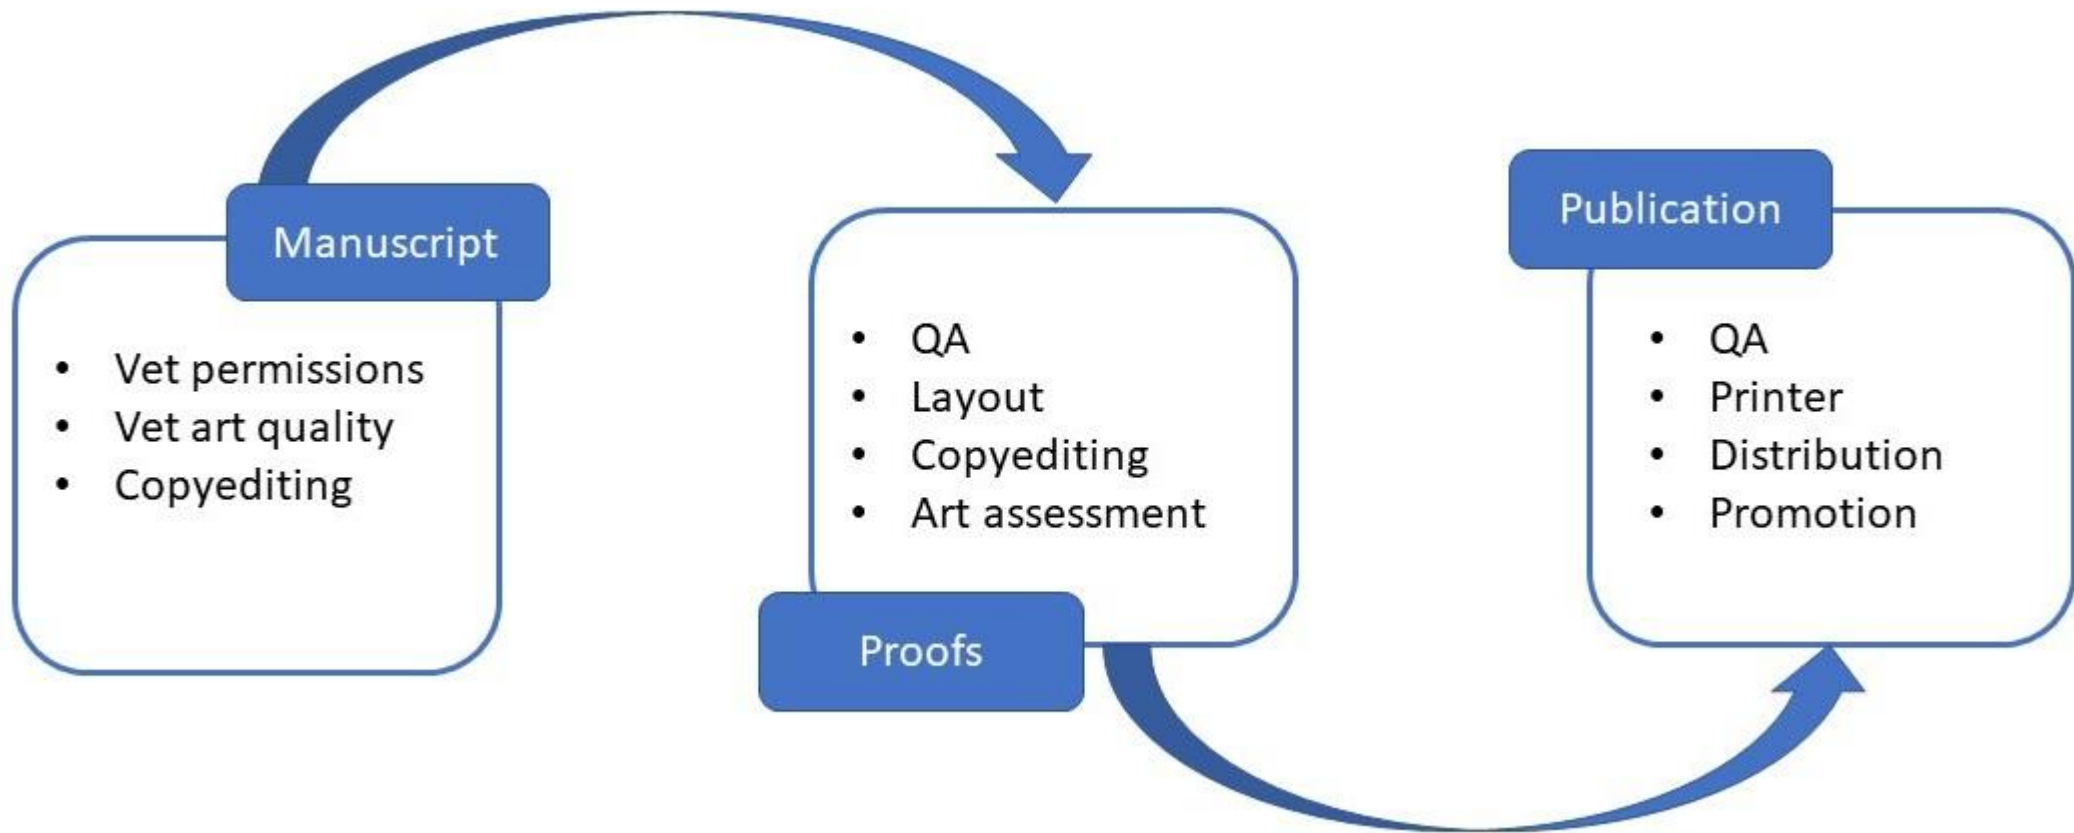

- Copyediting
- Typesetting
- Design
- Layout
- Marketing
- Distribution

Publishing Lifecycle

Roh, C. (2016). Inequalities in Publishing. Urban Library Journal, 22 (2). Retrieved from <https://academicworks.cuny.edu/ulj/vol22/iss2/2>

"It Gets Published"

Repositories

Types of Repositories

Institutional

Special Collections

Subject

Data

Why Can't All This Stuff Be in One System?

User needs

Metadata

Software development priorities

Repository Systems

Key products

Considerations

- Staffing
- Use Cases
- Budget

Uploading Content to Institutional Repositories

Self-deposit rates to institutional repositories are low

Deposit Strategies

- Requirement
- Library staff deposits
- Faculty Activity Tracker
- RSS & APIs
- Outreach????

Ruth K. Tillman, "Where Are We Now? Survey on Rates of Faculty Self-Deposit in Institutional Repositories," Journal of Librarianship and Scholarly Communication 5, no 1 (2017): eP2203, <http://doi.org/10.7710/2162-3309.2203>.

Benefits of Institutional Repositories for Open Access

Preservation

Location

Unique content

Timeliness

Information equity

Questions?

rkati@email.unc.edu
@rjkati

Carolina Digital Repository: <https://cdr.lib.unc.edu>