

2000

Foreword

Harry J. Haynsworth

Mitchell Hamline School of Law, harry.haynsworth@mitchellhamline.edu

Follow this and additional works at: <http://open.mitchellhamline.edu/wmlr>

Recommended Citation

Haynsworth, Harry J. (2000) "Foreword," William Mitchell Law Review: Vol. 27: Iss. 2, Article 60.

Available at: <http://open.mitchellhamline.edu/wmlr/vol27/iss2/60>

This Prefatory Matter is brought to you for free and open access by the Law Reviews and Journals at Mitchell Hamline Open Access. It has been accepted for inclusion in William Mitchell Law Review by an authorized administrator of Mitchell Hamline Open Access. For more information, please contact sean.felhofer@mitchellhamline.edu.

© Mitchell Hamline School of Law

FOREWORD

Harry J. Haynsworth[†]

This special issue of our Law Review is part of the College's Centennial celebration. The College's reputation for scholarship and excellence in integrating legal theory and practice is superbly illustrated by the rich array of articles and essays in this issue.

Nine of the authors are members of our full-time faculty and six are members of our adjunct faculty. There are also articles by three distinguished visiting scholars, Robert MacCrate, a prominent practitioner and former President of the American Bar Association, Professor Deborah L. Rhode, former president of the Association of American Law Schools, and Lawrence J. Fox, Partner, Drinker Biddle & Reath; Adjunct Professor, University of Pennsylvania Law School. There is also an article written by one of our administrators, Richard Cabrera, Acting Assistant Dean for Multicultural Affairs as well as articles written by our students.

These articles and essays cover a very broad range of topics. Some are highly theoretical, some are very law practice oriented and some are both. This mixture of different types and styles of scholarship is quite reflective of both our full-time and adjunct faculty, distinguished visiting scholars, and our students. This mixture is an important ingredient in what makes the William Mitchell College of Law distinctive and unique.

My congratulations to our faculty, distinguished visiting scholars, students, and especially to our Law Review for a job well done. Enjoy.

[†] President and Dean of William Mitchell College of Law.
