

The Oval

Volume 3 | Issue 1

Article 30

2010

Always Treat Robots With Respect

Sally Finneran

Follow this and additional works at: <https://scholarworks.umt.edu/oval>

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Let us know how access to this document benefits you.

Recommended Citation

Finneran, Sally (2010) "Always Treat Robots With Respect," The Oval: Vol. 3 : Iss. 1 , Article 30.

Available at: <https://scholarworks.umt.edu/oval/vol3/iss1/30>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by ScholarWorks at University of Montana. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Oval by an authorized editor of ScholarWorks at University of Montana. For more information, please contact scholarworks@mso.umt.edu.

ALWAYS TREAT ROBOTS WITH RESPECT

Gleaming steel curving left
reflecting white freezing sun.
Dry grasses caress a fading Coke can as the train rumbles past

reflecting white freezing sun.
Decaying buildings beg for love
as the train rumbles past
moving too fast to notice decaying buildings begging for love remember the days of people moving too fast to notice

the impending doom.

Remember the days of people?
Planning and plotting
the impending doom
of their far off kin, inadvertently

planning and plotting
each time they tried to better their far off kin, inadvertently stripping them of cultural distinction

each time they tried to better themselves. Someone was killed, stripped of cultural distinction while the enemy applauded

themselves. Someone was killed, and the golden arches multiplied.
While the enemy applauded
their change to the world as the golden arches multiplied tubby little boys, staring at screens,

their change to the world.
Paler than white faces that can only read pixels,

tubby little boys, staring at screens engineer robot servants to bring them their Coke.
Paler than white faces that can only read pixels sell to armies for technological aids, engineered robot servants to bring them their Coke.

Computerized minds being trained for war sold to armies for technological aids wield more deadly weapons than bad ideas computerized minds trained for war outmatch human warriors wielding more deadly weapons than bad ideas.

Victorious battlefields painted red

outmatch human warriors.
Each person lying dead on victorious battlefields painted red neglected as robot servants moved on.

Each person lying dead on dry grasses that caress a fading Coke can neglected as robot servants move on gleaming steel curving left.