Course Description

Bass lessons are about one fundamental thing: regular progress from week to week. Please take assignments seriously, and make practice a daily habit. A large component of music study is also involved in listening to as much music as possible. Please make time to listen to both solo bass music and orchestral music every day.

Grading Policies

- Grades will be determined by lesson attendance, progress of the required lesson assignments throughout the semester, and jury performance at the end of the semester. The fundamental goal is to become the best bass player that you can become over the course of the semester.
 - If any regularly scheduled lesson time must be missed, please contact Professor Swanson as soon as possible so that an alternative time can be arranged. Text message would be preferred if anything comes up at the last minute.
 - Students with disabilities may request reasonable modifications by contacting me. The University of Montana assures equal access to instruction through collaboration between students with disabilities, instructors, and Disability Services for Students (DSS). “Reasonable” means the University permits no fundamental alterations of academic standards or retroactive modifications. For more information, please consult <http://www.umt.edu/disability>.

Academic Misconduct and the Student Conduct Code

All students must practice academic honesty. Academic misconduct is subject to an academic penalty by the course instructor and/or disciplinary sanction by the University. All students need to be familiar with the Student Conduct Code. The Code is available for review online at http://life.umt.edu/vpsa/student_conduct.php.
