Ticket Holders Have Chance To Attend Concert Tonight

BY JIM TUTWILER

Community Concert ticket holders will have an opportunity to hear Rudolf Firkusny, pianist, when he presents a recital of classical and modern music at 8 p.m. in the Student Union auditorium.

Season tickets for the series of four Community Concerts, including Firkusny's, were sold months ago. Of the possible 1,400 tickets, which accounts for the seating capacity of the Student Union auditorium, 400 were available at reduced rates to students. They were sold, and the remaining 1,000 went on sale in downtown Missoula.

Now that the concert season is well under way, students are asking to buy tickets, and wondering why none are available. Pat Eyer, Outside Entertainment committee chairman, estimates that 300 more students would purchase concert tickets if they were available.

According to Eyer, the ticket shortage is a result of Budget and Finance committee operations last spring.

Student Community Concert tickets are subsidized by the Student Activity fund, and therefore come under the supervision of the Budget and Finance committee.

Budget and Finance committee last spring agreed to support 400 tickets, basing this number on previous Community Concert student attendance.

The result is that an increase of Community Concert fans over last year leaves the Budget and Finance allocations inadequate.

Eyer accredited this situation to the committee's under-estimation of the drawing power of this year's concert performers.

Bear Paws Need Freshmen to Move Victory Bell Today

Prospective Bear Paws are asked to meet at the Field House at 3 p.m. today to move the Victory bell from the football stands to the Field House, where it will remain for the remainder of the basketball season, according to Lee Bayley, Kalispell, chief grizzly.

The Victory bell cart will be on display in the downstairs lobby of the Field House during the Grizzly-Utah State basketball game this Friday, Bayley said.

Bear Paw, sophomore men's service group, will sponsor a smoker Tuesday, Feb. 16 at 7 p.m. in the Student Union Copper room. There will be entertainment and refreshments and all freshmen interested in Bear Paw are invited, according to Bayley. There will also be short talks by former Bear Paws on how membership in this organization has helped them in their college careers.

The Bear Paws have invited the Bozeman Fangs to be their guests during the Grizzly-Bobcat game Feb. 27. A welcome party will be given that afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Bayley reports that help will be needed soon to paint "Keep Off the Grass" signs. Freshmen interested should contact Ralph Rundle at the Theta Chi house.

Orientation Week Changes Discussed By Activity Board

Changes in the Orientation week program designed to make the week less confusing and more interesting were discussed by Activity board and Registrar Leo Smith Tuesday night. Activity board, formerly called Gripe board, is composed of class officers and is under the chairmanship of Doug Anderson, Conrad, senior class president.

Phases of Orientation week and possible changes discussed by the board were combining the two welcome addresses, expanding the ASMSU orientation program, the merits of the evening meeting with ROTC and athletic officials, and the addition of recreational activities.

Members of the group felt that the ASMSU program could be presented earlier in the afternoon (it was 4:30 p.m. last fall) and that it could be followed by a barbecue.

Smith said that his office will work on registration problems this summer, utilizing suggestions supplied by faculty members after registration last fall. He added he would welcome suggestions from Activity board. He stated he favors having registration in the Field House next fall.

Paintings Shown By Former Student

A group of 16 paintings by a former MSU graduate are now on display in the Student Union lounge.

The exhibit by Orris Moe, who received his degree in Fine Arts from MSU in 1949, consists of five oil paintings, two water colors, and nine portraits done in pastels.

The titles of the oil paintings are "Lolo Valley," "Bringing Horses Down," "Bearmouth Valley," "Mountains West of Darby," and "Nine Mile Remount Station." The two water colors show scenes west of Alberton and of the Missoula livestock yards.

Moe formerly lived in Fort Peck but now resides in Missoula. He has taught art at Big Timber and done graduate work at the University of Washington in Seattle.

All of the paintings except the portraits are on sale and will be on display for two weeks.

Hoiness Implies New Budget Is 'Reasonable'; Special B-F Confab to Hash Deal Today

BY ED STENSON

Peder Hoiness, ASMSU business manager, yesterday told Central board that Budget and Finance committee is studying the All School show directors' budget request for the twin bill performance of "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci."

Budget and Finance committee will hold a special meeting at 3 p.m. today in the Eloise Knowles room to consider the request of the directors of the proposed alternate show to "Die Fledermaus." The budget for the twin-bill opera is, "quite reasonable," according to Peder Hoiness. Within the next week, final plans for the show will probably be completed, said Hoiness.

The directors have recommended a budget for the show of $2,152.50. Dr. Luther Richman, dean of the College of Fine Arts, will present the tentative budget to the board at this afternoon's meeting.

Walter O'Donnell, member of the Budget board told the Kaimin that he felt the $2,150 figure was within shooting distance of what he felt a good figure for the presentation of an All School show.

"However, I feel that the budget can be trimmed to a certain degree without hurting the effect of the show," said O'Donnell. "If we get the budget figure down to around $1,900, we'll stand a fair chance of coming out on the good end."

Central board, in addition to discussing the possible successor to "Die Fledermaus" heard reports from the newly-organized student social standards committee and the constitution revisions chairman.

Dates Are Vogue For Sister Week

Marilyn Foster, Missoula, president of Associated Women Students, announced that this week is big sister-little sister week. She encouraged all sophomores, juniors and seniors to invite their AWS little sisters out for a coke or coffee date.

Late last summer upperclass women were assigned little sisters. During Orientation week this fall they met them at a party and later that quarter a tea was given for the new women students in the Student Union lounge. Carol Coughlan, Missoula, was in charge of the counselor-counselor party.

Pat Strophe, Malta, is chairman of the publicity.

tee and the constitution revisions chairman.

Pat Eyer, Billings, chairman of the group to study current social standards, reported that his committee is corresponding with other universities about the present social rules.

Eyer said that the committee regards an immediate change of program unlikely. He said the preliminary work includes a complete study of present MSU rules and those of other schools. He added that the ultimate goal of any proposals presented to Central board would be that of safeguarding the students.

Larry Gaughan, Missoula, chairman of the constitution revision committee, confronted the board with three laws from the present constitution.

He reported that the committee is opposed to the present law which says that a student who has not been an active member during at least one-half of his college course cannot hold an elective or appointive position.

"The student has a right to hold office if he has the right to vote," Pres. Norm Anderson, Chinook, said, adding that the student activity card permits the student to vote.

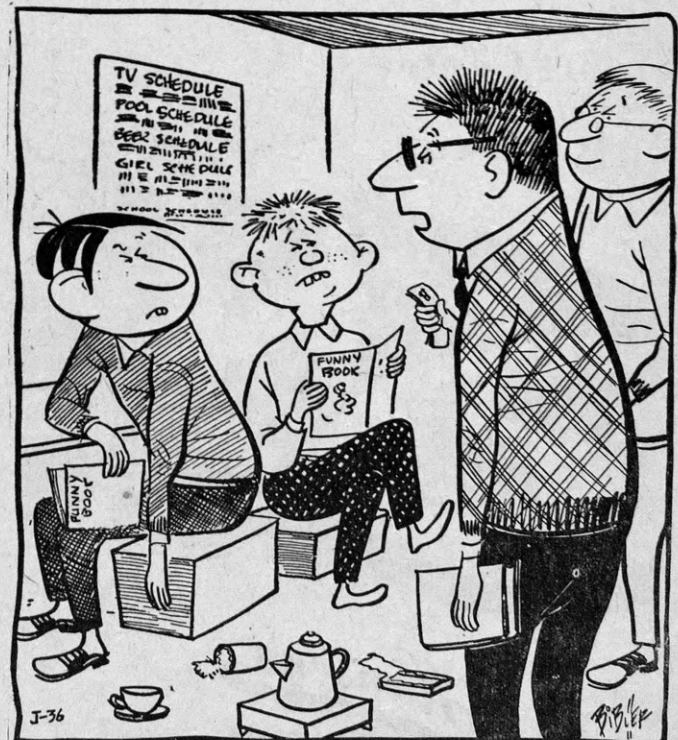

The board made no decision on Gaughan's suggestion that the currently-required 20 freshmen petitioners for class office be reduced to a figure comparable to the 10 petitioner requirement of upperclassmen.

Boyd Baldwin, Seattle, Wash., told the board that the campus Red Cross drive will be held March 1. The MSU-MSC blood drive competition will be March 9 and 10.

Jake Met a "Chuck-Hole" While Cruisin' . . .

Over the Bouncing Main

To Jake, as he slips his 1912 Maxwell between the rows of cars that line Maurice avenue, this balmy February weather is pretty wonderful. The snow and ice that covered the street a week ago are gone, replaced by puddles of dirty water. Yep, it feels pretty nice to drive down a street and not have to worry about—wham! Jake leaps out of this Maxwell, stares at a front wheel which has fallen into one of the "chuck-holes" that pocket Maurice, and yells:

"Why don't somebody fix these streets?"

Well, Jake is pretty sore about the broken shock absorber, so he decides to find out just when Maurice will be repaired and whose job it is to repair it. An intelligent fellow, Jake calls the Missoula city street commissioner. The commissioner isn't in, but the city engineer is, so Jake asks:

Who Is Supposed to Maintain the Streets?

"Who is supposed to maintain University streets? The University or the city?"

"Streets entirely within the grounds of the University are to be repaired and maintained by the University," answers the city engineer. "City streets that are bordered by University property on one side and by private residences on the other will be graveled and repaved by the city if a petition, signed by 50 per cent of the property owners on both sides of the street, is submitted."

The city engineer further explains that in such a case, the city bears the cost of the grading and leveling, while the property owners pay for the graveled and oiling. He says that in the case of Maurice avenue, the University would probably have to pay half the expenses of graveled and oiling.

Jake is still a little confused about who is to do and pay for what, so he phones the University maintenance department. The assistant maintenance engineer tells Jake that it is up to the city to repair city streets which pass through, or border upon, University property. After all, much city traffic passes through the University because of the Van Buren street bridge. City traffic forced the University to close one entrance to the oval.

Well, will the University pay part of the expenses for graveled and oiling the streets, Jake asks?

"We have at times done so in the past," the assistant maintenance engineer answers. "But it is up to the city to initiate the repair work. After all, those are city streets."

City Streets are City Streets . . .

Jake scratches his head. Someone has got to repair the streets around the University, particularly Maurice. Jake doesn't want his Maxwell to fall into one of those "chuck-holes," and he thinks the city should start repairing Maurice before it does. Pretty foggy some mornings. And after all, city streets are city streets!

We think so too, Jake.—A.M.

Forester's Dilemma Outlined by Ode

My boss is head chairman; I shall not rest.

He maketh me to survey the deep forest; he leadeth me through the peat bogs: I am buried in mud.

He leadeth me in paths of wilderness in the name of research.

We stake out the plot centers: We tag trees by the thousand.

Yea, though I'm lost amid hemlocks and fir trees, I will fear no evil for thou art with me. Thy compass and jake staff they guide me.

Thou preparest a pathway before me through wet salmon berry, vine maple, and skunk cabbage.

I annointeth my skin with repellent, yet mosquitoes swarm o'er me.

Surely insects and statistics shall follow me all the days of my life, and sample plots haunt me forever!

(With humble apologies to all other psalmists, I remain a bug-bitten, rain-soaked, timber beast.)

Opponents' Corner

By J. D. COLEMAN

Friday night the Grizzlies will host the Utah State Aggies, currently the spoilers of the league. It was the Utags who spoiled the perfect records of league leading Wyoming and Colorado A&M clubs earlier in the season. The Aggies gained their third, and last win, at the expense of Brigham Young, tagging the Cougars with their first conference loss of the season.

Pat Dunn, a sophomore transfer from Chicago, has been one of the mainsprings in the Aggies cause. He scored 68 points in his last four games; a fancy dribbler and playmaker, he fires a deadly long shot and a fast moving back. Co-captains Bill Hull and Bob Harbertson, only seniors on the squad, have also been effective for the Utags.

Saturday night, the Grizzlies travel to Spokane and tangle with the ever dangerous Gonzaga Bulldogs. The Zags are a hot and cold ball club, but they are sure to be ready for the Grizzlies on their home floor. The biggest gun for the Bulldogs is Jerry Vermillion, the Fort Benton hotshot, who is being boomed as the greatest cage star in the history of Gonzaga University.

League leading Colorado A&M will lay its title hopes on the line this coming week-end when the Utah Redskins and the Brigham Young Cougars come calling. As a matter of fact, the top four slots will be in for considerable shaking up, since all four teams will be competing between themselves Friday and Saturday. Friday night Colorado A&M (first place) hosts Utah U (fourth place) and Wyoming (third place) hosts BYU (second place).

TX, Lawyers Remain Tied For Pin Lead

Theta Chi and Law School bowling teams each won two of their three contests Saturday to continue the tie in the Intramural pin race.

Theta Chi won from the Sigma Nu's, while the Lawyers topped Sigma Chi.

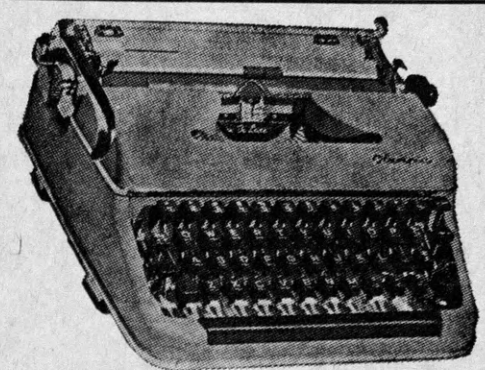

Sigma Alpha Epsilon lost to the Phi Delt's 3-0, Sigma Phi Epsilon took two games out of three with Phi Sigma Kappa, and Alpha Tau Omega again forfeited all three of their games, this time to third place Foresters.

Jack Driscoll, of the Sigma Chi squad, rolled a 213 to take the high individual game, and also the high individual series with 555.

The Lawyers were highest in team games with 901, and Sigma Chi had the high team series with 2481.

High Scoring Hits C League

Intramural basketball fans got a taste of high scoring runaways Tuesday night in League C, but two tight games gave the night's action.

The Kubabes, paced by the 16-point scoring of Dick Heath, ran over the Schooners, 65-24. The Schooners played part of the last quarter without their high scorer, Dave Peterson, who fouled out. Peterson dumped in 13 points.

The Sod Busters continued their winning ways by blasting the Scrounges 87-21. Don Welch of the Sod Busters poured 26 points through the hoop while Raymond Widenhofer of the Scrounges made eight. Eddie Gunderson scored 19 points for the Sod Busters.

In the other two games, only narrow margins separated the winners from the losers. Seagram's "7" eked out a narrow 31-29 win over the Butte Rats and the Simonizers edged the Culls 40-37.

For the Simonizers, Ivan Oswald scored 15 points, while Dick Beigle was scoring 15 on the other end of the court for the Culls.

Danny Reider hit nine points for the Seagram "7" five to lead the winners. Frank Hackett scored 12 points to lead Butte Rats.

SCA Leases Retreat Area

"Construction of a student religious retreat center 10 miles east of Missoula will begin as soon as the weather breaks and materials are available," Bob Lester, Butte, chairman of the Campus Affairs commission said yesterday.

According to Lester, the grounds were recently granted by the Anaconda Copper Mining company through a joint lease between the Bonner Boy Scouts, who formerly occupied the grounds, and the Student Christian association, for the construction of a fair-sized building and landscaping of grounds for outings, meetings, picnics, recreation and other group get-togethers.

Its use will be primarily for the SCA and the various campus religious organizations. It will also be available to other campus groups upon the sanction of the SCA, which will act as the governing organization.

The grounds are located at Marko Flat, which is three miles beyond Bonner, in the Blackfoot picnic area.

According to the agreement in the lease, the Bonner Scouts will have use of the area during the summer months between July 1 and October 1, and the campus group during the school term between October 1 and July 1.

Picture of a man changing his motor oil

It's hard to believe now, we know.

But several years back—before you could buy Royal Triton in most any city—some people who had discovered the amazing purple motor oil on a visit to California were in the habit of ordering it by mail after their return home.

When a product earns this kind of loyalty you think twice before you do anything to it, even to improve it.

Yet we have just announced Royal Triton motor oil in two new all-weather, all-climate grades: Royal Triton 5-20 and Royal Triton 10-30. They lubricate with the thoroughness of a lightweight winter oil, protect with the toughness of a heavyweight summer oil.

This is only one of hundreds of times since the end of World War II that we have improved a product you, the customer, were more than happy to keep right on buying as it was.

Why don't we wait until you demand these new and better things? Because we can't afford to. We are competing for your business, and if we don't constantly better our products our competitors will better us.

Obviously, no matter which one of the oil companies comes in first in this race, the real winner is...you.
