All-School Opera Gets Nod From C-Board Members

Central board agreed last night to underwrite an all-school opera, "La Boheme," with $3,000 from the reserve fund.

The Budget and Finance committee said that any expenses over that $3,000 mark would have to be financed from other sources and that no more funds would come from the reserve. The board believes that the show can break even if four performances are given before and during the Interscholastic track meet in the spring.

Co-Sponsors for Opera

As co-sponsors of the opera, the Student Union Executive board will allow the all-school show a special rental rate—$35 a night for the four performances. Net profits of the show, if any, will be split 50-50 between ASMSU and the Student Union.

The last all-student show, in 1950, staged three performances, one of which was free. The group worked with a budget of $2,500 but lost over $700.

Business manager, Harvey Schlieman, Missoula, will work directly on the financial end of the opera and every expenditure is the responsibility of CB.

The music department will be able to provide the talent and personnel, the board said. LeRoy Hinze, drama; John Lester, music; and Eugene Andrie, orchestra, will be in charge of the technical production.

Theta Sigs Given OK

Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalism honorary, got the go ahead on printing basketball program in spite of the Athletic board's disapproval. The board said that such printing was mainly under the jurisdiction of publications board.

The reorganization recommendation made by Bill Jones, Miles City, last week that three class offices of secretary, treasurer, and vice-president be abolished

City Players To Appear

The Virginia City Players will present "Rip Van Winkle" tomorrow night at 8:15 in the Student Union auditorium. The cabaret will be Saturday evening at 9.

Tickets for the play are 60 cents for students and $1.20 for adults. They may be purchased from Mortar Board members or at the Student Union office. Tickets for the cabaret will be 60 cents.

A special afternoon performance of the play will be presented Saturday afternoon. The price of tickets for children at this performance will be 25 cents.

The Virginia City Players have received national recognition in Holiday and Theater Arts for their 19th Century American comedy, melodrama, and vaudeville.

Bernard Tone, who plays the leading role, has been with the company three seasons. He is known for his presentations of "The Cremation of Sam McGee," "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," "The Raven," and "Casey at the Bat." He is director of the summer theater school in Virginia City.

At the cabaret the "Bale of Hay Variety Show" will be presented. It will feature the dances and skits typical of a performance in 1860.

Registration Ends Monday

The registrar's office announced that advanced registration closes at 4:30 p.m. Dec. 10. Students who have not finished by then will have to wait until Jan. 7.

Leo Smith, registrar, said there will be no registration Saturday. He also asked that seniors who plan to graduate in the spring should pick up graduation applications in Room 8 in the basement of Main hall. The applications must be turned in by Jan. 14.

and that about nine persons be elected from each class to work on committees met some disapproval.

Donna Persons, Cheyenne, Wyo., secretary, said, "Only a handful of people on the campus are really well known. The ballot would be cluttered by people few others know and some of those on the ballot would be there for the sake of publicity. They would be no more competent than persons who submit their names to be chosen for committees."

Another Objection

Schlieman said, "I don't think we should eliminate these class officers; people will want to look back in a few years and realize they were on something regardless of whether they did anything. It keeps up the student's morale."

Juanita Kugler, Billings, said the class officers shouldn't be eliminated but that their duties should be defined or that they should be put on committees. Falle Nelson, Glendive, senior delegate, suggested that the committee go to the students and see what they think and to look into what other schools are doing about the useless officer situation.

Students Offered Fellowships In Math, Sciences

University students interested in some phase of scientific study can compete this year for stipends of $1,400 to $1,700 each offered by the National Science foundation of Washington, D. C.

The fellowships will be awarded in the mathematical, physical, medical, biological, and engineering sciences to any citizen of the United States who has demonstrated ability for advanced training in these fields.

Students accepted for the training will be those who are eligible to begin or continue study during the 1952-53 academic year, Dean Gordon B. Castle of MSU's College of Arts and Sciences, said yesterday.

Applications for the fellowship program can be obtained at Dean Castle's office in Main hall. In order to be considered for the 1952-53 academic year, applications must be received by the foundation by Jan. 7.

Condon Urges Training of Specialists To Care for Juvenile Delinquency

Montana's state superintendent of public instruction urged Tuesday night that MSU be the first institution of higher learning in the nation to formulate a program for training personnel in the care of juvenile delinquents.

Mary M. Condon, one of six speakers on the Montana Forum committee's panel discussion of "Juvenile Delinquency—Its Treatment" pointed out that such a training program would require the co-operation of the schools of business administration, education, and law, and the departments of social work and psychology.

Almost 400 students and town-people jammed the Journalism auditorium to hear the forum, which decided primarily that the delinquent child must be treated as an individual, and must be made to feel that he is loved, or at least liked.

Miss Condon stated that the focusing of attention on juvenile institutions in the state was "long overdue." The surprise inspection by the state education board which led to the firing of State Industrial School Supervisor Carl Horn last spring came in the wake of "unbelievable" rumors, she said. She told of beatings that were reported to the investigating committee, and of four by four foot punishment cells with no sanitary facilities, mattresses or beds, where as many as three juveniles were confined on

SU to Sell TB Seals

The sale of TB Christmas seals will begin on Monday in the Student store, according to Mrs. Ella M. Stucky, general chairman of TB seal sales in Missoula county.

The TB Christmas seals will be sold Monday through Friday. They will be placed in envelopes, which will be sold for 25 cents, 50 cents, 75 cents, and one dollar.

Dr. M. P. Wright of the Health service, said yesterday that 1,767 students had chest X-rays taken this fall at MSU.

The number of Montana people who died from tuberculosis last year was 114.

According to data received from Mrs. Stucky, Christmas seals helped buy the new mobile X-ray unit which is now in operation throughout Montana. The purchase of this new equipment was made possible by the sale of $10,500 worth of Christmas seals. Chest X-ray surveys are the quickest and most economical means of X-raying large numbers of persons to find the unknown cases of tuberculosis.

bread and water for as much as two weeks at a time.

Conditions Should Improve

Conditions, she thought, would improve under the new administration but said that "it's going to take money" before the program is put on a sound basis. (Guards are paid about $100 a month.)

She also cited many Montana judges as "delinquents" and mentioned that some send almost every juvenile offender that comes before them to a correctional institu-

Smurr Discusses Theories Of Geopoliticians At IRC

Bill Smurr, graduate assistant in the history and political science department, pointed out the theories of two prominent men of geography and political science as the most important recent developments in geopolitics when he spoke before the International Relations club Tuesday night.

The theories of Sir Halford J. Mackinder, British geographer and historian, and John Spykman, an American professor of political science, were those described by Smurr.

Mackinder's Theory

Smurr said that Mackinder made known his theory in 1904, at a time when sea power was dominant. He said that Mackinder's basic theory was that if a vigorous, energetic people of Russia fought their way to the Mediterranean and gained seaports, they could be the beginning of a world domination.

He based his theory on the fact that the people of Russia had the protection of the natural boundaries of mountains on three sides and an ice-locked sea on the other; and had a vast supply of natural resources within these natural boundaries, Smurr said.

Therefore, Smurr said, Mackinder called Russia the "geographical pivot of history."

This theory is significant, he said, because it is partly true, in that Russia has emerged as a world power.

Smurr pointed out, however, that

Ecton Tells MSU Faculty Of Needs

U. S. Senator Zales Ecton (R-Montana), spoke on the need for stronger training in government as a part of a university's education at a faculty luncheon for him yesterday.

The heads of the University departments and schools as well as faculty members of the history and political science department listened to Senator Ecton deal with federal spending as one of the chief points of difference between majority and minority parties.

Senator Ecton was introduced by President McFarland, who traced in his introduction the history of parliamentary oppositions and mentioned the modern development of the subject in England during the 17th century when the American colonies were being founded.

Lester Plays Leading Role In Local Play

"The Man Who Came to Dinner," Missoula Community theater presentation, opened a four-day run last night at Simpkins Little theater.

Prof. John L. Lester of the music school, is cast in the role of Sheridan Whiteside, the bearded gentleman who came to dinner and stayed six months. Monty Woolley played the part in the movie production of the George S. Kaufman play.

The play will be enacted tonight, Friday, and Saturday at 8:15. Tickets are being sold at the box office for $1.

The part of Whiteside's long-suffering secretary, Maggie Cutler, is played by Mrs. George Hummel. Mrs. Walter P. Myrdal portrays Lorraine Sheldon, prominent actress of "questionable morals."

Nelson Lutey as Bert Jefferson, small town newspaperman, furnishes the male love interest. The roles of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stanley, at whose home Whiteside "comes to dinner," are taken by Mrs. Ira O. Kittell and Fred R. Barclay.

The parts of the Stanley children are enacted by Mrs. Lou Rocheleau and Richard Brechbill.

Sigs to Sponsor Christmas Party

One hundred selected children will attend a Christmas party Dec. 15 sponsored by the Sigma Chi.

The "kiddie" party has been an annual affair for the last several years. Originally set for Dec. 8, the party was put back to the 15th, closer to Christmas.

Dick Shadoan, Billings, has planned a gala day for the kids. They will be picked up and taken to the Sigma Chi house for an afternoon of games, movies of their favorite cartoon characters, free balloons, and ice cream and cake.

Santa Claus is scheduled to come down the chimney with a present for each child. Santa's presents will fit the children of the various age groups from 5 to 11 years.

Two women from each living group have been invited to help the boys and Santa.

Why the Rule?

Burton Warren's editorial in Tuesday's Kaimin did, undoubtedly, err in some of its facts, as Mr. Smith points out in his letter today.

Mr. Warren, who graduates this quarter, did, however inquire at the registrar's office about the status of senior finals, and was informed by one of the registrar's clerks that there had been no change in the rulings concerning them.

Whether the faculty suffered from mass amnesia, whether its members merely neglected to pass the word along to the students, or whatever the causes, the fact remains that somewhere along the line the publicizing of the faculty ruling was almost incredibly bungled.

It is, we think, inexcusable that most graduating seniors were not informed that they would have to take finals until last week. Those who had arranged to take jobs during final week, are now in a rather uncomfortable position, and at least one graduate will have to show up in the classroom a few hours after he speaks his wedding vows.

The mixup in the publicizing of the ruling is, however, a minor point. Much more important is the manifest injustice of the ruling itself.

Why the 10 per cent or so of the graduating class that completes its work in December or March should be singled out for taking the final exams has not been adequately explained by the faculty. The inconsistency of the present situation can be resolved only by the repeal of the rule passed last spring, or by making finals mandatory for all seniors in every quarter.—T.A.

SENIOR EXAM EDITORIAL CORRECTED BY REGISTRAR

Dear Dick:

Knowing you, I know that you are interested in running a first class newspaper in the form of the Kaimin. This means the information, articles, and editorials would be completely accurate, of course.

In the editorial in your Tuesday, Dec. 4, issue, "Exam Ruling Questioned," Burton Warren stated flatly that "despite the fact that the new ruling was passed last spring, the registrar's office had no knowledge of it earlier this quarter." This, of course, is not a fact and Mr. Warren did not get his information from myself or Mrs. Lommasson, I am sure. We have known about this new ruling ever since it was passed at a faculty meeting last spring since we take the minutes at faculty meetings, write them up, and put them in the faculty minute book. If some of the faculty members are in the dark about this ruling, it would be because they were not present at that particular faculty meeting, or they did not read mimeographed information that was sent to them regarding this change.

Editorial Implies

Further, in this editorial the implication is that this is an action of a faculty committee. No rules are passed in this way. A recommendation may come from a faculty committee, as it did in this case, but the changes in the regulations are passed only after discussion and recommendations by the entire faculty. Therefore, calling this action the whim of a committee is not exactly accurate.

The rule was brought up long before it was ever passed, so the faculty had ample time to think about it and discuss it. I have no strong feelings one way or the other whether or not the seniors would take these examinations at the end of autumn and winter quarters. I do regret that this office was misquoted about the ruling.

Sincerely yours,
Leo Smith,
Registrar.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI TO MEET TONIGHT

Alpha Kappa Psi, men's business professional fraternity, will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Bitterroot room of the Student Union, Chuck Davis, publicity manager, said yesterday.

The principal speaker will be Walt Howard, president of the Montana Retail Lumberman's association. He will speak on the subject of trade associations.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 29...THE HYENA

I nearly died laughing!

Hysteria reigned from the moment he heard the details of those quick-trick cigarette mildness tests. First he giggled . . . then he guffawed . . . wound-up rolling in the aisle! He knew that the "single sniff" test or the "one puff" test didn't prove anything! Millions of smokers have reached the same conclusion — there's just one test that really proves cigarette flavor and mildness!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments! Once you've enjoyed Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

Collegians Begin Basketball Tonigh

The Montana Collegians will start their 1951-52 basketball season tonight against the St. Ignatius American Legion quint at St. Ignatius. The highlight of their 19-game schedule will be a game with the famed Harlem Globe Trotters at the University gym Dec. 28.

The Collegian squad is composed of former Grizzlies and transfer students now on the campus.

The Empire State building, America's tallest structure, has 102 stories and is 1,250 feet high.

Hustling Forward

Bob Sparks has scored 533 points in two years as a Grizzly hoopster.

High Scoring Bob Sparks Adds Hustle

Grizzly basketball Coach Jiggs Dahlberg says "what the Grizzlies lack in height this year, they will make up for with hustle." One reason Dahlberg can count on that statement is his hustling forward, Bob Sparks.

For the last two hoop seasons Sparks has been a high scoring forward on the Grizzly squad. In the 1949-50 season Sparks scored 258 points and last year he tallied 275 counters. His two year point average per game is an even nine points.

Sparks shines when the Grizzlies use the fast break, because of his speed, good ball handling, and the ability to get his shots off fast and accurate. He doesn't shoot too much but his accuracy is shown by his two year average of sinking 40 per cent of his shots.

Sparks stands six feet two inches and makes the most of it on the backboards. He played with the Cubs his freshman year and was an All-State forward for Missoula high school.

Varsity Defeats Frosh Hoopsters; Davis Sets Pace

Grizzly hoopsters prepared for their opening game with the Idaho Vandals Monday night by engaging in an intrasquad scrimmage yesterday. Coach Jiggs Dahlberg's varsity squad defeated the freshmen, coached by Ed Chinske, 63 to 29.

Dahlberg's charges were working on their defense especially, and managed to hold the frosh squad scoreless in the third quarter. Chuck Davis once again led the Grizzly scoring attack. He racked up 26 points. Mickey Luckman, who was aggressive on the backboards throughout the scrimmage, totaled 15 points.

Dick Trinastich led the frosh in scoring with 13 counters.

Dahlberg substituted quite freely with the varsity, but his starting lineup had Davis and Bob Sparks at forwards, Luckman at center, and Hal Sherbeck and Ed Anderson at guards. Bud Bellis, Don Lucas, and Dale Johnson were the main substitutes.

Chinske's starting lineup included Trinastich, Granboise, Don Chaney, Hal Snippen, and Larry Anderson. Frank Nickel played considerable as a substitute.

J-School Keeps First Place

The Journalism bowling squad kept their hold on first place in the Faculty league Tuesday night, but they were hard pressed by the Military five. Every game of their three game set with Military was close. However, Journalism garnered two wins.

While Journalism and Military were engaged in tight matches, Business Administration swept a three game set from the celler-dwelling Humanities team to move into second place.

Liberal Arts handed the former league leaders, Botany-Chemistry, two defeats in their three game match. The losses dropped Botany-Chemistry into fourth place.

In the other league game Administration took two of three from Physical Education.

Military Science, despite losing two games, seems to be making a habit out of gaining high team and individual honors. Once again they had the high team series with 2,370, and team game honors with an 829 game.

Capt. E. J. Zeuty copped both the individual series with 568 and game with 200.

One of the most severe recorded earthquakes leveled Lisbon, Portugal in 1755. It was felt as far away as southern France and North Africa. Between 10,000 and 20,000 persons were killed in Lisbon alone.

ranging from manslaughter and sex perversion to runaways and incorrigibles. Mr. Hutchinson stressed that he works with all other agencies of law enforcement in working with juvenile delinquents and that every effort is made to settle the problem with the children's parents in preference to sending the delinquents to state institutions.

Holding of Juveniles

Wesley Castles, Missoula county attorney, said that he does not come in contact with the cases unless they are of a serious nature. A decent place to hold juvenile offenders presents the biggest problem to Missoula county, according to Castles. At present, juvenile delinquents are held in a room of the county jail, a place not conducive to juvenile reform, according to Castles.

He urged members of the audience to visit the quarters. "We're not proud of it," he said, "and we're sure you'll be shocked."

Mrs. E. L. Klamm, county public welfare officer, presented a general picture of the causes of juvenile delinquency. A poor home life, lack of affection, broken homes, and working parents were cited by Mrs. Klamm as major contributing causes of delinquency.

T. H. Winchester, mental hygiene clinic psychologist, suggested that the need is for specialists to work with these non-conforming children. Winchester said that these children seek attention in their delinquency because of failures or lack of affection.

Geography Emphasized Too Much

Mackinder put too much emphasis on geography, Smurr said, while Spykman tried to take the human motives into consideration as well. Spykman made an attempt to tell why nations act as they do; and tried to wake up the American public to international politics, Smurr said.
