ABSTRACT

The association between corporate governance mechanisms and the reliance decision, and the impact of such decision on the timeliness of financial reporting is the subject of increasing public and regulatory interest. This study focuses, first, on examining the relationships between the effectiveness of board and audit committee and external auditor's reliance on the internal audit work. Second, it examines the impact of the reliance decision on the audit report lag. The data are obtained using secondary-data and survey-questionnaire methods. The sample size comprises 87 companies listed in Amman Stock Exchange (ASE) for the year 2009. The internal and external auditors of these companies are surveyed with a 34% response rate. Multiple regression results reveal a significant and positive relationship between the effectiveness of the audit committee and reliance decision. In addition, audit committee meetings with external auditor and audit committee's review of internal audit function results have also a significant and positive association with reliance decision. Findings of this study also support the positive relationship between the overall quality of internal audit function and reliance decision. Regarding the impact of reliance decision on audit report lag, a significant but negative relationship between external auditor's reliance on the work of internal audit function and audit report lag is documented. This study supports the belief that the Jordanian external auditors are aware of the importance of relying on the internal audit work and evaluating the quality of this work before making the reliance decision as required by ISA 610. However, companies in Jordan still need to improve their internal audit function and support it with the necessary resources. Further, regulators in Jordan should mandate the companies to have an effective internal audit function.

ABSTRAK

Perkaitan di antara mekanisma tadbir urus korporat dan kebergantungan juruaudit luaran terhadap fungsi audit dalaman serta implikasinya ke atas ketepatan masa laporan kewangan merupakan subjek yang menarik minat orang awam serta pengawal selia berkaitan. Kajian ini tertumpu kepada dua aspek utama. Pertama, untuk menyiasat hubungkait di antara keberkesanan lembaga pengarah dan jawatankuasa audit serta kebergantungan juruaudit luaran terhadap kerja-kerja juruaudit dalaman. Kedua, kajian ini mengenalpasti kesan tahap kebergantungan juruaudit luaran tersebut ke atas kelewatan laporan audit. Data kajian diperolehi menggunakan pendekatan data sekunder dan soal selidik. Sampel kajian terdiri daripada 87 syarikat yang tersenarai di 'Amman Stock Exchange' (ASE) pada tahun 2009. Kadar maklumbalas diterima adalah sebanyak 34%. Keputusan analisis regresi berganda menunjukkan hubungan yang signifikan dan positif di antara keberkesanan jawatankuasa audit dan tahap kebergantungan juruaudit luaran. Bilangan mesyuarat di antara jawatankuasa audit dalaman dan juruaudit luaran serta semakan fungsi audit oleh juruaudit dalaman juga menunjukkan hubungan yang positif terhadap tahap kebergantungan juruaudit luaran. Dapatan kajian ini juga menyokong hubungan positif di antara kualiti keseluruhan fungsi audit dalaman dan tahap kebergantungan juruaudit luaran terhadap laporan audit dalaman. Kajian turut mendapati bahawa terdapat hubungan yang signifikan tetapi negatif di antara tahap kebergantungan juruaudit luaran terhadap laporan juruaudit dalaman dan kelewatan laporan audit. Hasil kajian ini menjelaskan bahawa juruaudit luaran bagi syarikat-syarikat di Jordan menyedari kepentingan untuk mempertimbangkan laporan juruaudit dalaman serta keperluan untuk menilai kualiti laporan tersebut seperti yang digariskan oleh ISA 610. Walau bagaimanapun, syarikat di Jordan masih perlu memperbaiki fungsi audit dalaman mereka dan disokong oleh sumber yang bersesuaian. Lanjutan daripada itu, pengawal selia yang berkaitan di Jordan perlu memastikan syarikat melaksanakan fungsi audit dalaman yang berkesan.

Kata kunci: Lembaga Pengarah, Jawatankuasa Audit, Fungsi Audit Dalaman, Keputusan Untuk Kebergantungan, Kelewatan Laporan Audit.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

In the name of Allah, Most Gracious, Most Compassionate and Most Merciful. Peace and praise be upon his beloved our Prophet Mohammed S.A.W., who and by the will of God that strived for the salvation of mankind from the darkness of ignorance to the light of Islam.

Praise and thanks be to Allah, the most Merciful, for granting me the patience, and perseverance to successfully complete this thesis. Alhamdulillah. I am greatly indebted to so many wonderful people for their contributions and assistants in so many ways that special mention is to only natural although words can never truly reflect their actual importance in making this project a success.

First and foremost, I own it to my supervisors Prof. Dr. Noor Azizi Ismail and Assoc. Prof. Dr. Faudziah Hanim bt Fadzil, who have been very patient in guiding and supporting me from the very beginning of my first arrival here in Malaysia and throughout this thesis. I would like to express my grateful thanks and gratitude to whom always reviewed my work speedily and were very constructive and friendly in their criticism of my work. I am thankful to them for their kind guidance, encouragement, patient, and readiness and toning down my thesis.

I would like to express my sincere appreciation and thanks to my friends in Jordan, Mohammed Hoamda, Haitham Al-Koshman for their helping in the distribution of the questionnaires of the study. I also would like to extend a very special thanks to the respondents who participated in this study. Without their assistance and data provided, this study obviously could not be performed.

My appreciation also goes to members of staff of Othman Yeop Abdullah (OYA), Graduate School of Business, Universiti Utara Malaysia for their encouragement, support, and guidance during my study. I also appreciate the helping of my colleagues who always give me support and encouragement.

My heartfelt and sincere appreciation and thanks are also extended to my father, mother who I missed them so much and their unforgettable DOA'A, spirit and financial supports and encouragements. To my dearest brothers and sisters. To my lovely wife and my three lovely children Rawan, Saeed, and Bha-Aldin for all their love, care, constant assurances, and patience. To all my relatives who have constantly supported and motivated me to complete this study.

Finally, my gratitude and thanks are also extended to my sponsor, Hadramout University of Science & Technology (HUST) Yemen for the financial support they have given and all its staff members for their support and motivation.

CHAPTER ONE

INTRODUCTION

1.0 Introduction

This chapter introduces the research agenda of this study, outlines the background of the research problem, research questions, research objectives, research significance and finally, it explains the organization of the remaining chapters.

1.1 Background of the Research Problem

The traditional view considers an audit as the yearly review of the company's accounts (Elliott, Dawson & Edwards, 2007). However, the financial audit evolved in the twentieth century as business practices become more complex (Arter, 2000). Basically, the main purpose of the audits is referred to as the trust of the users of the financial statements which lead to the improvement of the capital market's efficiency (Hellman, 2006). Moreover, the auditing profession, both internal and external, has come under increasing scrutiny since the highly publicized collapse of Enron, WorldCom's massive fraud, the failure of Anderson, and other major accounting scandals in the early 2000s (Guner, 2008).

Despite the different role of internal and external auditors, they both share the same broad purpose of serving the public by helping to ensure the highest standard of regularity and propriety for the using of resources and in promoting efficient, effective and economical administration (Morill & Morill, 2003). For instance, internal auditors are responsible for assisting management in guaranteeing an effective control system and in making sure that the company's operations are carried out efficiently, economically and effectively.
