

Celebrating Writers and Writing in our Communities

Volume 2 | Issue 1

Article 5

2019

The Theory

Louie Marak

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.humboldt.edu/rwc>

Recommended Citation

Marak, Louie (2019) "The Theory," Celebrating Writers and Writing in our Communities: Vol. 2 : Iss. 1 , Article 5.
Available at: <https://digitalcommons.humboldt.edu/rwc/vol2/iss1/5>

This Poetry Informational/Argument is brought to you for free and open access by the Journals at Digital Commons @ Humboldt State University. It has been accepted for inclusion in Celebrating Writers and Writing in our Communities by an authorized editor of Digital Commons @ Humboldt State University. For more information, please contact kyle.morgan@humboldt.edu.

The Theory

By: Louie Marak

As the wave rose the sailor thought about the theory that the water,
Fear, and the night,
Are all the same to people. No pursuit, no skill
Or desire will hurry the daylight.
No escape from fear of darkness
Will avoid the night. Although skill will calm him, the sailor
Knows that like water the night
Always rises and falls.