CONTESTS IN ORATORY TO TAKE PLACE

VICTORS WILL REPRESENT HOPE IN M. O. L. MEETS BEGIN TO PREPARE

Annual oratorical contests which are to determine the Hope orators for the following years will be held this year as usual. The time of the Women's contest has been set for May 11. The Raven contest, open to men, will take place two weeks later on May 25.

This early announcement is made to permit of an extensive preparation. Since the winners of these contests will represent the school in the M. O. L. contest of the following year, contestants are limited to members of the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior classes, thus barring the Seniors who would be unable to fulfill this duty.

Pays to Try
Enthusiasm always attends these contests and the keen competition makes them a fine display of oratorical talent. Hope's chances to maintain the high rank which is hers in oratory depend to a great extent upon the selection of her most capable speakers. The more entries there are in the local contest from whom a representative can be selected, the more certain are the chances for a victory over rival institutions.

The end is worth striving for and the practice in speaking is of great value in itself. Everyone with recognized ability in speaking or with aspirations along the line of oratory is urged to enter.

Report Early
Those desirous of entering must report to the Manager of Oratory, Howard Sluyter, not later than April 2.

The matter of a subject is left to personal choice so long as it is something constructive. When the aged Dr. A. A. Raven gave the Raven prize, he made the stipulation that for the first year the orations have a patriotic theme or something showing respect and reverence for old age.

The orations are to be between 1200 and 1500 words in length, not more than ten per cent of which are to be quoted. Five copies will have to be provided by those who participate in the final contest.

Prizes To Be Given
Contestants in these final contests will be chosen by a process of elimination by classes. Preliminary contests will be held and two representatives will be selected from the Freshman class, two from the Sophomore, and three from the Junior. The dates set for these contests are as follows: Women's Contest—April 30, May 2, 4, and 7; Raven—May 14, 16, 18 and 21.

Besides the honor of representing the school in the following year the winner of each contest will receive a prize. The Raven gives thirty dollars to first place and twenty to second. The amount of twenty-five dollars will go to the winner of the Women's contest. If there is any additional information desired such information can be obtained from the Manager of Oratory.

Trumpeters Render Selection in Chapel

The Hope College Trumpeters entertained the student body with one of their numbers in chapel on Tuesday morning. This group of young women under the leadership of Miss Hondelink have given a splendid account of themselves wherever they have appeared.

The present membership consists of Margaret Hondelink, Julia Hondelink, Henrietta Kotts, Edith McGilvra, and Geraldine Walvoord, accompanist. This year's loss by graduation will be heavy but we certainly hope that the Gloria Trumpeters will continue to be a Hope College institution.

HOPE DEBATERS LOSE DECISION TO KAZOO TEAM

JUDGES DISAGREE AS TO THE OUTCOME OF CLOSE CONTEST

The negative debating team of Hope College was nosed out by the affirmative team of Western State Teacher's College on Thursday evening, Feb. 9, when the debaters met to discuss our Latin American Policy. A two-to-one decision of the judges shows how closely the argument was contested.

The teams were composed of the following men:

Western State Teacher's College—Affirmative. James McMonagle, Allen Edwards, John Gorr; Alternate, Wallace Ridgely.

Hope—Negative. Kenneth Hyink, Leonard Hogenboom, Harms Bloemers; Alternate, Raymond Steketee.

This appearance in Kalamazoo was the initial debate of the Negative squad. Two of the three men had their first taste of college debating, and although the taste was rather bitter, the team still has very fine chances of coming back strongly in the remainder of the season.

The outstanding debating of the evening was done by John Gorr of Western State. Mr. Gorr was a member of the Kalamazoo Central High team which took the State Championship two years ago. His great experience and knowledge of the question did much toward the destruction of the negative argument.

Although they have been defeated in their first encounter, there is little doubt that the negative squad will be victorious in a large share of the rest of the schedule.

The Chairman of the evening was Prof. O. S. Trumble. The following judges rendered their decisions:

Mr. Lionel Crocker, Dept. of Speech, U. of M.
Mr. J. W. Sexton, Supt. of Schools, Lansing.
Mr. A. H. Nelson, English Dept., M. S. C.

"Y" Talk on Perseverance Proves to be Beneficial

"Perseverance" was the topic for discussion at Y. M. last Monday. The meeting was held on Monday evening on account of the Drama Class Play on Tuesday night.

Joe De Vries was the man chosen to speak to the Y men. He handled the topic very well, and he started by defining the word perseverance. He said that it was the act of maintaining a purpose in spite of counter influences, opposition or discouragement. The man who perseveres is the man that is bound to succeed. Joe used the illustration of a criminal, in which he said that the wrong-doer was always persevering towards the goal of his unlawful acts. The Christian will always be on the happy plane if he perseveres the right way.

In the discussion that followed Joe's talk the fellow spoke of perseverance in many different aspects. Every one present seemed to say to himself as he left, "It has done me good to come tonight."

SAGES MEET TO VIEW PROGRESS OF SEMESTER

STUDENTS NEAR DANGER-LINE RECEIVE SPECIAL ATTENTION SAME ENROLLMENT

The bi-ennial post-semester Faculty meeting was held Monday afternoon, February 6. The results of nearly all of the examinations of the previous week were made known, and the meeting, it is thought, was for the purpose of discussing the general condition of the college, set standards for the coming semester, and deciding upon the course of action to be taken with regard to those whose marks were below the danger line.

To the student the last mentioned discussion was vital. In many cases it proved the determining factor as to whether or not he should remain a member of this institution.

May Renew Psychology Course

As yet there have been no steps taken toward the formation of classes for those students who have received the dreaded "F." There is a rumor that the psychology class of last year will be again resumed.

A course in how to study is always of value to those students whose marks show that they have not succeeded in adapting themselves to the new modes of supervised study brought about by the change from High School to College.

Arrangements were also made for those receiving "Cs." The work of a "C" must be made up within the first six-week period of the new semester.

There has not been a marked change in the enrollment of the institution over that of last semester. Some have discontinued work and others have arrived.

WEARY FORD SEEKS DITCH WITH CRASH

It was late—very late—for the boys should have been home long ago—and the crescent moon had long since slipped into the black void of the western hills. Dense and deep, around them the darkness was closing; the fog was as thick as cotton candy, clammy and ghostly. Faithfully the tired engine put-putted on, carrying along the Ford body with its weary load of Hopeites returning from the fray at Kazoo. The only sound, or rather, the one noise to be heard was a blend of manly snores and exhaust explosions from the protesting engine. Perhaps the driver felt the powerful drugging effect of this lullaby—maybe the poor, loyal defenders of Hope's honor on the foreign field were too tired to do ought else, but whatever the cause, the result was positive and unmistakable. With a grand and mighty crash that was the flivver's swansong, the car and occupants came to rest across the ditch and against a pole.

Miss Eleanor Poole, a student at the University of Wisconsin, was the guest of Kay Tellman for a few days last week.

NEW UP-TO-THE-MINUTE BOOKS NOW TO BE FOUND IN LIBRARY

The new assignment of books has arrived at the College library. From time to time funds are set aside for the purchase of new volumes for the main library as well as for the various department libraries.

Much interest has been displayed by the students over these new additions. Everyone should be interested. One of the marks of the man of real culture is a knowledge of contemporary literature.

Besides being new to the college library the books are all very recently published. In almost every case their copyright date is within the last two years.

The main portion of the books are biographies. The one which will presumably be the most popular of these is Carl Sandberg's "Chemist."

REVELING SIBS HAVE GAY TIME AT FINE "STAG"

SYMBOLIC COSTUMES MAKE GROUP LOOK UNIQUE PROGRAM IS NOVEL

It was a gay crowd who gathered at the spacious home of Harriet Schuurman on Friday evening, February 10, to hold their annual "stag."

All the Sibyls were strikingly arrayed in costumes representing the name of some well-known book. There was "Freckles," "Robin Hood," "Her Husband's Daughter," "Rough and Ready," "The Dutch Twins," and "Anthony and Cleopatra," which made a very unique looking group.

The program was cleverly arranged, representing the book "We." The "Preface" was greatly relished since it consisted of a delicious dinner, but the "Table of Contents" revealed that still more enjoyment was to follow. Sibyl Moeke presented the "Introduction" by giving a vocal solo in her usual pleasing manner. The "Rising Action" was given by Sibyl Van Loo by a Book Contest which thoroughly tested the Sibyl Sisters' knowledge of books. The "Climax" was finally reached when Sibyl Arlyne Haan read a paper on "Ethics of College Life," which should prove helpful to everyone. As the "Anti-Climax," a delightful piano solo was rendered by Sibyl Du Mez. "Book-Worms" also had a place on the program as the "Falling Action." This stunt was acted out by a group of Sibyllines and aroused much merriment. In "Conclusion" the Freshmen Sibyls were required to read original poems, which added greatly to the amusement of the gathering.

Alumnae Attend

Pretty Valentines were exchanged which had been designed by the Sibyls themselves. Mrs. Fay Bender (nee Marguerite Flipse) of Los Angeles, California, sweetly remembered the Society by sending pretty favors which she had made out of some California wood. Flashlight pictures were taken of the group to help keep the joyous occasion long in remembrance. Some alumni who were there showed by their presence that they still held their Sibylline Society in high regard.

"Y" Officers, Conduct Chapel Devotions

The Chapel exercises held on Friday morning, February ten, were in charge of both the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. Hazel Albers, vice-president of the Y. W. C. A. read the Scripture while Peter De Ruter, vice-president of the Y. M. C. A. closed with prayer. Katherine Nettinga of the "Prep" department very pleasingly played a piano solo.

Miss Alberta Kingma visited Gertrude Benes over the week-end before taking up her studies here for the second semester.

Van Vleck Succumbs to Inside Pressure

At last Van Vleck has weakened! The noble hall has stood for years and years but never has such disgrace been heaped upon her. Her walls have been repaired before and no wonder, but now to think that even her lofty peak must submit to the stroke of the hammer! If you haven't noticed this work of shame, do so soon and every time hereafter you pass Van Vleck, think of the inmates, who are the cause of it all. The stripes are all they need to brand them reprobrates. They give a Holland Furnace hot air competition. We're not surprised the roof finally gave way under the strain.

CLASSIC FILM PORTRAYS LIFE OF REFORMIST

SPECIAL FEATURES TAKE UP SPARE MOMENTS

The classic eight-reel motion picture of Martin Luther was shown in Carnegie gym last Thursday evening. Mr. Pierce Meurer, who finishes his Prep school work this June, and Mr. Anthony Klingenberg of the local Christian High school staged the play. At the several intermissions, an attractive program was rendered. The Men's Quartette of the Sixth St. Christian Reformed church sang several religious songs. Prof. George W. Ryder, a Shakespearean dramatist, gave a very excellent rendering of modern English of the trial scene in the Merchant of Venice. Prof. Ryder has traveled very extensively abroad and is at present writing up his travels for publication. He lives at Macatawa Park. His reading was a very special and much appreciated addition to the main feature of the evening.

Is Vivid

The picture itself was vivid and historically of great interest. It dealt very graphically with the events of Luther's life: as a student, as a mentally-disturbed monk, as a heretic when he nailed his 95 theses on the door of the Castle Church at Wittenberg. His famous words, "Here I stand, I cannot do otherwise, God help me! Amen!" Uttered before Charles V at the Diet of Worms helped to lend great feeling to the picture. Other exciting mile-stones in Luther's career were equally well portrayed. The closing scene was one of Luther's "poor little room" where he sat translating the Bible for the benefit of posterity.

Former College Pastor Speaks at Y. W. Meeting

Dr. Albertus Pieters, formerly head of the Bible department of Hope College, now occupying the Chair of Biblical Literature at Western Theological Seminary, spoke at Y. W. C. A. meeting on the subject: "The Work of the Holy Spirit." His message was enlightening as well as pleasing.

By the Holy Spirit is meant God in his most intimate and direct contact with the human spirit. His relation to man can be illustrated by the relation of the sun to the earth. The sun is far from the earth, but it sends out its rays, and heats the earth even at night when its rays are not seen. God is far away, but he sent his Son to earth, and even though man can not see Him now, His Holy Spirit is always present.

The Holy Spirit guided the writers of the Bible and the builders of the Temple of old. The work of the Holy Spirit is regeneration.

The Holy Spirit changes us, and works in us, though its work and power are sometimes hindered by sin.

Many of the girls had had Dr. Pieters for an instructor, and it was a great pleasure to them, especially, to hear him talk in his quiet, authoritative way.

Special music was furnished by Margaret and Julia Hondelink.

HOPE OUTWITS RIVAL TRIO IN DEBATE TILT

VISITING MT. PLEASANT TEAM FAIL TO DENT HOPE AFFIRMATIVE CASE IS A RUN-AWAY

They came; they saw; we conquered! The ancient timbers of Winants chapel vibrated by the crash and rumble of the fray when on Friday evening Hope's affirmative team met and vanquished the negative aggregation from Central State Teachers' College of Mt. Pleasant on the question, Resolved that our present Latin-American policy be condemned.

The chairman of the evening, Prof. Paul Hinkamp, introduced the teams. The affirmative was composed of John Visser, Neil McCarroll and Raymond Steketee. The visiting negative team was made up of William Holcomb, George Simpson, Oakley Best.

Mr. Visser opened the argument for the affirmative and gave a clear definition of our policy and a short history of the question. Mr. Holcomb accepted the definition of the policy and set forth the case by which the negative hoped to show that our policy should be upheld.

Lock Adaptation
As the debate proceeded, however, the inability of the negative to meet the arguments of the affirmative and their almost total lack of adaptability left little doubt in the minds of the audience as to the outcome.

In attempting to prove that our policy is wise, practical, and necessary, the gentlemen from Mt. Pleasant confined themselves, with the exception of Mr. Holcomb, to memorized speeches.

Begin late
In rebuttal, the negative stiffened somewhat. They approached the question with a very fine attitude and pointed out the distinction between the two lines of argument. Altogether they gave a fine impression of honesty and courtesy which will make them welcome opponents at any future occasion.

When at the close of the debate expert judge Prof. C. P. Lahman of Western State Teachers' College traced the course of the debate and in closing announced his decision in favor of the affirmative, everyone was well satisfied with the result.

ALETHEAN SOCIETY ELECTS

Monday afternoon, February 6, the Alethean Society held their mid-winter election. The following were elected officers for the coming semester:

President.....Dorothy Blekkink
Vice-President.....Regina Buss
Secretary.....Bessie Wyma
Treasurer.....Elizabeth Visker

Theologs Helping Band Boys Blow

Again our friends "across the street" have come to our aid.

The Band was reorganized in early January and the call for new members was sent out. The response elicited from those whom it should have interested the most was very disappointing. Several of the essential positions were vacant.

As in former times of need the Seminary Students came to the help of the band; several of them giving of their already-too-scarce time to make the "Hope College" band a success.

It is the desire of the other members of the band to here express their sincere appreciation of what the Theologs have done to make the band possible this year, both in the provision of a leader and several of the members.

This great rush and thirst for material wealth and pleasure in the West is carrying people off their feet. We of the East must bring back the value of periods of meditation, of quietness and searching of one's life in the presence of God.

GRADES

Semester report cards will be sent out in the near future. Parents will be informed of the grades which their son or daughter has received...

Varying answers come from different sources. The faculty in the main approve of them as fairly good indications of what is desired.

As a measuring stick of the ability of individuals their inaccuracy is evident. Certain things make this a fact which can not be changed.

Surveys show that general grades have a direct influence upon later success in life. There is no need to quibble about whether a mark is a G minus or a G plus.

This very classification has been proposed in many institutions. A student either passes or he flunks.

How should a student consider the grades which he receives? Certainly he must be sensible enough not to accept them as the only criterion of his ability.

THE OLD AND THE NEW

You may be surprised,—but there are some of us who go to chapel because we enjoy it. Not because we have to, not to establish a record, not to get on the right side of God or the faculty—because we enjoy it!

Morning chapel is something set apart—something different. It is made up of many things: music, a new slant on the Scriptures as read by different members of the faculty.

The building itself has much to do with it—the mellow beauty of gray-stone, ivy-touched walls creating an effect of serene dignity.

When we were very young we were allowed, on special occasions, to enter those walls. And to our eyes the library was spacious and lovely.

Now, when the dreams in which this old structure was among the ideals of our highest attainment have become the stepping stones to higher ambitions, it still retains for us its former beauty and significance.

Our family has undoubtedly outgrown the "Old Chapel" and this new building which promises to be so grandly impressive, is joyfully welcomed.

"Nora, what in the world is the matter with this cake?" "Put in some bad yolks, ma'am."

"Have you been drinking?" "No, mother." "But your breath smells of liquor?"

"Because I kissed father goodbye." "Why, your father doesn't drink."

"No, but his stenographer does."

Ruth—"Horseback riding gives me a headache." Boo—"Quite the contrary with me."

Abelard—"The man that steals age, he will live to regret the error of his ways."

Heloise—"Why, Abelard, don't not remember that thou were won't to steal kisses from me—"

Abelard—"Thee hast heard what I said."

Hope Senior—"May I kiss you now, dearest?"

Soph. Girl—"Wait a wh'l'e." Senior—"Why?"

Soph. Girl—"I was raised in the south, big boy, and I'm not used to these sudden changes in temperature."

Mose—"Would you run if you was to see to lion, big stuff?"

Rastus—"Bo, you'd see the soles of my shoes so often that you would jest natchully think I was lying down."

"Do you want to marry her? You won't be able to keep her in clothes."

"Oh, I earn enough." "This isn't a matter of money."

Slim—"The house is pinched!!" Slip—"Let's run and get a seat in the wagon."

Our pet freshman wished that Henry would put a beard on the new Ford to make it look like a Lincoln.

Brooks—"Have you any relatives living in Chicago?"

Zwiers—"I don't know, I haven't read the morning paper."

"Do I need a haircut?" "Oh, that's it! I thought you had a fur cap on."

"Hey, sit down in front!" "Don't try to kid me, I ain't built that way."

One gust of wind and the modern girl is ready for bed.

Officer—"Your horn is terribly out of tune."

Motorist—"Yeah, it must be the alcohol in the radiator."

Stranger—"Are you an instructor in this college?" 19XX—"No! My room-mate got dressed before I got up."

Ole—"Tillie, vill you marry me?" Tillie—"Yaas, Ole."

A long, deadening silence falls. Tillie—"Vy don't you say something, Ole?"

Ole—"Vell, I tink I say too much already."

"The general was taken rather sick at the banquet last night."

"What from?" "Oh, things in general, I suppose."

By this time every freshman should —know how to tie a bow and tip a hat.

—know how to lead out a blind date.

—know how to play pool.

—realize that the institution has an honor code.

—be an anti-tobacco crusader.

"Now," said the tramp as he sat down to rest, "I'd like to have a big plate of spaghetti but I'm not a wop, so if I had some ham I'd have some ham and eggs if I had some eggs."

Betty—"All the clothes that I had on that doll on my dresser are gone!"

Helen—"Sh-h! Kay is wearing them to a masquerade tonight."

Frisco—"Dat's a good looking gat you got there, bo."

Chicago—"Yeah, me mudder gave it to me on me sixth birthday."

Frosch—"Why would Wyngarden make a good bootlegger?"

Soph—"Same reason that Overway would make a good butcher."

PLIGHTED FAITH

When catsup grows on electric trees,

And the Nile runs into the Rhine,

When sharks and whales are covered with fleas,

Big boy, you're my valentine.

Herm—"Quite a few great men dying lately."

Saugh—"Yes, I don't feel very well myself."

Courtship makes a man spoon, but marriage makes him fork over.

Bill—"Do you know the difference between a taxi and a trolley?"

She—"No." Bill—"Good, then we'll take a trolley."

Prof. Tampen—"How far off from the answer to the first problem were you?"

Paul—"About four seats."

This week we derived considerable pleasure from a review of the "Mac Weekly," of Macalester College in Minnesota.

This must be another of those protective measures on the part of the males against the menace of Leap Year activities.

And then we read one of the basketball write-ups. "From the first basket . . . to the last . . . the game was not on ice for either team."

Next we glanced over the pages of the Normal College News, and learned that "Kappa Mus Plan for Beta Chapter."

One of the boys at Ferris Institute is doing shorthand in a livery stable.

That's nothing—we know a fellow at Hope who works in a candy factory—he milks chocolates; and still another works in a stationery store, calling cards.

An editorial in one of our exchanges makes much ado about the proverbial "rolling stone" that "gathers no moss."

We wonder if the writer of that editorial ever started a spicy bit of gossip going, and heard again—say—ten editions later?

The German Psalm Miss Boyd is my teacher; I shall not lack knowledge. She maketh me to recite dense conjugations; she leadeh me to expose my ignorance before the class.

The Oily Boid Gets the Woim

I am just coming back, with my gun in my pack From the depths of the African jungle. From ten years spent in toil, in a mad search for oil, To report that my work is a bungle.

If you don't mind a tale as you drink down your ale, I will tell you just how it began; How I boiled in the sun, for a prize never won, How I gave in at last—a licked man.

I had just finished school, was as strong as a mule, I had played on the college eleven. I had met the right girl, and my brain was a whirl, I thought I had crashed into heaven.

Right here in my life, when my spirit was rife, To conquer the world should I choose. I met young Art Traine, who befuddled my brain, With a venture that no man could lose.

What the world needs is OIL, and I know where the soil, Is virgin, and known not to man; Where all natural resources, remain at their sources, Untouched, since the world first began.

So I sailed far away, on the ship Haversaye, To a land of hot sun and wild beasts. Where the natives are black, and possess quite a knack Of eating each other at feasts.

As the years rolled away, then my youth came to pay, For the hardship that I had been thru. As I looked at myself, in the glass on the shelf, I despaired I had ever been true,

Not a hair on my head; and the fever so dread, Had left marks that I never would lose. Four front teeth were knocked out, when I had quite a bout With a lion, in quicksand of ooze.

So I gave up the quest, and returned to the West, A ghost where had once been a man. I had earned my brief rest, in the land of the blest, Ere I closed up my last earthly span.

Well, I see by your shrug, that you've emptied your mug, So I'll come to an end of this toil. What I searched for, my lad, has made strong men go mad, Like this tale 'twas banana oil.

IT DOES COUNT

There is another fallacy that is widespread, and that is that it doesn't make any difference what you do or where you do it; that it is the kind of person you are that counts.

For who would say, for instance, that Thomas Edison would have been as great a servant of mankind had he been a drugstore clerk, mixing soda water with all of the skill and efficiency he has been using to ferret out the secrets of nature these past fifty years.

Take courage, you women who have wept over Valentino's departure into Nervina, for behold! His equal has appeared in the person of "Stretch." "Short is my date but deathless my renown," said Sluyter as he added a portrait of a blushing girl to his "harem," after returning from Kalamazoo last week.

We advise Slagh to learn his curves and lines better, for as he was on his way home from Kalamazoo, he drove straight when he should have turned. As a result his car hugged a telegraph pole. Mr. Mapman and Mr. Noble, the other occupants of the car, are still recuperating from Earle's joy ride. Mr. Slagh and the telegraph pole escaped with only a few scratches.

Mr. Ooms was confined to bed last week on account of illness. We are glad to see that he is up and around this week.

Of course, we all enjoyed "The Youngest" immensely. The cast is to be congratulated on the excellent dramatic talent which they showed. We commend Elida Den Herder especially for taking a difficult part on such short notice.

After a long and extended faculty meeting one day, already late for supper, Miss Gibson returned to the Hall to — what? Guess! A Scotch party in honor of her birthday. This is step number one in the conciliation of the Scotch and Dutch. Who says we aren't internationally inclined? So hurrah for the Scotch and Dutch, neither of whom are as bad as they're painted.

A Gospel Team, composed of Capt. De Ruiter, Paul Hunter, John Tyse, Irving Tucker, Floyd Kleinjan, Harold Hesselink, Raymond McGilvra, Herman Knol, and Alfred Bentall went to Grand Rapids over the week-end. We trust that their mission of spreading "Peace, goodwill among men" was brought to a successful conclusion.

We heard from reliable sources that Lee Bosch relishes crackers and soup. His society brother Nettinga enjoys his sandwiches served with vinegar.

We always thought our accordion friend, Hicks, came from Altoona, but with his new alarm clock contraption he would make a good second-hand clothes dealer on Second Avenue, New York.

We welcome several Hopeites back into our midsts and are glad to have others join us. Lucille Vredevogd is back in the Senior class, Myrtle Klooster in the Junior class, and Ruth Van Alsborg in the Sophomore class. Alberta Kingma has entered as a special student.

Everyone has enjoyed the special music we have been having in chapel recently. Let's hope it continues.

THE ALARM RINGS

Prof. Whoosis jumps out of the window and puts down his bed while he sets on the radiator and turns on his clean underwear. The clock chimes downstairs and, in his haste, he rolls under the dresser and waits for his collar button to find him. He rushes downstairs to breakfast, spreads out his cereal and gobbles the newspaper. Young Ph. D. in the high-chair wails and he jumps up, spanking his napkin and wiping his mouth with the baby. A train whistles in the distance. He dashes out into the hall kissing an umbrella and bangs madly out the front door with his wife under his arm.

Gritty Hope Courtmen Lose Gruelling Contest to Alma

DETERMINED PLAYERS KEEP SCORE CLOSE, ENDING 32-25

GLORIOUS IN DEFEAT

In a hard-fought, evenly-matched, thrilling game at Alma last Friday night the Hope College basket-ball quintet met the strong Alma College five, going down in glorious defeat by the score of 32-25. The game was close throughout, the final score indicating the greatest margin of points that separated the two teams throughout the contest.

Hope's team played as they never had played before this season. Playing coolly and with determined purpose, they bore on, contesting every point and giving point for point. Had the game been on neutral ground and under neutral circumstances, Hope would, without a doubt, have come home with a victory and a better chance in the M. I. A. A. basket-ball race.

No gloom at Hope

Although there is a defeat chalked up against the boys in the score book, there is no gloom in the Hope camp because of the good showing that the boys made. If Hope can keep up the style of playing exhibited in the Alma game, it is a safe bet that she will come through the rest of the season without another defeat.

Captain Martin, Vander Hill, De Pree, Van Lente, and Klay started for Hope, while Captain Tiderington, Liephan, Hawthorne, Simmons, and Holdship started for Alma. Both coaches were averse to substitutions, De Velder being the only Hope substitution, while Karp and Wagner were the only Alma substitutions, no individual showing to more advantage than the others. For Alma, Captain Tiderington and Simmons looked best. Simmons was high-point man of the evening with twelve points, caging six baskets.

COACH GIVES CALL FOR BATTERY MEN

Coach Schouten has issued his first call for baseball candidates. The first call was for battery men. And daily now those who are out for the position of pitcher or catcher are practicing in the Gymnasium.

Most of the battery men of last year's team are back and prospects for a good battery are indeed very bright. C. Cole, C. Van Lente, and E. Bekken are the pitchers who are back from last year's team. R. Japinga is the only first-string catcher available. However, B. Van Oss, J. Flihkema, and R. Brummel, pitchers, and E. Scheerhorn and F. Klinjan, catchers, are available from last year's reserve team. Doubtless some of these men will be pushing the regulars for their positions this spring.

Because of the one year ruling here, the baseball team next spring will be largely made up of last year's regulars who are back and the reserves. So any of you fellows who have played ball in high school and haven't come out before, show your Hope spirit by coming out for the team and help the fellows to bring the baseball pennant to Hope's campus.

Hard-Pressing Kazoo Tossers Vanquish Hope

Grimly Contested each raise in Normalites Score

Hope At Disadvantage

In a game which was very close in the first half but which proved to be quite a different thing in the final period, the Hope College basket-ball squad met and was defeated by the strong team from Western State Teachers' College last Tuesday evening at Kalamazoo by the score of 49-20.

The score at the end of the initial period was 18-14 in favor of Western State, but during the second half the Teachers opened up their offense and tightened their defense, the result being that Hope scored only six points in the second and final period.

Is real game

The game was well-fought throughout the entire forty minutes, the score being no safe indication of the comparative strengths of the two teams. Although the final score was greatly in favor of the Teachers, the game was hotly contested all the way, the Orange and Blue grimly contesting every point and every gain made by the Normalites.

During the first half the boys situations.

Fear Still Great

By this defeat Hope is practically eliminated from the championship race in the M. I. A. A., but although Hope cannot win the pennant this year, she can yet spoil the chances of Albion and Kalamazoo. Victories over these two would practically dispel any chance of their winning the Association race. And, incidentally, they are fearing Hope greatly because of its reputation of spoiling the championship hopes of many a team.

The Hope team played as a unit, from Holland played on a par with the boys from the "celery city," but in the course of the second half the superior floor work and the better basket shooting of the Normalites asserted themselves to bring victory into the hands of the Kalamazoo bunch and defeat to the Dutchmen.

Large floor a drawback

Hope was hampered greatly by the largeness of the floor, a thing which did not bother the Teachers in the least. The game was played on the Normal floor, giving the Kalamazoo-ites a great advantage. Nevertheless, Hope did fairly well against the Western State men, considering the disadvantages under which the Dutchmen were playing.

Several of the Hope-ites traveled to Kalamazoo to cheer on and support the boys, all expressing favorable comment on the playing of the boys.

Rival Coaches Laud Schouten Court Players

RECEIVES FINE LETTER FROM DIRECTOR YOUNG OF M. S. C.

The recent Alma game marks the half way point in our M. I. A. A. schedule. Hope's basket-teeer's now start on the second lap of the season, which consists of playing each team of the Association for the second time.

Because the team has suffered a few reverses earlier in the season is all the more reason for us to expect that this second period will hold a story quite different in the telling. Student spirit has been exceptionally fine this year and both the team and the coach appreciate it to the fullest extent. Not only are we sure that our team has the "stuff," but the sentiment of rival coaches confirms this opinion. In a letter dated February 3, Ralph H. Young, Director of Athletics at M. S. C. says, "You have another of those fine basketball teams again this year. The game last Monday was entirely too close for comfort, even though our boys cut loose for some close-up shots during the last two minutes."

After the Alma game Coach Schouten was told that the Hope game was the best that had been played on that floor this season.

This is what other teams think so let's keep up the old pep for these games, that will decide our standing in the M. I. A. A. Good sportsmanship is half of the game. The team is doing their part so let's show them we're right behind them by yelling louder and better at the games.

COURT SQUAD WILL JOURNEY TO HILLSDALE

On Friday night of this week, the Hope college basketball squad will journey to Hillsdale to play the Collegians there in the second and final court contest of the season. Although both Hope and Hillsdale are practically out of the pennant race, either can stage a comeback and put a crimp in the pennant hopes of the schools now battling for the championship.

Hope has already defeated Hillsdale this year by a score of 35-24. This game, however, was played in Carnegie Gymnasium. Since the game Friday night is to be played on the Hillsdale floor, it will be much harder and the game is sure to be much closer than the one here on January 6.

May be surprise

At the present time Hope is in fourth place in the M. I. A. A. race while Hillsdale is in fifth place. But Hillsdale has beaten Alma, the team which beat Hope on its own floor. And although Hope has defeated the Hillsdale outfit once before this year, our boys will have to do their best against the South-Staters in order to bring home a victory.

Hillsdale's record against Hope is not so brilliant this year as they would like to have it. We have defeated them in foot-ball, and once again on the basket-ball court and, not without a doubt, they will be ready to take advantage of every opportunity to win at least one of the games between the two schools. While Hope is not certain of victory, we will say that if the boys will fight as they have shown us that they are capable of doing another victory will be chalked for Hope in the M. I. A. A. basket-ball race.

Hope Novices Overwhelmed by Kazoo Frosh

Game Is One-Sided

In the preliminary game to the Hope-Western State Teacher's affair at Kalamazoo last Tuesday night, the Hope Freshman team met and was defeated by the strong Western Freshman team, succumbing after forty minutes of hard playing by the score of 51-20.

Although the score indicates a lop-sided game, it was much closer than the score would tend to bring out. Hope's inability to score the necessary baskets when the opportunity presented and the ineffectiveness of her guarding were very great factors in the overwhelming defeat of the Hollanders.

Track Final Punch

Up to this time Jack's Freshmen have proven to have the necessary ability but not the necessary punch to put the important games in the victory column. However, before the Grand Rapids tournament this spring the Freshmen should be able to gather that necessary punch which so far has been lacking.

Some likely material has been uncovered among the Freshmen basketball players and undoubtedly several of the members of the squad should enter the varsity fold next year. This is the first year that Hope has had a Freshman team, but for the first year the record has been fairly successful.

Neither team had an individual star, all the men on both sides showing to equal advantage.
