FOREWORD

Hope College is proud to belong to that type of institution which has a definite aim and purpose and adheres to it sacredly. Founded upon the prayers and gifts of early Christian settlers, maintained in that same faith and liberally supported by friends, the college has always stood for a morality and a religion that is truly Christian in character. The course of study has been prepared, the faculty selected, and accommodations provided in accordance with this standard. This is the basis on which appeal is made to its friends and supporters. These aims parents are urged to keep in mind in considering a school to which they may send their children in full confidence.

A comfortable endowment has been furnished by friends. The course of study is flexible enough to meet the needs of all classes of students seeking a conservative, yet liberal education, or who wish to prepare for later professional study. Parents can feel relieved in sending their sons and daughters to Hope College because the college as well as the city holds respect for the nobler and holier affairs of life, and being truly Christian in character it commends itself to the more earnest and thoughtful people.

Correspondence is invited.
