A came, sick and wounded, and many gravel business streets are dustless the early spring and the fall, up to the wagon hubs, but the late spring and hot summer, with clouds of dust filling the air, is a different story. Note:-This private sprinkling method was tried soon after and brought about some strange situations. The man with the sprinkling cart collected a certain amount from each merchant, according to frontage. Vacant lots -and there were many-were not sprinkled. However, another situation was brought about by this system. The "poor pay" were also omitted, with the result that the dry spots from vacant lots and from the "poor pay" left a great many dust makers, and it was only natural that this dust did not only hinder the merchant who was poor who did pay. The "poor pay" ceived the benefits of the sprinkled street on both sides of his place of business. It brought such "bad blood" between the sprinkling man and the reliable merchants that they threatened to discontinue sprinkling altogether unless sprinkling was done on the "just and unjust" alike in order to settle the dust on the whole street. The whole thing was very unsatisfactory at best and finally the city took hold died Friday morning following a and installed their own wagons; four months' illness. Things Are Looking Up

(Detroit Free Press)

The improvement that has recently taken place in the automobile parts industry is only one of several indications that business is picking up in the Detroit area. As yet the pickup is slight but it is noticeable. Whether or not it is the beginning of a general, substantial business uplift remains to be seen. Any improvement in industry and trade is better than none. As soon as it becomes apparent that business is headed in the right direction there is less inclination on the public's part to hoard.

And it is the public's spending which clears the merchant's shelves, creates a demand for new stocks of goods and thus provides employment for workers engaged in the production and distribution of the necessaries and luxuries of life. At the moment the business outlook in Detroit justifies a loosening up of purse-strings, with a view to supporting and strengthening a trend toward better conditions.

Holland's First Furniture Factory Is No More; Buildings Were Dismantled Few Years Ago

The above picture represents the working force of the Ottawa Furniture Co. between 1898 and 1899. All these men, if they are living, are forty years older. Not a few have passed away, but there are several in the "land of the living." The Ottawa Furniture Co. really started in 1886; however, not as a furniture factory, but rather the manufacturing of farm implements such as fanning mills, dog churns, which there is still one in The Netherlands Museum, etc. The company, headed by Reindert Werkman, comprised several local citizens, but was largely financed by the late A. Beet Growers Get Payments For Program

Fillmore Is Rated As the Heaviest Producing Township

Between $12,000 and $13,000 will be paid within the near future to one hundred and sixty-eight Allegan county farmers who complied with the 1937 sugar beet program, Leonard Swanty, county chairman of the agricultural servation committee, said this week. Payments are based on compliance with conditions set up by the secretary of agriculture and applications for the money were signed by the farmers this week.

Fillmore township rates as the biggest sugar beet producing area in the county with Martin and Overisel next in line. One of the largest checks to be paid farmers in these areas is $354, although the average check amounts to about $50.

Conditions for receiving payment are under three main divisions. One requires that no child under fourteen years of age has worked on the farm in the harvest of sugar beets since September 1, 1937, and no child between fourteen and sixteen has worked in the fields for more than eight hours per day. A second regulation states that all persons employed on the farm in any phase of the growing of the beets, must be paid in full for all such work. Conditions under which payment shall be made depend entirely soil conservation. To qualify for payment under this division a farm must have complied in the soil conservation program to an extent which would entitle him to at least one-half the maximum amount of sugar payment. In addition to the payments on sugar beets produced, provision also is made for payments upon a portion of the normal production in case the actual production from acres harvested is less than 80 per cent of normal or if there has been bona fide abandonment of planted acres. However, to qualify for this sort of payment, abandonment must have been caused by drought, flood, storm, freeze, disease or insects. Those growers who have been forced to abandon sugar beet fields for any of these reasons should report such abandonment to the county committee.

This fall more of these beets will be drawn to the Lake Shore Sugar Co. at Holland.

LAND FOR COAST GUARD STA-TION MAY BE CON-TION MAY BE CON-TION MAY BE CON-

The board of directors of the Holland Chamber of Commerce has passed a resolution in which it has urged the federal government to adopt condemnation proceedings in the matter of obtaining proper-ty at Ottawa Beach for location of a new coast guard station, according to word released today by William M. Connelly, Chamber of Commerce manager.

Circuit Judge Leonard D. Ver-dier at Grand Rapids yesterday granted a temporary injunction to the West Michigan Park association, enjoining trustees of the segregated assets of the former First State bank of Holland from selling any property at Ottawa Beach. Ralph Gault, civil engineer for the U.S. coast guard department office at Milwaukee is surveying the proposed site, regardless of what the outcome in the matter may be. A copy of the Chamber of Commerce resolution, together with a letter from Mr. Connelly has been sent to coast guard headquarters at Washington. Mr. Connelly has expressed fear that pending court action may make progress on the project difficult, since the title must be obtained by July 1. Before further action will be taken, word is being awaited from he government in Washington. Briefs are being prepared for settlement of property rights at the present time by Cornelius Vander Meulen, attorney for trustees of the bank, who expressed hopes for an early settlement.

Allotments to 60 Michigan fair associations, making possible slic-ing this year of a $120,000 melon by 18,000 Michigan farmers, were announced today by John B. Strange, commissioner of Department of Agriculture. Present indications point to total grants of $100,000 as the state's share of $200,000 in premiums to be awarded by the 118 fair associations expected to hold exhibits this year. Of these fairs Allegan county fair is to get $2,300; Ottawa-Kent (Berlin Fair) Agricultural society, $1,801; Hudsonville Community Fair, $400; Coopersville Agricultural Ass'n, $100; Kent County 4-H Club, $400; Ionia Fair, $4,400—and so there are a few hundred more slicing from the fair melon from the state of Michigan.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions-

By CORA ANTHONY Director, A&P Kitchen

HOT weather and fruit seem to go together and the markets are cooperating by offering almost every possible fruit, most of them at very reasonable prices. Use oranges, lemons, limes and pineapple for fruit drinks with berries and cherries for flavor, color or garnish. Peaches and plums make good compote, gooseberries and plums make good compote, gooseberries and currants good preserves and jellies.

Vegetables are as plentiful and cheap as fruits. Meat prices are little changed, most poultry is a good value and fish abundant. Eggs should be bought in small quantities and carefully refrigerated at this season. Here are three seasonable dinner
