must read this article over carefully, tell it to your friends, mark and send it to your wife's cousin in Dakota. Why? Because it tells about the City of Holland and contains some good advice for you. Holland has about 4,000 inhabitants; and is the natural market town for townships of Salem, Overisel, Fillmore, Manlius, Saugatuck and Laketown in Allegan County, and Holland Zeeland, Jamestown, Georgetown, Biendon, Olive, Robinson and Allendale in Ottawa County, which townships contain 22,000 people. Holland and will be the county seat of Ottawa county, within a few years.

In addition to being surrounded by a fine farming country and in the centre of the famous fruit belt of Michigan, Holland is well located for manufacturing industries; and already has the following establishments, which now employ over 500 men:

The Cappon and Bertsch Tanneries, the largest in the Northwest.

Standard Roller Mills, having a dally capacity of 400 barrels of flour.

Werkman Manufacturing Company, one of the finest factory buildings in the state. The Fixter Stave and Cooperage factory. The Waverly Stone Company, working extensive sandstone quarries. Keystone Planing Mill and sash and door factory. The Phœnix Planing Mill and lumber yards. Huntley Manufacturing Works and planing mill. Vindicator Fanning Mill Company.

Crystal Creamery, which made more butter in 1887 than any creamery in Mich-Van Putten Tub and Pail Factory.

Wilms Champion Harrow Works. Flieman Wagon and Sleigh Factory. City Flouring Mills. Huntley Machine Shops. Scott's Foundry. Schoon and Son's Tannery. Van Dyke's Saw Mill. Holland Wind Mill Company. All of which establishments are extending their business and increasing the number of their employes. There are also about 100 employes of the Chicago and West Michigan Railway Company residing at Holland. Thus having both the agricultural and manufacturing resources Holland has a solid basis for mercantile business.

Business is not, however, all of life. Holland is also especially desirable as a place of residence. It is located near the shores of Macatawa Bay, a beautiful body of water having its outlet in Lake Michigan, six miles distant. Holland has a fine harbor and direct railway connections with Chicago, Grand Rapids, Mulkegon and Detroit. The famous Macatawa Park and Ottawa Beach resorts are here; and bring thousands of visitors to Holland each summer. Hope College and an excellent system of public schools provide superior educational advantages; and eight churches look after the religious welfare of its inhabitants. Holland has ten miles of graveled streets, with good sidewalks, a first-class system of water works owned by the city, two beautiful public parks and many handsome private residences and substantial business blocks. Have you so far and ask why tell you these facts? Because, having all these advantages you should know and tell everybody else, that Holland is sure to continue to have a steady, substantial growth; and that the present low prices of real estate will not continue, An increase of its population to 5,000 which will take place within two years, will cause an advance of from twenty-five to fifty per cent in all desirable city property. Beutiful Flowers.

WITH the closing of College and School comes a desire for handsome cut flowers to be made into appropriate designs for presentation to the graduates of the different classes. That considerable money is annually expended abroad for these testimonials is generally conceded to be true, and we have do doubt but the public in general and those who have friends and relatives who are about to throw off the mantle of school-life to do battle with the stern realities of active business occupations will be pleased to learn that cut flowers and handsome floral designs can be obtained at the green-house of Mr. Geo. H. Souter, which is located just across the Bay near the tannery, and which is filed with rare plants and beautiful flowers, too numerous for us to enter into detai's on the rarity of each. That a green-house such as Mr. S. conducts will be largely patronized and prove to be a paying institution we have no doubt whatever and time will certainly bear us out in this assertion. We were the recipients of a beautiful bouquet chosen from his flowers this week, among which was a lovely calla lily-a double lily-the largest one of which was fully seven inches in length and about four inches wide, while the smaller one was about half the size of the parent flower. It was the largest and by all odds the most beautiful lily that we have ever had the pleasure of seeing.

Resort Rumblings.

The season at the Resorts opens up rather slowly owing to the continued cold weather, but the past week several families have taken possession of their summer residences and are getting settled for a permanent stay during the season. The number of casual visitors are daily increasing and the officials of the railroad company have issued a time card for the arrival and depar ure of the boats. The Macatawa Park Association have platted their grounds into lots and are selling them very fast. They have recently secured a cut of the Bay and its surroundings and a diagram, or plat, of lots and of the buildings upon the grounds and will shortly issue a large quantity of advertising matter for distribution through the southern states. The new avenues and driveways, which the Association has opened up this season, attract attention and are greatly admired by everyone who sees them. Cottages are being erected in all parts of the grounds, open for that purpose, and spring up like mushrooms, being built in every style of architecture, The hotel, which is run by the genial and competent Landlord, Jas. Ryder, and his stimable wife, has been thoroughly renovated and much new furniture added. The building, however, remains the same in size as it was last season, and Mr. Ryder has rented several large cottages in which to lodge guests. The improvements at Ottawa Beach are being pushed forward rapidly. Many very handsome cottages are being erected here and considerable money is being spent to make them nest and attractive. Everything will be done to have the Resort made beautiful, and be equal to the cccasion when visited by a large number of excursionists. The "Shady Side" Hotel is being renovated and papered, but this week will place the hotel in complete order, ready for the hungry and tired public. has been leased as a workshop and the The skating rink at this Resort will this season be run as a pavilion and lager beer garden by the energetic Cornelius Blom. Many comments are indulged in as to the outcome of this movement, but it is generally looked upon with lavor by the visit-THURSDAY morning last during the ing public, who come from large cities, thunder storm which prevailed around and by the tired and dry-but more dry this city at about 8 o'clock, Mr. Gerrit than tired-Individual. The Maine Republicans Nominate a Friend of Blaine's for Governor-Other Conven-

THE Maine Republican State Convention, held at Portland, nominated Edwin C. Burleigh for Governor on the first ballot. He is a warm friend of Blaine's. The resolutions denounce the President's message, the Mills bill, and free trade, and censure the Government for its course in the fisheries dispute. President Cleveland is charged with hypocrisy in the enforcement of the civil-service law; and prohibition is indorsed. The mention of Mr. Blaine evoked great enthusiasm.

THE Maine Union Labor, party met in delegate convention at Waterville and nominated W. H. Simmons for Governor. The platform favors greenbacks, postal banks, government telegraph and railroads, service pensions, an income tax, a secret ballot, and homestead laws.

FREDERICK AGAIN SINKING.

The Emperor of Germany Suffers a Serious Relapse, and Is Given Up by His Physicians.

The Emperor of Germany has had another serious relapse. Nourishment has now to be injected. The greatest anxiety prevails. Through some changes, says a Berlin telegram of the 13th, of the exact nature of which the doctors are uncertain, the cartilage of the epiglottis has become permeable, allowing particles of food and fluids to enter the air-tubes, the result being attacks of coughing and choking. Whether any of the recent abscesses broke through the partition between the larynx and œsophagus, or whether the epiglottis has been attacked by malignant disease, the doctors are unable to determine. The Emperor is rapidly weakening. The doctors admit that he is in an almost hopeless condition.

DEATH OF GEN. SHERIDAN'S MOTHER.

She Passes Away at the Ripe Old Age of Eighty-seven.

MRS. MARY SHERIDAN, widow of the late John Sheridan, and the mother of Gen. Philip H. Sheridan, died at her ho be in Somerset, Ohio, on Tuesday. Mrs. Sheridan was born in Ireland in March, 1801. The family came to Somerset from Albany, N. Y., about 1830, soon after Philip's birth. While in feeble health for some years, she retained her faculties surprisingly well, and was very active and well preserved despite her advanced age. Her death was due more to extreme old age than anything else.

NEW USE FOR THUNDER.

An ex-Prodigy Recovers Her Lost Voice During a Storm.

NANNIE EVANS, the 10-year-old stage prodigy, daughter of Owen Evans, hotel proprietor at Youngstown, Ohio, had her vocal chords paralyzed seven months ago after overtaxing them singing in large halls and has not spoken above a whisper since. Eminent physicians to whom she has been taken pronounced her incurable. During a hard thunderstrorm she was sitting at an open window. There were two loud claps of thunder, and a moment after the little girl called to her mother in her natural voice. She now can talk and sing as well as ever.

Death of a Woman Who Leaves Hundreds of Descendants.

A REMARKABLE woman has just died in Lancaster County, S. C. She was Mrs. Catherine Crowell, the great-great-greatgreat-grandmother of Mrs. A. J. Bennett, of Lancaster. She was 99 years old. Mrs. Crowell was the mother of sixteen children. Her descendants number 422, not including the families and descendants of two of her children who live West, and have not been heard from in years. She had 156 grandchildren, 212 great-grandchildren, 32 third grandchildren, and six fourth grandchildren. She was married when 16 years old.

A Day in Congress.

SENATOR CULLOM, of Illinois, addressed the Senate on the 12th inst., in advocacy of the bill to amend the Inter-State Commerce law. Mr. Chandler offered a resolution referring the credentials of Senator Gibson, of Louisiana (for his new term), to the Committee on Privileges and Elections and instructing that committee to inquite into all the facts of the Louisiana senatorial election. The resolution was laid over. The Senate had a heated debate on Mr. Stewart's bond-purchase resolution. The House devoted the day to the consideration of the Mills tariff bill, and the Republicans resorted to some filbustering. A motion by Mr. Bynum, of Indiana, to strike from the free list flax, hackled, known as dressed lene, was agreed to. THE fine mansion belonging to Mrs. L. M. McColl, at Bridgewater, Mass., burned. The loss is estimated at from $40,000 to 65,000; partly insured. The fire is believed to have been the work of incendiaries, as the house was unoccupied.

THE Rev. James Freeman Clarke, D. D. the eminent Unitarian preacher and author, died at his home in Jamacia Plain, Mass. He had been sick for several days. there being no organic disease, but simply a breaking up of the system from old age. His death was quiet, without pain or apparent suffering. He was 78 years old, and had been pastor of the Church of the Disciples, in Boston, for forty-eight years.

An illustrated Chinese weekly called the Noo Yor Sinn Po has made its appearance in New York City. Wong Chin

Foo and Hong Zing are the editors. A THOROUGH examination of Gen. Sheridan was made by the physicians on Sunday. It was found that there was extensive trouble of the mitral valves of the heart, and that owing to a change, in their structure they did not fully close the aperture, and thus allowed blood to be forced back into the heart. This trouble was ascertained positively, and the rushing of the blood back into the heart could be distinctly heard. It was thought that the aortic orifice might also be diseased, but the General's breathing was still too heavy to allow this to be defitely determined. It is said, however, that the disease of the heart is not such as to entirely preclude hope of the General's recovery. The liver was found to be of larger size than was feared. Albumen and calculi were found in the kidneys, but as they have been acting quite freely it was not thought that they are seriously affected. On the whole it can be said that the consultation was of an encouraging nature. The case is, however, desperate and critical, though not altogether a hopeless one. On Monday the General was resting comfortably. and his chances for recovery were regarded as better than at any previous time.

MRS. ROSE LUDVIGH, a New York dress-maker, is charged with defrauding the Custom House out of $10,000. After buying Worth costumes in Paris, she engaged a young woman to represent heiself as an actress, and that the gowns were portion of her wardrobe. Under these conditions the costly garments were admitted free of duty. To better carry out her scheme, Mrs. Ludvigh, as alleged, played the part of maid to the alleged actress.

WHEAT and oats and other grains in the vicinity of Mason City, Iowa, have improved rapidly in the past week.

THE hotel at Manitou Park, Cal., has been destroyed by fire, with all its contents. The guests barely escaped with their lives. Some lost nearly all their clothing. Mr. Thornton, lessee of the hotel and park, had brought up $1,000 in greenbacks to pay off employes. It was burned. It is stated the hotel will be immediately rebuilt. There was a small insurance on some of the contents, but the amount is not known. The loss is estimated at $25,000.

THE liquor law adopted by the last Michigan Legislature has received another blow from the State Supreme Court, says a Lansing dispatch.

The decision this time invalidates the provision which declares that brewers and saloonkeepers shall not become sureties on liquor bonds, and is the result of a test case brought by Frederick Kuhn, whose bond was rejected by the Detroit Common Council because his sureties were both brewers. Kuhn's counsel claimed that the probrewers. Kuhn's counsel claimed that the provision of the act forbidding any persons engaged in the sale of liquor from becoming sureties on saloon bonds was unconstitutional and void because in conflict with the provision of the State Constitution that "No person shall be deprived of life, liberty, or property without due process of law," and also in conflict with the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States that no State shall make on the United States, that no State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deny to any person within its jurisdiction equal protection of the laws. The court concurs with both of these objections, and declares the provision void. Other provisions of the act go to the sufficiency of sureties and facilities for collecting judgment from them, and are reasonable restrictions upon the right to carry on the business. The provision prohibiting a per-son because of the business in which he is en-gaged from entering into contracts of a certain class which are open to all other persons would be a violation of the constitutional principle. The right to make such contracts is included in the right to liberty, and it is also a right of property. The right to pledge one's estate is as much a right to property as either title or possession.

This practically leaves the regulation of the traffic where it was before the new law was made, except that the tax is higher.

THE flour output of the Minueapolis mills for the past week was 134,200 barrels, against 102,000 barrels the previous week, and 114,360 barrels for the corresponding time in 1887. A St. PAUL dispatch says that the rumors of grasshoppers in Otter Tail County, Minn., have been confirmed by investigation. There are thousands of millions of the pests hatching out in the neighborhood of Perham, and not only that, but already there are many of them big enough to jump, and jump vigorously. They are the genuine Rocky Mountain variety, the kind that did such great damage a number of years ago. Gov. McGill has sent sev-County to be used in exterminating the pests. It comprises coal-tar, tin, sheetiron, and muslin, which is used to build machines by which the grasshoppers are caught and destroyed.

The American Express messenger, J. H. Zimmernan, and Baggage Master Joe Ketchum were alone together in the express and baggage car of the Cincinnati, Indianapolis and Chicago Railway train. Zinanermann, when the train left D. Ihi, a station twelve miles west of here, called Ketchum's attention to some tramps that he way through the glass window of the car door leading to the front platform, next to the locomotive tender. Both men arose and went toward the front door. When within ten feet of it the tramps began firing through the window. Ketchum fell, shot in four places, two balls entering his abdemen, one in his breast, and one tering his abdenien, one in his breast, and one in his left shoulder. He will die. Zimmermann tried to draw his pistol, but it stuck in his hip pocket, and he retreated to the rear platform of the car, where he met the conductor. The latter pulled the bell-rope and stopped the train. While this was going on one of the trainps climbed on the tender, where he was met by the engineer and fireman and knocked stiff by two blows from a monkey-wrench. The engineer two blows from a monkey-wrench. The engineer and fireman then rolled him off the tender while the train was at full speed. Before he was thrown overboard, however, a second robber at-tempted to climb on the tender, but weakened and dodged back at the sight of the prostrate form of his companion. Before the train stopped more than one robber was seen to jump off and disappear in the darkness. All of them wore masks, completely covering their faces.

A FIERCE wind and rain storm passed over Fort Yates, D. T. Many houses were blown down or unroofed. Shellking, an Indian chief, his son, and several settlers were killed.

THE official report of the Ohio State Board of Agriculture, based on returns from every county in the State, shows that the growth of vegetation has been retarded by the low temperature. In some counties there has been a decided falling off, the wheat plants being too weak to respond to improved conditions. In general the wheat is very uneven in growth, and on thin soil has headed out so low that there will not be straw enough to allow the gathering of it in the binder. Oats were put in late and are short. Timothy is uneven, and in many places is weak on account of the long and severe drought. Corn is backward, and in some counties has come up poorly, because of the heavy rains packing the ground. The cut and grub worms have been very destructive. Chinchbugs are reported injuring the wheat in two counties. Hog cholera is reported in the northwest part of the State. The following summary is given: Wheat, compared with full average, 58; rye, 73; oats, 78; clover, 74; timothy, 78; hogs on hand to be fed for summer market, 46; condition. 88; spring pigs, compared with full average of last seven years, 87; sheep, compared with full average of last seven years, 81; condition, 93; lambs saved, compared with full average, 73.

A COLD-BLOODED murder was committed at the little village of Worthsville, fifteen miles south of Indianapolis, Ind. Benjamia Law, Sr., a well-known and notorious sporting character, deliberately shot and instantly killed his farm hand. Aaron H. Lamar, shooting him in the side with a shotgun, while he lay on his cot. The murdered man was about 35 years of age, and went to Mr. Law last fall as a tramp and had been working constantly for him since.

T. HARRISON GARRETT, a brother of Robert Garrett, and manager of the banking firm of Robert Garrett & Sons, of Baltimore, was drowned in the Patapsco River. His yacht, the Gleam, in which he and a party of friends were going to Baltimore from Annapolis, was run down by the steamer Joppa and sunk, being struck amidships and almost cut in two. All hands on the Gleam were rescued except Mr. Garrett, who was seen by a passenger on the Joppa to fall overboard. Mr. Garrett was manager of the firm of Robert Garrett & Sons, which was founded by Robert Garrett, his grandfather. He leaves a fortune of several millions of dollars.

A PARIS telegram says: Rasia Herques, during a dinuer at Monaco with his brother and his wife and other members of the family, got into a hot dispute with them about the distribution of family property. After dinner, while beside himself with rage, Rasia drew a revolver and shot his brother and sister-in-law dead. He then blew out his own brains.

A CABLEGRAM says that a scheme has been discovered not only to rob Mme. Patti of her jewels but to kidnap her. A gang followed her to Buenos Ayres. One of their number communicated with the police, and as a result two members of the band have been put into prison. The chief of the gang is an Englishman, who on reaching Buenos Ayres took up his residence at the Hotel de Paris, while his principal accomplice, a Spaniard, was residing in Rosario. Failing to get the jewelry, it was the intention of the ruffians o capture Mme. Patti herself and sequestrate her until a large ransom had been paid for her release. COL. E. R. KING-HARMON, member of Parliament for Kent Isle of Thanet and eral car loads of material to Otter Tail | Parliamentary Secretary for Ireland, died, aged forty-seven years. The death of Col. King-Harmon was very unexpected. He had been suffering from diabetes for several months, and a short time ago took a trip to the Cape of Good Hope, in the belief that he would derive benefit from the voyage. He was much better while on shipboard, but sustained a relapse within few days after his return to London and became prostrated. Work of the Senate and House of Representatives.

ANOTHER great hole was made in the Senatecalendar on the 6th inst. All the pension bills. on the calendar-one hundred and sixteen including sixty-four House bills—were passed Among them were bills increasing the pensions of the widows of Gen. Thomas Kilby Smith to $75, Gen. Heintzelman to $100, Gen. Schimmel-$75, Gen. Heintzelman to $100, Gen. Schimmelpfennig to $50, and giving a pension of $50 a month to the widow of Commodore Truxton.
Among the other measures passed were the House bill for holding terms of the United States Court in Minnesota, with an amendment, authorizing the purchase of a site for a United States Supreme Court building; appropriating $125,000 for a public building at Salt Lake City, Utah; providing for two Associate Justices of the Dakota Supreme Court; and authorizing the construction of a bridge at Omaha, Neb. The session of the House was spent in committee of sion of the House was spent in committee of the whole on the tariff bill, and most of the remaining paragraphs of the lumber schedule were disposed of, all motions to strike out be-ing rejected. Messrs. Weaver and Funston in-dulged in a personal recrimination and shook their fingers in each other's faces over the barbed-wire and lumber taxes.

Mr. Morgan, of Alabama, asked leave of the Senate, on the 7th inst., to offer a preamble and resolutions setting forth that the report of the Committee on Foreign Relations on the fisheries. treaty questioned its legality, and declaring it-void and lawful. Mr. Sherman objected to its introduction. Mr. Morgan addressed the Senate-upon the subject. He said: "This important apon the subject. He said: "This important treaty has been made the political football of a great party for the sake of advancing the interests of a certain gentleman in the National Convention to beheld in Chicago." The Senate adjourned until the 11th. The House went into committee of the whole on the tariff bill. Mr. Dingley, of Ma'ne, speaking in opposition to Mr. Breekingide's areadment to the provise attacked to ridge's amendment to the proviso attached to the lumber schedule of the free list, which pro-poses to admit Canadian fish free of duty upon allowance by that country of commercial rights poses to admit Canadian nan free of duty upon allowance by that country of commercial rights to our vessels, and also for reciprocity in the exchange of products between the United States and Canada. After a long debate, the lumber schedule was passed without change.

THE House passed the following bills on the-8th inst.: Authorizing the construction of a. bridge at Omaha, Neb.; providing for the sale of a portion of the Winnebago Indian reservation. a portion of the Winnebago Indian reservation.
in Nebraska; granting right of way through, the Indian Territory to the Paris, Choetaw and Little Rock Railroad. Free salt was the text for a number of speeches in the committee of the whole of the House. Nothing of interest was developed, and Mr. Burrows' motion to strike the paragraph from the tail was rejected. out the paragraph from the tariff was rejected. Mr. Grosvenor's amendment to exclude bulk salt from the free list and admit only dairy and table salt met with a similar fate. Mr. Bayne (Pa.) offered an amendment to insert rice, cleaned and uncleaned, in the free list; rejected. The four-lines relating to flax were read, and Mr. Browne-(Ind.) moved to strike them out of the free list. Pending debate, the committee rose and the House adjourned. The Senate was not in session.

THE House of Representatives, on the 9th inst., voted appropriations for handsome publicbuildings at Jackson, Mich., and Ottumwa, Iowa. The tariff discussion was also resumed. A spirited discussion arose on flax. Mr. Bland spoke favoring the placing of tax on the free-list, and Mr. Struble spoke against the bill. Mr. Struble said that manufactories are rapidly springing up in the West, and free trade would be the structure of the work of the w put a stop to all such industries.

MR. GRAY made a speech in open executive session of the Senate on the 11th inst. in favor of the ratification of the fisheries treaty. At the close of Mr. Gray's speech Mr. Hoar obtained the floor and further consideration of the treaty was, on motion of Mr. Sherman, postponed till Monday, June 25. Mr. Cox replied in a humorous vein, which kept the House in a roar during the delivery of the speech. Mr. Dougherty, of Florida, introduced a resolution instructing the Ways and Means Committee to report bills repealing all laws providing for internal-revenue taxation; providing for the levy and collection of a graduated tax upon all incomes; and providing that all articles or products not manufactured or produced in the United States shall enter the ports of the United States free of all import duty.

A Cheese-Eating Dog.

There is a dog living on the West Side, says the Buffalo Courier, that has recently developed the strangest appetite that ever excited a canine palate. The other day a dozen cream cheeses were bought, and when they came they were set on a shelf in the laundry, the weather being so cold that it was not necessary to put them in the refrigerator. A few hours later, when it came time to place the cheeses on the table, they were nowhere to be found. The dog had a don't-ask-me-any questions expression on his face, and it was believed he had stolen them. Still, as they were wrapped in tin foil, it did not seem as though the dog could have relished them, and, besides, the cook vowed that she had not seen the dog near them, and that if he had attempted to steal them he would have attracted attention. The disappearance of the cheeses remained a mystery for quite two weeks, when the mistress of the house was one afternoon attracted to the yard by the barking of the dog, and on going to the door she saw the dog pull out from under a pile of rubbish one of the missed cheeses. He then carefully unrolled the foil with his paws, and devoured the contents with undisguised gusto. The remarkable part of it was that the dog had had sufficient sagacity to store the cheeses and partake of one of them each day, instead of disposing of the entire number at one sitting, as most dogs and probably all children would do. His love for cheese is accounted for by the fact that his grandparents (or one of them) were English bulldogs.

A Bright Youth.

An Austin parent has a dreadfully stupid boy. The other day the old man told him to bring him the bootjack, but the boy couldn't find it, although he stumbled right over it.

"What have you got your eyes for?" asked the irate parent.

The boy thought and thought, and finally he said: "To open them in the morning when I wake up."

When the boy grows up he will make a boss night watchman or a policeman.

LOYAL "NUB."

Or, Nubbins and Pippins-BY OLIVE HARPER.

Out in the orchard of a pretty New ing the delicious fruit.

The pretty, but not very productive, farm belonged to Mr. Preston, who was pastor of the little white church.

But if the church spire spoke of repose and peace, not so did the fact that the pastor was the father of seven daughters, all nearly grown to womanhood, and three of them advanced to old maidhood. The daughters were all good-looking girls, even the eldest ones, while the youngest two were exquisitely lovely. Their mother, who had been a Miss Apple, died when the youngest was a baby.

The pastor, who was a man as full of quaint humor as he was full of godliness, called his girls his apples. baby and her sister were called "blossoms" by their father and the rest of the girls, while the two eldest went by the names of "Nub," and "Twist," and the three intermediate ones were respectively called Russet, Pippin (or more often Pips), and Cider.

It was never considered out of the way or wrong that the minister should give his daughters these nicknames, for it was in keeping with his character, and the seven girls were known in the neighborhood by these names.

Pretty the girls had always been, good they were known to be, notable housewives the five oldest were conceded, and yet none of them had ever married. And only one had ever had an offer, or even a beau.

Sometimes good friends would try to condole with him on the probability of having so large a family on his hands never was heard of more. This she forever, when the girls should have in duty bound married, and so left home. But those friends never mentioned the subject a second time—to the pastor.

As soon, or even sooner than the young people were aware of their growing liking for each other, everybody began to discuss the advisability of such a marriage, and had settled every point to their own satisfaction long before Nubbins really knew her own heart in the apples in the capacious bins in the the matter.

One lonely evening she was walking slowly along the meadow, keeping her watchful eyes on the two "Blossoms," who were respectively 2 and 4 years She had brought them out here to play in the daisy-spangled grass, to give her sick mother a respite from their childish noise, and here she stood while Walter came walking up to her, as a man walks when he is deter-firmly, and said: "Miss Preston, Nubbins, I love you. You must have known it a long time, but I have come to tell you, and to ask if you ever could love me! Do you think you can?"

"Yes," replied the girl, frankly, sin-

I am to go along, and when we are there I will go to the mines and work at my trade, and I think I shall do as well if not better than those who go for gold, and as soon as I realize enough money to return for you I shall come, and then dear, we will be married, if you are still willprobably not be away more than a heart that beat in her daughter's bosom. "Ha! ha!" laughed the minister. "Walter, I married a rosy apple, and you are going to take up with a 'Nub-

"I prefer this very 'Nubbin' to all your apples or girls, Mr. Preston, and I wouldn't change her or her name for millions!"

So it was all settled, and Walter soon left his home and started on his long journey and Nubbins remained at home to keep his remembrance sweet in the heart, after the manner of wo-

It was nearly six months after his departure before Nubbins received a letter from Walter, and it was a long time more before she knew he had safely arrived and had started a little shop in the mines, where he thought he would do well. He had every prospect of success.

Then Mrs. Preston died and the care of the younger children devolved upon Nubbins, who developed an excellent England farm, the apples were ripe capacity for that. The little farm very and a merry party were busily gather-nearly supplied their wants and the minister's salary, though very small, filled the vacancy, leaving the uncertain benefits of donation parties out of the question. And so things went on for six years. Walter wrote often and Nubbins was content to wait for his return. He had made much money, but the cost of living had been great, then he had been very sick, and at last had been robbed. He wrote that he feared that she would tire of waiting for him, and begged her to be patient, and added that the hope of seeing her would nerve him to new efforts, and with protestations of love immeasurable, he ended his letters.

had ever entered Nubbin's loyal mind, and her love grew and ripened as she grew older and passed from youth to womanly age.

At last a year went by, and no news. Another wore its sad length along and no news came; a third passed and Walter's name was spoken in a hushed voice, as they speak of the dead, and then other weary years went by, monotonous, heavy, freighted with an unaccepted sorrow, until at last it was fourteen years since Walter had left his promised wife.

Some said he had died. Nubbins could not accept his death as a fact. Others said he had probably forgotten her and married some one else. This roused her anger, gentle as she usually was. Others, again, said, nodding their heads, that he had most probably taken to drink, like his father, and so heard in pained silence and only prayed in secret that it might not be true. Still he did not come, and they heard no news.

Fourteen years had brought silver the village blacksmith, and he had her cheeks and added a quiet dignity them with sweet gravity, in no wise two years difference, and the youngest was poor, and worse, his father had like Nubbins, as she had been at that age, only she was more vivacious and gentle wife's heart, and so the son not full of coquetry, which Nubbins, her only had his own way to make in the elder sisters and father all in vain tried

So were matters on the day which ders. He did bravely, and the people had been devoted to robbing the old orchard of its abundant harvest. Numbers of friends had gathered there to lend willing hands to help their pastor, for there were none that did not love him for his genial, human love for them, each and all, as well as for his devoted administrations as pastor.

While they were at work piling up cellars, and picking them down from the trees and carrying them back and of forth, a stranger appeared upon the scene. Had tramps ever been heard of in that peaceful valley, they might have called him a rather respectable one, but as these had never been known, they looked with a high degree of curiosity at him as he came walking over the meadow with strong, firm steps, like a man well assured of himself and his surroundings.

He looked among the assembled people and then his eyes fell upon Blossom, who was standing beside a tree, and he was by her side in a moment, and caught her by the hands, and then took her in his arms and held her closely to his breast as he said, bro-

"Nubbins! my little wife! forgive me, for this long silence, but I can explain it. Have you thought of me? You haven't changed a bit, and I've grown cld and rough and gray. Why don't you speak?"

"In the first place you gave me no chance. In the next I'm not 'Nub' but Blossom, and I think I have changed, so now. Nubbins is over there by that pile of baskets. I'll call her." The first freshness of his joy had been given to Blossom, and it was with a bewildered sense of change and strangeness that now took possession of Walter that he went to greet the cold, stately woman that stood before him, ing. You musn't look sad, for I shall and he felt chilled in spite of himself, and their meeting was constrained and couple of years, and we are young, yet, awkward. Then his story must be and I am poor. We must go to your told, and he must greet all his old friends and be introduced to new ones. He had been caught in a caving tunnel and his skull fractured. So Walter started at once for his home and wife. This was his story, and as he ended it he gave a half nervous laugh and said:

"Now, Mr. Preston, we have no apples in California, yet, and I want you to give me the one you promised me, to take out there. And we must go back next month, Nubbins."

"I— you — Bloss—I have — have changed vy y much, Mr. DeWitt, and grown old. You did not realize it, and now, perhaps you had better think it over a little. I-think-you might be sorry afterwards if you did not," said poor Nubbins, whose tender heart had been bitterly wounded by the mistake he had made and by her own discov-

"Do you mean that you are married?" asked Walter, hoarsely.

"No. not that," faltered she. "Well, what then is it? You cannot love me new that I have grown so old and rough?" "No, it is I who have grown old,

"Is that it? Why, I prefer a thousand times that you should have kept pace with me. What could I do with a lady like that. I prefer my Nubbin to the fairest blossom or handsomest apple in anybody's orchard, yes, a mill-No thought of deserting her lover ion times. Now, give me one kiss, my ad ever entered Nubbin's loyal mind, dear, and I will know I'm awake, and we will have a wedding here in a week, or sooner, if you will.

The kiss settled it all, and the wedding was the following week, Walter declaring that it was worth waiting fourteen years for a wife like his.

Strange to say, in less than a year from then Mr. Preston had seen all his daughters led away as brides to different homes, and he said that as soon as one man had found his wife so perfect, the rest had rushed in and robbed his orchard of girls, and left him neither fruit nor bud, neither apple blossom nor nubbia.

A Brief Betrothal.

They were in all the blissful transports of a couple who had been engaged three hours and a half. It was verging on to midnight but he manifested no sign of going, and she trembled lest he should do so. Suddenly he drew a pencil from his pocket, tore a blank leaf from his note-book, and

"Now, my own little lovey dovey, let's make a diagram of the little home we will have." "Oh, yes, let's do!" "Our home! Don't it sound

"It will be genuine love in a cottage, won't it, sweetheart?"

"Oh, yes, indeed! We can get along with a dear, cunning little reception room, double parlors, a library, dining and music rooms down-stairs. Then we'll want a large, sunny, beautiful room up-stairs for dear mamma."

"Yes, dearest; when she comes to visit us we'll make it as-"Visit us? Why, Albert, mamma intends living with us, of course."

"Oh-ah-I-I-"I knew I'd surprise you, darling! Won't it be lovely? Then Auntie Harriet will have a room next to mamma's, and--"

"Aunt Harriet?"

"Why, yes, precious. She dotes on you, and I've always told her that if I ever had a home it should be hers, too, and you wouldn't want your little girly-girly to break her word?"

"No--no-I-" "And then we must calculate for a large, sunny room for my dear old grandmamma and grandpapa who made your little wife to be so happy when she was a little girl." "Yes, dear; but I-I-" "No buts about it, darling. Then sister Nellie will want a pleasant room, and dear old Uncle Horace, and brother Tom won't want to be separated from dear mamma and me; and I've always said that dear old Auntie Miggs should be with me at least half of the time, and if we could spare a room for-There engagement came to an end right there, and dear Albert has a breach-of-promise suit on hand now .-Detroit Free Press.

A Place of Refuge.

Little Harry, age 5, whose mother had been trying to impress upon his mind the idea of an all-seeing God-Mamma, does God see all I do?

Mamma-Why, yes, Harry. When you are good He sees it and is happy, and when you are naughty He sees it and it makes Him unhappy.

Harry (after a careful thought)—

Mamma, does He know everything you do? Did He see you when you punished me yesterday?

Mamma-Yes, He saw me, and He felt sorry little Harry was so naughty. You can't go out of doors or do anything in the house that He doesn't see and know. He wants you to be a good -Fire in the capsule factory at Ann Arbor destroyed the entire stock and most of the buildings. Loss $15,000; insurance $12,000. The fire was without doubt the work of an incendiary.

-The officials of the Soo Road and the Atlantic Elevator Company were in Gladstone the other day. The object of their visit was to select a site for a grain elevator which will have capacity for a million bushels, and will be built at once.

-The bell in the Catholic Church or Mackinac Island has been in use for more than 200 years, and is now to be replaced by a new one.

-A recent fire destroyed the principal business part of Norway. A strong wind was blowing and the flames jumped rapidly from one wooden building to another. In the burnt district little was saved, and careful estimates place the loss at $200,000, with very little insurance. The weather was cold and stormy, and there was much suffering among the homeless. The business part of Norway is in ruins, and the principal buildings burned. More than five hundred people are sufferers. The largest losers by the fire are: C. I. Mc-Elroy, general merchandise, $29,000; A Husson, hotel and fixtures, $3,000; A. Patenande, drugs and jewelry, $6,500; J. Lindquist, general merchandise, $8,500; J. H. Gee, 10,500; F. Levy, groceries, $4,000; L. The storm broke like the bursting of a water-spout, and continued for two hours, accompanied by heavy lightning. All the country from the Wisconsin line to the upper range and the whole width of the peninsula suffered. At and for fifty miles from Houghton the work of the deluge was most damaging. At Baraga, Houghton, Calumet, Lake Linden, Escanaba, L'Anse, Iron Mounntain, Norway, Ishpeming, Marquette, and as far east as Seney the storm was terrible. No approximation of damage is possible. Houses were undermined, and in some cases swept away; culverts and bridges were destroyed, and miles of fences and sidewalks were washed away. Although several railroad culverts were destroyed no accidents accurred, but travel was generally delayed on all the peninsular roads. Three culverts on the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Railway near Baraga were washed away. The damage will require much time to repair. The water was very high in all the streams.

-The Saginaw cargo lumber market is dull, but June is invariably a quiet month. No sales of consequence are being reported, but a number of small lots have changed hands. There are no changes in quotations. What demand there is is limited to common lumber. Box stock is is very little unsold lumber fit to ship.

-John E. Nowlan, of East Saginaw, has come into possession of a map of the United States which is considerable of a curiosity. It was published by William Thrall, of Hartford, Conn., in 1835, and illustrates very forcibly the growth of the Western States in the past fifty years. It shows great stretches of country west of the Mississippi River with such a dearth of population that it is thought sufficient to print on the Territories that they are great treeless plains which are roamed over by herds of buffalo, wild horses, and bands of Indians. Michigan is shown with only thirteen towns in the Lower Peninsula. These are Detroit, Pontiac, St. Clair, Palmer, "Ann's Arbor," "Bronstown" (now Kalamazoo), Byron, Saginaw, Edwardsville, Jackopolis, Tecumseh, Fort St. Clair, and Palmer. Sault Ste. Marie is the only town shown in the Upper Peninsula, the balance of the region being marked as Indian reservations.

-The first marine fatality of the season in the neighborhood of Bay City has occurred, and at one time it looked as if the loss of ten instead of two lives would result. A small ferryboat, in the act of crossing the stream, endeavored to cross under the tow-line of a tug towing a lumber barge. The line was well tautened when the attempt was made, but just as the ferry was on the point of crossing under, the line slackened. It sank under the bow of the ferry, and again tautening out jerked the craft high in the air, spilling its ten occupants into the water. Boats at once put out from the shore, and succeeded in rescuing eight of the imperiled men, but two, Frank Cuckerman and Jacob Guidalas, sank out of sight and were drowned before assistance could reach them.

-The court-room at .Hillsdale was crowded by parties interested in the sensational suit instituted against Mrs. Carmichael, of Wright Township, who was recently arrested on a charge of having poisoned her husband, a prominent farmer of Hillsdale County. Mrs. Carmichael fainted as she was approaching the steps of the court-house and was supported by her friends. The story of the crime, briefly summed up, is as follows: In January last Addison Carmichael was found dying in bed at his homestead in Wright Township. Before he died it is said that he made a statement to the effect that he had been poisoned by his wife. At the that the storm of the 10th inst. was gen- inquest which was held the jury returned a verdict of suicide. Since Carmichael's burial, however, ugly rumors obtained currency in the vicinity as to the cause of his death, and the body was finally exhumed. A chemical analysis showed that the man had been poisoned, but by whom the fatal drug was administered has not vet been disclosed. A witness was in attendance at the trial at whose instance Mrs. Carmichael was arrested, who avers that Mrs. Carmichael offered him $250 to procure poison some time ago for the purpose of killing her husband. Mrs. Carmichael is the daughter of a respectable farmer. The people in the neighborhood are greatly excited over the probable outcome of the trial, and do not seem inclined to place much faith in the charges brought against Mrs. Carmichael.

Alumni Association.

The Alumni Association of Hope College will hold its annual meeting in the College Chapel, on Tuesday, June 26, at 8 o'clock p. m. The exercises will be of a popular character, and will be conducted according to the following program:

Oration,-Rev. Henry Utterwijk, Grand Rapids, Mich. Subject: "Modes and Tenses, a Philosophy of Life."

Chronicles.-Rev. Adrian Westveer, Stanton, N. J.

Poem.-Rev. T. J. Kommers, New York City. The people of Holland and all friends of the College are cordially invited. Business meeting of the Alumni on Wednesday moraing at 9 o'clock. All the graduates, who can possibly attend, are strongly urged to be present. HENRY BOERS, Sec'y.

AT a meeting of the Board of Directors, of The Ottawa County Building and Loan Association, on Tuesday evening, June 12th, 1888, the following officers were unanimously elected: President, Dr. Kremers; Vice President, James Graham; Secretary, Henry Martin; Treasurer, A. M. Kanters. The by-laws prepared by the committee were appoved and adopted. It was also ordered that the treasurer be directed to deposit all moneys of the association in the Holland City Bank and that the city newspapers be requested to publish these proceedings.

POTATO Bugs, Current Worms, Cabbage Worms, &c., are quickly destroyed by using "Hammond's Slug Shot." It is the cheapest and most effective article known; over 2000 tons used with safety to man and beast. Sold by W. H. Beach, Holland, Mich.

THE school term is rapidly drawing to a close, and the teachers are anxiously looking forward to the time when they will be released from their duties. We do not wonder at this. Hardly any profession causes more wear and tear upon health and temper than that of teaching school, and no one who has not tried it can comprehend it to its full extent. It is needless to say how eagerly the boys and girls look forward to a release from their daily tasks, and the enjoyment of unlimited freedom. They do not seem to think now, what they are sure to learn in the future, that these are the happiest days of their lives.

THERE is probably not another town of the size of Holland where talk is so cheap as it is here. A young lady's reputation is as a feather blown about by the polluted breath of scandal. There are men (?) who loaf about the streets whose only occupation is to absorb some information that can be construed into a scandalous yarn to be retailed at the expense of its victim. Should a person enter a saloon, he is a crunkard in the last stages. Should he enter a church, he has some evil design toward some member of the flock or is posing for political effect. Should he wear good clothes he has appropriated them at a fire; should he appear in poor raiment, society recoils from pear in poor raiment, society recoils from and desire to close out all our goods behim. There is also a goodly sprinkling fore doing so. The Ladies of Holland of flitting parasites who buzz about the ears of men of influence seeking good graces at the expense of any individual who may be subject to their venomous stings. There is but one way to get rid of these pests. Pay no attention to them. Let those who have business or something to live for go on serenely attending to it believing only what they see with their own eyes and hear with their own ears. The occupation of the parasite would then soon be gone.

Arrived in Port.

Under the above heading the following appeared in the Ashland, (Wis.,) Press about the purchase of a new steamer by a citizen of Holland who is conducting a line of boats in that section: "Captain Brower came into port of Ashland yesterday afternoon with his new steamer Emerald. He left Duluth Thursday night at 11 o'clock and experienced quite a gale upon Lake Superior. She is manned as follows: F. R. Brower, captain; John Doesburg, clerk; Henry Brower, wheelsman; John Till, engineer and George Thompson, fireman. The vessel is a sidewheel steamer, 150 feet in length, 40-foot beam and 80-foot hold. She has a lowpressure engine, 39x72 cylinder, with a six-foot stroke, giving her great power, far beyond that of ordinary excursion boats and is arranged particularly for excursion purposes, having three decks and a large amount of room for passengers. gent's cabin and smoking room, large

A ladies' cabin handsomely furnished. A space for dancing and promenading, and is equipped with 500 life preservers and two life boats. The boat is licensed to carry 500 passengers. She is a fine sea boat and her running capacity is fourteen miles per hour. In a word she combines all the qualities that are required to make an excursion boat comfortable, enjoyable and perfectly safe. Captain Brower may well feel proud of her as well may the people of Ashland for having so desirable an excursion steamer upon the bay. She will make regular daily trips to Bayfield and Washburn in addition to excursions among the Apostle Islands and various points upon Lake Superior, and will commence upon her schedule time next Monday."

"The steamer Emerald made the trip from Bayfield to Washburn yesterday in sixty-one minutes and from Washburn to Ashland in twenty-three minutes. This is the best time that has been made between these points."

Michigan's Piano Manufactory .-- Chase Brothers, of Grand Rapids.

This industry, unknown to many, is turning out weekly a large number of as fine pianos as can be made in any place. The "Chase piano" has been a family word through the southern and western states for many years, being in use in many homes and colleges, outnumbering all others, and since the removal of their works to Grand Rapids, the Chase is as well and favorably known as any instrument in Michigan. There are quite a number of these pianos sold in the city, and the owners speak in the highest terms of praise in regard to them. The firm have at their large ware room, No. 92 Monroe street, Grand Rapids, a full line of Pianos, Organs, Sheet Music, Small Instruments, etc. If you wish anything in the music line call at No. 92 Monroe, or on their general agent for Western Michigan, Mr. A. It seems that the spirit of "Anarchy" still remains in this country, judging from the tone of an article in this column last week. It seems to me if I was a free born American citizen and had the privilege of enjoying all of the blessings of the most glorious country that the sun ever shown on, that is if I ever had any such thoughts, I would not let my neighbors know it and I would try and get rid of them. We were very much surprised last week to see the whole male population with fresh hog greese on their hair and shining forth in their "other" clothes. Old men endeayored to look young and it was really surprising to notice the agony of the dude element. We started out to find out what was up and soon ascertained that a lovely female drummer from Chicago was engaged in setting the town crazy and selling Mr Barrows a bill of Paking-Powder. For her appearance we refer, without permission, to H. Rider Haggard's description of "She" when his hero first saw her and though we are a married man we must say the Baking Powder is just splendid.

June 14.

Our first dish of strawberries this season appeared on our table Wednesday.

The growing crops in this vicinity were much benefitted Wednesday morning by a regular pour down rain, among which was mingled a few hail stones which lasted for two or three hours.

It seems that we have been unfortunate of late in giving offense. In this instance it was caused simply by calling a man a happy father. We acknowledge to having done it without authority and to be willing to take it all back, and promise to exercise more caution in future. But we cannot see why people will be so exacting and particular with us when they furnish the news. We would prefer to write something that is pleasing if they would only furnish it, but they ought to overlook or excuse us if we make mention of events that transpire because they happen to be unpleasant, except by special request.

C. L. Waffle and sons went to the Stearns bas on fishing on Monday of this week. The horse they drove succeeded in working itself loose soon after being left, and made its way homeward for about a mile and a half, when it was caught and hitched to the fence. Mr. Clark, Supervisor of Robinson Township, came along about this time with a horse and buggy and after learning the above facts took the stray in charge and returned it to the place where left by the owner. He then proceeded to hunt up the party to whom the horse belonged and gave them this piece of information. This is what we consider a piece of genuine neighborly kindness.

The Treasurer of the W. C. T. U. informs me that my statement of the information that she gave me relating to the amount of dues paid her by the retiring secretary is incorrect, as she had paid her dues in part, but still retained a portion of her own, together with a certain amount paid in to her by other members of the Union. Such sums. whatever they may be, together with the book containing the society records, is therefore all that still remains unaccounted for. We do not claim having been run through any sort of a machine that makes mortals perfect, but are liable to misunderstand and make mistakes. But in such cases we are always willing to correct and apologize. In our interview with the treasurer our only object was to obtain the facts and make a true statement, and we hope that this explanation and apology for our mistake will prove satisfactory, and restore confidence and good feeling among all parties.

For the Holland City News.

RESPONSE. Investigation has never shown any defaulting on the part of the recording secretary of the Ottawa Station W. C. T. U., and the difficulty referred to was at an earlier date, and originated with the members who now belong to the new Union. Having made some serious mistakes themselves, they called a special meeting February 15rd and worked nearly four hours to show that the secretary was to blame for the mistakes, but she, speaking to the question, would not allow a decision sioner in the town of Olive. cision whichever party it favored. By so doing it seemed as though a better state of feeling might have prevailed, but they strongly objected, and to avoid all farther settlement withdrew and began with seven members, and sometimes did not have any meeting at all, but had increased their number to ten by the time the new year began in April. That is all the "original" members they have ever had, and to substantiate the statement the district treasurer reported $1.00 from them for district dues. The secretary having finished her record for the year, and supposing her work was rather imperfectly done, sent for the County Superintendent to come up and make an examination of the book. After carefully looking it over, she pronounced the record stronger than the constitution required it to be made, and said "inasmuch as the society had accepted it all, that was the authority for the business they had done." We are wholly unable to agree with your reporter in regard to the number of members belonging to the Union last year. There were twenty-six regular members on the rol!, sixteen being the average attendance at the meetings. Ordinary intelligence and a little arithmetical calculation, will readily show that ten is but a little more than one-third of twenty-six. Article third, found in the governing principles, says: "Any woman may become a member of this Union by signing the constitution and pledge, and contributing annually to its funds." We infer from this that any woman complying with the above article is a member whether she attends the meetings or not. This Union paid fifty cents for annual dues, and had three treasurers to fill the measure of the year, the second being the one referred to. The recording secretary paid all her dues to the several treasurers and holds their receipts for the same, and has never at any time received a cent of dues from any member of the Union, and for the treasurer to say that "the secretary never paid any dues, and had retained a part of those paid by other members," is absolutely and basely false, and for her to have the audacity of making such a statement is a marked discredit to herself. The members of the new society, feeling somewhat weakened in their forces, did not seem to make much progress for a time, and appeared to lean toward the "reporter" that he might give them a "lift," so he slurs the members of the old society and gives those of the new one a "puff" in the paper, helping in the home work with many lively suggestions for the future, while they in turn confide to him their business plans, until he has gained the inside track in affairs, and will be able to lead out for them very nicely. Now we hope that the reporter will stand by the women of the new Union and never leave them in time of need, for we do not think they are "lifted" far enough yet, but they will be by the time he gets through with them.

"EUNICE."

He Is Nominated by Acclamation to Lead the Democracy.

Daniel Dougherty, the Silver-Tongued Orator, Presents the President's Name.

Delegates and Spectators Thereupon Give Themselves Up to Twenty Minutes of Enthusiasm.

Proceedings of the Second Day's Session of the National Democratic Convention.

St. Louis, June 6, 1888.

Ten thousand people sweltering in a parallelogram room with less air than is given to a car of live-stock on the way to the slaughter-pen. Ten thousand fans waving frantically in the vain effort to create a breeze. This is the National Democratic Convention as it came together this morning. The thermometer in the hall registered 26 degrees in the shade.

The convention was called to order by Chairman White at 10:23 o'clock, and as soon as silence could be secured the Rev. J. B. Green, of Louis, offered prayer saking the middens of the from Colorado was accepted for use by future ocratic conventions amid applause. A petition from the citizens of New York, asking for the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine was referred to a committee.

Mr. Mallory, of Florida, presented a resolu-tion indorsing President Cleveland's tariff message, which was received with cheers and applause. The measure was referred to the Committee on Besolutions.

The report of the Committee on Credentials, seating W. F. Steele and H. L. McGuire—the "Church faction"—from Dakota, was presented and unanimously adopted. The report of the Committee on Organization followed. When the name of Gen. Collins, the permanent Chairman, was read, it was greeted with applause and cheers. Gen. Collins made a ten minutes' speech.

A long tariff resolution offered by Mr. Showal.

ter, of Missouri, was read and referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

Mrs. E. A. Merriweather. of St. Louis, apared on the platform to speak for th en's Rights Convention, and at once a band struck up and there was a rousing cheer given which fairly rent the roof. The Chairman asked the convention to please preserve order while the lady spoke. Mrs. Merriweather's speech was composed of old arguments in favor of women's composed of old arguments in favor of women's rights, and she asked that the party make its practices of government accord with its principles. Mrs. Merriweather addressed herself more directly to the reporters, and asked the adoption of a preamble to the platform recognizing women's rights. The confusion increased, and Mrs. Merriweather, becoming annoyed, said: "Gentlemen, you are not often troubled with ladies and ought to hear one once."
Great cheering was elicited by Mrs. Merri-Great cheering was elicited by Mrs. Merri-weather's indignation.

Mrs. Merriweather made several efforts to be

The Chairman-The delegation from the State of Alabama desires to surrender its right to a nomination to the delegates from the State New York. The gentleman from New York, Mr.

Dougherty, has the floor.

Amid great enthusiasm and applause Mr. Dougherty ascended the platform to the right of the Chairman and addressed the convention as follows.

"I greet you, my countrymen, with fraternal regard! In your presence I bow to the majesty of the people. The sight itself is inspiring, the flought sublime! You come from every State and Territory, from every nook and corner of our ocean-bound, continent-covering country. You are about to discharge a more than imperial duty with simplest ceremonials. You, as representatives of the people, are to choose a magistrate with power mightier than a monarch, yet shecked and controlled by the supreme law of a written Constitution.

"Thus impressed, I ascend the rostrum to name the next President of the United States. New York presents him to the convention and pledges her electoral vote. Delegations from the thirty-eight States and all the Territories are as sembled without caucus or consultation, ready, simultaneously, to take up the cry and make the wote unanimous. We are here not, indeed, to choose a candidate, but to name the one the people have already chosen. He is the man for the people. His career illustrates the glory of our institutions. Eight years ago unknown save in his own locality, he for the last four years has stood in the gaze of the world, discharging the most exalted duties that can be confided to a

"To-day determines that not of his own choice but by the mandate of his countrymen, and with the sanction of heaven, he shall fill the Presidensy for four years more. He has met and mastered every question as if from youth trained to statesmanship. His promises of his letter of acceptance and inaugural address have been fulfilled. His adelity in the past inspires faith in the future. He is not a hope. He is a realization. Scorning subterfuge, disdaining re-election by concealing convictions, mindful of his oath of office to defend the Constitution, he courageously declares to Congress, dropping minor matters, that the supreme issue is reform, revision, reduction of autional taxation; that the Treasury of the United States, glutted with unneeded gold, oppresses industry, embarrasses business, enlangers financial tranquility, and breeds extravagance, centralization, and corruption; that high taxation, vital for the expenditures of an apparalleled war, is robbery in years of prosperus peace; that the millions that pour into the treasury come from the hard-earned savings of the American people; that in violation of equality of rights the present tariff has created a privileged class, who, shaping legislation for their personal gain, levy by law contributions upon the necessaries of life from every man, woman, and child in the land, and that to lower the tariff is not free trade. It is to reduce the unjust profits of monopolists and boss manufacturers, and allow consumers to retain the rest. The man who asserts that to lower the tariff means free trade insults intelligence. We brand him as a falsifier. It is furthest from thought to imperil capital or disturb enterprises. The aim is to uphold wages and protect the rights of all.

"These are the achievements of this administration. Under the same illustrious leader we are ready to meet our political opponents in high and honorable debate, and stake our triumph on the intelligence, virtue, and patriotism of the people, adhering to the Constitution in every line and letter, ever remembering that 'powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.' Bowing to the authority of the Democracy of New York, backed by the authority of the Democracy of the entire Union, I give you a name entwined with victory. I nominate Grover Cleveland of New York."

When Mr. Doughterty finished his speech at

Grover Cleveland of New York."

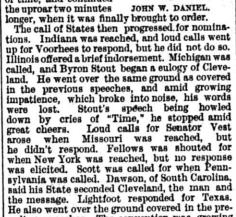

When Mr. Doughterty finished his speech at 12:06 p. m., the delegates and the audience set up a yell. After simply yelling for half a minute, some of the more ardent took off their coats and began waving them. About this time the door of the capitol at the rear of the platform was swung aside, and in the panel appeared a portrait of Cleveland, occupying the center of the facade of the capitol. Then the delegates and the audience simply went wild, and, with furious energy, worked their voices and their bodies in their efforts to testify their approval of the nomination. A band somewhere in one of the galleries started up "Marching Through Georgia," and the air of the sentiment, nobody knew which, elicited a tremendous outburst of cheers. About this time a third of the delegates and perhaps one-fourth of the was swung aside, and in the panel appeared a of the delegates and perhaps one fourth of the audience produced bandana handkerchiefs and waved them frantically, and in response to this fresh incentive there was an additional swell in the terrific outburst of noise. One lunatic in the gallery took his new plug hat and sent it sailing across the space over the heads of the delegates and it was caught by a party in the opposite gallery with the expertness of a professional base-ball player.

After eight minutes of bedlam Chairman Collins thought the thing had gone far enough, and thumped and pounded for order, but with every thump of the gavel arose a new section of yells from the assemblage, and Chairman Collins re-linquished the job in despair. At this point Daniel Dougherty mounted a chair in the center of the New York delegation, and waved a flag. From all parts of the hall delegates gathered in about Dougherty, bearing the standards of their respective States, and formed in a circle about him, holding in a sort of canopy over his head the placards bearing the names of the States. In marked distinction from the scarlet bandanas the standards of Indiana and Kansas were decorated with strips of black silk, indicating the adherence of the parties who bore them to the cause of the present Commissioner of Pensions. Under the canopy formed by the standards a couple of United States flags were introduced, and the tableau thus completed was greeted with pandemoniac cheering and howls and yells. A young fellow in the upper gallery broke in on the uproar with the mellifluous strains of a melodeon, giving a still more infernal tone to the turmoil. Among the audience in the rear of the delegates a number of people produced a flock of big yellow eagles, which, by some arrangement, were made to flap their wings, and so far as any one knew in the terrific uproar they may have also screamed for the Democratic nominee.

When the demonstracomparatively, John B. Castleman and A. G. Dejarnette of Kentucky carried the Kentucky standard on the plat-form and planted it beside the Chairman's desk, to emphasize the second which Kentucky preposed for Grover Cleveland. Eighteen minutes of bedlam seemed to be enough to suit the delegates, and they sank back into their seats; but the audience was not satisfied with this allotment of time, and continued the uproar two minutes

"The Chair declares that Grover Cleveland of New York, having received the unanimous vote, is the candidate of the Democratic party for the office of President of the United States."

The announcement was received with another loud burst of cheering and waving of handker-chiefs, hats and canes, which lasted for several minutes.

St. Louis, June 7, 1888. ST. Louis, June 7, 1888.

The convention was called to order by Chairman Collins at 10:35 a.m., and the Rev. Dr. Brank offered prayer. Immediately the report of the Committee on Resolutions, submitting the platform, was read and Chairman Watterson and Senator Gorman aroka in its aumost.

Senator Gorman spoke in its support.
On motion of Mr. Watterson the platform was adopted, and the Hon. W. L. Scott presented this resolution for the committee:
"Resolved, That this convention hereby indorses and recommends the early passage of the bill for plause.]

The convention then, amid great excitement, proceeded to the nomination of a candidate for proceeded to the nomination of a candidate for Vice President. When in the call of the States California was reached, Mr. Tarpey, of that State, arose and nominated Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio, in a highly eulogistic speech. Mr. Patterson, of Colorado, nominated Gen. J. C. Black, of Illinois. Connecticut, through Delegate Pignett also seconded. Thurman's nomination of Illinois. Connecticut, through Delegate Piggott, also seconded Thurman's nomination. Senator Voorhees, on behalf of Indiana, presented the name of Isaac P. Gray, and made an eloquent plea for his nomination. Georgia and Kentucky, through Delegates Cox and Settle, seconded Gray's nomination. They were followed in turn by Delegates Dryden of Missouri, Green of New Jersey, and Dorsey of Nevada, who presented the claims of the old Roman. Then followed Delegates Raines of New York, Strange of North Carolina, Dawson of South Car-Strange of North Carolina, Dawson of South Carolina, Lillard of Tennessee, and Throckmorton of Texas, all of whom spoke eulogistic of the Ohio man, and seconded his nomination. Senator Daniel of Virginia closed the speech-making with an impetuous panegyric of Thurman.

When the State of Florida was called the Chairman of the delegation said: "Florida meets California half way, and gives her eight votes for that highest type of American citizen-Allen G. Thurman."

Iowa was passed at the request of its Chair-There were cheers when Kansas cast fourteen votes for Thurman. Enthusiastic applause and cheers greeted New York when the seventy-two delegates voted solidly for Thurman, and the scene was repeated when Pennsylvania's sixty votes were cast the same way. When the State of Wisconsin was called every delegate in the hall arose and again began a scene which rivaled the uproar when Mr. Cleveland was nominated. The uproar was quieted in a measure, and the clerk again called the State of Wisconsin, and the roll-call was completed, the following States and Territories casting the votes given for Thurman.

Wisconsin......22 Idaho....

Mr. Patterson of Colorado-"Mr. Chairman, on behalf of the friends of Gen. John C. Black of Illinois and other States I am requested to formally withdraw his name and move that the nomination of Allen G. Thurman for Vice President be made unanimous." [Loud cheers.]
The Chairman—"The vote of Colorado will first be changed as requested by the chairman of that delegation from Black to Thurman." A delegate from Ohio—"The State of Ohio is entitled to forty-six votes, and she wishes to cast her vote solid for Allen G. Thurman." Mr. Shanklin of Indisna—"Mr. Chairman and

Mr. Shanklin of Indiana—"Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention, I will not add one drop to the flood of perspiration by attempting to start another flood of eloquence. [Laughter.] I arise for the purpose of withdrawing the name of Isaac P. Gray and of moving this convention that the nomination of Allen G. Thurman of Ohio be made unanimous." (Loud cheers.)

The Chairman—"It is moved by Mr. Patterson of Colorado, and seconded by Mr. Shanklin of Indiana, that Allen G. Thurman of Ohio be nominated by this convention by acclamation. Those in favor of that motion will say aye."

in favor of that motion will say aye."

At this point the convention rose en masse and shouted forth a long, loud and unanimous aye. The Chair then put the other side of the question, but there were none left to vote.

The Chairman—The Chairman of this convention declares Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio, to be the unanimous choice of this convention for the office of Vice President of the United States. [Loud applause and cheering.]

Loud applause and cheering.]

A resolution of thanks for the services of the Hon. Frederick O. Prince, of Boston, the retiring Secretary of the National Committee, was adopted. A long resolution enlogizing Hancock, Tilden, Seymour, and McClellan, and expressing a deep sense of the party's great loss in their death, with the usual resolutions lof thanks, was passed, and the convention adjourned "te meet at the polls in November."

THE PLATFORM. -

Declarations of the Democratic Party on the Issues of the Coming Campaign.

Text of the Resolutions Adopted by the National Convention at St. Louis.

The Democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, renews the pledge of its fidelity to the Democratic faith, and reaffirms the platform adopted by its representatives in the convention of 1884, and indorses the views expressed by President Cleveland in his last earnest message to Congress as the correct interpretation of that platform upon the question of tariff reduction; and also indorses the efforts of our Democratic representatives in Congress to secure a reduction of excessive tax-

Chief among its principles of party faith are the maintenance of an indissoluble union of free and indestructible States, now about to enter upon its second century of unexampled progress and renown; devotion to a plan of government regulated by a written Constitution strictly specifying every granted power, and expressly reserving to the States or people the entire ungranted residue of power; the encouragement of a jealous popular vigilance, directed to all who have been chosen for brief terms to enact and execute the laws, and are charged with the duty of preserving peace, insuring equality, and establishing justice.

The Democratic party welcomes an exacting scrutiny of the administration of the executive power, which four years ago was committed to its trust in the election of Grover Cleveland. President of the United States, and it challenges the most searching inquiry concerning its fidelity and devotion to the piedges which then invited the suffrages of the people. During a most critical period of our financial affairs, resulting from over-taxation, the anomalous condition of our currency, and a public debt unmatured, it has by the adoption of a wise and statesmanlike course not only averted disaster but greatly promoted the prosperity of the people.

It has reversed the improvident and unwise policy of the Republican party touching the public domain, and has reclaimed from corporations and syndicates alien and domestic, and re-stored to the people, nearly one hundred millions of acres of valuable land, to be sacredly held as of acres of valuable land, to be sacredly held as homesteads for our citizens.

While carefully guarding the interests of the people, consistent with the principles of justice and equity, it has paid out more for pensions and bounties to the soldiers and sailors of the Republic than was ever paid before during an equal period. It has adopted, consistently pursued, a firm and prudent foreign policy, preserving peace with all nations while scrupulously maintaining all the rights and interests of our own Government and people at terests of our own Government and people at home and abroad.

The exclusion from our shores of Chinese laborers has been effectually secured under the provision of a treaty, the operation of which has been postponed by the action of a Republican majority in the Senate.

Honest reform in the civil service has been inaugurated and maintained by President Cleve-land, and he has brought the public service to the highest standard of efficiency, not only by rule and precept but by the example of his own untiring and unselfish administration of public In every branch and department of the Government under Democratic control, the rights an the welfare of all the people have been guarded and defended; every public interest has been protected, and the equality of all our citizens before the law, without regard to race or color, has been steadfastly maintained.

Upon its record thus exhibited and upon the place of a continuous to the people of the ben-pledge of a continuance to the people of the benefits of Democracy it invokes a renewal of popular trust by the re-election of a Chief Magistrate who has been faithful, able, and prudent, and in-who has been faithful to that trust the transfer also to the Democracy of the entire legislative power.

The Republican party, controlling the Senate and resisting in both houses of Congress a reformation of unjust and unequal tax laws which have outlasted the necessities of war, and are now undermining the abundance of a long period of peace, deny to the people equality be-fore the law, and the fairness and the justice hich are their righ for a better share in the rewards of industry is stifled with false pretenses, enterprise is fet-tered, and bound down to home markets; capital is discouraged with doubt, and unequal, un-just laws can neither be properly amended nor just laws can neither be properly amended nor repealed.

The Democratic party will continue, with all the power confided to it, the struggle to reform these laws in accordance with the pledges of its last platform, indorsed at the ballot-box by the suffrages of the people. Of all the industrious freeman of our land, the immense majority, including every tiller of the soil, gain no advantage from excessive tax laws, but the price of nearly everything they buy is increased by the favoritism of an unequal system of tax legislation.

ism of an unequal system of tax legislation.

All unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation.

It is repugnant to the creed of Democracy that by such taxation the cost of the necessaries of life should be unjustifiably increased to all our people. Judged by Democratic principles, the interests of the people are betrayed when, by unnecessary taxation, trusts and combinations are permitted to exist which, while unduly enrich. ing the few that combine, rob the body of our citizens by depriving them of the benefits of natural competition. Every rule of governmental action is violated, when through unnecessary taxation a vast sum of money far beyond the needs of an economical administration is drawn from the people, the channels of trade and ac-cumulated as a demoralizing surplus in the National Treasury.

The money nowlying idle in the Federal Treasury resulting from superfluous taxation amounts to more than one hundred and twentyfive millions, and the surplus collected is reaching the sum of more than sixty millions annually. Debauched by this immense temptation, the remedy of the Republican party is to meet and exhaust by extravagant appropriations and expenses, whether constitutional or not, the accumulation of extravagant taxation. The Democratic policy is to enforce frugality in public expense and abolish unnecessary taxation.

Our established domestic industries and enterprises should not and need not be endangered by the reduction and correction of the burdens of taxation. On the contrary, a fair and careful revision of our tax laws, with due allowance for the difference between the wages of American and foreign labor, must promote and encourage every branch of such industries and enterprises by giving them assurance of an extended market and steady and continuous operations. In the interests of American labor, which should in no event be neglected, the revision of our tax laws contemplated by the Democratic party should promote the advantage of such labor by cheapening the cost of necessaries of life in the home of every workingman, and at the same time securing to him steady and remunerative employment.
Upon this question of tariff reform, so closely concerning every phase of our national life, and upon every question involved in the problem of ood government, the Democratic party submits its principles and professions to the intelligent suffrages of the American people,

The Mother at Home.

The mother is the heart of the home. She it is who determines its characteristics and diffuses through it that subtle atmosphere which every sensitive person can feel when introduced into the home circle, and from which can quickly be inferred the ruling spirit of the home. There can be no doubt that the most effective training for children is the training of example, and this truth the mother needs constantly to bear in mind. How can the impatient, querulous, fault-finding mother teach patience and kindness and good temper How can the vain mother teach humility? How can the mother greatly absorbed in keeping up with the pomps and vanities of life, eager for place and show, teach her children the true principles of a happy life? How can the selfish mother te generosity or kindness, or the discontented mother teach contentment?-Mrs. Helen E. Starrett.

FATE OF THE GREAT AUK.

Killed for Fun by Sallors. [New York Sun.]

The form of the auk is familiar to all who have read illustrated accounts of early voyages to Greenland. It was the penguin of the North Atlantic. It had a squatty, goose-shaped body, and was from twenty-eight to thirty inches long on the average. It had wings, however, that were only between five or six inches long, and it was therefore incapable of flight. It is pictured in the old sea stories as sitting up solemn and dignified in ranks along the sand and on the bleakest and most barren coasts as the sailors approached the land in boats. It was not easily frightened by the approach of man, who was apparently its sole enemy. When disturbed, it waddled away about as fast as a man could walk, taking very short steps, but taking them rapidly. On account of its gait, it was called the wobble in some of the early books, such as the work of John Josselyn, Gent., on "New England Rarities," printed in 1672. Not that the bird was a rarity then; on the contrary, it was seen in great numbers as far south on the New England coast as the yachting center of the United States-Boston.

At that time and for 100 years later it was the custom of many of the fishermen frequenting the banks of New Foundland, particularly the French, to victual their vessels with the flesh of the auk, killing and salting down as many as would last for the entire cruise. Their method of taking the birds was the simplest possible. The ship's boats were rowed into some quiet cove frequented by the auks, and moored a few feet from the land. Then the planks were laid from the beach or the rocks to the gunwales of the boats, and the auks were driven on board in single file until the boats were loaded. A man with a club knocked them on the head as they reached the boat, and dumped them under the thwarts. The auk seldom offered any resistance, but occasionally it would snap at a man with its stout bill, and would inflict very painful wounds. In such cases, the old accounts say, the sailors skinned the birds alive out of revenge.

When driving the birds on the boats it was necessary to station a man with a club on each side of the gangplank to keep them from dropping off into the water. Once afloat the awkward waddle becomes the swiftest and most graceful of motions. No other water fowl could approach the wonderful speed of the auk on the water; indeed it could swim as rapidly as some of the more lumbering birds could fly.

Although on account of its fishy food it was somewhat oily when in good condition, it was nevertheless so much esteemed by the sailors that its numbers diminished continually from the time the banks of New Foundland began to be much frequented, so that by the beginning of the Nineteenth Century it was no longer hunted for food. were to be had that they were not worth the time required to take them. However, in the year 1807, a British privateer varied its occupations of pursuing French merchant vessels and impressing Yankee sailors by going to the islands off Iceland for a supply of fresh auk meat. Great numbers of the birds were killed, many being left dead that could not be removed because the ship had all she could use. Three years later the people of the Faro Islands, being threatened with starvation on account of a failure of the fisheries, visited Iceland and about completed the destruction begun by the privateer.

That the auk never recovered from these blows, even on the icoasts best fitted for its maintenance, was due to the fact that the auk laid but one egg a year. It made no nest but deposited the egg on the bare rock. It was an astonishingly large egg, averaging nearly five by three inches in length and diameter. It was shaped much like a big California pear, being very small at one end, a peculiarity of all birds' eggs that were laid in exposed places as this was. Being small at one end it would, when the wind moved it, simply roll around in the arc of a very small circle. It was of a creamy white color, irregularly marked with brown and black patches.

They Were Waiting for Him.

What funny things a man in the box office sees. The other day I was in the treasury department of a theater for a while, says a writer in the Chicago Mail. Among the people in line was a chap whose make-up indicated that he was in the city to see the sights.

"I would like to have one of your best seats," he said, as he looked in at the window just as a chicken in a coop looks at a grain of corn it can't reach.' "Dollar and a half." was the reply.
"Got any cheaper?"

"Oh, yes, got'em for a dollar, seventyfive, fifty, and twenty-five cents,' "Gimme a fifty-cent ticket." "All right; there you are."

"Has the show begun yet?" "Not yet."

"How long before it will begin?" "Just as soon as you get seated," said the treasurer in a way that was matter-of-fact. "We have been waiting for you." "Hey?" said the countryman. "I say we have been waiting for you. I was afraid you wouldn't come. Please step in so as not to keep the company waiting." The countryman looked at the treasurer for a half minute and then asked: "How did you know I was comin'?"

Dyspersia has been the cause of many momentous crises. A leg of mutton is said to have controlled the tide of Leipsic's battle, and the consequences of the indigestion of a certain duchess are proverbial.

Let Us Work Earnestly.

The true laborer is not only worthy of his hire, but in one sense worthy of his wages; the higher wages which the Great Master has not placed at the disposal of man, or in the control of the capitalist; the sure and sweet reward for which all earnest souls would strive, were there no such a thing as money returns for toil.

For real singers must sing, real preachers preach, true painters paint, and geniuses of all kinds labor for the subtle satisfaction that the work itself affords. For to them

"No endeavor is in vain,

Its reward is in the doing; And the rapture of pursuing Is the prize the vanquished gain."

But for those who work in weariness instead of rapture there is also a great reward, for the acquired habits of one generation often become the natural traits of the next. And thus each noble deed is crowned with immortality. -Grace S. Wells, in St. Louis Maga-

Pretty Tough on Abstainers.

A guest at the Planters', while performing some necessary ablutions, was led to perpetrate some sarcastic remarks concerning St. Louis water. "Why, over in Cincinnati, you know, I thought the water dem'd yellow, you know, but it wasn't a circumstance to this. It is full of beautiful red clay. but after an hour or two it settles, and the upper third is slightly moist. But this stuff holds the foreign matter in solution. I don't see how you are ever going to close your saloons in this city as long as such stuff as this represents the aqua pura."—St. Louis Republican.

When the first electric telegraph was established the speed of transmission was from four to five words a minute with the five-needle instruments. In 1849 the average rate for newspaper messages was seventeen words a minute. The present pace of the electric telegraph between London and Dublin, where the Wheatstone instrument is employed, reaches 462 words; and thus what was regarded as miraculous sixty years ago has multiplied a hundredfold in half a century.

SPECIAL.

Whereas, From day to day vast numbers are being stricken down with the fell disease Rheumatism, which seems to be greatly on the increase.

And whereas, The nation has within a short time been called upon to mourn the sudden loss of many of our public men, such as Vice Pres ident Hendricks, Gen. John A. Logan, Sec'y Daniel P.

RHEUMATISM

I was cut in the wrist by a broken bottle, from which I suffered extreme pain. I called a doctor, who pronounced it sciatic rheumatism. My right side became paralyzed, leg and arm badly with-ered, and my joints were so stiff that there was but little action in them. About six weeks ago I began taking Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup with marvelous results. Since then I have left off the marvelous results. Since then I have left off the use of crutches entirely, and only use a cane, and for the past few days I often forget it and walk without any aid. To say that it has greatly benefited me but poorly expresses my idea of your Rheumatic Syrup.

C. D. Denio,

Mich.

C. D. DENIO is a man well known in this community, and was probably the worst wrech physically of any man this country ever saw. He was paralyzed from rheumatic poison, and no one ever expected he would recover. He is well, one ever expected he would and it is simply marvelous.

FRANK L. SMITH,

Ex-Member State Legislature, Jackson, Mich.

Manning, Gen. McClellan, and many others.

Now, therefore, I de, by virtue of the knowledge possessed by me, proclaim and recommend Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup to be a remedy of great merit, both for Rheumatism and all Blood Diseases. And further, That this medicine be adopted as a national remedy by all. Signed by the President.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM.

My daughter Maud had inflammatory rhound-tism. Her limbs were badly swollen. She was in terrible agony. She has been taking Rhoumatic Syrup and using your Plasters, which has broken it up. The Syrup corrected her indigestion, cleansed the rhoumatic poison from her blood, and she is now which to be around the boost. and she is now able to be around the house consider Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup and ters remedies of great merit.

Many CHRONIC DISEASES Sucsfully Treated

Personal Consultation.

WE obtain our knowledge of the patient's disease by the application, to the practice of medicine, of well-established principles of modern science. The most ample resources for treating lingering or chronic diseases, and the greatest skill, are thus placed within the easy reach of invalids, however distant they may reside. Write and describe your symptoms, inclosing ten cents in stamps, and a complete treatise, on your particular disease, will be sent you, with our opinion as to its nature and curability.

AND LUNG DISEASES.

The treatment of Diseases of the Air Passages and Lungs, such as Chronic Catarrh in the Head, Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption, both through correspondence and at our institutions, constitutes an important specialty.

We publish three separate books on Bronchitis; price, post-paid, ten cents. (2) A Treatise on Asthma, or Phthisic, giving new and successful treatment; price, post-paid, ten cents. (3) A Treatise on Chronic Catarrh in the Head; price, post-paid, two cents.

Dyspepsia, "Liver Complaint," Obstinate Constipation, Chronic Diarrhea, Tape-worms, and kindred affections, are among those chronic diseases in the successful treatment of which our specialists have attained great success. Our Complete Treatise on receipt of ten cents in postage stamps.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, DIABETES, and CIDNEY

DISEASES.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, DIABETES, and kindred maladies, have been very largely treated, and cures effected in thousands of cases which had been pronounced beyond hope. These diseases are readily diagnosticated, or determined, by chemical analysis of the urine, without a personal examination of patients, who can, therefore, concrally be successfully treated at their homes. The study and practice of cliemical analysis and microscopical examination of the urine in our consideration of cases, with reference to correct diagnosis, in which our institution long ago became famous, has naturally led to a very extensive practice in diseases of the urinary organs.

These diseases should be treated only by a specialist thoroughly familiar with them, and who is competent to ascertain the exact condition and stage (which can only be ascertained by a careful chemical and microscopical examination of the urine), for medicines which are cutative in one stage or condition do positive injury in others. Being in constant receipt of numerous inquiries for a complete work on the nature and curability of these maladies, written in a style to be easily understood, we have published a large, Illustrated Treatise on these diseases, which will be sent to any address on receipt of ten cents in postage stamps.

BLADDER

DISEASES.

INFLAMMATION OF THE BLADDER, STONE IN THE BLADDER, Gravel, Enlarged Prostate Gland, Betention of Urine, and kindred affections, may be included among those in the cutions, and the cution of the cutions are cutions. These are fully treated of in our Illustrated Pamphlet on Urinary Diseases. Sent by mail for 10 cts. in stamps.

STRICTURES AND URINARY PISTULAS.—Hundreds of cases of the worst form of strictures, many of them greatly aggravated by the careless use of instruments in the hands of inexperienced physicians and surgeons, causing false passages, urinary fistules, and other complications, annually consult us for relief and cure. That no case of this class is too difficult for the skill of our specialists is proved by cures reported in our illustrated treatise on these maladies, to which we refer with pride. To intrust this class of cases to physicians of small experience, is a dangerous proceeding. Many a man has been ruined for life by so doing, while thousands annually lose their lives through unskillful treatment. Send particulars of your case and ten cents in stamps for a large, Illustrated Treatise containing many testimonials.

NERVOUS
DISEASES.

Epileptic Convulsions, or Fits, Paralysis, or Palsy, Locomotor Ataxia, St. Vitus's Dance, Insomula, or inability to sleep, and threatened insanity, Nervous eases with unusual success. See numerous cases reported in our different illustrated pamphlets on nervous diseases, any one of which will be sent for ten cents in postage stamps, when request for them is accompanied with a statement of a case for consultation, so that we may know which one of our Treatises to send.

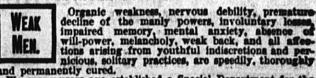

We have a Special Department, devoted exclusively to the treatment of Diseases of Women. Every case consulting our specialists, whether by letter or in person, is given the most careful and considerate attention. Important cases (and we get few which have not already baffied the skill of all the home physicians) have the benefit of a full Council of skilled specialists. Rooms for ladies in the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute are very private. Sume ten cents in stamps for our Complete Treatise on Diseases of Women, illustrated with wood-cuts and colored plates (160 pages).

RADICAL CURE OF RUPTURE.

HERNIA (Breach), or RUPTURE, no matter of how long standing, or of what the, is promptly and permanently cured by our specialists, without the knife and without dependence upon trusses.

Abundant references. Send ten cents for our Illustrated Treatise. PILES, FISTULE, and other diseases affecting the lower-bowels, are treated with wonderful success. The worst cases of pile tumors, are permanently cured in fifteen to twenty days. Send ten cents for Illustrated Treatise.

and permanently cured.

We, many years ago, established a Special Department for the treatment of these diseases, under the management of some of the most skillful physicians and surgeons on our Staff, in order that all who apply to us might receive all the advantages of a full Council of the most experienced specialists.

WE OFFER NO APOLOGY.

We offer no apology for devoting so much attention to this neglected class of diseases, believing that no condition of humanity is too wretched to merit the sympathy and best services of the noble profession to which we belong. Why any medical man, intent on doing good and alleviating suffering, should shum such cases, we cannot imagine. Why any one should consider it otherwise than most honorable to cure the worst cases of these diseases, we cannot understand; and yet of all the other maladies which afflict mankind there is probably none about which physicians in general practice know so little. We shall therefore, continue, as heretofore, to treat with our best consideration, sympathy, and skill, all applicants who are suffering from any of these delicate diseases.

YOUR BUGGY for ONE

Venetian Gondollers. It is an odd experience to live in a city where no horse sets its foot, and through whose streets no cab or car-riage ever passes. You may walk all over Venice, if you like, but you cannot drive an inch. She affords ample accommodation for the pedestrian, but her streets have no roadways, being all sidewalk. From this novel state of affairs the tourist at least derives one advantage—he is freed from the plague of cabmen. The Venetian gondoliers resemble the ordinary Jehus that they replace about as much as a dragon-fly does a dung-beetle. They are a hardy, active, cheery set of men, civil and obliging, limbed like Greek statues and graceful as greyhounds. John of Bo-logna might have molded his incomparable Mercury from one of these lithelimbed, sinewy oarsmen. Their fine development of form is due to their occupation, their habit of rowing standing, developing and exercising every muscle in the frame from throat to heel. As a class they are the cleanliest set of men to be found among the lower orders of Europe. The watery ways on which their days are spent send up no cloud of dust or dashes of mud to sully their neat and picturesque attire. Their hands and faces, bronzed to as dusky a tint as the sun and the wind can possibly impart to the human epidermis, and their crisp, curly dark locks are as free from soil and as well kept as are those of any high-bred gentleman. The costume of a gondolier of the better class would be a handsome one to adopt for a fancy-dress ball, since it is very characteristic, and yet simple and sufficiently in accordance with a gentleman's every-day suit to be worn without awkwardness. It consists of a loose double-breasted jacket of dark-blue cloth, with trousers to match. The jacket is closed with two rows of large, highly polished brass buttons, and is bound around the edges and around the cuffs and collar and pockets with cloth of a blue two shades lighter than the hue of the garment itself. A glazed sailor's hat, around the crown of which is passed a ribbon of the lighter shade of blue, with long, floating ends, forms the head-gear. Sometimes a felt hat, with a melon-shaped crown, the brim curving deeply over the brow and at the back of the head, is adopted, but the ribbon is never absent. A sash of cloth, matching the jacket and trousers, and with long ends finished with white worsted fringe, is tied around the waist, the ends falling at the left side. Sometimes the jacket is piped with red, or with the same dark blue as the cloth whereof it is composed; but the style I have just described is the most usual, and is also the prettiest. It opens at the throat, showing a collar and white necktie, both scrupulously clean, as are also the white cuffs visible beneath the loose sleeves, the lineh being coarse in quality, but of snowy whiteness. I have been told that the same dainty neatness prevails in their homes, and that a gondolier's ordinary meal of fried fish and polenta is served as spotless a tablecloth, and with knives and forks and plates and glasses as well washed and shining as are similar articles in a palace.-Lucy
