BELLS OF WARD-BELMONT

DEDICATION

TO POLLY—A TRUE BELLE OF WARD-BELMONT

In the years to come we all shall remember Polly as one of the truest and dearest friends we have ever made—as a friend who has guided us through our first experiences in combating the trials of the outside world, and as friend whose principles and ideals will always guide us.

It was Polly whose exceptional executive ability guided the activities of the senior class, whose omnipresent friendliness manifested itself in her sponsoring the Osiron Club, who took more than an active interest in the C.G.O., and who inspired the literary undertakings of both the HYPHEN and the MILESTONES. We shall always remember her sincerity, patience, and loyalty, for in her are found the qualities to which all girls at Ward-Belmont aspire. Polly, as she appeared laughing behind the counter in the Tea Room; cheering “her” team on the athletic field; telling dry jokes from her Pub-office chair; zipping around the circle in her red Chevie, Bessie; and deeply resenting her special nickname, “Mother McCree,” we shall never forget. Her ever-glowing spirit eternally will remain in our memories.

And so to Miss Polly Fessey with inexpressable gratitude we dedicate this book.

I N M E M O R I A M

Black letters slither into words that weave themselves into thoughts, thoughts that tell the story of a man. It is a short story for most, months in length for some, a year for others, longer for a very few. It is the tale of a man who captured the imagination of our youth with his own vivid interest in us and our lives, a man whose own zeal inspired us to greater effort on behalf of our fellows, greater loyalty to the ideals for which we stand. His is a very human story, this man's, who smiled at us through the early morning mist, who laughed with us and poured into us a joy of living taken from his own deep well of life.

The words continue and now they tell of rattling paper and the smell of chalk dust and how amid all this one man gathered up the knowledge of an age and gave it to us in small and simple words; how he, where others had failed, reconciled his science and his God.

The letters grow fewer and cease. The words vanish. The thoughts are scattered. Yet, the story, his story goes ever on and will continue while there are those of us that see mysteries of our world and recognize God's subtlety, both in nature and in man. And, so for now we say, John Morrow, hail to you sir, and farewell.

THE PRESIDENT

DR. ROBERT CALHOUN PROVINE
President

Few college presidents are as highly esteemed and as greatly admired as is Dr. Provine. Ward-Belmont girls shall always remember this gracious and dignified man who to them has incorporated in his character all the highly treasureable attributes of a perfect southern gentleman.

From the formal opening of school to the final graduation day every student looks to Dr. Provine for guidance, encouragement, and inspiration. His presence at the various campus activities, the club receptions, picnics, the Servants' Party, the horse shows, the teas and dances has invariably added much towards making each a success. Long after their few years here have ended students will remember Dr. Provine as one of the greatest friends they have ever known. While still at school perhaps the immature student finds it hard to set definite values on mankind but age will show her that Dr. Provine is one of the most "real" of all people.

This year Dr. Provine has undertaken a new responsibility, that of teaching a class in philosophy. To add just such a task to all his innumerable duties as president is certainly a laudable act, for surely he is a very fine philosopher. Dr. Provine's abiding wisdom does most assuredly make him a fit subject for the old adage of the ancients that "the truly wise man stands erect upon the earth with his feet planted firmly in it, his arms outstretched to all mankind, and his head in the celestial beauties of the spheres."

How Much Am I Bid?

THE DEANS

MISS MARTHA ORDWAY Dean of Women

In her third year as Dean of Women, Miss Martha Ordway was always ready and willing to listen to the problems of each and every student. Her many kindnesses, courtesies, and considerations are as much a part of her as she is of this school.

Not only does she attend to problems, but she, also, attends to any and all social functions . . . concerts, club dances, and various things of that nature. She is as formal as she is informal.

This marvelous southern lady, through wisdom and generosity, holds the respect and admiration of every student.

DEAN CHILES VAN ANTWERP

If we drop around to the room in the Academic Building marked Chiles Van Antwerp, Dean, we are greeted by the friendly smile of a person whom we find always ready to help with our problems, whatever they may be. Since his arrival at Ward-Belmont just two short years ago, he has endeared himself to all by his friendly manner, patience, and helpfulness.

As well as helping with academic problems, he is sponsor of the Phi Theta Kappa chapter. We are very proud and happy to have such a capable person as Mr. Van Antwerp for our dean.

PRINCIPAL OF THE PREPARATORY SCHOOL

MRS. SUSAN S. SOUBY

In completing her fourth year as head of the Preparatory School, Mrs. Souby has again proved her capability and intense interest in the affairs of the Ward-Belmont campus. From the first senior-junior competition until the final notes of the organ at prep graduation, students knew they could turn to Mrs. Souby for needed advice and inspiration. Loved and respected, she will remain in the hearts of her students as one of the most outstanding figures at Ward-Belmont.

DEAN OF THE CONSERVATORY

DEAN ALAN IRWIN

Across the street from Fidelity Hall, at any time of the day, you may observe the music students going to and from the conservatory with smiles on their faces. For the students are happy, and this happiness is due in a large measure to the kindness and understanding of Dean Irwin. Majoring in music requires much hard work, but it is well rewarded by Dean Irwin's enthusiastic approval of the student's accomplishments. Dean Irwin is always sympathetic and helpful, and the students think of him not only as a teacher but also as a friend. In his many years as Dean of Ward-Belmont's Conservatory he has helped make it the fine institution that it is today.

BUSINESS MANAGER

MR. VERNON M. NELSON

We are often prone to think of Mr. Nelson wholly as our materialistic administrator of business, our capable automan who keeps W-B squarely on its feet. And truly that is his main capacity for his word is law whether it's "do the teachers have a raise" or "do we get a new egg beater down at the club." But forgetting the slightly ridiculous, we want to say that Mr. Nelson is one of the best managers a school could ask for. And not only in this vein is he outstanding; he possesses a certain charming quality that few can boast. His power, his effervescence, his fascinating little smile—Mr. Nelson, we are proud to claim you as our own.

REGISTRAR

MISS MABEL FLETCHER

With a background of eighteen years at Ward-Belmont, Miss Fletcher graciously officiates this year for the first time as registrar, introducing to the visitors young and old our Ward-Belmont of charm and tradition. Believing in its importance to women of tomorrow, Miss Fletcher centers her life on the advancement of the school's ideals. Her radiant enthusiasm and love for Ward-Belmont enhances the magnetic personalities of school and lady.

Friends and visitors are most fortunate in having Miss Fletcher introduce them to her beloved Ward-Belmont.

tiring efforts, has attempted and succeeded in bettering the life of the Ward-Belmont campus. Following closely in the footsteps of their magnetic president, Mary Thompson, and their understanding sponsors, the council, has been instrumental in securing new privileges for the student body, and has provided more than ever before, an efficient means of communication between the students and the faculty and staff.

Working in close collaboration with the C.G.O., the Presidents' Cabinet, composed of the various leaders of campus organizations, has contributed much toward the efficient student government. These organizations have been most successful in "transmitting the school not less, but greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to them."

A symbol of scholastic ability, Phi Theta Kappa is composed of girls in the upper ten percent of the college classes who are chosen for their qualities of fellowship and character as well as for outstanding scholarship. Phi Theta Kappa is remembered for the thrills, cheers, and laughter that inevitably mark the impressive, exciting tapping service at which the new members are formally initiated. Nervous fingers held lighted tapers and trembling lips repeated the solemn pledges as the excited new members participated in this memorable occasion.

Ward-Belmont's Delta Xi chapter of the junior college national honor fraternity contributes to the student body their project of "Who's Where," a directory of all the students, faculty and staff of Ward-Belmont.

Phi Theta Kappa has as its goal the upholding of standards that can present an inspiration to all the girls for greater ideals in living and learning.

Each student at W-B. can be justly proud of the fine accomplishments of the Ward-Belmont division of the national Y.W.C.A. Beginning this year with its membership drive in September, this charitable organization has carried success into each venture which it sponsored.

Many hearts were gladdened by the Sunday afternoon visits which were made to the Old Ladies' Home, the Orphanage, and the Crippled Children's Home; and few of us at W-B will forget the inspiring Vesper Services which the "Y" prepared.

Besides sponsoring the annual King and Queen of Hearts banquet, this organization met its quota of a thousand dollars in the World Student Service Fund Drive by contributions, programs given by W-B's own Minnie Pearl and by the faculty, and through the rummage sale in which each social club headed a department.

A vote of thanks is owed to "Butch" Branham for the executive ability which gave us the opportunity to extend a helping hand to those in need, and for the religious services which meant so much to us all.

The importance and influence of the Prep "Y" in high school life is far felt. As far as the preparatory students are concerned, devoted to the promotion and carrying out of better Christian lives, it is perhaps the greatest force on the campus. Under the capable guidance of Grace Rodgers, the "Y" has accomplished much this year. A great deal has been done for European relief as well as the important programs that have been carried out in town and on the campus. The girls received particular pleasure from their frequent visits to the Orphans' and Old Ladies' Homes. Who can ever forget the thrill of singing Christmas carols at vespers and the fun at the "Y" parties? The Prep "Y" has indeed brought about a close bond of fellowship among the high school girls.

All the students of Ward-Belmont were members of the Athletic Association; however, the active members were those who made one varsity or three club letters. The cabinet was composed of seven officers and nine sports managers who each managed one campus sport. At the end of each sports season an exciting chapel program was held in which the cabinet presented the hard-earned cups to the winning clubs.

From the very beginning of the school year the Athletic Association stressed the vital importance of good sportsmanship in all activities. As is customary, the A.A. sponsored the inter-hall party, which was an unusual success. At this party all the students were brought together in order to stimulate interest in upholding and advancing the A.A.'s standards. The A.A. finished this year with a grand banquet held in the late spring at which new officers were elected for the coming year.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Fleming and Miss Green, the Spanish Club worked toward gaining a wider knowledge of Spanish and Latin American customs and culture.

At Christmas time, the club celebrated with a series of parties in which the members sang songs and played games in a traditional Spanish manner. Many interesting stories were related as to the origin of Yuletide symbols and customs. In January and March, two sets of colored slides on Mexico and Guatemala were shown by interesting speakers who once lived in those countries. Pan-American Day was brought to the campus and celebrated by a typical Spanish supper in the tea room. The meaning of Pan-American Day was stressed by speakers, decorations, and favors. With April's meeting, the Spanish club adjourned until the following year.

Throughout the entire year, the practical use of Spanish was stressed by participating in games and songs. In this way, Spanish became an enjoyable, yet useful subject.

Singing, dancing, laughing, the students of the German language have enjoyed a profitable year. Many of the Monday night meetings were filled with the study of German folk songs and dances. Others were spent listening to the fascinating stories of the German people. Climaxing the Christmas season was the German dinner, complete with gifts from Kris Kringle, given by the president. Working together, the students soon found themselves better understanding and respecting both the language and the people "die das Deutsch sprachen."

In its second year on campus, the Preparatory School French Club took an ever more active part in promoting a closer understanding of both the French people and language. French relief drives and international correspondence, as well as the interesting French programs conducted at each meeting, accomplished this aim.

At Christmas time a banquet and entertainment, which consisted of exchanging presents, carol singing, and fortune telling in French, introduced all members to the delightful French spirit of gaiety. Then, more than ever, those studying French realized the importance of a closer union between the American and French nations.

Whether caroling in French or listening to one of the many intriguing speakers, every member of the French Club showed enthusiasm and interest. It was their qualities that united the entire club in work and play making many successful projects such as those conducted for French aid.

Through cooperative effort an increased knowledge of the French showing their customs, and their culture was presented to all. From the glib tongue of Jeanette Williams to the educational movies so delightfully presented by a visiting speaker, the French Club presented an enjoyable combination of pleasure, education, and fellowship.

The purpose of the Home Economics Club is to promote interest in the domestic sciences. At the meetings this year, many interesting and informative lectures were enjoyed by the members. Speakers on such varied subjects as personality and glassware addressed the group. The projects of the club included the picnic in the spring and the Easter egg hunt for the orphans. Beginning with the initiation held in the fall through the style show in the spring, the Home Economics Club members not only gained knowledge which would aid them in future years, but enjoyed the program provided by the club.

Taking the whole world as their field of interest, the Round Table can be proud this year to say that they have accomplished much. Subjects of their panel discussions have included such far-reaching studies as the Presidential Possibility for 1948, the U.S.—Soviet Situation, South American Affairs and others of comparable scope. Highlighting a few of their monthly meetings were speakers from the state legislature, from the Far East, and one Mr. Eyre.

Miss Hay, their exceedingly fine sponsor, has been one of the main factors in making this a splendid organization.

The Speech Club was composed of students in the speech department. The club offered unlimited possibilities to members interested in all phases of speech and dramatics. The meetings were held monthly in the speech studio with programs by guest speakers and the production of dramatic programs presented by the members. Also, a Christmas dinner meeting was held in the tea room.

The club produced two plays this year in the auditorium. The club members, also assisted in the productions sponsored by the department at Christmas and Easter. The club's Shakespearean production followed the traditional opening of the commencement activities and furnished an appropriate climax to the year's activities.

The purpose of the Art Club is to promote a greater interest in art among its members and to help the students develop an appreciation of the great masters. The club, a member of the National Federation of Art Groups, is entitled to send a representative to the national meeting each year. The club officially opened Fine Arts Week with a tea and exhibition of the works of local artists in Acklen Hall. Under the guidance of Miss Shackelford, the club had an enjoyable year and learned a great deal about the fine points of art.

PEGGY LAIR
Editor of the "Hyphen"

Come Tuesday night, there is no place on campus as gay and bright as the publications office where Editor Peggy Lair and her staff hold their Hyphen meetings to compile the weekly newspaper for an eagerly awaiting student body. Amidst the clatter of the typewriters and the ring of phones, somehow the staff members manage to crowd in bits of concentration and laughter. The originality and ability that is required of the editor and her associate editor has most assuredly been obviously present in Peg and Margie Welch. No one except a staff member can imagine the patience, capability, and effort that goes into the presentation of a Ward-Belmont week set before you on paper. The fun that is continually mixed with the labor, however, can only mean one thing . . . a successful college newspaper . . . that is our Hyphen.

It was Monday night; the lights in the pub office were burning brightly amid the clatter of coke bottles and overflowing ashtrays; to the rhythm of a choppy typewriter, the literary geniuses of our campus gathered around their editor to write and pour their hearts into the next, always the BEST issue of the CHIMES.

There were the girls who edited, corrected, accepted, rejected, read and re-read the contributions until they formed them into three small volumes that represented the best of Ward-Belmont's literary efforts. It was they who echoed the mood and opinion of the campus; they who, in their small way, tinged with the imagination and enthusiasm of youth, reflected the thought and life of our time.

There is little one can say about the efforts of the MILESTONES staff; for on each page of this book can be found the results of the weekly Thursday night meetings and the hours spent in writing, captioning, planning, proofreading, and discussing.

Hidden behind each photograph and bit of copy there is an unmeasurable world of thought and work, which no casual observer can comprehend. We have loved every minute, every laugh, and, yes, every tear, which have resulted in this book, and we sincerely hope that we have in some small way treasured up for you the memories of W-B which will come ringing back to you as the pages are turned.

SENIORS, the very word itself denotes a sense of majesty and reverence.

SENIORS, the "old" girls, the ones who should know, what to do—and rather what not—to do. The girls who already had one superbly happy year, and have returned hoping in some way to better themselves and perhaps their surroundings. The girls who have come back planning to guide their little sisters on the pathway to perfection.

SENIORS, who played their herats out in hockey, in basketball, in tennis. Who worked untiringly on the challenge. Who would give their right arms to make it SENIORS, first and always.

SENIORS, who affected the rulings—to ride in cars! Who danced the minuet and marched on May Day, who went to Cuba, Europe, and the Derby.

SENIORS, who celebrated the centennial of the gold rush. The forty-niners who, unlike their ancestors, in friendships, work, and honor, sought pure gold. The forty-niners have looked to far horizons, to the west, where the land is bright.

SENIORS, who have made their imprints well but will return in later years to stroll their paths in memory—

SENIORS, who know and sincerely believe that these are the best years of their lives.

SENIORS, HAIL AND FAREWELL.

FOR THE SENIOR MIDS—The frosh who withstood the hectic week of orientation, of club rushing, and the first taste of real college life; at their party in the gym caught for the first time the feeling of friendship and loyalty which carried them through the year.

FOR THE SENIOR MIDS—The hocky, baseball and basketball enthusiasts who, although they rose not to victory, put up a distinctly laudable fight each Senior-Senior Mid Day.

FOR THE SENIOR MIDS—The debutantes who in a wheel of social activities gave both the traditional tea and banquet for the seniors and a dance that would have delighted even the most punctilious of the old Southern Belles.

FOR THE SENIOR MIDS—The “Homesteaders” who met the challenge of the seniors and who assured them in their step—singing that they would carry high the torch of tradition and pass it on to endless Mid classes to come.

SENIOR PREPS . . .

We of the 1949 Senior Preparatory Class, feel that this has been an unusually successful year. From September to May our spirits and ideals have never wavered. When our outstanding president, Helen Long, announced our aim in Senior Recognition Chapel; and we in turn were acknowledged formally we took our real place as the Senior Preps of '49. At the fall senior picnic all of us felt that close spirit of cooperation and fellowship which bound us throughout the year.

The Seniors were very proud when we were victorious both in basketball and bowling on the February Junior-Senior Day—one more proof of what we as a class could accomplish.

The long awaited Senior Prom was even more wonderful than expected. The blue and silver decorations reminded us once more that we were The Seniors.

On May Day with the realization of soon-to-be graduation and separation, there was an evasive sadness, a nostalgia for the happy, meaningful days of the past months, but we were soon lost in the joy and loveliness of the day.

And how can we ever forget graduation! That day of days when the endeavor of twelve years is at last fulfilled. Red roses, flowing white dresses, radiant faces and the crown of all—the diploma! In this moment we pause briefly, stepping from the world of Childhood into the world of Maturity.

Ward-Belmont, you have meant much to us, done much for us, We shall not soon forget, and will always love, your intangible but ever guiding hand.

PREPARATORY UNDERCLASSMEN

Although not as prominent as the Seniors, the Prep underclassmen are the foundation for a future class of seniors and college girls. These years of growing up, mentally, physically, and spiritually, take on new meaning under the guiding hand of Ward-Belmont, and it is through the feelings and efforts of these youthful minds and hearts that our school has become as great as it is. These girls—freshmen, sophomores, and juniors—gradually and steadily climb upward on the ladder of learning to the anticipated thrill of senior life and graduation. But it must never be forgotten that it takes the aims and accomplishments of three years to attain the goal and perhaps, after all, it is these first three that count the most in the building of youth to maturity.

Mu Sigma Phi, the national honorary music fraternity, was made a part of Ward-Belmont in 1948 in order to recognize outstanding musical talent, scholastic achievement, and musical leadership on the campus. The club colors are green and white, while the gardenia is the club flower. "To Music," by Franz Schubert, is the club song. The annual initiation is one of the most impressive chapel programs of the year.

The Ward-Belmont Octet, composed of eight of the best voice students in the school, has completed another successful year under the direction of Mrs. Joseph Van Sickle.

The octet was very active this year. They started off the season by giving a Thanksgiving program for the Belmont Methodist Men's Club. At Christmas time, they sang with the choir and high school glee club in the W-B Christmas music program; they also furnished background music for the Christmas play. During the year, the octet sang for various church and civic groups, and in the spring, they gave a chapel program with the choir.

Seven of the best voices from the preparatory classes blend together to form the High School Septet. Under the direction of Miss Davis, the group met three times each week and has presented numerous programs. The septet sang at the Maxwell House, the Crippled Children's Home, and in chapel programs. These vocalists were a source of entertainment and joy for all who heard them.

The Ensemble, under the direction of Mr. Rose, is composed of a group of musicians who specialize in classical music. The ensemble features the string instruments—violin, cello, piano, and bass. A program was presented by the ensemble in the spring. The group played the traditional minuet, while costumed colonial couples descended Acklen's hanging staircase. Also in April a chapel program was given which featured Bach's Choral and Fugue. The many Wednesday afternoon practices were well rewarded in these programs.

One of the most important parts of the Conservatory and, indeed, of Ward-Belmont, is the choir. Composed of members of both college classes, the choir is an integral part of the Wednesday devotional programs. Besides giving us spiritual inspiration at these weekly chapels, the choir presented several special programs throughout the year. At Christmas time the choir, together with the high school glee club, presented a chapel program of inspirational Christmas music. The same program was later broadcast over one of the Nashville radio stations. In the spring another program, consisting mainly of spirituals and other religious numbers, was enjoyed by the W-B students and Nashville citizens alike. The girls in their pastel spring formal added much to the charm and loveliness of this program.

The High School Glee Club completed another successful year, under the direction of Mrs. Van Sickle. The Glee Club met twice a week in preparation for their performances, which included prominent parts in the Thanksgiving and Christmas programs, the Spring recital, and preparatory graduation. This high school organization contributed much to musical enjoyment at Ward-Belmont.

All students studying music are eligible for membership in the Music Club. Its purpose is to promote a greater understanding and appreciation of music throughout the campus. The club sponsors the annual operetta and the inter-club sing. The members of the club welcome the visiting artists who come to the campus to give concerts.

In February the Music Club entertained Mr. Paul Matthen, bass baritone, and in March, Mr. Samuel Dushkin, who, in his evening concert and chapel program showed his exceptional ability as a violinist.

Accompanied by duo—pianists Helen Cottingim and Charlene Turner and under the direction of Dean Alan Irwin of the Conservatory and Mrs. J. H. Kremer, director of the Castle Heights Military Academy Glee Club, many of the best voices of both school rose in the songs of the very charming Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Patience". With Mary Claire Watters, Betty Walker, Phoebe Monteth, and Jean Gore in the leading roles, this year's excellent production again proved that the long popular satire on nineteenth century English esthetic life will be ever appreciated.

Every club showed wonderful spirit during the hockey season, each with the hope of winning the hockey cup. Though many games were played on muddy fields, everyone showed much enthusiasm and good sportmanship. Credit is especially due to the hockey managers, who worked so hard for their teams, as well as to the P. E. teachers, who did a fine job of teaching the novices the sport.

The last few days of the season were packed with thrills for all. Since Agora had won two games out of two played, and XL, the remaining contender lost to Osiron, Agora was automatically the winner of the well earned cup. Here's hoping for more seasons of hockey as exciting as that of 1948.

BOWLING

Bowling, one of the most popular of the winter sports at Ward-Belmont, enjoyed a good season this year. Almost any time of the day, as well as on the open nights, one could find the alleys jammed with eager enthusiasts. T.C. with 1865 points, won in the February tournament which proved to be one of the most exciting sports events of the year. Close behind were F.F., Anti-Pan, and Tri K. In the high school division, Triad came out on top with 1303 points, followed closely by Ariston with 1286.

A warm breeze and beaming sunshine attracted the swarms of tennis fans to the courts and soon the soft bounce of the balls could be heard between delighted cries. To some the sport was new and much was yet to be learned, and to some it was old, but to all it presented a new challenge and the revival of a favorite sport.

The fall horse show sponsored by Turf and Tanbark Club succeeded in exhibiting the superb horsemanship of the beginner as well as that of the veteran. The cup went to Del Vers who obtained the greatest number of points in the show with such outstanding riders as Bonnie Sharp, Roe Wolf and Nancy Davies. One of the exciting highlights of the show was the class of three gaited, paired horses, top honors, going to Hester Bodenstein and Nancy Davies.

The spring show was especially remembered for the grace and zest of the jumpers, drills and three gaited classes. So predominant in the spring show, so evident in the fall show, the spirit of achievement prevailed throughout the entire year of equestrian activities.

There was nothing more spirited or exciting than the basketball thrills of this year. Surprises and upsets constituted a most unusual season as the fast moving and skilled teams moved to the finals.

The championship game between Penta Tau and Agora afforded the many spectators with moments of breathless suspense as the game swept on. In the final quarter, Agora gained the leading points and came out as the victor with a score of 49 to 34.

In the swim of things

As the spectators applauded, Carol Loeb, Lillian Cornelius, and Shirley Douglas swam away with top honors in this year's swimming meet.

With stiff competition from all the clubs, the D.V.'s, backed by Carol Loeb, finished the meet with the highest total number of points and took home the greatest prize—the swimming cup.

SOFTBALL

Safe at first

With the crack of a bat and then a ball zinging through the spring air, softball became W-B's great sport of the season. Senior-Senior Mid day in April was the first game of the season—and what a game! It was difficult to tell which team was truly the best.

Next on the schedule came the spring games between the clubs. These games furnished thrill after thrill as each club rooted for its own team.

For another softball season to be an improvement over this one is next to impossible. This season can only be described as superb.

Stance, grip, and a clear follow-through—and a golfer's ball will fly down the fairway. In the early fall and spring, W-B golf enthusiasts dusted off their clubs and became enthralled in polishing their form on the rolling green. The beginning classes used cotten balls on the miniature course and, after graduating to the advanced classes, tried their skill at a Nashville country club golf course. With the mastering of this graceful sport the W-B students gained co-ordination and skill in a sport which they can enjoy participating in for the rest of their lives.

Practice makes perfect

Some of the most energetic students on the campus followed the activities of running, jumping, and hurdling in this sport. Endurance-plus is needed for all track work.

The first of the track meets was held on Senior-Senior Mid Day, with the Mids as the victor. Later in the spring, an inter-club track meet was held. Each club entered its stars, who competed in dashes, relays, broad jump, high jump, and hurdling.

An arrow flew toward the gold center of the multicolored target and at last a beginning archer realized that her long hours of practice had reaped the final reward of skill. Much to the amazement of many would-be-Robin-Hoods a well placed shot took more than just putting an arrow in the bow and releasing it. Much practice, careful concentration on stance, aim, and release were needed before one arrived at the satisfaction of knowing their efforts were not in vain.

Ready, Aim . . .

Swaying figures surrounded by pastel clouds of tulle twirled about the floor to the delight of the onlookers as well as their approving teacher, Miss Anderson. Whether performing before George and Martha on Washington's birthday or for the Queen of the May, the twirling ballerinas gracefully executed the intricate steps. The "petite batiment" and "artistic glissade" added much to the recital which is specially memorable for the charming and original carnival scene with its pink cotton candy and bobbing balloons. From the carefree steps of the folk dance to the rhythmical clicking of the tap steps, the students artistically created from an allusion of exquisite simplicity the difficult and complex.

Although the Agora fags started the year off as slaves, they soon were recognized as masters in many facets of campus life. Their exceptional athletics were demonstrated in acquiring the hockey, basketball, tennis singles, and baseball cups.

Besides these collective accomplishments, the club boasted individuals of outstanding merit. Among these were Jo Jo Sullivan and Joanne Beeland, Sergeants-at-arms of the Senior class; Martha Jane Crouch and Rosie Meriwether, secretary and treasurer, respectively, of Pembroke Hall; Ann Buchanan, Sue Giles, Sue Beebe, Barbara Bull, members of Phi Theta Kappa; Carolyn Brady, Martha Hamilton, and Barbara Bull, active members of the Athletic Association.

Also members of Agora were Myra Stein, proctor of North Front; Mary Margaret Hudson, day student treasurer of the Mid class; Jane Ellen Tye, editor of the Chimes; and Jean Howard, president of senior hall.

The Agoras will long hold dear memories of the ingeniously decorated Christmas dance and the hilarious weekends at Horn Springs and Dunbar Cave. Also unforgettable were the Wednesday dinners at the club enlivened by the hillbilly music of Sue Giles, Jan Arthur, and Ann Buchanan. Led by Ruby Jo Dabney, their charming president, and their energetic sponsor, Mrs. Harber, the club has gained high recognition this year.

As it was with the Greeks, the Agora was a place of meeting, discussion, and companionship; so it was with the Agoras as they happily mingled in club house eight.

And Again Agora is Victorious

The A. K. Cotton Tails hopped through the entire year with enthusiasm, energy, and versatility; qualities possessed by their sponsor, Miss Carroll, and president, Jackie Watkins, which made this inevitable. The fun began with the eventful fag day and continued in a busy whirl of parties, weekends, and glamorous dances. The Big Top Hop was right at the top of the list of successful dances, and campus parties could never hope to be more fun than was the traditional Holiday Inn with the rollicking Santa Claus and the caroling songsters. When a group of alumnae returned during the Thanksgiving holidays, the A. K.'s put out the welcome mat and entertained with an informal Friday night party.

The A.K.'s were proud of their five members who belong to Phi Theta Kappa. Jane Gray in Hood and Gown, Isabel Snelling as chairman of the All Club Dance, Joan Hayes as vice-president of the preparatory council, Ann Hoerhammer as underclass representative, all outstandingly represented A. K. on the campus. On the hockey field Carolyn Bearden, Betty Barrier, and Dorothy Ann Carroll made a name for themselves, and for the A. K. team under the leadership of Linda Paul, athletic manager. In the riding ring Jeanne Heise, Lucile Queener, and Betty Love Brent were among the A. K.'s to bring home ribbons.

The exciting, busy, eventful year was climaxed by the club banquet. Impressive and inspiring, it completed the long list of memories proudly possessed by every friendly, energetic Cotton Tail.

Angkor Club, under the guidance of their vivacious president, Barbara Berrien, and their enthusiastic sponsor, Miss Hodgson, has made this year one of outstanding accomplishments. The Angkors participated wholeheartedly in the swimming meet, the bowling tournament, and basketball, softball and hockey games, proving themselves to be more than active in athletics.

Stochastically outstanding were Dudley Brown, Rachel Gardner, Nancy Frederick, and Priscilla Murray. Dudley Brown held the high office of vice-president of the day student council. Class officers who were members of Angkor were many: Myrtle Ann Meiers, president of the junior class; Nancy Frederick, vice-president of the freshman class; Agnes Fort, sergeant-at-arms of the freshman class; Emily Fletcher, secretary of the sophomore class; Alice Stockell, secretary of the junior class; Suzanne Rodgers, vice-president of the senior class. Other officers among the members were Alice Casey, vice-president of the Athletic Association, and Priscilla Murray, secretary of the Beta Club. Dudley Brown represented Angkor on publications, holding the position of columnist on the Hyphen.

Their enthusiasm and loyalty have led them through a year long to be held in the memories of the girls in blue and white.

"Anti-Pan, Anti-Pan, would I die, would I die . . ." Singing this refrain, the A. P. pledges started off a year full of fond memories. The first dance of the year, the Harvest Ball, was the big event of October. Just before Christmas, Anti-Pan held a tea for the faculty and, with Del Vers, their sister club, a Christmas party for the orphans, which boasted even a Santa Claus. Other events of the year were the party for Del Vers and the weekends at Horn Springs and Dunbar Cave.

Anti-Pan was proud to have among its members many leaders. Representing the club in Student Government were Mary Thompson, president of C.G.O., and Nancy Iler, chapel proctor. Mary Alice Branham held the high office of president of the Y.W.C.A. Dot Borden received the honor of being elected president of Turf and Tanbark, and Barbara Sue McDuffee was one of the Senior cheerleaders. Mids holding important offices were Rutledge Ingram, secretary of the Mid class; Peggy Scott, Mid cheerleader; and Jackie Bumpous, associate editor of the MILE-STONES.

The pandas fought hard in their hockey games, winning two and tying one, and they were enthusiastic participants in all other sports.

Under the leadership of "Swede" Clark, and Jean Benton, their presidents, and their capable sponsor, Miss Benton, Anti-Pan made this year very outstanding and one that will be long remembered.

"On Ariston, On Ariston, forward to the goal!" This fighting spirit led this day student club on to a year of success. Well represented in Penstaff by Anne Carr Young; in the French Club by Lynne Youmans; and in the Beta Club by Martha Evers, Ariston's achievements also carried over into athletics. The Aristons started off at full steam by winning double honors—the hockey and tennis cups—and that same ability appeared in basketball, bowling, and baseball.

Mrs. Mann, club sponsor, contributed much to Ariston's success and fun in '48-'49. The club is particularly proud of their versatile president, Valere Potter; Martha Evers, president of Day Student Council; French Club President, Laetitia Wenning; Spanish Club President, Louise Baird; and Betty Gant, president of the Glee Club. With such outstanding members as these, it is no wonder Aristons have received such laurels this year.

The name, Del Vers, came from the Anglo-Saxon word, delve, meaning "seeking for information." So when those chosen few on the W.-B. campus decided upon a name they chose well. The D.V.'s of 1948 and 1949 are still seeking more information and are gaining it, along with ability's powers and the pleasures of life.

The D.V.'s have carried the yellow and white into all phases of campus life. There were a large number of club members who held important offices or who were outstanding in one group or another on campus; the Naiades members were Sue Shireman, Shirley Douglas, Carol Loeb, Ann Moyers, Charlotte Unger, Mary Jane Bull, and Ann McHenry, president of that organization; Turf and Tanbark members, Bonnie Sharp and Nancy Davies; Phi Theta Kappa members, Jean Bloom, Pat Mathias, and Anne Boyd; and the D.V.'s are unusually proud of their two Hood and Gown members, Pat Mathias, who is, also president of the German club and vice-president of the Chemistry Club, and Anne Boyd. Athletically speaking, the D.V.'s also won the riding cup along with the swimming cup. Del Vers was represented on the MILE-STONES staff by Jean Bloom, editor, and Lee Henry, photography editor.

If the sands of time could drift backwards, how proud those Anglo-Saxons would be of the significance which Del Vers holds upon this modern day campus.

Eccowasin Club has been a very important part of W-B this year, taking active part in many campus activities. One of the main projects of the club was the collecting of clothes and money, which were turned over to the Davidson County Welfare Commission at Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter. The Eccowasins will not soon forget the fun had by all at the big all-club picnic in the spring.

In Eccowasin's roll book were found many outstanding names. Lucy Buford held the position of Junior Class secretary, while Frances Caldwell headed the Prep Sophomore Class. Aspiring writers were Roberta Suddoth, Jill Jakes, and Lucy Buford, members of Pen-staff Club. Mary Beattie represented the club in the Beta Club. Eccowasin was always "in the running" when it came to athletic events, with such outstanding stars as Debby Luton, Carolyn Norman, and Ann Jarman starring on the basketball court.

All in all, Eccowasin can look back on a very successful year under the capable leadership of their charming president, Carney Overall, and their ever-helpful sponsor, Miss Saunders.

The F.F.'s, with their motto of "ability is benevolent," have proved their true worth in all activities on W-B's campus. Versatile in academic, in club, and in individual activities, these girls proudly claim club number ten as theirs.

One of the first gatherings of these girls was their Nosegay Dance in the fall. This dance was the F.F.'s first and others followed as the seasons rolled around. Club suppers and other informal gatherings spent together brought the girls into a united group.

The girls, who proudly wore the red and white, showed their versatility when the sports season rolled around. On the hockey field, Martine Pollak, and Susie Havron led their team. While in basketball, Rusty Russell and Elizabeth Mitchell kept the sextet in action. In baseball, swimming, and bowling, Ann Lasky, Bonnie Dean, and Caroline Milton scored many points for old F.F.

On the scholastic side of life, the F.F.'s boasted Anna Jean Watters, in the Music Club, Jane Witherspoon in Phi Theta Kappa, and Bonnie Dean as president of the High School Boarding Council.

The members of this club will hold the year of 1948 and 1949 in their memories and will be forever faithful to F.F.

Memories of the Winter Wonderland Dance, the gay weekends at Horn Springs, the informal dinners at the club, the hilarious T. C. party, the taking of Santa Claus to the Crippled Children's Home, and the clever party the new members gave for their big sisters.

Memories, too, of the girls who transformed club number seven into an organization brimming over with gaiety and friendship; Joanne Buckner, president of the Mid class; Mary Martin, contributor to campus publications; Betty Luke, president of the Athletic Association; Susan Campbell, president of Mu Sigma Phi; Nan Tompkins, president of the Biology club, Betty Jones, MILESTONES art editor; and the musicians, Betsy Dodge, Ann McCaskill, Jinx Waters, and Sue Ainsworth who enlivened the club meetings.

Memories of the exciting athletic events which united the Osirons; on the field and court were Betty Luke, Joyce Lustgarten, "Doc" May, Gina Campbell, Judy Larry and Sue Miller giving their all for the club.

Memories of the Wednesday night meetings, presided over by energetic Clare Martin, entertaining Mary Ellen Clements, and loyal Polly Fessey. These memories will be long treasured by the Osirons . . . memories of friends and joys centered about the club.

Five has always been a symbolic number: the five points of the star, the five senses, the five steps to knighthood. At Ward-Belmont, too, five is symbolic; for here on the campus it represents the fifth in the Club Village circle of club houses, home of the loyal, spirited, fun-loving Penta Tau's. Lead by their competent president, Sue Madison and attractive sponsor, Mrs. Phillips, the girls of the rose and gray have again proved themselves capable of hearty competition in any field of endeavor.

Inspired by the efforts of Penta Tau's of other years, many members moved into outstanding positions in campus life. Trudy Taylor served not only as secretary of the Y.W.C.A. but also as president of Hail Hall, and Joanne Ingram and Doris Miller as presidents of the Art and Spanish Clubs respectively. P. T. boasted of its Phi Theta Kappa members Peggy Muessel, Eloise McBride, and Sue Madison; and were equally proud of Margie Barry, vice-president of the Athletic Association and Patsy Cox, riding manager of that organization. The Preps also did their part, Helen Long acted as president of the Senior Prep class while Mary Jo Cundiff collected the dues from those same Senior Preps as their boarding treasurer. Penta Tau's oldest member, Neilyn Griggs, held the positions of secretary of the C.G.O. and president of the Chemistry Club, and with members Cile Robertson and Charlotte Schulze, was present on the rosters of the campus publications. Athletically speaking, P.T. again held her own by placing high in all events. Charlotte Schulz and Muriel Williams were highly respected on the hockey field. Basketball stars were Margie Barry, Polly Miles, and Marilyn Amato.

The Penta Tau's, working and playing together, have proved their love for their school and club. Their dances, the Horn Spring weekends and those informal evenings at the clubs will be long remembered by the P.T. clowns.

In September the new T. C.'s started off the year on Fag Day, dressed as cavemen and carrying their "clubs." After this novel beginning, activities for the club got under way. The club played Santa Claus to the little boy's department of the Industrial Home at a Christmas party given for them. The weekend at Dunbar Cave, complete with sleet and snow, will never be forgotten by the T. C.'s, nor the exciting Christmas formal.

In February T. C. entertained its sister club, Osiron, with a sweetheart banquet and program for Valentine's Day. Activities in the spring were many, and included a party for the faculty, an April formal, and a weekend with Tri-K at Horn Springs.

T. C. won the bowling cup in February for the second consecutive year, and in the all-club sing won second place. Prominent members of the club were Ann Hartman and Peggy Skelton, members of Phi Theta Kappa. Helen Cottongim held the high office of Music Club president, while Ann Hartmann and Suzanne Cohen were hall officers. Very active in the speech department were T. C.'s Kay Bond, Nadine Fox, Betty Payne, and Mary Elizabeth Barkley.

Under the direction of their competent president, Gerry Pauley, and able adviser, Miss Newhall, the T. C.'s have made this year one of outstanding achievements. The spirit of the club is well expressed in the club song:

"... Friendships made never fade
 Forever ours will be;
 The lasting ideal; the spirit—so real
 Belong in our memories."

Led by their capable president, Ann Gambill, and under the guidance of genial Mrs. Hall, the Triads have completed another successful year. One of the main activities of the club this year was the filling of Thanksgiving and Christmas boxes for charity.

Prominent members of Triad were Susan Miller, president of the Beta Club; Carolyn Mansfield, president of Penstaff; and Penstaff members Mary Eda Larson, Sue Winters, Ramelle Littleton, and Martha Pierce.

Triad had among its members this year many athletes. Mary Eda Larson was a member of Niades and was also outstanding in the riding ring. Basketball manager was Russell Fessey, and Josephine Pritchett was the club's champion bowler. Hockey enthusiasts were Ann Armistead, Martha Pierce, Allison Tidman, Margaret Marshall, and Anne McQuiddy. Anne also played a fine game of tennis.

The Triads may be summed up as a fine group of girls with success as their main goal.

The Tri K's, with their black and white sweaters and caps, could always be found deep in the middle of some project or busily engaged in activities on the campus. Under the guidance of lovable Georgia Gresham and their competent sponsor Miss Morrison, they had a splendid year and were full of pep and energy for their club.

Many outstanding personalities on the campus were members of Tri K. Among them were Charlene Turner, president of Phi Theta Kappa; Beverly Cunningham, secretary of Phi Theta Kappa; and Joan Jester, president of the Round Table.

On the athletic field one could always find Lillian Cornelius, Kitty Garrott, Cherrie Kelly, Georgia Gresham, and Betty Lee Simms in the midst of the scrimmages.

One bright Sunday the club had a breakfast for the faculty and that afternoon went to the old ladies home for a Christmas party. Their days were not usually so full but they were often found at the club listening to Sue Swinford's singing and Charlene Turner or Phoebe Monteith at the piano.

Their memories will long hold dear the exciting club weekends to Dunbar Cave and Horn Springs; the formal and informal dances held at Christmas and in the spring. The zebras of the year '49 have bounded through a year of outstanding achievement and gaiety which will long be remembered.

Encouraged in all their activities by their sponsor, Miss Keith Cutchins, and president, Jean Jewett, the XL's of 1948 and 1949 were most active in all campus affairs.

In regard to the XL sports parade, Peggy McTyre, Joyce Baker, Ann Roland, and Martha Houston Reid built up great competition in hockey, basketball, and softball.

When officers were elected for the campus offices, XL claimed many. Frances Purvis was the president of the Senior Class; Peg Moyers, vice-president of the C. G. O.; Jody White, president of the Home Economics Club; Peggy Rich, treasurer of the Mid Class and chapel proctor for the second quarter; Peg Lair, editor of the Hyphen, and Margie Welch, associate; and Becky Brown, treasurer of the Senior Class, along with other offices in W-B.

Among the memorable parties, there was the sweater hop, the hat party for the faculty, and formal club dances. Informal gatherings were made unforgettable by the magnetic Winn twins, Patti and Jodie, whose collaborator was Pat Evans.

Throughout the year, the XL's held high their motto of upward, onward; and were held in great esteem by their sister club and many friends.

CAMPUS LIFE

ORIENTATION

While time is making this only a memory, we reflect on earlier moments of our school career and how we were first introduced to Ward-Belmont life. From the very instant of the arrival of new students, the Orientation Committee, with its earnest followers, welcomed, comforted, and adjusted the newcomers in such a manner that, in a matter of hours, everyone was a part of the rush-life. The old girls made the dorms and the campus seem familiar territory.

From earlier months, the Orientation Committee had their program planned to perfection and, thus, their week ran smoothly. Since last May, Mary Thompson and Peggy Moyers, aided by Bonnie Dean, Nancy Oakley, and Martha Evers had worked toward this year's orientation. A week before school started, sixty-four of the old girls returned to the campus to prepare it for orientation. Neilyn Griggs, Jean Bloom, Frances Purvis, and Charlene Turner were in charge of the discussion groups. The newcomers were introduced to the traditions, customs, and rules by the discussion groups and campus tours.

What's Up Doc?

Pandas, urchins, zebras, rabbits, southern belles, clowns, cave women, slaves, babies, and angels broke upon the peace of our campus on the morning of September the twenty-fourth. Every autumn this disturbance occurs when the old club members initiate their new pledges.

The pledges piled out of bed at 6:30 and stumbled down to wake their big sisters. They made beds, ran errands, wrote letters, and performed numerous other tasks. Sitting on the floor to eat breakfast, smearing lipstick on faces, and kneeling to big sisters were all part of the fun.

A wonderful spirit was shown by the new girls, and they provided the faculty as well as the student body with hilarious entertainment. Tasks were cheerfully performed because at last the girls felt they really belonged.

The bowing and scraping of the morning were in striking contrast to the beautiful candlelight ceremony held that evening in which each new girl pledged her whole-hearted support and loving tribute to her club.

Senior week, extending from September 26 to October 1, began on Sunday when the Seniors entertained at a coffee for the Mids, the faculty, and the staff. Monday followed with Senior Recognition next on the agenda. All Seniors attired in white and with yellow roses adorning their left shoulders marched into chapel where, after speeches by the various class officers, Dr. Provine recognized the class of '49. Wednesday brought the Senior devotional service in which "Butch" Branham delivered one of the most splendid of all chapel speeches. The minstrel show, and the evening picnic in club village on Friday were a fitting climax to the days that brought the realization of the full meaning of the word "Senior."

In the colorful days of early November, the 1949 Senior Preps took their places as the latest addition to the distinguished ranks of W-B Seniors. Beginning with the impressive, formal recognition in chapel, and culminating in the Thursday night picnic the week was one full of fun and spirit. Through the presentation of the class aims by the officers and the beautiful devotional service presided over by Betty Gant, the class knew at last the solemn but exultant feeling that only a senior can have.

SENIOR PREP WEEK

FUN AND FANCY FREE

Pausing for a few moments in the academic routine, W-B girls have stored up many memories of the more casual side of school life. These carefree diversions included the hilarious Minnie Pearl program, the impressive all-club dance, the many picnics which featured southern fried chicken, and the exciting trips taken outside of Nashville. Remember the Christmas parties, many of which boasted a Santa Claus, and the Inter-Hall party when the dorms competed in volley ball, ping pong, and basketball?

The Wednesday night club meetings and parties for our sister clubs afforded never-to-be-forgotten joys, as well as the chapel programs—with the Forty Niners' search for treasure, the Homesteaders' answer to the challenge, the teachers' "Dem Belles" take-off, the Minstrel show, and the dance and music recitals.

All these many memories are just as much a part of Ward-Belmont as the classes and the studies. And may we continue through life cherishing these fun and fancy free moments.

Royalty

As before, the King and Queen of Hearts reigned on Valentine's Day as if they had only momentarily emerged from a Grimms or Hans Christian Anderson fairy tale. Rosemary Meriwether as the king with Libbie Mahoney reigning by her side showed themselves most benevolent monarchs. From the preparatory school came Marilyn Brown and Patsy Bryan to act in the capacity of prince and princess. This show of royalty was a fitting climax to the festive banquet held in the decorated dining room.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

CLAIRE KELTON AND MARY THOMPSON

Step, slide . . .

Once again Acklen Hall was graced with colonial dames and gentlemen. For a time the spirits who may still roam those halls must surely have been pleased with their successors in hoops, in wigs, in lace and in satin breeches.

Following their first entrance on the winding staircase and the atmospheric holiday dinner, Mary Thompson as George and Claire Kelton as Martha presided over a program which included the costumed court dance, the annual ballet, and the charming minute danced by the seniors.

And so another of our great traditions was carried out; and again we realized that "tradition" is an ideal that we shall cherish in our hearts long after contemporary ideas are dead.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PREP DAY

For the excitement of class rivalry mixed with fun and pep, nothing equals Junior-Senior Prep Day. After long planning and much work, April 8th the big day arrived.

The real events began with the class parades. The Juniors presented their theme, "Time Marches On," and were greeted with gales of laughter; according to the bystanders, the Seniors' "Hit Parader" was well worth the hours spent in preparation. It is indeed hard to compare such realistic figures as Queen Elizabeth, escorted by Sir Walter Raleigh and two historic mud puddles; Aristotle; and modern man; with the representations of "Faraway Places," "Body and Soul," and "Goodnight, Sweetheart."

Although the Juniors fought valiantly and were victorious in baseball, the Seniors won tennis and archery. So, once again, the Seniors came out on top, adding another triumph to their year's success.

Eating hamburgers in the Tea Hole that night, both classes climaxed the day's fun. All feeling of competition was lost. After dinner everyone sang class songs and closed with the W-B song.

And so the great day of fun and frolic ended; but as a parting gift it left us all with gay and proud remembrances which will prove a standard for future Junior-Senior Prep days.

SENIOR-SENIOR MIDDLE DAY

At seven o'clock sharp the long-awaited day of April second began as a mass of human forms dashed out onto the campus. Waving their crepe paper decorations, the Seniors raced the Mids for the campus objects.

The parade began at 8:45 with the Mids revealing P.A.W. as Prominent American Women. Next the Seniors arrived as Forty-niners, giving the audience a view of their life before and after finding the treasure.

Leaving the circle, the Seniors and the Mids assembled upon the athletic field, where the Seniors took top honors in archery, tennis, and softball; while the Mids won the track events.

Finishing the competitive sports, the Seniors marched to the upper field singing their class song. As the tower bells chimed out over the silent group—"Hail to the Seniors" and lastly, "The Bells of Ward-Belmont"—thoughts of the unforgettable joys of the year and of the brief period which remained before all would bid farewell lingered in the heart of each girl. Finally, Dr. Provine gave the hard-earned cup to the victorious '49ers, who had won with a total of 49 points.

As the Mids acknowledged defeat to the Seniors, the two classes mingled together for fried chicken and the trimmings—truly this was the end of a perfect day.

Strains of melodies echoed through the hushed audience as the college seniors in swirling pastel gowns filed into the circle. The rustle of fabrics increased as the preparatory seniors appeared in a dazzle of white. Then came the great moment. The queen Frances Purvis appeared in her black glistening coach, attended by Sue Madison, Louisa Wilson, Martha Jane Crouch, Carrie Scales, and Margaret Hayes.

After the coronation the varied dances unfolded in a rhythmic spectacle against the green of the vast lawn, culminating in the traditional simplicity and colorful beauty of the May pole dance. The pastel-clad girls mingling with fading notes of the orchestra became vivid memories of the exquisite loveliness of Ward-Belmont's memorable May Day.

STEP SINGING

Perhaps as your eyes fall on this page they grow a bit misty as the memory of that last Sunday before graduation comes rushing back. Your heart may ache a little as you recall the songs of farewell the Seniors sang to the Mids and the melancholy words the Mids sang in reply to their big sisters. The Seniors put in song their love of W.-B.; the happy hours spent with friends, many of whom are never seen again; and of the tradition and love which they were giving to the Mids to cherish as they in turn take the old girls' place as Seniors.

Perhaps a tear may fall when you remember joining hands with others to sing for the last time, to the accompaniment of the chimes in the tower, "The Bells of Ward-Belmont, Oh hear they are calling the old girls, the new girls, to come back again."

"We pledge now our love . . ."

GRADUATION

Another Milestone

With heads high and shoulders straight the long lines of dark-gowned figures symbolized to all the final realization of youthful hopes and dreams. The chimes tolled and thoughtful, girlish voices chanted their song, "The Bells." Cold hands clutched the treasured diplomas. Tear-filled eyes scanned the scene before them wishing to indelibly imprint friendly faces and hallowed incidents upon their minds. Memories of the past and desires for the future were both centered in that moment, a moment immortal to each graduate. Their solemn faces bore evidence of the sadness, joy and feeling of achievement that they possessed, and their foot steps spoke of the determination and lofty ideals that they held for the future. The last gowned figure swept past and graduation was over. Days at Ward-Belmont were now to these girls only a milestone in their journey of life.

Editor's Note

The last bit of copy is in, the last photograph has been captioned, and the layout has been stored away, to be referred to only in memory. But before tucking our MILESTONES to bed there should be a few words of gratitude to those who have made this year's annual what it is.

A vote of thanks first goes to the staff members, whose untiring efforts and generously given time laid the groundwork for this book. Then, to our indefatigable sponsor, Miss Polly Fessey, a debt of gratitude is owed which is hard to express. "Thank you," I say again to Mr. W. A. Benson and Mr. Dan Eadie for their splendid cooperation in printing the nineteen forty-nine MILESTONES, and to Mr. Paul Campbell who has done such exceptional work as engraver; also to the photographers, Mr. Henry Schofield, Mr. Bob Grannis, and Mr. Fletcher Harvey, who have so excellently put our memories into pictures. And lastly I wish to express appreciation to our advertisers who have made this book possible.

And now, to the bells of Ward-Belmont, to all those who have had glimpses of this book in the making, I say, "Here is your MILESTONES, We hope you like it."
