A. Introduction

A good business mentality and culture has the ability to empower students to make better results in creating a product in the community and can absorb employment fields to reduce unemployment. Local communities will be presented with innovative products that can continue to grow from year to year.

Creativity and innovation are believed to be aspects that make life continue. Without reducing power and confidence in the Creator, most individuals on this earth can survive from any difficult conditions, because of their creativity and innovation. Individuals can overcome problems of basic needs, security, economics, and problems / interpersonal conflicts, because of their creativity and innovation (Suyasa, 2009).

The presence of creativity and innovation can increase student interest in developing a business. In the dynamics of its development, the business will be faced with problems that need to be systematically resolved.

Small businesses are businesses that rely on the success of budding entrepreneurs. They decide whether the business is successful or not, being large or small remains, moving according to market demands or stalled. Small businesses have limited capital, employees, location (Dilham et al, 2016).

To solve these problems, the role of various parties is needed to be able to improve the welfare of the business that will be implemented. The government in implementing programs that are scheduled from the short and long term.

In realizing prosperity, the first step needed by students is the support of special facilities from the government, especially in improving the quality of entrepreneurship as the main role and development strategy which is named the entrepreneurial student program. The government-run entrepreneurship program can direct business development to be more focused on business goals in the short and long term (Syarifah, & Putra, 2018).

Entrepreneurship student creativity programs are used to develop skills and gain profits. The commodities produced can be goods or services which are one of the basic capital of entrepreneurial students and prepare for competition in the free market (www.simbelmawa.ristekdikti.go.id,2017).

To better understand the impact of this market mentality, a more critical approach to entrepreneurship is needed. In terms of strengthening the base of entrepreneur mentality, the market needs to be introduced as a medium of buying and selling. Economic disparities that occur due to the culture of the people who still want alumni to create opportunities to become permanent workers and have not changed the culture of entrepreneurship and business independence (Wahyuni & Putra,2017).

In an effort to improve social welfare, social philanthropy is one of the efforts that is often carried out in Indonesia. Social philanthropic activities carried out by individuals, groups, communities, mass media that are widely used for education (scholarships), health, food distribution, disaster victims, assistance for childbirth, social conflict and social unrest (Malawat & Putra, 2018).

Entrepreneurship and social philanthropy can create a forerunner to creating business independence. In such independence will increase a harmonious creativity and be able to support the development development program.

In the development of a company, what is needed is not only to generate profits, but it is necessary to do confidence to increase awareness for joint business improvement. The condition of the company is certainly related to the activities of residents around the company. Citizen activities can certainly influence concern for companies and companies need to act to create a harmonious atmosphere to create sustainable development (Putra & Dilham, 2017).

Identification of actors or stakeholders relevant to and assessing their importance in the system is also the analytical method used. In incorporating stakeholder analysis, it is deemed necessary to identify parties directly, to classify stakeholders according to interests, to comply with relevant regulations in utilizing local economic resources, to analyze different interpretations of local resources, analysis of social networks among those involved party (Dilham & Putra, 2018).

Human capital which is the main point in improving the quality of beginner businessmen is needed the support of entrepreneurship education to be able to increase innovation so as to improve the performance of the company. They need the ability to combine income, capital, selling prices, the number of workers from the community who can solve all problems to reach market share in general (Malawat & Putra, 2018).

From the related phenomena, basic problems can be discussed such as how the entrepreneurship program activity process is managed for Business Start-Up Empowerment In Asahan District with a case study of SMK Negeri 2 Kisaran Students.
