AF Announces Policy Concerning Commissions

The decision of the Department of Defense that an active duty position is now a prerequisite to commissioning and that all those commissioned must serve for a minimum period of two years prompted the Air Force to align the AFROTC output to active duty spaces.

This was done by reversing the advanced course selection criteria so that only the numbers and types of students required on active duty would be selected to enter advanced ROTC.

Cadets who entered the advanced course in September 1953 were selected under this program in one of the following categories:

Category 1, medically qualified for pilot training, has pilot aptitude stantine of four or higher, and has signed statement of intent to apply for flight training at or before the time he applies for a commission.

Category 1A, medically qualified for Reserve Commission, has an observer aptitude of three or higher, and has signed statement of intent to apply for observer training.

Category 2: medically qualified for Reserve Commission, but may also be medically qualified for flight training, is enrolled in a scientific, technical, or engineering major (at Clemson this includes EE, ME, CE, and ArEn).

Category 3, medically qualified for Reserve Commission, is not medically or aptitudinally qualified for flight training, and is not pursuing an academic major which would qualify him for Category 2.

Category 4: medically qualified for Reserve Commission, may have any type major course, and must have sufficient prior military service to qualify him as a veteran (veterans may also be entered in Category 1 or 1A if otherwise qualified).

At the present time there is no restrictive quota imposed on the number of cadets to enter the advanced course in Categories 1, 1A, and 4. A small numerical quota is received for Categories 2 and 3.

All cadets who graduate before May 1954 will be commissioned.

Clemson's Mother of the Year—Mrs. George H. Hendricks of Easley, S. C.

Mrs. George Hendricks Named Mother Of Year

Tiger Brotherhood, local honorary leadership fraternity and sponsor of the selection of Clemson's Mother of the Year, has chosen Mrs. George H. Hendricks of Easley as Clemson's Mother of 1954.

She will be honored by the Corps of Cadets at the regimental parade on Mother's Day, May 9.

Mrs. Hendricks is the mother of six sons, all of whom either attended or graduated from Clemson. They are Doyle, who is now deceased, Leon A., class '24; Lewis E., class '31; Thomas A., class '37 and now a member of the textile faculty at Clemson; George H., Jr., class '48; and Smith G., who attended from 1940-42.

Her sons-in-law, E. O. Williams and J. E. Herring, also are Clemson graduates. Mrs. Hendricks has two grandsons who are now enrolled as sophomores at Clemson, L. A. Hendricks, Jr., and J. E. Herring, Jr.; and Doyle Hendricks, Jr., also her grandson, who graduated in 1952. The daughter of Elihu Smith Griffin and Martha Smith Griffin, Mrs. Hendricks who is now 77 years of age, was born in Pickens County on March 15, 1877. She was married to George H. Hendricks in 1894 and is the mother of six boys and four girls. She had nine sisters and three brothers, seven sisters and one brother of whom are still living.

Clemson Men Still Favorites Of Coker College

Clemson Cadets come through again!

The Tigers have been voted for the sixth consecutive year Coker College girls' favorite college men, but this year the Country Gentlemen topped their combined opposition.

In the poll which is sponsored as an annual spring feature by "The Periscope," Coker student newspaper, The Citadel again placed second, Wofford and Davidson retained their third and sixth places while the University of North Carolina edged on the University of South Carolina for fourth place, USC falling to a three-way tie with Furman and North Carolina State for sixth place.

The Tigers set a new record by raising their 3.3 to 1 lead over runner-up Citadel to 3.9 to 1 and increased their 1953 46 per cent monopoly to an all time high of 57 per cent. This year the Tigers polled 70 of 123 ballots cast which represents about two-thirds of the Coker feminine student body.

Engineering Fair Shows Various Phases of Science

The Clemson College Engineering Fair, under the direction of Dr. James H. Sams, which was held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, March 30, 31 and April 1, provided a general concise engineering education for the public in everything from jets and ceramics to million volt electricity and the modern home.

The fair was sponsored by Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity with the seven departments taking part. Exhibits were displayed in ceramic, civil, electrical, industrial, and mechanical engineering and architecture.

Olin Hall, the new ceramics building, was one of the feature attractions. Visitors were shown the entire building including all the newly installed equipment. The fair will be held again in 1956 as this year's fair continued a line of biennial engineering fairs.

Glee Club Will Present Annual Spring Concert Tonight At 8:15

The Clemson College Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Hugh McGarity, will present its annual Spring Concert in the College Chapel tonight at 8:30.

Prof. McGarity Directs Chorus

By Lawrence Starkey

Among the many anticipated activities around our Clemson campus this time of year, is the annual spring concert presented by the Clemson College Glee Club. This year the concert of choral music is to be on Thursday evening, April 22, at 8:15 o'clock.

This organization, consisting of 25 members, has been considered one of the South's finest male choruses. The Glee Club performs at numerous functions on the Clemson Campus throughout the school year and in the spring visits other communities and colleges which this year include Anderson, Lander, and Winthrop Colleges.

"The Clemson Singers include authentic folk music on its programs in settings devised by leading arrangers in the nation. Traditional literature for the male chorus and lighter popular selections from musical comedies are included," disclosed Hugh M. McGarity, professor of Music and Director of the Glee Club.

Officers of the Glee Club this year are Hugh Atkins, President; Berkley Ruiz, Vice - President; Bob Daniel, Librarian; Marion Davis, Secretary; Bob Blackmon, Property Custodian; Dave Shearer, Business Manager; and John Sinclair, Publicity Chairman. John David Stanley, of Clemson, is the Glee Club's accompanist.

Soloists for the spring concert will be Patrick Woods, Marion Davis, and Robert Blackmon, Besses, and Philip Anderson, Baritone.

The twenty-five voices in the 1954 Glee Club are made up of Luke Fant, Dan Robinson, John Sinclair, Hugh Atkins, Walter Brown, Robert Daniel, Randolph Kowalski, John Stanley, Dave Shearer, Kenneth Wood, Phillip Anderson, Lewis Brandon, Leroy Bryant, Floyd Gibson, Jerry Jenness, Berkley Ruiz, James Rush, Jack Shaffer, James Wiggins, Robert Blackmon, George Bryan, Marion Davis, Ray Fowler, Lewis Nance and Patrick Woods.

The program will be divided into four parts: The first part includes Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones, Where'er You Walk, and The Trumpet Song. The second part consists of All Through The Night, and two Negro Spirituals arranged by Bartholomew! The Old Ark's a Moverin' and Steal Away. Also included in the second part are It Ain't Necessarily So from Porgy and Bess by Gershwin, and Stouthearied Men from New Moon by Romberg.

The third part consists entirely of selections played by Mary and Hugh McGarity, duo pianists. The noted husband-and-wife piano team have captured the hearts of Clemson audiences many times before with their style of performance.

Included in part four are Rowing in the Sunlight, Sweet and Low, The Erie Canal, and Dry Bones. The public is cordially invited to attend this program of choral music. No admission will be charged.

Officers Elected By Alpha Zeta

Jimmy Henderson, dairy senior of Charlotte, N. C., was elected chancellor of the Clemson chapter of Alpha Zeta, national agricultural honorary fraternity, at a meeting held recently.

Other officers include Bobby Donaldson, horticulture senior of Mt. Pleasant, senior; N. C. Clark, animal husbandry junior of Watertown, scribe; R. M. Buck, animal husbandry sophomore of Mt. Pleasant, treasurer; and B. L. Wahpole, agronomy senior of John's Island, chronicler.

Professors T. L. Senn, A. B. Snell and C. M. Jones are faculty advisers for the agricultural fraternity.

NOTICE

An Army Reserve Corps Band Unit is now being organized at the ORC Armory. Those interested are requested to contact Major S. M. Harris at the Armory. More detailed information will be published in the TIGER at a later date.

Ann Bond, Anthony Ellner Take Roles In Theater Play "Don Juan In Hell"

Play To Be Presented May 5-7 In New Chemistry Auditorium

Among the quartet of souls gathering in Shaw's Don Juan in Hell for a debate on the nature of man and the universe, are a father and his daughter who meet again in eternity after an interval of over fifty years.

In addition to many other puzzling characteristics of Hell and the people in it, the daughter, Dona Ana, who arrives from the grave, discovers that her father is bored with Heaven, where he was sent because he was a hypocrite, that family ties are not kept up in eternity, that Hell is not at all what she expected, being quite a fine place really, where people do nothing but enjoy themselves, and finally, that she is now older than her own father. But under the easy and comfortable dispensations of Hell, Dona Ana finds that she need not worry about this but may choose any age she pleases, and so reverts to twenty-seven as a fashionable age, while her father prefers to remain a statue, a form he was given after his death by the most famous sculptor of his day.

In the forthcoming Clemson Little Theater production of Don Juan, scheduled for presentation in the new Chemistry Auditorium on May 5, 6, and 7, the roles of Dona Ana and her father, Don Gonzalo, will be taken by two players quite familiar to Clemson audiences.

Mrs. Ann Bond adds the role of Dona Ana to a list including Henrietta in Suppressed Desires and a memorable Regina in the 1953 production of The Little Foxes. Mrs. Bond has long considered the theater one of her principal interests. As an undergraduate in L. S. U., she majored in speech, and did extensive work in the University's dramatic activities, including radio shows which featured her in solo readings. Later, she taught speech in the public schools of Louisiana, and since coming to South Carolina she has been teaching in Seneca, where

Clemson Board Of Trustees Hold Meeting April 19

Clemson College Board of Trustees executive committee met Monday, April 19 and the board met Tuesday at the Clemson House for its April meeting. Most important business on the agenda was to reach some decision about contracts for Clemson's proposed new agricultural building.

All members of the board except for F. E. Cope of Cope were expected to be on hand for the decision. R. M. Cooper, Wisacky, Chairman of the Board, arrived Tuesday afternoon to resume his duties interrupted by an automobile accident last November.

Gov. and Mrs. James F. Byrnes visited with board members, called on Dr. and Mrs. Poole and took a tour of Clemson's campus Tuesday afternoon.

Board members at the executive committee meeting were Ben T. Leppard, Greenville; T. B. Young, Florence; J. B. Douthit, Jr., Pendleton; Paul Sanders, Ritter; Charles E. Daniel, Greenville; T. W. Thornhill, Charleston; and Dr. W. A. Barnett, Greenwood. College officials present were Dr. Poole, H. E. Glenn, Earl Swain, A. J. Brown, and Hamilton Hill.

The college has $3,100,000 available for buildings other than the barracks, but only $2,500,000 can be used for construction. The other amount is set aside for equipment and architectural fees.

The board has been studying bids received in two groups—the first including the proposed food industry building, an animal science building, and renovation and moving of six existing greenhouses plus construction of four more and a headhouse.

Group two bids will be used for future planning but it is not expected that action will be taken on them at this time.

McMillan Named New Editor Of Clemson TOWER

An organizational committee of the Clemson Tower has announced Terry McMillan, vocational agricultural education junior of Bamberg, as the new editor, and George S. Harvey, electrical engineering junior of Columbia, the new business manager.

Dedicated to Christian service, this Clemson College Religious Guide will carry a weekly church and YMCA calendar, devotionals and editorials. The Tower is published jointly by the Clemson YMCA and campus churches.

The first edition of the publication was released on April 6 and carried Easter poems by Miss Sidelle Ellis, a member of the Clemson College Library staff, and a devotional by David Townsend, education senior of Bennettsville, also the Clemson Cadet Prayer written by a Clemson cadet.

Subscription to the Clemson Tower is free.

Students Not Taking Part In Student Government

AST week nominations for student body offices were held in the small lecture room of the Chemistry Building. A very small, but vitally interested group of students attended the meeting. The number of students who attended constituted approximately 1/100 of the entire student body. This is appalling when one considers the size of the Clemson student body.

It is evident that a lack of interest in the student government of the school exists. WHY? Every student on this campus should take an active interest in what is going on in our student government.

Each year the students are given more liberties whereby they may govern themselves. With these added responsibilities our leaders should be of the highest calibre. We feel that the student body is not receiving nominations for all of the capable students on the campus. We are not being fair to ourselves.

In the past student government election returns have been relatively small. The polls this week were closed just after the TIGER went to press. However, we feel sure that those interested students who did vote displayed good judgment in choosing next year's officers and Senior Council.

Too many times some of us who have shown no interest in the nominations or elections, or both, have been prone to give strong criticism to the incumbent officers and Council members. The best way to be assured that our wishes are provided for is to get out and back those who we feel will make the best officer.

Remember class elections will be held next week—VOTE!

When We Were Young

Thirty Years Ago: Thirty years ago, the cornerstone of the Clemson Methodist Church was laid. The main speaker at the ceremony was Bishop Collins Denny of Richmond, Virginia. The church was to be completed by September 1, 1924.

The Wofford Terriers defeated Clemson by a score of 12 to 7 in a baseball game played at Clemson. Wofford made 13 hits and errors; Clemson made 9 hits and 5 errors.

Twenty Years Ago: The Clemson Corps of Cadets staged its first moonlight review in honor of the honorary cadet colonel of 1924. The review was held on Bowman Field. After the review, a dance was held in the Clemson Field House.

The Clemson track team scored 109 points to defeat Furman by a score of 109 to 17 in a meet held at Clemson.

Ten Years Ago: The Board of Visitors paid its annual three day visit to Clemson. They inspected College farms, experimental projects, Mess Hall and kitchen facilities, and the stadium.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Economy Is A Fine Thing, But Don't Let It Interfere With Our Mail

By Carroll Moore

THE INSPECTOR CAME AND THE LATE MAIL WENT

From the remarks that I have heard around the campus since returning from the holidays, concerning the closing of the post office at seven o'clock each evening, the students feel that they are getting a pretty dirty deal. I agree. But, before we start condemning certain parties, let's look into the situation and see just why this action is going to be taken. At the present time the plans are that the post office close the doors at seven each evening, beginning May 1. This is not the work of the Clemson Post Office. I have talked with Mr. Ray Morris, postmaster here at Clemson, and he informed me that it was not his idea that the post office take this action. An inspector of post offices in this district was here at Clemson just this past week, and one of the faults that he found wrong at the post office was that there was too much overhead. In order to eliminate this, he felt it necessary to cut out the expense of paying for one of the workers staying at the post office with nothing to do for three hours after the last mail was put up. The inspector decided that the post office should close its doors at seven o'clock instead of nine as it has in the past and thereby eliminate this extra expense.

Now, the students admire the fact that the government is trying to economize and save, but at the same time, they feel that it is the government's duty to please the public and when they close the doors of a post office in a college town at seven o'clock, they are far from being pleasing. I am quite sure that the inspector did not survey the situation very carefully when he made this proposal. First of all, on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays we do not eat supper until six o'clock and under the present conditions it is a task for a student to finish his meal and get down to the post office by 6:45. Then too, usually there are a number of meetings that are being held after supper that students have to attend which would make it impossible for them to check the P. O. that night. And, on Sunday nights, the students returning to the campus after seven would also miss that incoming mail. I feel sure that if the person or persons responsible for these plans of closing the P. O. before nine o'clock had studied the situation more carefully, the closing hours of our post office would remain as they are now.

CONGRATULATIONS, MESS HALL

I have heard some very favorable comments on the new temporary mess hall that has been set up in the field house. Students that I have talked with are pleased with the way that the food is presented and the eating conditions. One very favorable comment from one student was that the food even seemed better to him and a number of them remarked that it was much better because it was hotter when they received it than when they had to sit at a table and eat it after it has been sitting on the table for ten or fifteen minutes. So, the mess hall deserves a pat on the back for the way they have so hastily set up the new eating facilities and for the way they are serving the food to the troops.

I realize that some students are going to have a little wait in the line at certain times, but after everything gets more organized things should run along quicker and smoother. Until then, the students will have to put up with these few inconveniences and make the best of it.

SCCPA CONVENTION THIS WEEK-END

Eight members of the Tiger staff will attend the convention of the South Carolina Collegiate Press Association to be held this week-end at Limestone College in Gaffney. A convention is held each year to enable staff members of the college newspapers of the state to share ideas with each other, and to discuss common problems of campus papers. Trophies are presented during the convention to the winners for the best papers and magazines and individual winners for articles written.

DON'T GET ME WRONG, BUT . . .

Easter Vacation Is Over, Only Five Weeks Of School Left; Dear John---

By Alan Cannon

THAT'S ALL

The Easter vacation is now over and believe you me, vacations are all over until the end of school. There are about five weeks of school left and then there will be plenty of time for vacation—if you happen to be one of the lucky ones that won't have to work. At any rate, it is now time to study, so you had better get to it. Examinations have a funny way of slipping up on people that aren't ready for them.

THE NEW LOOK

I took time out today (Tues., 22) to look over the new mess hall. They have quite a neat little set-up over there. The subsistence department borrowed several refrigeration trucks from the Army which they use for storage. They have also received some of the new equipment that they will have in the new mess hall when it is completed, such as several kinds of completely electric ovens for baking and ice makers. In just looking over the system for a few minutes I'd say they have a pretty elaborate system installed in the field house. (You'd never know that it was once a sports gymnasium.)

SAD NEWS

The following is a DEAR JOHN letter. I thought some of you might enjoy reading one. It sure has spunk. (I am printing this for the benefit of those who are fortunate enough to have never received one.) Dear John,

Your letter came Sat. morning and of course it was impossible to write you and it was also impossible to call since I had no idea where you would be at that hour of the day.

I haven't written you in the last two weeks because that it is that I have been doing some thinking on the side, trying to figure out just where it is that we stand. You've probably realized by this time that the feeling is all gone that I had for you. It mostly started leaving this past summer when you were drunk all the time. (I hate drunks). It seems that both of us were clinging to a thread that was spun a long time ago and is now quite worn. In other words you don't rate too high in my books of verses any more.

As you know I met that cool cat called Bud last summer and since that time I have developed a real skip in my heart for that kid. The way I see things is that it would be useless as well as unfair for us to go on seeing each other. In fact, I can't stand the sight of you.

I have your ring and several other insignificant things that belong to you. If you'll put me in the know I'll mail them right away. I have no desire to have the stinking things in the house any more.

I hope that the above doesn't upset you too much for I've tried to do the right thing. Please don't get made at me. I hope that in spite of this little masterpiece, we can still be good friends at fifty paces.

stay as cool, luscious and groovy

The above letter is a figment of my imagination. Similarity to any letter living or dead is purely coincidental.

IN HONOR

When the Assistant Secretary of the Army visited our campus during the military bell week-end, Company D of the fourth battalion was his guard of honor. Will Parham, company commander of D company, received a letter of congratulations from Mr. Milton complimenting he and his company for a splendid performance.

I quote from the letter: "The alertness of the personnel, clear note of the band, and snappy cadence were heartwarming and indicative of a healthy morale."

I think that the entire cadet corps should be proud of the performance given by Company D and the band.

Disc-o-Pation

By Bill Caughman

"We all shall have music (on tapes) wherever we go," so saith the "Billboard" newspaper. At the use of background music in public places is expected to undergo a prolific expansion in 1954 as a result of the newly developed long-playing magnetic tape equipment. Background music on tape has been employed for quite some time by various business establishments such as restaurants, but is expected to infiltrate into the banks, doctors' offices, barber shops, beauty parlors and even into the grocery stores.

At least five major firms, equipped with single tape units capable of playing continuously from eight to sixteen hours without adjustment, are at present planning large-scale drives. These drives will be concentrated on bringing taped music into establishments that heretofore were out of reach of the former background music services. As far as the content of the tapes is concerned, the background music in demand must be bland and it must be free of vocals.

The juke box industry is eyeing this thing of taped music with keen interest as are the disceries. Juke box operators realize that taped music cannot be too competitive to them because the public still likes to pick out their own tunes occasionally. Even at that though, this could prove to be a new line for the juke operators as well as for the disc manufacturers.

The sales gimmick of selling a modern suit of clothes, so to platters at newsstands is still in operation by Popular Science Magazine in test locations. At the present, Mercury's Patti Page recording of Cross Over the Bridge is on sale with the R. C. A. Victor Tony Martin recording of Here scheduled to go on sale sometime during May. The results of the first month's test with the Perry Como platter Wanted will not be available for at least another 30 days however, if the tests prove successful in their present location, the newsstand sales of hit platters will no doubt extend down around these parts. It shouldn't be too long before The Four Knights' latest recording was kinda' extending down this way, too. No, I'm talking about a recording cut after their hit I Get So Lonely. This one is hot off the press with the nickname of The Wah-Wah Song but formally entitled I Was Meant For You. It's a great recording, especially with the orchestral backing being offered by Ray Anthony's Billy May Orchestra.

Speak (if you want to call it that) of Mr. Ray Anthony, he sure doesn't let any grass grow under his feet in the musical world. At the present, I'm referring to his recordings, which are already timely and tops. More specifically, I'm referring to his most recent and very probably his best recording which bears the tag of Dance, My Heart. It's an old Yiddish theme dressed in speaks. Anthony does an excellent job of the tune with his trumpet, with the added help of his choir. On the bottom side of the record we find the same combination of musicians doing an Italian song, Santa Lucia, which is done equally as well. Both sides are tops.

A little fellow, eleven years old to be exact, by the name of Frankie Avalon is making quite a few of the older musicians take a second listen. Give a listen to this lad's rendition of Trumpet Sorrento on R. C. A.'s Label "X" platter and you'll see what I mean. This younger generation! For some rare sounds, try the Sauter-Finegan Orchestra. On their latest recording, The Thunderdike, the sounds are rare enough to cause John Philip Sousa to turn over a few times. This tune is a clever re-work of the late band leader's march, The Thunderer, and is very clever indeed. The arrangement of this one gives the orchestra a good chance to show off its versatility.

If you haven't, then you should hear Kay Starr sing The Man Upstairs, that is. It's her top effort in quite a while and is very much of the same style that she sang Side by Side in. Kay takes off in the second chorus of this one singing with and against herself with the aid of multiple recordings. The tune is of the spiritual type, but if it doesn't start your foot patting, you must be a robot

A Word To The Wise

By Jerry Hammett, Cadet Chaplain

When pride cometh, then cometh shame; but with the lowly is wisdom. Prov. 11:22.

Whosoever shall humble himself as this little child, the same is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven. Matt. 18:4.

Whosoever shall exalt himself shall be abased; and he that shall humble himself shall be exalted. Matt. 23:12.

I've written a good many articles this year that were only good to throw in the trash can, but I believe there is a message in this one for everyone . . .

Last week when the P. A. system wasn't working, I realized how sorry a job I have done this year. When Dave Morris gave the "oral first rest" all I heard was the mad scramble for the chow, but it did me good to see a few heads bowed. I know that we have all read or heard that "a picture is worth ten thousand words" and I wish that you could have seen the scene, as it was a masterpiece. Too often we are too rushed to realize our many blessings, and most of us who is the Divine giver.

Many of us can recall seeing a cover on one of the leading magazines of an old lady and two children bowing their heads to their God for the blessing of another day. I hope that we can become as children and smart as college men in order that we might remember to return thanks for our many blessings.

The habit we form may either be bad or good, but let's make it a habit to bow our heads and give thanks where thanks are due.

I've heard some beautiful family prayers given by cadets from time to time, and if you will, when you sit down, ask the men present if they care if you return thanks. You know what they will say and they will be glad to know that someone cared enough to ask the blessing.

You may think that I am taking too much for granted, but I believe that I know Clemson men. This is just one of the many times that you will have the opportunity to stand up for your God, and praise His Holy Name.

"Be strong in the Lord, and know that he is God." Think about this, men, and let's see if we can apply it in our everyday life.

AS IS WELL KNOWN

The Moscow radio has exhorted Soviet youth to make sure that the first man to reach the moon is a Russian.

The voice on the Soviet radio was that of A. Obruchev, Russian scientist, and his message was that "the planetary system awaits a Soviet Columbus."

This is very interesting, but it may get Obruchev into trouble with his government. As is well known, Columbus was not the first man to discover America.

As is well known, this Russian not only discovered America; he was also the first to explore the Great Lakes and the Grand Canyon, and to discover the Pacific Ocean.

This he did by an overland journey from the Atlantic, since the Panama Canal, later built by Russian engineers, was not then in existence.

On his voyage he carried with him blue-prints for the construction of the Eli Whitney cotton gin, the McCormick reaper and Fulton steamboat. As is well known, these blue-prints were stolen later by capitalistic warmongers.

If the first man to get to the moon is not a Soviet citizen, a historical injustice will be committed. As is well known, there was no moon until the Soviets discovered it.

The Miami Hurricane MSC Unit IS SUPERIOR

"We found the Memphis State's ROTC unit in excellent condition," stated Col. Lewis H. Ken-singer, head of the Air Force reviewing team, during the recent annual federal inspection.

Memphis State was awarded a "satisfactory" rating (this and "unsatisfactory" were the only listings given.) However, the inspection group commented that of seven colleges reviewed thus far, the MC wing was, perhaps, most superior.

"We found the unit in excellent condition," remarked Col. Kin-singer. "And we were especially impressed with the morale and esprit-de-corps" of the cadets and with the fine support given the unit by President J. M. Smith and the entire staff at Memphis State," he added.

"The inspectors were very well pleased with all phases of the parade and the performance of the band, in particular," commented Cadet Col. Oscar Thomal, wing commander of the MSC unit.

"The review was certainly one of the best this college has ever presented," he concluded.

THE END OF NAVY AND WHITE AT WINTHROP?

There seems to be a great deal of discussion at Winthrop about the young ladies wearing those traditional navy blue and white uniforms. Maybe it's the spring fever or something, but they seem to have a bad case of uniform fever.

The big argument against the uniforms is that they are not democratic; less recognized by other schools; more expensive over-all; a bad psychological effect; and that they are not learning to mix clothes as is natural for all young girls should do.

Moscow University: A Skyscraper Showpiece

By Dean Schoelkopf
Editor, Minnesota Daily

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of six articles by Dean Schoelkopf, editor of the University of Minnesota Daily and one of seven American college editors just returned from a three-week tour of the Soviet Union. (ACP).)

Moscow University is the shiny new showpiece of the Soviet educational system.

The 32-story skyscraper, situated on Lenin hills just outside the city, was opened last fall. It was built at a time when apartments and other new buildings were needed badly.

Facilities at the university are generally good. Laboratories are streamlined and well equipped.

Classrooms and lecture halls seemed adequate. The library had individual study desks and a good supply of American technical journals.

Attached to the classroom section of the building are two 18-story wings, which provide dormitory space for 6,000 students. We visited some of the rooms and found them comparable to American college dormitory rooms.

Moscow University has the same enrollment as the University of Minnesota—about 18,000 students. At Moscow 52 per cent of the students are women, while at Minnesota about 30 per cent of the students are coeds.

There are 12 faculties or departments at Moscow University—mostly in the sciences. At Minnesota there are 31 departments in the liberal arts college alone.

All courses at Moscow run for five years, with an additional three years required for the first graduate degree. The Soviet student, though, begins college with only ten years of previous schooling, compared with 12 years in the United States.

Entrance to colleges and universities is based on standards similar to those at American schools—previous grades and competitive examinations. Once admitted to college, almost all Russian students go on complete scholarships.

Students told us they get monthly stipends ranging from 300 to 700 rubles ($75 to $175). This covers the cost of their tuition, which is about 400 rubles a year, plus room, board, books and gives them some spending money.

There is a 25 per cent bonus available to students who maintain good and excellent marks, roughly equivalent to an A or a B average. Upperclassmen get bigger scholarships than underclassmen.

Russian students were curious about the American system of scholarships and often asked if it is possible for children of American farmers and workers to go to college. Frequently we were asked about our own class background.

In return for their scholarships, Soviet college graduates must serve for three years at whatever job the government assigns them. When we asked students whether they had any choice of jobs, they said yes, but that no two people ever compete for the same job.

Russian students are deferred from military service while they are in school, and apparently even after they graduate. They told us the government considers them more valuable as scientists and engineers than as soldiers.

There is some military training in the colleges, similar to our Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC). We were told graduates of this program get commissions but are not called to active duty.

We visited three other colleges besides Moscow—Stalin University, Azerbaijan Industrial College at Baku, and the Odessa Institute of Technology.

At each of these places we found the same heavy emphasis on science and engineering courses. "Here we stress practical work," the president of Stalin University told us. "Students are training for particular jobs. Every summer they go to all parts of the Soviet Union for laboratory and field work."

About the only people who major in areas like the social sciences and humanities are those who expect to become teachers.

This emphasis on research goes back into the high schools, too. The Russians call them middle schools. A student in his tenth year of middle school—equivalent to our high school senior—takes almost all science courses.

A Kiev middle school principal told us the compulsory course consists of algebra, geometry, trigonometry, chemistry, physics, psychology, astronomy, logic, a choice of foreign language, physical culture, history, Russian and Ukrainian. It was this same principal who told us although education is compulsory for ten years in the larger cities, it is not free for the last three years. Tuition in Kiev was 240 rubles ($50) a year, and there were no scholarships.

ships for students in these grades. We asked about illiteracy in Russia and were told, "There is no illiteracy." Then we were asked about illiteracy in the United States, especially in the South.

The major problem for the Soviet educators seemed the same wherever we went—not enough space for a growing student population. That is, everywhere but Moscow University. Everybody there was more than happy with their shiny new school.

BSU Executive Council Elected

During the recent Baptist Student Union Retreat at Rock Hill, the state BSU Executive Council for next year was elected. Two Clemson students were elected to the Council.

Named Social Vice-President was George Buck, Architect junior of Columbia. George was recently elected president of the local BSU program for the coming year. Wayne Davis, Arts and Sciences junior of Liberty, was named Christian Actions Chairman, a position he will also hold.

Sears-Roebuck Will Award 13 Scholarships

Thirteen scholarships will be awarded by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation to freshmen who specialize in vocational agriculture education at Clemson next fall.

According to Dr. J. M. Stepp, chairman of the committee, the scholarships are to be awarded on the basis of a competitive examination.

The applicants must be in the upper third of their class in high school, must be native South Carolinians, and must have had farm experience. An effort is being made to hold the examinations in each county seat on Saturday morning, May 1.

Requests for further information should be sent to Dr. J. M. Stepp, Agricultural Economics Department, Clemson, S. C. on the local council next year. Bruce Parrish, who transferred from Clemson to U. S. C. last year, was elected Publicity Chairman.

Bengal Baseballers Win Eleventh Straight

By—FRANK ANDERSON

—IT WASN'T JUST AN EARLY SEASON SPIRIT

After the first few games of the collegiate baseball season, certain members of the Clemson Tiger's baseball team took over the lead in the majority of the Atlantic Coast Conference's individual departments, as well as being on top from the standpoint of team records. This record breaking pace set by the Bengals early in the season was not an early season spirit, but a firm foothold for the baseballers to pile more records on.

In the latest release of Atlantic Coast Conference individual standings (which does not take in Tuesday's game with Wake Forest) the individual statistics stacked up like this.

Billy O'Dell, remarkable pitcher for the Country Gentlemen, remained the top pitcher in the Conference with a 4-0 record. O'Dell also has the lowest earned run average, 0.75, and has struck out 36 men for tops in that department.

Another Tiger, Leonard Humphries, is close behind O'Dell with a 3-0 record. Ben Crosland, Clemson, Ralph Adams, Wake Forest, Joe Morgan, North Carolina, and Duke's Hal Turner are deadlocked for third in the pitching race. Each have won two against no defeats.

Roy Coker is leading in two departments, 23 hits and three triples. Jake Tarr of Duke has five doubles. Al Spangler of Duke leads in stolen bases with 10. Doug Kingsmore of the Bengals has scored 15 runs and Wyman Morris has 14 runs batted in. Kingsmore and Morris are tied in the homerun department. Each player has made the round trip four times.

The top ten batters in the Conference are as follows:

NAME—SCHOOL	G	AB	R	H	PCT.
Barbee, Virginia	8	30	6	14	.467
Tarr, Duke	10	37	9	16	.432

—STRENGTHENING POWER COMING UP

While the Clemson varsity baseballers are flying high in the collegiate baseball world, Coach Don Wade is busy with his frosh nine, giving them much needed experience, so they may strengthen the varsity in the next few years. The fact that the frosh have posted four wins against no defeats thus far in the season should make all Clemson men optimistic of the years to come.

So far this season the frosh have notched victories at the expense of Honea Path High School, Spartanburg Junior College, Utica Mohawk Mill, and Piedmont High School.

Six of the regular starting lineup for the Baby Bengals are top football prospects for the gridiron Bengals and one excels in basketball.

One of the brighter stars for the freshman line is Don Shealy, former prep pitching ace for Chester. Having pitched against Honea Path, Spartanburg Junior College and Piedmont, Don has been accredited for all three of these wins. As well as playing on the mound for the Cubs, Shealy is a top hitter and often plays in the infield when he is not toting the rubber.

Other leading hitters for the frosh have been Dick DeSimone, Jim Coleman, Harry Hicks and Leon Kaltenbach.

The frosh lineup is as follows: top pitcher, Shealy; catcher, DeSimone; first base, Griffith; second base, Stone; third base, Hicks; shortstop, Bussey; leftfield, Brown; centerfield, Coleman; right field, Kaltenbach.

The frosh tangled with Abbeville high school yesterday and have three more home games this week on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

Country Gentlemen Hold Firm Grip On Atlantic Coast Conference Lead

Coach Bob Smith's battling Bengal baseballers notched up their eleventh straight victory without a defeat last Tuesday afternoon against the Wake Forest Deacons, to remain undefeated in conference play and to strengthen their foothold among the leading collegiate baseball clubs throughout the nation.

The recent victory gave the Tigs a 5-0 conference record, tops in the Atlantic Coast. The remaining six contests include victories in three exhibition tilts and three wins against non-conference competition.

APRIL 7—CLEMSON 8—LIBERTY MILLS 2

Giving up but four hits to the Liberty Lions of the Greenville Textile League, Tiger hurler Mickey Cone notched up the Tiger victory in an exhibition tilt played at the Liberty Mill Park.

Catcher Bobby Morris of the high-flying Bengals rapped out a double and two singles to grab the hitting spotlight for the afternoon. Wyman Morris and Roger Gaines each cracked a four bagger and a single to finish the afternoon with two safe blows for three official times in the batters' box.

Darrell Medlock was tops for the losers with two safeties for four times at bat.

BOX SCORE

Clemson 001 011 213-8 8 13 3

Liberty 100 010 000-2 2 4 4

APRIL 8: CLEMSON 5—FURMAN 2

Ben Crosland, junior pitching ace from Greenville, pitched brilliant baseball to lead his Bengal teammates over our next door rivals from Greenville. Crosland allowed but six safeties for the Hornets in 8 1-3 innings when Billy O'Dell came in to put out a potential Furman rally.

Barry Crocker, Tiger shortstop, was the big stick man for the afternoon as he rapped out four singles for five times at bat. Roy Coker, Tiger second baseman, got a triple and a single in three times at bat.

Buck Gay was the losing hurler for the Hornets and Sam Pou, Furman rightfielder, collected two hits for four times up to lead the losers.

BOX SCORE

Clemson 002 000 001-5 5 8 3

Furman 020 000 000-2 2 6 1

APRIL 9: CLEMSON 5—LIBERTY MILLS 1

The Clemson baseballers rolled over the Liberty Lions for the second time in three days behind the hurling of Bill Toth, making his debut for the Tiger diamondmen.

Clemson touched two Liberty pitchers for seven hits, four of which went for extra bases. Leading the Clemson batsmen were Kingsmore with two for five and Barnett who hit safely three times for three times up to the plate.

Gaines, Lions first baseman, led his teammates with one hit for two tries.

BOX SCORE

Liberty 000 001 0-1 1 4 0

Clemson 301 010 x-5 5 7 1

APRIL 13: CLEMSON 10—SOUTH CAROLINA 1

The big bat of Doug Kingsmore plus the splendid hurling of Billy O'Dell played major roles in the Tigers' victory over the South Carolina Gamecocks in Columbia. This was the Tigers' third conference win against no defeats.

When you come right down to it, you smoke for one simple reason...enjoyment. And smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste. Yes, taste is what counts in a cigarette. And Luckies taste better.

Two facts explain why Luckies taste better. First, L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco...light, mild, good-tasting tobacco. Second, Luckies are actually made better to taste better...always round, firm, fully packed to draw freely and smoke evenly.

Cindermen Win Two Lose One On Road

In their last three meets, one of which was a triple meet with Davidson and Wofford, the Clemson Tiger cindermen emerged victorious from two of the meets and lost one. The loss came at the hands of the Georgia Bulldog track team. The Furman Hurricanes, the Davidson Wildcats, and the Wofford Terriers were the victims of the hard running trackmen.

FURMAN

The Hurricanes swept to victory in seven events, but the depth of the Tigers was the deciding factor. The Bengals managed to grab enough second and third places to win the meet by a score of 77-53.

High man for the Winds was Mac Baltzegear with 14 points. He got a first, two seconds, and was in a three-way tie for first.

Carter was the top man for the Bengals as he took two firsts in the meet.

The Furman squad was strong in the field events as they won the top spot in each of the four field events.

GEORGIA

The Bulldogs of Georgia completely overwhelmed the Tigs in the meet held at the University of Georgia. They took first place in every event except three and won handily by the score of 94-44.

Kermit Perry, captain of the Bulldog trackmen, was the high scorer for the meet. He gathered a total of 18½ points.

The Bengal cindermen were the victors in the 440 yard dash, the 880 yard dash, and the two mile run.

DAVIDSON AND WOFFORD

High winds and a soggy track hampered all three teams in this meet which was held at Davidson. The Tigers barely nosed out the scrappy Davidson Wildcats by the score of 77-75, while Wofford was way behind with only 11 points.

Clemson won seven first places and Davidson won six. High man for the meet was Bill Koonce who won the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, broad jump, and the mile relay, to collect 15 points.

Frosh Hitting, Pitching Good In Three Wins

The Clemson Tiger freshmen baseball nine has displayed a great adaptability for hitting the ball, and seem to be following in the footsteps of the varsity, for they have not lost a ball game to the opposition yet this year. Excellent pitching has teamed up with good hitting to give the Baby Cubs a present season record of three wins and no losses.

Spartanburg Junior College

In their first game of the 1954 diamond season, the Baby Tigers unearthed a battery that is sure to be heard of in the future.

Pitcher Don Shealy not only hurled a fine ball game in giving up only five hits, but he also showed that he could hit the ball as well.

He collected three for five official trips to the plate, and these hits included a home run and a double.

His battery mate, Dick DeSimone, who is one of the top line prospects on the Clemson football team, caught an excellent game and had a perfect day at the plate, hitting safely in two official trips to the plate.

The Cubs got a total of 16 hits off two Spartanburg pitchers to win the ball game by the score of 8 to 3. Neither team committed any miscues afield.

Box score:

Clemson F. 100 164 20x 8 10 0
S. J. C. 020 000 010 3 5 0

UTICA

In their second game, the Cubs scored a 4-1 victory over the Utica textile nine. The Utica batsmen got four hits to the Baby Tigers three, but the Cubs managed to bunch theirs for the runs.

Watson pitched the whole game for the victorious Tigs, with DeSimone again catching. Outfielder Jim Coleman was the Cubs' leading hitter for the day as he collected two hits for three official trips to the plate.

King was the top hitter for the visitors in the short six inning contest.

Box score:

Clemson Frosh 202 00x 4 3 0
Utica 000 010 1 4 0

DeSimone was the top batsman for the Cubs with three hits for four trips.

Hicks collected three for five of which two were doubles.

Ray Weisner was top man for Piedmont with three hits in four official times at bat.

The Frosh committed two errors while the visiting club was guilty of five miscues.

Furman University Singers To Give Concert Program In College Auditorium

The University Singers

DuPre Rhame Is Conductor For Group

The Furman University Singers, directed by DuPre Rhame, will give a concert in the College Auditorium at 8:15 p. m., Wednesday, April 28.

The Furman University Singers, 100 voice mixed chorus, is a development of one of the oldest choral groups of its kind in the Southeast.

The Singers had their beginning as an organization in 1898, with the formation of the Furman Men's Glee Club. The female section, known as "The Serenaders," was added during World War II, and the name of the chorus was changed to the Furman University Singers.

DuPre Rhame, director of the Singers, has been closely connected with the group since he entered Furman as a student in 1920. While a student he was a member of both the band and glee club. Upon his graduation, Mr. Rhame became director of music in the Greenville High School. He joined the Furman University faculty shortly afterwards. As professor of music at the University, he is widely known among music lovers of the Southeast.

The program consists of: "Glorious Is Thy Name," from "Twelfth Mass," Mozart; "Be Thou Near Me, Lord," Morgan; "List! The Cherubic Host" from Tchaikovsky; "Kermesse," from "The Holy City," Gaul; "The Creation," Richter; "Adieu, Forests," from "Jeanne d'Arc," Faust; "Gounod; selections from Acts I and II of 'Aida,' Verdi.

Miss Elsie Blackwell, pianist, will play "Toccata" by Khachaturian.

Continuing the program, the Singers will sing a group of lighter songs including a medley from "The Nutcracker Suite," Tchaikovsky-Simeone; selections from "The Desert Song," Romberg; "Romany Life" from "The Fortune Teller," Herbert; "You'll Never Walk Alone," Rogers-Ringwald; "Battle Hymn of the Republic," Steffe-Ringwald.

The highlight of the meeting was the informal dinner in Carline Hall to which all members of Phi Beta Kappa in South Carolina were invited.

The occasion was marked by an address by Dr. John Olin Edison, who is director of the University Center of the University of Georgia in Athens and a Wofford graduate.

Letters To Tom Clemson

Headquarters and Headquarters Company
86th Infantry Regiment
Fort Riley, Kansas

5 April 1954

Dear Tom,

In reading the April 1st issue of The TIGER there was an article in it about a possible change in the cadet uniform. I am not going to say whether or not I am in favor of a change in the uniform; but I do have this to say about it. DON'T ADOPT AN IKE JACKET. I have been in the Army since July '52 and if there is one uniform that I don't like, it is the Ike jacket. This is not just a personal opinion of mine, but the majority of troops that I have worked with (both officer and enlisted personnel) do not like to wear the Army Ike jacket. The biggest complaint against it is that it keeps crawling up your back, and if you want to be comfortable while working, then you must unbutton it, which is definitely against uniform regulations. Another comment about the jacket—there is nothing quite as unsoldierly as an ill-fitting Ike jacket. Personally, I would rather wear my dress blouse all the time rather than my Ike jacket.

As you may or may not know, Tom, there is a possibility that the Army may do away with the Ike jacket as part of its uniform, which would seem to prove that it is not popular.

You may take these words as you wish, Tom, but I thought that I ought to say something about the matter.

Sincerely yours,
John V. Thomson - '52
1st Lt. Armor

Clemson, S. C.

Dear Tom,
This letter is written to you as a means of recognizing a group of men who have in all respects displayed the old Clemson spirit throughout this school year. The group we write about is Company A-2, best drilled company for 1954.

Without further introduction, we will endeavor to point out a few of the instances where A-2 has displayed the fine spirit mentioned above. Back during the year's Homecoming weekend, A-2 showed the proper spirit by working hard as a team and coming up with the best decorations on Company level. This was their way of saying "Welcome Grads".

Their most recent accomplishment was winning the title of best drilled company. Tom, we have never seen a group of men with such a will to win. They worked hard and long without a gripe during their drill sessions. After winning the battalion, the men were asked not to leave on Friday because the regimental eliminations were scheduled for Saturday morning. Many of the men had permits approved and plans made, but proceeded to cancel them. We would like to mention one specific case. A telegram was received by the Commandant's office from the father of a cadet. It stated that the father would like for his son to be excused from school on Friday to attend the Master's Golf Tournament. As soon as the cadet learned of this, he proceeded to go to the main office and asked to be excused from the telegram, using as his excuse his company entering the eliminations Saturday morning. This young man was not prompted by anyone, but instead acted on his own feelings.

Aside from winning the company title, the men have come up with two other titles worthy of notice. These are the best drilled platoon, and best drilled sophomore.

Tom, we think enough has been said to prove that some of the old Clemson spirit still lives. So to a group of hard working Cadets, thanks for a job well done.

Sincerely,
Carl B. Brabham, '54
Rudy Adams, '54

Dear Tom,

Just before the holidays, the professional societies of the Engineering and Architectural departments here staged a very interesting and entertaining Architectural-Engineering fair which took a lot of work on the part of everyone who contributed to it. I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all of the clubs, individuals, departments, and outside help that it took to make this fair a success. There have been many favorable comments from those who visited the fair and the accomplishments that invited these praises could not have been possible without the cooperation of everyone.

I would also like to apologize for an oversight in printing the programs. Due to an error, the American Institute of Architects was omitted. We know that this organization did much in preparing their exhibits and deserves the recognition which they did not receive in the program for their work.

Sincerely,
Sam B. Murphree, Jr.
