No. 19.

Fifth Lyceum Attraction.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Sprague delightfully entertained the college community Saturday evening with a reproduction of Rip Van Winkle. This play was given in four acts and was presented in such a manner as not to allow a dull minute during the entire evening for the audience, even though there were only Mr. and Mrs. Sprague in the play.

As platform entertainers, Mr. and Mrs. Sprague are in a class to themselves, and 'Rip Van Winkle' gives full scope for the display of their talent and versatility.

Mr. Sprague as "Rip Van Winkle" proved to be as clever a bit of character work as has ever been seen on the platform here; and Mrs. Sprague portrayed her part equally as well. She is a Southern lady by birth and has a delightfully refined stage presence which adds force and charm to every bit of character work she undertakes.

This was the first opportunity that many of us had ever had of hearing Mr. and Mrs. Sprague on the stage; but we can safely say that, when another opportunity presents itself, we will gladly welcome them back, and hear what they have to say with a great deal more interest than we did the first time.

THE AGRICULTURAL DEMONSTRATORS.

Last week the college was particularly fortunate in having the agricultural representatives from each of the upper counties of the State visit here.

These men are doing a great agricultural work over the State, by their practical demonstration methods, and as they are men interested in their line of work and men who are from each county in the State, it is useless to say that they will help the cause of agriculture in the State in many ways.

These representatives were entertained here by the college and we could see and be with them when they were not at their meetings. So doubtless many of us were profited by their visit here, though we were not invited to attend their meetings.

While Prep. Foxworth was at home Xmas, he was asked by a lady friend what course he was taking. He replied, "The Lyceum Course."

Rip Sanders (to Bill Haynesworth): "Say, Bill, is Fred Jones your brother?"

The Palmetto Society Holds Its Annual Celebration.

The Palmetto Literary Society held its annual celebration in Memorial Hall on the evening of February 22. This day being a holiday, the exercises were unusually well attended, there being about five hundred students and visitors present. The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. W. H. Mills, after which the presiding officer, Mr. J. A. Goodwin, made a short address of welcome.

The following is the program:

Declaimers.

- W. N. Henderson, Blairs, S. C.—Subject: "The Traitors Death-bed."
- J. C. Hadden, Hodges, S. C.—Subject: "Our Country, Its Past and Present."

Orators.

- O. O. Dukes, St. George, S. C.—Subject: "The Influence of the Gospel on Civilization."
- F. H. Jeter, Santuck, S. C.—Subject: "The Glory of the Conquered."

Debate.

Query, Resolved: That Municipalities in the United States Should Own and Operate Street Railways and Plants for Supplying Light and Water.

Affirmative.

J. M. Workman.....Mayesville, S. C.

Negative.

H. T. Prosser.....Lake City, S. C.

The declaimer's medal was awarded to Mr. Hadden, and the orator's medal to Mr. Dukes. The debate had to be postponed on account of the sickness of Mr. Prosser.

The marshals were:

T. D. Williams, chief; W. E. Stokes, C. B. Faris, D. C. Beaty, J. H. Kangeter.

What do you think of our baseball schedule? It's a good one, eh?

The season opens with two games with the University of Georgia. We're getting ready now.

Compare yourself with Rip. Have you sworn off? Are you asleep? If so, your college course will result in a complete failure.

Are you a member of the Student Press Association recently organized? If not, join and help Clemson College by writing for your county paper. The people of the State need correct information, and this association is the most practical way to give it to them.

There is need of specialization at Clemson College. By this, we do not mean that the curriculum should be changed to give opportunity for specialization. Doubtless such a change would be beneficial to many—those who realize that they must prepare themselves to do the work already chosen. Negatively, a great many students, even in their Senior year, do not know what branch of their work they desire to follow; and a still greater number, thinking only of the present, would seek the line of least resistance. Another objection to such a change is the fact that the ordinary college student has not a sufficiently broad foundation for successful specialization. But coming back to our original theme, there is what we might designate as specialization on the side. Every student—pursuing his general education earnestly at the same time—should endeavor to gather all the extra information possible by doing extra practical work along the line that he especially desires to follow. Many will reply that our time is very nearly all occupied, still, there is some time that every student throws away—allowing time for recreation. If every Freshman, as he enters Clemson College, knew the exact course that he is to pursue in life, he could by constant and persistent application prepare himself fully twice as well as the average man is prepared when he leaves college.

A very beneficial custom is gradually coming into being at Clemson—that of giving the students in the different courses opportunity to make observations of industrial enterprises applicable to their respective lines of study. A few weeks since the Sophomore agricultural students were taken to Liberty by Prof. Crampton for the purpose of seeing some spraying and other orchard work. A little later on, the Senior agricultural students were taken to Anderson by Professor Napier. This trip was utilized in making a study of a sulphuric acid manufacturing plant, a fertilizer factory, and an oil mill. By this kind of study more can be learned within a short time than could be learned by a lifetime study of mere theory. It is to be hoped that the time will soon come when the men in every course will be given the opportunity for studying the practical application of the theories and principles which are taught them. This method is especially to be recommended for Senior classes after they have been taught the theoretical part of the various industries.

Powder Manufacturer—Fancy old Bill, of all people, going into the gunpowder shed with a lighted candle. I should have thought that would be the last thing he'd do.

In the write-up of sections, we are, in this issue, to deal with a group of men who will, no doubt, figure largely in the rapid development of the textile industry in South Carolina and other Southern States. We have, so far, considered the future of the agriculturist, the animal husbandrymen, and the chemists. Now, we take great pleasure in bringing before the minds of our readers the bunch of hearty, good fellows composing Section T who will, in the near future, direct the mill enterprises of the country. Among the men composing this group are many who have, from the very first of their college career, stood at the front in the various phases of college activity. We find three captains, Messrs. Crawford, Connelly, and Epps; one first lieutenant, Mr. W. C. Garrett; one second lieutenant, Mr. G. D. Garner; and seven "Senior Privates," Messrs. Alford, Fizer, Knight, McCreary, Foster, Sitton, and Lykes, F. W. A number of these men have shown their "metal" on the gridiron, the diamond and the track, many of them having captured their block "C" early in their college career. "Bill" Connelly stands out as one of the greatest athletes in college, being both a football and a baseball star, and captain of varsity baseball squad. Martin Epps is there on the spot when it comes to track and football, he being manager of the track team for 1911. W. C. Garrett is a "good one" when it comes to running.

Messrs. Sitton, Connelly, Garner, and Fizer belong to the staff of "1911 Taps." "Gene" is also a member of the Chronicle staff, representing the Y. M. C. A., of which he is president. Mr. J. T. Crawford is ex-president of the Calhoun Literary Society, and society reporter to the Tiger.

Messrs. Chapman, Garrett, and Epps, were at Liberty on Washington's birthday.

For several days past Mr. Dudley Beaty has been suffering very severely from an abscess under a tooth. He went to Seneca to have it treated on Wednesday.

G. C. Fant spent the holiday at his home in Anderson.

The members of our class who attended the dance given by the Clemson Club at Pendleton on Tuesday evening were Messrs. Connelly, Jeter, Sitton, Keith, Walker, Hanckel, Harris and Haynesworth.

Dr. and Mrs. R. N. Brackett and Miss Helen Brackett entertained at puzzle games in honor of Miss Query, of Pineville, N. C. Mr. L. C. Haskell won first prize, consisting of a box of "Tiger head" paper. Miss Query was presented with the guest's prize, consisting of a beautiful Clemson hat pin. Delicious refreshments were served. Members of the class who were present were Messrs. A. D. Chapman, W. E. Stokes, L. C. Haskell, W. N. Henderson, C. S. Lykes, J. K. Lawton, G. C. Fant and G. L. McCord.

Mr. "Monk" Dew went to Gaffney last week.

Every agricultural Junior should be interested in the plans Prof. Napier has proposed for getting up a corn judging contest. Prof. Napier's plan is to have each of the Southern agricultural colleges get out a corn judging team, and for these teams to hold a judging contest each year at the South Atlantic Corn Exposition. These teams are to be composed of four or five men picked from among the best judges, in the same way that the players on the athletic teams are picked. A cup will be given to the best team from any of the colleges, and also one to the best individual judge.

At a meeting of the agricultural Juniors last week, Prof. Napier made known his plans, and he was promised the support of the agricultural members of our class in getting a team to represent Clemson. Four or five men picked from the best judges in the present Junior class, next year Seniors, will represent Clemson at this contest next year if the plans can be carried out. It will be worth every man's time to take an interest in this work and try to be on this corn judging team. Even if all can't make this team, it will be worth much to try just for what they will learn about corn judging from so competent a man as Prof. Napier.

Mr. J. C. Caldwell spent the latter part of last week in Spartanburg and at his home at Campobello, where he was called on business.

Mr. R. N. Altman, a former member of our class, spent last Saturday and Sunday on the campus.

Mr. H. J. Smith, of Mississippi, came to Clemson on the 17th of this month to take up his work as assistant professor of chemistry. Mr. Smith takes the position formerly held by Dr. McAdam.

Miss Lucia Yates, of Camden, has returned to her home after spending some time with Miss Sara Furman.

Mrs. Weir, of Charlotte, N. C., spent several days last week with her sister, Mrs. W. R. Perkins.

"Rip Van Winkle," as it was given in the Memorial Hall by "The Spragues" on the night of February 25th, was much enjoyed by a large audience.

On Wednesday evening, February 22, the annual contest of the Palmetto Literary Society afforded much pleasure for a number of the people on "the Hill."

Mrs. Fred Taylor arrived last week to join her husband, Prof. Fred Taylor of the textile department.

Miss Mary E. Query, of Pineville, N. C., has returned home after spending ten days with Miss Brackett.

On Wednesday, February 22, at 3 p. m., the Daughters of the American Revolution held an open meeting at the residence of Mrs. W. M. Riggs, in honor of their Chapter Day. Each member of this Andrew Pickens Chapter invited one guest, and there were more than thirty ladies present to enjoy this occasion. Very interesting papers were read by Mrs. A. B. Bryan and Mrs. F. H. H. Calhoun. Mrs. J. G. Hall and Mrs. M. R. Powers sang two beautiful solos. Mrs. Riggs and Mrs. Brackett sang, as a duet, Timrod's "Carolina." After the program for the afternoon was completed, delightful refreshments were served.

It is of interest to our community that "Carolina," which was set to music by Miss Annie Burgess, sister of Mr. J. M. Burgess, shortly before her death, has been adopted by the Legislature as the State song for South Carolina. This was done at the suggestion of Mrs. Mayes, State Regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mr. Napier spent Monday in Greenville.

Mrs. H. L. Culberson, of Gray Court, S. C., is spending some time with her son, Mr. W. P. White.

Friday evening, February 24th, Dr. and Mrs. R. N. Brackett, and Miss Brackett, entertained in honor of their guest, Miss Mary Query. The entertainment for the evening was a picture puzzle game. The first prize was won by Mr. L. C. Haskell, who received a box of larger head stationery. Miss Query, as guest of honor, was presented with a Clemson hat pin. After the game, refreshments were served by Mrs. Brackett. Those invited were: Messrs. L. C. Haskell, L. C. Harrison, L. D. Boone, J. P. Stickley, W. E. Stokes, W. N. Henderson, C. S. Lykes, J. K. Lawton, G. L. McCord, E. L. Sumner, G. C. Fant, A. D. Chapman, M. S. Lawton, and J. H. Kangeter.

The Thursday Club met last week with Mrs. W. R. Perkins.

Miss Floride Calhoun has returned from Atlanta, where she has been for six weeks visiting her sister, Mrs. J. L. Gilbert.

Prof. D. W. Daniel addressed the Y. M. C. A. last Sunday evening, February 26. His subject for the evening was "Modern Knighthood." In his address, he told us of the ideals and customs of the ancient knights, and compared them with the modern knights. He said that the ancient knights made vows to stand for all that was noble and pure; and, in spite of their many disappointments, they kept them; and that the modern knight ought to do greater things than the ancient knights, because they have a wider field of opportunities. He also said that the modern knight was the one that is courteous to and willing to help his fellow-men in every way possible. We were very glad to have Prof. Daniel to address us.

Mr. Bernhardt, who was to have addressed the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening, February 28, failed to get here. The serious illness of his wife prevented him from coming. He will be with us some future date.

A Rat whose light had gone out asked "Graveyard" how long he was going to keep him in the dark. "Graveyard" replied, "Rat, for the good of the college, I think I'll leave you that way; for you look so much better in the dark."

Prof. Nourse was describing how scientists could remove a piece of skin from the body, and still keep it in a growing condition. Senior Stickley spoke up and wanted to know if that was a "new skin game" they had discovered. All of the section joined in the "chorus."
