To

101 First Year Studies (1) Integration into the academic community, including the nature and purpose of a college education, expectations for academic success, organization of university disciplines, and special emphasis on academic and career planning. Meets once a week. A, B, C, NC grading.

Effective: Fall 2004Rationale:

Based on expected increases in freshmen enrollment and current budget allotment for this academic freshman seminar, changing from 2 credit hours to 1 credit hour will enable the University to offer the academic seminar to more of the freshmen class.

Changing grading from A-F to A-C/NC will continue to allow the course to hold students accountable for the consequences of their performance. Issuing a NC instead of grades D or F for not meeting minimum standards of C performance better reflects the spirit of a college transition course and will not negatively impact a student's academic record.

COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURAL SCIENCES AND NATURAL RESOURCES

REVISE GRADUATION REQUIREMENT

To

A minimum grade point average of 2.0 for all courses taken in the department offering the major/concentration is required. All courses must be passed. A student cannot graduate with a grade of "F" in any course in the major/concentration. Students must repeat courses in the major/concentration and earn a passing grade prior to the awarding of the degree.

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Rationale: Over the past several years, there has been a large turnover in the faculty of the CASNR. It is the expectation that students must pass all the courses in the major. This proposal raises the expectations and standards for the students. The CASNR Student Council approved the proposal on October 16, 2003.
- b. Impact on other academic units: None outside of the CASNR.

REVISE CATALOG TEXT FOR MINORS

On page 48, middle of left-hand column, REVISE requirements for minors in the College and place this text after the section on page 49 with the heading "Minimum Requirements for Baccalaureate Degree Programs"

To

Selection of Minor

Students may have a single or multiple minors in any of the UT colleges recorded on their transcripts without regard to course overlap among majors and minors. Minors offered by departments require a minimum of 16 credit hours in courses offered in the program. The majority of credit hours must be at the 300 and 400 level. No departmental or college orientation 100-level course may be used to satisfy the requirements of the minor. At least 9 of the credit hours required for the minor must be completed at the Knoxville campus. Each department offering a minor lists specific requirements. Minors offered in the CASNR are open to any students of any other colleges, who have the approval of their academic advisor and department. Students working on a minor in CASNR should contact the specific department to have an academic advisor assigned.

Minors and Departments

- Agricultural Economics and Business (Department of Agricultural Economics)
- Animal Science (Department of Animal Science)
- Biosystems Engineering Technology (Department of Biosystems Engineering and Environmental Science)
- Environmental and Soil Sciences (Department of Biosystems Engineering and Environmental Science)
- Food Science and Technology (Department of Food Science and Technology)
- Forestry (Department of Forestry, Wildlife and Fisheries)
- Plant Sciences (Department of Plant Sciences)
- Wildlife and Fisheries Science (Department of Forestry, Wildlife and Fisheries)

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Rationale: Correcting an omission that appears in the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog.

REVISE COLLEGE DISTRIBUTION REQUIREMENTS

On page 49 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate catalog, REVISE Minimum Requirements for Baccalaureate Degree Programs

To

All B.S. degree programs offered in the College have the following minimum requirements:

- Communicating through Writing, 3 courses to include English Composition (101-102) and one writing-intensive course from the University approved list.
- Communicating Orally, one course: 1) Speech Communications. 210 or 240 or 2) a course with an "OC" designation from the University approved list.

- Arts and Humanities, 2 courses from the University approved list.
- Social Sciences, 2 courses from the University approved list.
- Biological Sciences, 2 courses, minimum 6 hours, one course may be a CASNR course.

- Major Courses, minimum of 22 hours in the major to include an orientation course (ANR100 or an equivalent orientation course in the department or University).

For a total of 124 hours minimum.

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Rationale: Changes language in the College requirements to conform to the language in the University General Education. Modifying Computer Applications requirement 1) more students are coming in with basic skills, 2) need to allow courses in the major to help reduce the total number of hours taken in the major to try to get down to 124-hour minimum.
- b. Impact: No impact on units outside the CASNR.

Dan:

As we have discussed, our department is in favor of cross-listing BSE 421 (to be re-numbered BSE 416). The motion to cross-list this course has been passed by our department curriculum committee, our full department faculty, and by the College Curriculum Committee. It will be considered by the full College faculty tomorrow.

REVISE CATALOG TEXT FOR BIOSYSTEMS ENGINEERING

On page 56 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, REPLACE entire sections entitled "Vision" and "Educational Objectives" with:

The Biosystems Engineering Program at The University of Tennessee has specific educational objectives that follow directly from the objectives of The University of Tennessee Institute of Agriculture (www.agriculture.utk.edu/about/index.htm#Mission). In order to meet the Institute's objectives, program graduates will receive the educational tools necessary to perform as entry-level engineering professionals. Recent graduates are to be:

- Competitive in seeking employment at the regional and national levels,
- Aware of meeting their own and societal needs consistent with the goals of life-long learning, professional ethics, and leadership,
- Performing as entry-level engineers in a manner that positively reflects on the overall program's reputation.

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- Rationale: The ABET accreditation program has recently re-defined Educational Objectives as specific quantifiable criteria achieved by graduates 3-5 years out of the program, and clearly linked to larger institutional objectives. This change reflects that redefinition.
- Impact on other academic units: none

REVISE MATH REQUIREMENT FOR BIOSYSTEMS ENGINEERING MAJOR (2.0 GPA IN REQUIRED MATH COURSES)

On page 56 in the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, on the bottom of column 2 just before BIOSYSTEMS ENGINEERING MAJOR, ADD

One of the primary tools engineers bring to the solution of many problems is a mastery of mathematics, so mathematical competence is a critical component of an engineering education. In order to graduate with a major in Biosystems Engineering, students must display this competence by achieving an average GPA of at least 2.0 in the required mathematics courses. It is the student's responsibility to work with their academic advisor in assuring that they meet this requirement.

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Rationale: Our annual program assessment as required by the ABET accreditation agency has consistently pointed towards weakness in mathematics as a primary concern in the quality of our students. In addition, the students that have had the most difficulty graduating and that have done most poorly in our upper-division classes are those who have a poor mathematics background. This requirement would show responsiveness to program assessment results, and would more fundamentally ensure that the student can either master mathematics to the extent required by the program, or would help them decide earlier on that they would rather try something else.
- b. Impact on other academic units: none

REVISE THE BIOSYSTEMS ENGINEERING MAJOR TO DROP THE FOOD ENGINEERING CONCENTRATION

DELETE the Food Engineering concentration on pages 10 and 16 in the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, and DELETE the Food Engineering Concentration showcase on page 57 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog

REVISE THE BIOSYSTEMS ENGINEERING MAJOR TO ADD A NEW CONCENTRATION: PRE-PROFESSIONAL CONCENTRATION

Replace the Food Engineering showcase with the Pre-Professional showcase in the Undergraduate Catalog as follows:

Biosystems Engineering Major – Pre-Professional Concentration

The Pre-professional concentration provides comprehensive training in biosystems engineering while preparing the student for candidacy to medical school. While this program meets general published pre-med requirements, it is the student's responsibility to work with their academic advisor to ensure that their program meets the demands of specific schools.

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- Rationale: In spite of a substantial regional and national need for graduates with Food Engineering degrees, this concentration has never been successful in attracting students. With the departure of several faculty and the hiring of replacements with different backgrounds, we also no longer have the faculty to teach the necessary courses. At the same time, medical schools across the country are increasingly accepting students with engineering degrees because of the technical background and rigor of those programs. In fact, some sister programs at nearby universities have committed themselves almost totally to this emphasis. We have no intention of doing that, but believe that with our strong biological emphasis we can attract and turn out highly-qualified students.
- Impact on other academic units: none

NOTE: University General Education requirements have not been incorporated. Need to coordinate with the College of Engineering so not to jeopardize accreditation by ABET.

Computer technology applicable to landscape construction and contracting industry. Includes presentations by industry representatives. 2 hours. Prereq: 350 or consent of instructor.

471 Statistics for Biological Research (3) Notation, descriptive statistics, probability, distributions, confidence intervals, student's t- and chi-square tests, analysis of variance, mean separation procedures, linear regression and correlation. 3 hours and 1 rec. Prereq: Mathematics 125 or equivalent.

480 Advanced Landscape Design (3) Comprehensive application of landscape design skills to a variety of project experiences with an emphasis on landscape planning and analysis, planting design, and materials estimating. Two 3-hour labs. Prereq: 280, 380.

485 Computer Aided Landscape Design (3) Overview of Computer Aided Design (CAD) as it relates to landscape design and construction. Emphasis on development of landscape design drawings through utilization of LANDCADD software. Prereq: 280, 380, and Agriculture and Natural Resources 290.

490 Seminar (1) Current topics in horticulture, crop sciences, and landscape design. Prereq: Senior standing.

492 Internship in Horticultural and Plant Sciences (1-3) Supervised work experience with a departmentally-approved employer within the ornamental horticulture, turfgrass, production horticulture, or field crop science industry. May be repeated. Maximum of 6 hours. Satisfactory/No Credit grading only.

Note: Grading change from former PSLS course. Variation in internship experiences exists. Faculty do not want grades received for internship to skew grade point average in the major that reflects the students grasp of knowledge.

493 Problems in Horticultural and Plant Sciences (1-3) Supervised individual problems relating to the plant sciences or landscape design. May be repeated. Maximum of 6 hours.

494 Professional Horticultural Communications (3) Communication for public horticulturists through written, oral, and visual media. Emphasis on communication skills using proper writing techniques and grammar for print media, brochure design using desktop publishing, slide show development, oral presentations, and video use for educational and informational presentations in Ornamental Horticulture. Prereq: Agriculture and Natural Resources 290 and senior standing.

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Rationale: The name of the department was changed, effective July 1, 2003, to the Department of Plant Sciences. The department requests that all courses reflect the new name and to simplify nomenclature.
- c. Impact on other academic units: This will necessitate a global search and replace in showcases, pre-requisites, and cross-listed courses of other departments in the College of Agricultural Sciences and Natural Resources.

To

Majors must have completed the core courses for their respective Plant Sciences concentration. Students must declare a concentration early in their undergraduate program and strictly follow the curriculum described for it. Students who transfer into plant Sciences from other colleges or programs must meet the same requirements as those entering the department as freshmen. The core courses for the Plant Sciences concentrations are:

Business Management Concentration: two courses in English composition (English 101 and 102 or equivalent); Mathematics 123 and 125; general chemistry (Chemistry 100-110 or 120-130 or equivalent); general botany (Botany 110 and 120 or equivalent); general accounting (Accounting 201 and 202 or equivalent); soil science (Environmental and Soil Sciences 210 or equivalent).

Horticulture and Agronomy Concentration: two courses in English composition (English 101 and 102 or equivalent); Mathematics 123 and 125 or Mathematics 151-152; general chemistry (Chemistry 100-110 or 120-130 or equivalent); general botany (Botany 110 and 120 or equivalent); soil science (Environmental and Soil Sciences 210 or equivalent); either Introduction to Ornamental Horticulture (Plant Sciences 110 or equivalent) or Introduction to Crop Science (Plant Sciences 235 or equivalent).

MEMORANDUM

TO: Undergraduate Council

FROM: Marian Moffett, Interim Associate Dean
College of Architecture and Design

RE: Curriculum changes in Architecture and Interior Design

Attached are proposals approved by the college faculty to modify curricula in architecture and interior design. All changes should be made effective Fall, 2004. In summary, these proposals are the following:

Architecture

1. Change options for Physics courses for architecture majors to Physics 161 alone and reflect this in showcase curriculum and course prerequisite for ARCH 232.
2. Change prerequisites for ARCH 342 to show that ARCH 341 and 342 need not be taken in numerical sequence.
3. Revise course descriptions for ARCH 211, ARCH 212. Revise course title and course description for ARCH 420.
4. Finally, correct existing Catalog Copy (page 212) for ARCH 401 and 402 to remove "Chemical Engineering" (typo) from the course description.

Additional change presented at Undergraduate Council Meeting (2/3/04): Add statement in catalog that Architecture majors are required to meet the University General Education Requirement.

Interior Design

Add a new course (ID 172) for majors and revise the showcase curriculum to reflect addition of this course to the first year. Space for the new course is made by removing an existing required course, ARCH 101.

Additional change presented at Undergraduate Council Meeting (2/3/04): Change Math 119 to Quantitative Reasoning Elective. Add statement in catalog that Interior Design majors are required to meet the University General Education Requirement.

COLLEGE OF ARCHITECTURE AND DESIGNSCHOOL OF ARCHITECTURE

REVISE REQUIREMENTS FOR THE BACHELOR OF ARCHITECTURE

On page 73 of the Undergraduate Catalog, revise the Second Year showcase curriculum to include only Physics 161 as an acceptable course in Physics.

Effective: Fall 2004

Supporting Information

- a. Rationale: Physics 161 has been created particularly for students in this college, and the course includes necessary background in statics and dynamics, heat, light, and electricity that students need as foundation for later coursework. No other one-semester physics course meets these criteria.
- b. Impact on other units: None. Physics is already offering this course for the college.

ADD CATALOG STATEMENT:

Although not reflected in the showcase, Architecture majors are required to meet the University General Education Requirement as stated in this catalog. Consult the office for updated information.

Effective: Fall 2004

Architecture (133)

ADD PREREQUISITE

232 Introduction to Architectural Technology (3) Prereq: Physics 161.

Effective: Fall 2004

Supporting Information

- a. Rationale: Physics 161 has been created particularly for students in this college, and the course includes necessary background in statics and dynamics, heat, light, and electricity that students need as foundation for later coursework. No other one-semester physics course meets these criteria.
- b. Impact on other units: None. Physics is already offering this course for the college.

REVISE PREREQUISITE

342 Environmental Control Systems II (4) Prereq: 231 and 232.

(Formerly: Prereq: 341.)

Effective: Fall 2004

Supporting Information

- a. Rationale: ARCH 341 and 342 may be taken in either order because the content of one does not depend on the other.
- b. Impact on other units: None.

REVISE COURSE DESCRIPTION

From

211 History and Theory of Architecture I (3) Architectural thought and ideas of building and community form. Ancient through High Renaissance in Italy, France and Spain.

To

211 History and Theory of Architecture I (3) Architecture and ideas of building and community form in major world cultures from the prehistoric era to about 1500 AD.

From

212 History and Theory of Architecture II (3) Architectural thought and ideas of building and community form. English Renaissance, late Renaissance in Italy, France and Spain through the mid-twentieth century. Prereq: 211.

To

212 History and Theory of Architecture II (3) Architecture and ideas of building and community form from 1500 AD to the mid-twentieth century. Prerequisite: 211.

Effective: Fall 2004

Supporting Information

- a. Rationale: Since the existing course descriptions were written, the course sequence has expanded to include non-western cultures and the pre-Columbian Americas, in response to changes in accreditation requirements.
- b. Impact on other units: None.

REVISE COURSE TITLE AND DESCRIPTION

From

420 American Architecture, 1840-1940 (3) Stylistic periods from the Gothic Revival through the Twentieth Century.

To

420 History of American Architecture (3) Consideration of architecture and city planning in the United States from the pre-Columbian period until the mid-twentieth century.

Effective: Fall 2004

Supporting Information

- a. Rationale: The existing catalogue description stems from a previous era, when there were two courses in American architectural history. With reduced faculty, there is now only one course. This revised title and description matches current practice.
- b. Impact on other units: None.

ADD CATALOG STATEMENT:

Although not reflected in the showcase, Architecture majors are required to meet the University General Education Requirement as stated in this catalog. Consult the office for updated information.

Effective: Fall 2004

INTERIOR DESIGN PROGRAM

Interior Design (582)

ADD

172 Introduction to Microenvironments (3) Human perceptions in micro-scale environments (residential, commercial, public spaces). Introduction to basic analytic and behavioral programming techniques. 3-hour studio. Open to interior design students only. Prereq: 171, Architecture 171, or consent of instructor.

Effective: Fall 2004

Supporting Information

- a. Rationale: Interior design students are currently introduced to principles of behavior and proxemics in ID 171 (Visual Studies) and ID 200 (Human-Environment Systems), but only in abstract terms (171) and in purely lecture format (200). A fourth year course, Proxemics (ID 400), offers students a hands-on opportunity in using scale models to understand how to elicit aspects of behavioral programming, but lacking an earlier "hands-on" approach in the curriculum, it is not as effective as it can be. This course will place a basic understanding firmly early in the curriculum, and will benefit all subsequent studio experiences.
- b. Impact on other academic units: none.

ADD CATALOG STATEMENT:

Although not reflected in the showcase, Interior Design majors are required to meet the University General Education Requirement as stated in this catalog. Consult the office for updated information.

Effective: Fall 2004

To

Architecture 121, 171, 172.....	9
Interior Design 141, 171, 172.....	8
Quantitative Reasoning Elective.....	3

Effective: Fall 2004

Supporting Information

- a. Rationale: Interior design students currently take 12 credits in architecture (4 courses) in the first year and only 5 credits in interior design (2 courses). While it is important that interior design students be exposed to the field of architecture, the current situation represents an imbalance and denies interior design students an adequate exposure to interior design field during their first year of study.
- b. Impact on other academic units: The School of Architecture would experience a reduction in enrollment for Arch 101 "Introduction to the Built Environment" by about 25 students.

ARTS AND SCIENCES ADVISING

MAJOR—COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

On p. 81 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog under required Major, INSERT a sentence after the fourth sentence.

To

A minimum grade of C must be earned in every course counted as part of the major. This grade requirement does not apply to prerequisites and corequisites unless the department has specific progression requirements.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: The addition of this sentence provides clarification regarding the requirement.
Impact on other academic units: none

REVISE INDIVIDUALIZED PROGRAM MAJOR

On page 82 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog under Individualized Program, REVISE the last two sentences in the second paragraph

To

The proposed courses of study must have some clear central purpose, usually implemented through intensive work in two or three departments; an undirected scattering of courses will not be approved. Students must submit their proposals for review by the Committee prior to the completion of 75 hours of coursework. For further information contact Arts and Sciences Advising Services.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: Change is needed to meet several concerns regarding the lengthy application and approval process for individualized programs.

Program for Prospective K-12 Teachers

Student planning careers in K-12 teaching must complete an Arts and Sciences major in a department, in one of the Interdisciplinary programs, or, if eligible, in the College Scholars Program. Prospective secondary teachers must fulfill the requirements of appropriate content majors; prospective elementary teachers may choose any major in the College of Arts and Sciences.

To be licensed for teaching, students must also gain formal admission to the Teacher Education Program in the College of Education, Health, and Human Sciences. The process involves successful completion of a series of requirements including presentation of satisfactory scores on certain tests, completing professional courses in the College of Education, Health, and Human Sciences, maintenance of a 2.7 or higher GPA, and completing a fifth year program emphasizing practical application. For details, see the College of Education, Health, and Human Sciences section of the Undergraduate Catalog and contact the Advising Center, Claxton Complex 332.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: There is no department overseeing the pre-teaching concentrations. The concentrations duplicate majors in other Arts and Sciences departments.

Impact on other academic units: minimal—most students do not select these concentrations, opting rather for traditional majors.

The following Arts and Sciences Advising changes do not affect the catalog—the changes are already in the catalog but need to be put in the Undergraduate Council Minutes.

Please include the following changes in the official record of the Undergraduate Council Minutes. The changes reported below currently appear in the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog on pages 82, 83 84, 85, and 86.

REVISE PRE-PHARMACY CONCENTRATION

Please include the following text and coursework for pre-pharmacy in the official record of the Undergraduate Council Minutes. The text below currently appears in the 2003 Undergraduate Catalog on pages 83 and 84.

Pre-Pharmacy Concentration

The College offers two programs preparing students for the study of pharmacy at UT Health Science Center, Memphis. The Doctor of Pharmacy (Pharm.D.) degree is conferred by the College of Pharmacy upon completion of four years of professional study at Memphis following either of the two programs. Bulletins describing the pre-pharmacy programs in detail may be obtained from Arts and Sciences Advising Services.

The three-year program leading to a Bachelor of Science degree and the four-year program leading to either a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree from The University of Tennessee, as well as to the professional degree in pharmacy from UT Health Science Center, Memphis, are based upon the program outlined below. In the three-year program, the student must complete at least 100 credit hours while enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences, and the Bachelor of Science degree is granted upon satisfactory completion of the first year of study in Memphis. In the four-year program the Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree is granted upon completion of 124 or more credit hours while enrolled in the college, including a major of 24 or more hours in addition to the courses outlined below. The requirement for a major is waived for those taking their fourth year at The University of Tennessee Health Science Center, Memphis. Students in either the three- or four-year program must complete the last 30 hours of credit in residence at The University of Tennessee before enrolling in the College of Pharmacy.

Completion of major program and BA/BS requirements, or completion of one year at UT Health Science Center in Memphis

Total 124 minimum

¹Biology 130 Biodiversity and 140 Organization and Function of the Cell are highly recommended as foundational courses for students interested in pursuing careers in pharmacy or other health professions. The concepts and material covered in these two courses provide the necessary background for standardized tests such as the PCAT. Pre-pharmacy students who have previously completed Biology 101 and 102 may substitute this sequence for Biology 130.

²Mathematics placement depends on high school courses and grades, ACT scores, and Bachelor of Arts/Bachelor of Science requirements. The College of Pharmacy requires one calculus course. Mathematics 125, 141, or 152 will fulfill this requirement. If a student is considering a major in a biological or physical science, he/she should consult an advisor on the selection of the appropriate Mathematics sequence.

³This requirement assumes a student has had enough language background in high school to begin an intermediate language sequence at The University of Tennessee.

⁴The College of Pharmacy requires a minimum of two courses in social science. This may include courses in economics, political science, psychology, and sociology. Bachelor of Arts students must complete a minimum of four courses from at least two areas; Bachelor of Science students must complete a minimum of two courses from at least two areas for the Social Science requirement for the College of Arts and Sciences.

⁵BA students must select one course from List A, one course from List B and one additional course from List A, B, or C. Bachelor of Science students must complete a minimum of two courses from the three lists under the humanities requirement; not more than one course may be taken from List C. The College of Pharmacy requires a minimum of 6 hours of humanities in addition to English 101-102. This may include courses in literature, foreign language, philosophy and history.

⁶Bachelor of Arts students must complete a minimum of two courses in one of the three areas and one course from one of the remaining two areas. Bachelor of Science students must complete a minimum of two courses in two of the three areas.

⁷Students considering a Bachelor of Science in Biological Sciences should complete Microbiology 310-319 for this requirement since Microbiology 210 will not fulfill a major requirement. Microbiology 310 has a prerequisite of Biology 140 and a corequisite of Biology 240.

REVISE PROGRESSION REQUIREMENTS

On Page 89 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, 2nd Column, Progression Requirements, REVISE

To

The following core courses must be completed before students can progress into the program as art majors and before further art classes may be taken:

Art 101; Art 103; Art History 162, 172, 173, or 183 (choose one)

Those applying will be admitted into the program in rank order of cumulative average as space allows. The overall record will be evaluated for quality and seriousness of purpose. Excessive absences, withdrawals, incompletes or repeated courses may result in denial of progression. Progression into the School of Art does not guarantee progression into a chosen concentration. Progression into a concentration will follow successful completion of a Concentration Portfolio Review.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: The 3.00 average requirement cut number of art majors more than anticipated. Change will allow School of Art to admit top students in freshman class into major.

Impact on other academic units: More entering freshmen will become art majors.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: College of Education, Health, and Human Sciences also allows the BA degree in Art for students pursuing licensure to teach K-12. The School of Art would like to recommend the B.F.A.

Impact on other academic units: The School's recommendation of the B.F. A. may impact the number of students who pursue the BA with licensure to teach Art Education.

DEPARTMENT OF COMPUTER SCIENCE

REVISE PROGRESSION STANDARDS

On Page 99 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, 1st Column, Progression Standards, REVISE

To

Progression Standards

Undergraduates are required to apply to the Computer Science Department for progression into the Computer Science major. Progression is based on demonstrated academic ability. The overall record will be evaluated for quality and seriousness of purpose.

The requirements are subject to change. Current requirements can be determined by consulting an advisor in the Undergraduate Programs Office or by contacting the Computer Science Department. Students are expected to apply during the semester in which they are completing the last of Computer Science 140, 160, and Math 141.

Recent Progression Standards

Students who have met the following criteria have been approved for progression into the major.

- Has completed Computer Science 140, 160, and Math 141 at the University of Tennessee with a GPA of 3.0 or better in these three courses and a grade of C or better in each course. Transfer students' course work will be evaluated individually.
- Has a GPA of 2.5 or better in all Computer Science courses taken at the University of Tennessee that apply to the major.
- Has not been disciplined for academic dishonesty in a Computer Science course or for abuse of university computing privileges.
- Has no excessive absences, withdrawals, or incompletes.

Students who meet the criteria must fill out an application available in the Computer Science Department. A student who does not meet progression requirements will not be allowed to take any upper division Computer Science course that can be applied to the major.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: Evolution of progression standards for CS major. This replaces CS102 with Math 141 (so that performance in Mathematics is demonstrated) and removes a constraint on repeating courses.

REVISE COMPUTER SCIENCE MAJOR

On Page 99 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, 2nd Column, Computer Science Major, REVISE

To

Majors in Computer Science should prepare their programs in consultation with an advisor in the Computer Science Department. A student is not permitted to declare a Computer Science major until the department's progression requirements have been met.

The major in Computer Science consists of 39 hours. Prerequisites to the major include Computer Science 102, 140, 160, and Math 141, 142, 241, 251, with a grade of C or better in each course; and a two-semester laboratory science (Physics 135-136 or biology or chemistry). The major consists of:

- Computer Science 302, 311, 360, 365, 380; and
- either Computer Science 340 or Computer Science 370; and
- Mathematics 300; and
- either English 355 or English 360; and
- either (i) an additional 15 hours of upper division Computer Science or (ii) an additional 12 hours of upper division Computer Science and either Mathematics 231 or Mathematics 323.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: Evolution and strengthening of Computer Science major.

The prerequisites to an undergraduate minor are Computer Science 140, 160, and Math 141 with a GPA of 3.0 or better in the three courses. The minor is 15 hours of upper division Computer Science courses. A grade of C or better is required in all Computer Science courses applied to the minor, and a GPA not less than 2.5 must be maintained in these courses.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: Strengthens requirements for CS minor and makes it more compatible with progression requirements.

REVISE GEOLOGY MAJOR; ADD PROGRESSION AND COREQUISITE REQUIREMENTS; REVISE CATALOG TEXT FOR HONORS CONCENTRATION; REVISE GEOLOGY MINOR

On Page 100 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, Geology Major, REVISE

To

Progression into the Major: To progress into the major, students must take 2 courses from Geology 101-102-103, as well as Chemistry 120-130. Chemistry 130 may be taken concurrently with 300-level geology courses.

Corequisite Requirements: Corequisite requirements include Mathematics 141-142, and 3 courses from Biology 130-140 and Physics 135-136.

Major Requirements: Upper-division requirements include Geology 310-320-330-340-370-380 (24 hours), a minimum of 5 hours of an approved field camp, and 9 elective hours at the 400-level or above. We encourage students to participate in undergraduate research (Geology 493). A maximum of 3 hours of Geology 493 may count towards the major.

Honors Concentration: Students with 5 completed upper-division Geology courses and a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0 are encouraged to pursue an honors concentration, which includes completion of 3 hours of Geology 491, 492, or 493 beyond the normal major requirements, approval of a written thesis, and oral presentation of thesis results. A GPA of at least 3.0 must be maintained throughout matriculation. Interested students should consult their academic advisor for details.

Minor: A minor in Geology consists of 2 courses from Geology 101-102-103, and an additional 16 hours at the 200-level or above. A maximum of 6 hours at the 200-level and 3 hours of Geology 493 may be counted toward the minor.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: Upon self-reflection and review of recent student pathways through the major, the conclusion was reached that required non-Geology science courses are largely corequisite courses rather than prerequisite courses. This change will keep overall departmental requirements the same, change prerequisites to a combination of progression requirements and corequisites, and provide students with a more realistic view of the Geology major.

Periodic field trips or laboratories. Prereq: Biology 250 or equivalent.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: The course reflects a primary interest of new faculty members and will provide much-needed content on species, community, and ecosystem processes, as well as augment departmental emphasis on field-oriented, experiential courses. It will help attract high-quality undergraduate and graduate students in organismal biology and ecology.

Rationale: Since specialty courses offered on an irregular basis under the special topics number do not overlap in the material covered students are encouraged to take as many of the offerings as they might be interested in as long as the topic differs. Omission of the repetition statement in the original course description was an oversight.

DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH

English (339)

ADD AND CROSS-LIST

321 Introduction to Old English (3) Language and literature of England from c. 700 to c. 1100. Reading of prose works and shorter poetry in Old English. Cultural context of Anglo-Saxon England explored through critical essays, histories, and primary texts in translation. Focus on manuscript evidence and medieval and modern textual practices. Writing-emphasis course. (Same as Linguistics 321)

Primary course is English 321.

(Add to Upper Level Distribution, Foreign Study, Europe)

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: Contemporary Old English studies combines a respect for rigor and detail with an openness to new methods and theories and trains students to look closely at details of language, grammar, and sound, and to appreciate the history behind an edited text. Reading early medieval literature helps students form a broader perspective on literary history and keeps them aware of the complexity of the idea of origins, whether linguistic, historical, cultural, or curricular.
Impact on other academic units: Will be cross-listed with Linguistics.

ADD

423 Colonial and Postcolonial Literature (3) Emphasis on historical and theoretical methodologies for reading colonial and postcolonial literature. May be repeated once with instructor's consent.

Geography 131 and 132, and 101 or 102, are prerequisites to the major, which consists of 27 hours as follows Geography 310 and 499; either 320, 421, or 423; either 340 or 351; one course from among 410, 411, 412, 413 or 415; one course from among 361, 363, 365, 371, 372, 373, 375, or 379; and 9 additional credits, at least 6 of which must be taken at the 400 level. No more than 3 hours of Geography 490 may be counted toward the major.

Students who enter the major with more than 60 hours of credit, and who have completed a laboratory science sequence other than Geography, may petition the department to substitute certain upper division physical geography courses for 131 and/or 132. Students who enter the major with more than 60 hours of credit, and who have met the social science divisional requirements in departments other than Geography, may petition the department to substitute certain upper division human geography courses for 101 or 102.

REVISE MATHEMATICS MAJOR

On Page 108 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, 2nd Column, Mathematics Major, 3rd Paragraph, REVISE

To

Major requirements consist of 37 semester hours of mathematics courses including (1) Mathematics 231, 241 (or 247), 251 (257), 300; and (2) eight additional courses at the 300-400 level (except 399, 400, 401, 405, 411, 490 and 497) satisfying the following conditions:

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: This adds the new undergraduate honors seminar to the list of courses that cannot be used to fill upper division credits required for the major. The course is not appropriate for such credit, which should be earned in standard mathematics courses.

Impact on other academic units: None

REVISE MATHEMATICS HONORS REQUIREMENTS

On Page 109 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, 2nd Column, DELETE the Section Titled Honors Concentration and REPLACE with the following:Honors Program

The mathematics department honors program offers highly talented students an accelerated curricular path that permits them to enroll in graduate-level mathematics courses as early as the junior year, making them highly competitive for graduate fellowships upon completion of a BS degree. In addition to a more rapid curriculum, the honors program offers enhanced academic advising and opportunities for students to interact with their peers through the Undergraduate Honors Seminar (Math 497), in which honors students will discuss their theses and other undergraduate research projects.

Students who are interested in participating in the departmental honors program are urged to enroll in Math 300 as soon as possible. Students who have completed Math 300 may apply to the mathematics undergraduate office for admission into the program, no later than the end of the junior year. Admission is based on recommendation of two University of Tennessee mathematics faculty, including the student's teacher in Math 300 or an upper division mathematics honors course. Students are normally expected to be in the top 20% among Math 300 students to be admitted to the honors program. Those who are not admitted based on performance in Math 300 but who do exceptionally well in an upper division mathematics honors course may also be admitted. Membership in the University Honors Program is not required, nor does such membership guarantee admission into the departmental honors program.

Honors students must meet stronger requirements. Specifically, honors students must meet all the requirements for a BS in mathematics, but must also enroll in at least four hours of Math 497 and take two upper division mathematics sequences (instead of one), one of which must be an honors sequence. Honors students must also maintain a 3.4 cumulative GPA in all upper division math courses and write a thesis (normally while enrolled in Math 497) that must be approved by an honors thesis committee. The honors category upon graduation is determined as follows, based on the GPA of all upper division math courses: GPA at least 3.4—Honors; GPA at least 3.6—High Honors; GPA at least 3.8—Highest Honors.

With careful planning, some highly motivated students can earn both a BS in mathematics and an MS in mathematics (or certain closely related areas) in five years. Students who are interested in attempting this path should speak with an advisor in the mathematics department.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: The department has decided to enhance its honors program to make the major more attractive to talented undergraduates and help with recruiting high school students. The new program also supports university efforts to improve honors education at UT.

Impact on other academic units: Management and statistics are working on developing 5th year M.S. programs in conjunction with a math honors B.S.

ADD

497 Undergraduate Honors Seminar (2) Open to students in the mathematics department undergraduate honors program. Forum for presentation of student theses and other undergraduate research projects. May be repeated up to four times. Satisfactory/No Credit grading only.

Impact on other academic units: Other departments will benefit if students choose to have a second major in mathematics.

341 Judicial Process (3) Courts as components of political systems, and public policy making through judicial decision making. (Same as Legal Studies 341.)

Primary course is Political Science 341.

Effective: Fall 2004

Impact on other academic units: Cross-listed with Legal Studies.

ADD

425 Media and Politics (3) Examines the interrelationship between the political system and the media from a political science perspective.

Effective: Fall 2004

DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY

REVISE CATALOG TEXT

On Page 126 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, 1st Column, 1st Paragraph Under Sociology, REVISE

To

The undergraduate program curriculum emphasizes the theme of Social Justice. Through coursework in the interest areas of criminal justice, political economy, social psychology and environmental issues and globalization, students develop an understanding of everyday social behavior as well as the structural factors that contribute to inequalities across various status hierarchies such as race, ethnicity, class, gender, age and lifestyle. Students also acquire an awareness of the competing perspectives that exist within societies, the ability to critically analyze social trends, and the tools to evaluate social policies.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: This is consonant with the recommendation of the external review to strengthen preparation of majors and reduce disproportionate emphasis on service to the college.

Impact on other academic units: None

REVISE PREREQUISITES FOR SOCIOLOGY MAJOR

On Page 126 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, 1st Column, Sociology Major, REVISE

To

Before applying to the Sociology Department for admission to the major a student must complete either Sociology 110 or 120 or their Honors equivalent with a grade of C+ or above. Upon granting admission to the major, the department will assign the student an academic advisor who will help the student plan a program of study for the major. Prerequisites to the major are three lower-division hours in Sociology (either 110 or 120 or their Honors equivalent) and Statistics 201. The major consists of 27 upper-division hours in sociology and must include 321 and 331 and at least two 400-level courses.

Effective: Fall 2004

REVISE PREREQUISITES FOR SOCIOLOGY MINOR

On Page 126 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, 1st Column, Minor in Sociology, REVISE

To

The minor consists of 15 upper-division hours in Sociology and must include 321 and 331. Prerequisites to the minor are three lower-division hours in Sociology (either 110 or 120 or their honors equivalent) and Statistics 201.

Effective: Fall 2004

REVISE PREREQUISITE FOR SOCIOLOGY MINOR WITH CONCENTRATION IN ENVIRONMENTAL ISSUES AND GLOBALIZATION

On Page 126 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, 2nd Column, Minor in Sociology with Concentration in Environmental Issues and Globalization, REVISE

The minor consists of 15 hours including Sociology 321, 331, 360 and two courses from 344, 442, 446 and 465. Prerequisite to the minor is either Sociology 110 or 120 and Statistics 201.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: The above changes add Statistics to the major and minors. Knowledge of introductory statistics is increasingly important in conducting research, using statistical software packages and interpreting output and reading the professional literature.

Impact on other academic units: Increase of one section per year of Statistics 201 may be required.

Memorandum

Date: December 12, 2003

To: The University of Tennessee Undergraduate Council

From: Jan R. Williams, Dean

Re: Undergraduate Curricular Changes – College of Business Administration

The attached curricular proposals have been approved by the faculty of the College of Business Administration and are submitted to the Undergraduate Council for consideration.

The following is a summary of these proposals:

1. Change the department names of Accounting and Business Law (to Accounting and Information Management), Marketing, Logistics and Transportation (to Marketing and Logistics), and Statistics (to Statistics, Operations and Management Science)
2. Change the Logistics and Transportation major, collateral, and dual concentration to Logistics, and drop all Logistics and Transportation courses and add courses under the new academic discipline (Logistics) to reflect the evolution of logistics as a discipline wherein transportation is a component of the logistics field
3. Adopt a residency requirement for major coursework
4. Adopt the university's new General Education requirements, including a reduction in the number of hours required to obtain a degree
5. Change the Ethics requirement to a choice of either Philosophy 342 or 344
6. Apply the new common Decision Analysis collateral, Information Management collateral, and Information Management dual concentration offered by the Accounting department to departments who opted to change or add

7. Update the International Business collateral and dual concentration to reflect the prerequisite of Business Administration 361 for all international business courses
8. Update the Business Studies degree requirements to include the human resource development discipline
9. Add Finance 492 and 495, revise Finance 493, 455, and 485, and add Finance 495 to list of Finance electives
10. Revise Management courses and Operations Management collaterals and dual concentrations to reflect the move of the Operations and Management Science faculty to the newly formed department of Statistics, Operations and Management Science (Drop Management 341, 410, 441, revise 471. Add Operations and Management Science 341, 410, 441.)
11. Additional course changes:
 - Information Management – drop 351, add 443
 - Business Administration – revise 400
 - Economics – add 329, revise 321

COLLEGE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATIONI. RESIDENCY REQUIREMENT FOR MAJOR COURSEWORK

College of Business Administration students are required to take 18 of the 24 major hours (75 percent) in residence at The University of Tennessee. This 24-hour major requirement includes all major, collateral, and/or dual concentration coursework.

EFFECTIVE DATE: FALL 2004

Supporting Information:

Rationale: To create a policy governing the number of hours in the major students must take in residence at the University of Tennessee. A review of policies of the college's peer, competitive, and aspirational institutions indicates that most business colleges require the majority, if not all, of the major coursework to be taken at the host institution.

Impact on other academic units: None.

II. GENERAL EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS

All General Education changes are reflected in the four-year plans for each program.

Cultures and Civilizations (3 courses): require two foreign language courses at the intermediate level (6 hours) and one other cultures and civilizations course from the university-prescribed list (3 hours)

Social Sciences (2 courses): first course: choose one course from the university-prescribed list (3 hours); second course: allow Economics 201 (4 hours) to satisfy both the general education "social sciences" requirement and the college's pre-business core requirement

General Education Electives: increase by 2 hours

Degree Requirements: reduce the number of hours required for a degree from 126 to 122

EFFECTIVE DATE: FALL 2004

Supporting Information:

Rationale: To adopt the university's new general education requirements, to provide flexibility, and to reduce the number of hours required for a degree.

Impact on other academic units: None.

Ethics (1 course)

From

Ethics: One course from Philosophy 242, 342, or 344.

To

Ethics: One course from Philosophy 342 or 344.

EFFECTIVE DATE: FALL 2004

Supporting Information:

Rationale: Philosophy is shifting teaching capacity from Philosophy 242 to Philosophy 342.

Impact on other academic units: None.

III. ACCOUNTING AND INFORMATION MANAGEMENT (SEE XIII FOR 4-YEAR SCHEDULES)INFORMATIONAL ITEM – CHANGE OF DEPARTMENTAL NAME

The name of the Department of Accounting and Business Law will change to the Department of Accounting and Information Management. The approval paperwork is in progress, and we anticipate that this change will be approved.

EFFECTIVE DATE: FALL 2004

Supporting Information:

Rationale: The faculty composition, course offerings, and missions have evolved such that information management is central to its academic identity. This evolution reflects the changing nature of the profession, the integration of accounting and information management, and the college's need for an information management curriculum.

Impact on other academic units: None.

Information Management (558)

DROP

351 Object-Oriented Programming (3) Fundamentals of object-oriented programming languages. Topics include object oriented systems design and development, data and file structures, and algorithms. Prereq: 341.

ADD

443 Business Applications and Tools (3) Advanced tools associated with spreadsheets and databases, including the creation of objects, macros (using Visual Basic algorithms), pivot tables, and array formulas for use in the design and development of object-oriented applications. This course is required for the IM collateral or concentration. Prereq: 341.

EFFECTIVE DATE: FALL 2004

Supporting Information:

Rationale: This is a revision since the content of the course is being reclassified as a capstone course for the Information Management collateral and dual concentration, rather than gateway course. (Further, IM 351 has never been offered.) Course content includes not only "programming" but also use of advanced applications and tools, which will mostly be "object oriented" from a user perspective.

Impact on other academic units: None.

REVISE COURSE TITLE, DESCRIPTION, AND PREREQUISITE

From

442 e-Business (3) Internet technologies currently being used for implementation and control of e-businesses; security issues created by these technologies; the behavioral and organizational challenges being faced by firms who are integrating these technologies; and the impact of these Internet technologies on emerging business models. Comparison of traditional business models with e-Business models. Web application development using current web development tools requires programming skills. Prereq: 351.

To

442 e-Enterprise (3) Introduction to Internet enabled business processes that connect buyers, suppliers, and trading partners in dynamic, real-time information sharing partnerships. The course discusses and illustrates how the complete value chain, from procurement of raw materials on the supply side to consumer retailing and customer management on the demand side, is integrated and made potentially more efficient. ⁴Cultures and Civilizations: Intermediate Foreign Language – Students may complete this requirement in one of three ways - 1) Complete the intermediate sequence of a foreign language from Arabic (Asian Studies) 221-222; Chinese 231-232; French 211-212 (Honors 217-218); German 201-202; Greek (Classics) 261-264; Hebrew (Asian Studies) 241-242; Italian 211-212; Japanese 251-252; Latin (Classics) 251-252; Persian (Asian Studies) 261-262; Portuguese 211-212; Russian 201-202; Spanish 211-212 (Honors 217-218). Progression Requirements

Entering and transfer students are first associated with the College as pre-majors. They may progress to a major in Communication Studies, Electronic Media, or Journalism after completing at least 30 hours of coursework, including the College gateway course (CCI 150), with a minimum 2.5 cumulative GPA.

Entering students and students from other UT colleges may be considered for progression into the major in Advertising, with or without a concentration in Public Relations, after completing the first-year curriculum in Advertising and Public Relations with a minimum 2.75 cumulative GPA in these courses. Transfer students must complete the first-year curriculum and earn a minimum of 15 credit hours at The University of Tennessee with a 2.75 cumulative GPA. All applicants must submit a completed school application, statement of career goals, and academic history.

At the completion of 45 hours, undecided students must be affiliated with the College as pre-majors or majors. Communication and Information pre-majors must be accepted into a major upon completion of 60 hours or 12 hours of College of Communication and Information credit. Until students progress to a major, they may not enroll in courses numbered 300 or above without approval. (See University of Tennessee, Knoxville, policy on University Students under Academic Policies and Procedures.)

Effective: Fall 2004

RATIONALE: To bring College requirements into compliance with University policy.

SCHOOL OF COMMUNICATION STUDIES

REVISE HONORS PROGRAM IN COMMUNICATION STUDIES

On page 150, column 1 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, REVISE

To

The School of Communication Studies offers an Honors program that provides an intense educational experience by challenging superior participating students. All students must complete the College prerequisite course, Communication and Information 150, Communication Studies 207; 210 or 240; 250 or 270; 340 and 350. After completing these required courses with a cumulative GPA of 3.5, students are eligible to apply for admission to the Communication Studies Honors Program. Application forms are available in the School office, 293 Communications Building, and may be downloaded at <http://excellent.comm.utk.edu/~speech/undergraduate.html>.

Upon acceptance into the program, students are required to complete the following:

- Communication Studies 407 (9 hours to include three of four topics: health communication, interpersonal communication, organizational and team communication, public communication)
- Communication Studies 497, 498 (3, 3)
- Communication Studies 499 (3)

To graduate with Honors, students must maintain a 3.5 cumulative GPA in all courses in the major and a 3.25 cumulative GPA in all University courses.

Effective: Fall 2004

RATIONALE: These changes reflect the name and course numbering changes made within the unit as well as the addition of gateway course created for the College. They also reflect a clearer sense of exactly what coursework is required for an honors student.

Communication Studies (250)

Note: Academic Discipline was changed from Speech Communication to Communication Studies (page U285 – April 23, 2003 Undergraduate Council Minutes): Effective Fall 2004. Speech Communication courses dropped and added under Communication Studies academic discipline.

ADD

271-272 Intercollegiate Forensics (1,1) For students actively participating in intercollegiate debate. May be repeated for credit (maximum 4 hours). Consent of instructor required.

371-372 Intercollegiate Forensics (1,1) For students actively participating in intercollegiate debate. May be repeated for credit (maximum 4 hours). Consent of instructor required.

RATIONALE: Courses were dropped from the curriculum when the debate program was discontinued. Students active in debate through four undergraduate years could accumulate eight hours of credit in 271-72 and 371-72. That credit would recognize their substantial academic work in the program and would provide a mild incentive to participate.

407 Honors Seminar (3) In-depth survey of communication research topics. Topics rotate among health, interpersonal, organizational and team, and public communication. Open only to students currently enrolled in the honors program. May be repeated up to 12 hours.

RATIONALE: Enhances offering of Communication Studies Honors.

455 Political Persuasion (3) Study of the communication processes utilized by political candidates, office holders, and social movement organizers.

RATIONALE: We have been consistently offering this course as a special topics course and student interest has been increasing. Many of our majors are interested in law and politics and this gives them access into that arena at our specialized 400 level. Additionally, this is a course that may be of interest to others in the College and certainly appeals to political science majors (another opportunity for us to create interdisciplinary alliances on campus).

Effective date for the above course additions: Fall 2004

DROP

230 Listening (3)

280 Introduction to Oral Interpretation (3)

390 History of Rhetorical Theory (3)

Effective: Fall 2004

RATIONALE: These courses are not offered regularly and will be offered occasionally as special topics courses as the demand warrants. Deleting them from the catalog better represents what students interested in communication studies can actually study.

Re: Undergraduate Curricular Items

The following curricular items were approved by the College of Education, Health, and Human Sciences' Curricular Review Committee and are recommended to the Undergraduate Council for approval.

Each of the College's six departments that offer undergraduate degree programs has submitted at least one curricular proposal. All of these departments have responded to the call to incorporate the University's new General Education requirements and to reduce the total hours for the degrees to 120 credits, although one of these departments has one concentration remaining to submit. A number of these six departments are submitting changes that are intended to clarify or to otherwise adjust curricular materials that were approved a year ago when the former colleges of Human Ecology and Education merged.

In addition to the above "common to all" department proposals, the following proposed changes are specific to departments as indicated:

Human Ecology (academic discipline): Drop 410

Child and Family Studies Department

Collapse of the Child Development Major and the Family Studies Major into a single major (i.e., Child and Family Studies). Drop Child Development and Family Studies minors. Rationale: The proposed changes achieve an integrated curriculum, which was needed to reflect faculty philosophy of the interdependence of child and family studies, to reduce the number of course offerings and simplify the curriculum, to establish consistent academic standards for all departmental students, to make better and more efficient use of resources—both faculty and financial, and to reduce costs.

Child and Family Studies courses: Revise 102, 211, 213, 320, 405, 470, 480, 481. Drop 110, 205, 351, 420, 430, 450, 451, 455. Add 101, 105, 106, 395, 490.

Consumer Services Management Department

Change in major designation from Hotel and Restaurant Administration to Hotel, Restaurant, and Tourism. Rationale: Tourism consists of five major industries: food service, lodging, entertainment/activities, travel, and retail. The Consumer Service Management department directly instructs in three of the five and indirectly teaches in the other two. It is a natural and logical extension of the scope of the program to include how the five factors combine to create the tourism industry.

Drop Hotel and Restaurant Administration academic discipline and courses. Add new Academic discipline (Hotel, Restaurant, and Tourism) and courses.

Retail and Consumer Sciences courses: Revise 102, 119, 310, 311, 346, 360, 376, 390, 411, 412, 415, 421, 425. Drop 312, 350.

Educational Psychology and Counseling Department

The department is dropping four Human Services courses (330, 380, 390, 420) and adding one Counselor Education course (380).

Health and Exercise Science Department

The Exercise Science faculty are proposing changes in the “no course grade less than a C” and “minimum 2.5 GPA” provisions of the progression statement to include all Exercise Science courses.

Courses: Revise Exercise Science 422; Health 426; Public Health 305.

Nutrition Department

The department is revising Nutrition 102 and dropping Nutrition 312.

Sport and Leisure Studies Department

The Sport Management faculty are proposing minor changes in the wording of their progression statement. The degree for the Recreation and Leisure Studies major is changing from B.S. in Human Ecology to B.S. in Education. The Service Management concentration is changing to Recreation and Leisure.

Recreation and Leisure Studies courses: Revise 201, 290, 390, 410, 430, 490.

Sport Studies courses: Revise 231. Drop 291, 321, 372, 405. Add 335, 336.

Sport Management courses: Add 360.

Physical Education courses: Add 237, 262.

Additional changes presented at the Undergraduate Council Meeting (2/3/04):

Recreation and Leisure Studies Major –Therapeutic Recreation

Concentration – revise showcase to delete Human Ecology 410 and reduce total hours. Add statement: Although not reflected in the showcase, students are required to meet the University General Education Requirement.

Recreation and Leisure Studies Major – Recreation and Leisure

Administration Concentration – revise showcase to remove Elective (3) in Freshman year and replace it with Retail and Consumer Sciences 102 (3). Delete footnote 2; change footnote 3 to 2; change footnote 4 to 3. Revise footnote 1 to indicate that the English Elective must be a Communicating through Writing (WC) course.

Theory and Practice in Teacher Education

The Art Education faculty are proposing to extend eligibility for entry into the Art Education major to include B.A. students in Studio Art, as well as B.F.A. students in Studio Art. This proposal merely institutionalizes a practice that has been commonplace for a number of years and, thus, is not expected to have a financial impact.

In an effort to streamline its curricular offerings, the Theory and Practice in Teacher Education Department is dropping its Early Childhood Education course subject area and moving those courses to the course subject area of either Special Education or Elementary Education.

Department of CHILD AND FAMILY STUDIES

The Department of Child and Family Studies prepares students to be effective family members as well as competent professionals with the knowledge and skills to help children, youth, and families face the difficult challenges of today's complex society. As a professional, a graduate of the Department understands the variety of contexts that impact children and families. Students are particularly prepared to work with children, youth, and families at risk, and to be sensitive to the many forms of diversity that characterize today's families.

Students in the department complete an integrated curriculum that includes human and child development, family dynamics and interaction patterns, research skills, and interpersonal and professional skills needed in the workplace. The major course of study concludes with a field-based experience that enables students to hone practical skills and knowledge in a work setting consistent with their personal and professional goals. Core coursework is complemented with a range of elective options that will give students a broad, general education as well as specialized knowledge in areas of their choosing.

Graduates of the Department are prepared to work with individuals and groups from diverse backgrounds and in diverse settings: in schools as early childhood educators, with agencies providing services to children and families, and with for-profit businesses. Many students continue their education with graduate study in a number of different fields (e.g., Child and Family Studies, Education, Counseling, Psychology, Ministry, Social Work, Law).

CHILD AND FAMILY STUDIES MAJOR

The Department's major is designed for students whose educational and career goals are focused on studying and working with children and families within educational programs, community services, and other professional settings. The major is designed to accommodate the special interests or strengths of students and allows for flexibility and individualization. Students design a program of study in consultation with their advisor that includes a core of required courses, a complement of specialty courses supportive of individual interests, and a 12-hour practicum that will complete their program of study. All students graduating with a Child and Family Studies major will have in-depth knowledge about children and families, a broad integrative perspective, and means for application.

In consultation with their faculty advisor, students will select at least 27 credit hours from the list of courses meeting departmental requirements for specialty areas. Students must complete a total of three specialty areas of 9 credit hours each. (Students electing to pursue the Early Childhood Education Teacher Licensure specialty area will take a total of 34 credit hours in this specialty area plus an additional 3 credit hours from their Advanced Social Science electives.) Students wishing to emphasize the Advanced Child Development specialty area may satisfy two of their three specialty areas by taking 18 credit hours in that area. A course may be counted in one specialty area only and may not be used to fulfill any other elective requirement.

Progression Requirements—Child and Family Studies Major

Students are expected to know the criteria they must meet in order to progress into a practicum (Child and Family Studies 470, Child and Family Studies 480, or Child and Family Studies 490) and to regularly monitor their progress in meeting these criteria. Students will not be allowed to progress into the practicum until these criteria are met. If students do not appear able to meet these criteria, they are encouraged to work closely with their advisor to plan an alternative educational program. Specific information on how to apply for the practicum is available from the student's advisor. Students must work closely with their advisor to ensure that they understand the requirements for progression and that they strictly follow the application process for the practicum experience of their choice.

Prior to the practicum:

1. Obtain written permission from the academic advisor to apply for the practicum and complete the application one year prior to the intended practicum semester.
2. Complete the self-disclosure forms allowing university personnel to obtain student conduct and criminal background information one year prior to the intended practicum semester. The Department's Undergraduate Committee will evaluate any negative background check.

Prerequisites for the practicum:

1. Completion of at least 90 hours (senior standing).
2. Completion of all Child and Family Studies core courses.
3. A cumulative GPA of at least 2.5 (A cumulative GPA of at least 2.7, including transfer credits, is required for students electing the Child and Family Studies 470 practicum option).
4. A minimum grade of "C" in all Child and Family Studies courses.

Certified Family Life Educator

Students interested in applying for certification as a Family Life Educator through the National Council on Family Relations must complete 5 courses from the Family Life Education specialty area: Child and Family Studies 240, 345, 360, 440, and Counselor Education 380. These courses are in addition to the Child and Family Studies core courses. Contact your advisor for specific information about becoming a Certified Family Life Educator through the Department's approved program of study.

Early Childhood Education Teacher Licensure

Students interested in meeting the requirements for Early Childhood Education Licensure (Pre-K—grade 4) in the State of Tennessee are encouraged to determine their interest in licensure very early in their college careers and to seek appropriate advising. Teacher licensure is granted upon successful completion of the fifth year internship (Professional year). Additional hours may be taken to complete the Master's degree. A separate application to the Graduate College and to the Child and Family Studies Department is required for admission to the Master's program. Students must be accepted into the Department's graduate program to pursue the Master's degree. For details, contact the College of Education, Health, and Human Sciences Advising Center or the Child and Family Studies Department.

Minor in Child and Family Studies

A minor in Child and Family Studies requires 18 credit hours: Child and Family Studies 210 (3), Child and Family Studies 220 (3) and either Child and Family Studies 211 (3), Child and Family Studies 213 (3), or Child and Family Studies 320 (3) plus 9 additional hours selected from Child and Family Studies 211 (3), Child and Family Studies 213 (3), Child and Family Studies 312 (3), Child and Family Studies 320 (3), Child and Family Studies 345 (3), Child and Family Studies 360 (3), or Child and Family Studies 440 (3).

420 Family Diversity (3) (Same as African and African-American Studies 420.)

Primary course is Child and Family Studies 420.

430 Family Communication (3) (Same as Communication Studies 430.)

*Primary course is Child and Family Studies 430.
Communication Studies is retaining the course. See College of Communication and Information curricular material.*

450 Assessment in Early Childhood Programs (3)

451 Early Childhood Education III: Including Exceptional Children (3)455 Children and Stress (3)*Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: The proposed changes achieve an integrated curriculum, which was needed to reflect faculty philosophy of the interdependence of child and family studies, to reduce the number of course offerings and simplify the curriculum, to establish consistent academic standards for all departmental students, to make better and more efficient use of resources—both faculty and financial, and to reduce costs.

Impact on other units: Two of the deleted classes (below) are cross-listed: Child and Family Studies 420 is cross-listed as African and African-American Studies 420 and Child and Family Studies 430 is cross-listed as Communication Studies 430. The heads of the respective programs have been informed that Child and Family Studies intends to delete these classes from its curriculum. The Child and Family Studies department will continue to provide the service classes—Child and Family Studies 210, 220, and 240—that it currently offers to rest of the University community. A Child and Family Studies minor is offered for students who want some exposure to the Child and Family Studies subject area. In addition, non-Child and Family Studies students may take upper division Child and Family Studies classes by securing the consent of the instructor.

Financial Impact: The reduction in the number of courses and a decrease in the frequency of some course offering will result in a decreased need for non-tenure track faculty, resulting in a cost savings. Child and Family Studies core courses offered in the department as well as Child and Family Studies elective classes can be taught with existing faculty positions as part of their normal teaching load.

ADD

101 Introduction to Child and Family Studies (2) Orientation to the Child and Family Studies Department, including requirements for the major, introduction to the faculty and their work, exposure to professional organizations, and learning about potential career possibilities. Includes observations.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: Provide common introduction and orientation to the dept. Provides means for non-major students to learn about the dept and major before becoming committed to it.

Impact on Other Units: Unique to Child and Family Studies. No impact.

Format: Regular classroom experience (on-campus, lectures, presentations, discussion, etc.). Will include school and agency observations.

Financial Impact: None. Current faculty will be assigned to the course as part of their regular load.

105 Introduction to ECE: Seminar I (1) The initial seminar designed to introduce students to the field of early childhood education (ECE). Includes children's development and behavior; integration of developmental characteristics into curriculum development; introductory experience with classroom observations; readings, observations, colloquy, and exposure to a broad spectrum of professionals in ECE.

106 Introduction to ECE: Seminar II (2) The second seminar designed to introduce students to the field of early childhood education (ECE). Includes history of ECE programs, practices, and policies; application of developmental theory to classroom methods; professional issues including ethics, career development, and building support networks; current ECE issues and research; impact of family, schools, and community on children's learning; readings, observations, colloquy, and exposure to a broad spectrum of professionals in ECE. Prereq: completion of 105.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: Introduces students to early childhood education through a two-course sequence which will enable students to retain information more fully and develop relationships with faculty and peers. A second need addressed by this addition is the creation of a cohort of ECE interested students within the Department of Child and Family Studies.

Impact on Other Units: None

Format: Regular classroom experience (on-campus, lectures, presentations, discussion, etc.).

Financial Impact: None. Current faculty will teach as part of their load.

395 Introduction to Research Methods and Statistics (3) Basic research methods and statistics for child/human development, family studies, early childhood education, and related fields; sampling, measurement, design, data analysis; quantitative and qualitative methods; natural and contrived settings; principles for understanding research that impact children and families. Prereq: 101, 210 and 220.

490 Practicum: Research (12) A supervised research experience with emphasis on the identification and examination of key aspects of research methods: constructs, research questions and hypotheses, research design, measurement, and analysis. Prereq: completion of all progression requirements for the internship.

COMMUNITY HEALTH EDUCATION

The Community Health Education program prepares students to work in a variety of settings that focus on health promotion and disease prevention among individuals, families, and their communities. Toward this end, the Program includes traditional classroom experiences as well as community experiences, both of which revolve around a socio ecological perspective of health promotion. This perspective assists students in developing an ability to foster voluntary change in health behavior through a combination of educational, political, and social interventions. The Program is designed to prepare entry-level health education specialists. Typical employment settings include local health departments, voluntary health agencies and worksites.

³ Students must meet the General Education requirement for Communicating through Writing by selecting a course with a "WC" designation. This course may be in the major or from another discipline.

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: The above changes are proposed to increase the likelihood of completing the program in four years. It has become increasingly difficult to schedule multiple prerequisites when many courses are being offered at reduced frequency. While not undermining the integrity of the program, these changes will increase students' options and reduce dependence on other department course offerings, comply with new general education requirements and reduce total program hours from 126 to 120.

Impact on other units: Dr. Conrad Plaut from the Math Department has confirmed that their department approves the request to add Math 110 to the curriculum and indicates they will have no difficulty handling the extra 10-12 students it will generate in their course.

Financial Impact: None.

REVISE INTRODUCTORY CATALOG TEXT

To

The professional disciplines that comprise Recreation and Leisure Studies prepare students for management and administrative positions in recreation, leisure and sport enterprises. The Administration concentration provides students with an understanding of the role and impact of recreation and leisure in achieving and sustaining socioeconomic and political order in an increasingly culturally diverse society. A business minor is built into the curriculum, which makes graduates more competitive in the job market. Graduates of the program pursue careers with city/county parks and recreation departments, state and national parks, resorts and theme parks, professional and collegiate athletics, campus recreation and a variety of corporate settings.

The Therapeutic Recreation concentration prepares students for employment in management and leadership positions with agencies that deliver health care services. Graduates fulfill the eligibility requirements for National Council for Therapeutic Recreation Certification. Graduates are successful in securing employment in programs for mental health and mental retardation, physical rehab centers, drug and alcohol treatment centers and community-based programs.

DEPARTMENT OF THEORY AND PRACTICE IN TEACHER EDUCATION

REVISE ART EDUCATION MAJOR

On page 167, under the heading Art Education Major, the information should be changed to read: "Students seeking licensure to teach art in the schools pursue the Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree in Studio Art or the Bachelor of Arts Degree with a Major in Studio Art in the College of Arts and Sciences, and will complete a major in Art Education at the undergraduate level. The undergraduate major...."

Effective: Fall 2004

Rationale: This is needed to officially accept an alternative way to major in art education. Typically, art education students major in fine arts (BFA) and major in art education for their undergraduate work. Occasionally, some students are not accepted into the concentration areas required for a BFA, and decide that waiting an additional semester to reapply to the concentration area is not feasible. Some students are interested in the academic education (foreign language, humanities, etc.) that a BA Major in Studio Art offers, and/or are not as interested in having an area of concentration in art. The BA in Studio Art is an alternative way to go forward in art without acceptance into a concentration area. By adding "or the Bachelor of Arts Degree with a Major in Studio Art", the proposed change allows a student to receive a double major in art studio and art education, which (although not the norm) is already practiced on an individual basis. The School of Art and the art education area both recommend pursuing the BFA, but recognize the need for an alternative.

Impact on other units: The revision may have a small impact on the foreign language, and humanities areas, but from my current listing of students pursuing a BA with a Major in Studio Art, five students would have a negligible impact. It also may decrease the enrollment of advanced art studio concentration classes, but since the majority of interested art education majors pursue the BFA in Studio Art, the impact is once again negligible.

Financial Impact: It is doubtful that this revision will cause more students to choose art education as a major because most students in the School of Art that choose studio art decide to pursue a BFA. The BFA in Studio Art is an in-depth study of fine art, while the BA with a Major in Studio Art studies in-breath art and related academics. I do not think that these two approaches affect a students' interest in majoring in art education. The only possible impact I foresee in the art education area is that some students may complete coursework and be ready to intern at an earlier date. Considering the small number of interested students in this alternative approach, this is also negligible.

To: Undergraduate Council

From: Luther Wilhelm
Associate Dean

Date: 5 December 2003

Re: Undergraduate Curricular Changes – College of Engineering

The attached curricular proposals have been approved by the faculty of the College of Engineering and are submitted to the Undergraduate Council for consideration. These proposals are summarized as follows:

General

- Add admission requirement for the College of Engineering and remove current freshman placement criteria statement. Students are currently admitted to the college and then denied access to EF101, the first engineering course, because of academic deficiencies. This change will correct that source of frustration for us, the students, and their parents. A revision to the admission requirement approved by the Curriculum Committee was presented at the Undergraduate Council Meeting (2/3/04).
- Modify the transfer admission statement to require completion of only English 101, Chemistry 120, and Mathematics 141 instead of the full sequences.
- Clarify the general education statement. Actual requirements are unchanged. Note: The College of Engineering will adopt the new General Education Electives effective Fall 2005 as part of a major curriculum revision.

Civil and Environmental Engineering

1. Revise showcase curriculum (Civil Engineering major) to reflect new cross-listed course number.
2. Revise Environmental Engineering minor to add new cross-listed course.
3. Add and cross-list one course with Biosystems Engineering.
4. Revise one course and drop one course (actually merge two courses into one).

Electrical and Computer Engineering

1. Revise one course (453, also in graduate proposal) and add it as a specified option in the showcase curriculum.
2. Revise corequisite of two courses.

Engineering Fundamentals Division

1. Change grading of EF101 to A, B, C, NC; making it consistent with grading for EF102.

Industrial and Information Engineering

1. Departmental name change (information only)
2. Revise General Education requirement to require an oral communication elective.
3. Revise showcase curriculum (Industrial Engineering major) to reduce Total hours (drop NE342, reduce IE404 to one hour).
4. Reduce hours of IE404 from 2 to 1 and revise grading, and add one course (455, also for graduate credit).

Materials Science and Engineering

1. Add one course (476, also for graduate credit).

Mechanical, Aerospace, and Biomedical Engineering

1. Revise listing for one course (452).

Nuclear Engineering

1. Revise showcase curriculum (Nuclear Engineering major and Radiological Engineering concentration) and reduce Total hours. Changes in each curriculum are:
 - a. Drop Industrial Engineering (Actually IE 405) -3 hours
 - b. Drop NE404 -3 hours
 - c. Require Econ 201 or 207 as Gen Ed Elective +1 hour (4-hour course replaces 3-hour course)
 - d. Net change, both curricula -5 hours

COLLEGE OF ENGINEERINGCOLLEGE OF ENGINEERING

ADD ADMISSION REQUIREMENT

On page 171, column 2 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, add an admission requirement immediately before the Facilities section such that the text will be changed

To

...The college, in cooperation with industrial sponsors, established the Minority Engineering Scholarship Program in 1973 and in 1999 renamed it The Diversity Engineering Scholarship Program. The program goal is to increase significantly the number of qualified minority engineering graduates.

College Admission Requirements

To promote the maximum opportunity for success among entering freshmen, the College of Engineering has established college admission requirements in addition to the general university admission requirements. These additional admissions criteria are based upon both high school and standardized test performance, with an emphasis upon assessment of mathematics skills.

For admission to the College of Engineering, students must meet the requirements for admission to The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, and they must also have a Success Prediction Indicator (SPI) of at least 56.0. The SPI is calculated by adding an individual's ACT mathematics score to 10 times their high school GPA (based on a 4.0 scale). Thus, a student with a high school GPA of 3.5 and a mathematics ACT score of 28 would have an SPI of $63 = (28 + 10 \times 3.5)$. SAT scores are converted to an equivalent ACT score to perform this calculation.

Students who wish to pursue an engineering degree at the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, but do not meet the SPI criterion may enroll as University Undecided students and complete appropriate mathematics, science, and other courses before applying for admission to the College of Engineering. (See the statement regarding Transfer Students later in this section.) The college welcomes qualified transfer students from community and other colleges.

Facilities

Most of the college's facilities are on the southeastern corner of The Hill. Administration, Civil and Environmental Engineering, and Biomedical Engineering are in Perkins Hall; Electrical and Computer Engineering are in Ferris Hall; Industrial and Information Engineering and the Interdisciplinary Engineering Research Centers are in East Stadium Hall; Nuclear Engineering is in the Pasqua Engineering Building; Mechanical and Aerospace, ...

DELETE FRESHMAN PLACEMENT CRITERIA STATEMENT

On page 173, column 2 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, remove the entire section (four paragraphs) regarding Freshman Placement Criteria.

Effective Date: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Rationale: We currently admit students who are not eligible to take the first freshman engineering course (EF 101). This is the source of much confusion and many complaints. An admissions requirement is needed to correct this. Adding this requirement removes the need for the Freshman Placement Criteria Statement.
- b. Impact on other academic units: Possible slight increase in College of Arts & Sciences advising load
- c. Financial Impact: Short term – small enrollment decline. Long-term – none.

CHANGE TRANSFER STUDENT ADMISSION STATEMENT

On page 173, column 2 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog, change the Transfer Students admission statement.

To

Transfer Students

Transfer students, including internal UT transfers, must meet the minimum requirements stated below to be considered for admission to a major within the College.

1. Must have earned a minimum 2.30 cumulative average and a C or better in each of these specific courses, or their equivalent: English 101, Chemistry 120, and Mathematics 141 (and subsequent courses in the three sequences, if taken.)

2. The overall record will be evaluated for quality and seriousness of purpose. An excessive number of withdrawals, incompletes, repeated courses, or failures may result in denial.

Any University of Tennessee student desiring association with one of the departments of the College of Engineering should go to the departmental office for the desired major. An interview with the department head or his/her designee is held, with the major items of consideration being the same as for external transfer students. If association is granted, a College/Major/Advisor Change form is processed by the department to officially change the student's academic home.

Effective Date: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Rationale: Requiring the full sequence of English, Chemistry, and Mathematics could require some students to wait a full year before they could take EF 101 or other engineering courses. Satisfactory performance in the first courses of each should be a sufficient indicator of capability.
- b. Impact on other academic units: None.
- c. Financial Impact: None.

- a. Rationale: Under current course descriptions, ECE 315 is not needed as a corequisite for ECE 335 and moving it to 336 helps students schedule classes.
- b. Impact on other Academic Units: None

REVISE COURSE TITLE AND HOURS

453 Introduction to Computer Networks (4)

[Formerly: Computer Network Design (3)]

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Rationale: The new name better reflects the course content and the number of hours is more appropriate for the amount of student effort required. Also this makes both senior sequences, 451-453 and 451-455 have the same number of hours.
- b. Impact on other Academic Units: None

REVISE GRADING

101 Engineering Approach to Physical Phenomena (6): A, B, C, NC grading (Formerly A, B, C, D, F grading)

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Rationale: Change grading from A-F to A,B,C,NC to match the second semester course, EF 102. This grading change was made to EF 102 early in the development of the engage program because a) a C proficiency was desired for students advancing to sophomore level engineering courses and b) for students transferring from the college due to poor performance in this course, a six credit hour failing grade was an unnecessary negative legacy to carry to their new major. These arguments also apply to the first semester course, EF 101. The majority of college transfers take place after the fall semester.
- b. Impact on other academic units: None
- c. Financial Impact: None

General Education Electives must include an oral communications elective and a written communications elective, with both of these electives being chosen from the Department of Industrial and Information Engineering list of approved communications skills courses, in addition to the requirements described under Approved General Education Electives.

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Rationale: New department name. The communications skills change is to increase the emphasis on the need for oral and written communication skills in Industrial Engineering.
- b. Impact on other academic units: None other than use of correct department name.
- c. Financial impact: None.

² Technical electives must be taken from the Department of Industrial and Information Engineering list of approved courses, or be approved by the student's faculty advisor and the department head.

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Rationale:
 - I. Research conducted by the department into the knowledge base for future practicing industrial engineers strongly suggests that the in-depth knowledge of thermal science is no longer required.
 - II. The deletion of thermal science will have the least impact on the student while allowing the department to reduce the number of semester hours required for the Bachelor of Science in Industrial Engineering.
 - III. The communications skills change is to increase the emphasis on the need for oral and written communication skills in Industrial Engineering.
 - IV. Currently identified Communication Skills Electives for Industrial Engineering students are:
 - English 255 Public Writing (3)
 - English 263 Introduction to Creative Writing (3)
 - English 295 Business and Technical Writing (3)
 - English 360 Technical and Professional Writing (3)
 - Communication Studies 210 Public Speaking (3)
 - Communication Studies 240 Business and Professional Communication (3)
 - Communication Studies 250 Advanced Public Speaking (3)
- b. Impact on other academic units:
 - I. The departments teaching thermal science will see a reduction in course load of approximately 15 students per semester.
 - II. The revised general education requirements place Communication Studies 210 and 240 as 'O' designated speech communication courses. Because of this designation, the School of Communication Studies has compensated for the expected increased enrollment in these courses.
 - III. The English Department has taken two steps to manage the demand for English 295 and English 360, which are the two courses with limited resources and greatest demand. 1) Neither course will carry a 'W' designation, thus reducing demand when the revised general education requirements are implemented and 2) added a new course, English 255 Public Writing, as an alternative course for many of the programs recommending or requiring English 295. Because Industrial Engineering students are currently taking these courses as one of their English electives, the impact will be an additional 15 to 18 students per year spread over four courses (an average of two students per semester per course).

Prereq: to be taken in student's semester of graduation. Satisfactory/No Credit grading only.

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Rationale:
 - I. This proposal is based on the consideration that IE 404 is currently taught in a seminar format by multiple faculty members, and the quality of the students' course work is generally difficult to quantify sufficiently to assign letter grades.
 - II. The course content does not justify the extra credit hour.
- b. Course format and location: Standard format, on-campus.
- c. Impact on other academic units: None, only Industrial Engineering students take this course.
- d. Financial impact: The Industrial and Information Department teaching load is reduced by one contact hour per week per semester.

Includes human sensory systems, human memory capacity, computer hardware/software requirements, input/output device design, and error message handling. Computer Programming skills are required. Prereq: 304

Effective: Fall 2004

SUPPORTING INFORMATION:

- a. Justification: Expertise in Human-Computer Interaction is necessary for students who have interest in the design and operation of complex systems with human-machine interfaces.
- b. Course format and location: Standard format, on-campus or synchronous delivery for distance education.
- c. Impact on other academic units: None, other than providing the opportunity to take first course in Human-Computer Interaction

Add an additional statement to the "Grading and Continuation Policies" on p. 190 of the 2003-2004 Undergraduate Catalog.

8. At periodic intervals specified by the faculty, students must take comprehensive examinations designed to predict success on the NCLEX (licensure) examination. Any student making less than an 85% predictability score at the end of the junior year must take a one hour independent study course during the summer before starting the senior clinical courses. Seniors will have two opportunities to achieve an 85% predictability score on an exit exam given prior to graduation. Students who make less than 85% on the second attempt on the exit exam must take an NCLEX review course and provide proof of completion of the course. They will also take the exit exam a third time. Upon completion of the review course and the third exit exam, the dean will sign off on permission for the graduate to sit for the NCLEX examination.

GENERAL EDUCATION PROPOSAL¹

(UG Council approval 9/9/03; Faculty Senate approval 10/20/03; Course list and editorial revisions 11/19/03, 12/10/03, 1/26/04)

On page 19 of the 2003-04 Undergraduate Catalog, replace the existing University General Education Requirement with the following Statement of Purpose and Outcomes and requirements.

¹This proposal is built upon the proposal that was accepted by the Undergraduate Council "in principle" on November 29, 2001.

The University of Tennessee, Knoxville General Education Requirement

Statement of Purpose: General education provides the foundation for successful academic study, for lifelong learning, and for carrying out the duties of local, national, and global citizenship. By building basic skills in communication, analysis, and computation as well as by broadening students' historical and cultural perspectives, the general education curriculum helps students acquire an understanding of both self and society, and thus contributes to their personal enrichment while enrolled and after graduation.

The University of Tennessee's general education program has been designed to enable the student to move among colleges within the university or to move to another institution of higher learning. Although it will provide the students with the skills required by college study, those skills are specific neither to UT Knoxville nor to a particular major or career path.

Outcomes: The program is expected to produce the following outcomes for the students.

Building Basic Skills: Because the hallmark of the educated person is the ability to think independently, students must be trained to acquire, evaluate, and use information.

- Students must be able to acquire information by conducting independent research, both in a conventional library setting and through the use of the rapidly developing electronic technologies, including data bases and internet resources.
- Students must then learn to evaluate the reliability, accuracy, and logical soundness of that information. The students will be taught to apply evaluative techniques to statistical and rhetorical presentations in arts, humanities, natural sciences, and social sciences.
- Students must be trained to use the information that they have acquired. They must write clearly, speak convincingly, and solve problems using creative approaches.

Developing Broadened Perspectives: General education should help students develop habits of self-examination in the context of the individual's relationship to family, community, society, and world. To this end, general education should also help foster a commitment to respecting the diversity of personal and cultural values.

- Students should be able to explain their own values and beliefs, as well as to understand the histories and cultures behind those values. Students should also develop a commitment to lifelong learning so that they may continue to examine the relationships between their personal perspectives and the perspectives that arise from other cultures.
- Students should strengthen their sensitivity to cultural diversity by learning other languages, which can provide them with a gateway to the histories and traditions of other cultures, both within and outside the United States; and by understanding the dynamic nature of a multicultural world through interdisciplinary perspectives.

The General Education requirements are:

A. For Building Basic Skills

- I. Communicating through Writing (3 courses) Good writing skills enable students to create and share ideas, investigate and describe values, and record discoveries – all skills that are necessary not only for professional success but also for personal fulfillment in a world where communication increasingly takes place through electronic media. Students must be able to identify areas for inquiry, locate relevant information, evaluate its usefulness and quality, and incorporate the information logically and ethically. They must be able to write correctly, and they must be aware that different audiences and purposes call for different rhetorical responses. To satisfy this requirement, students take the first-year composition sequence and, upon completion of English 101 and 102 or their equivalent, take one other course designated as "writing-intensive" (WC) in the undergraduate catalog. The writing-intensive courses can be within the student's major or an elective. In order to gain a "WC" designation, courses shall require formal and informal writing assignments that total 5,000 words.

- II. Communicating Orally (1 course): The ability to communicate one's ideas orally is as important as the ability to express them well in writing. The well-educated person should be able to speak in an informative and/or convincing manner to other individuals and to groups, both small and large. Being able to express one's thoughts clearly has always been a critical component of good citizenship. Students should be able to locate relevant information, evaluate its usefulness and quality, and incorporate the information logically and ethically in public address. (See Note 4.)

This requirement may be completed by:

- (1) Completion of Communication Studies 210 or 240 or
- (2) Completion of a course with an "OC" designation.

Approved Communicating Orally (OC) courses are:

- III. Quantitative Reasoning (2 courses): In today's world, arguments and claims often rely for support on scientific studies and statistical evidence. Students should possess the mathematical and quantitative skills to evaluate such evidence. Furthermore, students should possess the skills both to recognize the quantitative dimension of problems and to use mathematical reasoning to formulate and solve the problem. Finally, students need strong quantitative skills because they are indispensable in managing everyday-life situations.

This requirement may be completed by either:

(1) taking two mathematics or statistics courses from the list below. (Preferably, these courses would be taken in one of the following pairings: Mathematics 110 and 115; Mathematics 123 and 125; Mathematics 141 and 142; Mathematics 147 and 148; Mathematics 151 and 152; Mathematics 125, 141 or 147 and Statistics 201 or 207; Mathematics 115 and 123 or 125 or 202.)

or

(2) taking one mathematics course from the list above and one course designated in the undergraduate catalog as having a quantitative component (QR). The course designated as having a quantitative component may be within the student's major or an elective.

Approved Quantitative Reasoning (QR) courses are:

Computer Science

100 Introduction to Computers and Computing
102 Introduction to Computer Science

B. For Developing Broadened Perspectives:

- I. Natural Sciences (2 courses): As science and technology come to play an increasingly important role in contemporary life, it is essential for all educated persons to have a fundamental understanding of science and its methods. All students should be familiar with one or more scientific disciplines and the role of science in contemporary society. Such familiarity may be gained through acquisition of knowledge of a discipline's basic vocabulary, chief discoveries, and fundamental principles; exposure to a discipline's experimental techniques; and the ability to analyze issues with scientific dimensions. This requirement is satisfied by taking two courses from the approved list. At least one of the courses must have a laboratory.

On page 40 of the 2003– 2004 Undergraduate Catalog, add the following General Education Petitioning Process.

General Education Petitioning Process

The University offers a petitioning procedure through which students can occasionally gain exceptions to the General Education curriculum included in this catalog.

- It is the direct responsibility of the student who seeks to deviate from the rules to complete the petitioning process.
- In cases where this might affect the student's eligibility to enroll in a particular course, the student should begin the petitioning process during the previous term and must gain final approval for the petition no later than the add deadline of the term involved.

The steps involved in this process are as follows:

- The student completes the petition with the assistance of his/her advisor and obtains the signatures of the advisor.
- The student takes the signed petition to the student's College Advising Office.
- The College sends the petition to the General Education Committee designee for consideration.
- If the petition is approved, it is entered into DARS (Degree Audit Report System) and sent to the Office of the University Registrar to be noted when checking for graduation requirements.
