ARBITRATORS CANNOT MEET BECAUSE OF ABSENTEES.

Three New Members Succeed Those Who Refused to Serve—Proposal for Compromise.

Dr. S. H. Winstead has been selected to serve on the board of arbitration which will attempt to settle the Morgan controversy in the public schools. The board was supposed to meet last night, but on account of the absence of several members, the meeting did not materialize. It will be held as soon as all members are present.

It is understood there is a plan to settle the matter by compromise—by giving Miss Morgan a principalship. It is understood that some members of the board of arbitration will insist that reports and other facts in connection with the case be investigated.

FROM SANDVILLE

COMES WEDDING PARTY ON A SPECIAL TRAIN.

Bride Is Fourteen but Her Parents Consent to Marriage With Her Beau.

One of the most densely attended weddings, with guests from out of town, was consummated at the court house in the county judge's office at high noon, when Oscar Owes Sanders, eighteen years old, of Sandville, Ill., and Ada Brayfield, fourteen years old, of the same town, were united in marriage by the Rev. R. Robertson, of DuQuoin, Ill., in the presence of their consenting parents and a heterogeneous mob from a Sunday school excursion train on which they came to this city.

The happy couple will start on their bridal tour when the excursion train leaves tonight for Sandville, accompanied by the well wishes and corporal presence of a host of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Sanders will make their future home at Sandville.

GETS $10,000.

Bold Russian Bank Robbers Make a Hajj in View of Crowd.

Kiev, Sept. 12.—At Bjelazerkov today a band of armed robbers attacked the local branch of the discount bank in full view of many people and got off with $40,000. One bystander was killed and one of the robbers, fearing capture, committed suicide.

James Franklin Graham, the alleged murderer of Claude Bass, was arrested last night shortly after dusk by F. M. Matlock, formerly a regular policeman. Graham denies that he knew Claude Bass and that he was in Paducah on the night of the murder. Graham confessed that he was guilty of housebreaking, but disclaimed any knowledge of the Bass murder.

Last evening shortly after 6 o'clock Graham came out of Lee Hite's grocery, Tenth and Husbands streets. He was accosted by Matlock, who had been "tipped off" that Graham was coming to Paducah.

"Jim, there is a warrant for you at the station," the extra policeman stated.

"Well, I do not know what it can be for," he declared.

Matlock informed him that he would tell him at the hall, and the two started for the police station, Graham willingly accompanying Matlock. En route to the station Matlock was said of the affairs of the prisoner and a short conference was held at the police station.

"How is your partner, Claude Bass, getting along?" Lieut. Tom Potter asked.

"I do not know any Bass," Graham declared.

This was all that passed at the police station. Graham was transferred at once to the county jail and Policemen William Johnson and Lige Cross walked to the jail with Matlock and his charge. Graham was told that he was wanted on a warrant charging housebreaking.

"Well, I do not deny breaking into the store," was his reply, but the murder matter at that time was not touched on. Graham did not seem to be worried over his plight and when the jail was reached quickly disrobed and went to sleep.

Matlock's Work.

"I caught Graham because I worked hard after him, and had 'feelings' out to 'tip me off' just as soon as anything developed," Mr. Matlock, who made the arrest, explained. "Yesterday afternoon I felt that something was going to happen. I took a car for the depot and before I got there saw a negro whom I had sent out to scout. The negro told me that he had seen Graham and that Graham was coming to Paducah on a freight train. The negro had preceded the fugitive over an hour on another freight train and I knew that I would be unable to get to the depot before the train arrived. I took Tenth street and walked. When I came to Hite's grocery I saw the boy come out. I have known him for years. He lived near my grocery for years and traded with me. He did not appear nervous and feigned ignorance. Graham has been working for the Illinois Central road at Little Cypress but I think I can produce proof that his story of his travels since he left Paducah conflict with the facts."

Matlock is a popular officer. He captured Joe King, colored, near Brookport last week. King got four years for shooting off George Richardson's leg. He will get $150 for taking Graham.

Wild Stories Afloat.

Because of the fact that Graham was at large and the police unable to get a direct line on him, the papers kept quiet about the case. One report last night was to the effect that Graham had been in the city ever since the murder. It is stated that he was in a third street saloon between Kentucky avenue and Broadway on Labor Day, and another is way on Labor Day, and another is way on Labor Day.

HORRIBLE SCENE IN RUSSIAN CITY

Women and Children Shot By Ruthless Soldiers.

Description and Incidents of Massacre When Hundreds Were Slaughtered.

PRISONER KILLED IN JAIL.

Warsaw, Sept. 12.—A correspondent traversed Warsaw street, Siedlece, which presented a desolate aspect, stores and shops being closed and all showing signs of having been plundered.

Pictures of Saints were hanging outside the windows of many of the houses, mute appeals to the soldiery and letters to spare the inmates. Everywhere in the streets were to be seen soldiers ready to fire on the least provocation.

It is asserted that paid agents contrived matters so that on Saturday the soldiers began shooting in the streets and bombarding the houses. To quicken the flames soldiers threw oil upon burning houses.

Slay Woman and Babe.

As a man was taking his wife and a newly born child to the hospital they were fired upon by the soldiers and the wife and child were killed.

A Jew ventured out to bring some water for his thirsting little ones. As often as he reached the door with a pail of water the soldiers compelled him to empty it upon the ground. This was done eleven times. The twelfth time the officer washed his boots in the pail and made the children drink the fouled water.

From doorways and roofs the enraged people kept up a fusillade of revolver shots, varied at intervals by the hurling of bombs. The troops, who suffered heavily, replied with rifle volleys that did fearful execution.

Revel of Slaughter.

They broke into houses, slaughtered the inhabitants without regard to age or sex, and after hurling the furniture into the streets and taking whatever else was of value, set fire to the premises. The sky was lighted up all night with the flames of burning buildings, and when morning came the main streets of the town presented a pitiable spectacle. In every direction the wounded, moaning piteously, lay in doorways or dragged themselves painfully in search of a place of refuge. Some were killed by drunken soldiers while begging for their lives. Others died before their wounds could be dressed.

Aside from the destruction of property and terrible loss of life the situation of the survivors is pitiable. More than 5,000 are homeless and hundreds are without a morsel of food. All the bakeries in the Jewish quarters of the city have been destroyed and most of the food shops have been looted.

Riots in Jail.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 12.—Three prisoners in the Mardin jail were killed and 14 wounded by guards, who fired on them during a general attempt to escape. Riots at jail are extremely critical.

OVER FIVE HUNDRED DELEGATES COMING

List of Those Who Have Pledged Their Word To Attend Immigration Convention.

COMMUNICATIONS FROM MANY TOWNS

Senator McCreary will attend the Southwestern Kentucky Immigration convention. This news reached Paducah today in a letter from the senator to Secretary Coons of the Commercial club, accepting an invitation to be present. It is probable that Governor Beckham will be here, and the presence of Hubert Vreeland, commissioner of agriculture, and a candidate for secretary of state, may be an inducement for others to attend.

Nothing less than a catastrophe can prevent a large attendance at the Southwestern Kentucky Immigration convention.

Over 500 delegates to the convention, which will be held at the Kentucky theater October 4-5, have pledged themselves by card to attend, while the Commercial club has assurances that between 700 and 1,000 delegates will come.

Every town and county in this section will be represented and the mayors, commercial bodies and strong men of every district are interested in the movement and doing all in their power to promote its success.

Who Are Interested.

The following Commercial bodies and mayors of various points in Southwestern Kentucky have announced their delegations to attend the immigration convention October 4-5 in Paducah, and their pledges of co-operation in this movement.

Hon. E. A. Hughes, mayor of Murray, Ky., has appointed a large list of representative men to attend as delegates from Calloway county. Other citizens of Murray have written and state that all of Murray will be here to attend this convention.

Hon. H. Berbling, mayor of Wickliffe, Ky., has appointed a strong delegation and promises to be here. Hon. Thomas H. Cochran, president of the Crittenden county Commercial club, Marion, Ky., writes that his club will be on hand.

Hon. N. O. Gray, president of the Kuttawa Commercial club, writes: "I am thoroughly in sympathy with the movement and will aid you in every possible way."

Hon. Otho Fow'er secretary of the Kuttawa Commercial club, writes that they have one hundred thousand acres of land that could at once be opened up to good farmers. They will send a large delegation to attend this convention.

Mr. M. R. Cox cashier of the bank of Birmingham, Birmingham, Ky., promises a good attendance from Birmingham.

Hon. J. H. Little, of Benton, Ky., will see to it that a strong delegation is sent from Benton. Benton citizens and those in the surrounding territory are enthusiastic over the possibilities of this convention, and will co-operate in this movement.

Hon. L. P. Head, member of the state legislature from Paducah, is organizing a large delegation to attend the convention from Eddyville, and this insures that Eddyville and vicinity will be largely represented. She accepted the invitation, and while the train was speeding through the country he threw his arms around her and tried to kiss her. PHILIP H. HISEY DIES PEACEFULLY

Well Known Citizen Succumbs To Paralysis.

Confederate Veteran and Prominent in Local Affairs—Native of Virginia.

THREE CHILDREN SURVIVE.

Philip Storer Hisey, 74 years old, one of the oldest and most respected residents of the city, died at 3:30 o'clock this morning of paralysis, at the residence of his son-in-law, Dr. Lillard Sanders, 318 South Sixth street. It was a peaceful ending of one of the most useful lives in the city. Col. Hisey was born February 14, 1832, in Edinburg, Shenandoah county, Va., and during the war joined a Virginia company and went west. He later joined a Missouri company under Captain James McGhee and met his wife here during the war. Following the close of the war he came here and on February 17, 1876, married Miss Laura Hand, daughter of Henry Hand, Sr.

Col Hisey came of one of the best Virginia families, being the son of the Rev. Frederick Hisey a Moravian minister. He was in the grocery business in his early life here as bookkeeper for his father-in-law, and later went into politics. He was appointed constable and served for years in that capacity, holding the position until the infirmities prevented further service.

Col. Hisey was the youngest of nine children, and his only remaining brother died last year in Virginia. He leaves three children: Fred Hisey, Cairo; Mrs. Lillard Sanders, and Miss Hallie Hisey, of this city.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but the burial will be in charge of the James Walbert camp, Confederate veterans. The services will be at the residence, the Rev. T. J. Newell, officiating. The hour will probably be 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Woman's Kidney Troubles

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is Especially Successful in Curing This Fatal Disease.

Mrs. J. W. Lang and Mrs. S. Frake

Of all the diseases known, with which women are afflicted, chronic kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless early and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives.
Being fully aware of this, Lydia E. Pinkham, early in her career, gave exhaustive study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for woman's ills—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—was careful to see that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was sure to control that fatal disease, woman's kidney troubles. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only one especially prepared for women, and thousands have been cured of serious kidney derangements by it. Derangements of the feminine organs quickly affect the kidneys, and when a woman has such symptoms as pain or weight in the loins, backache, bearing-down pains, swelling or burning sensations or deposits in the urine, unusual thirst, swelling under the eyes or sharp pains in the back, running through the groin, she may infer that her kidneys are affected, and should lose no time in combating the disease with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the woman's remedy for woman's ills.
The following letters show how marvelously successful it is.
Mrs. Samuel Frake, of Prospect Plains, N. J., writes:
Dear Mrs. Pinkham—
I cannot thank you enough for what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; a Woman's Remedy for Woman's Ills.

Mothers! Save Your Girls!
Needless Suffering
In young girls, is too often caused by the mothers' lack of knowledge of proper treatment at that time. "Mamma was almost crazy, to think of my sickness", writes Miss Hazel Upson, of 130 S. Fifth Street, De Kalb, Ill. "The best doctor in De Kalb gave me up and said I could not get well. I had been sick with a fever and never got over it, but brought me around all right. Before taking Cardui I had been out of order for six months, was weak, pale, wan and thin and hardly able to get around. A lady friend recommended Cardui and mamma got me a bottle, though she had very little hopes of its helping me, but praise God I had taken just three bottles when I was relieved and began to get well right off. Now I am feeling well. Mamma wants me to send you my picture to let you see how fat I am getting. Mamma and I are so thankful for the Wine of Cardui, and I will do all I can to let every suffering person know how much it has done for me." Cardui is a harmless vegetable medicine for women and girls, with a specific strengthening curative effect upon the female organs. For over half a century it has been in successful use and in that long trial has proved itself a safe, reliable remedy, for young and old. Try it.
WINE OF CARDUI Woman's Relief

MUST NOT TINKER WITH THE TARIFF

Says Herrick and Foraker at Columbus.

No Longer Question of Politics But Business—Commission to Reform Schedules.

SENATORS WIN OHIO CONTEST

Dayton, O., Sept. 12.—The victory of Senator Dick in securing reelection to the chairmanship of the state executive committee, by a decisive vote of 14 to 7, was second in interest in lobby discussion tonight to the speech of Senator Foraker to the convention.

Coming after the address by Temporary Chairman Herrick and given with all the vim and vigor for which the senior senator is famous this speech aroused the delegates to a high pitch and was the talk of the city today. Its probable effect on matters to be decided by the convention tomorrow and the possibility of an answer from Congressman Burton during the morning session were thoroughly gone over.

The endorsement of the president and the two senators is probable in the platform.

"Congressional elections are always important," said Foraker, "but they are especially and particularly so this year. They are thus unusually important because this year they involve not only the political complexion of the next house, but directly and immediately, the question of whether or not the American people propose in November next to endorse and approve the administration of Theodore Roosevelt.

"President Roosevelt has had more to do than any other president ever before had with the legislation that congress has been enacting.

"If the people of Ohio stand for whatever Theodore Roosevelt stands for, they will not stand for a tariff revision this year. For he himself has determined it, has spoken it, has proclaimed it, not alone as the official result of that conference, but in his celebrated letter to Mr. Watson. His idea is that our platform in this contest should be not promises as to the future but the performances of the past. Let us take an account of stock, says he let us hold up to the people what we have done and let us find out whether or not they approve of what we have done."

Foraker referred to the recent speech of Bryan in which it was declared that there are two issues, tariff revision and government ownership of railroads. In answer to the demand for revision, Foraker quoted Speaker Cannon when he stated in his speech before the convention that renominated him in Illinois, that the Republican party would revise the tariff, not when Bryan or some other Democrat told us to, but we would do it when the revision would do us less harm than no revision would do good. That is the position of the Republican party, said Foraker.

Herrick's Speech.

Herrick's speech which deals largely and favorably to tariff revision, in part follows:

The tariff problem is again to the fore. It is no longer a question of advisability of its discussion. It is here and will not down. Let us meet it. We frankly confess that the present tariff law is not perfect. No tariff law ever has been a compromise. When our Democratic friends, with all their confident promises on the subject, tried their hands at the business, did they succeed. Has anyone forgotten the enigma that they betrayed after the passage of the Wilson bill? We set up no claim to infallibility, but, bad as excessive protection upon certain commodities admittedly is, worse than this is constant tariff tinkering, and worse than all is free trade.

Tariff reform should not be involved in the heated emotions of a political campaign. Economic necessity rather than sentiment or political consideration should govern. The merchant, the manufacturer, the workman, the great public that buy and the smaller public that sell are entitled to a more rational and intelligent method of dealing with this question. It is a business question, and should be considered from that standpoint. Politics, however, have entered into it—rather began with it—and that is a phase with which we must deal until congress shall create a disinterested tariff commission capable and empowered to dispose of questions of schedules without agitating the country and filling the minds of the people with apprehension.

If it is for the benefit of the people to change some of the schedules, as it undoubtedly is where they are too high or where they are too low then the changes should be made. If, perchance, some of our tariffs are no longer needed; if, perchance, they cannot be employed to extend or promote our markets abroad, then should we retain them and stand inert, admitting that we have not the ability or courage to correct abuses or injustices because of our fear of being joggled?

TRAINED ANIMAL DISPLAYS.

Something Unusual in This Line Promised By the Barnum & Bailey Circus.

"Do animals reason?" is a question that has perplexed philosophers for ages. Advocates of reason in the so-called dumb brutes seem to have a little the best of the argument. This view is apparently confirmed by the remarkable results said to have been achieved by the Barnum & Bailey animal trainers in handling various kinds of wild and domestic beasts.

Among the notable trained animal displays that will be seen with the big show when it exhibits here September 27 are Thompson's horses, which, both in harness and at liberty, give a performance that sets a new standard for displays of this character; Mile Lordy's dogs, a company of canine actors that are said to display most extraordinary intelligence; Winston's sea-lions, which climb ladders, turn somersaults and perform many other unusual feats; the Dobiado troupe of trained sheep, a distinct novelty; a troupe of animal performers, including two ponies, an elephant and a pair of dogs.

A Famous Engineer.

Sir Douglas Fox, who has been commissioned to prepare the new plans for the long-talked-of channel tunnel, is regarded by the members of his profession as one of the greatest engineers of his time. It is owing to his marvelous creative and constructive genius that the Cape to Cairo railway has developed into an actuality instead of an impossible dream of the empire builders, the late Cecil Rhodes and Alfred Beit. The latter, who has just died, left the scheme one million two hundred thousand pounds. The great bridges across the Victoria Falls on the Zambesi river will always remain a monument to his great abilities. The Mersey tunnel, opened in 1885, which connects Liverpool with Birkenhead and the Cheshire side of the River Mersey is another of his engineering achievements, as is also the Liverpool overhead railway and the Haverdun railway bridge across the River Dee. Fairly tall, with clear-cut, determined features and business-like gray side whiskers, Sir Douglas was 65 years old in May. —Montreal Gazette.

BACK TO NORFOLK.

Frank Crane Goes to Answer Description Charge.

Frank Crane, the alleged deserter from the U. S. navy, is on his way to Norfolk, Va., to stand trial. He was taken away last night by Wade Brown, deputy United States marshal, and the arrest of Crane will mean a reward for either Brown or Policeman James Clark who made the arrest originally. Crane was held on a charge of robbery, but surrendered to the government for the charge of desertion. He was home on a leave of absence to see his sick mother and let it lapse.

RAWSON

IMPROVING AND SOON WILL RECOVER FROM INJURIES.

Assault Was Held Under Bond of $1,000 for Breach of Peace—Case Continued.

The condition of William Rawson, of Shawneetown Ill., who was assaulted at Fourth street and Broadway Monday night by Charles Snell, a bartender, is improved and his daughter is here to visit him for a few days.

Miss Jessie Rawson, of Shawneetown, did not know of her father's condition until she reached Paducah yesterday. She is en route to Hopkinsville to visit and was surprised on arrival to find her father in the hospital suffering from serious wounds. She is visiting Miss Alice Wilkins, of South Eleventh street, and will remain until her father is able to be up.

The case against Snell is being continued until Rawson is able to appear against him. Snell is charged with breach of peace, and his bond is $1,000. The fine in a case of breach of peace can be no more than $100.

Snell claims that Rawson cursed him and called him a vile name after accusing him of fraud.

SENATOR BAILEY CANCELING DATES

He Cannot Swallow Bryan's Railroad Ideas.

Rayner, of Maryland, Sees No Hope for Party in That Issue and Speaks His Mind.

CIVIL WAR IN MOQUI TRIBE

Washington, Sept. 12.—It is rumored here today that Senator Bailey, of Texas, has already, or will, at an early date, cancel all engagements to speak in North Carolina. It is also rumored that Senator Culbertson, of the same state, has likewise canceled his engagements. Senator Bailey does not propose to swallow the municipal ownership proposition enunciated by Mr. Bryan, and, not sympathizing with the Nebraskaan, has thought it best to recall his engagements. It is not known whether or not Senator Bailey's engagements in other states will be canceled, but it is presumed that they will be.

Civil War Among Moquis.

A telegram from the superintendent of the Moqui Indian reservation in Arizona to the commissioner of Indian affairs, indicates that there is an active state of civil war between two factions of Indians in Oreiba village in that reservation. The Indians have long been divided on the question of supporting the government policies and the message received today stated that one of the parties has driven the other out of the village.

A Bold Attempt.

The immigration authorities of Philadelphia have reported to the department of commerce and labor a bold attempt on the part of several Armenians in that city to bribe Inspector Garbarino, who conducted an investigation of a case of an Armenian woman recently arrived at that port, suffering from trachoma. As a result three men have been arrested and placed under bail.

No Hope on That Issue.

Washington, Sept. 12.—In the opinion of Senator Rayner, of Maryland, there would be no chance of Democratic success two years hence with a government ownership of railroads plank in the platform. "It will not do," continued Senator Rayner.

"Here's a letter from a woman," said the answers-to-correspondents editor "who wants to know how to make a lemon tart!" "That's just like a woman," rejoined the snake editor. "Tell her if the lemon isn't tart to begin with, she'd better consign it to the dump and let it go at that."—Chicago Daily News.

THE PATIENCE OF JOB.

Could Hardly Endure the Torment of Itching Piles.

Itching piles is constant torment—so is eczema.

No comfort all day, no rest at night.

Can't keep your mind on work. No use to go to bed.

Suffer no longer; use Doan's Ointment. It gives relief in five or ten minutes. It cures in a short time—cures you to stay cured.

Paducah people endorse it. J. R. Wombie, of 1095 South Fourth street, carpenter by trade, says: "For six years itching hemorrhoids were the bane of my existence. During the day when overheated I suffered and at night my rest was disturbed. I tried everything about which I had read or which friends and acquaintances advised me to try, still the hemorrhoids existed. The first application of Doan's Ointment procured at Alvey & List's drug store gave me relief. After the second day's treatment I slept the succeeding night like a child. It is nearly three months since I stopped the use of Doan's Ointment and there has been no sign of a return. This should leave no doubt in the minds of Paducah people about the merits of that preparation."

SOUTHERN PROBLEM. In speaking of the Southern States Immigration convention, which is to meet in Nashville November 13, 14 and 15, the Nashville American says: The south has come abruptly against the labor question. Every day the negro becomes less satisfactory less reliable and more hazardous as a dependable factor in the industrial situation.

the Nashville convention will no doubt be of great service in helping the movement forward.

Fussy newspapers are still fuming over the fact that President Hipple, of the defunct Real Estate Trust company, did not swear, chew, smoke nor drink, and stood high in the church, and some false impressions, evil in their influences, are being disseminated by editorial comment on a news feature that gained wide circulation, chiefly by reason of its novelty.

other delegation. Mr. W. E. Aton, of Milburn, Ky., promises to be here with a good, strong delegation.

Hon. W. J. Stone, of Kuttawa, Ky., is working earnestly for the success of the convention and will see to it that we have a strong delegation from Kuttawa.

Mr. J. E. Bridgewater, of Bardwell, Ky., is working up a large delegation from his point.

Citizens of Smithland, Ky., are enthusiastic over the movement, and the indications are that the largest delegation at the convention will come from Smithland and that section.

Columbus, Ky., and Hickman, Ky., are working on their delegations and it is safe to say that large delegations will come from each point.

T. R. Green, secretary of the Milburn Commercial club, is hustling for a great delegation from Milburn, and it is assured that they will be in force.

Lamasco, Ky., Morganfield, Ky., Albany, Ky., Thine, Ky., Pinkneyville, Ky., and Birdsville, Ky., have all appointed substantial delegations and will be well represented.

Calvert City, Ky., comes to the front with a splendid list of delegates.

Mr. S. P. Brents, of Ida, Clinton county, Ky., and Mr. R. F. Blakely, of Ida, Ky., and Mr. Frank Robinson and J. R. Farris, of Salem, Ky., are heading the movement in their section and working up strong delegations.

Kevil sends in a list of delegates of sixty from Kevil and surrounding territory.

Bayou, Joy and Carrsville, Ky., have promised to send strong delegations.

So far over five hundred delegates have been listed by appointment of mayor's delegations and acceptance of invitations direct of the Commercial club.

The indications are from seven hundred to one thousand delegates will attend this convention, which will make it the greatest popular movement ever known in this section of the state.

An Assistant of Nature. One of the most interesting things of this day of interesting things is the great success being achieved by osteopathy.

There is hardly a day that some cure which is deserving of attracting much attention, is not made by this new science, and the more it is studied, and the better it is known, the easier it is to see why it is so.

Osteopathy merely aids nature to cure. It is a system of healing built upon demonstrable facts.

It discovers the cause of disease, and treats it by scientific manipulations in order to correct disorders and bring about a natural condition.

Nearly all diseases yield to the treatment, and the diseases local to Paducah do so most readily.

In rheumatism, liver and bowel, or stomach troubles, chronic headaches, tired-out, run-down conditions, nervousness, its success has been very marked.

I should like to have you call to discuss your particular case at any time, and not only will I tell you frankly what osteopathy will do for you, but refer you to well-known Paducah people whom it has done much for.

Treadwell of the Philippine scouts, was killed last night by Pulajanes six miles south of Barauen. He was in command of a small detachment of scouts, whose bivouac was attacked during the night by a band of about 100 Pulajanes. Lieut. Treadwell was the only man hit. Troops are in pursuit of the band. Sixty troops and forty constabulary struck a band of Pulajanes near Sitio Marabou, killed one and wounded several of them. The rest of the band escaped. The troops sustained no casualties and destroyed a large quantity of supplies gathered by the Pulajanes.

NAVAL MANEUVERS.

Thirty-six Destroyers Reach the British Coast.

London, Sept. 12.—According to the Hamburg correspondent of the Daily Mail, during the German naval maneuvers, the night of Sept. 10, thirty-six torpedo boat destroyers accomplished the sensational feat of dashing for and reaching the British coast, returning without having been detected. The nominal purpose of the raid across the North sea was to carry out the search for the German fleet, which, however, the torpedo boat officers knew was lying off Heligoland.

Grocer Killed With Ax.

Waco, Tex., Sept. 12.—Mathias Block, a wealthy retail grocer, was murdered at his store early this morning, the object being robbery. The assailants entered through a back door and struck their victim down with axes, after which they took $300 from the till. Block was a bachelor. His brothers and sisters reside in New Orleans. He was an official in the order of B'nai B'rith, and was a liberal contributor to public charities. Two negroes are in jail charged with the murder and robbery.

Chicago, Ill. Sept. 12.—The Cook county grand jury today voted indictments against Paul O. More than a score of indictments were returned against each man, all being based upon mismanagement of the bank.

TUNNEL MEASUREMENTS.

Good Engineering Work on the Hudson River Tubes.

New York, Sept. 12.—According to an official statement sent out by the railroad itself, the Pennsylvania railroad tubes under the Hudson river are less than one inch "out of line." To be exact, they are one-eighth of an inch off grade. That is what the engineers discovered as a result of the "checking" for which operations were stopped a week ago. That means that when the eastbound and westbound shields of either tube meet the rings of the cast iron lining will fit together so closely that the difference between them will barely be perceptible.

Actress and Financier Wed.

New York, Sept. 12.—Although no cards announcing the event have been sent out, friends of Daniel G. CHILDREN AGAIN WILL BE FEATURE Horse Show Committee Plans More Elaborately.

Souvenirs for All Participants and Prizes Worth Working for Are Offered.

TO MEET MONDAY AFTERNOON

All acknowledge the Children's part of last season's Horse Show to have been one of the most charming features of the entire successful show and it is proposed by the children's committee of this season to enlarge and make this feature even more beautiful if possible, than last year.

The committee appreciated assistance of the mothers, who worked with such beautiful results in the exquisitely decorated carts of last year. The Horse Show association wishes to announce that there will be given to each child taking part in the floral parade, this year a handsome individual prize. There will also be premiums offered for the best boy and girl driver and the best couple. First and second premium for the prettiest decorated cart.

The judges will be selected according to the rules and regulations of such affairs, consisting of three non-residents of Paducah.

The committee has decided to do away with the musical drills as it was found to interfere with the children's school work last year.

All boys and girls wishing to enter the contest for best boy and girl rider are requested to meet the children's committee Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at Wallace park.

MAKING PATTERN FOR BIG ENGINES

Paducah Shops Doing Work For Illinois Central.

Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Stockholders Meet Today and Will Make Change.

GENERAL RAILROAD NOTES.

Because of the expert workmanship in the pattern department of the Paducah Illinois Central shops, the first assignment of patterns for the biggest type of passenger engines on the Illinois Central was received this morning and local pattern makers are busy making them, the order being "rush."

The biggest type of engine now used by the road is the 1025 class the Pacific type. Two drivers over 6 feet in diameter are supplied with these engines, but the new type, which is not yet delivered, will be of the 1035 class. They will be larger and more powerful than the 1025 class and the idea of the road in getting patterns for the delicate parts is to preclude the possibility of a delay in breakage. The road wants to prepare for all emergencies and will have patterns for all parts made before the engines are placed in service.

It is not known whether any of the monsters will be sent to this division, but it is said they will. The assignment is a large one and the engines are to be distributed where needed most. The importance of the Louisville division has secured the biggest type of freight engine and the biggest passenger engine to make the fast time between Louisville and New Orleans would be a natural development.

Mr. Pete McHugh, special agent for the Memphis division of the Illinois Central, was in Paducah yesterday on business.

I. C. Laundry.
Chicago, Ill., Sept. 12.—The Illinois Central will soon provide a novel adjunct for its already adequate equipment by the installation of a modern laundry at Fourteenth street and the yards, where, all the linen used on the 4,375 miles of this system will be washed. Up to this time only part of the linen has been washed in Chicago while much has been cared for at the various terminals.

The average number of pieces of laundry every month will be 188,000, divided as follows: Napkins, 90,000; tablecloths, 30,000; aprons, 10,000; jackets, 6,000; towels, 50,000; cooks' caps, table felts, sheets, alps and miscellaneous, 2,000.

Stockholders' Annual Meeting.
The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway will be held in the office of Secretary Ambrose at Nashville today. Fifteen directors are to be elected at the meeting, and if President Thomas is quoted correctly by the Chattanooga papers a change will be made in the board, as he has promised Chattanooga representation on the board.

A Mosquito Brief.
The American Mosquito Extermination society, says the Scientific American, has recently published a brief on the subject of mosquitoes which is worth repeating on account of the practical condensed information given. The card is illustrated with the various phases of the generation of mosquito as well as of the common and fever-communicating species. It states:

1. There are over one hundred species of mosquitoes in the United States.
2. Mosquitoes breed only in water. They may breed in any kind of quiet water unstocked with destroying fish.
3. Mosquitoes generally require from one to three weeks to develop from eggs to winged insects in warm weather; longer in cold weather. Some female mosquitoes three days old lay eggs; the average is greater. Some species lay as many as three or four hundred eggs at once, some lay them singly. Mosquitoes may live several months (as shown by hibernation and otherwise), but probably, few live over a month.
4. Mosquitoes do not breed in grass, but rank growths of weeds or grass may conceal small breeding puddles, and from a favorite harboring place for adults. The pitcher plant holds sufficient water to breed a rare and small species.
5. Different species of mosquitoes have as well defined habits as different kinds of birds, flies, etc. Some are domestic some wild, some migratory.
6. Most domestic mosquitoes breed in fresh water, fly short distances, and habitually enter houses.
7. Most migratory mosquitoes breed in salt and brackish marsh areas, and fly long distances. They are not conveyors of malaria.
8. Rigid tests, both direct and eliminative, have proved that certain species of mosquitoes are the only known natural means of transmitting malaria and yellow fever. Some other diseases are known to be conveyed by mosquitoes.
9. Of the domestic varieties, the dangerous malarial mosquitoes (several species of the genus Anopheles) are among the most generally distributed. They seem never to travel far, only a few hundred yards.
10. A most common and dangerous domestic mosquito in the south and the tropics is stegomyia fasciata, which is the natural conveyor of yellow fever.
11. Mosquitoes are known to bite more than once, as can be seen by ob-ervation and is proved by the transmission of disease from an infected person to a new subject.

12. Mosquitoes are a needless and dangerous pest. Their propagation can be largely prevented by such methods of drainage or filling of wet areas, removal, emptying or screening of water receptacles, spraying standing water with oil where other remedies are impracticable. Attention should be paid to cisterns, house vases, cesspools, road basins, sewers, watering troughs, gutters, old tin cans, holes in trees, marabes, swamps and puddles. As malarial mosquitoes may be bred in clear springs the edges of such places should be kept clean, and they should be stocked with small fish. The breeding and protection of insectivorous birds, such as swallows and martins, should be encouraged. Thorough screening of houses and cisterns is necessary to prevent the spread of malaria or yellow fever. The continued breeding of any kind of mosquitoes, with the attendant menace to public health and to the life and comfort of man and beast, is therefore the result of ignorance or neglect.

CHAPTER V.

As he stood turning the seething brew of his dark thoughts...

"gentlemen, I shall neither eat nor sleep till I have found out the owner of this curl!"

He shook out the letter as he spoke and fiercely thrust the telltale locket token under the noses of his amazed friends...

"How!" cried Jasper, turning upon him and suddenly noticing the sandy hue of his friend's bushy eyebrows...

"No," said Sir Jasper, "of course not. Ah, I am a fool, Villiers. Forgive me. There is no quarrel between us..."

"Whereas with your bullet," said the colonel, "in the lungs or in the brain—at your choice—the job is done as neat as can be..."

"Ob, I can hit a haystack," said Sir Jasper. But he spoke vaguely. "I am for the sword whenever you can," cried Colonel Stafford...

"Silence, Tom," growled the colonel. "Here is no matter for jesting. This friend of ours has had a mortal affront, has he not? 'Tis established..."

"But stay!" cried Stafford, as Sir Jasper writhed in his armchair, clenched and unclenched furious hands...

"I protest," cried the colonel, "the first insult was Lord Verney's in compromising our friend's wife..."

"Let us see. Who can the Judas be? (This is the best joke I have known for years. Oh, Lord, the bald head of him! Oh, Jasper, 'tis cruel funny! Stab me, sir, if I have known a better laugh these ten years! Nay, nay, I think you? They have a way, these divines, and Lady Standish has a delicate conscience. She would like the approval of the church upon her deeds...

CHAPTER VI.

THE Hon. Denis O'Hara, son and heir of Viscount Killarney in the peerage of Ireland, entered with a swift and easy step, and saluted airily...

"Sir Jasper," said he, "your servant, sir. Faith, Tom, me boy, is that you? The top of the evening to ye..."

"He quiet," whispered the other, who began to think that the jealous husband was getting beyond a joke...

"I have come," said Denis O'Hara, "from my friend Captain Spoicer. I met him a while ago, flitting down Gay street, leaping like a hare with the bounds after him, by St. Patrick's..."

"Ob, is that the way with him?" said O'Hara, behind his hand to Stafford, and winked joyfully. "Well, I was saying, gentlemen, that to see a man run, unless it be a Frenchman, is a thing that goes against me..."

"I thank you," said Sir Jasper; "that is sufficient. When you send your friend to call upon me I shall receive him with pleasure..."

"The colonel stood trembling; his knotted hand instinctively fumbled for his sword. But remembering perhaps that this was eminently a case for pistols he betroughed himself, seized his wig, clapped it on defiantly, seized it with minute care, glared, wheeled round and left the room, muttering as he went remarks of so sulphurous a nature as to defy recording..."

"Now, curse your Irish insolence," he roared; "this is more than I would stand from any man! And if I mistake not, Mr. O'Hara, we have other scores to settle besides..."

"Is it we?" cried O'Hara, jumping up likewise. "'Tis the first I've heard of them—but he jabbers, you will never find me behindhand in putting me foot to the front! I will settle as many scores as you like, Sir Jasper—so long as it is me sword and not me purse that pays them..."

"Draw then, man, draw!" snarled Sir Jasper, dancing in his fury. He bared his silver hilted sword and threw the scabbard in a corner...

"Heaven defend us!" cried Stafford, in vain endeavoring to come between the two. "Sure, you must not contradict him," cried O'Hara, unbuckling his belt rapidly and drawing likewise with a pretty flourish of shining blade...

"Now, sir! Now, sir!" said Sir Jasper, and felt restored to himself again as steel clinked against steel. And he gripped the ground with his feet and knew the joy of action...

The session today was short and adjournment ordered before 11 o'clock. The sheriff was instructed to summon 100 men for jury service and was given until 2 o'clock this afternoon to complete the work. The prosecution yesterday announced that it could not go to trial without Mrs. Gibson, an important witness but it was learned she is able to be at court, having recovered sufficiently from her illness.

Miss Porter had lived in New Haven many years and is chiefly known as the author of religious books. She was born in New York in 1846 and received her education in private schools. Among her books are "Summer Driftwood for the Winter Fire," "Charity, Sweet Charity," "The Years That Are Told," "The Winter Fire," "Honoria, or the Gospel of a Life," "A Modern St. Christopher," "My Son's Wife" and "A Daughter of Israel."

JAMES GRAHAM IS CAPTURED AT LAST

that he was seen on the porch side this week. A well known bartender alleges that he had information that Graham was sleeping in a house below the city near the Noble farm and that his mother carried him food. Cigarette stubs were found in the house, and one morning paper and the refuse from a hastily eaten supper were found under a crab apple tree where a man answering Graham's description was seen eating the night before. Notwithstanding all this, the police were unable to get a line on the fugitive. He is said to be a good runner, and on one occasion ran like a deer when he saw a friend, taking a course towards the river through a corn field.

The Housebreaking Charge.

Several weeks ago someone broke into White's grocery near the Cohankus Manufacturing company's plant, Ninth and Boyd streets, and stole liquor and tobacco. Graham was suspected and the police started after him. He eluded them and at the time of the murder it is said they were hot after him. It is to this charge that Graham confessed, and the police think he admitted the housebreaking crime to escape the greater one.

Graham's Appearance.

Graham is a small youth, appearing to be not more than 20 years old. He has a thin, sharp face and his eyes look weak, this because of burns inflicted accidentally several years ago. He weighs about 120 pounds and is slightly stooped. He is not nearly as heavy as the man 't is alleged he killed. He wears a small cap on the extreme back of his head.

Graham for years worked for the Cohankus Manufacturing company. He had also worked at mills on the south side and of late had been employed on the Illinois Central as a section hand at Little Cypress. It is said that he was here from Little Cypress to see his mother, Mrs. Jennie Shaw, after receiving his pay, when the murder was committed.

Policeman Clark's Evidence.

Policeman James Clark, who secured the first definite information against Graham, is one witness who will play an important part in the case. He said he saw Graham in company with Bass on a street car two days before the murder. He was riding on the car coming to town, and noticed that Bass pulled out a $10 bill to pay the car fare.

Graham's Story.

At the jail this morning Graham was nervous and smoked cigarettes incessantly. All night until the early morning he was besieged for interviews. This morning he was resigned, and when confronted with the facts of the Fletcher affidavit, seemed inclined to tell more than he had heretofore.

"Yes, I was in Paducah one th 20, 21, 22 and 23rd of August and left on the morning of August 23 at 7 o'clock. I caught a freight train at the Illinois Central depot and went to Princeton. From Princeton I went to Henderson, then Owensboro and Island, Ky. I remained at Island until I had chills and fever and then came home. I have been ill for two weeks of malaria.

"The reason I have been dodging, and you cannot really call it dodging, is because I feared arrest for breaking into White's grocery and saloon. This was done sometime between the first and fifth of April, and I did not perform the actual crime. This was done by Jesse Edmondson, who is now in Terre Haute, I understand. The other person associated with us was a young man whose name I cannot remember. He went to Louisville, joined the navy and reports that reached here later say he was killed.

"But about the Bass matter I will say that I do not know him. I was not with him and know nothing about his death. I have read nothing about my being wanted because I cannot read nor write. I have never had the advantages of an education. The reason I left Paducah the last time was because there was no work here and I had to live some how."

When asked about the testimony of Mrs. Fletcher, who swore that he washed the blood from his hands on the night of August 21 and told her he had killed a man named Bass for his money, he denied that he had made such a statement but admitted he was at her house on the 20th and 21st and might have washed his hands there, but did not wash blood from them.

Graham is ignorant and does not realize the seriousness of his situation.

"Yes," he continued, "I did sleep in a barn north of the city limits when I thought the police were after me for housebreaking. I have not slept in one since the murder, however, and since April I have been back in Paducah, I guess, thirty times."

Graham was asked if he rode on a street car with Bass one or two nights preceding the murder, and replied in the negative.

"I have not been on a street car in a year before last night when the police brought me to the city hall," he declared.

At this juncture the police came after prisoners for the city court, and took Graham with them. He was not handcuffed and walked with Patrolman Ernest Hill to the wagon from the jail with downcast eyes. He seemed to realize that the crowd which had assembled at the jail door to get a view of him were there for no other purpose than to look him over.

Policeman James Clark's Story.

Policeman James Clark worked the case up and succeeded in establishing positive proof against Graham. His story follows:

"The way I got the evidence against Graham was through my brother, and I have since learned through pals of Graham that Graham threatened him for the part he played in the matter.

"My brother, T. A. Clark, is a harness maker employed at the Starks-Ullman plant, and a young man named Fletcher works in the shop. Fletcher is a son of the woman who made the affidavit. He made a statement to a companion named Joyner who told my brother. My brother gave me the tip and Joyner came across with his story. I went to the Fletcher boy and he denied knowing anything or making such a statement. I went to Joyner, got him to face Fletcher, and the story came out. Mrs. Fletcher, after being confronted with the evidence confessed that Graham came to her house the night of August 21, before midnight, and said he wanted to wash his hands. She notified blood on them and asked Graham what he had been doing.

"O, I just killed a fellow named Bass over in the field," he replied. "He would not go to sleep so that I could get his money, and I hit him in the head with an iron bar."

"This is the substance of the statement made by Mrs. Fletcher and to which she swore before Police Judge E. H. Puryear in the presence of County Attorney Alben Barkley and myself. The police worked hard after the fugitive after that and had laid traps to catch him. I had arranged with the railroad to notify me when Graham got his identification card to draw money he had coming to him, and was going to ride the pay car from Calro to Central City to catch him if he applied in person for his check.

"If Graham denies that I saw him on a car his mental condition is bad. I saw him in company with Claude Bass one or two nights preceding the murder. They were riding from Broad street towards town and Bass took out a $10 bill to pay the fare. This is why I suspected Graham at first, but did not take any steps until I got onto the Fletcher story."

History of the Crime.

Claude Bass was found with his skull crushed on the morning of August 22 lying in an open field near Terrell and Sixth streets. He was discovered by negroes who heard his groans. They notified the police and the unconscious man, not then identified, was taken to Riverside hospital where he died the next morning without regaining consciousness. He was buried before identification. On August 25 his clothing was identified by uncle and Edward Cohen, a clothier of Broad street. The body was exhumed and fully identified. Bass had come here from Grayville, Ill., where he had been working for the Big Four railroad. He had money and the police have evidence that he had a "roll" when with Graham. Bass' sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. Jones, from Grayville, came here and remained for several days attempting to bring the slayer to justice.

Bass was a man of larger proportions than Graham and was drinking on the night the murder was committed.

According to the statement of the Fletcher woman, who lives near the scene of the crime, Bass was assaulted about 10 o'clock Tuesday night and laid in the weeds until 8 o'clock Wednesday morning.

His skull was crushed so that the brain matter oozed out and in the operation the surgeons removed one of his eye sockets. It would have been impossible to recognize his features.

Graham was presented on both a murder and house-breaking charge in police court this morning and both cases continued until Friday. He has not procured an attorney yet.

Graham's Sweetheart.

Lovie Fletcher is Jim Graham's sweetheart, according to his statement this morning, and that is why he was at the Fletcher home. Graham denied that he had lived with Mrs. Fletcher but Policeman Clark says Mrs. Fletcher practically raised the boy.

Lord, incline my heart not to covet the riches of the world, but to be jealous of that same world's respect.

CHORUS UNION

Will Fight Corried's Imported Opera Singers.

New York, Sept. 12.—Fifty chorus singers engaged in Europe by Heinrich Corried to sing during his coming season of grand opera, arrived today on the steamship Bretagne. The singers who are French and German, got through the custom house lines without difficulty, but there is trouble in store for them if the Central Federated union and the Chorus Singers' union have their way.

The officials of the unions will file a protest against allowing the newcomers to remain here and will insist that Mr. Corried is violating the contract labor law in importing them. Mr. Corried is abroad, but his representatives here are ready to fight with the unions. Former Judge Ditteshefer, the impresario's counsel, will declare that the singers are under the protection of the clause in the immigrant laws which allows servants and artists to remain if it can be shown that their stay is temporary only.
