LUTTRELL TURNS WARNING OVER TO CIVIL OFFICERS

Will Prosecute Those Who Sent Night Rider Letter to Him.

Copy of Communication He Received at Maxon Mills.

BELIEVES IT WAS MALICIOUS

Theodore W. Luttrell, of Maxon Mills, who received a letter warning him not to work on the roads of McCracken county this year, was in the city today, and said the letter has been turned over to the proper authorities, and prosecution will follow. Mr. Luttrell thinks the letter was sent in a spirit of malice, as he has heard of threats against him, and he heard people ask if he had received that letter yet, before the mail was taken from the postoffice.

Mr. Luttrell believes the tobacco men did not send him the letter as he does not grow tobacco. He has worked as foreman on the roads in the eighth magisterial district for ten years, and persons were jealous, he says. He raised the assessment of the property when he was on the board of state and county supervisors this year.

Although the letter was dated March 11, it was not mailed until March 17 according to the postmark at Grahamville, and it is presumed it laid over that night at Woodville as the letter was not received at Maxon Mills until March 18. Mr. Luttrell says he will not try and take the law into his hands.

The letter read as follows: March 11, 1908. Mr. Theo. Luttrell, Der seo we hav bin in formed By Responsible Citizens that you sed on The Board of Supervisors, That you never expect to ask the 8th district for any thing and would give them something they would never forget Now my little fellow we know dudy you not to hit another lick on the public hwy this year In this Co of Mc. If you do your hide and your property will be in danger of being destrord yours Respectfully X. B. Backed By 483 Men.

SPIKES WERE PULLED

Springfield, Ill., March 21.—The Illinois Central Diamond special, en route from Chicago to St. Louis, went into a ditch forty feet below the tracks this morning. The escape of the crew and passengers was miraculous. The engine rolled completely over and three cars followed. The four rear cars remained on the track. No one was seriously hurt. A crowbar found near the track indicates that spikes had been pulled for the purpose of wrecking the train.

C. H. CHAMBLIN SELLS INTEREST; WILL LEAVE CITY

Alderman C. H. Chamblin today sold his interests in the Paducah Brick and Tile company to the Murray heirs, the children of Mr. John Murray, deceased, and in a few weeks will remove with his family to St. Louis to reside. The company is a $40,000 corporation, and the business was established by Mr. Chamblin in 1893. Three years later Mr. John Murray, deceased, acquired an interest in it under the firm name of Chamblin & Murray and later it was incorporated under the present name. The Paducah Brick and Tile company. It has always been a successful concern, doing quite an extensive business.

Aside from his interest in the manufacture of brick, Mr. Chamblin has done considerable contracting in Paducah and in neighboring towns, extending his operations into Illinois an southeastern Missouri cities. Mr. Chamblin has always taken an active interest in politics, and has served as a member of both council boards a number of times. He is at present an alderman, and has served with distinction. Last summer he was a receptive candidate for mayor, but gave way to Mayor Smith and Mr. Earl Palmer and on several occasions he managed the local campaign committee.

Mr. Arthur Murray will be the manager of the corporation and interested with him in the ownership are James Murray, John Murray, Robert Murray and Miss Effie Murray.

Nicholas County Farmer Shot and Killed by Night Riders in His Own Door When He Appeared to Them.

Law and Order League Organized at Meeting at the Seelbach in Louisville Yesterday Afternoon.

(United Press.) Carlisle, Ky., March 21.—Hiram Hedges was shot and killed by night riders at his home here last night. Fifty men called him out and when he appeared with a shotgun, they fired and rode away. He leaves a widow and three children.

Carlisle, Ky., March 21. (Special.)—A Carlisle band of 30 to 50 armed men called at the residence of Hiram Hedges, a prominent anti-Equity farmer, seven miles northwest of here last night, and called him to the door. Hedges appeared with a shotgun. As soon as he appeared the riders opened fire and he fell dying. He lived only a few moments. The riders passed through here about 10 o'clock. There is no clue to their identity. Hedges had made arrangements to grow a big crop of tobacco.

Louisville, Ky., March 21. (Special.)—A law and order league was formed at a meeting at the Seelbach here late yesterday to try to put down night riding. Some of the most prominent men in the state were present. General Simon B. Buckner was elected president, James P. Gregory, of Louisville, vice president, John Stites, of Louisville, treasurer, and A. T. McDonald, of Louisville, secretary.

Many Leaving Tennessee. Clarksville, Tenn., March 21. (Special.)—Sensational developments are expected as the result of the investigation of the Vaughn Bennett killing near here, and some of the most prominent Montgomery county people are involved. Some have left town.

Kentucky's Shame. Lexington, Ky., March 21. (Special.)—Reports from central Kentucky show that tobacco beds are being dug up all over the district. Thousands of tenants are leaving the state, unable to make a living. A number of the best farms in central Kentucky are for sale.

FLEET MAY NEVER COME BACK FROM PACIFIC CRUISE

Washington, March 21.—The itinerary of Pacific fleet which seems to be the most direct includes stops at the Hawaiian Islands, Samoa, Melbourne, Sydney, Manila and Yokohama—should that port be selected as the stopping place in Japan—possibly a Chinese port, back to the Philippines and then home by way of the Suez canal.

Japan will have the ships a week, according to the tentative plans. While the stops in foreign ports so far made have been on an average of ten days' duration, a part of that time was occupied in taking on coal.

Important developments in the cabinet meeting today indicate clearly that the United States purposes to retain an adequate force of battleships at all times in the Pacific ocean.

One of the officials of the bureau of navigation today said he would not be surprised if the fleet would never come back; or if any of Admiral Evans' ships return to the Atlantic ocean, he added, their places will be filled by an equal number of new battleships already built or being built on the Atlantic coast.

FATHER WHIPS TEACHER

Mayfield, Ky., March 21.—Prof. John Meadows, of Wingo, has sued W. D. Jackson for $5,000 damage on account of injuries he alleges he received from the fists of Jackson when they met the other day. The trouble grew out of a severe whipping the teacher is said to have administered to a young son of Jackson. Last week the latter sued Meadows for $2,500 damages on account of the alleged rough treatment the Jackson boy received at the hands of Meadows.

Ford Has Moved Back.

Murray, Ky., March 21. (Special.)—Dock Ford, the negro who by moving into a home in the white residence section brought out warnings for the entire negro population to leave Murray, has moved out of the residence which he recently purchased, and is again occupying his humble cabin in the negro quarters. The action of Ford in moving has quieted all the incendiary talk.

GOVERNOR STILL BUSY OVER BILLS OF LAST SESSION

Frankfort, Ky., March 21.—(Special.)—The governor announces his intention to veto the $75,000 tuberculosis appropriation. Governor Willson signed the bipartisan asylum control bill. The governor has signed the bill permitting second class cities to fix $500 as the maximum saloon license.

OLD PADUCAHAN DIES AT CORBIN OF BLOOD POISON

Middlesboro, Ky., March 21.—(Special.)—Walter L. Surran, formerly with the Illinois Central at Paducah, but recently train dispatcher for the Louisville & Nashville, died at Corbin of blood poisoning.

D. A. D. BASKETBALL TEAM DEFEATS Y. B. M.

The D. A. D. basketball team defeated the Young Business Men's team last night at the Eagle's gymnasium in a fast game of ball by the score of 16 to 10. The D. A. D. team showed up better at all stages of the game and at no time was the Y. B. M. team in the lead. About 150 were present.

The score at the end of the first half was 8 to 3 in favor of the D. A. D.

Line-up—D. A. D.: Center, Rob Fisher; forwards, Gus Elliott, Jim McGinnis; guards, Gregory Harb, Reuben Bagby.

Y. B. M.: Center, Harry Singleton; forwards, Henry Henneberger, Warren Sights; guards, Felix St. John, Guy Martin.

Referee: Ed Cave. Length of halves, 20 and 15 minutes.

The D. A. D. team has won two out of three games played with the Y. B. M. team.

ILLINOIS COUNTY GIVES 90 PERCENT OF VOTE FOR TAFT

Aledo, Ill., March 21.—At the Mercer county, Republican convention in this city resolutions were passed endorsing President Roosevelt and his square deal policies, and instructing Mercer's delegates to the state and district conventions to use all honorable means possible to secure the selection of Taft delegates to the Republican national convention. Complete returns from township primaries indicate caucuses give Taft 90 per cent of the vote cast, with Hughes and Cannon a tie.

Indiana Fairbanks.

Princeton Ind., March 21.—Republicans of the First district, in convention here this afternoon, renominated John H. Foster, of Evansville, as candidate for congress. There was no opposition candidate, Charles W. Fairbanks was endorsed for the presidential nomination.

Third Virginia for Taft.

Richmond, Va., March 21.—The Third district Republican convention met today in Manchester. Only three negroes were in the hall. John C. Luce was nominated for congress. Resolutions were adopted unanimously endorsing the administration to President Roosevelt and instructing delegates to vote for Taft for president.

First District Choice.

Cape Charles, Va., March 21.—The First congressional district Republican convention has elected, W. T. Hopkins, of Newport News, and C. H. Smithers, of Northampton county, delegates to the national convention. James Rowbottom and Benjamin Epton were elected as alternates. Resolutions were adopted endorsing President Roosevelt's administration and declaring in favor of a successor who would carry out the present administration's policies, but the delegates were not specifically instructed.

COUNTY SCHOOLS WILL BENEFIT BY CHANGES IN LAWS

Superintendent Billington Will Work for High School and a Tax Levy.

County and Divisional Boards Are Provided.

MAY USE CITY HIGH SCHOOL

County Superintendent of Schools S. J. Billington and the trustees and teachers who called at his office today are much interested in the bill, which passed the legislature and is now before the governor, changing the school trustee system and providing a county high school. Mr. Billington has worked for the passage of a measure to give county school children advantage of a free high school education ever since he began his term of office, and is much gratified that the measure is about to become a law.

Under the provisions of the new act one trustee is elected from each district, who has a seat on a divisional board, the county being divided into four, six or eight divisions. The trustees of each division elect a chairman, who becomes a member of the county board. The divisional board elects teachers for the districts under its supervision while the county board acts with the county superintendent in ordering new districts created, new buildings, etc. The members of the county board get $2 for each day they are in session but cannot charge for more than eight days in one year.

The county board is to report to the fiscal court the amount of money needed for school purposes and the court must levy a tax, not exceeding 20 cents on the $100 worth of property. A high school must be provided in each county, but the board may make arrangements with the trustees in the cities or towns having high schools, to allow the county pupils to attend the school at the expense of the county.

As soon as the bill becomes a law I intend to begin an aggressive campaign to have the patrons of each district select their trustees and shall use every effort to get the many benefits of the law for McCracken county the first fiscal year," said Professor Billington. "I believe the plan of levying a general fund with which school houses may be built, will be the means of providing better houses and better facilities generally than has ever before been known, as the money will not come entirely from the pockets of the taxpayers in the district in which the houses are built as heretofore, and it will give the poorer districts better advantages.

Working Full Time.

Water Valley, Miss., March 21.—The Illinois Central railroad shops, which have been working eight hours a day and four days in the week during the recent financial depression, have resumed work at full time.

STATE RIFLES ARRIVE

In the vault of the city hall there are three boxes labeled "From the State Arsenal, Frankfort, Ky." and directed to County Judge R. T. Lightfoot. The boxes have been here about a week, and it is presumed about three dozen rifles have been sent here for protection in case of an invasion of the "night riders." The police have said nothing about the boxes, but they are prepared for any attack should damage be attempted the local warehouses.

WEATHER.

WARMER

Increasing cloudiness and warmer tonight and Sunday. Probably showers by Sunday night. Highest temperature yesterday, 50; lowest today, 34.

Taft Will Have Sixty-One Votes More Than Majority on the First Ballot, Says Mr. Frank Hitchcock.

TAFT'S LEAD. Columbus, O., March 21.—To date of 218 instructed delegates to the national Republican convention Taft has 174, Fairbanks 26, Cannon 6, uninstructed 12. Taft's delegates come from 14 states.

TWO SHERIFFS AT HAND TO ARREST NEEL'S PRISONER

If witnesses do not appear against P. T. Overcast, charged with bootlegging, this afternoon at 2 o'clock, he will be dismissed of the charge. Overcast was brought to the city late yesterday afternoon by Elwood Neel, deputy United States marshal, from Hazel, where, it is alleged, he sold liquor without chipping in to Uncle Sam's revenue.

Marshal Neel arrested Overcast yesterday morning at Hazel, and 20 minutes after the marshal had him vaded the Taft headquarters since the meeting of the national committee last December, the Taft managers have apparently satisfied themselves that there is no longer any doubt as to the outcome and that the time has arrived to make public their claims officially in order to swing doubtful states into line behind the Taft handwagon. Mr. Hitchcock in his statement says in part:

Important Gains. "The most important gains in the Taft movement during the past month occurred west of the Mississippi river. The states and territories of that region are entitled to 404 votes in the Republican convention. Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma have already held their conventions and instructed for Taft, giving him more than 100 votes. New Mexico will hold its convention today and instruct for Taft.

"The state committees of North Dakota, South Dakota, Wyoming, Colorado, Washington, Arkansas and Louisiana have adopted resolutions endorsing his candidacy.

"In the New England states also distinct gains have been made for the Taft candidacy. A careful canvass of the situation in those states warrants the claim for Taft of 52 of their 82 delegates, leaving 30 still in doubt.

"The southern states east of the Mississippi river from Virginia to Kentucky southward are entitled to 194 votes in the national convention. Of this number 128 can be safely counted in the Taft column, leaving 66 still in doubt. While it is expected that contests will be made in the cases of certain delegates from the south, and Taft delegates here counted will be regularly elected and will bear credentials entitling them to be seated in the convention."

MRS. TATE GETS BIG VERDICT FOR HUSBAND.

FUGITIVE SHOOT AT OFFICERS WHO ARE PURSUING

Mrs. J. R. Tate, of Paducah, was given a verdict of $6,000 against the Big Four railroad at Robinson, Ill., Friday for the death of her husband, Engineer J. R. Tate, who was killed March 14, 1907, while making his run between Decaturville and Robinson, Ill. The plaintiff was represented by Judge James Campbell, of Paducah, and the firm of Bradberry & McHatton, of Robinson.

Washington, March 21.—The government has begun a new crusade against anarchy by debarring from the mails La Questione, the social-anarchistic Italian newspaper, published in New Jersey. The postmaster-general acted under authority in the postal regulations relative to immoral matter. A vigorous campaign will be inaugurated to stop circulation of inflammatory and seditious literature. A paper of similar character published in Kansas is now being scrutinized by postoffice officials. It recently attacked the president and with thinly veiled words threatened his life. The New Jersey socialist paper is held responsible for the assassination of Father Leo Heinrichs in Denver.

First Official Statement From Taft Campaign Managers. Shows That Race is Already Won by Them.

Washington, March 21.—In the first official statement issued from headquarters of Secretary Taft, Frank H. Hitchcock, manager of the campaign of the secretary of war to obtain the Republican nomination for president, declared that the secretary would have 552 votes on the first ballot, 61 more than necessary to nominate him. In this connection Mr. Hitchcock said: "The present strength of the Taft candidacy can be summarized as follows: "Northern cities east of the Mississippi river: "New England, 52. "Ohio, 46. "Other northern and eastern states, 52. "Southern states, east of the Mississippi river, 128. "States and territories west of Mississippi, 270. "Outlying territories, 4. Total, 552."

In breaking the silence that has pervaded the Taft headquarters since the meeting of the national committee last December, the Taft managers have apparently satisfied themselves that there is no longer any doubt as to the outcome and that the time has arrived to make public their claims officially in order to swing doubtful states into line behind the Taft handwagon. Mr. Hitchcock in his statement says in part:

Important Gains. "The most important gains in the Taft movement during the past month occurred west of the Mississippi river. CALLOWAY MORALS TO BE REGULATED BY NIGHT RIDERS

Booze Fighting Squire Warned to Shun the Cup That Stingeth Like a Serpent.

Farmer That Giveth His Neighbor Drink Must Cut it Out.

PLANTERS JOIN ASSOCIATION

Murray, Ky., March 21.—(Special.)—Now that the night riders have forced practically every non-association farmer in Calloway county to publicly announce his intention of joining the association at the first opportunity, they have turned their attention to regulating the morals of the county. A few nights ago a magistrate was visited and notified that he was drinking too much whisky and that he must "cut it out" or be severely dealt with. He promised to heed the warning and was unmolested. Another farmer was also seen and told that in making trips to Paducah he must not bring his friends any more whisky, if he had been doing so heretofore. He also readily agreed to do as he was told.

This week about 40 farmers have signed a pledge that was left at the Murray Ledger office by association officials, in which the farmers, some of them the best men of the county, who have always sold their tobacco independently, agree that they will sign the association pledge as soon as the "books are opened," May 1. One of these is Mr. T. F. Pogue, one of the best known citizens in the county, who has for several years sold his tobacco to consumers in states where no tobacco is grown, having built up a large mail order business. It is presumed that he has also been notified to sell tobacco only through the association.

JUDGE REED AND LOVETT WARNED OF NIGHT RIDERS

Benton, Ky., March 21. (Special.)—Rumors of all kinds are thick in the air here since the grand jury commenced its investigation, and yesterday there was much talk of night rider warnings being served on Circuit Judge Reed, Commonwealth's Attorney John G. Lovett and others connected with the investigation. No serious attention is paid to the stories, and it is believed mischievous boys are responsible for notices on the negroes to leave Benton. The best citizens deplore the occurrence.

Mr. Lovett last night received a long distance telephone message from Mrs. Lovett at Benton, about the alleged night rider threats. Mr. Lovett returned to Benton today.

EIGHTH DISTRICT IS SOLID FOR TAFT; CONVENTION WILL BE HELD ON MAY 5

Senator-Elect Bradley Says He Has Not Denounced Federal Officeholders.

Lawrenceburg, Ky., March 21.—At a meeting of the Eighth congressional district Republican committee here in the parlors of the Lawrenceburg hotel, Tuesday, May 5, was decided upon as the day the district convention should meet at Shelbyville for the purpose of selecting an elector to be voted for at the November election, two delegates and two alternates to the Chicago convention and a state central committeeman.

The Taft forces won the skirmish, every member being for the secretary of war. It was conclusively shown that the delegates from this district will be for Taft. T. J. Ballard, who is the present state central committeeman, and who is an original Taft man, is a candidate for delegate, and his friends from over the district said that he would win easily.

Senator-elect William O. Bradley at first declined the invitation to address the meeting, but upon the appointment of a committee of three by the chair to escort him from his room, he very promptly consented.

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. Bertha Muff, of 515 N.C. St., Louisiana, Mo., writes:

"Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my troubles public.

"For twelve years I had been suffering with the worst forms of female ills. During that time I had eleven different physicians without help. No tongue can tell what I suffered, and at times I could hardly walk. About two years ago I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice. I followed it, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice restored health and strength. It is worth mountains of gold to suffering women."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Muff, it will do for other suffering women.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bedwetting. Their constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, South Bend, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your child is troubled in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures aunts and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

PILES

"I have suffered with piles for thirty-six years. Two years ago last April I began taking Cascarets for constipation. In the course of a week I noticed the piles began to disappear, and at the end of two weeks they did not trouble me at all. Cascarets have done wonders for me. I am entirely cured and feel like a new man." George Kryder, Napoleon, O.

and came in wearing "the smile that won't come off."

Bradley Makes Speech.

Senator Bradley said that he did not come here to attend the meeting, but that he was here on other business, and that it always was a pleasure to him to address a body of Republicans, and especially on this occasion, as this was in his old district. He said that the Republicans should nominate a good, strong man and send him to congress from this district, that the trend in Kentucky was to the Republican party and that it was growing stronger all the time. He said that his name had been mentioned as a candidate for delegate from the state-at-large to the Chicago convention.

"I'm not asking anyone to vote for me for that place, nor am I soliciting anyone to vote against me," he said. "My fondest hopes have been realized and I am the happiest man in the world." He said in so many words that if the place was tendered him that he would accept it. He said further that some of the newspapers had reported him as denouncing federal officeholders. This, he said, was a deliberate lie.

"I did say," said Senator Bradley, "that where the federal patronage is dispensed for the purpose of furthering the political ends of any man it was unquestionably wrong."

In speaking of the presidential race, Senator Bradley paid a high compliment to Secretary of War Taft and said that there were no personal reasons why he was not for him as he regarded him as a great man and a great Republican.

Why He is for Fairbanks.

"The main reason I am for Mr. Fairbanks," said the senator, "is because he will receive the united support of the party. He came to Kentucky during the recent campaign and gave the party valuable service, and then, too, the people of Indiana contributed largely to the campaign fund during that fight."

In speaking of the senatorial race, he said: "There never was a time during that fight that I doubted but what I would land the prize eventually. Sixty-five tried and true Republicans stood with me and to them is all the honor due. Yes, four Democrats voted for me and the man that says that anyone of them got a single cent for it tells a lie. The reason that they voted for me was that they liked me and didn't like the other fellow. They had a keen eye and could recognize a United States senator when they saw one."

State Auditor Frank James, Insurance Commissioner Charles W. Bell and other prominent Republicans were present.

Keeping Flour at Sea.

The information received at the navy department from the United States ship Virginia in regard to the test of packing flour in bags instead of barrels is not sufficient to settle the question of choice. It has been decided to leave to the general storekeepers at New York, Boston and Norfolk the selection of barrels or bags as the packing of flour which is shortly to be furnished under a contract for 100,000 pounds of that article recently awarded to a New York firm. Some of the officers who have been studying the subject claim that it would be a saving of space and easier in handling if flour were packed in bags. It is a question, however, whether bagged flour will be sufficiently protected from deterioration. On the Pacific coast it is the custom to pack flour in tins, but this is a costly envelope, although it is an insurance against the ravages of insects and the influence of moisture. The tins, once used, have to be thrown overboard, and represent a direct and total loss, and it has not been proved that the saving in flour offsets the cost of the tin. The bag which will be used is of double thickness. It is a question whether bagged flour, when stored below decks, will not suffer from the moisture which comes from confinement in the metal storage rooms. The test which has been conducted on the Virginia was expected to determine the question, but the reports are not definite as yet, and it is necessary, therefore, to depend upon some further observation before bags are substituted for barrels in packing flour.—New York Tribune.

It is when duty calls that we are apt to send word we are out.

THEATRICAL NOTES

"The Red Mill."

"The Red Mill," which will grind for the first time at the Kentucky on Monday, March 23, is the one comic opera triumph of the past season to receive the endorsement of the dramatic critics and the paying public as well; in fact, the privileged "dead heads" voted it the one supreme opera success of the year. "The Red Mill" might be termed a musical comedy in two acts. Mr. Blossom, always clever, wrote the dialogue and lyrics, and Victor Herbert wrote all the music. Both combined have made a play that will last as long, if not longer, than any comic opera. The story has to do with two roving Americans who are "doing" Europe for the first time, but find when they strike the continent that their extravagance has led them to almost financial ruin. They are discovered in an attempt to escape from the hotel, leaving their baggage behind, are apprehended, arrested and tried, and are sentenced by the burgo-master to work out their sentence to the inn keeper. Then begins a series of complications and excruciating situations which are brought to a climax in the first act, where they are helping two lovers to escape and go to the extreme in rescuing an imprisoned maiden from the mill by means of the revolving blades of fans, which they use to ascend and descend with the girl. The production here will include an exceptionally clever cast, with John Ford as Con Kidder, William R. Swor as Kid Connor, John B. Simpson, Harry Carter, Milton Dawson, Fred McGee, Maurice Lavigne, Charles Hopkins and the Misses Viola Kellogg, Marguerite Fry, Sadie Kirby, Edna de Dreu and a chorus of fifty, including the Dutch Kiddies and an augmented orchestra.

THE WEARING AV THE GREEN.

A bit av tunc to me ear is brought By a passing, vagrant breeze. A bar from a tune me ears once knew In a land across the seas. It's the dear old "Wearing av the Green."

And it bears me far away; In mind and heart I'm in Erin's isle. And it's morn, St. Patrick's day.

St. Patrick's day in the morning there— 'Twas many a year ago— I traveled a road to Donaghmore With a girl I used to know, And she had a ribbon in her hair As green as the emerald sod, And we tramped that way as gay a pair As ever the dear soil trod.

When old the day, in the deepening dusk, Once again we came that way, The path we trod was a glory road, E'en though the dark shadows lay Athwart the path, for love shone bright As stars in the blue o'erhead. We whispered o'er, as we tripped along, The words that the priest had said.

St. Patrick's day, and I'm far away From the isle av emerald sheen, And many a year a dear grave there Has been wearing av the green. Ah, 'tis here am I in freedom's land— Please God I'm here to stay— But me heart and soul go home each year

For to spend St. Patrick's day, — Arthur J. Burdick in Louisville Herald.

POINTS ON DRESS.

New Neckwear, Novelties, Collars, Ties and Stocks—The New Linen "Shirt" for Women.

Ruchings, wide and medium, are continuing to be very popular, but stiff embroidered linen collars of white and colors, also, colored embroidery on white with the "bow tie" or "stock effect," are the coming things. Stock ties in washable materials are going to be very much worn this season.

The only really new thing out in the way of shirt waists this season is the new linen "shirt." It is made of linen with one or two pockets, stiff collar and cuffs, and in every way a regular shirt, they give promise to be very good this year.

These goods can be seen in endless varieties at L. B. Ogilvie & Co.'s, "The Daylight Store." They receive the new fads just as soon as any large city store.

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, it will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. W. B. McPherson, Special Agent.

"I advise every woman whose hair has begun to reflect traces of gray's feet to obtain a Japanese pillow and don a kimono," she says. "From the Japanese women I have learned to dress with a grace and comfort I have never known."

"Then the authoress led me to her bed and showed me a hollow block of wood incased in a dainty white slip. 'This is the bugbear of wrinkles,' she said. 'I always take this pillow with me, no matter where I go. Whenever I take a nap it is upon a Japanese mat with this pillow under my head. It affords a rest unknown to modern American women. It is not merely a fad. There is a scientific principle behind it all. Throwing the head back and lying on the back removes the pressure from the brain and relaxes the body, which means rest. Repose means lack of worry, and the result is hard lines are frightened away. This pillow is better than all the beauty doctors and a train load of cold creams. The kimono affords a freedom and grace of movement not possible where one is incased in stays. All of my dresses are built on the kimono principle, modernized by Greek touches. Even those for street wear are made along these lines, for the Japanese manner of dress, I think, leads the world.'"

Attractive Art Exhibit.
The Horace K. Turner traveling Art Exhibit of Boston will be displayed in Paducah on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week at "The Three Links" building, corner Fifth street and Kentucky avenue. It comes under the auspices of the local schools and is for the purpose of elevating the standards of art. The exhibit comprises some 20 beautiful reproductions of the world's most noted paintings, portraits, architecture, sculpture and natural scenery and will be displayed to the best advantage. A committee will have charge of the exhibit each evening to explain the pictures and give interesting art talks. On Wednesday Miss Morgan, Miss Byrd and Miss Acker, of the schools, will be in charge; Thursday evening the Art and Civics departments of the Woman's club; Miss Anna Webb and Miss Adine Morton, chairmen; Friday evening the Educational department, Mrs. Henry Overby, chairman, Saturday evening the Literary department of the club, Mrs. Muscoe Burnett, chairman. A number of attractive art talks will be featured. A liberal patronage should be accorded the exhibit, which has had high praise from the various large cities of the country. A small sum will be charged for admission to assist in buying pictures for the local school rooms.

Ye Olden Tyme Party.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lee entertained Magnolia Grove, No. 2, Woodmen of the World Circle in a attractive way on Monday evening at their home on South Third street. The occasion celebrated the birthday of Mrs. Lee. The guests were all bidden to "dine in old-time costume and many quaint and interesting heirlooms were in evidence. The house was prettily decorated in the lodge colors of green and purple. Ferns and palms formed an effective background for the purple violets and hyacinths and other spring flowers of this color. The delightful three course luncheon carried out the green and purple motif in the table appointments. Old-fashioned games were given prominence. In a flower contest the prize went to Mrs. George Lehnhard. Mrs. Clyde Cummings carried off the honors in a musical contest. The guests were: Messrs. and Mesdames George Lehnhard, J. H. Maxwell, George Bondurant, Fred Mitchell, Clyde Cummings, A. Yopp, Dan Galvin, Henry Lehnhard, Corniliaud, J. Henry Snyder, J. E. Ellithorpe, E. J. Cross, Mesdames Eva DeLoach, Mamie Deboe; Misses Edna Kirkham, Ruth Phelps, Julia Lee, Clara Lee; Mr. W. A. Garner, Dr. Henry Williamson.

Louisville Woman's Club Breaks All Precedents.

The Paducah Woman's club will be interested in the personnel of the Louisville Woman's club officers, just elected, as doubtless most of them will be present at the State Federation meeting here in June. Of the election the Louisville Herald says: "After having broken all precedents in nominating its new president several days before the election took place, the Woman's club yesterday chose its new officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. George C. Avery, the new president, was nominated at a meeting of the club last Wednesday, and almost forced to accept the position over her protest that there were other members whom she thought could carry out the duties to better advantage. Never before in the history of the club has a member been nominated to office until the day of election. The other officers, who were nominated with Mrs. Avery on the 'ticket,' and elected were: First vice-president, Mrs. Malcolm Bullitt; second vice-president, Mrs. S. Thruston Ballard; recording secretary, Miss Frances C. Simpson; corresponding secretary, Miss Lilla Breed. The following chairmen of committees were chosen: Literary committee, Mrs. A. T. Robertson; art, Mrs. William J. Dodd; music, Miss Mary A. Davidson; current events, Miss Lucy Baird; civics, Mrs. Charles S. Nield; lectures, Mrs. H. W. Blane; hospitality, Mrs. Pierce Butler. No contests were made in the elections. A few scattering opposition votes were cast, but they were not sufficient in number to cause a division worthy of mention. The new officers will be installed on the last of May. However, they will take up their work at once."

The Secret of Perpetual Youth.
Hallie Erminie Rives, the Kentucky authoress, claims she has discovered "the secret of perpetual youth." When Hallie Rives spent a summer in Paducah some years ago she had not written her novels, her fame as a writer came later, but she was a striking girl of the Titian type and had a popular time here. If her secret enables her to retain this charm, she has achieved a greater fame than from her books. Elizabeth H. Gregory, the New York correspondent, features the interview as follows:

"In the Japanese costume and the Japanese method of sleeping Mrs. Post Wheeler, known to the literary world as Hallie Erminie Rives, believes she has found the secret of perpetual youth. She has lived several years in Japan, where her husband is secretary of the American legation in Tokio.

"I advise every woman whose hair has begun to reflect traces of gray's feet to obtain a Japanese pillow and don a kimono," she says. "From the Japanese women I have learned to dress with a grace and comfort I have never known."

"Then the authoress led me to her bed and showed me a hollow block of wood incased in a dainty white slip. 'This is the bugbear of wrinkles,' she said. 'I always take this pillow with me, no matter where I go. Whenever I take a nap it is upon a Japanese mat with this pillow under my head. It affords a rest unknown to modern American women. Pleasant Metropolis Outing.

A jolly party of the members of the Metropolis club went down to Metropolis on Tuesday afternoon on the Cowling and spent the evening attending a dance there. The crowd was chaperoned by Mrs. J. B. Thomas and Mrs. Frank Coburn and included: Misses Tess Manning, of St. Louis; Alma Kopf, Rosebud Hobson, Elsie Dodge, Henry Albett, Elizabeth Sebree; Messrs. Frank Davis, John Rector, of Cairo; Sam Hughes, Jr., Will Ruckliffe, Clarence McCord, Fred Gilliam, James McGinnis.

For Wedding Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Thomas were given a pleasant surprise on Tuesday evening by some of their friends in honor of the eleventh anniversary of their marriage. Games were a feature of entertainment. Light refreshments were served. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. John Alger, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Houseman, Mr. and Mrs. John Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Householder, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. McKinney, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Statton, Miss Marie Burch, Miss Mary Boaz, the Messrs. Boaz.

Attractive Howells Morning.

The Literary department of the Woman's club discussed William Dean Howells on Friday morning at the club house. The study of Howells was interestingly outlined in three divisions. Mrs. Muscoe Burnett gave the "Life and Friends of Howells." The "Novels of Howells" were discussed by Mrs. Arch Sutherland. "Howells as a Critic" was portrayed by Miss Helen Bullitt Lowry.

Enjoyable Surprise Tacky Party.

A surprise "Tacky" party was given Mrs. Frank Edinger, of North Sixth street, on Tuesday evening at her home. The house was prettily decorated with spring flowers. Euchre was played. A delicious luncheon was served after the game. The euchre prize was won by Mrs. Hummel. Mrs. Andrew Doup was awarded the prize for the most unique costume. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Bockmou, Mr. and Mrs. John Rock, Mr. and Mrs. Dunant, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Endress, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Christman, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs.

Pleasant Coffee Social.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Order of Railway Conductors were given a coffee social on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. E. Kelly, on Monroe street. It was the second of the series of socials for the auxiliary and a delightful occasion. The dining room was prettily decorated in a motif of red, white and green, the colors of the order. The tri-colors were twined about the chandeliers above the table and suspended from it was a white dove carrying a carnation, the flower of the order. Carnations decorated the table and delicious refreshments were served. The afternoon was pleasantly spent with contests. In a conundrum contest Mrs. W. E. Barkley captured the prize and the booby prize went to Miss Irene Wykoff. In a bean counting contest Mrs. M. Houllihan won the honors. The guests were: Mesdames W. E. Barkley, A. Hazelbar, T. J. Flynn, Henry Harris, A. E. Finney, James R. Fox, Peter Wildt, Julius S. Wesson, Philip Rogers, Wilford Rogers, J. N. Moore; Misses Lilla Story, Bessie Hazelbar and Irene Wykoff.

Informal Afternoon Tea.

An informal Tea was given on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Circle No. 2 of the Ramsay society of the Broadway Methodist church, at the home of Mrs. Frank Smith, on North Fourth street. The parlors were attractive with spring flowers and were pleasantly crowded with guests. Dainty refreshments were served and an informal musical program was rendered. A free-will offering was made for the benefit of the circle's work in the church.

In Honor of Guest.

Mr. Velvin Quarles and Miss Eunice Quarles entertained at their home, 123 Clements street, on Thursday night in honor of their cousin, Miss Bertha Smith, of Kevil. A delightful evening was spent. Dainty refreshments were served. Those present were: Misses Bertha Smith, Annie Virgin, Lottie Loftin, Belle Shemwell, Nora Dugan, Minnie Wilson, Ruby McDonald, Lizzie Dimmick, Mae Boungeno, Edith Marsh, Eunice Quarles; Messrs. Silas Howard, Aerial Simmons, Virgil Cooper, Harley Rector, Velvin Quarles.

Open Meeting of Civics Department.

The Civics department of the Woman's club carried out an attractive planned open meeting for the evening on Thursday afternoon at the club house. The civic idea as shown in children's work was emphasized throughout in the program. Mrs. Adine Morton, the chairman, gave some "Civic Suggestions for a cleaner Paducah." Miss Allie Bagby told a charming story, called "The Eyes." Mrs. George Fleming read "Flowers" along with the club and distributed castor oil pills and chrysanthemum plants to the children. Pretty ribbon badges were given to 190 children present.

Pleasant Social Evening.

A social was given to the members and friends of the First Presbyterian church on Tuesday night by the "Young Ladies" society in the church parlors. It was a delightful occasion and the attendance was large. Besides the usual social features and refreshments an excellent musical program was given by Miss Adah Brazelton, Miss George Hart, Mrs. Lelia Wade Lewis, Miss Anne Bradshaw and Mr. Emmet Bagby. The church parlors were prettily decorated with palms and ferns and jonquills.

Delphic Club.

The Delphic club discussed some interesting phases of Egypt on Tuesday morning at their room in the Carnegie library. "The Turk in Egypt, the Sultan, Saladin," was cleverly given by Mrs. A. R. Meyers. "France and England in Egypt and

IS THE CONTEST OVER? The Boston Transcript says: "It is entirely possible that by April 10, which will mark the culmination of the struggle over the election of delegates at large from Massachusetts, the situation will be much like that in 1840 in this state, as described by the National Intelligencer of that time."

"States then actually voted for president on different days. Just as they now choose delegates at different times. Massachusetts' election day came on the second Monday of November. New York, which voted a week earlier, had supported William Henry Harrison, with enough other states scattered along to make it clear that he had been elected."

"Torchlight processions celebrating his success had paraded Massachusetts' streets before our voters went to the polls to express their own preference. It was not strange, in these circumstances, that the great Washington organ of that day should solemnly announce: 'Several thousand aged and infirm Whigs in Massachusetts did not bother to go to the polls.'"

"It will be contrary to all present evidences of the trend of American sentiment if it is not entirely clear one month from today that William H. Taft is the choice of the Republican party for the presidency. The tables, prepared with painstaking care by the New York Tribune, show that Taft is making a highly effective sweep of the country."

"If a summary were made of the delegates whom Taft is getting outside his own state, by comparison with the delegates whom any other candidate is getting outside that man's own state, the unevenness of the race would be brought out in still greater contrast. And the strength of a candidate away from home is the real test of his carrying qualities."

We had asked ourselves: Is it possible that Caleb Powers, about to be freed from prison, is likely to get into congress?

In spite of Taft's warning for his friends to leave Illinois to Joe Cannon, one county has declared for the genial secretary of war. Taft couldn't prevent his own nomination now.

Fairbanks leaders have to say nice things about Taft when they speak in the Eighth district, we observe.

When he was told that the New York committee declined to endorse him, it is recorded that Mr. Bryan had nothing to say.

BRYAN. In his zeal to give publicity to his ideas, William Jennings Bryan precipitated the tariff issue before he knew whether it would be necessary to raise that question in the approaching presidential campaign. Had Mr. Bryan remained quiet about his platform until he could see how the Republican contest was coming out, he would have had the advantage of being the attacking party. As it is Bryan has fortified his position on public questions and hoisted the free trade flag over his ramparts, leaving the field open to the maneuvers of the enemy, to make a frontal attack, flank him, or strike him from all sides at once. By pronouncing for "tariff for revenue only" he has thus early in the campaign directed public attention to that question, and undoubtedly strengthened the position of William H. Taft, the apostle of tariff revision and reciprocity, for which the late President William McKinley declared himself a few hours before his assassination. It will at any rate, determine how the majority of the Republicans stand on revision and clear the situation, so that the dominant party will go into the real fight after the convention without any internal misunderstandings.

Had Bryan remained quiet the issue would have been simply the record of the Republican party under the Roosevelt administration. That would have put the Republicans on the defensive and Bryan himself might have been free from attack. With that issue before the people, the Republican party could easily embarrass itself beyond recovery by ill-advised action in the convention. For instance, if the party should nominate some one not in sympathy with the policies of Roosevelt, and the country should demand a perpetuation of his policy, Bryan, who has been forced time after time to admit the patriotic course of the president, could stand forth in the strength of his commendatory utterances and point to the inconsistency of the Republican party going back on its own record. But he cannot do that under a free trade flag with a due bill for the Philippine islands in his pocket.

THE ISSUES. The Republican party simply cannot turn back from the vigorous prosecution of Roosevelt's policies and win. Those policies are progressive and not yet fulfilled. The reformation of the army, and the consistent development of the navy, together with the overhauling and modernizing of all government bureaus have been going on for six years, and are not yet completed. Considerable quantities of dirt and scandal have been stirred up by the government house cleaning, but the result is already shown to be a betterment of service. We are getting something for our money at Washington now.

The internal policies include digging the Panama canal, developing internal waterways to their full carrying capacity and extending them, reforestation of water sheds, preservation of the national timber supply and grazing and ore lands, reclamation of arid acres for cultivation to increase the food supply, and the enforcement of federal laws to perpetuate competition and protect the workmen in their right to "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

The state department has undertaken the cultivation and maintenance of friendly relations with South America and Asia, where our future foreign customers reside, by acting fairly toward them; by improving our consular service, and by building up our merchant marine, that American boats may carry American products.

Many of these projects are as yet in their incipency. Especially in the matter of internal improvements it has been necessary actually to pave the way by a course of popular instruction to enlist the support of the public, as in the case of the forestry associations. Private interests, which saw graft or a snap torn from their fingers, fought the federal executive on the plea that he was encroaching on state rights and hampering private enterprise. Even lumber companies, that now acknowledge their annual output is not limited, while they call make sure of a future supply by following the government experts' suggestions, were hot against interference at the outset. The same situation was met in regard to preserving mineral, fuel and grazing lands. Only in the matter of reclamation of arid lands and deepening the waterways was the government encouraged, and that was because they carried an appropriation.

The merchant marine project is another one, which requires consummate tact and patience. On the one side are interests, which hope for graft and on the other a suspicious people. The merchant marine can only be built up by an administration in which the people have as much confidence as they have in Roosevelt's.

Our foreign relations were never in better condition. This government stands high in the diplomatic world. No more brilliant galaxy of statesmen can be found than the corps headed by Elihu Root. South Americans for the first time in decades have confidence in American honesty. Central American states have been brought into harmony, and even China, whose coolies have been barred from our western coast, turns to the United States as her next friend against Japan. The advice of American diplomats a few days ago settled the disturbance between the yellow empires. Besides offering an unlimited market for the future, China will make an excellent foil in preserving the peace of the Pacific.

TAFT. The man to succeed Roosevelt must be a man of great experience, broad sympathies, intimate understanding of the policies and the situation, a logical mind, and a genius for peace with unyielding determination.

There is just one man suited for the place in every respect and Roosevelt has found him. Any one who has studied the kind of men whom Roosevelt surrounds himself, would have expected Roosevelt to find the right one for his successor. No man in the whole world knows the foreign relations of the United States better than does William H. Taft, and no other man has such intimate knowledge of questions involved in our colonial relations and the situation in the far east. As a jurist William H. Taft stood among the highest of his profession; as war secretary he has brought the army out of the rut of bureaucracy. He has started dirt flying in Panama; he has quieted Cuba and the Philippines; he has visited China and Japan and Russia on diplomatic missions and is the only departmental head who has been to the Philippines.

If elected president, he would have to waste no time acquainting himself with conditions. The usual break in the continuity of policies experienced every four or eight years would be obviated. Taft would step into the white house, knowing men and events and conditions, with the tools and the men at hand and organized to pursue the course for which he has declared himself. He would be the first president of the United States who has special preparation for the task assigned him. He has been around the world twice on official missions, besides being tried in judicial, executive and colonial positions. There is not a department of government, with which he is not personally acquainted. His courage and honesty are in every way the equal of his tact. Other possible candidates for president avoided activity to prevent mistakes, but Taft undertook the most delicate enterprises with the full knowledge that a mistake would cost him political preference. Already spoken of as Roosevelt's probable successor, he went to his home state two years ago and denounced corruption in his own party. Even when seeking the indorsement of his own state, he refused to commit his friends to a coalition with J. B. Foraker, who controlled all the state and federal patronage, and he allowed the people in primary to decide his fate. His confidence was supreme, but well founded, for not a county failed him. With the same complacent smile, with which he satisfactorily settled the friar land troubles in the Philippines, the first of that wonderful series of diplomatic achievements that have marked his cabinet career, Mr. Taft said, "I am not fighting Senator Foraker. If the people of Ohio want him and not me, it is for them to say. I have friends, who oppose Mr. Foraker, and friends who desire him for senator. I have no mind to interfere with their rights as citizens."

The initiation of these policies of state require just such a man as Roosevelt. "Abnormal," Joe Cannon calls him, and maybe Uncle Joe is right in a better sense than he intended. But Taft, while as efficient, bearing assiduously as certain of carrying on the work, with force and capacity and honor in as high a degree, is a man of different temperament. Impetuosity will not be needed henceforth. Steady perseverance is now in order, but the administration of Taft will be none the less brilliant, if not so startlingly varied as that of Roosevelt.

Some criticism was indulged in when President Roosevelt conveyed the interstate commerce commission to ascertain whether the policy of the administration, mismanagement or politics was responsible for the proposed cut in wages of railroad employees; but it is worthy of comment that the railroads have decided not to make the cut.

There will be only one candidate before each of the big national conventions, but there is a vast difference in the preliminaries. Democrats of the east and south are reconciled to Bryan, and will not oppose him, because they know he has sufficient following to defeat any other Democrat at the election. They base their hope of electing him on the anticipation of Republican discord. In vivid contrast, there is the hottest kind of a light on for the Republican delegates, but there will be no ill feeling. When the convention day rolls around, William H. Taft will have most of them rallied, while every other candidate, thanks to the consideration shown by Mr. Taft, will have his own state delegation, no mean compliment even if a man loses the highest prize.

THE MYSTERY. By STEWART EDWARD WHITE And SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS. COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

(Continued from last issue.) "I'm out," said the surgeon briefly and stood with mouth agape. Never had the disciplined Wolverines performed a sea duty with so ragged a routine as the getting in of the boat containing the live man and the dead body. The dead seaman was reverently disposed and covered. As to the survivor there was some hesitancy on the part of the captain, who was inclined to send him forward until Dr. Trenderon, after a swift scrutiny, suggested that for the present at least he be berthed aft. They took the stranger to Edwards' vacant room, where Trenderon was closeted with him for half an hour. When he emerged he was beset with questions. "Can't give any account of himself yet," said the surgeon. "Weak and not rightly conscious." "What ails him?" "Enough. Gash in his scalp. Fever, thirst and exhaustion. Nervous shock, too, I think." "How came he aboard the Laughing Lass? Does he know anything of Billy?" "Was he a stowaway? Did you ask him about lives and McGuire? How came he in the small boat? Where are the rest?" "Now, now," said the veteran chidingly. "How can I tell? Would you have me kill the man with questions? He left them to look at the body of the boat's mate. Not a word had he to say when he returned. Only the captain got anything out of him but growling and unintelligible expressions, which seemed to be obligatory and to express bewilderment and pain." "How long had poor Timmins been downed?" the captain had asked him, and Trenderon replied: "Captain Parkinson, the man wasn't drowned. No water in his lungs." "Not drowned! Then how came he by his death?" "If I were to diagnose it under any other conditions I should say that he had inhaled flames." "Then the two men stared at each other in blank stupidity. Meantime the scarecrow was showing signs of re-empirity."

"Take it yourself, if you like," said Trenderon.

turning consciousness, and a message was dispatched for the physician. On his way he met Barnett, who asked and received permission to accompany him. The stranger was tossing restlessly in his bunk, opening and shutting his parched mouth in silent, piteous appeal for the water that must still be doled to him parsimoniously. "I think I'll try him with a little brandy," said Trenderon and sent for the liquor.

Barnett raised the patient while the surgeon held the glass to his lips. The man's hand rose, wavered and clasped the glass. "All right, my friend. Take it yourself, if you like," said Trenderon. The fingers closed. Tremulously held the little glass tilted and rattled against the teeth. There was one deep, eager spasm of swallowing. Then the fevered eyes opened upon the face of the Wolverine's first officer.

"Frost! Barnett," said the man in a voice like the rasp of rusty metal. The navy man straightened up as from a blow under the jaw. "Be careful what you are about," warned Trenderon, addressing his superior officer sharply, for Barnett had all but let his charge drop. His face was a pucker of amazement and incredulity.

"Did you hear him speak my name—am I dreaming?" he half-whispered. "Heard him plain enough. Who is he?" The man's mouth closed, but he smiled a little—a singular, wry mouthed, winning smile. With that there came a rattle behind the brush of beard, filling out the deep lines of emaciation, a memory to the recognition of Barnett—a keen and gay countenance that whisked him back across seven years' time to the days of Dewey and the Philippines.

"Ralph Slade, by the Lord!" he exclaimed. "Of the Laughing Lass?" cried Trenderon. "Of the Laughing Lass." Such a fury of eagerness burned in the face of Barnett that Trenderon cautioned him. "See here, Mr. Barnett, you're not going to fire a broadside of disturbing questions at my patient yet awhile. He's in no condition."

"But it was from the other that the questions came. Opening his eyes he whispered: 'The sailor? Where?'" "Dead," said Trenderon bluntly. Then, breaking his own rule of repression, he asked: "Did he come off the schooner with you?" "Picked him up," was the straining answer. "Drifting?" The survivor looked around him, then into Barnett's face, and his mind, too, traversed the years. "North Dakota?" he queried. "No. I've changed my ship," said Barnett. "This is the Wolverine." "Where's the Laughing Lass?" Barnett shook his head. "Tell me," begged Slade. "Wait till you're stronger," admonished Trenderon. "Can't wait," said the weak voice. The eyes grew wild. "Mr. Barnett, tell him the bare outline and make it short," said the surgeon. "We sighted the Laughing Lass two days ago. She was in good shape, but deserted—that is, we thought she was deserted."

The man nodded eagerly. "I suppose you were aboard," said Barnett, and Trenderon made a quick gesture of impatience and rebuke. "No," said Slade. "Left three-four—don't know how many nights ago." The officers looked at each other. "Go on," said Trenderon to his companion. "We put a crew aboard in command of an ensign," continued Barnett, "and picked up the schooner the next night. Deserted. You must know about it. Where is Billy Edwards?" "Never heard of him," whispered the other. "Yes and McGuire, then. They were there after—Great God, man!" he cried, his agitation breaking out. "Pull yourself together! Give us something to go on."

"Mr. Barnett," said the surgeon per-empirily. But the suggestion was working in the sick man's brain. He turned to the officers a face of horror. "Your man, Edwards—the crew—they left her? In the night?" "What does he mean?" cried Barnett. "The light! You saw it?" "Yes. We saw a strange light," answered Trenderon soothingly. Slade half rose. "Lost! All lost!" he cried and fell back unconscious. Trenderon exploded into curses. "See what you've done to my patient," he fumed. Barnett looked at him with contrite eyes. "Better get out before he comes," growled the surgeon. "No way to treat a man half dead of exhaustion?" "It was nearly an hour before Slade came back to the world again. The doctor forbade him to attempt speech. But of one thing he would not be denied. There was a struggle for utterance, then: "The volcano!" he rasped out. "Dead ahead," was the reply. "Stand by!" gasped Slade. He strove to rise, to say something further, but endurance had reached its limit. The man was utterly done.

Dr. Trenderon went on deck, his head sunk between his shoulders. For a minute he was in earnest talk with the captain. Presently the Wolverine's engines slowed down and she lay head to the waves, with just enough turn of the screw to hold her against the sea-way.

New York, March 21.—Dun's Review says: Bank exchanges this week at all leading cities in the United States are $2,135,820,543, 49.2 per cent. less than a year ago, and 17.2 per cent. under the corresponding week of 1906. The loss continues particularly heavy at the east, the south and at San Francisco. In the central west the loss is generally very small, and at some points there is an increase in bank clearings compared with both preceding years. Payments through the banks are maintained very close to the restricted volume of the past three or four months, with evidence of improvement at some points but little change at others.

NEWS OF COURTS

In Bankruptcy. A joint petition has been filed by the International Harvesting company, the American German National bank and the State National bank of Metropolis, protesting against a discharge in bankruptcy being given the E. Rehkopf estate. The creditors claim that Rehkopf transferred property on Washington street to Earl Walters for $3,500 and did not turn the money and notes over to the bankruptcy court when his petition was filed. It is also claimed that he bought goods for his firm, knowing it was in liquidation. The objections will be heard by Referee Bagby next week. The sale of the stock of the Thompson-Wilson company has been postponed until March 31 at 11 o'clock on account of the sale not being properly advertised. The referee also set March 31 as the time for hearing the objection to the claim of Attermyer Ross & Criss for a fee of $1,000 for services rendered in the case. Milliner Assigns. Mrs. A. A. Baisley, milliner, of 428 Broadway, has filed a deed of assignment for the benefit of her creditors, naming E. W. Whitmore assignee. PADUCAH ABOVE AVERAGE TRADE

Bank Clearings Show Only Ten Percent Decrease.

Volume of Business All Over Country Gradually Resuming Normal in All Lines.

WHOLESALE MAKERS REPORT

Bank clearings $708,953 Same week last year 780,567 Decrease 80,614

That Paducah is very near holding her own and compares more than favorably with other cities in the country in the volume of business, is brought out in the comparison of the bank clearings this week with the same week a year ago. Bradstreet's report for the entire country for this week shows a decrease of 40 per cent from last year, while the decrease in Paducah is some less than 10 per cent. The total figures for the week reflect great activity, as but few weeks in any period of last year were in excess of the $700,000 mark set this week. The clearings in the same week a year ago were a little abnormal, local bankers state. Business conditions all over the country, are gradually reflecting the improvement that seems to be solid, and there are unmistakable signs that the corner has been turned and we are on the road to prosperity. Of course, the journey will be slow, but it will be all the better for that. We were going too fast a year ago. We realize that now. We shall have setbacks in the improvement, just as the convalescents have their days of relapses, but the operations for readjustment are being conducted on a large scale and the only useful survey of conditions is the broad view. Conditions in the iron and steel industries, the accepted barometers of business, augur well for the future, and railroad earnings are beginning to show less decrease.

Local wholesalers report business better for the season than they expected the first of the year. Retailers are buying less freely than a year ago, due to the fluctuations in the markets, yet their stocks are running low, and when conditions do right themselves the activity will be great. The spring season with local retailers is satisfactory so far.

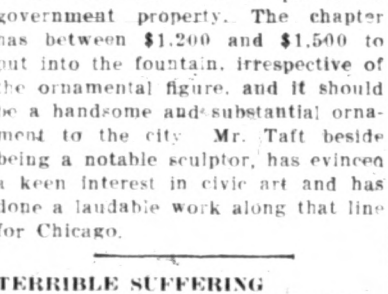

CHICAGO SCULPTOR

Dr. Della Caldwell, chairman of the D. A. R. Memorial Fountain committee, yesterday afternoon received a letter from Mr. Lorado Taft, the sculptor of Chicago, in which he expressed himself as most interested in the plan for the fountain and would work upon a design to put before the chapter. The committee will compliment Mr. Taft by inviting no competition, recognizing not only his signal ability and fitness for the task, but that his recent visit to Paducah would put him in sympathetic touch with the work here. Any design will have to be submitted to the proper authorities at Washington before accepted. The chapter has between $1,200 and $1,500 to put into the fountain, irrespective of the ornamental figure, and it should be a handsome and substantial ornament to the city. Mr. Taft besides being a notable sculptor, has evinced a keen interest in civic art and has done a laudable work along that line for Chicago.

TERRIBLE SUFFERING HAS BEEN RELIEVED.

Marcus Silverman, 29 years old who was suffering from some obstruction of the intestines and was taken to Riverside hospital yesterday morning from the Illinois Central train, is reported better today. Yesterday Silverman became so violent that he had to be strapped to the bed, and several times it required four men to hold him on the bed. Scars show that he has been operated on five times for the same trouble, but if he continues to improve he will be sent to his home in Louisville tomorrow. Silverman was en route home from Memphis, when he became critically ill on the train and had to be taken to the hospital. Silverman has a sister residing in Toronto, Canada.

RHEUMATISM CAN NOT BE RUBBED AWAY

Rubbing with liniments, blistering the affected parts, the application of plasters, and other means of external treatment, are usually helpful in relieving the pains and aches of Rheumatism, but such remedies do not reach the CAUSE of the disease, and are therefore in no sense curative. Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid in the blood, brought about by indigestion, poor bowel action, weak kidneys, and a general sluggish condition of the system. The circulation deposits this irritating poison in the different muscles, nerves, tissues and joints of the body, and soon the painful symptoms of Rheumatism are produced. The pains at first may be wandering and slight; but as the blood becomes more fully saturated with the uric acid poison, the disease grows worse and after awhile gets to be chronic. The slight, wandering pains now become sharp and cutting at the least exposure to dampness or night air, or any constitutional irregularity, the bones ache, the muscles are not as free in action as before, and where the acid poison is allowed to remain in the blood the joints often become so clogged with corrosive substances that they are left permanently stiff and useless. Rheumatism can never be rubbed away, nor can it be conquered and driven from the system until the acid-laden blood has been cleansed and purified. No other medicine does this so effectively as S. S. S. It dissolves and removes the impurities and sends a stream of rich, strong blood to the affected parts, which soothes the irritated nerves, inflamed muscles and flesh, and the sufferer obtains relief that is permanent because the real cause of the disease has been removed. QUICK WORK DONE BY FIRE COMPANIES NOS. TWO AND FOUR.

Broad Street House Blazin Under Tin Roof When Firemen Arrive on Scene.

Fire was discovered in the attic of the residence occupied by Captain J. K. P. McCarty and Mr. Walter Smith, 1515 and 1517 Broad street, yesterday afternoon at 3:49 o'clock. In starting a fire in the stove some waste and oil had been put in and a big blaze was made which ran up the chimney and through a hole caught the wood in the attic. Fire companies Nos. 2 and 4 answered the alarm and fought the blaze about 25 minutes before it was extinguished. Part of the house is covered with a tin roof and the blaze was hard to get to.

Captain McCarty's loss was about $200 and Mr. Smith's about $100. Most of the damage was done by the water. The fire did not reach any of the rooms. The insurance will nearly splendid work in controlling the blaze under control, as the fire had got a good start in the attic before it was discovered. The No. 2 company cut one block and a line of hose for one-half square and had a stream of water on the fire in 1 1/2 minutes according to Captain Farley, who timed the company when the box was pulled.

SHIP SUBSIDY PASSES SENATE

Without a Division Being Called For.

Measure Was Amended That 12-Knot Vessels Will Get $2 Per Mile and 16-Knot Vessels $4.

DEMAND FOR AUXILIARY NAVY

Washington, March 21.—More criticism of President Roosevelt was indulged in in the house when he was soundly denounced by Hardwick, of Georgia, for failing to send to congress all information regarding corporations which had come into his possession. The president, however, found a ready and vigorous defender in Mann, of Illinois, who asserted that the president had acted with the utmost good faith in sending congress all information that had come to him.

The discussion arose over the resolution by Hardwick to require the president to supply the house with all data so far obtained by the bureau of corporations. The resolution was tabled, 148 to 115.

The fortifications appropriations was taken up and in course of the debate upon it, Bartlett, of Georgia, registered the claims of the Republicans to credit for the authorship of the railroad rate clause of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The bill was sidetracked for general debate, and at 5:15 the house adjourned.

The bill introduced by Mann, of Illinois, to regulate commerce in adulterated and misbranded seed and to prevent the sale or transportation thereof, was reported favorably by the committee on interstate commerce. The bill makes it a misdemeanor to carry on interstate commerce in seeds or bulbs which are adulterated or misbranded within the provisions of the act.

vision of the senate being called for. A bill was also passed increasing the salaries of men employed in the life-saving service.

The ship subsidy bill passed by the senate pays to 16-knot vessels plying between this country and South America, Philippines, Japan, China, Australia $4 per mile, the amount awarded by the act of 1891 to vessels of 20 knots only.

The bill was amended in the senate so that 12-knot vessels will receive $2 per mile which is the allowance under the existing law to 16-knot vessels. Amendments were also adopted providing that if two or more lines of steamships ply from Atlantic ports to South America under the provisions of the bill, one line shall stop at two ports south of Cape Charles, and stipulating that no more shall be paid for subsidies than is received from such service by the government.

During consideration of the measure, Hale made a spirited plea for an auxiliary navy, declaring that without auxiliaries our navy is dependent upon foreign countries, and that in case of war we would be helpless.

Mr. John Rilla, of Vining, Ia., says "I have been selling DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills for about a year and they give better satisfaction than any pill I ever sold. I have used them myself with fine results. Sold by all Druggists."

POWERS DENIES

SAYS HE IS NOT CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESSMAN.

Famous Prisoner Issues Statement From Georgetown Jail to the Press.

Georgetown, Ky., March 21.—Caleb Powers issues to the press the following card:

To the Public: I have never said publicly or privately, by letter or otherwise, that I was a candidate for congress in the Eleventh district. I have never been a candidate and I am not now a candidate. It is true that I wrote the members of the congressional committee asking that no nomination be made earlier than September 15, in the hope that by that time I would be in a situation to become a candidate.

A majority of the committee, many of whom Congressman Edwards has appointed to positions and who are under obligations to him, called a primary election for June 6. If but two are candidates the entrance fee will be about $2,500 each. I have not the money to enter said primary nor the physical strength to prosecute a canvass for congress even if I were in a situation to do it, which I am not. I will therefore not be a candidate for congress before said primary under any state of cases. If I ever regain my freedom I will first seek health, not office. Believe me that but one fight at a time is all I should engage in, but thanking my many friends in the Eleventh district and elsewhere for the loyalty and devotion to my interests, Yours truly, CALIB POWERS

STATE BOARD ACCEPTS

Many Counties Raised Five to Ten Per Cent.

Frankfort, Ky., March 21.—The state board of equalization today accepted the assessment of property in Jefferson county as made by the local officials. The board took final action on assessments in several counties of the First and Second appellate court districts, making the following increases on farm lands and personalty: Carlisle county, 5 per cent.; Hickman, 10; Hancock, 5; Simpson, 5. The local assessments in the counties of Patton, Allen, Breckenridge, Butler, Davies, Edmonson, Grayson, Logan, Meade, Ohio, Warren, Clark, Leslie, Martin, Menefee, Elliott, Grundy and Fleming were accepted.

Preliminary raises in assessments have been made on farm lands as follows: Ballard, 10 per cent.; Todd, 10; Henderson, 5; Bullitt, 20, and 20 on town lots; Hart, 15; Washington, 10, and 10 on town lots; Shelby, 5; Spencer, 10; Lee, 10; Owsley, 5; Powell, 15; Bath, 20, and 20 on town lots; Bracken, 10 on each; Mason, 5; Harrison, 5.

SENATOR CAMPBELL SO SAYS ABOUT MONEY.

Waiting for State Until the Authorities Decide to What Fund It Belongs.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says:

"State Senator J. Wheeler Campbell, of McCracken county, one of the members of the recent general assembly who refused to vote for Beckham for United States senator, and who made a speech on the last night of the session giving his reasons for his action, said last night in response to a question that there was no truth in the charge made by the friends of Beckham that he had wrongfully withheld $1,000 of the state's money. He said the question which Senator Watkins tried to propound to him while he was making his speech related to that money.

"Senator Campbell said that at the time the money came into his possession during the encampment of the soldiers at Paducah he was at a loss to know to what fund the money belonged, and for that reason he had deposited it in a separate account and was ready to turn it over when the question was decided. He said he had made every effort to have it settled during the Beckham administration, but vigorously denied, as charged by Senator Watkins, that he had made an effort to get a letter from Beckham to the effect that he (Campbell) was entitled to the money. Senator Campbell said the matter had been placed before Governor Willson and Attorney General Breathitt for a decision and that just as soon as the attorney general decides to which fund of the state the money belongs he will turn it over to that fund."

CLERKS ASK CONGRESS FOR A FORTY-EIGHT HOUR WORKING WEEK

On December 9 Congressman W.
Wilson, of Illinois, introduced in the house of representatives a bill to regulate the hours of clerks employed in first and second-class postoffices.
The bill is known as H. R. 6114.

The cry of the postoffice clerks for an eight-hour day is by no means new, and neither is it without justification.

Postoffice clerks have been compelled to work many hours each day in excess of eight without compensation and under very trying circumstances.

The report of the first assistant postmaster general recites that according to statistics returned to the department the average amount of overtime served by clerks amounts to nearly an hour a day.

In many offices clerks frequently work 10 to 12 hours daily.

The clerks are not unreasonable in their demands.

They are not demanding an arbitrary eight-hour day.
The clerks realize that there is likely to be a fluctuation in the volume of mails from day to day that might necessitate a little longer period of employment in one day than on another.

And so the clerks have in the past asked the department to grant them
a working week of forty-eight hours.

A glance at the bill which Congressman Wilson has introduced shows that it provides for forty-eight hours per week, including such number of hours on Sundays and holidays as the needs of the service may require.

By thus including within the scope of the forty-eight hours the Sunday and holiday work, no doubt a salutary influence will be exerted to reduce to a minimum such Sunday service. Some Sunday work will always be necessary in the postoffice, but it is unfortunately true that there is more Sunday work carried on than is necessary. Objection to this Sunday work of an unnecessary character is being vigorously made by many eminent divines throughout the country.

Expedition is the keynote of the postal service in the handling of its business. The fastest trains are employed to carry the mails to their destination. An army of some 14,000 men are employed on these trains to help distribute the letters en route.

Wagons, automobiles, pneumatic service and electric cars are provided to quickly dispatch the mails from the postoffice to these trains.

And yet we have the economic folly of such a short-handed force of clerks that all the mail cannot always be distributed in time to make these scheduled train connections.

Therefore, where does the government save by working any of its clerks more than eight hours per day, when if a sufficient number were employed to keep within this schedule of eight hours per day such a force could naturally distribute and dispatch the mails with much greater expedition?

The reasons why this forty-eight hour per week law should be granted to the postoffice clerks can easily be defended by virtue of the unusual nature of their employment, without any reference to the eight-hour problem of labor in private life.

Postoffice clerks are in large part night workers, and it is generally admitted that night work should be in at least the ratio of seven hours to eight hours as compared with day work.

Besides performing night work these clerks are skilled workers, making constant use of their mind and all of their eyes in the discharge of their duties.

Besides all this these men are compelled to give up many hours of their own time to learn and qualify on difficult examinations of schemes of mail distribution.

This knowledge is necessary and essential to the efficiency of the postal service.

But the government does not allow these workers any time for the hard study necessary to make good as a postoffice clerk.

The president in his message to congress strongly comes out for an eight-hour day for government employees.

Surely there is no reason that can be advanced why this elastic measure, providing for a working week of forty-eight hours for the postoffice clerks, should not be granted.

Congressman Wilson has proven himself a careful student of the postal service, and it has been this study of the postal service that has made him the champion of the postoffice clerks.—Extract from a prominent daily.

When Governor Smith, of Georgia, utterances of the day did not greatly exceed in forcefulness those of the night. But after about two hours his

W. H. PENN

WELL KNOWN BALLARD COUNTY FARMER DROPS DEAD.

Was Seventy-five Years Old and Had Suffered From Heart Trouble Many Years.

Mr. W. H. Penn, 75 years old, dropped dead yesterday shortly after dinner in the yard of his wife's sister, the cause of his death was heart trouble. Mr. Penn had been suffering from this trouble several years.

Mr. Penn's home is near Bandana, Ballard county. He has been a prosperous farmer of that section for a number of years, and he was also known in this city. He was a close friend of Jailer Wade Brown. Mr. Penn was a prominent Mason and a member of the Knights of Honor and was all his life a member of the Baptist church.

Mr. Penn is survived by his wife and six children: Mrs. Lee Titchworth, Mrs. Anna Giles, Mrs. Addie Crawford, and Messrs. Thomas, Richard and Emmet Penn. He was a brother-in-law of Mr. Andrew J. Wyatt, 617 Fountain avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt left this morning to attend the funeral, which was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence. The burial was in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Charm of a Woman's Voice.

Very few women realize what an effect a sweet voice has on a man. A woman may be very pretty to look upon, may be faultlessly and bewitchingly attired and attractive in every way, and yet too often, directly she opens her mouth and speaks, the spell is broken, the charm is gone. And this need never be.

Very few voices are so naturally bad that they will not succumb to training, and the voice can be trained to be just as sweet and gentle as we please to make it.

A woman should speak in a low voice. She should not allow her voice to raise itself to a high pitch. A shrill, yoked woman is terrible. She should not shout her orders to the servants down the stairs nor call to any one who may be in another part of the house. This shouting and raising of the voice spoils the tone and quality of the voice and tends to make it harsh.

A pretty voice is a powerful attraction in a woman, and she who would add to her charms a wondrous fascination should cultivate a voice "ever soft, gentle and low."—Woman's Life.

We are told that a good name is more to be desired than great riches, but great riches will be more successful in keeping a man out of jail.

Plucky Woman Tells How She Dared Night Riders to Destroy Her Home.

Maysville, Ky., March 21.—Mrs. E. S. Montgomery, of near Mt. Olivet, was here today and told of the attack made on her home by 300 masked men, several of whom were recognized. Mrs. Montgomery, as soon as the alarm was given, aroused all her children, and giving them rifles, told them to be ready to defend themselves and shoot the first man who appeared at the door. She placed the youngest with an apron full of cartridges near her to keep her supplied with ammunition. She then told the men at the door the first one to cross the threshold would die. This bluffed them. Then they attempted to fire the house, but this also was prevented. The mob then began firing into the house with shotguns, breaking out several windows in the house and narrowly missing several of the children. Mrs. Montgomery says the next time she is disturbed by these raiders she intends killing as many as she can, as they have almost driven her crazy.

Riders in Mason. The raid of the night riders in this county this morning was the first open attack upon those independent farmers who have refused to sign the agreement to raise no tobacco this year and was a complete success. The party numbered about 200 men, and all were masked. Every telephone wire that connected the Mayslick exchange with this city was first cut. The party then went to Benjamin Longnecker's place, about eight miles from this city. His son, George, answered the summons, and after a short talk with him he told them there would be no crop raised on his father's place, but this did not satisfy the raiders. He was compelled to go with them to the tenant's house, William Ryan, and there command the tenant to destroy the beds that had been made, which was done. They left with a warning and proceeded to B. F. Cliff's farm, near Mayslick, and destroyed a number of tobacco beds. A grave was dug in one of the beds, a warning of what would happen if tobacco was grown on his farm this year. Mr. Longnecker is one of the most prominent men in Mason county, being president of the First National bank of this city and interested in other financial concerns. The excitement is intense here, as many think these men will make an attempt to destroy the American Tobacco company's plant, which is guarded by twenty-five men.

SPRING'S CHOICEST BLOOMS IN NEW MILLINERY THE COMING WEEK

OUR successful Millinery Opening, Friday and Saturday, was another Millinery triumph, another demonstration of this store's millinery supremacy and millinery leadership. Again and again, our millinery has been pronounced the most exquisite in Paducah. Our millinery department the coming week, will seem almost like fairland. Hundreds of exquisite hats will charm you with their intoxicating beauty. Moderation in price, to a greater extent than is possibly in Broadway stores will prevail here next week and all through the spring and summer season of 1908.

FASHION'S NEWEST SPRING SKIRTS. We are showing the very latest fashions in style, the very smartest weaves in fabrics, the very newest effects in colorings. We are exhibiting the best and the biggest stock of Spring Skirts in Paducah. It's a wonderful showing of both the practical and the elegant in the 1908 spring models. Our second big purchase of spring's newest models will be reaching us the coming week. Our prices for correctly made high-class tailored skirts are money saving propositions compared with what you can get in other stores. Don't take our word for it. Come and see. PHENOMENALLY GOOD SHOE VALUES. Hard to match the daintiness of these women's low shoes, pumps, Oxfords and Bluchers in kid, tans and patent leather now on sale at $1.50 and $2.00 a pair. You'll find that we have everything that's fresh and stylish in new models, fabrics and patterns. Every Schloss suit is handsome and desirable. Unusual values in new high-class spring suits will be on sale here the coming week at $10, $12.50, $15, $16.50 and $18, instead of at $15 to $25 which is the range of prices that most clothing dealers get for this class of suits. The quality in this range of suits at $10 to $18 should commend our clothing department to every wearer of good clothes. We want you to see them. EXTRAORDINARY SALE IN OUR SHOE DEPARTMENT FOR MEN. A large collection of broken lots and discontinued styles of the season now ending to be closed out at $2.50 to $4.00 a pair. We announce the arrival of the new 1908 spring models of men's high and low shoes. Will be glad to show them to you. WOMEN'S 1908 SPRING MODEL WAISTS. We could supply a thousand women the coming spring with waists. We've got hundreds more coming. We've got to do waist business. Handsome styles, good qualities and reasonable prices are the persuasive arguments we make for your waist patronage.
