HOW PEACE JUSTICE DECIDED COMPLICATED CASE.

Both Sides Seemed to Have the Lars on Their Side, and the Judge Arose Sublimely to the Occasion.

Problems worthy of Solomon's acumen are often submitted to these rural arbitrators, justices of the peace. In the Macon county (Mo.) archives is a case of this sort:

Timothy Kain, a farmer of Easley township, set out some watermelor vines which thrived so luxuriously that they trespassed upon the field of his neighbor, Felix Hopper When garnering time came Kain's attempt to harvest his ramaway product was rebuked by Hopper and his shotgun. The controversy got into court and Squire William Easley, for whom the township was named, was asked to defor Kain read books to show that his rights of property followed the vines the vines wanted to spread out and go one fell beside it.
