COLLEGE CONFERS DEGREES UPON 53 CANDIDATES TODAY

Dr. P. P. Claxton Delivers
Commencement Address
this Morning

A. W. HUYCK GIVES BACCALAUREATE TALK

Dr. P. P. Claxton, president of Austin-Peay Normal of Clarksville, Tenn., addressed the 53 graduating seniors of Murray State College this morning, telling them a commonwealth of achievement, initiative, and hope lay before them.

He was introduced by President James H. Richmond, who, with the aid of Mrs. Cleo Gillis Hester, registrar, and Dean J. W. Carr, at the close of the address conferred degrees on the graduates.

The graduating seniors swelled the alumni association's membership to well over the 1,200 mark. The seniors had heard Sunday night the Rev. A. Warren Huyck, pastor of the First Baptist church of Paducah, deliver the baccalaureate sermon.

In developing his subject, "The Open Door," Dr. Huyck declared the door is always open for the development of "positive attitudes" for "character building" and for "high accomplishments."

The Rev. J. Mack Jenkins, pastor of the First Methodist church of Murray, read the scripture lesson and gave the invocation and the benediction.

Under the direction of Prof. L. R. Putnam, the college chorus sang "O Savior of the World," by Goss. The faculty string quartet presented "Theme and Variations" by Haydn. The orchestra played the professional and recreational.

The Reverend Mr. Huyck described Paul as the Biblical example of a man with positive attitudes—as a man who was willing to do all he could and as one who would never concede defeat.

The only person who can close the doors of a person's mind and soul to high accomplishment is that person himself, the speaker asserted, warning the seniors not to become disappointed if they find the world not waiting for them with open arms.

Following is a list of the graduates who live in Calloway county or in neighborhoods adjoining this county in Tennessee:

Charles C. Miller of Murray majored in music and will be granted the bachelor of music education degree in August. His major was voice, and his minors were piano and journalism. His activities include: A Capella Choir, mixed chorus, Men's Glee Club, college male quartet, band, Vivace Club, College News staff member, Phi Mu Alpha fraternity, and Kappa Pi journalistic fraternity.

Miller says "I am very proud to have Murray State for my Alma Mater. May she continue to break records, win titles, and make history."

Zolon Clayton of Buchanan, Tenn., majored in commerce and mathematics and will receive his B.S. degree in the August class. Next year, he will teach in Henry County, Tenn.

When asked his opinion of Murray, he replied: "Murray State is a great college."

Miss Estelle Hayes Erwin of Murray took the required Smith-Hughes work to obtain a bachelor of science degree in home economics. She was a member of the Household Arts Club here.

She stated "I have enjoyed my work at Murray College and will enjoy coming back in the future."

Miss Rovine Parks of Murray will receive a bachelor of science degree in the August graduating class. She did the necessary Smith-Hughes work in home economics. She says "with the school growing as it is, I am indeed proud to have my degree from Murray."

She was president of Sock and Buskin Club, secretary of Alpha Psi Omega, reporter of Household Arts Club, member of Pep Club, and took part in numerous plays, including "Nora" of "The Doll's House."

Sheriff Ira Fox and Deputy Charlie Marr arrested Nicholas Wyatt and Omer Garner on a moonshine raid late yesterday afternoon just up Blood River from Brandon's Mill.

With the men were 13 gallons of whiskey, and eight barrels of mash. The officers broke up the still, a 250-gallon affair, and brought the liquor violators to Murray where they made bond of $200 each.

The men were operating the still when the officers arrived, and had no time for flight, so complete was the surprise.

H. C. Vinson, of the East Murray community, and C. A. County farmers, it was suggested here, will be able to compare the plots as they looked in the fall of this year and the spring of 1939. Lockhart plans to have his test strips seeded by September 1, but Vinson will wait until after September 15.

The total 1938 tax bill for Calloway county amounts to $119,909.77, according to Sheriff Ira Fox, who released the figures today.

This amount, he said, includes the county, state, and school tax, but does not include the franchise taxes, such as those of the N. C. & St. L. Railroad or the Kentucky-Tennessee Power and Light Company, or Southern Bell Telephone Company, etc.

1,000 State Road Workers Will Be Cut From Payroll

500 in First District To Get The Ax As Economy Move

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 18.—Approximately 1,000 employees of the state highway department will be or were cut off the payrolls this week, Chief Engineer Thomas Cutler said today.

"The department has been a little liberal in putting on men," Cutler said in explanation of the reduction. He denied that politics were involved.

"We haven't got any spare money and we've got to cut down our budget," he explained. "We've used two-thirds of the money for the year and one-half the time."

"The year," he said, meant the fiscal year which began April 1. Cutler said the reduction in force would not affect the rural road building program because each county was allotted a specific sum for that and could not spend more in any case.

Cutler said the summer season rather than politics accounted largely for the "liberal" employment of men, adding that summer weather conditions make the season the department's most intensive.

Asked why the First District accounted for approximately half the discharges, he replied: "They got a little ambitious in putting on men."

"The discharges, Cutler said, would be made "impartially."

"We told them (division heads) they could have only so many men and would have to cut off the rest," he declared. "We told them to keep the most efficient men. No names were mentioned."

"Right now is the proper time for all sportsmen to post themselves fully upon the Kentucky Game and Fish laws. The fishing season is at its height and the temptation to catch a few more is very great. No person shall take or have in his possession more than 10 black bass nor more than 15 rock bass or goggle-eye or 30 crappie, or 15 striped bass in any one day.

No person shall have in his possession any black bass under 11 inches in length nor any trout under 7 inches, crappie under eight inches. Any person having fished two days in succession may have in possession a total not to exceed 20 black bass or trout, 30 rock bass or goggle-eye or 30 crappie, 30 jack salmon or wall-eyed pike, or 30 striped bass.

This is CERTAINLY LIBERAL. Any larger amount would put one in the fish-hog class.

Latest methods of killing and dressing chickens are employed by Christian county homemakers selling on the curb market.

United States Department of Agriculture through its bureau of agricultural economics reported as of August 1 that conditions in Kentucky indicated good crops of corn, wheat, oats, rye, barley, hay, Irish potatoes, and sweet potatoes; a short crop of tree fruits, and spotted condition of tobacco vary- ing from excellent to poor due to excessive rains in some areas but averaging good for the state as a whole.

Since August 1, heavy rains, especially in the five dark tobacco type areas in Western Kentucky have injured considerable tobacco, but the burley area has suffered much less. The prediction for the Paducah - Mayfield - Murray area production of dark tobacco was 28,875,000 pounds as compared to 28,200,000 pounds produced last year. Indicated production for U.S. as whole was set at 1,478,851,000 pounds.

The State corn yield forecast was set at 73,294,000 bushels, compared to 75,556 bushels last year. The U. S. total corn crop this season was forecast at 2,566,221,000 bushels. The wheat crop, already harvested, yielded an average of 14.5 bushels per acre, compared to 18.5 bushels last year. Total Kentucky production is estimated at 8,482,000 compared with 10,212,000 bushels last year. The U. S. total wheat crop, winter and spring, is estimated at 955,969,000 bushels, compared with 873,993 last year.

Irish potatoes, oats, and rye fell under the 1937 production. The 1938 hay crop of almost 91 million tons is the largest since the 98 million ton crop of 1927, and is 14 per cent larger than the 10-year average of about 80 million tons. Good growing weather over most of the country was followed in many states by July rains which made satisfactory curing difficult. The wild hay crop is exceeding July 1 expectations and probably will be about 10,643,000 tons.

Farm pastures on August 1 were better than average for that date in practically all states except Washington and Oregon, and for the country as a whole they averaged the best since 1928.

Milk production in the U. S. showed somewhat less than the average seasonal decline during July and on August 1 was the highest for that date in the 14 years on record. The seasonal decrease in numbers of hens during July was slightly less than usual. The shortage of layers on August 1 compared to the 10-year average was slightly less than on July 1.

All in all, insofar as production is concerned, this year has been a good one for the farmers of America. Just what it will be insofar as prices are concerned is a question which will be answered when the commodities produced go to market.

Increased Loss in Marketing Animals

Despite improved methods, 8,000,000 animals are injured yearly in marketing, with a loss estimated at $12,000,000.

The National Live Stock Loss Prevention Board says that the extensive use of trucks in marketing livestock has tended to increase losses.

Partitions are recommended where cattle, hogs or sheep are transported in one truck.

Among subjects to be considered will be the balanced ration—its use and limits; picking good dairy cows; mineral supplements to the ration; disease control, and feed service.

Federal Tax officials speak of broadening the tax base by lowering the exemption on income taxes.

Approximately 25 per cent of the income of the little man is taken in visible and hidden taxes now.

Instead of lowering the exemption clause on the little man, Roosevelt has the right idea in making it the law that all those working for the government should pay income taxes, as well as the fellow who doesn't.

Tobacco cutting is on in earnest this week—by next week all will be cut. Already many of them are firing.

Why not get rid of some of the dogs and go in for sheep raising. It costs very little in the way of forage and feed to produce a crop of wool, and flocks once established would produce a good income.

And sheep are very easily fenced in.

There are few rural folk in Calloway county who are not in business.

loway county on relief—a credit to the Americanization of our people in this county.

And speaking of well-being of our citizens. A man is a citizen even if he does commit some misdemeanor and lands in jail.

It is a shame that any prisoner should be quartered in our county jail. A movement should be started to build a new one.

Given fair treatment while incarcerated, he is apt to become a more useful citizen when he gets out, and probably will not cause trouble again.

But if you trade at home with Calloway county merchants, you still can have things you need, save money, and still enjoy life.

Few have sufficient self-reliance and courage to test their talents to the utmost.

If you can't please three members of your family with one brand of toothpaste, how can you expect the Federal government to make one brand that will please 130,000,000 people.

In a pretty wedding ceremony characterized by quiet simplicity and performed the evening of August 8 at seven o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rutledge in Jonesboro, Ark., Miss Amy Little, lovely daughter of Lot S. Little, of Jonesboro, became the bride of James Hocker Mason, son of W. S. Mason, Sr. of Mayfield, Ky.

Only the immediate families witnessed the plighting of the nuptial vows. The Rev. H. H. Griffin, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated, reading the impressive single ring service. Due to the popularity of both the bride and the bridegroom, their marriage will be of widespread interest.

For the event, the Rutledge home was artistically decorated with white gladioli. The altar, improvised in the spin room, was marked on either side by tall white wicker floor baskets filled with white gladioli and had an effective background of palms. The only music used was a soft rendition of Schumann's "Traumer" by Mrs. Rutledge, pianist, during the ceremony.

The bride wore for her marriage an exquisite model of white marquisette trimmed with lace. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a V neckline and abbreviated puffed sleeves. The waistline was encircled with a band of white velvet. White satin slippers completed the bride's costume and she wore a shoulder corsage of orchids.

Immediately following the wedding ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Mason departed by motor, for their wedding trip which included scenic parts of the Smoky Mountains.

For traveling, Mrs. Mason was dressed in a stylish navy blue crepe suit, designed with a bolero jacket of self material which was trimmed with old rose. Her hat was an off-face model of navy blue and her accessories were also of navy blue.

Mrs. Mason was born and reared in Jonesboro and enjoys a wide circle of friends. After her graduation from Jonesboro High School, she entered Galloway College, at Searcy, Ark., and received her A.B. degree here. She later was awarded her Master's degree from Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn. For several years, she was director of physical education for girls at Jonesboro Junior High School and now serves in the same capacity at Arkansas State High School. She is sponsor of the Alpha Sigma Sorority of Arkansas State College.

Mr. Mason came to Jonesboro several years ago to accept a position of instructor of English and French in Arkansas State High School. He has since been a popular teacher at the school and has made many friends in Jonesboro. He was reared in Mayfield, Ky., received his A.B. from Murray State College and his Master's degree from Peabody College at Nashville, Tenn.

Upon their return from their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Mason will make their home on Arkansas State campus.

Out of town guests at the wedding were: W. S. Mason, Sr., of Mayfield, father of the bridegroom, and W. S. Mason, Jr., instructor in the University of Miami, Miami, Fla.

HERE AND THERE

BY R. B. WEAR

Within a short period of approximately 15 days the little old game of football will again push away all other headline flashes and will curl up comfortably and proudly as "King of the sports" for a few short weeks.

The goldenrod is turning yellow, but not so with literally thousands of youths who are anxiously waiting for "first call" on the grid field. No other feeling can compare with that pulling and snarling something that hits each would be pickin' star about this time each year. All pent up energy and vitality, pep and vigor asserts itself and nothing will cause it to cease until the last gun is fired to end the final game of the season.

A gridiron is a testing field and brings out the true characteristics not only in the friendly combats of high school and college days but also reveals the qualities of a person that he will use while rounding out this "little" game of life.

We have our showmen in football as well as in other phases of social and business life. Who has not seen that big fellow on the grid go down after a hard tackle and get up, shake himself a couple of times, stagger a half-dozen more feet and then turn into a roaring hellion on the next play only to get up and repeat said dramatic episode. Then you see the fellow that hasn't an ounce of control over his temper. He comes out of each scrimmage with a "chip on his shoulder" and when the referee is under the scrimmage pile-up he uses his fists, teeth, elbows and knees to an unfair advantage. We turn now to the fellow who is as stolid as a granite column. He never complains when the going is tough or when he gets his eye-teeth jammed down his tonsils. He turns in a game well played but never lets his poker face betray his thoughts. We pass-on to the peppery, nervous type which is so often found in the backfield. In spirit, action and what not they have the temperament of a Kentucky thoroughbred. They are constantly "talking" up the game, they are alert, nervous, uneasy and extremely restless. They play the game with "all" they possess and will not come out of the fray until the last whistle is blown.

Nearly any athlete looks good while his team is winning and the majority of the time the spectators are bubbling over with joy. But what the veterans of the grid are interested in is what will the gridder, look like when he is being played on an even basis or when he is being swept off his feet by a vicious opponent into a non-glorious defeat.

Football to some persons is only a kid's game of beef and brawn, but to those who enjoy the real pearls of the game they soon see the outstanding characteristic of each participant and watch the varying reactions of the 22 men while under fire.

Yes, it is a grand old game and when played according to Hoyle boys are made into men who can take as well as give not only in athletic contests but in every-day living, regardless of the odds.

And generous conduct win. That peace, love and happiness, may hold out to the end.

VANCLEAVE SCHOOL
We're progressing nicely toward the second month of school. Everyone is showing a good attitude toward school work.

Students making the highest scores in the fifth and seventh grades are, Mildred Ramsey and R. E. Wright.

We have had several students absent on account of illness and working in the tobacco harvest.

The third and fourth grades are very busy working on health posters.

We plan to have a ball game with Backusburg school Friday week.

We cordially invite everyone to visit our school. Our superintendent, Mr. T. C. Arnett, visited us Tuesday. We hope he will come back again.

We hope that Robbie Fennell, who has been ill since the first week of school, will soon be able to join her classmates in their studies.

School Rhyme
Again with welcome greeting,
Kind friends now we come,
To watch and guard the future,
For those we love at home,
Each thankful to the giver
Of every earthly claim,
We now describe the honor,
To His holy name,
Guide well your treasures, friends,
And ever ready be,
To help the mourning loved ones,
No matter where they be,
Let justice rule your action,
And generous conduct win,
That peace, love and happiness,
May hold out to the end.

South is Ill-Housed, Ill-Fed, and Ill-Clothed NEC Report Makes Known

COUNCIL DECLARES SECTION HAS MANY UNTAPPED VALUES

Says Endowments to Yale and Harvard Are More Than to Colleges of Entire South

HALF OF FAMILIES NEED NEW DWELLINGS

Washington, Aug. 18.—The National Emergency Council reported to President Roosevelt Saturday that the south, more than any other section of the country, was ill-housed, ill-fed and ill-clad.

Summarizing the south's economic conditions at the President's request, for the information of Congress and the country, the council said the region's population problems were the most pressing of any America must face. Declaring these problems were national, it concluded:

"The south is the nation's greatest untapped market and the market in which American business can expand most easily. Northern producers and distributors are losing profits and northern workers are losing work because the south cannot afford to buy their goods."

QUALITY ...

Our ideal is to render a quality community service at a cost within the means of everyone ... the kind of service which will receive the approval of all with whom we come in contact.

Sincerely,

The
J. H. Churchill
Funeral Home
Telephone 7
Murray, Ky.

The report was made public only a few days after President Roosevelt campaigning in the south for a New Deal Congress, had reiterated his desire to increase southern purchasing power.

One of the council's findings was that at least 4,000,000 families, one-half of all the families in the south, needed new homes.

Agriculture, industry, banking, labor, women and children all were described by the council as burdened by the economic ills peculiar to the area studied: Virginia, Kentucky Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

No remedial measures were suggested, but Lowell Mallett, director of the council, in his letter of transmittal said the realistic attitude of southern leaders who helped prepare the treatise indicated that "something will be done about it." He added the solution must be part political, with participation by industry, business, schools and private citizens.

The President, in asking for the report on June 22, and in outlining it to the conference on economic conditions in the south on July 5, said it would be presented to Congress.

It was drafted entirely by southerners, who obtained their information largely from government departments and agencies. They were aided by a large advisory committee of southern men prominent in all walks of life.

The main points of the 60-page statement were:
The south, with a wealth of economic resources is the poorest section of the country. With 23 per cent of the population of the country, it has only 16 per cent of tangible assets, including factories, machines, and the tools with which people make their living.

The average income in the south in 1935 was $214, compared to $604 in the rest of the country.

The richest state in the south ranks lower in per capita income than the poorest state in other regions.

The assessed value of taxable property in the south in 1935 averaged only $463 per person, while in the northeastern states it averaged $1,370.

The south, with one-sixth of the nation's school revenues, educates one-third of the nation's children. Endowments of all the colleges and universities of the south are less than the combined endowments of Harvard and Yale.

Four million southern families, representing one-half of the total in that region, should be rehoused. Houses in the rural south are the oldest, have the lowest value and the greatest need of repairs of any farm houses in the United States.

Southern farmers purchase four-fifths of all the food they eat. Lacking capital of its own, the south has been forced to borrow from outside financiers, and thus to relinquish control of much of its business and industry to investors from wealthier sections.

Freight differentials, which put southern industry at a disadvantage, no longer are justified.

The nation's high tariff policy has impeded the development of the south.

Miss Roberts Says Music Club is Now Fraternity Pledge

Miss Mary Elizabeth Roberts, sophomore at Murray State College and secretary of the Pi Gamma girls' music club, said here this week that the club is now a provisional chapter of the Sigma Alpha Iota professional music fraternity.

Sigma Alpha Iota upholds the highest musical standards and only girls of superior scholastic and musical ability will be members of the local chapter, according to college officials.

Four Generations of Beach Family Have First Annual Reunion Sunday

Four generations of Beaches gathered Sunday at the home of Alvis Beach in the Browns Grove community for the first annual reunion of the Beach family and their relatives and enjoyed one of those old fashioned Southern dinners and programs that have become traditional with such gatherings.

More than 350 guests called during the day, and more than 300 took lunch from huge wooden tables in the front yard which literally groined under the piles of sumptuous food placed on them.

A program which featured home town celebrants who made good preceded the noon hour. Max Hurt, assistant postmaster at Murray, made the welcoming address on behalf of the host: J. T. Overcast was master of ceremonies; J. H. Churchill, Murray, gave the benediction.

The four generations of the Beach family present were traced down through Alvis Beach, the host, representative of the first generation; his two daughters, Christine Johnson and Alline Taylor; and their children through their grandchildren, making the fourth generation.

The reunion next year will be held at the home of Arlie Beach of the Kirkcubbin community.

Among those present—there was no register and it was scarcely possible to get all the names—were Malcolm Jetton and family, Mrs. Susan Hurt, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Sunday, August 21
"Mind" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday, August 21.

Among the citations is the following from the Bible: "And now, Israel, what doth the Lord thy God require of thee, but to fear the Lord thy God, to walk in all his ways, and to love him, and to serve the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul" (Deut. 10:12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When we fully understand our relation to the Divine, we can have no other Mind but His,—no other Love, wisdom, or Truth, no other sense of Life, and no consciousness of the existence of matter or error."

Home Building Is Cheaper Now Say Local Lumbermen

New Structures May Be Erected and Paid for With Less Than $1 a Day

Improvements in the qualities of building materials and advances in construction methods, combined with lower building material and financing costs have made it entirely possible for the man of average means to build his own home and pay for it at less than $1 a day, Murray lumbermen said in effect yesterday.

The man who builds in 1938, they said, will get far more for his money than he could get in 1926, the so-called normal building year, or than he will get in the next few years, when rising rents and increased demands for housing will force an inevitable increase in building costs.

Cost of financing in 1938 is cheaper than ever before, officials revealed. The new single mortgage, repaid in, easy monthly installments including payments on principal, interest, insurance and taxes, will average more than 10 per cent less in cost than the old type first and second mortgage. Under an FHA insured mortgage, for instance, a house and lot valued at $4,000 can be purchased for less than $30 a month.

A Sleeping Lion?

That the South, more than any other section of the country, is ill-housed, ill-fed, and ill-clothed was made evident by the report made Saturday to President Roosevelt by the National Emergency Council. States listed in the Southern category were Kentucky, Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas. A redeeming feature, as expressed by the report, was that the South is the "nation's greatest un-tapped market and the market in which American business can expand most easily." On the surface, it would appear anomalous that if the South were the greatest potential market for the nation's produce it should at the same time have the lowest purchasing power and by consequence the lowest standard of living. But when one gets down to the bitter heart of the matter he realizes the situation is tragically true and must be faced—not by the Southern industrialist, but by the Southern farmer—the man who purchases four-fifths of the food he eats. The sharecropping and landlord evils are not the least of the faults which have left the South poor. The one-crop system and irresponsible tillage practices have contributed their parts toward increasing the burden of the South-land. Twenty-eight per cent of the Nation's population is in the South, but they control only 16 per cent of the tangible assets; the South's richest state ranks lower than the North's poorest; it has one-sixth of the Nation's school revenues, but educates one-third of the nation's children; one-half of its 4,000,000 people are distressingly in need of new homes. The condition of the South is distressingly acute, existing as it does in a nation, which is substantially wealthy. We feel that in editorializing these facts we are not being disloyal to the South nor to the high ideals for which it has always stood. The ability to face facts is a measure of the stability of a people. To deceive oneself, to establish a society on an insecure footing, is to stand on the brink of precipice. The South has borne the brunt of every major economic or industrial depression during the last half century. The pulsing arteries of the nation's commerce left their diseased virus in the South so that now the land of the aristocratic gentlemen has become a national problem. Let us trust the report of the National Emergency Council will bring some relief to the long overburdened South, that the eyes of the now incumbent Washington administration will see a way to bring about a New Deal to a less fortunate section of the world's most progressive republican commonwealth. Knox county farmers who sold their potato crops early made substantial profits. Varieties of Irish Candler potatoes are being tested by Allen Reid a Daviess county farmer.

Fight Syphilis With Knowledge

By KATHLEEN NORRIS A young wife went into a big city hospital a few years ago for observation. She had been married a year earlier to a man she adored. She had hoped that the recent, uncomfortable, physical symptoms she was experiencing meant that she was to bear this year a child. It was the dream of her life to do her share in the partnership of their marriage and to add love, youth, wealth, success to the beautiful home and the fine old family add the gift of children. The doctors told her that she must have a serious operation, and that it meant the end of her hopes of motherhood. This is not an extremely unusual situation. Heart-broken women are quietly accepting it all the time. But this particular young wife presently discovered why she had had to face this pain and danger, and bitter disappointment, why her life had been destroyed in its very flower. It was because the handsome, fine, clever, rich young man she had married had not been courageous enough to go to his family doctor as a college boy, and face a series of treatments that would have saved her happiness, saved his, and perhaps saved for them both a nurseryfull of children. Parents Knew Taint. His mother knew of this taint, his father knew. But they belonged to a generation that never faced this ugly fact, never dragged it into the open, never treated it as an illness to be cured, but rather as a disgrace to be hidden. Alan had been a bad, reckless boy for a little while, and he was older now and more sensible, and going to be married to a lovely girl and that was all there was to it! In their young days boys were expected to "sow wild oats," to go to "bad houses," to "have their fling." Hundreds of thousands of women paid for it later, in wrecked bodies and ruined hopes, but that was all accepted in silence; one didn't talk of such dreadful things. Well, one does talk of them now. The hot merciless light of public disapproval is being let in upon them so widely and so rapidly that we who joined this movement in its very beginning know that within a short time American men and women will be protected from this world-wide cancer just as certain European citizens are. Sweden Takes Lead. Sweden, takes the lead here, as she does in many sociological and economic advances. Her method of controlling these so-called "social" diseases is simple. But it is so effective that their prevalence in Sweden has in the brief space of just a few years, dropped from the usual 40 per cent to 12 per cent, and then to a fraction of 1 per cent. The law in Sweden, and the law proposed for the United States, is merely that syphilis and gonorrhoea cases be reported at once to physicians, and that those infected shall submit to treatment. This treatment does not mean publicity, hospitalization, or cessation of work. After all it is entirely possible that a victim of the disease may have contracted it through the carelessness of another sufferer. But it does mean that the man or woman who refuses to report to the proper authorities for cure is liable to prosecution. In other words, lying and denying this condition is a legal offense. Women's Solemn Duty. It is the solemn duty of every generation of women to make better the world for the generations that follow. There is no mother, no teacher, no guardian of young persons in America today who has not wished, many times, and with earnest prayer for light to fulfill this legal obligation. We have all longed from the depths of our souls for power to help to end war. Here is an opportunity. It is one that ought to be taken up by every woman's club, by every individual woman who is smart enough to know that sin and danger cannot be lessened simply by shutting one's eyes, and wishing fervently that all boys would be good, all women pure, and all human appetites and impulses controlled by decency and the law. I wish that, too, I do not like the word "syphilis" any more than you do. But that's the very reason why you and I ought to be in the campaign that is sweeping the Nation now in an effort to be rid of it once and for all. All over America branches of the great main society that has set out to "crush it" are being formed. Is there one in your town? Does your club know about it? And how many good mothers are there in that club who will help to fight a danger more acute and terrible even than war? Have them get in touch at once with the National Anti-Syphilis Committee at 50 West 86th St., New York City, and begin today to do your share for the youth and future of America. Diseases Eliminated. When I was a child, there was opposition on all sides to vaccination against smallpox. Even made compulsory there were groups of reactionaries fighting against diphtheria and typhus serums. But slowly and steadily science has pushed her way against these barriers, and out children today ask us curiously what a pocked face looked like anyway? Our young mothers ask us how we could ever raise our families in a world where diphtheria was almost inevitably fatal. It was all very different forty years ago. One lovely English mother, wife of an Archbishop whose home held every luxury that homes of that day could command, lost seven small children in one dreadful week from diphtheria. Our American writer, Amelia E. Barr, describes in her splendid biography the moving down of her own nursery in New Orleans with the "black plague." She bore seventeen children; raised three. And in my childhood many of the faces we loved the round face of our German nurse, the cook's good Irish face, the face of the policeman at the corner, grocers' faces and butchers' faces, were pitted deep with the disfiguring marks of smallpox. Shutting Eyes Useless. There were women in those days who were afraid of the very names of plague, smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid fever. They shut their eyes and their minds and pretended that there was no such thing. It is not due to anything but the fact that these scourges are actually under control today, and our world the cleaner and safer and happier. We have drawn this veil of silence and secrecy over the advance of the "social diseases" because we connect them with sins of impurity. But that consideration doesn't stop us in trying to do other ills that begin with sin. Every human evil begins with sin. Impurity is only one. Gluttony, drunkenness, cruelty, dishonesty, covetousness are all sins, and from them come poverty and squalor, sickness and injustice and suffering beyond all estimation. This particular sin springs from a human weakness natural to us all—the curiosity, the sex impulse in youth. It punishes the innocent, as well as the guilty. Your child straight from the shelter and safety of a convent garden, may be one of its victims this very year—next year. She would not be the first, nor the thousandth victim of a single twelve-month. For her sake take this article to the club, this week and read it aloud.

McCUSTON SCHOOL NEWS

Five weeks of our school have passed. We have an enrollment of 82. Thirty-five of this number are in the primary room, 11 are in the fourth, seven in the fifth, and nine are in the seventh grade. On behalf of the district at large we want to thank both our former and present superintendent, the county board and all concerned for repairing and painting our school house. It makes us feel that you are interested in us and we are going to try to show our appreciation by trying to protect the building and by improving the campus. We have played three ball games. We won over Grindstone by a score of 10 to 2. We outplayed Russell's Chapel by chalking up 18 markers while they scored 9. Woodlawn reversed the situation by handing us a defeat to the tune of 9-5. We are missing J. R. Walker who is having to be absent from school on account of the critical illness of his mother. Others who have been forced to be absent because of illness are Rubens, Edwin and May Belle Stalls, Geneva Lovins, Mary Buchanan, Howell Thurman, and Gene Dale and William Mohundro. We intend to have a cream supper at our school house Saturday night, August 20. Everyone is invited.

Bring the family along and neighbors and those within your home as visitors.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

The attention of our people is called to the third quarterly conference which will be held at the church on Monday night, August 22. In order that all the claims of the church may be met we are expecting every member of the church to do his best and cooperate with these stewards making this possible. Every member of the church promised before God to "support the church" and to fail to do so is to repudiate your own vow. We have made a fine record at Murray for two years and you must help us maintain it. At the morning hour, 10:50 o'clock, the pastor will preach on "The Universal Debt," from the text, "I am debtor both to the Greek and to the barbarian, both to the wise and unwise." The summer is a good time to realize this debt. At the evening hour the subject will be "God's Bounty" from the text, "Who giveth us all things richly to enjoy." Surely we will be grateful to God for his goodness and show that gratitude in some substantial way. Bro. C. A. Hale will give you a good welcome at the Sunday-school and some good teachers will give you a lesson worth while. Our children and young people meet at 7 p. m. with helpful lessons for those of all ages. Sin and Satan never call in their services and never go on a vacation. Surely God's people will be just as zealous for the welfare of his kingdom. Go to the church of your choice and join with God's people in worship on the holy Sabbath. J. Mack Jenkins, Pastor

CHURCH OF CHRIST

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

There will be no preaching services at the First-Christian Church until September 11. The minister, A. V. Havens, will be away on his vacation. Sunday School and Mid-week services at usual hours.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

NEW YORK, August 18—BUSINESS—Prices in retail stores registered the smallest monthly decline during July since September, 1937, when a down trend began that has lowered average retail prices nearly eight per cent. Reports from the country's manufacturing plants continue to indicate reviving employment. Last week thousands of telegrams were sent to employees of leading motor plants telling them to report for work immediately. Intensive operations in the Detroit area are about to start. America's export trade is holding up nicely. Business prospects generally are bright, except for a disturbing decline in farm prices the last few weeks. In the last month cash wheat prices have dropped about nine cents a bushel, corn 10 cents, rye 10 cents, oats five cents, pork $1.50 a barrel and beef $6.00 a barrel. This means a loss of rural purchasing power, which enlightened business men today recognize as an indispensable factor in keeping the wheels of industry turning.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE—European cables bring rumors of another impending financial crisis in France and hint at further devaluation of the franc. To bankers, foreign exchange is a fascinating subject, but to the average layman it's all Greek. What makes currencies fluctuate? There are many factors, of course, involving confidence in a government's political and economic stability. But international trade plays a big role too. Suppose, for example, an English importer buys 1,000,000 bushels of corn in the U.S. at 50 cents a bushel. In doing so, he has to take his own money—pounds sterling—and bid for 500,000 American dollars in the money market. Just as at an auction, his bidding tends to boost the "price" of dollars. English papers that night will read, "Dollars rise," while American papers at the same time will read, "Pound sterling declines." That's one reason why France, which has imported more goods than she has exported every year except two since 1920, has had a gradual decline in the value of its franc. The excess of imports had to be paid for in dollars and other foreign currencies purchased with francs.

CLOSE SHAVES—Men with whiskers, who use more than a billion and a quarter razor blades every year, according to the latest Department of Commerce estimate, will be interested to know that the tax collector is nicking them, too.

since March, 1937. . . Russia and Japan sign border truce. . . New type wheat developed in England; it is rust resistant and able to withstand heavy storms because it grows short. . . Federal Housing Administration operations hit record in July. . . What to Do About the Weather

From both personal observation and from complaint letters that have been reaching the department, a word concerning the weather seems timely. Much of what will be said will be in the nature of a post mortem with the patient not dead, perhaps, but in a bad way, sometimes. In most of Kentucky there has been more rain than was needed. Except for just a few days, there has been no hot weather and the nights have been definitely uncomfortable cool. As a result, and because of rain-soaked soil, soil temperatures have stayed low and the "warm" crops, tomatoes, sweet potatoes, salads and greens have been helped. Many gardeners complain quite bitterly about their soils having "run together" because of heavy downpours of rain and because they were prevented from going into their gardens to keep them cultivated. This run-together condition aggravates the other handicap, that of the weather, and taking them together, not much comfort is left the gardener, for his

Homemakers' Contests Are Described By Kentucky State Fair Headquarters

Kentucky homemakers who enter their proudest culinary and hand work achievements in the Woman's Department displays at the Kentucky State Fair, September 12 to 17, will compete both for distinction and cash awards that have been increased $1,000 over last year's total. These awards will be supplemented by silver trophies and many other special prizes donated by the merchants and manufacturers according to announcement by H. S. Cleveland, manager of the fair.

Added to the usual sections for individual competition is a special award for the best group of not more than fifteen hand made articles exhibited by any Woman's Club or Society. Articles shown in this class will not be eligible for individual prizes, but will compete for a first prize of $25, second prize $15, and third $10.

This year pies will at last come into their own special section with prizes totaling $20. Faxon Facets

(Held over from last week)
We have a stogie of snakes in the grass. Last week C. C. Roberts and later his son, Terrell, were bitten by poisonous reptiles, and several others have been bitten by non-poisonous ones, or have barely escaped their fangs. The younger Mr. Roberts killed his assailant, stuck him in his pocket for further identification and went to the doctor, which action was wise for it developed that the snake was a newly shed copperhead.

The hot, humid weather of the past ten days is sapping people's energy and threatening the frantically laboring tobacco harvesters with heat stroke. The hot humidity has turned musty and mildewed our books, our shirts and all our houses, and has bred mosquitoes, which burden many of our lives with their human infections of malaria.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Folwell and Mary Ruth have all been indisposed with one thing or another, but all are feeling better. The John Holland family have all been indisposed or even sick-abet from malaria, boils and what-not. I am glad to report them all recovered or better. Mrs. Stella Ragdale has been sick from a bad cold, but she was able to attend church Sunday. Tom Wells has been unable to measure tobacco stand for a few days, but he has about recovered from a two-week's seige of malaria.

Clairde B. Folwell, formerly of Faxon, received a serious foot injury three weeks ago in the Centralia, Ill. shops of the C. B. and Q. R. R. He remained in the hospital for two weeks, until an almost severed toe was healed sufficiently to allow cast to support the crushed foot. It is thought that Mr. Folwell will be allowed to resume his work, but that the danger period has passed and that his recovery is a matter of time.

Mrs. Gracie Terry and children last week brought to Mrs. Sarah Sleds from her Horie, Ark. home to visit with her relatives here before they return to Detroit this week, where Mrs. Sleds plans to visit in Mrs. Terry's home.

Professor and Mrs. W. O. Folwell plan to return to Dunlap, near Chattanooga, this week-end, where they are to resume their duties in the Dunlap high school next Monday.

Mrs. Folwell, a charming West Virginia woman, with a lovely soprano voice and with considerable training and experience as performer and as teacher of expression, the daughter of a teacher, a senator, and an elder of the church of long standing, a young woman of quiet refinement and culture and of sweet Christian living, spent a quiet day of getting acquainted with Alf last week; a very profitable and enjoyable day for your scribe.

We were very sorry about Mr. and Mrs. Chester Yarbrough's baby son's being dead.

There is lots of tobacco being cut.

There were several people at the ice cream supper, at Stone school Saturday night.

Frances Osborn spent from Friday afternoon until Sunday morning with Sue Nance.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Auton and baby son, Jimmie Sanders, are visiting Mrs. Auton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Sanders.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Sanders and daughters visited relatives in Union City through last week-end.—Blue Jay.

In Memory
In loving memory of my dear mother who was called away August 12—1936.

Two long years ago today—since my dear mother was called away. It was so sad to give her up; our hearts are sad and sore. But we all hope to meet her some day. Where parting will be no more! We miss your footsteps dear mother.

We see your empty chair. The old home is so sad and lonely since you went away. Gone but not forgotten.—A daughter, Ethel Wilson.

Stella Gossip

Indeed I went to the Backsburg "Big to do" and I reckon fooled away $65 and yet it was very entertaining to the fun-seekers. Bells from Memphis, Nashville, Paducah and beyond Tennessee River. I saw Henry Thompson and Claud Bridges of Lyon county. A big airplane sailed over the Hughes Park all day long. An old colored preacher sang "I feel that the Lord has laid his hand on me." She said: "Do you want to see where I was vaccinated?" Then he said, "I don't know." She said "Upstairs in Dr. Moore's office."

Away back in 1884, the coal miners went on a strike at Straitsville, O. The gigantic coal field caught fire and to this day is still burning—54 years without ceasing.

They have built concrete walls to stop the fire but to no avail. The place has been nicknamed "Wall around hell."

I note that Governor Chandler received 223,429 votes, while 1200 voters in Calloway did not vote and more than 100,000 Democrats in Kentucky did NOT vote. Now what you'll white folks know about that?

The "Book" says "The love of money is the root of all evil." So I suggest that you pay into the church treasury—according as you have "purpose" in your heart, which is the "Paul way". Once I aimed to put in 11 coppers at Sunday school but one of them missed the basket and rolled all over the o' women's corner.

The protracted meeting at Kirksey Church of Christ will be apt to close next Sunday night. Charley Taylor is the much qualified preacher.

L. H. Pogue will begin a tent meeting at Coldwater next Sunday, August 21.—Are you listening?

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Turner of West Virginia were in Calloway last week. Why on earth they did not call on me and Ida, is past finding out.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Broach of Dallas, Tex., were in Calloway last week. If they fail to call on us, I consider myself neglected in my ole dotage age. They know that I have an exalted opinion of them. Eura and Elma are my own nieces. There's no place like home.

I saw Wilson Smith in town the day I had a "hair cut". I acted an idiot and told how old I is. He over-guessed 7 years too many. I felt like a hen-pecked husband.

Bill Patterson of the East Side, is a granddaddy? Yes worse'n that—great grandpa. So am I. Woodman, spate that tree, teach not a single bough; in youth it sheltered me and I'll protect it now.

Now, with due respect to all the readers of The Ledger & Times, I ring off.—Eagle.

Mrs. Reba Paschall was a visitor of her mother Friday afternoon. The gravelling of the road from Gaylon Rogers to Lynn Grove was completed Friday afternoon.

Ben Byars sold Bert Wilson a nice veal calf Friday of last week. I just must say hello to Asa Ruth, Virginia and Joe Forest Paschall of Florida. And say Asa were glad you got down in Florida before you had those teeth extracted. And Ruth, I want to say here that Rachel Jean is a fine grandbaby. We got to see her Saturday when Clifford Larue and Ethel came to visit Ethel's home place.

Mr. and Mrs. Commodore Jones and children were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Jones Sunday afternoon. Linda and Lottie Bodwell were also guests in the Jones home Sunday afternoon. Linda, I'm sure you appreciated the assistance you had with your arithmetic lesson.

"Aunt Missouri" Wilson, how are you making it in Michigan? I hope you are enjoying cooler weather than we are here. Hollon and Haughtie are sort of lonesome without you.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Smotherman and children, Martha Sue, Jimmie Lynn and Nancy Ann visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Paschall.

We are glad to report that Mrs. Marvin Page is slightly improved. Hope she improves rapidly.

Here's Why Hens Go On Stand-up Strike

Hens sometimes decide on a stand-up strike, along toward the end of a hot summer. Poultry experts at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture tell why old biddy makes up her mind to quit. Here are the reasons:

Lack of balanced feeding; too many non-producing hens in the flock; lice and mites; insufficient cool, fresh drinking water; the heat.

Nothing can be done about the weather; but the hens can be provided with proper feed, an abundance of fresh water, shade and kept free from lice and mites.

Early motters should be culled out and sold, say the experts. Few early motters will come-back into production soon enough to be profitable. Likewise, sell all male birds not wanted for breeding next season, and also sell all broody hens.

It usually is necessary to cull the pullets as well as the old birds. Keep only those birds that have made rapid growth, that are well feathered and are healthy and vigorous.

Clean the poultry houses often and well. Clean and scold or disinfect all drinking vessels. Prepare to exercise precaution against chickenpox, canker and roup which attack many flocks in the fall.

"Molly says they'll have to pay more now for a home like ours than we paid."

DON'T hesitate about building your home now—this is the smart time to do it. Home building is on the uptrend, and as more people want homes material prices will go up. Then you'll pay more for the home you want—or for rent. Experts agree that those who build later will look back with regret to the values they can buy today.
