

SCHOLARSHIP REPORTING-DISCIPLINE

TEQSA defines scholarship as “those activities concerned with gaining new or improved understanding, appreciation and insights into a field of knowledge, and engaging with and keeping up to date with advances in the field. This includes advances in ways of teaching and learning in the field and advances in professional practice, as well as advances in disciplinary knowledge through original research.”

Colour Key
A	Scholarly publication/communication such as literature reviews and conference presentations
B	Evidence-based course reviews or improvements based on scholarship
C	Original research in a discipline or on teaching and learning practice
D	Advanced professional development activities (either through participation in or leading these activities)
E	Professional bodies or communities of practice in advancing knowledge and practice
F	Involvement in relevant activities of scholarly academic societies, editorial roles or peer review (i.e. those concerned with advances in practice or knowledge)
G	Undertaking higher level qualifications or broader qualifications
H	Individual or collaborative activities, e.g. 'journal clubs', to remain abreast of developments in a field, combined with reflective practice, and/or
I	Undertaking advanced specialised practice or scholarly secondments

Impact Rating Key
1 Low Impact	Transformative value on the staff -member [anecdotal evidence]
2 Medium Impact	Transformative value on both staff, student/community [anecdotal evidence]
3 High Impact	Clear evidence of some form of dissemination [workshops, forums, conferences, publications, exhibitions, performances, acting as peer-review moderator] and /or community impact [social, environmental, cultural, spiritual]

Nursing	Anderson, M. I. , Simpson, G. K., Daher, M., & Matheson, L. (2015).	The relationship between coping and psychological adjustment in family caregivers of individuals with traumatic brain injury: A systematic review. Annual Review of Nursing Research , 33(1), 219-247. doi: 10.1891/0739-6686.33.219	Peer reviewed publication This publication is part of a collaborative multisite national project between Avondale and the Brain Injury Rehabilitation Research Group, Ingham Institute of Applied Medical Research. Currently, we are testing a predictive model of resilience among family caregivers supporting relatives with traumatic brain injury (TBI) or spinal cord injury (SCI). The results will provide a new understanding of the nature and process of caregiver resilience when a relative sustains a TBI or SCI and provide the platform for future large scale intervention studies. The project is jointly funded by Avondale and Ingham Institute of Applied Medical Research. Value = $60,000 Account number: 170007857	✓		✓			✓					3
