SIAN FU EXPEDITION.

Another Statement Concerning This Mysterious Plan,

London, February 20.-The Reuter Tel egram company has received the following from its Pekin correspondent dated February 19.

"The German, British and Japanes legations notified the Chinese that the allies were preparing an expedition toward Sian Fu in the event of the court persisting in its present unsatisfactory attitude regarding the punish-

"Thereupon the Chinese plenipotentiaries wired urgently to Sian Fu, counselling immediate compliance and pointing out that now there was only the question of the death of a few persons really deserving such a fate, whereas, an advance of the allies westward would mean the death and distress of thousands, besides causing the powers to treat China with greater harshness than if a sattlement were arrived at without further military operations.

"Five thousand British troops have been warned to prepare for the resumption of operations."

NO BIG EXPEDITION PLANNED. Rerlin, Feburary 19.-The National Zeitung and other inspired papers assert that Field Marshal Count Von Walderes has no intention of embarking on a large expedition into the interior of China, but they say that the Chinese will find strong forces ready to act if they continue to prograstinate. Von Waldersee's sphere of action it is pointed out is limited to the province of Chi Li.

Prince Cairg and Li Hung Chang have been greatly worried by the preparation for the expedition into the interior, and they have strongly urged the court to yield, pointing out that otherwise the dismemberment of the empire was probable.

Gen Chaffee signalized the Chinese new year's by calling on Li Hung Chang, who seemed to be in much better health. It is now asserted that the Germans will turn the railroads over to the British at the end of the month.

A Sister's Advice.

I tell you, nobody but a mother of the wealthy. looks at her child and fears that he may not be spared to her. The hours of her life are dark and heavy when she does that.

But that is what Mrs. Frank T. Washburn, of Kennebunk, Maine, did more than once, when bunches had formed on her little boy's neck. She knew they were scrofulous bunches, and she knew scrofula is progressive and one of the most destructive of diseases. She was alarmed, and told her sister about her fears for the little fellow, and her sister comforted her by telling her that many wonderful cures of scrofula that many wonderful cures of scroula had been wrought by Hood's Sarsapa-rilla, and that she should give this medicine to the boy.

It is difficult to conceive how her sister could have thrown more sunshine into her life at this time, and it is certain that better advice could not have been given.

For, mark you! this is what Mrs. Washburn said, on the 17th of October, 1900: "Hood's Sarsaparilla cured my boy. "Hood's Sarsaparilla cured my boy. The bunches gradually softened and disappeared. He has been real well ever since and now, at three years of age, is a rugged, healthy child. I am grateful for what Hood's Sarsaparilla did for him."

This is a simple statement of one of the thousands of radical and permanent cures of scrofula effected by Hood's Sarsaparilla—which is the medicine of

In the 30 years since these institutions became of consequence, in this state, they have earned for men, women and children of Maine $45,000,000. About one in four of the people of Maine is a depositor in the savings banks. The 186,327 depositors have an average of $860 each in the banks. This is $96 per capita for every person in the state. Few business men have deposits in these banks. Does any member of this committee have such a deposit I think not. The savings banks paid $450,000 Just think of this magnificent return on the $360 deposits of these poor women, aged men and children. If the savings bank were taxed as are the national banks, they would pay but about two-thirds of what they now pay and the national banks represent the investments

We have heard a good deal this winter about double taxation. A large proportion of the investments of the savings banks are in properties which are taxed. Out of the seventy millions, thirty-two millions are invested in property subject to municipal taxation. My brother Staples refers to the money in the banks as tied up. That is the notion the children have when they take a dollar to the bank and think it is locked up in the vault and kept for them. This money must be used. It must be kept in motion to earn the dividends. If these depositors tried to invest the $350 each, many of them would lose it because of their ignorance of investments. They would send it out West or it would go in foolish schemes at home.

In answer to a question by Senato Staples, Mr. Timberlake said that a very small proportion of the investments of the banks yielded six per cent. Mr. Timberlake showed by figures how owing to the decreasing rate of interest in the past ten years, the per centage of the gross earnings of the banks have been reduced. He told of the treatment of savings banks in other states, notably in FUTURE New York, where not a single cent is levied upon them. Were the banks in New York taxed as they are in Maine the state would derive an income of $6,000. 000, yet Gov. Odell in searching for new sources of revenue said he would not tax the deposits in the banks. He suggested that a tax might be placed upon the surplus of the banks and that was regarded as a radical suggestion. Were the Maine banks taxed upon their surplus they would pay the magnificent sum of $25, 000. There is no tax upon the Pennsylvania savings banks and the examiner states that he does not believe there ever office Hours, - 2.30 a.m. to 1 p.m will be unless some unusual necessity for Fortunately, however, the number is below the average of the last four years and much lower than the number (4,283) reported in 1897. In 1899 tigers caused the death of 899, wolves of 338 and leopards of 327 human beings, while bears, elephants, hyenas, jackals and crocodiles were accountable for a large proportion of the remainder.

The tiger is most destructive in Bengal, about half of the whole number of victims of this animal being reported from that province. Maneaters have especially troubled certain districts, and liberal retroubled certain districts, and liberal rewards have been offered for their destruction. In the Bhamo district of Upper Burmah a single man-eating tiger killed about twenty persons. A special reward of 100 rupees was paid for its destruction. More than half of the deaths from leopards occurred in Bengal, while more than three-fourths of those from wolves occurred in the northwestern provinces and Oudh. Special measures were taken to hunt down a particularly destructive pack near Cawapur. High rewards were offered and hunting parties organized, but without much success.

It was then referred to the legislature of 1899 and the banks were met with the statement: "Your cause is a just one, but we've got the Bango hospital to build and for Heaven's sake don't suggest any reduction of revenu now." So the matter was again deferred and Mr. Cornish urged that this legislature pledged to the equalization of taxation, was the one to act upon it.

a cabinet meeting to be held February 22, and Lord Lansdowne hoped to be able to comminicate to Mr. Choate something definite immediately after the meeting.

Lord Lansdowne's notification to Mr. Choate may safely be taken as an indication that the British government does not desire to force the China and Nicaragua questions to an issue any earlier than is absolutely necessary. It is understood that the United States ambassador was responsible for bringing up the Nicaragua matter, pointing out how short a time was left for an answer before the lapsing of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty.

The reply of Lord Lansdowns did not by any means positively pledge the British cabinet to make a decision, although it indicated that the United States might expect that, so far as the Nicaraguar question was concerned any further consideration on the part of the Stuart's tablets as regularly as they take the stuary of the food.

This is a sum which the government can very well afford to invest in the experiment of testing to what extent a protective tariff is the mother of trusts.

REFORM THE SHERIFF'S OFFICE.

The popular demand for retrenchment and reform in the office of sheriff of this county, has found legal expression in the bill published elsewhere. The bill has already been referred to the judiciary committee and a hearing will be given upon it tomorrow afternoon. This bill is practically a union of the Alian bill

ALNE AND THE ICE TERRIFF is practically a union of the Alian bill and a bill drawn under the direction of Mr.Charles A. True for the county commissioners. The first four sections of the bill relate to the compensation of the sheriff, and the boarding of the prisoners and other expenses of the jall. The exact compensation which the sheriff has been receiving for some years past is not known except to the men who have occupied the office, and they have not been disposed to be ommunicative on the subject. It has been variously estimated at from $10,000 to $20,000 per annum, and some have placed it at even a higher figure. That it has been large, much larger than it should have been, nobody doubts. The scramble for the office which has been witnessed every four years, and the large sums of money spent to get it, are proof-genoughithat it is much too lucrative. Much of the #evenue has been derived from the alleged enforcement of the Mr. Charles A. SUPERIOR COURT.

Michael Foley vs. Charles O. Smith. This is an action to recover damages in the sum of three thousand dollars for personal injuries received through the negligence of the defendant. Both plain-Blackstone and Smith, and on the day in son work at the corner of Pine and Vaughan streets. The defendant was employed as a mason and the plaintiff as a about 1200 pounds across a ditch about six feet wide. To do this, four plank ten stone was to be rolled. The defendant paller, master or keeper, shall be fixed by the county commissioners. If any person have authority from the county commissioners to purchase such supplies, his bills and accounts shall be presented to the balancing point to the county commissioners every three months, and oftener if they deem it necessary, and be examined, audited and approved by them before they are paid by the county treasurer. The county commissioners shall be presented to the balancing point to keep it from tipping over; but for some reason they falled to do this, and the proved by them before they are paid by the county treasurer. The county commissioners whill have authority at any the county treasurer and another man pried the stone up until a mination, salarles and other expenses of the bureau and agencies, brings the total for the maintranance of the service to street, securing a quantity of ale and whiskey. They also arrested Fred Sherthese figures and the large amount which is annually appropriated and disjuncted by the proprietor.

FERRY BOAT LAUNCHED.

Bath, February 19.—The new ferry boat which will run between and another man pried the stone up until plaintiff's right leg was severely injured and he was taken to the hospital where he remained for some time.

After the testimony was all in, and the arguments had been made, the Court ruled as matter of law that the plaintiff could not recover, on the ground that there was no evidence in the case on which a verdict for plaintiff could be based, it appearing from the plaintiff's own testimony that he knew all the cirsumstances and conditions, and was one of the men who allowed the stone to fall. With the Steamer Cambroman.

Tidings Will Relieve Friends of "Duchess Anne."

The steamer Cambroman of the Dominlon line arrived at this port yesterday morning from Liverpool which port she had left a week ago last Saturday. A fair winter passage was experienced. The cargo consisted of about 100 tons and there were forty-two passancers. The following the statement of the place Sunday, visiting his friends. there were forty-two passengers. The following interesting incident is narrated of the trip: At 1 p. m., on the afternoon of the 13th instant, in latitude 50.01 degrees W, longitude 53 26 degrees W, fair in the middle of the Atiantic, as in the Dominion liner Cambroman we thumped along against a neavy rolling swell we sighted on our port bow the French bark Duchesse Anne of Nantes in a pitiable plight. Her jibboon and her fore top gallant mast were gone and all that remained of her mainmast was a broken stump standing up some ten feet above her deck. Her rigging hung slack, her there were forty-two passengers. The folher deck. Dismasted at the main, orippled woefully at the fore, making no progress but waiting patiently for a fair wind to drive her along to her destination she made a pitiable picture. She was bound to the better eastward and, rolling heavily in a swell left by some recent storm, lay with only reefed foresail and leg-of-mutton spanker set, facing a fresh southeast wind.

Thinking, humanely that her crew may Captain Jones altered the Cambroman's

Captain Jones altered the Cambroman's cours; and hove up to the belated bark.

Men could be seen aloft assiduously at work repairing the damage that was evidently but recently cone, and about her decks the remainder of her crew, sturdily standing by their crippled ship, watched with interest the swift approach of the big liner.

But they made no appeal, and one felt a wave of admiration not unmingled with rity for these hardy mariners who, almost utterly helpless, on a stormy coean in its stormlest season, refrailed from leaving their perilous position when the passing of the Cambroman gave them the opportunity, but instead stuck, like true seamen, with noble intent to their gallant but saily crippled ship.

A smart exchange of signals passed between the bark and the swift ceean greyhound as the latter went steaming past. The interpretation of the bark's signal was: "I am supposed to have foundered since the 5th of February. Report me to my owners Thanks."

A pathetic message, and one which, specialize when we consider the text of the second of the passing of the Cambroman gave their gallant but saily crippled ship.

East Raymond, February 18.—The recent wit

wintry sen, must surely strike a chord of pity in the hearts of all its readers.

It must seem puzzling to the uninitiated shoreman as to how the Britishers on the Cambroman could so easily communicate with the Frenchmen on the bark. This question of communication between ships foreign to each other is a difficulty that has long been overcome by seamen by an admirable system of flag signals, known as the Commercial Code. By its means a dozen ships manned by men of a dozen different nations can though not one may know a word of the other's language carry on a conversation, other's language carry on a conversation, at once comprehended by all, with the greatest ease; and by its means were these poor French saliors who were "supposed to have foundered on the "Sth" able to send by a foreign ship a message which we hope has already been delivered at Portland, spent Sunday here. we hope has already been delivered at Portland, spent Sunday here. their homes that must surely lift from the hearts of their loved ones a load of

SLEPT THE WRONG WAY.

The Secret of a Speculator's Losses on the Stock Exchange.

The Stock Exchange is not without its members, wrinkled and gray, whose superstitions are as deep rooted as those of the ancient negro mammies who wore "tricken bags" in their armpits. One whose office is reached from Broadway, Wall street or Pine (by way of identification) was much annoyed by the persist ent bad luck that followed one of his favorite customers. This customer and the market were forever at cross purposes. They didn't nick at all, and his money was dwindling away in the most disheartening manner.

Last week the broker whispered in his ear strange things. "Tell me frankly and truly how you sleep?" he urged tragically. "Why-er-well-er-the truth is I haven't slept at all of late," was the relay when the other hastily put in: "I ply, wheeat the other hastily put in: "I don't mean that; I want to know in what direction you sleep. How does your body lie?" "Oh, every way, I guess; on my right side, on my left side, on my back. on my stomach, straightened out at full length, doubled up like a frog-every old way." The broker drew him into a corner.

"You still fall to understand me," con tinued the old man, a member since the war. "What I must know is how do you head when you go to bed? Is your head to the north, east, south or west?" "I to the north, east, south or west?" "I never gave it a thought before, but now that you mention it my head is always to the north—when I'm at home." "Um! I just thought so! No wonder the market has been going against you. Go straight home and have your bed turned around so that your head will be toward the south or west. Don't ask any fool questions; just do as I say. It won't east you south or west. Don't ask any fool ques-tions; just do as I say. It won't cost you a cent, and—well, if the market doesn't go your way I'll carry your stock 50 points in either direction. The idea of a sensi-ble man sleeping with his head to the north or the east and playing the stock market or any other game! It beats me."

The customer, at all times hard headed must have reached a point in his continmy owners Thanks."

A pathetic message, and one which, especially when we consider that the hardy senders of it are at this very moment battling their way in their sorry plight, homeward across the bolsterous whith sending the considerations, whith year, must surely strike a chord of pity in the hearts of all its readers.

PLAYED FIERCE POLO.

Portland Defeated Biddeford in Hot Game Last Night.

Biddeford, February 19.-Portland and Biddeford played one of the fiercest polo games tonight ever seen here and Portland won 5 to 2. There were three mixups during the game. In the last period Campbell and Wiley clinched and went to the floor, and for a time it looked as though both teams would be drawn into a general fight, but the men were finally separated by the referee. Swords' goal ading was a feature of the game.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

MISS COGHLAN AS "BECKY SHARP."

The presentation of Thackeray's "Vanity Fair" was a delight to the audience which tested the Jefferson theatre's seating capacity, last evening. As is generally the case in the dramatization of a novel, some of the connecting threads of the narrative are either omitted or so woven into the new fabric as to be lost BURTON HOLMES' OBERAMMER. of a novel, some of the connecting threads of the narrative are either omitted or so woven into the new fabric as to be lost sight of, but the leading characters were all there, and in dress and action true to the famous author's depiction. Miss Gertrude Coghian, who is starring for the first saeson in this play, is an ideal "Becky Sharp." She is a remarkably beautiful young woman, a blonds, just out of her teens, with a grace of manner, a symmetry of figure, a vivacity of action and as pretty a face at has been seen on a Portland stage this year. She seen on a Portland stage this year. She of the Play, and making a special study comes naturally by her dramatic talent, of the villagers themselves, their home Coghlan, a celebrated actor.

Mr. J. H. Nevins stands sponsor for this dramatization, and in some respects it excels the original Coghlan version, over official Court photographer, many more which there was a law suit in New York short time ago.

Miss Coghian was received with enthusiasm. Her support is excellent. Mr. Herbert Fortier, in the character of "Rawden Crawley," was especially strong in the concluding scene of the fourth act. Mr. Cecii Kingston, as 'Lord Stayne' was admirable, and so were Messrs, Warren W. Ashley, Damon Lyon, James Allen and Roland Gibson, in their respective impersonations. Miss May Donohue, as Mrs. Major O'Dowd, furnished much of the humor of the play. Others in the cast who are deserving of praise are: Messrs. John Helland, M. Rothkolpt, William Fox, J. B. Bowen, George Spencer, Joseph Caldwell, Clarence Bates, Charles Claire, George Mulvihill, William Dryden Misses Mollie Sherwood, Rose Anthon, Helen Salinger, Muriel Walling, Louise Gillette, Mary Hally, Clara Edwards, Mayme Cutting,

Sadie Montgomery and Louie Browne. The play opens in Queen's Crawley, Hampshire, at the beginning of the wedded life of Rawden and Becky. The next act is located in Brighton, the courtyard of the ship "Inn." Next in Brussels, is witnessed the military ball preceding the battle of Waterloo. Here Miss Coghlan is at her test, exquisitely gowned and the recipient of favors from all the gallants in the ball room. The dinner scene in the Crawley's Mayfair residence, when Lord Steyne is cut short in his endeavor to win favor from the vivacious Mrs. Crawley, and family ties are ruthlessly shattered in consequence, is a masterly presentation. The final drop of the curtain comes when Becky, friendless and in poverty, is eeking out an existence in the miserable attic room in the Elephant hotel at Tumpernickle.

Miss Coghian and her excellent company will again be at the Jefferson this evening.

BURTON HOLMES' OBERAMMER GAU LECTURE.

Oberammergau was always an extremely popular lecture with the followers of Mr. Stoddard, and its popularity seems to have spread to the present time until it is apparently the most interesting to the greatest number of all the patrons of Mr. Holmes. Mr. Holmes spent several weeks in Oberammergau attending a number of the presentations being a daughter of the late Charles life, their daily life in the field and work shop. Mr. Holmes' illustrations for this lecture will be of unusual interest, and official Court photographer, many more are the achievements of Mr. Holmas, himare the achievements of air. Holmas, nim-self, giving little characteristic touches, that no stock photographs can possibly give—little glimpees of the intimate co-currences, the many details of the simple lives of these people. This lecture will be given next Thursday evening at the Uity Hall. Tickets on sale at Oressay, Jones & Allen's.

NOTES.

Professor Ethelbert Nevin, musician and composer, died suddenly in New Haven, Conn., Sunday, aged thirty-eight years. He was born at Edgeworth, Pa., Nov. 25, 1862, and both he and his youngyears. He was born at Edgeworth, Pa., Nov. 25, 1862, and both he and his younger brother, Arthur, also a 65mposer, showed early talent. They were taught by their mother, an enthusiastic amateur, and after the removal of the family to Pittsburg, Ethelbert devoted himself to musical study. He made a decided hit with his opus 2, a "Sketch Book," in which were some of his best-known songs, including "O, that we two were Maying." Soon after this (in 1894) he went to Berlin for more serious study, working at the plano for three years under Kilndworth. After his return he lived in Boston until 1894, when he went to Europe again, and since 1898 he had lived in New York until he went to New Haven to assist Professor H. W. Parker in his musical work in Yale University. Verdi's will contains one very curious item. His residuary legatee is his niece, Maria Verdi, who is married to Signor Carrara. To the infant asiyuma and the hospital for the blind in Genon he bequeaths $20,000. Large sums are also left to the charitable institutions and to the poor of his native village, Koncole, and also to those of Busseto, where he lived poor of his native village, Roncole, and also to those of Busseto, where he lived for many years. Then comes the following request: "In the dining-room of my villa, St. Agata, will be found two large wooden boxes of great antiquity I desire that neither shall be opened, but that both be burnt immediately after my observed." It is presumed that the two sequice. It is presumed that the two mysterious boxes contained manuscripts of unpublished open which the master did not wish to see the light.

PLAN TO RAISE THE MAINE.

Contractors Will Do the Work,

Chilcago, Feb. 18 -A little over two years ago, when the question of raising the wreck was first seriously broached N. F. Chamberlain of this city conceived a plan for raising the wreck of the Maine, as well as that of the grounded Spanish transport Alfonso XII. He immediately organized a company and set to work to perfect the details of the task. Bids were called for, and Mr. Chamberlain proposed to raise both the wrecks of the Maine and the Alfonso for salvage, agreeing at the same time to pay the Government three per cent of the net proceeds and guarantseing the return of all personal States government, which for buildings property of the crew that should by re- and exhibits appropriated $500,000. covered. The Government notified the company that the proposition was ac-ceptable, and with the approval of the bond and the attachment of the official signatures the company is now ready to

The plan which Mr. Chamberlain has adopted for the Maine is the building of an immense cofferdan around the wreck. The dam will be eighty feet broad at the base and wide enough at the top for a safe wagon road. The incline will be on the inside. Bundles of brush thirty feet long, weighted with stone, will first be let down all around the wreak. Those be les down all around the wreck. Upon this dirt and gravel will be dumped, forming a comparatively water-tight foundation. Stone, brush, dirt and gravel will then be alternated until the wreck is completely surrounded by a dam forty-five feet high. Pumping engines will be put to work as soon as the dam is completed and the wreck cleared of water. A well will be dug inside the dam, into which the bilge water can run and the work of retrieving the wreck will then be fairly begun. One hundred tons of brass and bronzs, together with the engines and the protective armor of the Maine, will be the property of the Chamberlain company. The cost of doing the work outlined by Mr. Chamberlain's estimated at $75,000. An entirely different method will be pursued with regard to the Alfonso XII. This vessel was sunk in shallower water, nearer the shore and it is proposed to drag it farther upon the beach by an intricate system of blocks, tackles and rollers. be let down all around the wreek. The others are each 150 feet square. The architecture is a free treatment of the Spanish Renaissance, the details suggesting a Mexican rather than a strictly Spanish origin. Like the other Exposition buildings these are covered with staff and are lavish with color and gilding, which give the intricate plastic decorations and sculpture groups an ensemble both striking and interesting. Red Spanish tiles on the roofs add to the beauty.

Nervous Exhaustion

"Two years ago this summer I was in a miserable condition as theresult of hard work. I was completely run down, pale and losing fiesh, and so nervous that I could not sleep or even get rest. It was dreadful to go to bed at night all worn out and lie awake for hours with nervousness. "My head troubled me a greatdest, too, both with pain and dizziness. If I stooped over at any time I would be so dizzy I could hardly see or keep from failing down. If I became a little excited my hands would shake so I could hardly hold anything. . York Stock, Money and Grain Market Review

New York, February 19 .- There was an element among the professional operators on the Stock Exchange which worked for a rally today on theory that yesterday's selling was largely due to opera-tions for the bear account, and that the vigorous support of the market would drive the bears to cover. The manceuvre was not entirely without success and especially in the early dealings, but all ot the strength was confined to a very few stocks and was not long maintained Business fell away materially at times during the day, showing no signs of the recent large general demand for operations by large banking and financial interests, which has been the backbone of the market for a long time. Obviously none but professional operators were interested to any extent in the day's transactions. There was large buying again of the
