DEWEY'S DESPATCH COMPLETE. Washington, April 19.—The navy de-partment having requested a correction of the portions of Admiral Dewey's de-spatch of yesterday which was not de-cipherable, was today able to furnish the full text of the despatch which is as fol-lows:

JUNTA HEARS GREAT NEWS.

London, April 19.—The Filipino European Junta claims to have received a cablegram from Gen. Luna, commanding the Manila, on Friday, declaring that Gen. Lawton, whose object was to proceed to Baler and effect a junction with the Yorktown, was invelgled by the Filipino tactics into perilously extending his line, with the result that a column, consisting of 140 officers and men, on reaching a place called Byanargoan was ambushed by a large Filipino force, communication with the main force was severed and the entire column was captured.

STORY NOT CREDITED.

Washington, April 19.—The war department does not credit the Filipino assertions contained in the despatch because it is believed Gen. Otis would have cabied any such disaster. It is further stated that General Lawton could not possibly have had in mind a junction with the Yorktown as there is an impassable range of mountains between the points between the points between the yorktown was cruising.

The general opinion had been that the trial would drag through many more days and when District Attorney Rothermel announced that he had concluded there were expressions of surprise from all parts of the room. The end came at 2 o'clock, just one hour before the usual hour for adjournment and after a brief consultation among counsel for the defense, and Judge Biddle, the latter announced court adjourned until tomorrow in order that Mr. Quay's lawyers might have time to with respect to the presentation of their sufficient norishment, or follow a break- side. may offset Mr. Goldsmith's testimony, remains to be seen.

The contention of the defense in argument and cross examination has been that the calculations of Mr. Goldsmith are not borne out by the books, but on the other hand show that Mr. Quay did not use state money nor receive interest on state deposits and that whatever loans he received were made in loans be received were made in the customary manner and backed by sufficient collateral. Today's proceedings were devoid of sensational features. The dry routine of figures and involved explanations of accounts took up most of the time. Mr. Goldsmith's crossxamination was concluded and re-direc examination was begun by Mr. nel. The points brought out by him wer that the cosh account and interest account of the bank were delicient by the omission of certain sums received as interest; that it was customary to designate call loans by initials instead of names. Upon the question of Mr. Quay's balances in the deposit account from May 1898 to October question of Mr. Quay's balances in the deposit account from May 1896, to October 1897, Mr. Goldsmith said: 'In 1896 on June 23 the balance was $2.53; on Novem-ber 24, $2,777.66; on November 28 again $2.56; in 1897, on January 7, fifty cents; on October 26, $10,000.50; and on October 27, 50 cents at which it remained till the end of the month. These are all the variations from April 30, 1896, to October 31. Director of the Mint Henry K. Boyer was on the stand and after testifying to paying interest in October, 1897, on a call loan asked permission to make a state-ment in reply to the District Attorney's

STRUCK BY A TRAIN.

Young Man Killed on P. & R. Track at Gorham.

Tried to Cross in Front of Moving Pas senger Train.

Wednesday afternoon on the Portland and Unless Rochester railroad, at the Main street crossing in Gorham. The passenger train leaving Fortland at three o'clock in charge of Conductor George Berry and Brakeman Thomas Feeney was on its way into Gotham village. A young man named James Feeney about thirty years of age was walking along the side of the embankment. Suddenly he started to cross to the other side of the track. There were a few persons nearby who saw the approaching train and shouted to young Feeney and told him not to make the at-Do Not Experiment With Reme- Yesterday's Testimony Devoid tempted run. Feeney either became dazed or lost control of himself and made the attempt to cross the track. The train was running as usual with the engine's tende toward the front. Feeney was struck a blow in the right side of the head by one corner of the tender and was hurled to the ground with great violence. The train was at once brought to a halt and the injured man taken on board. He was taken to the Gotham depot, where he died shortly afterwards.

The dead man was a son of the late Mr Daniel and Mrs. Catherine Feeney of Gorham. Mr. Bartley Feeney, and Thomas Feeney the conductor of the train which killed the unfortunate man, and Peter Feeney, all railroad employes are brother of the deceased.

Coroner Perry was called but as he wa away on another call at the time of the accident telephoned orders to care for the body until morning, when he will hold joint an inquest over the remains.

The speaker referred only incidentally to the Chautauqua idea. When he entered the room he was greeted with the Chautauqua salute, the waving of handkerchiefs and after expressing his pleas ure at this welcome he told of the origin of the custom. It was at Chautauqua after an eloquent address given in sign language by a deaf mute, "There was the usual clapping of hands," said the Bishop, "but I thought that would not mean much to a deaf mute, so I suggested that everybody at a given signal should wave his or her handkerchief, clean or soiled, white, drab or black," and that was the origin of a salute since repeated

At the close of his lecture, Bishop Vincent was warmly applauded and held a reception at which many of those presen shook him by the hand.

THE BUSINESS SESSION.

The conference met for organization this forenoon after a communion service conducted by Bishop Vincent. The organization was effected as follows:

The question came over an amend ment to the rules. It has been a rule of the Maine conference that the pastors taken all the collections during the year Roberts moved that the amounts should should be required in open conference ex made interesting by a vigorous expression of opinion by the Bishop. Mrs. Parker is in this country soliciting aid for the erection of a Methodist church in her far distant northern home. She told entertainingly the story of the founding of Methodism in Finland Mrs Parker is a good story teller, and this is one of the true stories she told to illustrate the points in her address: When Bishop Vincent visited Finland to create missionary conference there, the memers of the little church wanted to display an American flag in the ball where they worshipped. The United States consul de clined to lend the flag of the consulate beause it had been damaged when lent on s previous occasion. But Minister White was visiting Helsingfors and to him an appeal was made. "What Bishop is coming?" he asked. "Bishop Vincent." 'You shall have the flag," replied the minister and in 24 hours the flag of the embassy was displayed in the hall of the Finnish Methodism. While Russia is Russianizing Finland, said Mrs. Parker. we are evangelizing Rússia. Already there are 24 Methodists in St. Petersburg, who sing under their breath the good old Methodist hymns. As Mrs. Parker proeeded in her graphic description of the work in Finland, she was encouraged with many heartful "amens." Especially was this so when she said that the Methodist church stood so well in Finand that the police said they had less to do than before its establishment.

A collection was immediately taken and pastors pledged further amounts fo the cause represented by Mrs. Parker. Rev. Mr. Boswell of Philadelphia was introduced to the conference and spoke for the Church Extension society.

The session then adjourned. This afternoon the Woman's Foreign Mssionary society held its anniversary the ddress being delivered by Miss Emily L Harvey of Cawnpore, India. Rev. W. G. pencer, D. D., of Philadelphia spoke this evening in behalf of the Church Extension society.

Such women wear themselves out with suffering and seem to think there is no relief from the monthly pains.

Miss Emily F. Hass, of 148 Preeman Street, Greenpoint, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM-I wish to state that I used your Vegetable Compound with the greatest success. I was very sick for nearly a year with hysteria, was downhearted and nervous; also suffered with painful menstruation and pain in back and limbs. I often wished for death, thinking nothing would oure me. I had doctors, but their medicines did me no good. At last, by the advice of a friend, I began to take Lydia B. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with very little hope of its doing me any good, but I am happy to say I am entirey cured. Thanking you for the good your medicine has done me, I am sending you my testimonial, hoping it will help others."

Mrs. Van Oleft Advises Women.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM-For several years my health was miserable. I suffered the most dreadful pains, and was almost on the verge of insanity. I consulted one of the best physicians in New York, and he pronounced my disease a fibroid tumor, advising an operation without delay, saying that it was my only chance for life. Other doctors prescribed strong and violent medicine, and one said I was incurable, another told me my only salvation was galvanic batteries, which I tried, but nothing relieved me. One day a friend called and begged me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began its use and took several bottles. From the very first bottle there was a wonderful change for the better. The tumor has disappeared entirely and my old spirits have returned. I heartily recommend your medicine to all suffering women."-Mrs. Van Cleft, 416 Saunders Ave., Jersey City Heights,

None can tell how soon or where, yet a use can be made of Life Insurance, sooner or later, by every person; that is to say, no individual ever more than temporarily eludes death, yet every one has it within his or her power to bestow, by a policy, lasting financial benefit upon some worthy human being. No investment is more certain of ultimate payment; none more easy of purchase.

The present forms of UNION MUTUAL Policies embrace every feature desirable and popular in Life Insurance. In point of liberality, they are unexcelled; in respect to values, none are better; in the matter of clearness, they are conspicuous for plainness. Here is a soldier of a western regiment saying into their hands, women and children as well as men and doing this directly or indirectly any such order as that. If anything of the kind has occurred, it must have been due to the brutality of some particular soldier or band of soldiers. We can understand how and of soldiers. We can understand how and destroy property, but that they would kill women and children is incredible, unless the women and children are fighting, and this does not seem to be alleged in letters referred to. DEMOCRATS."

(From the Brooklyn Eagle.)

Colonel Bryan is in a forgiving mood. He is willing that the Democrats who deserted their party in 1896 shall be welcomed back, providing tney will admit their error and subscribe to the Chicago platform. "To err," said the Colonel in his usual top-lottical vein, "is human and thosy who erred in 1896 have only to aim! it and subscribe to the party creed in order to be taken back into the party." Only those who demand the surrender of the Chicago platform and who return for the purpose of opposing its reaffirmation are not wanted.

Colonel Bryan polled over six million votes when he ran for President, and it was a magnificent run, but he was over half a million votes behind McKinley. The tone of infallibility underlying his latest pronunciamento would lead one to suppose that everyone who voted for McKinley or who did not vote for the silver candidate was an errorist of the most pronounced type. If that be true there is plenty of evidence to indicate that errorism is growing in the United States. Out West the Democrats who did not vote for the colonel are showing a marked reluctance to confess their sins and be forgiven. (From the Brooklyn Eagle.)

STALLS. How the Smiths Lend and Sell Books o an Enormous Scale.

(London Letter in New York Tribune.) was introduced soon after Mr. Mudie's lending library was put in operation in London. The late W. H. Smith proposed t when he was a clerk of 21 and had the exclusive privlege of erecting and managing book stalls at the stations until they now have a monopoly of the business, only one railway line in the United Kingdom standing out against them. With 600 of these book stalls scattered throughout Great Britain and Ire and, and with 1000 additional sub-stalls. there was the machinery at hand for the operation of a lending library similar to Mudie's. The experiment was tried in 1860, and the book stalls were converted into local libraries, with regular connec

The Smiths' subscription library is operated on the same general plan as MEW FANCY SHIRTS dancing and a social time until minnight. The book stall clerk is the working agent At every railway station of any importauce he is on the ground to arrange exchanges and deliveries of books, and the country subscribers are saved the expense of the carriage of packages. The orders are received through him, and the books are sent out to him for local delivery; and the records are checkel off at the central office in London on tally-sheets corresponding to the station stalls. The clerk manages not only the local deliveries of books, but alias the entire business of the stall, including the sales of fresh and surplus stock, and the country subscribers are saved the expense of the carriage of packages. The orders are received through him, and the books are received through him, and the books, and the country subscribes are expected of at the central elements. The cales of the carriage of packages. The orders are received through him, and the books, but also the expenses of the carriage of the c changes and deliveries of books, and the sactions are large and steadily incressing.

The Smiths putchese books me autiously than Minite's, and college, all do not carry so large a stock of monant literature. They have about 350,000 volumes in attive circulation, and do not buy a larger number of current works than they have a reasonable chance of selling at second hand. Their largest order for a popular work of liction for lending purposes will not exceed 750; and when the demand for it has become stagnant, they have remarkable facilities for selling it at second band, since surplus stock can be worked off not only at the central office, but also at the railway entral office, but also at stalls. The Smiths have rade in books outside central office, but also at the railway stalls. The Smiths have an immense trade in hooks outside the lending library. All the popular works of fiction, bluerappy and travel are sold on a large scale in the Strand offices and at the stalls. In addition to the second-hand husiness, there also have a "remainders department." Tais is filled with surplus work from the shelves of well-known. department." Tais is filled with surplus stock from the shelves of well-known publishing houses, and is sild as a heavy discount. The Smiths not only subscribe largely for their circulating library and make heavy orders for the stall trade whenever a new work is published, but they also clear out the back shelves whenever a publisher ands that he is overloaders with smaller stock.

STOCK $2.50 PER SHARE. Will be advanced April 25 to $3 00.

The superiority of steam over electricity for automobile or Horseless Carriages we have demonstrated by public and private tests. Its avantages are in weight, expense, recharging and less trouble, to say nothing of the great difference in the first cost and expense of running.

We have solved the problem of a successful motor Carriage for the masses and have one in operation which we shall be pleased to show. Our orders already exceed the probable supply for the season of 1890.

To cover manufacturing needs for this season we are offering a limited amount of

New Coat and Hat Floating in Widgery's Dock.

No Trace of a Body Could Be Found and the Case is Regarded as a Very Mysterious Onc.

About half past five [o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mr. Morse, a teamster who was on Widgery's wharf, happened to look into the dock and saw floating up near one end of it, on the incoming tide, grayish overcoat and a new felt hat. In The Latest Styles. the pockets of the coat were found a pipe and some tobacco, but no papers to indicate to whom these articles belonged. It was the opinion of the finder and others about the dock at the time that a man had fallen into the dock with the over coat on his arm sometime during the day and been drowned. It is probable that a search for the body may be made this morning. The police had no information to give on this case last night and in fact knew nothing about it as the matter had not been reported to them up to a late hour.
