DISCUSSED ANNEXATION. Washington, May 31 .- The Senate re-

Washington, May 31.—The Senate remained in secret session for three hours today. The entire time was given to a rather free discussion of the Hawaiian question based on a motion declaring it to be the sense of the Senate that he question of annexation should not be discussed in open session. At the conclusion of the debate the Senate voted viva voce not to pursue the subject further except behind closed doors.

Senator Lodge did not press the subject of his speech after the public was excluded, but other senators declared themselves in favor of prompt action, the speeches of Messrs. Chandler and Morgan being the most pronounced in this direction.

Senators Pettigrew and White were an-tagonistic to annexation and Senator Hale announced himself favorable to final adjournment after the passage of the war revenue and necessary appropriation Senator Lodge said after the conclusion of the secret session that he had accom-plished his purpose in calling attention to the necessity of action on this subject before final adjournment and that he would not further press the subject in connection with the war revenue bill.

Not Looking For Word From Schley at Present.

Washington, May 31 .- The significant statement was made by a cabinet officer after the regular Tuesday meeting of the modore Schley directly, and now it was believed nothing would be heard for two or three days at least. This was taken to mean that Schley probably would await the arrival of troops before undertaking any active move on Santiago. It was plainly anticipated in some quarters that he might, through the possession of some information that would tend to neutralize the strength of the enemy's rly skill, it is evident that the bold position, make a bold attempt to enter the harbor of Santiago and destroy or capture the Spanish squadron. OFFERED BRYAN A COLONELCY. Jefferson City, Mo., May 31.—Gov. Stephens today sent the following telegram to Hon. William J. Rryan, at Lincoln, Neb.:

"Seeing that your state, under the sec-ond call for 75,000 volunteers, may not be requested to furnish a full regiment and knowing of your patriotism and anxiety to go to the front in the services of your country during the present war,
I hereby tender you, if under the second call I am empowered by the secretary of war to make such appointent, the colonelcy of the Missouri regiment.
"Presuming to speak for my state I say that our people would be loyal to you that our people would be loyal to you personally as you to your country and they will feel honored to fight under your leadership."

Mr. Bryan wired the following reply:
"I am deeply indebted to you for the great honor you do me. I should be pleased to be associated any way with the Missouri volunteers, but it is quite certain that all or a considerable portion of my regiment will be accepted and I feel that my first duty is to the Ne braska boys."

Massachusetts' Fourth Regiment Takes the Field.

South Framingham, Mass., May 31 .-

THE NINTH OFF.

The fighting ninth left for Washington this afternoon amid the greatest enthusiasm, and tonight for the first time since its christening Camp Dewey is practically barren of troops. The regiment, the last of the four which Massachusetts has sent out of the state at the call of the President, was in fine shape as [it boarded the the sections of the train while the march from the camp to the cars was one continual ovation from hundreds who had come to town. Governor Wolcott came early to give the Commonwealth's God speed as he had done to the three preceding regiments. The governor had a long talk with Col. Bogan, but did not personally address the regiments.

Hesides the governor and other state officials, there came from Boston, Mayor Quinoy, Hon. J. H. O'Neill, Senator Gallivan, and many others, while there also were many prominent citizers from Natick, Clinton, Lowell, Worcester and Lawrence.

With the Boston delegation came the Montgomery Light Guards veteran association, together with two bands and from Natick came the G. A. R posts, Sons of Veterans company, E company associates.

The regiment came out for its final

The regiment came out for its final dress parade early in the afternoon and the visiting bands assisted in the march past. At the close of the parade Mayor Quincy, with others from Boston stepped forward toward Col. Bogan and a number of interesting and eloquent speeches followed. Col. Bogan made a brief reply and then gave the long expected. and then gave the long expected order to march.

Arriving at the cars the men were soon aboard and at 4.40 the first section pulled out amid a terrific storm of cheers. The second section followed in ten minutes and at five o clock the last of the ninth rolled away for the war.

The regiment will go over the West The regiment will go over the West Shore to Jersey City and the Baltimore and Ohio to Washington, arriving there norrow afternoor.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser notes an overwhelming sentiment in Washington, inside and outside of Congress, for keeping every thing we get, and predicts that we shall permanently hold the Philippines and Porto Rico, and eventually annex Cuba. It must be confessed that the drift today is in the direction of the fulfilment of his predictions. But there is such a thing as a sober second thought.

It seems to be practically admitted that when the administration sent Dewey to Manila to smash the Spanish fleet, the Arkansas infantry, and the Fifty-second possibility of having the Philippines on our hands as a result of the execution of his orders had never entered its head. One of the worst results of Van Wyck's virtual capture of all the New York police commissioners is that it puts the entire election machinery in the hands of Tamelection machinery in the hands of Tammany and enables it to turn out what Boston, May 81.—The Massachusetts nautical training ship, Enterprise, Commander Iverson, sailed today for Marblehead. To avert this there is a movement on foot looking to the calling of a special session of the leg islature to change the election law. Evidently the results of the colossal blunder or crime of dividing the reputable vote of New York between two candidates and thereby enabling Tammany to gain com- OVERWORKED WOMEN plete possession of the government of the great city are going to be far reaching and exceedingly serious. The powerful lever which the control of the city government and patronage has put into its hands Tammany is now using to capture the state government and the state patronage, and its success is altogether probable.

Senor Pnigoerver, the minister of finance, said the measure was intended to prevent the export of the immense quantities of silver stored in the frontier provinces, adding that if the prohibition was not sufficient, stronger measures would be taken.

The minister of finance also said the Madrid mint was coining a million pesetas daily, whoh amount, if necessary, would be increased by an arrangement being made with the Paris mint.

We are not Republicans for practically let the caucus go by default, trusting to the unbiased judgment of the county convention to straighten out the tangle for them.

The caucus was held in the town house, at West Falmouth, whose main hall was densely packed with citizens from all quarters of the town. Five o'clock was the hour named in the bills, and promptly at that time Mr. Henry J. Merrill of the Republican town committee called the assemblage to order. Mr. Frank Moulton was elected secretary, by accla

A motion was made to make Mr. Mer rill, chairman of the caucus, and a vote was taken on it, no opposition to the choice being exhibited, though he was known to be in sympathy with the Buck nam forces. But Mr. Merrill declined to accept the chairmanship. He said he saw many Democrats present, and participating in the proceedings. This was supposed to be a Republican caucus, and he could not understand how a Democrat could have the cheek to come in and take part in it. Evidently these Democrats had been invited to be present, but caucus would make it illegal, and he Democrats were to be allowed to vote.

Mr. Horace Sargent expressed the hope that no Democrat would be unfair enough to cast a ballot in the caucus.

Some of the leaders of the Dresser contingent accused Chairman Merrlil of declining for the sake of blocking business, but he denied any such intention. He remained steadfast, however, in his determination not to take any part in the caucus so long as Democrats remained in ing down the aisle, dressed in the typical the hall and had a voice in the proceed-

"Don't go near the ballot box," "the caucus isn't legal," "you are allowing Democrats as well as Republicans to vote." and other such exclamations came from the leaders of the Bucknam forces. This warning had the effect of keeping most of the Bucknam men away from the chairman's hat, but the Dresser men kept right on about their business, cautioning one another no: to be frightened off.

When the votes were counted Algernon Bowie, Wilbur F. Libby and Elmer F. Huston, the Dresser delegates were declared elected, they having received 36 Moulton, E. F. Robinson and George M. Libby, the Bucknam med.

THE SHERIFF CONTEST.

Brunswick Republicans Appeal to Portland Republicans in Behalf of Despeaux.

The following explains itself: To the Republicans of Portland:

Your delegates to the county convention will name the next sheriff We ask you to name the Brunswick candidate, Oren T. was made last evening at Falmouth, whereby Candidate Walter H. Dresser added to his list three votes which the Bucknam faction had felt sure of capturing.

It was a lively caucus, the liveliest, in fact, of all the caucuses that have thus far been held in the smaller towns. The presence of Democrats was the disturbing element. The Bucknam forces, taking we know anything of the sentiments of Brunswick Republicans, their votes will continue to be oast for the principles that are dear to all of us. Your support of us now is not the condition of our allegiance in the future. We are not Republicans for revenue only. But we suggest to you whether the time has not come for you to acknowledge our support by returning it. A majority of the Republicans of the county outside of Portland seem disposed to do this, and it rests with you to say whether their aid shall be effective.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

REGIMENTAL NIGHT AT THE JEFFERSON.

Last night was regimental night at the Jefferson and although the Pearl of Sawoy was billed, the curtain was rung up on a scene hardly contemplated by the play-There stood the High School Cadets lined up on the stage in company front, with Major Boyd in command, and Captains Fogg and Smart in front of in his opinion their participation in the their respective companies. To the inspiring martial strains of the orchestra a should not have anything to do with it if drill was executed, embracing the manuel of arms and the simpler movements of the school of the company, all of which were executed in an exceedingly accurtae nanner and to the great delight of the large audience. Rounds of applause followed every movement and the curtain was vociferously called at the conclusion of the drill. The orchestra struck up Yanked Doodle, and Corse Payton was seen sailcostume of Uncle Sam, waving majes tically a handsome American flag. He mounted the stage in front of the Cadets, York announced his choice of Mr. Daniel ure in presenting to the High School Cadets the flag of our country-the Stars and Stripes. thusiasm the curtain dropped. This ended the military feature of the evening, and in the boxes to witness the Pearl of Savoy were seen officers of the Cadets and representatives from the regulars at Fort Preble, while the priates were scattered all over the theatre.

The play was most acceptably rendered and the cast seemed to gather inspiration from the lively scenes which were enacted as sort of a curtain raiser. Tonight is grand flag raising night, and the Parisian Princess is billed, with Camille for matinee performance.

There was a steady sale all day. At night it was found that more tickets were disposed of than at any first night's sale in former years. We shall be very much surprised if the new theatre does not have as fashionable an audience as there was at the opening of The patrons of the Gem may rest assured that everything will be done for their comfont this season. There will be plenty of steamers to take the people from Custom House wharf to Peaks Island, and when the theatre lets out there will be steamers enough to bring them back without crowding. In fifteen minutes after the curtain drops on the last act the people can all be in the city.

Another new arrangement, and one that we know the public will appreciate, is that the cars of the Portland railroad will be on Commercial street at the head of Custom House wharf on the arrival of the theatre boats at night to carry the people to Munjoy, West End, and to the uburban lines without change of cars, for one fare. This will be appreciated by hundreds who have never been to the theatre at Peaks Island on account of the lifficulty of getting home. If you have not got your tickets for the minister of the gospel.

In the first place, I hold with Sidney Smith—if he was the man who said it—that in preaching, the sin against the Holy Ghost is dullness. It seems_to_me too, that no preacher who has a keen sense of humor ever need be dull. But you may ask me, "Should a minister put humor into his sermons?" Not intentionally, I should say, perhaps not consciously, even. To do that would be pretty apt to lead a man into being a clown, or a mere jester upon things which are not fit material for pleasantries. But if he is not intentionally to put humor into his sermons, neither ought he intentionally to keep it out. And this really, is the key to the matter; in the case of a thoroughly sincere man, what is in him will come out; and if the sense of humor is in him, it will almost inevitably appear in his sermons. This is the more true because it sometimes happens in the case of a Christian minister, as in the case of a Christian minister, as in the case of other men, that the people with whom he lives are without the sense of humor. His wife, perhaps, is an angel, but she can't see a joke; his mother, possibly, is one of the best women in the world, but pleasantries always have to be explained to her. Now what Berkeley said of the world may te said pre-eminently of humor; its esse is percipe; or in the vulgar, its essence is to be perceived; and to be perceived not only by the man who produces it, but by some other ego. We can be melancholy, or devout, or even eloquent, alone; but humor requires appreciative companionship. This being the case, I ask you in common candor, what can a minister do, in whom somehow God has implanted the sense of humor, and made it as strong in him and as native to him, as any other faculty of his mind; but to whom God has also given a wife and family who can not see his jokes? I will tell you what he will do, without at the time either intending it or knowing it; he will let off some of wholesome and more loveable, and therefore more powerful for good, he would be, if things were only funny to him occasionally. How much longer he could stay in one parish, and how much more sorry people would be to see him go.

All this being true, you will allow me to express my astonishment that the sense of humor should be so lightly esteemed.
Where did this sense of humor come from, anyway? Nobody invented it, or manufactured it. It is inborn in our human nature. Who put it there? God.
And not in our human nature alone, but in many other corners of the universe as in many other corners of the universe as well. You may see it in the antics of kittens, in the practical jokes of puppies upon each other, in the skippings and playings of all care-free and unconven-tional creatures. To quote again the auto crat of the breakfast table, "The ludicrous has its place in the immense; it is not a human invention, but one o the Divine ideas, illustrated in the practical Divine ideas, illustrated in the practical jokes of kittens and monkeys long before Aristophanes or Shakespeare." How strange it is that we always think of the next world as such a solemn place, and would think it almost sacrilegious to picture people making jokes to each other in that better world, when it is exactly by the people who have no sense of fun in them who come so near making this world intolerable. And how strange it is that it should never occur to us that God enjoys the ludicrous side of things, when we know, if we stop to think, that if he has no sense of humor he is destitute of that which as much as anything else lends piquancy and charm to our human life. If we do not carry our sense of fun with us into the next world we shall certainly have left behind us one of the hest parts of ourselves.

No, humor like other traits of our human nature comes not from any inferior sense but from the author of every

No, humor like other traits of our human nature comes not from any inferior sense, but from the author of every good and perfect gift. It is given us to cheer us, to help us, to counterbalance some of the evils that flesh is heir to, to keep us from getting altogether way-worn and weather-beaten upon the journey of this our life. It was given us to use, not in coarse and vulgar ways, not in cutting retorts and repartes that sting as keenly as they glisten, but as gentlemen and Christians should use allGod's gifts unselfishly and nobly, to lighten the common fishly and nobly, to lighten the common burden, to brighten the common pathway, to cheer, and encourage, and bless.

MEMORIAL DAY AT THE S. C. A. ROOMS.

Some of the young lady boarders at the W. C. A. rooms, on Spring street, conveyed an idea in regard to observing Me morial day that was certainly unique. At the time the said young ladies appeared in the dining room arrayed in a manner calculated to attract attention. The National colors were displayed through out their dress, in a most artistic manner, though no two were dressed alike. The effort was considered a success by a majority of the family.

Address, Hon. Herbert Heath of Augusta Address, Hon. Herbert Heath of Augusta i Mr. Heath said in part: "Notwithstanding that many years have passed since the Civil War, and a generation has come into active life since those dark, sad days, yet an authentic and impartial history of that war has not been written. But the time will come when the truth can be spoken and then a true history of the years from '6i to '65 can be written by a joint committee of Northern and Southern soldiers. Who will be appointed by the President of the United States, Then we can look at the Civil War as the means of Divine Providence to work out a great end. Slavery was not the cause of this war, but the pretext for its commencement. It was a conflict between the aristocratic civilization of the North, and had its root and beginnings far back in the past social customs and life of England. The United States is destined by God to be the battlefield of civilization, and all the wars we have been engaged in and the present war also, however unjust, and burdensome they may over unjust, and burdensome they may gaged in and the wars we have been engaged in and the present war also, however unjust, and burdensome they may have seemed to be are, yet some of the means by which the great problems of civil and religious liberty have been solved and individual advancement has solved and individual advancement has been promoted. The corner stone of this nation is freedom of speech and of action, and it was laid by the Pilgrim Fathers in the early days of New England. To them belongs the great honor of founding a zovernment for and by the people.

The address was very earnest and impressive, and was received with close attention by the large audience. The vocal and instrumental music was inspiring and well rendered. At the close of the exercises in the church the band gave an open air concert on the common at the

PRESIDENT CAPOTE SAFE

New York, May 81.—Horatio S. Rubens, counsel for the Cuban junts, today said with reference to the possibility of the capture of Senor Capote, vice-president of the Cuban republic:

"I have no reason to believe that Senor Capote has fallen into the Spaniard's hands I have received information that the Belvidere passengers were taken off by the steamship Barnstable and Ethelred of the same line as the Belvidere. "The Barnstable is bound for Boston and the Ethelred for Philadelphia. I do not know on which of these steamships Vice-President Capote is, It seems very strange that the Belvidere should run aground off Cape Maysi, a point which seamen capital states and the stranger than the seamen of the same of off Cape Maysi, a point which seamen avoid as studiously as they do Cape known to the world and when he sailed for the United States in one of the best steamships in American waters, he met disaster. You can draw your own conclusions. The coast in the vicinity of Cape Maysi is not populated thickly, but it would not take a large coast guard of the Spanards to secure the vice-president. But let us be thankful he is safe."

"What is the nature of Vice-President Capote's mission to this country?" was asked.

"That is a matter I cannot speak of

"That is a matter I cannot speak of yet," answered Mr. Rubens. 'He is coming to meet Mr. Palma and doubtless something important may follow his

BOILER EXPLODED.

Wilmington, Vt. May 31.—The boiler of the locomotive of the mixed noon train on the Hoosac and Wilmington railroad, exploded near this station at 12 o'clock today and both the engineer, Zeph Doug-lis and the fireman, Ernest T. Faulkner were killed.

The engine and tender were blown to pieces, parts of them landing 100 feet from the train. The few passengers on the train escaped uninjured. The cause of the explosion is unknown.
