Peculiar Court Martial Proceedings.

Gen. Roget Utters Diatribe Against Dreyfus.

His "Testimony" Chiefly Invective.

Decision Against Postponement May Be Revised.

Rennes, France, August 16.—The second trial by cout unartial of Capt. Dreyta was continued today. Major Carrier, the representative of the government, refused to agree to the adjournment of the case until Monday applied for by M. Demange, counsel for the prisoner, and Capt. Breytas owing to the murderous attack upon Marie Labort, leading counsels for the Mister Labort, leading counsels for Mister Labort, leading the Mister Labort, leading counsels for the Labort, leading counsels for the Labort, leading counsels for Mister Labort, leading the Mister Labort, lea Rennes, France, August 16.—The sec-ond trial by court martial of Capt. Drey-tus was continued today. Major Carriere, would half turn in his chair and point in his the same time. As the story proceeded and incidents of his life on the island were brought before him, Dreyfus's eyes grew dim and tears glistened in them. Then they slowly trickled down his cheeks. Dreyfus could stand it no longer and for the first time during his trial gave way to his emotions and elently weps.

The faces of the audience expressed sympathy with the prisoner's emotion and even the captain of gen d'armes sitting beside Dreyfus turned and gave him a lock of unconcealed compassion. Gen. Mercler, who with M. Lebon, was seated in the front row of the witnesses listened in the front row of the witnesses listened in the front row of the witnesses, and the struggle that was going on while Col. Jouast followed it with an air of bored tolerance. M. Lebon afterward returned to the stand and added a few more words in justification of his conduct and then Col. Jouast had the next witness brought in. All eyes were turned in the door on the right of the stage and a moment later the form of a woman dressed in deep mourning appeared in the doorway and accompanied by an effect of the whole confider who committed suicide in prison after confession to forging certain documents in the case. With hand upraised she took the oath to tell the truth. She is of medium height and has a common cast of features and certainly could not be described as attractive. She at once put herself at case leaning forward with hands resting on the rail of the witness stand. In an attitude of complece self possession she gave her evidence and accompanied the words with frequent gestures. Her evidence, however, was of little weight. She admitted the frequent visits of Esterhary to her husband and feciared her husband told her he had forged one document "in order to save the honor of the country." She gave her evidence in a very matter of fact manner and was in no wise the sympathetic figure the anti-Dreyfusites have tried to make her.

Gen, Regets in dress uniform-followed. His evidence was a vitriolic distribe against Dreyfus from beginning to end. Gen. Rogets trayersed the old ground giving his reasons for his convictions of the gulit of Dreyfus. He declared there was no charge against Esterhazy, with the exception of the resemblance of his handwriting to that of the bordereau. Esterhazy said he wrote the bordereau under orders of Col. Sandherr. "But," declared tien. Rogets, "I, who knew Col. Sandherr was absolutely incapable of such an order. Esterhazy has also said the document was stolen from an embassy and brought by a porter. It is false to say the intelligence department ever had any relations with a porter of that embassy. It is possible Esterhazy has some surprises for us between now and the end of the trial. They wont disturb me any more than other surprises."

Referring to the question of the complicity of Henry and Esterhazy the witness said: "If Henry had been the accomplice of Esterhazy how can it be admitted that he brought the bordereau which might have caused him to be suspected to the intelligence department." Gen. Roget while testifying constantly turned towards the prisoner to see the impression made by his deposition which was virtually a speech for the prosecution.

A certain military attache said the general later in his testimony informed Col. Sandherr that it was some one who imitated his handwriting perfectly. The name of "Dubols" the witness said was found in the correspondence of military attaches. "Dubols," the general explained was an "unfortunate" who vainly tried to sell the secret of a sunckeless powder used in the French army. If, said Gen. Hoget, no other papers can be found to whom the initial "D" can apply to whom does it then apply. As he made this remark the witness faced about and looked fixedly at the prisoner who, however, merely shrugged his shouldera. "But," continued the general, "the explanations tornished on this point by M. Trarieux former minister of justice) troubled me burewhat but I do not losist."

Here General Roget paused, the excitement under which he was laboring being imost uncontrollable. In a thick chokney to the he continued:

"And yet, in the presence of disintersted testimony like mine, you will allow preference to be shown to the evilence of persons who have benefitted by reason."

At this point the general broke down and tears streamed down his checks. Kesoming his testimony the general set to work in the effort to prove the guilt of

No Room For Serious Difference

This concentration of the plans contained,
He declared there were traces of treason in every paragraph of the bordereau and that Drefyus alons, not Esterhazy, could be arquainted with the plans contained.
He criticised the deposition of Major Hartmann, of the Std Artillery, in regard to the point. The witness then traversed the old ground, trying to prove that Dreyfus alone was aware of the secrets of the new artillery guns; of the plans for the contents of the firing manual. He then endeavored to show Col. Picquart had recoursed to fraudulent methods with the intention of incriminating someone other than Dreyfus and declared Picquart spent one hundred thousand francs with the object of organizing a campaign of surveillance of "an unfortunate officer who was guiltless."

This one hundred thousand francs be added was a reserve accumulated by Col. Sandherr, by strict economy, from the funds at the disposal of the war office. This reserve had entirely disappeared.

In response to gestures of contradiction from M. Demange, Gen. Roget admitted the figures quoted were perhaps exaggerated.

The witness next accused Col. Picquart any great advantage.

Tonight it is understood that Maitre Demange will tomorrow repeat the application for an adjournment inconsequence of a hint that the government commissary, Major Carriere, has received in structions not to oppose it.

5.20 p. m.—The following bulletin has just been issued.

The condition of the patient is satisfactory, in spite of slight fever. The X-ray has shown the bullet traversed the skin, sub-cutaneous cellular tissue and muscles around the spinal colum, flattening against the right side of the fifth or sixth dorsal vertebrae. The bulletin was signed by the four doctors in attendance upon M. Labori.

M. Matthew Dreyfus, brother of Captain Dreyfus, visited the wounded men today. Finding him to be progressing favorably, M. Dreyfus said: "Well, mon brave, the revolver does not seem to have done you much harm."

"Oh" replied M. Labori smiling, "revolvers are no use against me. I am too birs. It needs a cannon shot to do me.

Maitre Mornard, who represented Madame Dreyfus in the revision proceedings before the court of cassation, has been summoned to replace Maitre Labori until the latter is able to return to his post. M. Mornard is expected to appear in court tomorrow. He is, however, a poor substitute for Labori.

> Owner Thinks Fire Was Work of Incendiary.

Loss Was $4,000 and Insurance $2,300.

The famous "octagon house"on th Falmouth road, a short distance from Portland was borned to the ground at an early hour yesterday morning together with the adjoining staple and their con tents. The only things saved from the fire were three horses and a cow which were removed from the burning stable by quick work. The occupants of the house had narrow escapes from being destroyed in it.

The octagon house on the Falm road has been a landmark for some years and was a familiar object to persons ac customed to drive in this dir was tuilt a dozen years ago by a man named White but sold by him soon after it was completed. Its peculiar shape made it an object of interest to passer. by. It was a very pretty place and was well kept up by its owner, Mr. Charles W. Raymond who occupied it.

About half past one o'clock Wednesday morning Mr. Raymond's hired man, Frank Jipson, was awakened by the noise of the flames. His room was so full of smcke that he could hardly breath and it was with difficulty that he got out of it. His cries awoke Mr. Raymond and his wife who slept in an adjoining room. They escaped with only such clothing as spectacle most pleasing to the eye. they could hurriedly pick up. Mr. Raymond and Mr. Jipson by quick work managed to tear away the sliding door to the stable and lead out the three horses and a cow. By the time this was done the house was a mass of flames from tor

Mr. Raymond feels confident that the fire was of incendiary origin. He says that about a year ago someone with ma licious intent broke into his house and pestroyed many articles of value and wrecked considerable furniture and ca ried off many things which were found in the fields about the house afterwards badly mutilated. Mr. Raymond thinks the the same persons who thus damaged his property set fire to his house. He claims that threats have been made by some per sons to burn his house and feels confident that they were responsible for the fire yesterday morning.

Mr. Raymond says that his loss 12300 insurance placed in several Portland agencies.

"Old Toots', as he was called, the Too Much for Phenom's irteen years has been the pride of his owner, Mr. John Williamson and the pet of the patrons of his store, both men

He left the store Monday night and nothing was heard of him until Mr. Williamson, Tuesday night, stepped outside and called "Toots." VENETIAN FETE.

The Waters About Peaks Island Ablaz With Countless Lights.

The wharf of the Casco Bay Steamboat ompany at Peaks Izland was handsome ly illuminated last evening with long strings of incandescent lights, red, white and blue, while the slope behind was covered with a large crowd of people num-bering about 2500. It was the night of the Venetian fete and the waters near the shore were the scene of the pageant. First in the moving procession of countless lights were four floats loaded with evergreen and hanging from the trees were Chinese lanterns. One float bore the 'sign of "Joe's Indians" and on another near the star and cresent, high up in air was a "Venetian Maid" in white dress and long flowing hair. Small boats festooned with bunting and alive with various colored lights followed and to the music of Chandler's band the pro circled around the water making a night eral joung ladies were seen in the boat in becoming costumes and features of the parade worthy of special note were the long barges trimmed by the ladies of the different botels on the Island, the Union, Innes, Peaks Island house There was a profusion of handsome lanterns and when the boats too their places in line there was a display of fire works which heightened the spec acular effect of the water display.

GALLAGHER'S CURVES

Fitcher Miller's Bad Inning Aids in Downfall.

est Kind of Luck.

Manchester Gives Taunton Terrible Beating.

We fell down yesterday after a couple of wacks of exceedingly great prosperity, and the people who took the fall out of the way were the last team to win from us on the home grounds. We were outplayed by Michael's min and outbatted would appear from the score, was the case the last time Finn licked us we were handicapped by a sight of hard luck. Pound the ball as we would it would go straight into someone's hands. The cap sheaf of this sort of thing was reached in the sixth inning when we set out to win back the runs that had been wrested away from us. Nobilt and John Smith had each made safe hits and no one was out. We looked around and the boy did make onest try. He met the ball with tre past first Shires had happened to sta-tion himself square in front of the ball, pulled it down and stepped on the plate, while John Smith was looking after sec and. A little more elevation to the sphere or a drive a yard either way would have made it good for two bases and a couple of runs. What would have hapconed after that no one can tell. After all though, the reason we were beaten was a very unfortunate inning on the part of Pitcher Milier, who somehow manage to fall down once in about every game he pitches at home It was in the third and Millerick and Gallagher who were first up had been retired without a particle of trouble. No one had the slightest loubt but what it was a case of shut out. Gilbert, however, singled, and then Flaming and Shires repeated the trick. Murphy walked and Hanna hit safe. That was bad enough, but just here poor pitching was reinforced by some poor fielding Sullivan fumbled an easy one. O'Brien walked and Miller let Hanna in on a wild pitch. Purington chased the ball and threw to Miller who covered the plate. The ball went through his fingers and O'Brien took third. The curtain was drawn on this tragic series of events by a pretty play. With O'Brien on third, Reilly made the run for second. Purinton threw to Spratt and the same instan O'Brien started his boots for the plate The ball was returned by that prince of throwe re, William Stratt, and Mr. O'Brien was nailed before his foot conneeted with the rubter. The visitors had however, scored five runs and with Gallagher in the bex five are a creat many. However, our men turned to and filled up the bases just as if we were going to get all these tallies back the first ground hop. John Smith hit to Hanna, however, and a double play dashed our hopes. Except in the sixth Pitcher Gallagher got along with us very well until the half and the score was eight to two against us. That was rather too many and Conroy, Sullivan and Pulsifer got ome hits together which earned a couple of runs. Puriaton caught another good game, made his share of the hits and aught the Newport young men better than to try to steal second. The attend-ance showed a visible improvement which is comforting enough. The core:

Mr. Jones came down to see his great racing gelding Kingmond lead the 2.25 trotters around the course. The race was only a workout for Kingmond, he winning the three heats without the least bit of an argument.

Kingmond is just back from the big rings, and he brought with him a new mark of 2.10 1-2, made in the fifth heat of the M. and M. stake at Detroit. There was nothing else in the field within five or six seconds of his mark, and he was considered so sure a winner that he was tarred in the pools. Lucrativa was second choice in the preliminary guessing, and next to her the Portland horse Arthur Cleveland was rated good. Under the Cleveland was rated good. Was clevely the Cleveland was rated good. Was c and next to her the Portland horse Arthur Cleveland was rated good. Under ordinary circumstances Lucrativa would have had an easy time of it in such a field, but she went a hard race at Rigby on the first day of the meeting, and two races in a single week are a little too much for even a good campaigner.

Arthur Cleveland was well backed, and he did get a place in the second heat which entitled him to third money, Miss Pratt trotting off with the second largest slice of the stake.

The 2.13 pace was another "off the reel" gitt to a big favorite. Dombey, Jr., with a record of 2.11 3-4, had "the talent" with him, and he landed the heats quite handly, but elipped a half second off his record. It was a great mix-up for second place, Dempsy, Colleenand Queen Vitelio being hot after it in every heat.

When ready to use it he put his hand into his pocket to withdraw it The hammer enught on his trouser's pockit and discharged the gun. The bullet went out through his pant's pocket and directly upward, striking him on the nose near the forehead. The bullet grazed the forehead and lodged in the side of the head near the right temple.

As soon as he realized what he had done.

The 2.17 pace was the only splt up race of the afternoon. O'Nell lirothers' good stallion Journayman, with Billy O'Neil up behind him, looked as if he could take it in straight beats, and the backing was with him. He started in this season as a 2.17 1-4 pacer, and landed here this week in the 2.11 class. The second doctor in that race was the much 'touted Mazette, a mare owned and drives by Mr. T. S. The conviction is strong in my mind that our beloved country is today beest with powerful and dangerous foes, that in these closing years of the 19th century we are brought face to face with some of the most perplexing problems ever presented to a people for solution. The time allotted to me is too short for a careful portrayal of the republic's unconquered for or an exhaustive discussion of its visolved problems. I shall merely touch upon a few of the most conspicuous perils now confronting the American people. This I should not do were it not for the fact that many intelligent and patriotic citizens appear to be resting today in a pleasant optimism, oblivious to the dark clouds that are gathering in the nation's fax. Even President Mokinley has given as a reason for the interference of the United States with the affairs of other nations, that we have solved all our home problems and are therefore. The conviction is strong in my mind that our beloved country is today beest with powerful and dangerous foes, that in these closing years of the 19th century we are brought face to face with some of the most perplexing problems ever presented to me is too short for a careful perrayal of the republic's unconquered for sor an exhaustre discussion of its vinsolved problems. peared before the Dreyfus tribunal yeserday and gave their reasons for believing in the guilt of the prisoner. As far as can be judged from the telegraphic evidence, as we understand it, statements of fact within the witness's knowledge, is vary scarce. Apparently the court is relying upon the opinions and arguments of the various witnesses to make up its verdict. The proceedings yesterday were unfavorable the accused-that is to say, most of the witnesses who appeared professed belief in his guilt and made strong arguments in support of that belief; and further the court itself showed a decided against the accused by refusing unanimously to postpone the case until Labori was able to appear.

To keep China intact is the great thing. according to President Schurman of the Philippine commission. But why should the American jingoes want to keeplit intact? Will not China be governed better when divided up among England and France and Germany and Russia than under the regime of the Empress Dawager? Why isn't it the duty of these European nations to carry civilization for the United States to carry those France to the Flowery Kingdom? Isn't here just as much evidence of it as that he sent us to the Philippines?

Some strange facts have come to light regarding the accident on the trestle of the Bridgeport Traction company, in which more than 40 people were killed. A witness who testified that he was on was not on the car at all. The man who now shows as the one he took out is all Aguinaldo is a capable military lead right, though there is a strong suspicion and an astute politician as well. that the one really taken out was defec tive. A photograph of a lot of workmen engaged in fixing the road bed after the ocident at the place where it is alleged there was a depression before the acci dent, was exhibited the other day, though testimony had previously been given by the employes of the company to the effect that the road bed was all right.

Mr. Bryan is still harping on free sliver and still professes to regard it as the regard all other questions as of secondary importance His frantic efforts to keep silver uppermost are not to be wondered at. It is the question he is more closely identified with than any other, and the more prominence he can give it the more he will give himself. But no man, however powerful and conspicuous, is able to determine what issues shall be foremost in our election contests, Issues are the creatures of circumstances over which the wissest and most far-seeing of men have little control. Four years ago both the Reputlican and Democratic leaders or pected the tariff to be the conspicuous issue of the campaign. As matter of fact it was scarcely heard of after the campaign began. Circumstances thurst if into the background and pushed the ourrency to the front. Nobody can predict with any great degree of positiveness what the dominant issue will be next year. It may be free silver, as Mr. Bryan hopes, but the outlook now is that it will be something else.

The relations between the English and the Boars do not improve and the prospect of a British advance into the Transvaal grows. Mr. Chamberlain's stitude is decidedly jingolsh, and it is difficult to escaps the conclusion from the type of his speeches that he would rather reliable months of his speeches that he would rather reliable months and the sight punishment which was inflicted upon the participators in and instigators of it, proved that they had plenty of sympathizers at home.

There is no question to the English and the Englishmen in South Africa coveted the Transvaal, and the slight punishment which was inflicted upon the participators in and instigators of it, proved that they had plenty of sympathizers at home.

There is no question to the same free young men and the man otherwise some plausible practs: I was impossible to get a rettlement of any satisfaction whatever, my other that the parties, but to find out who they were in the parties, but to find out who they were in the parties, but to find out who they were in the parties, but to find out who they were in the parties parties and proved the province of the parties of silver uppermost are not to be wondered tors in and instigators of it, proved that they had plenty of sympathizers at bome. There is no question but the Uitlanders are subjected to some pretty harsh re st iotion in President Kruger's domin-ions, but it is highly improbable that they would be regarded as a casus belli un-less English jiugoes were anxious for some excuse for invading the Transvaal. The fact that England is a powerful nation of boundless resources, while the Transvaal is a feeble state, has a good deal to do with the existing situation. When such disparity exists nations are much more keenly alive to their rights than when it is absent. Russia shut the door in England's face in China and re-ceived no worse chastisement than the lashings of London newspapers, though there are no rights nearer the English-mon's heart than commercial rights.

The refusal of the Dreyfus court martis postpone the proceedings for a few days as unjust and unfair to the defendant. Labort was his principal counsel and without his services Dreyfus is put to a great disadvantage. Even if Labort had been the victim of an accident for which nobody was responsible there would have ar American court would undoubtedly have granted it. But there is abundant reason to believe that he was waylaid by the enemies of the defendant for the express purpose of keeping him away from the trial and depriving Dreyfus of his services. In short it looks as if he was shot promote the ends of injustice. The being so it would seem that the court was Subscribers whose papers are not delivered frompily are requested to notify the office of the DAILY PRESS, No. 97 Exchange street, able that the conpairacy which was realty estensible ground on which postpone ment was refused was that it was exceed ngly desirable that the case be brough to a speedy close. That is undoubtedly true, but it is still more desirable that the impartiality that there shall be no doubt concerning the justice of the verdict arrived at. A verdict of guilty after the court has practically connived with the plotters against the defendant, who shot his coun sel in order to deprive him of his service will not command the confidence of any impartial and intelligent man. It will simply mean that the court was preju-diced against the accused from the start, was determined to take advantage of any circumstance to convict him. court by its proceedings of yesterday has to a very large degree shaken public con tidence in its impartiality and desire to know the truth.

Notwithstanding his repeated defeats Aguinaldo seems to retain his influence with the natives of Luzon. Apparently there is no falling away from him. His army though frequently driven back holds together wonderfully well. It has been alleged that he has the sympathy of but a small part of the natives, but it is exceedingly improbable if this were true that he could have maintained himself and his army for nearly a year in the face of repeated and serious defeats. Furthermore there are signs that he is not only holding his own, as far as influence is concerned in Luzon, but also that he has en able to sulist the sympathies of and enlightenment to China as much as the natives of the other islands, many of them not Tagals, in his opposition to blessings to the Philippines? Why not American sovereignty. A while ago it put down the savagery of China as well was reported that in all the islands except as that of the Philippines? Has not the Lizon, the natives were well disposed Almighty sent Russia and Germany and toward us and ready to accept our sovereignty. That such is not the cast today is admitted at Washington. Th inhabitants of all the islands,, except the Sulu group, stand ready to oppose our occupation. Aguinaldo's emissaries have stirred them up until they are ready to take up arms against us. I have been greatly troubled by harge loads of people invading my orohard and vegetable fields on Sundays, and have received plenty of cheap talk from those whom I have been obliged to drive away from the premises; but I have never had a case so misrepresented as this, and believing that the public is entitled to the facts, I take this means to give the truth in the matter as I know it, and am prepared to stand behind it.

The debility of David Duggins has been completely cured. David Duggins lives in the town of Jones, Ohio County, Kentucky, From there he writes:

That is what the "Golden Medical Discovery" does for him. It begins by removing from his digestive system all poisonous, effete matter. It gives tone to his stounach, activity to his liver, cleanliness to his bowels. While this work is going on the "Discovery" also manifests its potency through the blood and nerves. It fills the blood with rich, red corpuscles and sends them vigorously circulating all over the body to soothe and nourish the tired, abused, screeching nerves.

THE GEM.

As the season at the Gem Theatre nears its close it developes that nearly all of the members of Mr. Barrows Stock Company have been engaged for the coming season, some of them with stock and some with travelling organizations. M'CULLUM'S THEATRE.

Lovers of refined stage art have the opportunty of most praiseworthy produc tion at McCollum's theatre where "The Stockbroker" is the attraction that is attracting large and fashionable audiences to every performance. The author of this play has surpassed other dramatists in that he has drawn a greater number of distinct character types. In "The Speculator," the "Henrietta" fand other plays of this nature the principal character is the only one to attract much attention. In "The Speculator" there are several different types all distinct character creations, all equally important and interesting and representing three different sections of the country. A Methodist denoon and his wife from Keene, N. H., a pair of sturdy miners from Nevada, and a dezen other representative of the wealth and fashion of New York city, all have prominent parts in the play and their adventures have a direct bearing on the story. The plot is well conceived and original. There is a conventional preparation for the central scene, but when the great climax is reached, that cocurs in the third act, the effect is extraordinary. In general, drama of this sort is burdened with details and made todious with improbabilities. In this play, however, the story is natural and coherent, and the piece; is in plee sing contrast, with the morbid love stories with which amusement lovers have been subjected to for 50 cong. The play is presented this week with special advantages in the way of beautiful scenery and elegant costumes and the interpretations of the company win the highest praise for each individual artist. Mr. McCullum is a great favorite with the audiences this week. He is seen in the best part he has given himself this season and making a big bit. Seats can be obtained at Sawyer's for the entire engagement. attracting large and fashlonable audiences to every performance. The author of this

Words in praise of the attraction there this week can be heard spoken almost anywhere in town. In the lobbles and dining rooms of the hotels, on the street cars and steamboats, around town generally and every time summer amusements and the week's attractions are mentioned someone is found eager to tay tribute to J. Add to this other items charged which are not disputed—$31.35—makes plaintiff's entire claim, $4,503.20. Clarence M. Eaton, in equity, vs. George Lewis.
Wiswell, J.—Bill in equity to redeem lands from a mortgage without first making a tender of the amount thereon. But the bill contains allegations of a demand by the complainant upon the defendant for a true account in writing of the sum due on the mortgage, and of the rents and profits, and more expended in repairs and improvements, if any; and a refusal and neglect of the defendant to render such an account. The complainant in his bill also offers to pay the sum found equitably dae.

The justice who heard the cause found that the allegations of the bill were true, and he must have found that the defendant's refusal to r nier such an account was unreasonable and that the complainant was unreasonable and that the complainant was thereby prevented from performing or tendering performance of the condition of the mortgage. This is sufficient to support the bill without a previous tender. R. S. C. 90, Sec. 14. No evidence is reported from which we can decide that these findings of the preciding justice were erroneous.

I DID SO. Norwalk, Conn, Aug. 24, 1896.

Norwalk, Coun, Aug. 24, 1896, Mr. H. R. Hale:

Dear Sir. Last winter my-two girls were affected with a severe scalp trouble, the oldest one being so bad that all the hair on the crown of her head fell out, and the scalp was a mass of sorzs and scurt. The younger one was affected in the same way, and her hair had dropped out in a spot as large as one's hano. I was intending to take them to a physician when a friend toid me to call and get a bottle of Hale's Compound Quinhe. I did so, and am pleased to say that two bottles effected a complete cure; new hair grew on the baid spots, and they sow have a full growth and a clean and healthy scalp, growth and a clean and healthy scalp.
