POLICEMA N

have taken it, and all unite in praise of its satisfactory effect.

Especially among the aged class of people, it imparts to them the one thing most needful in old agenights of calm, sweet repose, thereby strengthening the mind as well as the body. One aged lady, who has been suffering through life from scrotula, and has become blind through life from scrotula, and has become blind through life ffects, having tried many remedies with no favorable result, was induced by friends to try the VEGETINE. After taking a few bottles, she obtained such great relief that she expressed a wish for her sight, that she might be able to look upon the man who had sent her such a blessing.

Yours respectfully,

MAKE IT PUBLIC.

SOUTH BOSTON, Feb. 9, 1871.

R. H. STEVENS, ESQ.

Dear Sir—I have heard from very many sources of the great success of Vegetine in cases of Scrotula, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint, Catarrh, and other diseases of kindred nature. I make no hesitation in saying that I know Vegetine to be the most reliable remedy for Catarrh and General Debility.

My wife has been troubled with Catarrh for many years, and at times very badly. She has thoroughly tried every supposed remedy that we could hear of, and with all this she has for several years been gradually growing worse, and the discharge from the head was excessive and very offensive.

She was in this condition when she commenced to take Vegetine; I could see that she was improving on the second bottle. She continued taking the Vegetine until she had used from twelve to fifteen bottles. I am now happy in informing you and the public (if you choose to make it public) that she is entirely cured, and Vegetine accomplished the cure after nothing else would. Hence I feel justified in saying that Vegetine is the most reliable remedy, and would advise all suffering humanity to try it, for I believe it to be a good, honest, vegetable medicine, and I shall not hesitate to recommend it. I am, &c., respectfully,

L. C. CARDELL,

Store 451 Broadway.

VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints, it invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs, allays inflamation, cleanses and cures ulceration, cures constipation, and regulates the bowels.

Has Entirely Cured Me. BOSTON, October, 1870.

BOSTON, October, 1870.

Dear Sir—My daughter, after having a severe attack of whooping cough, was left in a feeble state of health. Being advised by a friend she tried the VEGETINE, and after using a few bottles was fully restored to health.

I have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism. I have taken several bottles of the VEGETINE for this complaint, and am happy to say it has entirely cured. ma. I have recommended the VEGETINE to others, with the same good results. It is a great cleanser and purifier of the blood; it is pleasant to take; and I can cheerfully recommend it.

The temperance Convention.

The temperance men and women of Maine, of all religious, political and temperance organizations, and those not connected with either, are invited to meet at Meonian Hall, in Augusta, on Wednesday, January 19th, 1876, at 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of holding a Mass Temperance Convention.

This being the centennial year of our national existence, it is highly important and fitting that we should meet in convention and declare ourselves free and independent of King Alcohol, and take every means in our power to declare against him a war of utter extermination.

Among the many questions that it may be proper to consider, the following are important:—"What can be done to aid the reform clubs in their noble work?" "How can we encourage and help those noble women who are organizing crusade movements and women christian temperance societies?" "Is there not a necessity that something should be done to more effectually suppress the sale of intoxicating cider and domestic wines?" "Should not the various religious denominations of the State take more decided and active measures in this great cause?" "Uught not the legislative, judicial, executive and municipal bodies of our state to take stronger and more decisive measures for the surpression of the great evil of intemperance?" "Should not the various temperance organizations of the state receive the encouragement of every friend of temperance?"

It seems to us that there has not been for several years a more tavorable crisis in the temperance movement in this state than the present. The work done by the several temperance organizations, together with the co-operation of the faithful women engaged in this work, should encourage every friend of the cause and prompt to renewed diligence.

The convention will probably be continued through Thursday. While we cannot promise free accommodation to those attending the convention, yet we will make an effort to secure board at reduced rates. The usual reduction of fare may be expected on the several

CERTAIN important recommendations brought to the attention of the House by Secretary Bristow await its consideration. Something should be done and done quickly. Now that Mr. Lamar has got back to has any chance of success. The position taken by the Democrats Monday shows that no further movement will be made on that side. They say however that they are willing to pass any bill which may come down from the Senate. In reply to the Duke D'Audiffret Pasquier's boast that the Assembly has handed back to France her liberties intact some of the French journals are suggesting that the only reason why it is so is that the monarchical members couldn't agree upon the man into whose hands those liberties should be given. YALE COLLEGE has adopted a novel method of education and apparently a good one. Her whole Senior class, accompanied by several learned professors, will be brought to to forget how much the last one cost us. We New York next Saturday night to see "Julius have gone far enough. We have said, and Cæsar' as brought out at Booth's Theatre. The trip is described as an excursion to study Roman architecture and antiquities. The manner in which the play is presented, and the strict attention paid to archæological requirements justify the description. ENGLAND has now a quadruple Duke. The head of the house of Lennox, who has heretofore borne the titles of Duke of Richmond, Lennox and Aubigny, has been created Dake of Gordon, that coronet having been bestowed upon him as the representative of the last Duke of the same name, from whom he inherited Gordon castle. Aubigny is a title he gets from France. England also has one triple Duke, Hamilton, Brandon and Chatelherault (the last a French title) and two double Dukes, Buccleuch and Queensberry, and Buckingham and Chandos. MR. LANDIS, patriarch and gunner, appear to have been one of the most considerate of men. He put his bullet where it would do the least harm. The doctors say that it would have been impossible to place the ball in Carruth's head in any part of the brain where its presence would cause so little inconvenience. Having made up his mind that he must shoot anyhow, it was very thoughtful in Mr. Landis to select the most unimportant part of Mr. Carruth's head-There seems to be considerable doubt whether the patriarch or the doctors killed the Vineland editor. They did not show the respect of Mr. Landis for the vital parts of the brain, but probed everywhere. THE Appropriations Committee at Washington have done but little work yet, and business drags in a reprehensible way. None of the largest bills have yet been considered. The attempt to cut down the appropriations s found to be an undertaking of great difficulty, and not to be accomplished in a few days even by boasted Democratic economic skill. The Democrats went to Washington with the intention to make many changes, and they loudly boasted of what they were to do. One simple man announced his determination to reorganize the State Department, but has found to his great surprise that he knows nothing about the matter and Secretary Fish knows a great deal. He is not alone in such experiences.

Nor a great many Governors can exhibit the favorable showing for their States that the Governor of Kansas in his annual message did in his. The increase of cultivated acreage is 1,080,131 acres, which is a wonderful growth. This, however, sinks into comparative insignificance when the value of farm products for 1874 and 1875 is taken. For the former year, this was $29,-920,734; for the latter, $43,970,494, an increase of $14,059,760. The increase in wheat grown is not quite so marked, being only 3,328,020 bushels but the corn increase i very remarkable. In 1874, the corn product was 15,699,078 bushels; in 1875 it was 80,798,769, an increase of 65,099,691 oushels. Of course owing to the grasshoppers and other misfortunes, the yield in 1874 was far below the average product

THE vote in the House on the Holman esolution for the repeal of the resumption act, though not absolutely defining, strongly indicates, the position of the two parties on the financial question. An analysis of the vote shows that of the 112 votes in favor of suspending the rules in order to pass the resolution, 102 are Democrats, seven are Republicans and the others Independents. Of the Democrats, only three, (Phelps of Connecticut, J. H. Bagley, jr., of New York, and O'Brien of Maryland) are from the eastern and middle states, exclusive of Pennsylvania, fore them. Mr. Fulton was there, and soon from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois Missouri, Arkansas, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky. The Republicans voting in the affirmative are Robinson, Cason and Evans of Indiana, Oliver of Iowa, Phillips of Kansas, Dobbins of New Jersey, and Kelley of Pennsylvania. Of 158 negative votes, 76 are Republican and 30 Democrats from the eastern and middle states, ten being from New York. The number of negative votes from the states of Pennsylvania, Ohio and the other strong affirmative states is 41, blank reports, &c., showing in a general way Publishers and Booksellers. against 102 yeas.

Current Notes. A keen satirist of our society has described a typical young lady as looking at you with an expression which said, "Slap-your-face-for-two-cents." Unhappily, the description is true. We have all met that young lady, although we may not have the honor of her acquaintance. She may be handsome, and she doubtless is very smart; but she is not very lovely.—New York Times.

Blaine is the Must of Abeter the built

Blaine is the Murat of debate; the britliancy and rapidity of his movements dazzle and overpower his opponents. Even so skillful a parliamentarian as Randall, and so wordy a man as Cox, seem to toil after him in vain; they feel his blows but he is already safely away before they can strike back.—New York Evening Mail.

The Chicago Tribune says it is due to the four Republicans-Messrs. Blaine, Bristow, Morton and Washburn-who have been mentioned in connection with the next presidency, to say that not one of them has manifested a disposition to crowd himself forward before the other three, or to engage in any unseemly scuffle for the office, as has hap-pened in other Presidential campaigns. The prospects, therefore, are favorable for the se-lection of the best man.

The grandiloquent way in which Gen. Banks replied the other day to Mr. Blaine's inquiry as to which side he meant by "our side," reminds the Boston News of this "little story," which is told of Banks's war experience: One of his staff came rushing in one morning while he was at breakfast, and gasped, "The rebels are advancing upon us rapidly; our outposts have been attacked, and our pickets driven in. What shall be done?" The general sat serenely at the table, and when the wave of his name said grandly, "Repulse the enemy at once."

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Herald has been studying the Presidential question and comes to the conclusion that the nomination on the Republican side now lies between Mr. Blaine and Senator Morton, with a very large possibility that Gov. Hayes may come in as a compromise candidate. Senator Conkling, he thinks, is only strong "in the ability to derange the plans of those whom he deems his rivals." The correspondent adds: "The two men to whom the Democratic nomination to-day is possible are Hendricks and Thurman."

The Washington correspondent of the New York World says of Sunset Cox's reply to Mr. Blaine: "Mr. Cox's speech like almost all the speeches he ever made, was in some parts more than equal and in others less than equal to the occasion. His wit, pungency, and swiftness both puzzled and amused his Washington that committee to give "general advice about the affairs of the Democratic party" will probably be appointed. The advice is needed badly enough.

After texturing his victims for a time duration.

After torturing his victims for a time, durng which they stood in terrified suspense, apparently not knowing what next this dreadful, merciless and audaciously sarcastic man would do, but fearing the worst, Blaine carelessly tossed them aside as if really not worthy of any further attention by contemptuously withdrawing his motion to reconsider.

This left the Democrass flat on their backs, with no way to help themselves. Blaine enjoyed his triumph thoroughly. He has succeeded in making himself terrible to and far more feared by the Democrats than Ben Butler or Thad Stevens ever was. They will move with the greatest circumspection hereafter when the ex-speaker is around.—Philadelphia Times' Special.

While the South sends to Congress the men who prophecy, and because they prophecy another civil war, it is no time for the North sincerely said, that what and all we wanted sincerely said, that what and all we wanted was a genuine obedience to the law, the same by everybody, and everywhere, but we have not said, and do not propose to say, whatever Mr. Banks may think about it, that the rising generation shall not be taught the difference between allegiance to law and treason to the government. The North does not start these questions save when a Democrat does it in Congress at the instigation of the does it in Congress at the instigation of the South, but having been opened, we shall go back to first principles.—Providence Jour-

After this heated discussion of an unpleas ant subject, there came a tableau which strikingly illustrated the policy of the nation. One after another of the members from the South rose and said that they were in Union prisons during the war. Some were there for civil offences; others as prisoners of war; but all were there as men who had engaged in an attempt to destroy the Union. And now these men rise in Congress of the Union on an equal footing with every other member! No more effective illustration could be given No more effective illustration could be given of the clemency and generosity of the nation. That simple fact told the story. Here were men who themselves proclaimed that they lain in the prisons provided for the enemies of the Union; and here they were now sitting in the national councils. Prisoners of war to the nation, they were now monuments of its mercy.—Albany Journal.

There seems to be some danger this reconstruction.

There seems to be some danger this year that the House of Representatives may vote for the proposed reduction. It is an act of pure reckless demagoguism. No man thinks -who thinks at all-that our army is too large. To guard the fortresses and stations of our vast frontier, stretching from Maine to the Rio Grande and from California to Alaska, to furnish garrisons for the little Alaska, to furnish garrisons for the little forts dotting the great wildernesses of the West, which form the only solid fact the pioneers have to rely on amid the perils of Indian treachery and Ring thievery, we have an army of about 20,000—one man to 2,000 of our population. It is proposed to disband half of this army, to throw away half the bones of this skeleton. This little army is so small that it is worked to death. Nearly every officer and soldier of it does double duty.—N.Y. Tribune.

Art, Music and the Drama.

Mr. Drury Fortnum has made an important addition to the collection in the South Kersington Museum of the wax models by Michael Angelo, by the loan of a medallion portrait in wax, of the great master, at the age of eightyeight, taken from life by Leo Leone, in 1562, from which he afterwards executed a bronze medal. This portrait is in wax of a flesh color in rilievo, on a black oval ground. It was evidently the original portrait, which Leo Leone afterwards modelled in a somewhat larger size for the medal he executed in bronze. At the back of the portrait is the inscription "Ritratto di Michelangiolo Buonaroti, fatto dal Nat urale da Leone Arctino suo Amico." The wax cameo and inscription are both under glass and bermetically sealed. By the side of the wax portrait hangs the bronze medal. The Antigone of Sophocles was experimented with recently at the Crystal Palace at Sydenham, not with distinguished success, for it need hardly be said that the dignity of the antique could not be conveyed to the modern stage. It, however, gave our countrywoman, Genevieve Ward, a rare opportunity to display her heroic quality. A correspondent of the New York Tribune says: "She has played Antigone with the serious grace and reserve and occasional force called for by the text; and her stately figure, her large fine features, and deep contralto voice, suit, well the sad and queenly heroine. By dint of quiet, yet passionate sim-plicity, she has succeeded in making Antigone's lament before her living entombment a really effective piece of acting, and that was not an easy thing to do." The drama was accompa-nied with Mendelssohn's music in unison for the seven charmes, weitten 00 years and, at the order of the king of Prussia. It did not save the classic from collapse.

Art circles in Cincinnati are considerably excited over the discovery of what is probably a genuine Murillo among a lot of rubbish lately offered for sale in that city. The stuff had years ago been the property of a wealthy Cincinnati family, and was pronounced of little or no value by the auctioneer, who proceeded to knock it down to the highest bidder. Mr. Leon Van Loo, who is familiar with old pictures in the churches, palaces, and galleries of Europe, rescued from the lot a picture, and, bidding $7 for it, it was sold to him. The picture was covered with sooty dirt and liberally splashed with whitewash. When these were removed and the color brought out with a fresh touch of mastic varnish, the purchaser was delighted to find that he was in possession of a masterpiece of composition, drawing and color, whether a copy or an original, and intrinsically worth a hundred times the sum he had paid for it. A photograph of the treasure revealed certain letters which proved to be the initials, or rather monogram, which Murillo, according to the best authority, gave to his work. The foreground of the composition contains a distinct group of three figures, apparently a Sainte Anne, Child Virgin, and winged cherub bearing a wreath of flowers. From a rent in the clouds above, where another cherub face appears, a flood of yellowish golden light pours down upon the group from the right, tinging everything with a rich, warm glow. There is thought to be an abundance of evidence to show that if the painting is not Murillo's own one composer alose is there always something fresh for every one to learn, and that is John Sebastian Bach.—Robert Schumann. Rossi is acting "Hamlet in Paris, and very unevenly, says Hamilton Aide in the Academy. He looks well in the role, but if Rossi's conception were accepted, there would be no more question as to the prince's state of mind, he would be unhesitatingly adjudged sane. In the sone with "Ophelia," he urges her to enter a convent with the most serious sentiment and tender affection, interlarding his speeches with "povera figlia!" "povera fanciulla!" At the end of the play-scene, Rossi expresses "Hamlet's" satisfaction with the success of his trap for Claudius by flinging himself on the vacated throne, and slapping his thighs violently and repeatly, crying, "E vero! e vero!" (It's true! it's true!) In the interview with his mother when the ghost appears, "Rossi ducks behind a chair and literally dodges the royal Dane as the shade advances, creeping round behind the queen. Nothing more ignoble can be conceived. At the end of this scene (another glaring instance of transposed text) he tears his uncle's minia-ture from the chain round his mother's neck, dashes it to the ground ane dances on it! This, like the termination of the play-scene I have described, roused the Parisian audience to rap tuous applause." When Carpeaux was young he was very re ligious, and while working for the prize of Rome, in the studio of Rude, used to fall on on his knees and pray to the Virgin whose image he was near. He afterwards modelled a weeping and fainting Mater Dolorosa, described as very melodramatic, with quivering mouth and coursing tears. His chef d'œuve, "La Danse," was conceived in a different spirit, realizing as it does, twenty years of the em-

Magazine Notices. Bret Harte's Gabriel Conroy, in the February number of Scribner's Monthly has an episode entitled The Bulls of the Blessed Trinity, a remarkable and characteristic hit of description which has been published in these columns from advance sheets. Edward Ever ett Hale's story of Philip Nolan's Friends contains a curious account of a conversation by pantomime between white men and Indians. There are two articles in this number which may come under the head of discovery. One of them is concerning an important bust of Milton, very little known either in England or America; and the other is a hitherto unpublished letter from Robert E. Lee to Jefferson Davis, written after the battle of Gettysburgh, and resigning the command of the Confederate forces. Charles Barnard has a paper fully describing the way of working of the Philadelphia Building and Loan Association, by means of which, it is stated, one hundred thousand homes have been built in that city. Clarence Cook continues his illustrated papers on housefurnishing and decoration; and Moses Coit Tyler writes about The University of Michigan, giving an account of the woman experiment there. The Revolutionary Letters this month contain John Adam's views of the currency question. There is an article on a singular

Dr. Holland writes about The School Question, acknowledging a change of opinion with regard to the reading of the Bible in the public schools; and discusses The Philosophy of Reform. The Old Cabinet is devoted to Friendship; the Bric-a-Brac republishes a lately discovered poem by Wordsworth to the Queen, as well as a letter by Browning to the editor of Wordsworth's Prose, on the subject The Lost Leader. Home and Society tells about Two Ways of Teaching at Home, and other matters. In the World's Work a number of new processes are described.

GENTLEMEN:—Your splendid edition of the immortal Shakspere, edited by Charles Knight, of London, England, who for many years deeply studied the work of the great poet, and ly studied the work of the great poet, and whose annotations have so aided, not only myself, but every actor. I feel great pleasure in saying, it is one of the best editions of the works of the poet, that has ever been published. Its beautiful typography, the splendid manner in which it is illustrated, the superb manner in which we have brought the works of the great poet before the world, will, unquestionably, be highly appreciated by all lovers of literature in America.

literature in America.

I believe I am well acquainted with the various editions that have been published of the immortal poet's works, but I candidly confess, to quote the words of Charles Dickens, that I shall set "great store" by the work that you have had the high honor to publish in this country, and I have no hesitation in saying, that every student of Shakspeare, and every member of my profession, will feel under deep obligation to your firm, for your splendid contribution to dramatic literature; and I, individually, as a member of it, venture to express the wish, that the work will have the patronage that it undoubtedly deserves. Shakspeare is a name dear to every American, his axioms, and his apothegms being household words.

Permit me to say, that Charles Knight's edition of Shakspeare, as published by you, is one of the every bare heat the charles that the convention. tion of Shakspeare, as published by you, is one of the very best that I have had the opportunity of perusing. MUNICIPAL TAXATION .- The London Specta tor makes a suggestion in regard to our mu nicipal troubles which is worth notice. In the English municipality, the local taxes are assessed upon real estate and rents. This gives every citizen an immediate and active interest in their amount, no matter how rich or poor he may be, for he pays some tax proportionate to the scale of his residence. The town council, a single representative body, unhampered by executive veto, is closely watched by the whole body of citizens, and every increase of taxation has to be backed by substantial reataxation has to be backed by substantial reasons and immediate returns. In New York, on the other hand, and in Springfield, the taxes are paid by the real-estate owners; it is collected of the tenants not as tax, but as rent, and the tenants never discriminate, the great body of tenant people become indifferent to municipal politics, and things go to the bad. We believe the Spectator has put its finger on one of the raw spots of our system. As The Republican, some months ago, pointed out, municipal government concerns real property more than any other interest, and ought to lay its burdens primarily and conspicuously on real estate, as held by the occupier, whether owner or tenant. The inflexible poll-tax, as a method of giving the mass of men an interest in taxation, is one of the worst absurdities of our system.—Springfield Republican.

The Soldiers' Orphan Asylum-A Bill Re lating to Widow's Dower-The Bangor Election Squabble-Bank Examiner-Committee Henrings, etc.

> [Special to the Press.] AUGUSTA, Jan. 18.

The officers of the Bath Soldiers' Orphan Asylum have submitted their reports to the overnor and Council. During the year 73 different children have been in the institution and on the 31st of December the number at the Asylum was 62. The institution has eight inmate of the school graduated at Bath High School, six have been placed at homes, six have returned to their friends and one bad boy, not a soldier's orphan, run away, making fourteen who have left, while nineteen have been admitted. The total expenditures for the year wera $9,341.45. Of this sum $1,636.39 was paid for painting the buildings. The actual running expenses of running the institution are about $7000. The provision and groceries of the institution cost $1,861.53, clothing $884.84, boots and shoes $421, 85.

The proposition to have two of our infantry companies go to the Centennial at the expense of the state, stirs up all of the companies to claim the right.

A bill was presented which proposes radical changes in the laws relative to dower. One of its provisions is that when a wife refuses to sign a deed conveying real estate, the husband may cite the disobedient wife before the probate court to give her reasons therefor, and further that the probate judge may appoint a commission to appraise the value of the wife's right of dower, so that when the husband deposits the amount of such appraisal with the judge of probate, he may proceed to give a deed which shall be valid without the renquishment of the wife's dower. The bill is ompanied by a learned document of eleven closely written pages setting forth the injustice of the present laws and quoting instances as far back as A. D. 1200. It is intimated that the matter has been prepared really by Hon. F. O. J. Smith of Deering.

Senator Sturgis of Auburn, presented a bill to-day under which cooperative companies for the running of stores may be organized with a capital not exceeding $50,000 nor less than $1000. Mr. Whyte said that he would not give:

court martial power over a civilian that it had over one in the military or naval service. He moved to amend the amendment so that no imprisonment imposed on such civilian for con-tempt shall continue for more than two months. months.

After some discussion he modified the amendment so as to provide that such imprisonment shall not be for a longer time than that imposed on a soldier or a sailor for the same offence.

Amendment as amended by Whyte was agreed to and bill as amended was passed.

Mr. Whyte of Maryland presented petition of W. E. Wysham of Baltimore county, Md., for the removal of his political disabilities. Referred to Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Withers of Virginia presented petition of D. B. Conrad and Samuel Cooper of Virginia for removal of their political disabilities. Referred to Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Conkling of New York presented a memorial of creditors of the Columbian Insurance Co. of New York praying for the repeal of the clause which excludes insurance companies from a share of the Geneva award. Referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

In presenting the memorial Mr. Conkling said it was signed by a large number of citizens of New York and Massachusetts who were stockholders in that company during the late war. Extensive risks were taken and large payments were made on account of yes-late war. Extensive risks were taken and large payments were made on account of vessels destroyed by the Shenandoah, Alabama and other cruisers. Over $600,000 were paid in consequence of such losses and in consequence thereof the company failed.

The calendar of the morning hour having expired the Senate resumed the consideration of resolution submitted by Mr. Davis of West Virginia on Wednesday, to appoint a special committee to investigate the books and accounts of the Treasury Department.

Mr. Boutwell said he was not opposed to the investigation asked for but thought Mr. Davis might have found an explauation of many of the supposed discrepancies by inquiring at the the supposed discrepancies by inquiring at the Treasury. He then went into an elaborate explanation of some of the statments made by Mr. Davis.

At the conclusion of his speech, pending discussion the Senate went into executive session and soon after adjustment.

Mr. Knott, from the Judiciary Committee, proposed an amendment to the constitution as follows:

No person who has held or may hereafter hold the office of President shall ever again be eligible to said office.

It was made a special order for Tuesday next.

Mr. Frye of Maine, on behalf of the minor ity of the committee, gave notice that he would offer a substitute. Mr. Ashe of N. C., from the same committee, Mr. Ashe of N. C., from the same committee, reported a bill to amend the revised statues in relation to naturalization. It provides that the declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States may be made before a cierk of the court, and such declarations heretofore made are declared legal and valid. He explained that the object of the bill was simply to restore the law to what it was before the printing of the revised statues, in which thd word "clerk" had been accidently omittee. The bill was passed.

Mr. Ashe also reported a bill to amend section 1069 relating to the clause for abandoned tion 1009 relating to the clause for abandoned property. It authorizes the Court of Claims to take jurisdiction of claims of all persons who were infants, married women, idiots, lunatics, insane persons, or who were beyond the seas at the time of the seizure of any abandoned or the time of the seizure of any abandoned or captured property, providing such claims are already on file or shall be on file within two years.

Mr. Lawrence of Ohio, made the point of order that the bill must first be considered in Committee of the Whole.

The point was sustained and the bill was referred to the Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Frye of Maine, reported a bill to exten d for three months the time for claimants before the Alabama claims committee to prove their claims. He explained that the bill did not extend jurisdiction over any new matter, but that claims. He explained that the bill did not extend jurisdiction over any new matter, but that it was necessary in the case, of some few sailors on the Pacific coast, some whalemen of the Massachusetts coast, and perhaps a few others, who through ignorance of the law or on account of absence from home had failed to file their claims. They were of the poorer class and their claims did not amount to over $200,000.

Mr. Morey of La., desired to offer an amendment repealing that portion of the law which restricts the right to present claims to persons restricts the right to present claims to persons who have borne true allegiance to the United States during the late rebellion, but Mr. Frye declined to admit it. The bill was then passed.

Mr. Ward of New York, from the Committe

Mr. Ward of New York, from the Committee on Commerce, presented a report made by a sub-committee in regard to the commercial relations between the United States and Canada. He said the full committee had not come to any agreement on the subject, and he therefore asked that the report be printed and recommitted. It was so ordered.

Among the bills reported were the following: ing:
Providing a penalty for mailing obscene mat-ter and prohibiting lottery circulars passing through the mails; for the payment of a porthrough the mails; for the payment of a por-tion of the import duties in legal tender notes. By Mr. Bucknam of Mo., to provide an elec-tive government for the District of Columbia. By Mr. Oliver of Pa., to reduce the interest bearing public debt, to provide for a uniform currency, limit the amount thereof and make it equal in value to specie; also to invite a joint currency of all civilized nations for the puronvention of all civilized nations for the purpose of establishing a uniform system of weights, measures and coinage throughout the civilized world.

The House at 3 o'clock went into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, (Mr. Wood of New York in the chair,) and was adversed on the Centennial hill by Mr. Wood of New York in the chair,) and was addressed on the Centennial bill by Mr. Hopkins, chairman of the committee, who argued that the national honor was involved in the success of the exhibition and that there could be no extremity of financial distress that ought to cause an American Congress to falter in vot to cause an American Congress to falter in voting an appropriation to preserve the good name of the government, as national unity was valneless without national honor. After giving the history of legislation on the subject and defending its constitutionality, he went on to say that the matter could not be dwarfed into a recea legal avhibition. say that the matter could not be dwarted into a mere local exhibition. Its character and scope had been irrevocably fixed and were now beyond the power and control of Congress. Referring to the national advantages of the celebration, he said one of those would be to to show that Southern men were neither Dukes to show that Southern men were neither Dukes of Alva or Spanish inquisitors, but were men and brothers. (Slight applause.) The spirit of '76 would breath its influence on the people, and under that influence all animosities and all angry memories would fade away. The passage of the pending bill by the aid of those, the sincerity of whose patriotism had been unjustly questioned, would confuce to that con-summation so devoutly to be wished. He ex-pected that visitors from all parts of the world would unite with the American people in the exclamation "esto perpetua."

Mr. Waddell of N. C., said he had been unswerving supporter of appropriating for this Centennial Exhibition ever since it had been first projected. If it were supposed that the irritating discussion of last week would have drawn Southern men away from the support of the measure he sincerely trusted that the result of the vote would only add another illustration to many already given of how utterly impossible it is for some people to understand impossible it is for some people to understand and appreciate the spirit that animates other people. They wished the disturbers of the public peace to understand that notwithstanding the spirit exhibited they were too good patriots and too sincere men to allow that spirit either to control them or serve as an example for them. They wished to preserve the America. for them. They wished to preserve the Amer-ican Union and they would do it if they were

He knew some gentlemen who had been en gaged in the same cause with him who had not intended to yot for this measure before that discussion, but who now intended to support it, so as to set an example of patriotism. If there were any of them who still opposed this bill he appealed to them to unite with him in doing an act which could only promote the honor and advance the interests of the country and the mr. Sheakley of Pennsylvania offered an amendment that the entrance to the centennial buildings and grounds shall be free on the 4th of July and on Thursday of each week.

supplemented by personal interviews, entreating him to support this measure, he could not do so. His official oath was the gauge of his official action. Believing this appropriation to be unwarranted by the constitution, he opposed it without hesitation and without reluctance. Taxation was authorized only for the purpose of carrying on the functions of the government. of carrying on the functions of the govern and who would venture to say that self-glorifi-cation was one of those functions?

Mr. Chittenden of New York expressed his cordial approbation of the measure and his hope that it would be passed, and passed, too, by an unanimous yote. He conceded the constitutional objections to the measure, but those objections were answered by the multitudinous cases of departure hitherto.

Without taking any action on the bill, the ommittee rose.

Mr. Williams of Wisconsin introduced a proposed amendment to the constitution.

London, Jan. 18.—The Times publishes a letter from Vienna, giving the following details of the insurrection in Turkish provinces:

Partly from a "sincere wish to end the insurrection and partly from anxiety to escape intervention, the Sublime Porte is making great efforts to achieve pacification unaided. The new Turkish commander, Mukhtar Pasha, and the new Governor, Ali Pasha, are to co-operate to that end, the former by military disposition and the latter by political and diplomatic activity. The severe checks the insurgents have recently suffered and the large reinforcements the Turks have lately received render offensive operations by the insurgents very improbable. Mukhtar Pesha seems likewise to have instructions not to operate against the insurgents, but Mukhtar Pesha seems likewise to have instructions not to operate against the insurgents, but to begin by occupation of important positions on the Montenegrin frontier. Thereby a sort of cordon will be drawn to prevent the Montenegrins assisting the insurgents, the Turkish arms being turned against those attempting to pass the frontier. So far as munitions of war and provisions are concerned, such a disposition might answer, but it would be ineffective against the passage of arms of mountainears.

The sort of truce thus established with the insurgents will be utilized by the Governor's summoning an assembly of notables at Mostar to draft a report of the grievances of the country to be sent direct to the Sultan. "Facts are Stubborn Things."

Thousands of human beings are yearly borne on the swift current of disease down to the grave, just because they do not possess a sufficient knowledge of themselves. A man meets his neighbor, and the first salutation is, "How are you?" or "How is you health?" The reply frequently is, "Oh, I am well with the exception of a cold." Most persons lightly regard a cold. Reader, do you know that a cold in one of the most dangerous of maladies? A cold no only clogs up the pores of the entire system, and retards circulation, but it is productive of Catarrh which is quite apt to lead to Consumption. "Oh, you say, "it is nothing but a cold in my head." True; but that cold is really a mild form of Catarrh and if not arrested in its course will become chronic Catarrh is one of the most disagreeable, offensive affections in the catalogue of diseases. The passage to the nose is obstructed, the sense of smell impaired and there is a disagreeable sensation of pressure in the nose is obstructed, the sense of smell impaired, and there is a disagreeable sensation of pressure in the head. In the more advanced stages, there is a discharge having an offensive odor. If the disease be allowed to continue in its course, thick, hard incrustations will form in the head, the bones of which sometimes become softened and break away in pieces. Why will persons continue to suffer from such an anoving, disgusting disease, when they can just as well be cured of it? Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will cure the worst forms of Catarrh; in fact, it is the only sure and safe remedy which has yet been offered to the public. Many harsh, irritating preparations may, for a time, relieve the urgency of the symptoms, but they do not cure the disease. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is soothing and healing in its effects, and when used with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, according to directions, does not fail to effect a cure. Sold by all druggists.

RÆDER'S GERMAN SNUFF.

A preparation which has been pronounced by some of the highest medical talent in the land to be the only reliable article for this complaint.

CATARRH! CATARRH

A case of many years standing, and so horrible that it caused total deafness, cured by the use of one box of Ræder's German Snuff. which costs but 35 cents.

Gentlemen: I must express my gratitude for the wonderful cure as performed by your Ræder's German Snuff. I had been afflicted with Catarrh for many years, and it caused my hearing to become so poor that I was totally deaf, I tried many remedies, but without any benefit; but at last I purchased a box of German Snuff, and its use not only entirely cured my Catarrh, but what was yet more wonderful, my hearing was fully restored, and after having been deaf for years, I can now hear as well as any one. This Snuff should be spread broadcast over the land, for it will prove a blessing to all who use it.

Yours very truly,
MRS. MILO STRATTON.

Suffering reader, don't get discouraged if you have spent hundreds of dollars on worthless trash without any real benefit, but remember that in this simple German remedy you have a cure that is always safe

The fowls were put in position yesterday ready to be judged to-day. The bantams will be placed on the stage in the main hall, and in front of them an immonse cage filled with golden pheasants, surmounted by that historical rooster that kept watch and ward over the old Court House. In one of the lower corners of the hall are the cages of the peacocks, eagles and ostriches, and in the opposite corner the deer park.

As we have already stated the Reception Hall is for the pigeons, birds eggs and stuffed birds. In the corridors on the third floor is a large tank of running water where will be found two pair of fine swans. In the Senate Chamber are arranged coops of aquatic fowls, squirrels and cariosities in general. The exhibition opens to-morrow and will continue one

AN OLD CASE REVIVED .- Judge Knight was employed all day yesterday in hearing a single case in the Municipal Court. It will be remembered that some time last October a large amount of fine clothing stored in an upper room on Middle street was stolen. Since that time some of the stolen clothing was discovered in a vault on Smith street. At the time the robbery was reported and since, the police have worked on the case, but have failed to detect the guilty parties. Some few weeks since Mr. Hanson, from whom the goods were stolen, employed officers York and Miles to look the matter up. After making several enquiries they procured a warrant, and last Saturday Deputy Sheriff Adams arrested Mrs. Kate Harmon on suspicion of stealing the clothing. Mrs. Harmon is the wife of Major Harmon and at the time the ropbery was committed they resided in the block and on the same floor from which the goods were stolen. The case was tried yesterday and occupied all day as above stated. The government produced a large number of witnesses, but the bulk of the testimony was not at all direct and the Judge discharged the prisoner. Smith and Bird appeared for the government and Nathan Webb for the respondent.

DEERING BOULEVARD .- An adjourned meetng was held yesterday afternoon at Mr. Jordan's office to talk over the matter of the Deering Boulevard. The committee appointed at the last meeting reported that they had secured the consent of a part of the land owners to giving the right of way, and a strip of land for the purposes of the Boulevard, and had conferred with the engineer and satisfactorily arranged for some doubtful locations, but that owing to the shortness of their time they had not completed their duties, and asked further time to see other land owners. It was voted that the propositions of several owners, as to location, be accepted, and it was further voted that a committee of three be appointed to draft a bill to be presented to the Legislature asking the necessary legislative assistance. The meeting adjourned to meet at the same place next Saturday at three o'clock to hear the report of these two committees. DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.-This evening the T. C. and C. T. club give a dramatic entertainment at Music Hall for the benefit of the Portland Fraternity. The entertainment opens with the interesting drama entitled "Robert Macaire, or the Two Murderers." This piece has been rehearsed with great care and will be presented in an unusually fine manner. The performance will conclude with the laughable farce entitled "Sarah's Young Man." This club is composed of fine dramatic talent, and those who attend their entertainment this evening will be well repaid. They are organized for the express purpose of giving entertainments for worthy objects, and should be enouraged in their efforts. The present object is certainly a most worthy one and the hall hould be filled. There is no better way to spend a pleasant evening and help a charitable estitution than to purchase tickets for this entertainment. Reserved seats can be had at Stockbridge's. An orchestra of fifte en pieces will be in attendance.

THE HAYDN CONCERT. The cantata, Frido. lin, the argument of which was given in yesterday's PRESS, promises to be one of the best amateur concerts ever given in this city. The names of the leading characters, and the advantages of support given by the long practice and rehearsals of the Haydn Association, ensure its presentation in a manner in the highest degree satisfactory. The music by Randegger is of a fine order, and the plot, the words of which are by Madame Rudersdoff, is very dramatic.

PRESENTATION.-Last evening, just before the rehearsal of the C. T.'s and T. C.'s commenced, a very pretty scene was enacted on the stage. Mr. Curtis, who has assisted the club in their rehearsals, was called to the stage and presented with a fine gold ring, as a token of regard from the club. The presentation was made by Mr. Charles S. This course has been well attended and the comrades have enjoyed them much.

DIRECTORS' RÉPORT. The directors respectfully submit the following report of the progress of the work on the line during the past year, together with the report of the engineer, showing in detail the condition of the roadbed, the amount of work done, bridges built and buildings erected; and the financial statement of the treasurer. Also a statement in form of a letter, addressed to the president of this company, of great importance as containing so full an endorsement of the fidelity with which the work has been done and the money of the company expended made by the consulting engineer of the company, Benjamin H. Latrobe, Esq., who, with the engineer, made a thorough examination of the road, from Bemis station through the Notch to Fabyan's, paying particular attention to the bridges and trestles upon the line. The opinions and endorsement of so distin-guished an engineer and reliable gentlenan must insure the confidence of the general public in the safety of the road and the ultimate financial success of the enter-

At the time of the last annual report the rails had been laid to Frankenstein three miles beyond the Bemis station, eighty-four miles from Portland. From this point to Fabyan's, a distance of ten miles, the work was prosecuted under the constant attention of the directors, who were anxious to have the line opened in season for the earliest summer business. But al-though their efforts were seconded by the unremitting exertions or an earness faithful corps of engineers, and the persontting exertions of an earnest and al supervision of the experienced and energetic contractors, Messrs. Fuller and Harding; yet, from the nature of the work, the lateness of the season when the frost left the ground, (enabling the contractors to put in the foundations for bridges, &c.,) and the difficulties attending the prosecu-tion of work upon a mountain side, separ-ated from the highway by an elevation of several hundred feet of almost precipitou incline, there were necessarily some de-lays, and it was not till the seventh day of August that the line through to Fabyan's was opened for business.

The accomplishment of this great work and the opening of this new and unrivalled avenue to the heart of the mountains, was too late to secure the benefit of the early summer tourists as patrons of the road, or, what was of immeasurably more consequence, as an advertising agency, through which to reach the bulk of the summer travel; yet the flow of business over the mountain portion of the road was such as to satisfy the anticipations of the most sanguine that this is to be hereafter not only the most acceptable route by which to reach the objects of interest in the mountains, but that, in and of itself, it is to be one of the objects of greatest interest and affording the highest gratification to all adnirers of the grand and beautiful.

Upon the completion of the road to Fabyan's, negotiations were opened with the Boston, Concord and Montreal railroad for a joint occupation of the road of that company from Fabyan's round to Dalton, to the point where the line of this company will cross the line of the Boston. Concord and Montreal railroad; your directors not having the means at com-mand to put in the intervening link of seventeen miles, and feeling that the present through traffic would hardly justify any great sacrifice in procuring money of the bonds of this company for that pur pose, if satisfactory arrangements could be secured with that company for such joint the managers of the Vermont division of the line, who had completed their grading to the Connecticut river, and recognizing the importance to the business interests of Portland of securing, at the earliest season possible, a direct connection with the tradng communities through which the line in Vermont was located, determined to build Scott's Mills in Dalton—the point of con-nection or crossing of this road and the Boston, Concord and Montreal—to a junction with the Vermont division, at their terminus, on the west bank of the Connectcut river in Lunenburg. On the first day of September work was accordingly begun at various points on this section, and con at various points on this section, and com-pleted so that by using the pile structure over the Connecticut, a temporary arrangement having been effected with the Boston, Concord and Montreal railroad companies for hauling your trains over the short section of its road between Fabyan's and Scott's Mills, on the 22d day of December the first through train passe from Portland to Johnson in Vermont, distance of one hundred and ninety miles. The execution of the work upon the mountain division in the time actually occupied in its construction, and its comparatively small cost, is a complete vindica tion of the judgment of your engineers, formed and expressed to you some years ago, and an unanswerable reply to those who, inexperienced in railroad construction through mountain regions, consider ed the project of building a railroad through the Notch of the White Moun-tains absurd, because impracticable at any cost, doubling or trebling that estimated by your engineer. And your Directors express the hope, that the practical verification of the correctness of the earlier investigations of the engineer and opinions of those originally favoring the enterprise, in this demonstration of the feasibility of a road through the Notch at a moderate cost, and the subsequent cumulative proof of the ease and economy with which up grades are worked, will convince the stockholders that the "impossible" having been accomplished, their interests will be best served by united action on their part to secure the building of the short gap re-maining to be filled while it may be done at a cost much below that originally estimated. It is true that a temporary arrangement, in contract form, has been made with the Boston, Concord and Montreal Railroad Company. But as it is yet an experiment how the two companies can jointly do their business over this piece of road, and as the Boston Concord and Montreal Company were unwilling to excan terminate the contract, beyond six months, it would seem to be the part of the means of completing that section of road whenever in their judgment the action of the other company should render it ex-At the special meeting of the stock-holders, held on the 16th day of March last, the directors were authorized to unite with the Western division in a joint mortgage and the issue of joint consolidated bonds; also to unite in a contract for conline of road. That duty has been performed, and your directors are assured that by means of such bonds the Western division will be enabled to complete its road by July next, while the interests of this road and the bondholders holding prior securities are fully protected; the contract for consolidating the management containing a provision that six of the leven managers who will constitute the board of management shall be chosen from this board, and shall be residents of agers to be chosen within three months after the signing of the contract, who shall,

The equipment of the road has been increased by the addition of 1 first-class locomotive, Mogul pattern, 2 passenger and 2 observation cars, making it at date: 8 locomotives, 13 passenger, 3 smoking, 3 observation, 3 baggage, 1 baggage and hay, 70 platform, 1 crane cars, and 3 snow

C. Kingman, employed as fireman, had an arm slightly fractured by getting it caught in the engine while oiling, which is the only accident to employes or passengers reported during the past year.

The business of the company is steadily increasing all along the line. The report increasing all along the line. The report of the treasurer shows an increase of gross receipts from the passenger and freight traffic of 22 per cent, while the length of the line has been increased but 15 per cent, and that only for the last four months of the financial year. And compared with the returns of miles run by passenger, mixed, and freight trains, the result is still more encouraging, as the increase of such mileage has been but about two per cent. And this does not include the increase of receipts from mail service or other miscel-The exhibit of earnings and operating expenses show that the cost of working he road amounts to only 54 per cent of the gross receipts—a most gratifying result, yet one which, to avoid misapprehensionrequire some explanation. In the miscellaneous items of receipts is included an amount due to the earnings of former years, not adjusted until during the past year. Deducting this amount, the operating expenses are 57 per cent of the gross receipts—a result still below the average of former years. This result has been attained by, perhaps over-taxing the equipment of your road.

The policy of thus taxing the equipment of a road beyond its economical ability is not advocated by your directors, and possibly the operating expenses of the current year may be increased disproportionately as a consequence of the necessities of the past Your directors confidently expect much larger receipts for the coming year, from the connection with the Vermont division, and the new enterprises that are already nitiated upon the line. Prominent among the latter are the Sebago Wood Board Company's Mills at South Windham. These mills must furnish a large amount of business for the road, as the parties build-ing and owning them have also purchased a very large tract of land near the base of Mount Washington, which is covered with a heavy growth of poplar and spruce, to be worked up at their mills, making freight of the raw as well as manufactured material, to and from their mills over a very considerable portion of this railroad. Also, on Sawyer's River, four miles above Bartlett, parties are erecting mills and have located a narrow gauge railroad, to be graded in the spring, that will open up the large lumber region of that valley and around the base of Mount Carrigain, and furnish this road a vast amount of freight. To meet this increase of business there should be a large addition to the rolling stock of the company, and your directors hope that some way will be provided by the stockholders to meet these require-ments. The line from Cambridge to Burlington, which will open communication to your road for the important business of Lake Champlain concentrating at that point, is already in so advanced a condition as to insure its completion in season for a part, if not the most, of the ensuing summer's travel through from Lake Cham-plain to the mountains. The importance of this connection, by bringing our city into business relations with the city of Burlington, cannot be overestimated. Although not originally contemplated, the success of this project must now be considered one of the greatest achievements of your enterprise, which is so full of promise to the future prosperity of our city.

SAMUEL J. ANDERSON, President. ENGINEER'S REPORT.

From the report of Mr. John F. Anderson. the chief engineer, we glean the following facts: The bed and track of the road, in operation through the past year, from Portland to Bemis Station—78 miles,—have been maintained in good order. About 125 tons of new rails and some 2000 cross-ties have been put down for renewal between Portland and North Conway, and sufficient gravel to keen the proper surand sufficient gravel to keep the proper surface of the track has been carried on. Although quite a large amount of gravel, in the aggregate, was put upon the road-bed for this purpose, a much larger amount is needed to fully restore the banks to their original grade lines and compensate for the general settlement and wash.

At Portland an additional siding was made and a considerable lift of the track by ballast between the freight station and the basin bridge.

The pile bridge along Fore river flats were disturbed by ice, and additional bands of piles were put in, with some new stringers and braces. When this bridge was built, the design was to fill in solid embankment by the trains within a year or two, and the erection was a cheaper one and less substantial than it would have been if intended for a permanent bridge.

I respectfully recommend that this filling be At Little Falls, South Windham, a spur track

From North Conway to Bemis Station nearly all the fence required on the line of your road has been built.

A side track has been laid into a gravel-pit near Moor's brook, back of the Willey house; a long one at the Crawford station; another into a gravel pit on the Northe rn slope of the mountain; and another at the Fabyan station.

The first bridge above Bemis Station was in place over Davis brook at the date of my last annual report. The next one, a Howe truss, fifty-eight feet long, was nearly framed ready for erection over Bemis brook at that date. This was put up early in the past year.

An iron trestle bridge of four hubdred ninety-six feet length of girder and seventy-five feet height, of iron, resting upon piers and benches of granite, has been erected over the ravine near by Frankenstein Cliff.

A Howe truss, eighty-five feet long, has been erected over Cow brook. Also a similar bridge, of seventy-five feet length, over Moor's brook, on the mountain side, back of the Willey House.

Between Bemis and Crawford stations there have been erected four comfortable dwellings, for the section men, placed beside the roadway, and three of them at such points as will enable the occupants not only to command clear views of the track along the side of mountains, but to signal each other from house to house, in any contingency that may require it; each house being in sight of at least one other. The first one is located about two miles from the beginning of the mountain grade; the next one is near the Cow Brook water station; the third is on the side of Willey Mountain, about one-third of a mile along the railroad, north of the Willey House; and the fourth is at the turn of Mount Willard, about half a mile below the Gate of the Notch. The house near the Cow Brook water station, commands a full view of the track for half a mile below—(east) and three miles above (north) its site. A wood-shed also was erected, and, as this was about midway of the mountain grade, a level of 600 feet in length had been here interposed when the line was located. It proves to be just the right place for most conveniently taking wood and water in operating the freight and passen-ger trains over the grade.

GEN. SAMUEL J. ANDERSON, Dear Sir-As the company over which you preside favored me, some four years ago with a request for my professional advice in regard to the location of their road through the Crawford Notch of the White Mountains, permit me to express the pleasure with which I have recently passed over it upon the celebration of its opening through that renowned pass. My recommendation that a certain limit of grade should not be exceeded in the approximation of the should not be exceeded. proach to the Gate of the Notch (to which you have now added another entrance side by side with the one formed by nature, yet with-out interfering with the latter) was founded, as my report shows, upon considerations bearing upon the economy of motive power, and upon the popular reputation of the line for safety, in view of the competition with other roads. I advised this, without knowing what expense in preparing the bed of the road might be involved in the adoption of such a grade, which I supposed might be quite heavy compared with one of much increased steepness in the immediate approach to the summit. I am gratified, therefore, in finding that, for most of the distance for seven or eight miles embraced in the maximum grade, the cost of graduation has been very erate, and that, even on the more difficult portions contiguous to the Notch, it has not been excessive. At the same time the curvature has been easier than I anticipated. The material of the excavations has also proved bet-ter than was expected, consisting chiefly of coarse granitic sand, with boulders of the same rock, not retentive of water, and hence little disposed to slide. The side cuttings are generally so made as to leave space on the upper side to hold such loose material as may fall, and also for drainage of water from the slopes. The solid rock cuts are also of good width and slope, and the embankments most-ly well settled and supported upon the natural surface. The Frankenstein trestle, when fully completed and stiffened by the additional braces and ties now being inserted, will prove, I think, a safe and substantial structure, light as is its appearance.

The iren bridge over the Willey brook appears well planned and put together, and the timber trestle connected with it will answer the purpose for some years to come, but should ultimately be succeeded by another should ultimately be succeeded by another span of iron, which, I think, will be better than an embankment upon so steep a slope.

In short, I see no reason to doubt that the road-bed upon this difficult section of the line will be permanent and easily kept in repair, if properly watched and attended for some time to come, under the direction of the chief and resident engineer, under whose care it was built, and who, by judicious applica-tion of professional skill, will be able to improve the alignment at points where the original location could not be made upon the natural surface in its rough state as perfectly as upon the graded road-bed. There will also be some additional retaining wall to be built, and what has been already erected improved, as the effect of frosts and rains upon the cuttings and embankments may show the necessity of, from time to time.

Upon the western slope, from the Crawford to the Fabyan house, the line has been cheaply built, and will be readily kept up, the material being almost wholly of the granitic sand met with on the eastern side. In regard to the effect upon the future of your work, of the connection now made with the system of railways in the Connecticut river valley, and beyond it to the northern and western termini of your road, and thence to the remote west. I need offer no other remark than that it must inevitably ensure its success as one of the great thorough fares of the country, and as raising Portland to the rank of one of the chief maritime cities of the United States. I am very respectfully yours, BENJ. H. LATROBE, Consulting Engineer. The new articles of agreement entered into between the Eastern Division and the Vermont Division were read. As they had been approved at a previous meeting no action was neces-

By the terms of this contract, now first made public, the Portland and Ogdensburg railroad company of Maine, and the Essex County, the Montpelier and St. Johnsbury, the Lamoille Valley, and the Lamoille Valley Junction railroad companies of Vermont having previously agreed to issue joint bonds for $40,000 a mile upon their whole line of railway, agree to commit the management of the entire line to a board of eleven managers. The Portland and Ogdensburg railroad company of Maine is entitled to six managers, who shall be residents of the city of Portland; the Essex County railroad company to one; the Montpelier and St. Johnsbury railroad company one; the Lamoille Valley railroad company two; and the Montreal Chambly and Sorel railroad company of Canada one. The operation and maintenance of the consolidated road is committed to the board of managers, and the duties of the board when not in session are to be performed by its president. Of the net earnings of the entire line there shall be paid over annually on the second day of January, to each company, its just share, which it is agreed, shall be such a proportion of the net earnings as the gross earnings of emergency, as well as for their daily routine.

A stone dam, laid in full cement from the ledge up, was built across a never failing mountain stream to form a reservoir for the Cow each road shall bear to the gross earnings of he Eastern railroad, first deducting the amount due from each road, as interest upon the bonds issued by such road and its proportion of the interest due on the joint bonds issued under the joint consolidated mortgage, which amounts, so deducted shall be appropropriated to the payment of such interest. If the share of the net earnings of either company shall at any time prove insufficient to pay such interest, the managers shall supply the deficit from the shares of the other companies, and all sums so paid to make good the deficit of any company shall supply the deficit form the shares of the Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam. Take no other. See that the name of "F. W. Kinsman" is blown in the bottle. Price 35 cents, in the shares of the couple of the c sufficient to pay such interest, the managers remain a charge and lien upon the road of said company in favor of the roads making such advances, to be enforced as provided in the mortgage between the parties, dated January 1, 1875. It is further agreed that the lease of the Montreal, Chambly and Sorel railroad, as executed on the 24th day of Nov. 1874, and modified on the 12th day of March 1875, running to the Vermont companies, is to be held and carried out in all respects, and that the managers shall also carry out the contract with the Eastern railroad mentioned above. It is also agreed, that the managers shall not demand from the city of Portland, the issue of any bonds of that city in aid of the Portland and Ogdensburg railroad, under any vote of the inhabitants prior to the date of this contract. Mr. Hersey spoke in the highest terms of the directors of the road, who had pushed the enterprise to its present state of completion. He thought that it had not been overestimated and will reach the expectations of the most sanguine if it never pays a dollar in dividends. Messrs. W. S. Dana, G. W. Woodman and J. Marshall Brown were appointed a committee to receive, sort and count votes for ten directors. The old board were elected as follows: S. J. Anderson, J. E. Donnell, D. W. Clark, H. N. Jose, D. R. Hastings, W. L. Putnam, A Spring, J. S. Ricker, W. F. Milliken and J. Eastman. There were 7,710 shares represented by 27 stockholders and proxies. All of the above directors received a full vote. While the committee were counting the votes state of work on the Burlington road. This road will give us, when completed, a direct line to one of the greatest lumber marts in the United States. Our South American trade, which is now rapidly on the increase, will recaive great benefit from Burlington. The speaker was in hopes that our citizens would realize the importance of this road to Portland. By another season it is expected that the road will be opened to Swanton. There are at present 750 men at work in Vermont, and twenty miles are already graded towards Swanton. C. E. Jose made a very flattering allusion to the road and its managers. He remarked that the volume of the business already amounted to $220,000, which was the creation of the road before reaching the Notch, beyond which it was thought they must pass before reaping any benefit. The prospect, he remarked, is most flattering, notwithstanding the depression of business the world over. M. G. Palmer, Esq., spoke in the same strain, and in view of the very satisfactory labors of the directors, he moved a vote of thanks to the officers of the road for their untiring energy in carrying out the enterprise. The vote was unanimously passed.

President Anderson responded in behalf of the officials of the road. He spoke in high terms of the sentiment prevailing in this city as well as in the towns along the line of the road, in favor of the road. The citizens along the line of the road had encouraged the directors in every effort put forth for the completion of the road. Already large quantities of goods are shipped over the road to Vermont for consump-

W. S. Dana, Esq., suggested that the merhants of the city keep a record of the goods sold the coming year to go over the Ogdensburg road. He thought the showing at the end of the year would be a most flattering one. The meeting then adjourned until the second Monday in February, at the same hour and wood, etc. One hundred and twenty horses are also in use, hauling wood and iron. Last week over 1500 cords of wood were cut and deivered from distance of one to three miles from the furnace, and 70 tons of iron were made and shipped. The No. 1, extra iron, for foundry purposes, is in good demand, with orders ahead for 300 tons; but for other grades there is little demand at present.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEA WEED TONIC AND MANDRAKE PILLS .- These deservedly celebrated and popular medicines have effected a revolution in the healing art, and proved the fallacy of several maxims which have for many years obstructed the progress of medical science. The false supposition that "Consumption is incurable" deterred physicians from attempting to find remedies for that disease, and patients afflicted with it reconciled themselves to death without making an effort to escape from a doom which they supposed to be unavoidable. It is now proved, however, that Consumption can be ured, and that it has been cured in a very great number of cases (some of them apparently desperate other cases by the same medicine in connection with Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills, one r both, according to the requirements of the case. Dr. Schenck himself, who enjoyed uninterrupted good health for more than forty years, was supposed, at one time, to be at the very gate of death, his physicians having pronounced his case hopeless, and abandoned him to his fate. He was cured by the aforesaid medicines, and, since his recovery, many thousand's similarly affected have used Dr. Schenck's preparations with the same remarkable success. Full directions accompany each, making it not abolutely necessary to personally see Dr. Schenck unless patients wish their lungs examined, and for this purpose he is professionally at his principal office, Corner Sixth and Arch Sts., Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed. Schenck's medicines are sold by all drug-
