NEWSPAPER HISTORY
 The Rockland Gazette was established in 1846. In 1874 the Courier was established and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1885, and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1897.

CAN BE NOMINATED
 But Gov. Smith Cannot Be Elected President Says Senator Caraway

If the two-thirds rule at the next Democratic national convention is suspended, Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York will be nominated by acclamation, in the opinion of Senator T. H. Caraway of Arkansas, who said Saturday on the Celtic. He will attend the annual meeting of the Interparliamentary Union at Geneva, Senator Caraway said that while he admires Gov. Smith he does not believe that he can be elected on account of his avowed wet policies and his religion.

"The nation would defeat an out and out candidate," he said "by a two-thirds majority."

"The people of New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and other populous centers do not understand the pulse of the Nation which is for enforcement of the prohibition law. If the law is not just, then it should be repealed, but there should be no compromise by tampering with it, through altering the Volstead Act and those opposing the Eighteenth Amendment should work for the repeal, not its modification, which is patently absurd."

The senator said he did not share the "narrow ideas" of those who oppose the governor on religious grounds.

He predicted that a Democrat would be elected President, and said the Democrats would "select some man not even now known to politics, who will be only a name and the Republicans will do the same."

IN MEMORY OF A. I. MATHER

From the poetical works of the Bard of Tar Flat of San Francisco there comes to The Courier-Gazette the following verses, to the memory of the late Albert I. Mather. The writer is Melvin D. Hemenway, an old-time Rockland boy, contemporary of Mr. Mather, and for the past half century a dweller on the Pacific Coast.

MEMORIA
 Good night, old Pal, my dearest friend,
 Good night, good night, farewell;
 Your mortal day is at an end;
 Now strikes the midnight bell!
 Lo! twelve, the solemn, mystic hour
 When loyal souls commune,
 In keeping of that Divine Power—
 To earthily, wile immune.

MEMORIA
 Oh, slumber on in sweet repose,
 And rest thee in thy sleep;
 Thus destiny shall ever dispose,
 And earnest vigils keep.
 Sleep well; you'll wake at early morn
 In never-ending day,
 A wondrous spirit then reborn
 To wander on your way.

MEMORIA
 The well you put your trust in Him,
 That Faith and Hope, farewell;
 And so your vision ne'er shall dim
 Along the Heavenly trail.
 The Faith and Hope that lures us on
 And makes our lives sublime,
 Else better had we ne'er been born,
 Life's jagged hills to climb.

MEMORIA
 Faint heart ne'er won in danger's path
 Along life's road highway,
 It weakened in the moment's wrath
 And failed to face the fray.
 But you, old friend, no duty shirked,
 No honor ever betrayed,
 You ever with the Builders worked,
 And with the Toilers strayed.

MEMORIA
 How well you wrought your life work shows:
 Your word was ever your bond;
 Trust this axiom to one who knows,
 While others may respond.
 Were I to stand beside your bier,
 No honor ever betrayed,
 The same familiar voice to hear,
 Nor bid the tears to flow.

CORN BORER HERE
Dreaded European Pest Is Being Found In Local Gardens.

The European corn-borer is said to have made its appearance in local gardens, to the great detriment of the growing crop.

Somebody writes to ask what the European corn-borer looks like. Here is a description taken from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Farmers' Bulletin, No. 1046:

A full grown borer is about one inch long and 1-8 inch thick. The head is dark brown, or black. The upper surface of the body varies from light brown or dark brown to pink. Each segment or division of the body bears a row of small dark brown spots while several narrow dark brown or pink lines run lengthwise of the body. The underside of the body is flesh color and has no markings. The borers feed upon each part of the corn except the roots. They usually enter the stalk just below the tassel, then tunnel upward into the stem of the tassel a short distance, then turn downward. As a result the stalk at that point is weakened causing it to break over and die before the pollen is mature, thereby dwarfing the ear. In Massachusetts as many as 117 borers have been found in one stalk.

There are a number of varieties of borers found in the county such as the Corn Stalk Borer, which varies in color and appearance considerably, and which work in the stalks when they are about two to three feet in height and sometimes even smaller, those which are the European Corn Borer. For those who may be interested, the above description is given which should be plain enough to most corn growers and gardeners so that no mistake will be made when black borers with white lines or plain white borers with dark heads are found.

COAST LEAGUE AVERAGES

Murphy Of Belfast Real Leader In Batting—Rockland Has Best Fielding Average.

Chamard and Carr, newcomers in the Maine Coast League, are the leaders in batting this week, although first honors really belong to T. Murphy of Belfast who has played in 14 games, and has advanced to third position. The 10 leaders now contain only three Rockland players—Chamard, who is first; Masciadri, who is fourth and Weston, who is eighth. Masciadri is still without a misplay in left field.

Belfast leads in the team batting, with a percentage of 345. Rockland being second with 241 and Camden third with 222. Rockland has the best fielding average, 958, Belfast being second with 950 and Camden third with 945. All of the statistics tend to show how closely matched these three teams are.

The long distance hitters are: Weston, 18 bases; Nanian, 17 bases; Marr, 15 bases; Cole, 13 bases; and French, 11 bases.

The leading run-getters are: Masciadri, 14; French, 14; C. Jordan, 14; Weston, 13; Marr, 13; Palemet, 13.

SATURDAY'S GOLF

Golf at the Country Club Saturday—an ideal day of weather and course—saw if ambitious players taking the full advantage of the chance. In this type of contest the player selects his own handicap, in place of the one officially applied to him by the committee and with which he naturally finds fault, if he is a true golfer. The contest has divided among them. Next Saturday's handicap tournament will consist of mixed foursomes.

 Present Plans Call For Completion Of Kennebec Bridge In 1927.

It is planned to make the building of the Kennebec bridge the quickest job on record in the East. Present plans call for the completion of four and possibly five of the piers to a point above the water surface before work on the bridge structure begins. This schedule being maintained, it will be possible to have the structure completed and in use in time to handle the tourist traffic of 1928. Perhaps it will be in commission at a much earlier date in that year. All work will be carried on with that purpose in view.

Work on the superstructure—the bridge itself—will start very soon. The material for it, as well as the sand and cement for the piers, is beginning to arrive. The assembling of the steel framework of the bridge will be done at the yard of the Texas Co. at the north end of the city.

False works will be built and upon these the steel framework of the bridge will be erected. From there they will be placed on scows down the river to the piers on which they are to rest permanently.

The barges upon which the spans are to be moved, will be floated into place under the steel work at low water. The cob work upon which the spans will rest, will be built up under the steel work when all is in readiness, the rising of the tide will lift the spans from the false work, placing its weight on the barges. Tow boats will move them out into the river and drop them down, so that the spans are at their proper places between the piers.

This will call for first class engineering, as well as boatsmanship. It all has to be done very quickly, so as to take advantage of the tide. These spans must be at the proper place as nearly as possible at the slack of the tide, that is, the moment when the tide ceases to rise and begins to drop. At that time for a brief period there is little or no tidal movement. This is the time when the spans must settle into place on the piers. This must be done very accurately. A variation of but a small fraction of an inch can only be allowed in this, which shows why skill must be used by the towboat men, as well as the engineers, for

TALK OF THE TOWN

Only one more month of baseball. If you miss any of those wonderful games it's your fault.

Fred Fernald has sold his grocery at the Northend to Fred Haskell, who will operate it in connection with his fish market.

Thursday night's band concert will be along the street, giving the general public a chance to appreciate the fine program.

Children of school age will be admitted free to Knox Trotting Park at the midsummer races which will be held Aug. 11.

There were busy times at the Lime Rock Railroad Junction yesterday while the Oakland Park Carnival was being unloaded.

The Maine Central's annual excursion to Old Orchard is scheduled for next Sunday and its low rates will mean the usual exodus from this city.

A. E. Keyes resumed his duties as clerk for Burpee & Lamb yesterday at the completion of a fortnight's vacation. S. A. Burpee, the senior member of the firm is now on the vacation list.

E. A. Olds, president and owner of Parker's Tar Soap, died in New York last Friday. Mrs. Olds, who has been a guest at the Samoset for about 25 years has returned from New York where she attended the funeral.

Frank Elwell of Somerville, Mass., is employed in the mechanical department of The Courier-Gazette while Mrs. Annie Hall is having an extended vacation. He is staying meantime with his grandfather, Al Guptill at Ingraham Hill.

The home games this week in the Maine Coast League are Camden tonight and Belfast Friday night. Wednesday Rockland goes to Camden with the full intention of redeeming its recent fiasco, and Saturday she plays in Belfast.

The Rockland young man who encountered a skunk after escorting his girl home, at a nearby beach, can console himself by the fact this was at least 50 percent better than having the incident occur while he was still performing escort duty.

Black & Gay Cannery, Inc., will begin packing blueberries next Monday at their factories in Thomaston and Union, and expect to harvest 80 tons of the popular pie fruit this season. The packing of string beans will begin at Brooks about the 10th.

Wallace M. Little, wholesale produce merchant has bought the New York Bakery at "The Brook", and will begin operations there as soon as the alterations and improvements now in progress are completed. Mr. Little will have the lease of the entire building.

Quantities of blueberries and raspberries abound at Oakland Park, and Manager Dondero generously invites the public to help itself. "It's a shame to have such nice berries go to waste," said Mr. Dondero and in these days, with so many of the pastures and fields posted, it would certainly seem so.

President F. C. Black of the Rockland Community & School Improvement Association has issued a special call for a meeting of the Association this evening at 7.30. This meeting is to be held in the home of Mr. Black 63 Summer street. As there is considerable important business to be transacted it is requested that every member make an effort to be in attendance at the meeting.

Tony the Greek added to his prestige as a swimmer Sunday by making the distance from Maine Central wharf to the Samoset float in 1 hour and 15 minutes. Some of the watches made the time even shorter than that. The water was extremely cold for July but Tony had the forethought to anoint his body with beef tallow and got along swimmingly, so to speak. The distance from Maine Central wharf to the Samoset is nearly two miles, and those who wish to repeat Tony's performance may do so free of charge.

Gilbert Patten was given a rousing welcome when he arose to speak at the Forty Club luncheon yesterday. The boys showed him that the valorous deeds of Patten and Dick Merrill at old Fardale and elsewhere had not been real in vain. Mr. Patten's talk displayed that same vigor and love of fair play that has always been characteristic of his writings and in this instance he made the plea that his listeners keep an open mind but they had the hearts in these days of oratory and false ideals. On Thursday afternoon the club will discuss golf sticks with the Retirees in an effort to wipe out the sting of the recent defeat. Graduation exercises will be in order next Monday with George Ryan as the hero-victim.

REPUBLICAN CO-OPERATION

The letter that Chairman Dwinall of the Republican County Committee has addressed to the voters of the party which he represents may be said to sound the first note of the campaign precedent to the State election of Sept. 13.

There is no question that Knox and Lincoln Counties are about to enter upon a period of development and growth. Everything points that way and the completion of the Bath Bridge will assure it.

There is no reason why we should not elect our State ticket this fall. The last three State elections have demonstrated the fact that the Republican voters are in the majority in this county.

Another Maine hospital has been benefited to the extent of $25,000. This is the Bar Harbor Hospital which is made a beneficiary under the will of the late Augustus Coe Burney.

The Courier-Gazette has had experience with showmen that reaches over a long stretch of years—circus men, negro minstrels, theatrical troupes and what not, and it comes into our mind, taking them in the retrospective, that for the chief part they were good fellows.

There is a direct relationship between traffic regulation and motor vehicular accidents. Most automobile accidents do not necessarily occur where there are the most motor cars or the most pedestrians.

DENTAL HYGIENE

KEEPING THE QUICK LUNCH IN ITS PROPER PLACE

A PASTA pie on a glassa milk, and another quick lunch has glided gently down the one millionth throat without even so much as disturbing the gums of the one millionth man.

The quick lunch must be kept in its proper place. It must not be served up three times a day. Morning and night, even the busy man should see to it that he gets coarse healthy foods which will polish his teeth, nourish his body, and lengthen his life.

Several coarse brands of cereals are on the market. Carrots can be eaten raw by man as well as by rabbits. The rabbit knows a thing or two when he munches a carrot.

It is not necessary for the whole diet to consist of tooth-polishing and gum hardening foods. One "polisher" for each meal is sufficient especially when the gums are massaged night and morning with the finger moistened with a little tooth paste containing no harmful ingredients.

Clean healthy gums grow only over clean teeth. If the gums bleed it is a sign that tartar, or saliva crusts have formed on the teeth at the gum line. Before any massage is started, or rough foods eaten, this tartar should be removed by a good dentist.

Weather This Week Weather outlook for the week in North Atlantic States: Showers at beginning and again latter part, temperature near or slightly above normal.

Phil Jones' Hatchet Mountain Camp boys attended last night's game at Community Park, and rooted loyally for the Cannoneers.

Members of the Rotary Club who attend the fish chowder supper at Hatchet Mountain camp tomorrow night, are reminded to go by the way of Camden, following Washington street into Hope.

The Mary L. Haskell place on the Old County road, formerly the Warren Gardner property has been sold through Floyd L. Shaw's agency to Franklin H. Wood, who after making some changes will go there to reside. Mr. Wood is a popular civil engineer.

Harry P. Chase who for the past eight years has conducted a cobbler shop in Jones block over Crie's Gift Shop, has closed his business and entered the employ of E. H. and O. L. Hatch. Mr. Chase has made a host of friends during his stay at the Brook who regret his leaving and wish him well in his new location.

A new and stringent regulation on wiring has been handed down by the insurance underwriters requiring all new electrical installations to be made in the "two color" method, that is wires of distinctive colors all over the house so that trouble may be easily located. It is understood that no hook ups with the feed lines can be made until this type of wiring is in.

John F. Davis of Boston, ex-commissioner for the Department of Labor, naturalization service, notified Clerk of Courts Milton M. Griffin that he will be in Rockland Thursday for preliminary examination. Ex-service men can be naturalized free of charge, as authorized by act of Congress in May 1926. Those desiring the privilege should be at the Court House at 9 a. m., Thursday.

A very quiet session was the August meeting of the City Council held last night. Reports showed the several departments running smoothly with good progress being made on the Main street paving job. The Chamber of Commerce was given permission to erect a canvas sign at Broadway and Park streets. Several petitions for projecting signs precipitated a rather sharp discussion of the merits of such signs on Main street.

Bargain Basement Bargain Basement

A bad looking situation confronted Chief Fuller-Cobb-Davis Sunday when answer to a bell alarm from box 25 he found a vigorous fire in progress in the basement of the Chisholm Bros. store. But for the timely discovery and prompt handling of the blaze serious damage must have resulted in the heavily stocked block. The cause was evidently a burned dry kettle of syrup which had stewed through the night over a gas burner and, finally ignited the surrounding woodwork. The damage was negligible. Engine 2 was called to the dump to handle a small fire and shortly afterward the same truck subdued a shed blaze off Maverick street.

"ON MY SET" Another sprightly selection, which has not been long on the market is entitled "Then I Forget." I heard it on WJZ Saturday night—Sunday night's reception was so feeble that I cast the loud speaker into the discard and resorted to ear phones. The only stations I had, even then, were WJZ, WEEI, WPG and WMAF. This last named station, located at South Dartmouth, Mass., is an acquaintance well worth cultivating.

Earphones were again necessary last night, but I was glad I tuned in, else I would have missed that very interesting interview with Rudolph Valentino in front of the WPG microphone. The famous film star answered numerous questions concerning his best known productions, "The Sheik" and "The Sheik's Son." The desert scene in "The Sheik" was filmed at Yuma, Ariz., he said. Asked as to the correct pronunciation of the word, whether it is sheek, shike or shok, he said that in Arabia it is called shike. The announcer said that a photo of Valentino would be sent free to anybody addressing "E. M. O." care of W. P. G., City Hall, Atlantic City.

Just 150 years ago the "Declaration of Independence" was signed, that most influential document ever written by man, the corner stone of American liberties. In three reels Yale University prepares the story which is to be presented Aug. 4 and 5 at the Strand Theatre for the benefit of the Lady Knox Chapter, D. A. R. You'll never forget this "Chronicle of History" after you once see it on the screen, as prepared by experts and scholars.

At the gardens of Mrs. Clarence M. Thomas, Spruce street, may be seen some of the largest dahlias ever grown in this section. Some of the blossoms are so large and dense that the lower petals will begin to bend backward, and they will measure at least 12 inches across. There are the U. S. A., Mexico, Carmencita, Large Red Pride of California, Royal Gold, Judge Marston, and others equally brilliant and beautiful. Sunday a large bouquet was cut to decorate the Congregational Church. Mrs. Thomas is justly proud of her dahlias, and in a few days more if weather conditions are propitious it will be worth one's while to go around that way to view these gorgeous blooms.

Lady Astor and family, who have come from England to visit Lady Astor's sister, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, at Islesboro, arrived this morning on the steamship Camden, after what must have been a sleepless night, for the coast was enshrouded in fog, and the siren blew continuously until the boat docked at Tillson wharf. The Astors occupied several of the larger state rooms forward, but did not leave the boat until Camden was reached, and kept pretty closely to them on the trip from Boston. Reaching Camden the party motored to the Camden Yacht Club, and shortly afterward were taken to Islesboro in the speed boat of Mr. Gibson, who had gone to Boston to meet them. Lady Astor and family will spend part of the summer at Islesboro, and may visit Lady Astor's former home in Virginia before returning to England.

AT WISCASSET

Tabernacle Meetings Continue Through The Present Week—Great Success.

The Wiscasset Tabernacle campaign has opened with the greatest interest of any in its history. All the special assistants were on the ground at the opening and have been doing most acceptable work. Miss Mildred Low of Springvale presides at the piano and has proved herself also a most acceptable soloist. Rev. Harold Holbrook the robust baritone fills the great tabernacle with his wonderful voice and this with his trombone playing adds to the attractiveness of the meetings.

Col. Evan A. Watkins the chief speaker has aroused great interest in his lectures which have seemed to bring his auditors to the very lands which he describes. His wide experience through 27 years in Palestine gives him an intimate acquaintance with that wonderful country, and he has a most unusual way of placing what he knows before the hearer so that one feels he is really there.

Col. Watkins has been decorated by Turkey, Russia and France, while also in the British Intelligence Service, and is an honorary member of the American Legion. His pictures are a special feature of his very popular address and not in possession of any one else in the world.

As an aid to Gen. Allenby he was privileged to go into the city of Jerusalem when it fell and has the only set of pictures of that great city. The pictures which will tell Wednesday evening this week. It has never before been given without a price, but at the Tabernacle it can be seen free. In Mount Vernon, N. Y., 1700 people paid one dollar each to see the pictures and hear the thrilling address.

Wednesday of this week is to be devoted to the children. Prof. F. O. Harrell of Boston is to play on his bells and musical glasses. Free ice cream and watermelon will be given to all who come, and the children will receive balloons, caps and flags with all that the children like. All these workers will be at each service the entire campaign. The services will continue through next Sunday.

Capt. Harry Gray, who resigned the command of the steamer Gov. Bowdell to go captain of the Weld Yacht Malaya, is succeeded by Roscoe Kent, who has been mate of the Bowdell the past 10 years, "Captain" Kent, if you please.

With no grass fires or chimney fires in sight Saturday night Fred Cheyne of the Combination Chemical crew counted passing automobiles at the foot of Spring street. At end of three hours he had listed 1250 and quit. Just how many pretty girls bowed to him in that period and how many to get an answer is not stated.

Thirty-two carloads of fire brick are required to line the new lime kilns of the New England Portland Cement & Lime Co., which work is now in progress. A visit to the big plant is a revelation to those who have viewed it only from a passing trolley car or auto, being so much more extensive than appears from a distant view.

Two city homes were sold by V. F. Studley Co., realtors, last week. Mrs. Leona Power of Park Place was found guilty of illegal possession in Municipal Court yesterday and sentenced to six months in jail and a fine of $500 which was appealed. Emery for the defense.

An unfounded rumor gained circulation recently that a syndicate had bought the Stonington Furniture Co. of this city. Proprietor Louis Marcus vigorously refutes the tale however though he admits that the syndicate tried to acquire the business.

An Overland touring car owned by Thomas Libby of Rockport and driven by his son Hiram turned over on the old County Road yesterday opposite Benner's service station and was badly wrecked. Roy Brookhurst, also of Rockport, who was a passenger, was injured and taken to Knox Hospital.

In the Kitchen with 6 Famous Cooks

NOVEL MEXICAN DISHES Pacific Coast Expert Tells How to Prepare Them

(Editor's Note: This is one of our usual cooking series contributed to this paper by six famous cooks. Cut it out and paste in your cook book.)
Enchiladas, picadillo, Spanish rice, beans a la Ayre, and refritos! Those words conjure up pictures of most palatable and spicy dishes to the Spaniard. And many an American has fallen for their tempting toothsome.

Mrs. Kate Brew Vaughn, home economics director, Los Angeles, and author of several cook books, was taught how to make these dishes by a Mexican lady.
Fragrant and Delicious Mrs. Vaughn gives the following directions for making enchiladas. The gravy may be made the day before. Its ingredients are: 4 ounces chili pepper, 1/2 pounds tomatoes, 2 slices hard toast, 1 small onion, 1 pinch each of clove, thyme, pepper, salt and sugar.

American Planned to Save Ill-Fated Queen

The facts upon which are based the story that Marie Antoinette was to have been brought to this country by Stephen Clough seem to be these: The mayor of Wiscasset, Maine, says: "The only basis that I have found for the report or legend that a plan existed to bring Queen Marie Antoinette to Wiscasset is that the ship Sally of this port, Stephen Clough, master, brought from France certain articles, the furniture, etc., supposedly from a palace there which had been occupied by her. The bulk of the goods went to the possession of Col. James Swan of Boston, as will be seen by an article upon that family published in the Boston Transcript about seventy years ago. There is a number of articles by Mr. Bowditch, which articles were known as 'Gleaner' articles ('Gleaner' being the signature to them), the articles being afterward reprinted by the Boston record commissioners in a volume of their reports, which report I do not remember and have not the set before me. It has seemed to me that the legend about the queen naturally grew out of the fact which I have referred to."

Abyssinians Hold Name of Saint George Holy

St. George seems to be the patron saint of the Abyssinians, for in their country there is a number of churches named for that personage. One of them is carved out of solid rock and is a wonderful piece of work, having the appearance of hewn stone. There are beautiful arches and windows and some exquisite carving in the structure. The building is very pretentious and of a size designed to hold and accommodate several hundred persons. It has a sacred pool on the premises which is said to have been filled with water from the River Jordan years ago and which has never evaporated. The story is one which is generally accepted by the natives, but incidentally a casual observer will see that the surrounding area is drained into this pool and that in respect what keeps the level constant.—Chicago Journal.

Whence Cocoa Comes

The cocoa plant is now grown in many districts of the tropical belt, and its consumption, in one form or another, has increased all over the world. It is an evergreen, and is equal in size to a well-grown apple tree. The pods, about eight inches long, grow out of the trunk, and are red at maturity and green at the beginning of the season. There are twenty or thirty pale red beans inside each pod, embedded in a soft white pulp. Cocoa groves are never planted solely with cocoa trees. Although it grows best in hot countries, it is delicate, and has to be protected from the sun, and for this purpose forest trees are planted in the groves. Some of these grow to a great height and have a tutted head like a natural sunshade. These protecting trees are called "Cacao Madre," or cocoa-mother.

Insect Furnishes Shellac

Shellac is a modified form of lac, which is a resinous substance formed by an insect as a coating for its eggs. It is found in the form of various trees in India and neighboring countries. The term "lac" is the same as the Indian numeral meaning 100,000, and is indicative of the myriads of insects which make their appearance with every season. The lac is gathered by cutting the twigs and gathering the called shellac; the resin crushed in hot water to free it from woody particles and coloring matter is known as seed lac or grain lac, and this, when melted, strained through fine cloth and pressed into thin layers, is known as shellac.

Why Speculators Loss

I asked one broker, as we stood looking at the crowd of perhaps 100 customers in his place: "How many of these will get out of the market with a profit?" "Nine out of ten will lose," was his candid reply, "because the first big sale in the market, no matter if only temporary, will wipe them out. No matter how conservative they are at first, carefully keeping reserve funds in the bank, they will soon have all available money up on margin and then they can't weather even a momentary reaction."—Fred O. Kelly, in Hearst's International-Cosmopolitan.

No Place for a Lady

At a small country station a freight train pulled in and sidetracked for the passenger train. The passenger arrived and pulled out; then the freight started to do its switching. A placid, well-dressed woman had alighted from the passenger train and was passing close to one of the freight engines when he yelled to his buddy: "Jump on her when she comes by, Bill, run her down by the head end up by the depot!" The lady picked up her skirts and ran for the station yelling murder at every jump.—Everybody's Magazine.

Little Known of Aesop

Aesop lived during the latter half of the sixth century. The exact date of his birth is unknown. He was a Phrygian; not a Negro. Phrygia was a country of Asia Minor. Under the Roman empire, it was bounded on the west by Mysia, Lydia and Caria; on the south by Lycia and Pisidia; on the east by Lycaonia and Galatia, and on the north by Bithynia. Phrygians were probably a branch of the great Thracian family.

A national parent-teacher association of Negroes was organized in May, during the meeting in Atlanta, Ga., of the National Congress of Parent-Teacher Associations. Colored people representing five States attended the meeting, and the colored national association was formed with the assistance of officers of the national congress.

Kiddies' Evening Story

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

Porky Pig's Pleasure

"Grunt, grunt," said Porky Pig. "Now what's the trouble, squeal," said Miss Ham. "Yes, what's the matter, grunt, grunt?" asked Master Pink Pig. "Do tell us, squeal, squeal," said Brother Bacon. "We'd like to know, grunt, grunt," said Brother Bacon. "We'd like to know very much, Grandpa Porky," said little Black Squealer, squealing as he spoke, or speaking as he squealed, whichever you want to call it. "Well, you do, grunt, grunt," said Sir Percival Bacon. "By all means, grunt, grunt," said Sir Benjamin Bacon. "Let us hear, squeal, squeal," said Mrs. Pinky Pig. "Ah, let us hear, grunt, grunt," said Pinky Pig's mother, and Mrs. Porky's mother-in-law. "Do tell us," said Brother Bacon's mother. "I will tell you," said Porky Pig, much pleased that all of the pigs

They All Listened to Porky.

They were paying so much attention to what he was doing. He looked, he knew, as though he had some secret. And he knew the others in the pen wanted to know it too. Perhaps, they thought, it might be food which he knew about and which they might find, too, if only he gave them a hint. But Porky Pig had other thoughts. "I've heard the family singing in the house. They gather around the piano and sing and their sounds seem to make them happy, so why should not ours do the same with us?" Not a pig answered, so Porky continued. "To save the rest of you the trouble I have written the song and it is called 'Porky Pig's Pleasure,' because I wrote it. "I think the ladies could take the Pig soprano and alto parts—Miss Ham is a good singer, and I think she could take bass and barytone and tenor parts. The pigs seemed to think this was quite exciting. So they all listened to Porky as he sang the first, with all the notes squealing ones save in the chorus when they were all grunts. This was the song: Squeal, squeal, it's a pleasure to feel that when food is not here we can get all our cheer by teaming ahead. That we're being fed. Then came the chorus which was like this: Grunt, grunt, grunt, that's the way to the hunt, for food, food, food, is good, good, good. And then came the second verse: Squeal, squeal, it's a pleasure to feel that when food is not here we can get all our cheer by teaming ahead. As songs went, the pigs decided, it was not much worse or much better than others. And they liked squealing the part particularly which had in it the words "Large Meals for Me."

GO T A CHANCE TO INVEST

By Herbert L. McNary
The office door opened and Cyril Tinkham swung around from his desk with a hopeful, expectant look he kept in stock to greet his clients, but the look faded and while it did not actually turn into one of disappointment, still it faded. He was looking into the countenance of his friend, Roscoe Blake. Those features were usually illuminated by a smile, but Roscoe was not smiling now. Maybe that meant "No I don't, either," he had to pay for that. I want sympathy, besides it's late for advice. "What happened?" "I got hooked for $500." "Cards or horses?" "Neither—the stock market." "Haven't you a comeback?" "Now, you're looking for a case," laughed Roscoe. "Nothing doing, I'm not a poor loser. I'll take my licking, but just the same I like to pour my tale of woe out on somebody. I could use that $500. "What was the stock?" "Secoco Copper." "Never heard of it," declared Cyril with finality. "And you never will. It was never listed." "What? You mean to tell me, Roscoe, that you bought an unlisted stock?" "Worse, I bought it over the telephone from someone I never saw." "Well, of all the fool stunts, I thought you— "Wait a minute," interrupted Roscoe, rising from his seat and crossing to the window. "I said I wanted to hear you not a lecture. You never listened to this bird who talked to me. He was an artist and deserved all he got, including my $500. "Well, no artist would get me over the telephone." "I'm a reasonable confident. I'd like to get this chap to ring you and make a bet on it. He owes me that much at least after roping me." "Go ahead," taunted the lawyer. Roscoe looked out at the dreary buildings and then he brightened. "All right, it's a bet, how much?" "How much do you want to make it?" asked the lawyer. "Make it the $500 I lost." "You want to lose an even thousand, I see." Roscoe smiled. "Did you ever hear that seem confident. He who smiles last?" A week or two elapsed before Cyril Tinkham picked up his desk phone to answer a voice that immediately intrigued him. There was something magnetic about the tone, some indefinable personality. "Hello, Tinkham? Mr. Barker speaking on the recommendations of some very prominent people who have selected you as an enterprising young lawyer to interest in a new invention. We need representative men to endorse it and get it started. You might naturally expect that I would call personally with such a proposition rather than talk to you over the phone; but it happens that only by this method can I give you a demonstration. This invention is something that will revolutionize the telephone industry as you will readily understand when I tell you that while I have been talking to you, you have been scribbling on a red blotter with a yellow pencil." Cyril gasped and snapped his head away from the mouth-piece, which he inspected in amazement. "I don't wonder you're speaking away," continued the voice, laughing pleasantly. "And now let's have a further demonstration. Do something and I'll tell you what it is. You have just put the pencil in your right hand just pocket—now you place it in your left—you shifted the receiver to your right ear—you are now standing up—now you are at the desk—you are dancing—now you are waving your arms. Does that satisfy you, Mr. Tinkham?" "It certainly does," beamed the cocky lawyer. "And you want me to take an interest in it?" "Not exactly. We just want you to vouch for it in our advertisements." "But don't I get a chance to come in on it," protested the lawyer. "Well," hesitated the voice. "The issue is small and about taken up. I might be able to procure you a thousand shares. Would you take that?" "Certainly. How much do I pay?" "You pay $500 to your friend Roscoe Blake in accordance with the terms of a bet you recently made. And now, if you will glance out your window to the story above of the building running at right angles to yours, you will see where Roscoe has been watching you make a darn fool of yourself all over your desk." Everyday Good Things

IF THE family likes kidneys, the following will be liked and they may eat them with the knowledge that they are, with liver, one of the most nourishing of our meats. Omelet of Kidneys. Whip one-third of a cupful of butter to a cream, add one teaspoonful of dry mustard, the same of lemon juice, and salt to taste. Clean the kidneys and let them soak in water with a little salt, for an hour. Wipe dry and cut into small pieces and cook in one tablespoonful of butter, cook twenty minutes, add the creamed butter, one tablespoonful of Worcestershire sauce and the mustard and lemon. Stir until well seasoned, then serve on toast garnished with minced parsley. Chicken With Olives.—Cut up two young chickens into joints and cook very tender in three plats of boiling water, salt and pepper when nearly done; add one chopped onion. Drain and wipe dry, then fry until brown in any quantity of fat, brush with a large cupful of the sauce; put this into a frying pan after the chicken is cooked; add two dozen chopped green olives, a tablespoonful of capers, and when hot pour over the chicken and serve hot. Apple Sauce.—Pare, core and cook six tart apples to a pulp. Rub through a sieve. Mix two tablespoonfuls of cold water, add one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and one cupful of boiling water. Add the apple pulp, one teaspoonful of lemon juice and one teaspoonful of sugar. Beat well, remove from the heat and add three yolks of eggs well beaten. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites and bake in a shallow dish until puffed and brown. Cream of Celery Soup.—Take three cups of sliced celery, cook in boiling water until tender. Press through a sieve. Scald three cupfuls of milk with a slice of onion, add the milk to the celery, removing the onion. Melt four tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour and mix well. Add to the soup, cook until smooth, serve with croutons. (© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

EXPERIENCE OF WESTERN GIRL

Found Cannery Work Too Tiring

The fertile valleys of Oregon help to supply the tables of America.

This is possible through the magic of the humble tin can. In one of the canning establishments, Julia Schmidt was employed. It was complicated work because she did sealing and other parts of the work. It was strenuous work and she was not a strong girl. Often she forced herself to work when she was hardly able to sit at her machine. At times she would have to stay at home for she was so weak she could hardly walk. For five years she was in this weakened condition. She tried various medicines. At last, a friend of hers spoke of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Miss Schmidt gave it a trial. "Everyone says I am a healthier and stronger girl," she writes. "I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to all my friends who tell me how they suffer and I am willing to answer letters from women asking about it." Julia Schmidt's address is 652 North Front St., Salem, Oregon. For sale by all druggists.

SOUTH HOPE

On July 22 Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Gath, of South Hope, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary with a dinner party on the lawn in front of their house. Under a tent, twenty eight people sat down to a table gay with flowers and favors. Toward the end of the meal the Alford Lake Camp girls marched up and serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Gath who have been with the camp over 18 years. Mrs. John Pushaw and Mrs. Evelyn Vining sent flowers in honor of the occasion. Other gifts were: from Dr. Susan Kingsbury, a silver meat fork; from Mr. and Mrs. Conway Zirkle, a silver salad spoon; from Mr. and Mrs. George Spencer, several from-bon dishes; from Mrs. Evelyn Vining, a silver pickle fork; from the girls of Alford Lake Camp, a silver fruit bowl. Mr. Gath presented Mrs. Gath with a silver clock in a Pyroline case. The English wedding cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Agnes Miles, was cut by Mrs. Gath and speeches were made by Mr. Gath and Dr. Kingsbury.

NORTH APPLETON

Saturday evening a large company of friends from Hope, Camden, Seabrook and Appleton gathered at the hall to give a shower of tin and other articles to Mr. and Mrs. Crosby Johnson, who have recently commenced housekeeping. Among those present might be mentioned Mrs. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Meservey and their 11 children and 7 grandchildren. Also nearly all the members of the Hill Top Club who never let an opportunity for a good time pass. Games and dancing were enjoyed, as well as the singing of songs. Sandwiches, cake and ice cream were served.

Farm Storage Cellar Will Pay for Itself

You pay once only for any concrete Farm Improvement. Have you ever had the experience of trying to sell apples, potatoes and other crops when everyone else was trying to do the same thing? Markets glutted at harvest time often knock the profits out of a season's efforts. Why not arrange to store some of your crops so they can be marketed in accordance with demand? Here's where the concrete storage cellar comes in. Many a farmer who has one can tell you that its total cost was returned to him the first year by being able to take advantage of marketing conditions when they were most favorable.

You can easily build a storage cellar or other concrete improvements on your farm by following a few simple directions. Let us send you a free copy of our booklet "Plans for Concrete Farm Buildings." Write for it today.

PLEASANT POINT

Knox Pomona Grange will be the guests of Acorn Grange next Saturday and the Patrons are looking forward to one of the biggest meetings of the year. During the past year death claimed some of the most active members of Acorn Grange and the members began wondering, as the time drew near, if they would be able to entertain Pomona for the yearly visit. But Acorn Grange still has some members who have courage and perseverance, and Knox Pomona will receive a very cordial welcome at their hall. The patrons are requested to keep in mind that this will be a picnic dinner, and those not already solicited, are asked to take an extra box of pastry. The Patrons of Knox Pomona are very unwilling to see the little Grange at Cushing surrender its charter, and there are many willing hands ready to help it across the hard places. The few members they have are very much alive to the meeting of next Saturday, and they are looking forward with interest to the big meeting directly after, when state officials will be present, and a neighboring Grange invited. The secretary of Acorn Grange, has left no stone unturned to make these meetings the big event of the year.

See Peculiar Charm in Oriental Streets

It is really quite impossible to draw a comparison between our wide and spacious avenues and boulevards and the crowded, smelly bazaar streets of the Orient, Pierre van O'Passon asserts in the Atlanta Constitution. They are built and run on entirely different standards. There may be grace, majesty and beauty in a noble poplar-lined thoroughfare, yet tourists go to the end of the world to see a scene as Ben Shazur describes: "I entered a long stone passage, lined with shops, more a flight of steps than a street. I moved through the bowels of a great market lit with occasional shafts of the sun which dropped through manholes in the overhead vaulting. It was bounded together with stone arches. It was hung with draper's goods, dead sheep, shoes and kerchiefs. It was thronged with an unwashed multitude, their heads bobbing up and down the lower depths as they shuffled the grade, turbaned heads, skullcapped heads, fuzzy-haired heads, wrinkled heads, tarbooshed heads, colpacked heads, derby-crowned heads, nose-and-eared heads. It choked with noise. It brayed with masses and tinkled with canals. It danced with gesticulation."

Luncheon Club Rules in Queen Anne's Time

We think luncheon clubs are new stuff, forgetting there is nothing new under the sun. Rambling through my address book the other day, I found that the Spectator's club, organized by Brother Editor Addison, had some rules that have a familiar ring and some unfamiliar. For example: None shall be admitted into the club who is of a same trade with any member of it. If any member swears or curses, his neighbor may give him a kick upon the shins. If any member tells stories in the club that are not true, he shall forfeit for every third lie a half-penny. If a member brings his wife into the club he shall pay for what ever she drinks or smokes. If any member's wife comes to fetch him home from the club, she shall speak to him without the door. —Merle Thorpe in Nation's Business Magazine.

Waterproofing Paper

The most important thing in the making of waterproof paper is the proper choice of the sheet. The toughest papers are now made from lute and also from wood, the kraft or sulphate pulping process being used for the latter. The wood or other raw material must be long-fibered and tough to start with. Waterproofing is accomplished by the use of sizing agents, such as resin, waterglass or waxes and paraffin. One type of water and grease-proof paper is made by immersing sheets of paper made from sulphite pulp in strong sulphuric acid solutions. The action of the acids tends to harden the fibers and render them transparent as well as resistant to moisture and grease. The strength, however, is not increased by this process.

O, Ye of Little Faith!

Science destroys old poetic ideas, but supplants them with a more imaginative new poetry. It has given us a global world spinning on an axis and revolving about a sun which is rushing through space at more than 12 miles a second. For a sky that was a roof, it has given us a great sea of ether extending to infinity, in which the stars are not lamps but great glowing suns, some of them a hundred million times the size of our sun. And our own little earth is shown by science to be a globe of magical chemical and biological processes. In truth, the wonders already made known to man warrant him in believing many things that are quite as wonderful as eternal life.—Capper's Weekly.

Last Word, as Always

Motoring with one's wife should be the most enjoyable recreation there is. However, with blame placed upon neither husband nor wife—it is not always considered an event in which one might delight. O'Grouch and Mrs. O'Grouch were taking their customary Sunday trip to the country, and on this particular Sabbath day things had not been going as smoothly as it was possible for them to go. "The car is behaving very well today, Jane," said O'Grouch, who was trying to win his way to peace and quiet for at least a few miles. "I know," flashed back the better half. "Now it's up to you, John."

Early Canadian Coal

The first recorded mention of coal in Canada was in 1654. At a very early date coal was gathered in Nova Scotia without mining, and mention of this was made in 1721. In 1743 coal was shipped from Cape Breton, as is stated in a letter of M. Duchambore to the French minister. In 1785 coal was mined at Sydney, Cape Breton, under license from the crown. In 1798 the coal in Pictou county, Nova Scotia, attracted the attention of the authorities, and Admiral Sayer of the British army ordered a small cargo to be sent to Halifax for the use of the admiralty.

Polar Exploration

Early efforts in polar exploration were largely for commercial interests. During the Twentieth century the general of exploration in the Arctic and Antarctic regions has been due largely to the spirit of scientific research, but also for geographic achievement. Peary, at the North pole, made a great number of observations which are very valuable in the study of geography, physiography, meteorology and oceanography.

Here's Quick Relief for SUNBURN

GREAT DAYS, these, for outdoor sports — and great for sunburn. Fortunately, there's quick relief right at hand, in that package of baking soda on the kitchen shelf, ARM & HAMMER BRAND or COW BRAND. Both brands are the same: both are pure bicarbonate of soda of the highest quality, made by Church & Dwight Co., Inc.

As First Aid for SUNBURN cover the affected parts with a paste of baking soda (bicarbonate of soda) and water. When the moisture has been absorbed from the paste, the fire will be gone from the burn, and the danger of blistering will be lessened. A helpful and effective way to remove the paste after it has dried out is to bathe in a tub of lukewarm water in which a pound of baking soda (bicarbonate of soda) has been dissolved. This baking soda bath is of itself a soothing treatment for sunburn.

A package of ARM & HAMMER BRAND or COW BRAND baking soda should be in every kitchen, in every medicine chest, in every camp kit—it is helpful every day in countless ways—get a package today at your grocer's.

PROTECTION Against Burglary, Fire, Decay

Once your house is properly painted it is insured against decay. Decay is just as destructive as fire. Paint, to serve its real purpose, must protect—a pleasing effect is only a by-product. Buy your house paint with this thought in mind, then you will think about quality as well as color.

SWP (Sherwin-Williams House Paint)

has in it the staying, weather-resisting properties that give a house protection. It has wonderful covering power, it holds its color and it everlastingly sticks to its job. It is real insurance. It insures protection from the elements; it insures value in your property; it insures beauty and distinction. There is a special Sherwin-Williams product for every surface around the home—Mar-not for floors, Flat-Tone for walls, Porch and Deck Paint for outside floors, etc. Tell us what you want to paint and we will sell you the best for your purpose.

Labor Saving Appliance Hints

By MILDRED NICHOLS Electrical Housekeeping Department Graybar Electric Company

A sunny sky, an up-to-date clothes washer and an ample supply of hot water might at first thought be considered the three indispensable "ingredients" for the perfect washday.

But a sunny sky, though desirable, is not absolutely necessary in these days of overhead dryers, electric dryers and other efficient methods of drying clothes without Old Sol.

The electric washer, however, is rapidly coming to be considered indispensable by the modern woman who realizes the inefficiency of wearing out both herself and the clothes uselessly.

And it's this same clothes washer that makes it possible to wash effectively without the third "ingredient"—hot water.

Of course, the quickest and best results can be obtained with a hot or warm solution, but a surprisingly satisfactory wash can be done with cold water in the electric washer.

In many homes the heating of the wash water and consequent carrying of it to the washer is the hardest work of washday. And on a hot summer Monday the building of fires, or even the mere working with hot, steaming water, is an unnecessary torture.

Just put the clothes in the washer (you don't even need to soak them, as there is no danger of setting stains) and cover with cold water. And right here don't make the mistake of carrying the water by pailfuls from the cold water supply to the washer. Use a length of common garden hose, even if you have to use twenty feet of it.

After putting in the water, add your favorite soap or soap flakes which have been dissolved in hot water. You do need enough hot water to dissolve the soap, but in every home there is some arrangement by which a pint of water can be heated without undue effort. And, of course, you still use the same amount of water softener that you've always found necessary in your particular vicinity.

Let the washer run from five to ten minutes longer than you would if you were using warm wash water. Drain off the wash water and put in fresh cold water for your first rinse. Rinse right in the washer, running the machine for about five minutes. The action of the washer will help rinse the soap, which is naturally loosened more quickly by hot water.

Drain out this first rinse and put in a second lot of fresh cold water. Run the machine a minute or two. The bluing may be put in this last rinse or one of the new preparations, which is combined with the soap in the first washing, will be found very effective.

When washing the second and third lots of clothes which are generally more soiled, a stronger soap can be used to insure quicker results. And it is advisable to rub the very dirtiest spots with soap before putting them in the washer.

But there is nothing new or extraordinary about cold water washing. It is being done by thousands of women. Especially in foreign countries, where washing by the running stream is still the only way of freshening-up the family linens.

There are two disagreeable features of this old but effective cold water method—the back-breaking position and the plunging of the hands in cold water—disappear, of course, with the use of the modern electric clothes washer.

The directors of the Country Club will hold their monthly meeting tonight, preceded by a supper. The evening will be devoted to an informal dance open to Country Club members and friends. This dance is one of the series which started so successfully last week.

Gen. and Mrs. H. M. Lord, Mrs. Ruth Van Rensselaer and Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Wright composed a party which dined at Wessawesque Inn Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Webster were guests at the Thorndike last night enroute to Quana, Va., after a visit in this section.

Miss Nellie B. Webster of Chelsea, Mass. and Mrs. Harry Ingalls of Old Town are guests of their brother, City Marshal H. Webster.

Mrs. Charles Proctor and daughter, Virginia, have returned from a month's stay in Hyannis, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Capman and son Donald of Worcester, Mass. and Mrs. Callamore are visiting at W. N. Benner, Jr.'s, Old County road.

F. W. Skinner of Portland, who has been the guest of his mother, Mrs. Amelia McIntosh the past week returned home Sunday.

Mrs. Jennie Pettie and daughter Bessie of Chelsea, Mass., are visiting Mrs. Pettie's nieces, Mrs. Bessie Hillbrook and Mrs. Alton W. Richards, Bay View square.

Mrs. Louise Jenis of St. Louis is a guest at The Thorndike Hotel.

Postcards have been received in the city conveying the information that Mrs. H. A. Bain of Riverside accompanied by her niece Miss Margaret Snow, is enjoying an automobile trip of several hundred miles into the upper regions of California, penetrating as far as Eureka in Humboldt county and perhaps beyond.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Burpee are on a trip to Bethel.

A charming hostess the popular secretary of the Woman's Educational Club again proved herself when the club held a picnic at Mrs. Winnie Horton's pleasant Cedar street home last Friday. All enjoyed it for the friendly spirit which was in marked contrast to the lowly skies without. Josephine Burns and Mabel Harding favored the club with pleasing instrumental and vocal music, selected readings were given, conundrums propounded, anecdotes related, while profitable and thought provoking discussions occupied the time both before and after the cozy picnic lunch, presided over by Mrs. Ida Simmons in the flower-bedecked dining room, the table center-piece being ornamented by the gay red cherries from the fruit trees of the hostess. Several of Dr. S. Parkes Cadman's "Every Day questions" as published in the press, received thoughtful attention, such as "What should be the true policy of labor unions?" Before we were married my husband took notice what I said. But what shall I do now it is different? "I am so commonplace it humiliates me. How can I become clever? How can I make myself more interesting to others?" "What is your opinion of a girl in her thirties who entertains in her apartment a man she knows is married and allows him a key to her home?" "Is there such a thing as luck?" "Should military training for boys be encouraged?" "Why is Morality among Bachelors double that of married men, if marriage is such a failure?" Along this line "Is Marriage a Failure," a special reading by Josephine Burns was much enjoyed, as were others by the club's second vice president and elocutionist, Nettie Stewart.

C. Bigelow Healey of Marlboro, Mass. is in the city on his annual vacation.

Miss Bessie Hall writes from 1015 Alameda Drive, Portland, Ore., that her mother, Mrs. J. Weston Hall, who broke one of her hips recently, has so far improved that she is able to sit up in her chair.

Miss Cora J. Loring of Haverhill, Mass., formerly of Rockland, is now at 6 East street, Ipswich, Mass.

The masquers were Prince Sprout and Mack Douglas, who had as guest Teddy Douglas.

A DINNER PARTY
Marked 45th Wedding Anniversary Of Mr. and Mrs. George Green.

Forty-five years ago George Green of South Thomaston came all the way from California to marry Kate Spaulding. The anniversary was celebrated yesterday with a family dinner party at Wessawesque and the couple received many felicitations during the day.

Mr. Green came from a far country. He is a Scotchman, and like most Scotchmen who came to this country in the early Seventies, he was wedded to the granite industry. He located first in Quincy, Mass., then had his fling at the West Coast and finally came back from California to locate in South Thomaston. Much of the time he was in business for himself.

Mr. Green's career would be an interesting tale running parallel to the granite industry when it was at its best. He superintended the granite construction on the Congressional Library; he furnished stone for the chances to the west front of the National Capitol and the Quebec Bridge. This is his big job as superintendent of granite construction on the Hill-Harriman joint rapid bridge across the Columbia River in the State of Washington.

He retired about 15 years ago, but he has never lost his interest in the granite business, nor his faith that the granite sheds of the East would again come to their own.

The Greens have three daughters—Mrs. Lizette Rollins, who makes her home with her parents; Mrs. (Lieut.) Richard Prince, Hodson of New London, Conn., and Mrs. Scott F. Kittredge of Freeport, N. Y.

Watch Your Breakfast

Eat food that supplies "balanced" ration after night's fast

HOW you feel all morning depends largely on what you eat for breakfast. Thousands have energetic forenoons because of wrong breakfast eating.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is hurried, often badly chosen.

Thus Quaker Oats, containing 16% protein, food's great tissue builder; 58% carbohydrate, its great energy element, plus all-important vitamins and the "bulk" that makes laxatives seldom needed, is the dietetic urge of the world today.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning.

Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers you. Get Quaker Oats today. Grocers have two kinds: Quick Quaker, which cooks in 3 to 5 minutes, and Quaker Oats.

VISITED "WAYSIDE INN"

F. S. Philbrick Describes Historic Structure Where Washington Stopped, And Plays His Violin Before An Invisible Audience.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:— I returned recently from a visit to the famous Wayside Inn, located in the town of Sudbury, Mass., on the old stage coach road from Boston to New York. The stage marker in front of it says: "Washington stopped at this Inn on his way to Cambridge to take command of the Army."

The original sign still swings from its iron rod, and the dates on it read 1633-1634-1796-1830. Four generations of the Howe family have been the proprietors, or landlords of the Inn. Each date tells the beginning of that generation's tavern life. This sign does not read "Wayside Inn." It was then called "The Red Horse Tavern" to distinguish it from a similar tavern at Marlborough, Mass., called the "Black Horse Tavern." It probably gets its present name from Longfellow's poem, "Tales of a Wayside Inn."

In writing about a subject like this it is difficult to decide what the say, and what to leave out. Our heart had rotted away leaving only an outer shell, and when the decayed wood had been all removed workmen stood together in the cavity. I was told. Iron rods were then put through the shell from outside to the opposite side with a turnbuckle attachment—several of these in various directions and at different heights, adjusted to the proper tension. Then the cavity was filled with a mixture resembling cement or concrete. Some of those rods measured eight feet or more in length—so the tree really is a giant oak, more than eight feet in diameter.

..... We next visited the gardens. They looked fine, flowers and vegetables, both. The gardeners and superintendents showed us every courtesy and attention possible. Our visit to the barn, across the road, showed two yoke of seven-foot work oxen, and several fine work horses; also a nautical stage coach, wood sleds more ancient, and sleighs. The coach horse contains two stage coaches, both hung on leather thoroughbraces instead of modern springs. In one of these coaches Daniel Webster and Lafayette rode in 1825, to the dedication of Bunker Hill Monument. The name of the coach is "Governor Eustice." The other coach looks equally ancient, but I did not have time to learn its history. The old stone mill, I view from afar, but was told it had been "restored and would grind grist" just as the first old mill that stood there did, with its overshot water wheel for power.

..... Some idea of the amount of travel past the place in summer may be had from the fact that one of the workmen told me they often had to wait from five to ten minutes, trying to get across from the barn to the house safely—two lines of autos going in opposite directions at 30 miles per hour. There was no traffic officer at that point. I Mr. Ford proposes to move the road, or rather build a new highway, on his own land, at his own expense, as good as the state road, but it will pass the Inn some rods to one side, thus making it more quiet and avoiding the public road passing between the barn and Inn. He has bought enough land, both ways from the Inn, so now no peanut stands—filling stations, or bill boards can locate within half a mile, or more, from the Inn. But he will maintain a private road from the State road into his place—that will be as free to the public, or the visiting public, as the one that now passes directly by, as I was told.

..... We next went into the tavern, or "Wayside Inn." The bar-room is the first room, on the right from the hallway which runs from front to the back. This room (like all others that we entered) is furnished exactly today as on the day Washington was there—some original, some restored, some reproduced with furniture, arms, and utensils—too many and varied to describe in detail here. The room next is the tap-room, some six feet square, where the bottles of liquor were kept, and where the person stood who drew the corks before serving. Apparently the corkscrew used was no puny affair as a place on the board partition is eaten entirely away for a space of about four inches wide and fourteen inches long where the thing was stuck up (instead of laid down) after each bottle was opened. Besides, as the central part of the board was worn away, there are thousand upon thousand of imprints of the corkscrew above, below and at the right and left of the eaten away spot, covering a space as large as a sugar barrel head. Perhaps that implement was driven or stuck up there many million times. It indeed looks so. The breakfast room, with its table laid with pewter dishes and set about with chairs of "ye olden times" design. The kitchen with its wide fireplace, "deacon's seat," crane pots and kettles, table with a huge wooden mixing bowl, and about everything needed in an ancient, or even a modern kitchen. But these are all ancient utensils and a modern cook could hardly guess the uses of some of them, much less use them. The Lafayette bedroom, with its trunk bed, the same wall paper that was on when he occupied it—put on in squares about 14 or 15 inches square—instead of strips like today.

..... Just off this room, and entered from it, is a very small room, said to have been occupied by Lafayette's valet. The Washington room has a canopy top bedstead—period of 1740, a highboy; today it would be called a chifonier, most likely, and two cradles, very rough and ancient looking, one of them hand-carved in splendid design; the other about as rough as could be made.

..... The parlor was in the period of 1710. The old original "grandfather's clock" still stands in one corner. The desk lamp and desk Daniel Webster used in the U. S. Senate, a bedstead and other ancient things are also seen here. All the beds appeared to be ready dressed for use. A real "toddly table" is included among the furnishings.

..... Longfellow's room contains a very heavy mahogany bedstead, with wide solid, one-piece head and foot boards, some 16 inches wide. The posts are about five inches in diameter, and the highboy is of curly maple. One room, Mr. Ford reserves exclusively for Thomas Edison, although he seldom occupies it. This is furnished as of the time of his birth. There are 16 big fireplaces, each with its tongs, shovel, poker, bellows and mantle shelf, whereon are candle-sticks, snuffers and tray to hold the snuffers. This is not intended as a correct history of the place, an amateur might justly object, but as we saw it, in a somewhat hasty visit, it is certainly worth at least a day's time to visit it.

..... The attendants we found were mostly ladies—young, courteous, fully versed in the history of the place and its contents, and ready to tell that history to any and all, impartially, and as charming and beautiful as they were courteous. I took along a violin and went up into the ballroom and amused myself by playing—all by our lonesome—"Turkey in the Straw," "Irish Washerwoman," and a few other old tunes. Later we were told we had an invisible audience at the foot of the stairs in the room below. We were presented with a large and beautiful bouquet, and a book, by two of the young lady attendants. It seemed to be a special gift, as I saw no other visitors receiving bouquets. These young ladies were strangers to us when we entered the place, but we could now give their names, to some serious minded and worthy young man who is looking for a first-class prize.

QUARRY AND KILN

Bulletin Tells Of Summer Activities In The Big Industry.

Gregory
An addition is being built onto the eastern side of the shed opposite the pulverizing plant. This will increase the storage room a great deal.

Quarries
George Ulmer was injured this week while trying to let a car of rock down by the dump stage. The brake clog let go and he was thrown from the car striking on his arm and bruising it.

A new motor has been installed at Crockett No. 3 quarry. Ernest Benner has been transferred from Crockett No. 3 to Cobb No. 1 and is in charge of the crew. A night crew has been started at the crusher to take care of the chips furnished by Roy Kallouch and his steam shovel. The crew consists of Bob Butler, Louis Feyler, Alno Kojander, Gabriel and Aleck Winchenbach.

An after cooler for the compressor has been ordered through Livingston Mfg. Co. which, it is claimed, will take out 95 per cent of the moisture from the air used for drilling. Two air receivers will also be installed on the air line about 500 feet each side of compressor to take care of the remaining moisture.

Point Kilns
Joseph Kallouch has left the cooper shop and gone to Mechanic's Falls to make apple barrels. The schooner Progress arrived last week with 259,533 staves on board.

Ernest Thompson fell backwards on the hearth one day last week and barely escaped injury. He is now wearing padded pants for protection.

Gas Kilns
John Lane has left the employ of the company and is planning to try farming for a change. He has moved his family to Ingraham's Hill. Fred Tabbutt left Wednesday for a two weeks' vacation. He is spending his time in Harrington, with relatives.

No. 6 kiln started up Saturday. This puts all six kilns in operation.

Rockport
A post card has been received from Martin Thompson, who is at present located in Shanghai, China. He states that he is having a fine time and wishes to be remembered to the boys.

William Price is taking a week's vacation from his duties at the cooper shop. Everett Hendricks has been transferred from this department to No. 1 kiln at the point.

Aden Payson has bought a farm at Melvin Heights and expects to move his family there shortly. Harry Rogers, an old time trimmer, has been working here this week.

By-Products
The point and five kilns are burning Hardrock for the present.

Hydrate Mill
The forms are in for the foundation of the new pulverizer. A new chute has been built for use in loading lime into the cars.

Five Kilns
Eugene Dyer left July 1 and has gone to Portland to work. Alfred Davis is taking his place on No. 3 kiln. Billy Brann has taken A. Davis' place on No. 1 kiln. No. 4 kiln has gone out for repairs.

John Nystrom is now working at the five kilns on No. 4.

WILL NEVER UNITE

Judge Riddell, a Samoset Guest, Sees No Union Of Canada and United States.

Judge William P. Riddell, chief justice of the appellate division of the Supreme Court of the Province of Ontario, who is again spending the summer at the Samoset, was recently a visitor in Portland.

Asked his opinion as to the probable outcome of foreign debt settlement, the justice declared that it was entirely "out of his line," and that he did not feel qualified to express an opinion. "I do feel, however," he said, "that the only solution of the problem is for the nations who owe to pay their debts. Further than that I do not feel qualified to say."

"Do you believe that the United States and Canada will ever unite?" he was asked. "Absolutely impossible!" The reply came without hesitation. "We are separate nations. We are distinct from England. We have our own 'king'—our own government, our own tariff, and everything that makes us a nation by ourselves. Canada and the United States will never unite."

Maine is the most beautiful State that Judge Riddell has ever visited, according to his statement, this morning. "We have been coming to Maine for 10 weeks each summer since 1907. Mrs. Riddell and I, so that we feel that we know something about the State. At the present time we are living at the Samoset Hotel, near Rockland, but we came to Portland primarily to hear the municipal organ."

Judge Riddell is an honorary graduate of Colby College. He is a native of Ontario, where he received his education. Judge and Mrs. Riddell have enjoyed the friendship of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. K. Curtis for many years and have travelled with them on several occasions in the past.

"EL CRISTO"

Friendship Student Will Have Title Role In Play At Bates Summer School.

El Cristo, one of a group of three one-act plays to be given at the Bates summer school Aug. 5, won the Dalesco Cup Prize at the contest held under the auspices of the National Little Theatre Movement.

Mrs. Harvey, who has charge of the public speaking department of the Bates summer school, was present at this contest held at New York in April. This play caused such a sensation that Mrs. Harvey obtained permission to go back stage during the production and interview the author. She secured a proof copy of the play, together with the permission of the author and the publishers to produce the play, if a group could be found to undertake a play of such fine emotional quality.

After prolonged tryouts which lasted the first part of the summer school, Mrs. Harvey realized the possibilities of the group, and has made arrangements for its production. The play has to do with a group of the Finest Performing Car in America

We want you to drive the car which experts rate highest in America because of its sheer ability to out-perform. This is a Special Demonstration Week for the Hupmobile Eight.

We want you to put it through a real test—to drive it as you like to drive. Only in this way can you realize why this car is up-rooting the old-fashioned idea that mere price or name must necessarily mean prestige. By this test alone can you know why motor car buyers are now sensing the higher prestige of superline performance.

Any attempt to describe the smoothness, the acceleration, the driving ease of this wonderful car, is certain to be futile. You must drive it to realize why experts speak of it as unrivaled in performance by any other car in all the world—with the possible exception of a very costly car of Italian manufacture.

You must drive it to realize why the celebrated motor car manufacturer who came from France to America to inspect our finest factories and our finest cars, thought fit to take back with him for research and emulation only one car—the Hupmobile Eight.

This most amazing demonstration of motor car performance ability is as near as your telephone.

We will gladly send, to your home or your office, a car for you to drive. Or, if you pre-of Mexican Indians in the Los Penitentes section of New Mexico. These Indians indulge in a half barbaric ceremony, near Sante Fe, New Mexico, where they represent the crucifixion of Christ. Just a few years ago one man was killed when the ceremony went to extremes in its representation.

El Cristo, deals with the selection of a young man of the tribe who is to go through the crucifixion scene. He is an idealist and intensely religious. Great is his anguish when he finds that the great honor for him has material as well as spiritual rewards.

Special scenery is to be provided to make this production realistic and typical of the country where the scene is laid. Mrs. Gladys Carroll is already well known to local audiences for her work in former Bates productions which include "The Monkey's Paw" and "Riders To The Sea."
