FINANCING THE HOSPITAL

The finance committee of the Knox County General Hospital has given much study to the conditions grouped about the financial side of the institution's activities, as they present themselves in its work of relief to the community served. There are liabilities to be dealt with, against which there stand accounts unpaid by patients, bills which if liquidated would meet every liability and leave a handsome sum in treasury. A chief proportion of these accounts is the outgrowth of what is loosely designated as charity cases—that is, the patients are taken on under conditions largely of emergency, the after reading of which discloses but small expectation of payment; frequently none at all.

Two phases of a plan the committee has decided upon. One relates to a systematic drive for the securing of whatever may be possible from these frozen accounts. The second will see the field organized for the creation of what shall be known as a Charity Fund, county-wide in its application, for the meeting of contingencies arising out of such cases as above glanced at. The contributions to this fund shall be yearly and none will be asked to give to it an amount greater than can be easily spared from the family budget. This is merely to suggest what the committee has in hand to present to the public in full detail, in a future issue of this paper—a plan, the committee believes, easy to make practical and that will be approved and supported by the community.

HE WANTED A LOAN

One of the great figures in American newspaper history, as he is described by his contemporaries, has recently passed off the stage in the death of Chester H. Lord of the New York Sun, who was its managing editor, in the days of Charles A. Dana when the Sun was recognized as the best written newspaper in the country. Many stories of his life and achievements are being narrated. There is one that may be designated as associational.

On a summer midnight (this was some years ago) there came a thundering alarm upon the street door, the noise continuing until the night-robed writer of this present narrative, thus violently summoned from his slumber, leaned out of window (like Barbara Fritschle) and addressed a gentleman standing upon the doorstep below.

"Good evening"—meaning midnight—was the cordial response. "This is Chester H. Lord of the New York Sun, just passing through your city and temporarily in need of funds—twenty-five dollars, let us say—and I come to you as a fellow newspaper man for the trifling loan, which naturally you will be glad to advance me."

The situation was eloquent with embarrassment. There, holding in speech one somewhat diaphanously clad, was one of the best known men of his craft, faultlessly dressed, of engaging speech, and in need of funds, as might occur with any New Yorker on a summer trip to Maine. Over the window arrangements were quickly entered into for the ensuing morning. The caller departed. The citizen returned to his slumber. When he reported at the hotel early next day nobody to qualify as his midnight visitor was to be found. Who he was, the real Chester H. Lord was not able to discover. But it was no new thing, he admitted, for New York editors to have their names thus made use of.

AS TO THE SEAGULL

This arraignment of the seagull is not without elements of gravity which it is possible to believe may end in the withdrawal of that legal protection which some years ago was written into the statute books. Previous to that time the bird had been an outlaw, with every man's gun against him. His picturesqueness as a graceful creature of the air and a utilitarian value in the line of scavenging, made for him friends in the courts of legislation. Thereafter you shot him under peril of statutory law. But there are other sides to the seagull which the poet, recording his graceful passages of the air, does not exploit. The fishermen and the yachtsmen have views upon which they enlarge; also the farmer, whose fertilized lands and crops suffer from the visitation of the flocks with what the poet Aldrich called their petulant cry; these value the bird from other angles. We should judge that Commissioner Crie had something of a business in hand to effect a popular conclusion of the matter. Our own view is that public opinion will favor withdrawal of the protection now given the seagull by the laws.

NOTICING

Have any of this paper's readers, gifted with the noticing faculty, noticed—

THAT the book you're wanting at the Public Library seems to be the book that everybody else is wanting at the same time.

THAT the way the Chisox go on winning games in the Big Five League has brought forward the suggestion that they be given a handicap, like golfers at the Country Club.

THAT only a few know that that fine piece of carved work above the Snow Marine Co. store was once the figure-head of the battleship Sabine that took part in the War of 1812.

THAT there is a great deal of speeding done by motorists along Old County road, known as The Highlands, causing much fear to householders, as there are many small children in this section.

THAT roller skating fans are counting the days till the reopening of the Spanish Villa rink.

THAT almost everybody is cheerfully abiding by the code, but that not everybody can define it.

THAT it is about time to hear if Charlie Richardson, Cros Hobbs, or someone else is going to be the new U. S. Marshal.

THAT the new tennis court on the high school grounds has served to increase the popularity of that splendid outdoor game in Rockland.

THAT the road through Waldoboro is now a fine stretch of highway, but that eventually a cement surface will vastly improve it.

THAT while this is not a political year the June primaries are only ten months away, which is close enough. THAT the construction of twenty-one new warships will mean lots of trials for the Rockland course in 1934 and 1935.

THAT there now remain less than four weeks of Twilight League baseball, and fans should not miss this good sport.

THAT the ladies of our city for the chief part seem shy of the game of golf, which is surprising, considering what a good thing it is for the figner.

THAT what the people would like to have in the place of the diaphone is a fire alarm that will announce in words the location of the blaze, instead of making you count the blasts at night and forgetting what they stand for.

THAT golden glows are now being added to the season's attractive colorings.

THAT the well for Rockland's first self-service elevator is being dug in her first five-story apartment building, the old Courier-Gazette block at the Brook.

THAT some persons like to hear that 9.45 p. m. locomotive whistling while others wonder if half of it wouldn't answer just as well.

THAT the folks in the rumble seat try to appear as though they were enjoying it, but the public continues to be skeptical.

THAT the fishermen angling for smelts off Glover wharf declare that they're by no means so plentiful as they used to be a few years ago.

THAT citizens who give thought to such matters continue to hope that slow-down signs may be set up at that dangerous Sherer's Corner.

THAT when it comes to red barns Southend folks call attention to one they have, on Mechanic street.

THAT Rear Admiral Nerney who has just died was originator of the custom which Rockland observes each Memorial Day of strewing flowers on the harbor waters.

THAT however well you know a thing, when a question about it is suddenly plumped at you, your mind registers a total blank.

THAT a diaphone contest, White Head and Rockland, might appeal to the sporting population, our own people being confident that Rockland's can outblat any diaphone on the coast.

THAT new phlox is much in the picture, just take a run up Middle street and see the purple manifestation of it in the always attractive gardens of the Misses Burpee.

A REAL LEAGUE RACE

St. George, Rockland and Thomaston Are Closely Bunched For Lead In Twilight League

SAFE AT THIRD

He'd stolen third, Jim Casey had. He'd pared his hip extremely bad. One eye had jiggled out of place. The baseman's shoes had spiked his face. And by a bunk with Shortstop Quinn His abdomen had been stove in; And yet, while surgeons bated his head— "The man is safe," the umpire said.

Balance Of The Week

Thursday—Camden vs. Thomaston at Community Park.
Friday—St. George at Waldoboro.
Saturday—Thomaston at Camden.

The League Standing

St. George is leading Rockland by only half a game and Thomaston is only half a game behind Rockland, so it looks as though the second half of the season would provide a real race, after all. The standing:

Table with columns: Team, W, L, P.C. St. George: 5, 2, .714; Rockland: 4, 2, .666; Thomaston: 3, 2, .600; Waldoboro: 1, 3, .250; Camden: 0, 4, .000

Thomaston 3, St. George 0

The Twilight League champions were blanked on their own diamond Tuesday night, that rare feat being performed by Douglas Walker, aided and abetted by a smooth-running Thomaston machine which showed an enthusiasm and pep calculated to encourage any pitcher.

Walker was in top form and shot the ball across the plate as if it had been a bullet out of a gun. He had an excellent partner on the receiving end in the person of Merender, one of the two recruits from the Nutmeg State, who also distinguished himself at the bat by making three singles in a row. He made one of Thomaston's three scores, and the other two were made by his fellow Nutmegian, Ray.

Going back to the subject of pitching nobody should feel offended if the writer calls Walker's work about the best sample that has been seen in this league the present summer. Westberg was on the slab for St. George doing his best to stop Thomaston's oner, but he was in trouble in all but two innings, and the good work of the St. George team kept the score down.

The shut-out was menaced in the last inning when Hall dropped Walker's throw and men reached second and third. Walker howl "em just a bit faster after that, and Ivan Simmons fanned for the third out.

Thomaston's first score came about in a curious manner. Ray walked. Walker bunted, and in the attempt to nab him at second both men were safe. Merender laid down a bunt, which three men started for, and nobody got. The ball rolled provokingly into the outfield and Ray scored. The other two runs were made on Ray's walk, Walker's sacrifice, Merender's single and L. Sawyer's double.

Ed. Grafton, one of the league's best batters had hard luck in this game, but made up for it by four beautiful catches; a situation which found its duplicate in M. Simmons' work.

Score for Thomaston: Grafton, If 4 0 0 0 4 0 0 0; M. Sawyer, rf 4 0 1 2 0 0 0 3; Hall, lb 4 0 1 1 8 0 1 9; Ray, cf 2 2 0 0 1 0 0 0; Merender, c 4 1 3 3 9 0 0 9; Walker, p 3 0 1 1 0 0 0 0; L. Sawyer, ss 4 0 2 3 2 1 0 0; Fr. 2b 4 0 1 1 0 0 0 0; Crowell, 3b 3 0 0 0 0 0 0 0.

Rockland 2, Waldoboro 1. Muffed flies, wild heaves and fantastic baserunning furnished a suggestion of the old Alderbrush League days, but these mishaps were few and far between, and did not detract too much from a very interesting game, which ended entirely to the satisfaction of the Texacos.

For a second time within a week that popular Augusta hurler, Merrill, had the upper hands of Waldoboro. Sukeforth, the ex-Brooklynite being the only visitor to get a real honest to goodness hit off him. Praise must also be given the Waldoboro pitcher, Anderson, who held Rockland to five singles. It was certainly a well pitched game.

A pair of errors and Stewart's timely single gave Rockland a score in the first inning, while a dropped throw at first base and Merrill's single provided the other. Literally and figuratively Merrill won his own game.

A wild throw by Flanagan, on top of Sukeforth's double, furnished the only Waldoboro score. While things were looking bad for the home team last night one man stood firm through it all, and his name was Ogier. The new captain of the Texacos made seven fine assists. Keirst handled first sack in fine style.

Two-base hit, Sukeforth. Base on balls, off Anderson 1. Struck out, by Merrill 5, by Anderson 5. Sacrifices, Freeman, Flanagan. Double play, Gatti, Charles and Keirst. Umpires, Williams and Frye. Scorer, Winslow.

The St. George management announces these coming games: Aug. 12—Waterville at St. George (rubber game) 3 p. m. Aug. 19—Togus at St. George, 3:30 p. m.

Aug. 20—St. George at Togus. Aug. 23—Augusta Millionaires at St. George (rubber game) 3 p. m.

In St. George last night the Augusta Millionaires defeated the locals 7 to 6. Ricker was forced from the box early in the game.

Raft comes here, posing as an American crook, and, after outwitting Brook and Miss Vinson on several attempts, gets himself accepted as a member of the ring. His plans go awry when he finds himself falling in love with the girl, however, and the developments from that time on are highly dramatic. WEATHER

This early morning's story deals briefly with amethystine skies, no vestige of even the wisps of clouds and the wind so gentle in its mind as scarcely to be able to show by the Baptist vane that there is any wind blowing at all. A day, you would say at once, to be dedicated to picnics and every sort of excursion-and recommended for that purpose by the Weatherman, who observes that August is nearly half gone from his calendar page. Astronomers say that tonight and nights following will occur the annual showers of Perseid meteors, little fellers but worth seeing. Early temperature 65 and rising.

Other Talk of the Town on Page 7.

The Oklahoma Indian team will play at Knox Sunday, and with it will be Jim Thorpe of Olympic sports fame.

It seems to have been a short summer at Knox Trotting Park. The shutters are up again on the grandstand.

Mrs. Alexander Browne will be in charge of the supper at the Undercroft of St. Peter's church Saturday, from 5 to 7.

Eminent Sir Arthur F. Wisner has been elected treasurer of Claremont Commandery, K. T., in place of George W. Smith, deceased.

The Pirate and Sniper game will be played tomorrow night at 6 p. m. at Community Park. The Pirates invade South Thomaston Sunday.

The Waterville ball team which defeated St. George 2 to 0 in Waterville Sunday, plays a return game at the Martinsville grounds Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The No. 1 team from Perry's Market defeated a Rockport team in Rockport Monday night 13 to 12. Bill Foster, the Marketeer pitcher was possessed of his own cunning.

Elliot Brewer has sold two lots on South street to Mrs. Pearl P. (Messenger) Adibahr of Malden and Mrs. Millie H. Stevens of Rockland, who will each erect a bungalow there.

Leslie W. Burns, a former Knox County boy, is now located in Detroit, Mich. 'I enjoy reading your paper very much; it reminds me of my childhood days,' he writes.

Sergeant Karl Black of the U. S. Army Signal Corps, stationed in Washington, is home on a month's furlough 30 days of which will be devoted to talking 'short wave' with Ken White.

The August meeting of the Past Grands and Past Noble Grands Association of Knox and Lincoln Counties will take place Wednesday, Aug. 16, at Community Sweet Shop, with supper at 6.30.

When jurors are drawn for the November term of Superior Court Clerk Griffin will issue 20 venire instead of the usual 30, this being in the interest of economy, and because recent sessions have been able to get along with only one jury.

Monday's alarm from Box 29 was for a chimney fire at George Russell's house on Bellevue street. Word reached Central Fire Station that the house was ablaze, but after laying 1200 feet of hose the firemen found that somebody had been unduly excited.

After the dance and after the show happy people always go to Sim's Shop, Park St., member N.R.A.-adv.

Awning will have to be much higher immediately. We have several bolts of high grade cloth, bought on the low market, we will sell at the old bottom prices if ordered at once. Buy now for the hot days of August and September and for next year. Terms cash. Rockland Awning Co. Phone 1362-W, 16 Willow St. 94-96

An ardent baseball fan and loyal supporter of his home team is Patrolman E. U. Price, who as usual, is devoting his annual vacation to pursuit of the Twilight League games.

Wiley Post, aviation hero is to fly from Portland to Bangor one week from Saturday, and it's a cinch he will touch at the Rockland Airport. And here's hoping that Mayor Richardson doesn't forget his last name.

'It was a great many years ago,' said Capt. Charles W. Jenkins in The Courier-Gazette office the other day, 'but I can distinctly remember when James Paul of Rockport drove through that town a circus band wagon drawn by 40 horses. Messrs. Berry and Churchill of Rockport also witnessed that thrilling spectacle.' Perhaps there were others; if so let's hear something more about it.

An invitation is extended to all local flower growers and garden devotees to exhibit in the annual flower show of the Rockland Garden Club, to take place Thursday, Aug. 24, at the Universalist vestry. Specifications were shown in detail in Tuesday's issue, and while these will be strictly adhered to, the show will by no means be in a professional class. It will be for amateur gardeners, and a generous response is hoped for. Anyone wishing special information is asked to communicate with Mrs. Arthur F. Lamb; tel. 302.

GOVERNOR TO SPEAK

Gov. Louis J. Brann is to speak at the field meeting of Limerock Valley Pomona Grange at Penobscot View Grange hall, Glen Cove, Saturday. Music by the Wessaweske Grange Band. The meeting will commence at 10 a. m. Take picnic lunch and coffee cups. Coffee will be served free; Gov. Brann will speak; also officers of Maine State Grange. All Grange members and friends are invited.

Rev. Dr. Cornelius Greenway, who is summing in St. George, and who has a national reputation as a photographer, was a delighted man Tuesday when the mail brought him a splendid photo of President Roosevelt seated at his White House desk. In addition to autographing it, President Roosevelt wrote the concluding words of his last radio address-'In a new spirit of the American future.' And was delighted himself from a crippled condition into a most active incumbent of the Presidential chair that Dr. Greenway drew the text of his sermon at the Methodist Church last Sunday morning, advising Rockland business men to gather new courage in time of depression.

President Carl R. Gray of the Union Pacific Railroad, who is spending a few days at his summer home 'Gray Rocks' in Cushing was a visitor in the city Tuesday. He sees in current conditions an encouraging sign of industrial and business recovery, while admitting that the country is passing through a great national experiment. He expressed interest when informed in the course of local gossip that the government might repeal its present protection for seagulls. 'Those are the chaps that steal my blueberries,' said the railroad magnate smilingly. President Gray presents his usual picture of vigorous health and is deriving his usual enjoyment of the Maine seacoast despite numerous committee calls. He goes Sunday to New York and is uncertain whether he will be able to resume his Maine vacation.

A Northend correspondent writes: 'If one enjoys seeing fine looking vegetable and flower gardens he should view the premises of Mrs. Mary E. Messer. Mrs. Nellie Bird and Chauncey Keene also have small gardens on the same lot and scrupulously guarded against weeds. Beans, cucumbers, lettuce, beets, carrots, etc. are flourishing under constant and vigilant care. Nasturtiums, hollyhocks, snapdragons, dahlias, etc. are in each bed, besides marigolds or calendulas (we like the old-fashioned name) and in a small bed, some large golden yellow French or African marigolds, which reflect the gold of the sunlight.'

The concert at the Eastern Music Camp, Lake Messalonskee, Sunday afternoon at 3.30 will have Paul White, conductor and violinist from the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y., conducting the orchestra in a program of American compositions which will include two of his own works - Overture, 'Youth,' and Three Miniatures - Waltz for Teenie's Doll, Hippo Dance and Mosquito Dance. Louis Cornell, musical director of the Camp, and of the faculty of the New England Conservatory of Music, will play the first movement of the brilliant Schumann Concerto for Piano and Orchestra. Tulsa, Oklahoma, contributes to the program two well-known residents who have adopted Maine as their summer home. George Oscar Bowen, director of music in Tulsa, will be guest conductor of the Camp chorus, and Mrs. Bowen, better known to the musical public as Dorothy Naylor Bowen, pianist, will be featured with the band in Kettleby's novelty number, 'The Clock and the Dresden Figures.'

Hello friends out of State. Don't forget Sim's lobster sandwiches when in Rockland, Park St. (N.R.A.)-adv.

Amour & Co., through the Institute of American Meat Packers of which they are a member, have signed the President's re-employment agreement and the certificate of compliance, and in return have been given the N.R.A. insignia and placed on the honor roll.
St. George folks who had the privilege of being present, are speaking in happy terms of the party given at Rev. Cornelius Greenway's summer home at Long Cove Monday night, when some 40 guests were entertained by his illustrated story of autograph and photograph collecting.
Charles M. Lawry writes: 'Coming home from Westbrook via Lewiston and Augusta Sunday night I met 19 cars on each of which only one headlight was burning. How many motorists have noticed how accommodating and polite the attendants are at the filling stations along the road? The matter of adding three feet to either side of the Gray road will be a great help. I saw a car forced off the edge Sunday. There is a drop of about four inches from the cement to the gravel and it is very dangerous at the rate of speed traveled on this road.'
As Mrs. Helen Chapman, matron of Golden Rod Chapter, O. E. S., is to be away from home about 10 days, all business pertaining to the chapter should be transacted with Mrs. Maude Blodgett, associate matron. Her telephone call is 28.
The Maine Cannery's Association held a special meeting at The Thorndike yesterday and coincident with that session there was a gathering of the blueberry packers, the total attendance being around 75. Henry B. Bird, president of the Maine Cannery's Association, was in the chair. Uppermost in the day's discussion was the matter of code procedure. A report of the committee sent to the National Cannery's meeting in Washington was presented by John Baxter of Brunswick. The Maine cannery men are awaiting the action of the national organization and upon receipt of that information will hasten to comply with President Roosevelt's desires. It will require some time to work the matter out, as the cannery men have many problems which are not to be found in other industries-one of these being that the canning season of a certain product would differ as to time according to the locality in which that article is grown.
Officers and seamen from H.M.S. Danae, which has been at Bar Harbor, have been renewing acquaintance in this city where that ship recently made a week's stay. Several of them were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Brewer, Spring street.

Here's One Good Way To END AGONY OF NEURITIS

Newark Man Knows How and Loses 10 Pounds. "Gentlemen: I used Kruschen Salts to try and get rid of Neuritis from which I had suffered for one year in my left shoulder and arm. I took a little of the salts in the morning, sometimes in my coffee, other times in water. I would also occasionally take a dose in water at night before retiring. For 3 months I used the salts and while I lost 10 pounds in weight, the pain in my shoulder HAS ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED. During the time I was taking the salts I received no other medical treatment so I am fully convinced the Kruschen Salts did the trick." C. K. Murray, Newark, N. J.

OUR JUNIOR PUZZLE

JUST A GAME Dora is playing a game with some other children. It is something like hide-and-go-seek, only different, as Dora would say. She says she is supposed to run away and hide and then the others will try to find her. They are the "Hounds" and she has forgotten what her name was. If you take a pencil and join all the numbered dots together, starting with dot number one and ending with dot number thirty-eight, you will see a picture of the animal Dora is supposed to be in the game.

WARREN Mrs. Janet Miller of Stoneham, Mass. spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John Cunningham. Alfred, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Luce was taken to Knox Hospital Saturday to receive treatment. Abner Griffin has a new automobile. Justin Ames has had a fine bathroom outfit installed the past week. The work was done by the Norwood brothers of Warren. Mrs. Ellie Ingraham of West Rockport was calling on friends here recently. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Norton of Manchester were recent guests of W. J. Bryant. Mrs. Mildred Brown and daughter Pauline of Stoneham, Mass. were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Cunningham. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Campbell who have employment in Massachusetts are staying for a time at their farm here and friends are delighted to see them again. Mrs. Campbell while living here was always interested in the A. L. and Auxiliary and has been much missed. Roland Sayward and family of Massachusetts are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Sayward. The annual picnic of the Methodist Sunday school will be held at Sandy Shores, South Pond, Warren, Aug. 15. Transportation will be furnished all who have no other way of getting there. Sandy Shores is a delightful place and it is earnestly hoped everyone who can will attend. Cars will leave the church grounds at 9 a. m. Sunday. Mrs. Mattie Campbell and Mrs. Lora Nash and son Philip of Southboro, Mass., were visitors Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Howard.

Friends of Mrs. Dorothy Howard, who recently underwent an operation at the State Street Hospital, Portland, are pleased to know that she is recovering rapidly and is expected home the last of the week. Mrs. Edith Overock of Washington visited her brother W. G. Howard last week. Philip Creighton is a patient at Knox Hospital. Miss Lena Grinnell who has been closing out the furnishings at her mother's residence, has returned to Portland. Mrs. Nellie Gleason died early Sunday morning. Her aunt, Mrs. Nancy Brown, and Mrs. George Brown of Washington, and whose home had been with her for several years, died within 24 hours of Mrs. Gleason. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

With the Extension Agents - And The - Knox Lincoln Farm Bureau

Agricultural In a recent publication put out by the Maine Department of Agriculture regarding the Maine egg laying contest at Highmoor Farms, a barred rock hen from the Knox-Lincoln district holds one of the records made at the contest during the past three years.

A pen owned by George B. Troadwell of Spencer, Mass., beat the world's record for a pen of Rhode Island Reds in an official contest.

A Barred Rock pullet entered by L. E. Carney of Sheepscot, Maine, laid 131 eggs in as many consecutive days, and a Rhode Island Red pullet owned by R. E. Jones, South China, Maine, laid 126 eggs in that many consecutive days.

A Light Brahma pullet in the pen owned by Mrs. M. M. Clarke of Readfield, Maine, broke the world's record for a hen of this breed in an official contest. She laid 227 eggs that scored 246 points in the 51 weeks.

Application for the contest for 1934 together with rules may be obtained at the Farm Bureau Office, Rockland. The contest will start Oct. 1.

Many Knox-Lincoln County poultrymen are planning to attend the poultry school at Orono, Aug. 14-15.

George Chick, Bureau of Markets, was in the county this week with County Agent Wentworth calling on poultrymen.

A canning demonstration is to be given at the Whitefield Grange hall 130 Tuesday, Aug. 15.

A square meal for health meeting will be held at South Thomaston August 18 at 130 o'clock.

Select firm, ripe tomatoes. Wash well and drain. Cut into sections. Add a small quantity of water to start cooking and simmer until softened.

Extolling the merits of the tomato, Miss Wood says: "No other vegetable gives quite so many kinds of value for the money, and no other is more readily available, in one form or another, in all parts of the country at all times of the year."

INGRAHAM REUNION

Family Tree Again Object of Much Study—Fifty Members Present

The 53d annual reunion of the Ingraham family took place at Penobscot View Grange Hall, Gloucester, last Thursday afternoon with 50 descendants of Job, Joseph, Josiah and Nancy Ingraham present.

After partaking of a bountiful meal the members renewed old friendships, and learned interesting facts about their forebears, among whom was Sir Ingraham who lived in the latter part of the 13th century.

The business meeting was called to order by the president, Frank H. Ingraham, who appointed Chesley Ingraham and Jesse A. Tolman as money collectors.

Miss Jeanette Johnson has arrived home after a visit with her friend Miss Doris Marr at their camp in North Bridport.

Malcolm Upton of Camden is visiting his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Upton.

The 54th reunion on the old Ingraham homestead on Knox Ridge, Thomdike, Maine, now occupied by Isaac Ingraham and family.

The reunion concluded with group singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" and good-byes were said until Aug. 2, 1934.

WE WOMEN MUST KEEP OUR YOUTH

OH, bother the birthday! Staying young is really very simple... if you know your carbohydrates and minerals, your proteins and vitamins. These are the vital elements Nature so generously stores in whole wheat. And you can have them, every one, in delicious golden-brown biscuits... Shredded Wheat.

It's the very food of youth! Just whole wheat with nothing added or taken away. Ready cooked, ready to eat. Yes, ready to serve in many delightful ways... with milk or cream, with fresh or preserved fruit.

Try it tomorrow, and the next day; for you at least ten pleasant meals. Perhaps you'll find, as millions have, that it's youth... by the bowlful!

FISHING IS OLDEST AMERICAN INDUSTRY

Efficiently Protected by Government Bureau.

Washington.—Although jobs are scarce and wages low in many parts of the United States, hundreds of Indians and other local salmon fishermen living along the coast of Alaska feel sure of having more work and better incomes next summer than they have had for years.

This bit of seeming economic magic will flow from a government ruling by the United States commission of fisheries, who has opened up bays and inlets along the Alaskan coast for sealing.

The plan, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society, will not mean the taking of more salmon in Alaskan waters, and may even mean the catching of fewer. But it will shift to a considerable extent the method of capturing the fish from the offshore traps that require the attention of only a few skilled operators...

The obvious need of the local fishermen for some sort of assistance during the present economic conditions was an important factor in the lifting of sealing restrictions by the bureau of fisheries; but the move was possible only because of the building up of the 'runs' of salmon during the past nine years...

Industry Faced Collapse. 'Dictatorships are not novelties in 1933. They were in 1924 when congress gave the bureau dictatorial powers in Alaskan waters...

Another piece of pioneer work in the government laboratories was the demonstration that very quick freezing of fish assured a much better product than ordinary freezing...

By the bureau's regulations since 1924 the situation has been reversed. More fish are getting into the spawning streams; and the salmon industry is again on the upgrade.

In the eastern United States the fishing industry is hoary with age. It was America's first industry, in fact. The bureau of fisheries has found much work to do in keeping its finger on the pulse of conditions that might make or break the industry under high-powered modern methods...

Musical Comedy Coming Aug. 22-23

Over 100 local people will be in the cast of the spectacular musical comedy 'Aren't We All' to be staged in I.O.O.F. hall Aug. 22-23 under Odd Fellow auspices. St. George Lodge. The play has a real plot with a wealth of rollicking comedy and plenty of peppy songs. The dance routines and beautiful costumes are carefully developed as to give the performance the verve and finish of a professional production. Miss Ruth Trask under whose skilled direction the project is fast taking shape, is delighted with the high quality of the members of the cast and predicts for the enterprise an smashing success for the enterprise.

The difficult role of Abner, a country hotel proprietor who carries much of the burden of the plot, is taken by the versatile Vilseckman Fred H. Smalley. The villainous city slicker underling who harasses the genial Abner are Everett Torrey and Howard Monaghan. Maurice Simmons plays the role of the ingenious youthful inventor whose brain child Torrey & Co. plan to steal, and Simmons also provides the love interest through his son for Abner's daughter (Ada Lindbergh are now making a survey of the northern air route to Europe, will be of special and timely interest.

TALK OF THE TOWN

J. A. Jameson Co. has adopted the N.R.A. and under it will operate daily 6.30 to 5.30, Saturdays open until 8.30.

A sale of home cooked food will be held Saturday at the Knox Gift Shop, Montpelier, Thomaston. Tea will be served during the afternoon.

City Solicitor Herbert J. Dudley of Calais was in the city yesterday attending a pauper hearing before M. M. Griffin as auditor. It was a pauper case, in which Rockland was a party.

The model circus built by Ray Stewart will be on exhibition at the Texas Company's booth, Rockport carnival. The circus consists of 24 cars, 35 wagons, 11 tents, and 150 horses.

One week from Saturday night there will be a benefit dance at the Ocean View ballroom opposite Rankin block, all of the proceeds of which will go to Knox Hospital. Stanley Walsh is donating the services of his orchestra.

Members of the class of 1925, R.H.S. are asked to meet at the home of Mrs. E. E. Knight, 17 Frederick street tomorrow afternoon at 1.45 to attend in a body the funeral services for the late Miss Amber Elwell, which take place at the family residence, 14 Spruce street, at 2 o'clock.

Forrest Bancroft of Tenants Harbor was before Judge Dwinial yesterday on two charges of assault and battery, the complainants in which were Helen Fish and Mary Taylor. He pleaded guilty on one charge and was sentenced to 60 days in jail, the sentence being suspended upon payment of costs and with the respondent's promise to quit town. The other case was continued.

Finger print evidence developed by Deputy Sheriff Ludwick soon established Clarence H. Bowser as the person who stole money from the Chinese laundry Monday night. He pleaded guilty and restored $6.25. Bowser was sentenced to South Windam reformatory but was placed on probation. By edict of Judge Dwinial he must report to Deputy Sheriff Ludwick every week for one year; must keep out of pool rooms and not associate with anybody of questionable character; and must be in the house each night at 9.30. Judge Dwinial instructed the officers to "pick him up" if they found him out after that hour.

SMALLEY FAMILY

The annual reunion of the Smalley family will be held at the home of Mrs. Amelia Taylor in Tenants Harbor Tuesday, Aug. 15. If stormy next fair day. F. H. Pierson, Sec. 95-1t

THE SALE IN CAMDEN

Disabled Ex-Service Men's Exchange Will Be At Whitehall Inn

Maine was selected by the Disabled Ex-Service Men's Exchange for its sixth week of summer sales, which are taking place at Castine, Bar Harbor, Winter Harbor, North East Harbor and Camden in each of these places the homes of summer visitors being thrown open for the purposes of the sale.

The closing sale of the week will be at Whitehall Inn, Camden, next Saturday, through the courtesy of Ralph B. Wilson, manager. Mrs. Ernest A. Robbins, Jr., of Camden, president of the Garden Club Federation of Maine, is actively interested in the success of this sale. The exhibition at Whitehall Inn will be from 9.30 a. m. to 5.30 p. m.

The Exchange, whose shop is at 355 Boylston street, Boston, is attracting large numbers to its exhibitions of handcraft articles made by men disabled through service in the World War. The Exchange accepts work from men in 28 States and hence is national in scope.

"HEADS UP" AT WALDOBORO

There Will Be Great Fun Tonight and Friday—The Big Parade Made Hit

"Heads Up" which is being sponsored by the Methodist Homemakers' Society, will be presented to the adult audiences tonight and Friday at 8.15, at Medomak hall, Waldoboro. Rehearsals have been going on for two weeks. The chorus girls have been practicing daily for practice and do their difficult dances with almost professional skill.

Charles P. Freeman and the Veteran's Fire Department in full regalia, bright red shirts and all, will enliven the show with their dashes onto the stage to save the place and the pretty chorus girls from flames. A distinguished jury, made up of leading business and professional men of Waldoboro and vicinity, will hear the case of a negro couple who bring their domestic difficulties to court. The decision the jury brings in is an astounding one.

The whole village turned out Saturday night to see the old-fashioned parade, heralding the big show. Ancient fire engines, carriages, buggies, wagons, raw-boned horses and mules conveyed the gaily caparisoned cast, the Waldoboro Band led the procession and a truck load of singing chorus girls, in costume, brought up the rear.

ROCKPORT

Mrs. Alton Brown and son Neil have returned from Portland where they spent a week with Mr. Brown who is employed there.

Prof. and Mrs. C. R. Freisner of Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rhodes for the remainder of the month.

Capt. and Mrs. George Lane, who have been occupying on Marshall's Island for several days have returned home.

Mrs. Effie Salisbury was hostess to the Trychelp Club Monday evening with a large number of members present. Next Monday evening, weather permitting, the club will hold a picnic at Small's Beach. This gathering will also be a benefit party and each member or person interested is asked to donate groceries, provisions or money. Should the night be stormy, the meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lena Tominski.

THE REALM OF MUSIC

Gladys St. Clair Morgan

Despite the showers Sunday afternoon, Esther Rogers and I journeyed to the Eastern Music Camp for the concert and it was well worth the trip. How those youngsters—nearly all of whom are of high school age—can play and sing. It is a never-to-be-forgotten experience to hear them. We were much interested in seeing Adolf Schmid, conductor of the National Broadcasting Company, as guest conductor. A note at the bottom of the program stated that Mr. Schmid was formerly conductor of the British Symphony Orchestra and musical director at His Majesty's Theatre (London), and somehow he is rather British in his appearance. Although his conducting was dignified for the greater part, at times he struck strange attitudes, particularly when building tone for a climax or a finale—then he would bring his entire body into play in his endeavor to get the idea across, and when the climax arrived he would crouch down as if he were going to jump right out of his skin! Les Preludes by Liszt was the high light under his baton—beautifully done, with wonderful string work. The pupil occupying the concert-master's chair was such a little chap—he did not look more than 12 or 13 years old and small at that. But it was thrilling to watch him play. He had a marvelous wrist and played with more authority than all the other violinists put together. Would like to know more about him.

The high light in the band selections was Serenade Rocco by Meyer-Heimund. This was indescribably lovely—the pianissimo work so finely done that it seemed like muted strings. In the choral numbers the Gounod number—"Chorus of Ecclesiastics" from Philemon and Baucis—stood out both in tonal quality and because of the exquisite accompaniment. The a cappella numbers were beautifully done, too.

Of course we were interested in seeing Margaret McMillan of this city in the orchestra and chorus. Since going to camp she has been studying solo work and first and second violin in orchestra, in addition to other phases of violin training and chorus. It is gratifying to learn that Margaret's teacher found nothing in her previous training to undo—just simply a case of going ahead with more advanced study. Her Rockland teacher has been Albert R. Marsh, whose pupils always reflect his intelligent training, particularly in good tone and smoothness of production.

The seventh public concert at the Camp takes place Sunday afternoon at 3:30. International affairs mingle in this concert. England sends one of her most prominent musicians as guest conductor of the orchestra in the person of Stanley Chapple, a young man who has aroused widespread interest in Europe for his sensational conducting of the Berlin Philharmonic and the Vienna Symphony Orchestra. Presiding the orchestra both band and chorus will, in turn, display their wares of harmony, rhythm, and melody.

A short article in the Christian Science Monitor tells us that: "Song traveled in a cart-rut at the time when Harry S. Dale, the tenor, was a member of the Bloodgood Minstrels, filling the jobs, according to his record, or legend, of stage driver, blacksmith, waggoner and ballad-singer." Mr. Dale's passing recently at the age of 80 is a reminder of his experiences on the prairie and in the mountains as a member of one of the early minstrel troupes.

It was in the days we read about, when theatrical companies journeyed through certain parts of the West under the direction of a teamster instead of a transportation agent, and when skirmishes with Indians were among the hazards of the road. They were the days when raw, native metal was currency, and when a Colorado miner coming from camp to town to attend the show, could pay for his admission with gold dust.

In his youth, Mr. Dale could not doubt hold the reins over a four-horse team, strike a sledgehammer upon the anvil or shrink an iron tire on a wooden wheel better than he could interpret a ballad. But later he developed into an artist, and when theatrical people were travelling everywhere in railroad trains, he became a singer of importance.

"Duly, then, he got into the organization for giving light opera known as the Bostonians. He is credited with being one of the original members. In his last years he liked to talk with his friends, who included many of the most eminent on the stage, and tell about the rigors of primitive minstrel acting and about the pleasures of operetta singing in the eighties and nineties."

Nathalie Hall, known to many in this locality through her visits in Camden when coaching with Frank Bibb, is to star in "Ball at the Savoy," which is to follow "Wild Violets" at the Drury Lane in London. This is the operetta of which Oscar Hammerstein 2d is making an adaptation in England.

Shortly after reading last week David Loth's fascinating book "The Brownings: A Victorian Idyll," I came across this clipping, which may intrigue devotees of the Brownings: Written from Waco, Texas, the letter was addressed to the Musical Courier, and reads:

"Last September I began a search for 32 pieces of music, settings for poems of Robert and Elizabeth Barrett Browning. I secured all but one—and I got 10 more of which I had never heard. Now I have a further list of 25. I am anxious to get in touch with the authors of these or their heirs, or anyone who has copies that can secure. I will be willing to nominate your paper for the Hall of

HOW TO MAKE FOOD MORE ATTRACTIVE

By ANNA ROOSEVELT DALL

WERE you ever homesick for a food? Did you ever, in your mind's filing system, try to "look up" a fragrant flavor memory? Even when miles away from the Old Dominion, the faint whiff of a smoke house haunts the air and the mouth waters for some of those mahogany crusted, deep pink slices of Virginia ham so dearly prized by those who know it and it's so difficult to describe to anyone inclined to scoff at food raptures.

Very probably, like ripe olives and shad roe and dozens of other good things, the taste is acquired, but once eaten you are forever enthusiastic. The famous Smithfield section of Virginia is noted for a particularly fine ham flavor and to make this delicacy ready obtainable, without purchasing a whole ham, when the flavor homesickness is upon you, the ham, ready chopped and deviled for extra flavor may be purchased in glass jars. Ham flavor just seems to belong in all fresco meals. The ham sandwich has become the classic of the lunch box, the picnic basket, the camper's kit and the office motor hamper. Chopped and deviled ham is always easier to eat and certainly goes farther in sandwiches than sliced ham. Deviled Smithfield ham is rich enough in its own sweet delicious fat to make butter unnecessary. It is piquant enough to use alone or sufficiently flavored to be mixed with other materials, crunchy crisp celery or cucumber, minced sweet pickles, chopped watercress and, of course, mayonnaise, for example.

Deviled Virginia ham canapés or tiny open sandwiches passed before dinner as for a first course will challenge many new and interesting and easy-to-use foods as one can have in the pantry or refrigerator. These additional suggestions will keep your summer guests impressed with your talents as a hostess:

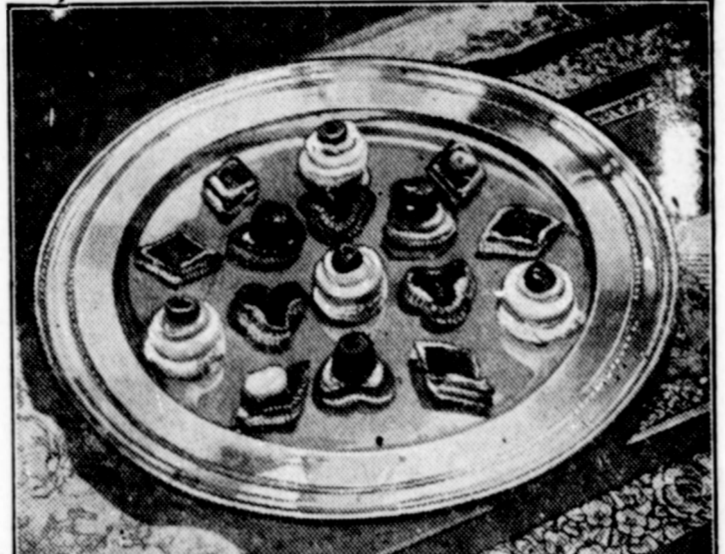

Blend deviled ham paste with enough mayonnaise to easily spread. Spread on canapé biscuits or crisp crackers. Dot with a bit of mayonnaise.

Press thin slices of crisp, cold cucumber or tomato on toast rounds. Garnish with mayonnaise and slices of stuffed olives.

Boil stuffed olives in deviled ham paste blended with enough mayonnaise to make it stick. Place each rolled olive on a crisp biscuit, spread lightly with cream cheese.

Then, of course, a bit of caviar or a few plain olives, or some stuffed celery add to the zest of the food and the pep of the party.

Deviled Virginia, blend mayonnaise with equal quantities of cream cheese and Roquefort cheese.

CANAPÉS may be made quickly and at the same time attractively appetizing

Tenants Harbor Days

Since my ornithological fellow scribe who pens the Tenant's Harbor items in this estimable journal, has seen fit to cast aspersions upon our Boston gulls, I take this opportunity of stating, that the above-named birds of the genus Larus are birds of refinement and good table manners, and know their place in the social order. The gulls I wrote about joined the steamer Belfast at Rockland, proceeded with her to Bangor, and then returned to Rockland. I submit a picture taken from the above-named steamer's deck, showing gulls flying that have just purloined a passenger's lunch from his fingers, while said passenger was standing on the main deck just off the dining room, which room was not open at the time. The picture was taken off Sandy Point, which I believe is in the County of Waldo.

Now, unless my fellow scribe submits to the editor a picture of his own desperate encounter with the two wild and ferocious birds of the genus Trochilus, which flew into his store and endeavored to hold him up, he is capturing one of them single handed, while the other grabbed a broom and escaped to his lair in the crabapple tree. I shall be under the painful necessity of re-affirming my previous statement, namely that what our fellow scribe knows about gulls is nil, nil, nothing.

RAIN THAT WAS RAIN

Letter From Florida Says It Was So Heavy It Was Hard To Breathe

Stuart, Fla., Aug. 1

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

The storm that did great damage in Maine, may not have passed down to Florida, but a private letter describes bad weather there later the same day.

I got into the storm, that crossed the State near Stuart, early in the evening, and was out all night, and had some experiences that I shall not easily forget. It blew only about 30 miles an hour, but that was quite enough to bring down trees as if they were being mowed down. While the wind was at its height it couldn't rain much. Just a hard white mist that cut your face like sand. When it dropped to 50 miles the rain began to fall.

I have been out in a lot of these storms, but never saw rain come down in such a solid mass. At times you had to stoop over and hold your hands over your face to breathe. It would pour for an hour steady, slack for five minutes, then come down heavier than before. I do not know what the government figures are, but I heard that we got 20 inches in 12 hours. I would believe almost any statement.

I got on the job at 4 p. m. and by 11 p. m. we had covered 25 miles through the storm and had our wires working. That was Sunday night. I was certainly glad to get into dry clothes again. We do not appreciate just the ordinary comforts of life until something calls it to our attention.

PHIL JONES' BOYS

Entertain Inmates of State Prison, and Are Entertained In Turn

The inmates of the State Prison were delightfully entertained by the older boys of Hatchet Mountain Camp, Phil Jones, director, Saturday afternoon. The first part of the program was opened with a campfire scene, featuring group singing of camp songs under the leadership of Mr. Jones; vocal solos by Gordon Chapman of Belfast, Bill Martin and Langdon Freese of Bangor; cheered by Jimmy Doughty of Bar Harbor; a trio by Harry Saunders of New York, accordion, Edward and Robert Barrows of Newport, clarinet and cornet; tap dancing by Jack Goss of Bar Harbor.

The second half of the program was devoted to the presentation of a pirate play "Under the Skull and Bones," which was coached by Ethel Thomas Sezak, assisted by her husband, Samuel Sezak. The cast: Bert and Tom, Scouts, Clarence Peterson of Rockland, John Watson of Bangor, Captain Cutlass, Webb Potts of Philadelphia, Slit-Gizzard Bill, Horace Stewart, Bangor, Snooks, Edward Barrows, Newport, Ramrod, Bob Savage, Northeast Harbor.

Blacksmith, Jim Watson, Bangor, Slimy, Jack Goss, Bar Harbor, Blue-Nosed Pete, Potter Traitor, Wareham, Mass.

Other Pirates: Stetson Hills of Belfast, Horace Savage of Northeast Harbor, Policeman, Cobb Peterson of Rockland.

At the close of the play the boys were taken on a tour of inspection through the prison by Warden Thurston, and given an opportunity to see the baseball team in a practice game, its work winning expressions of praise from the lads. A vote of appreciation was extended Warden Thurston for the many courtesies extended them.

"And you have had the same servant for two years?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Cross lots. "She says she doesn't believe in changing after she has gone to the trouble of teaching a family her ways."—Washington Star.

KNIT AND CROCHET

Women Folks Learning All About This Art At Senter Crane Store

Members of the fair sex who find the art of knitting and crocheting a fascinating one will consider it worth while to visit the store of Senter Crane Co. and become acquainted with the Bear Brand and Burleigh yarns and crochet cottons which are being demonstrated there. Miss Ethel Pearson, representative from the home office is being succeeded this week by a local demonstrator and teacher, who is very capable. Such a teacher will be at the store for at least five weeks or more.

Among the articles being shown and taught are hooked rugs and Colonial rugs of heavy yarns; rugs resembling Oriental type made from a lustre yarn; knitted suits from silk bouclé; sweaters and other garments from the new wool bouclé yarn which is particularly smart; bedspreads, chair sets, etc., from crochet cottons, and afghans from knitted worsteds of wide variety. All the standard yarns are being shown, together with suggestions for their many uses.

In the Bear Brand-Buella afghan booklet No. 61 are found full instructions for many new patterns. Of particular note is the Granny Afghan No. 151, a gorgeous thing, which is very popular. Others of interest are the Mille-Flours No. 431; Slumber Robe No. 389 of Ombre yarn in exquisite shaded effects; Windmill No. 377 for a den or living room; Florentine robe No. 380 the answer to that "something different;" boudoir robe No. 410 in old rose, an entrancingly lovely thing; Aurora No. 412, in gorgeous rainbow colorings which lend a vivid charm to a room; and Basque stripe No. 388 in keeping with the vogue for Basque creations.

In booklet No. 63 are found instructions for hand knit sweaters, suits, blouses, dresses, hats and purses. Cape dress No. 491 is a striking model. Others of unusual interest are tweed blouse No. 490 and a two piece dress No. 482.

In book No. 66 are given instructions for hand crocheted creations for the home—bedspreads, luncheon sets, scarfs, chair sets, etc. The bedspreads are particularly intriguing. The filet square No. 556 is altogether too lovely, and others a close second are No. 552 "popcorn square," No. 554 "pasted" and No. 550 "popcorn diamond." A table cover No. 562 is exquisite.

All these booklets not only give full instructions but show illustrations. The afghan book is beautifully illustrated in colors.

MY AMBITION

[For The Courier-Gazette]

I would live my life in such a way that a little good I may do each day. When the night is dark and the way seems long.

Let me cheer my friend with a word or song.

I would live near enough to the side of the road.

That I may help my neighbor carry his load.

And when he has traveled a weary mile Let me help him along with a cheery smile.

And let my light shine out so bright I may guide his feet in the path of right.

Let me smooth the pillow of pain or grief.

Let me do some deed to bring relief To those that mourn for loved ones gone.

I would clasp their hand and share their tears.

And help them along through the weary years.

Let me help the discouraged his burden to bear.

With a cheering word, a smile and a nod To renew his courage and faith in God.

I crave no reward of wealth or fame.

My name written in letters of flame; I only want a memory sweet.

In the hearts of those I chance to meet; And when my life has passed away And my eyes are dull and my lips are clay.

That some friend I have helped will only say:

"There was a friend who passed my way."

For A Garden Party

Courtesy Mlle. Marie, Park Ave.

This garden party frock is of handknocked English muslin in white with lovely big roses tied like a bouquet down the front of the dress. The design of the frock is Empire with a 10-inch pleated band at the bottom and the small cap sleeves bordered with inch pleating. The only trimmings are narrow bands on each side to accentuate the tight waist line.

With this stunning out-door costume be worn a large cartwheel hat. Celophane, woven like straw, is the material used and a branch of flowers is cut out and appliqued on crown and brim.
