President W.J. Kerr,
Logan, Utah,

Dear Sir;-

We shall be interested in hearing from you as to the disposition, if any, of your position in Horticulture. Mr. Eastman of Manhattan, Kansas, decided not to apply. We trust that you have, however, secured a successful candidate in Mr. E. Nelson of Laramie, Wyoming. He is very well recommended to us and from all we can hear of him, is one of the coming younger men in Horticulture.

We also hear that owing to the resignation of Professor Dryden, your position in charge of Animal Husbandry is vacant. Have you yet decided on his successor? And if not, what salary will this position carry? We have several men with excellent training along this line.

Thanking you in advance for the courtesy of an early reply,

Very sincerely,

The Science Agency.

Dear Sirs:-

Your favor of Nov. 11th was duly received. Mr. Robert S. Northrop of Cornell University was elected to the position of Professor of Horticulture and Botany. Prof. Dryden's successor will not be appointed during this school year. As soon as we need a man to fill the position, we shall write you.

Thanking you for the assistance given us, I am,

Very truly yours,

W. J. KERR, President.
