Danville, Ky., Feb. 5, 1903.

To whom it may concern:

I take pleasure in recommending the bearer, Mr. O. W. Long, a member of our Senior class, for the Principalship or Professorship in some good institution. He is a gentleman and a scholar whom we can heartily recommend. I feel confident that he will give satisfaction in any position he is willing to accept.

Yours sincerely,

Wm. Chas. Roberts,

Pres. Central Univ. of Kentucky.

Danville, Ky., Feb. 4, 1903.

To whom it may concern:

This will introduce Mr. O. W. Long, a student in Center College for several years. Mr. Long lived in my house for a year and I know of no young man of whom I could speak more highly and in whose success I would take more interest. His moral standing is excellent and deservedly so, and in any path of life he may follow I feel certain that no one will regret knowing him.

Mr. Long has been a faithful student and stands well in his classes and in the community.

Very respectfully,

J. B. Fisher, Mayor .

Law Department of Central University of Kentucky.

Danville, Ky., Feb. 5, 1903.

Mr. O. W. Long has been under my instruction in History and Political Science, and it gives me pleasure to testify to his high rank and attainments as a student. He brings to his work, whatever it may be, not only close and painstaking application, but also a quick understanding, which gives him a ready mastery. Furthermore, Mr. Long is a young man of pleasing address, wide culture, and withal a Christian gentleman, whose success as a teacher I consider assured.

A. H. Throckmorton.

Danville, Ky., Feb. 5, 1903.

To whom it may concern:-

It gives me great pleasure to say a word in commendation of my friend, Mr. Orie W. Long of the class of 1903, who is at present taking his second year of modern languages under my instruction. In his work he has always shown himself a quick, thorough, and attentive scholar, ranking among the first in the class, while as a man he commands the respect both of his classmates and instructors. Knowing him as I do, I feel sure that as a teacher he will do credit to himself and the university.

I am,

Yours truly,

Lucien Weggener, Jr.,

Prof. of Modern Languages,
Central University.

Central University, Danville, Ky.,

February 1903.

To whom it may concern:

Mr. O. W. Long is a member of the Senior Class in this institution to be graduated in June next. He is a diligent, successful student, maintaining a high position in his class for scholarship and general deportment. He is a Christian gentleman, exemplary in his relations to his preceptors and to his fellow-students, and will fill with credit any position as a teacher which he may seek.

J. W. Logan,

Department of Philosophy.

Centre College, Chair of Mathematics.

Danville, Ky., Feby. 19, 1903.

This is to certify that Mr. O. W. Long has been a student of Center College for about three years, and that he expects to receive his diploma at our next Commencement in June. He took the regular course in Mathematics to the end of the Sophomore year, including Algebra, Geometry, Analytic Geometry and Trigonometry, after which he devoted himself especially to the Modern Languages, in which he has attained commendable proficiency. I consider him qualified to teach the branches preparatory to a college course.

I cordially commend Mr. Long as a gentleman worthy of all confidence.

A. B. Nelson.
