Purpose of the Survey

Every human being has the right to be safe and free from violence in their own homes, in their relationships, and in their community. Intimate partner violence and sexual violence are endemic problems. Up until now, regional data were not available to guide planning and policy development or to evaluate the impact of prevention and intervention services. This study provides the first definitive measures of intimate partner violence and sexual violence for the Kodiak Island Borough. The survey was designed to establish a baseline for the Kodiak Island Borough. Results can be used to support prevention and intervention efforts that reduce violence against women.

Methodology

A total of 423 adult women from the Kodiak Island Borough participated in the survey. Respondents were randomly selected by phone (using both land lines and cell phones) from March to May 2012. Respondents were asked behaviorally specific questions about intimate partner violence (both threats and physical violence). Intimate partners included romantic and sexual partners. Respondents were also asked about sexual violence (both alcohol or drug involved sexual assault and forcible sexual assault). These questions were not limited to intimate partners. Procedures were designed to maximize the safety and confidentiality of all respondents. The survey was approved by multiple institutional review boards and was supported by the Kodiak Women's Resource and Crisis Center (KWRCC), the Kodiak Area Native Association, the Providence Kodiak Island Counseling Center, and the Filipino American Association of Kodiak.

Acknowledgments

We sincerely thank the 423 adult women in the Kodiak Island Borough who invested time and effort to participate in the Alaska victimization survey. They re-lived horrendous experiences, experiences that no one should be subjected to, to help the rest of us understand the extent of intimate partner and sexual violence in the Kodiak Island Borough. We also thank the Kodiak Women's Resource and Crisis Center, the Kodiak Area Native Association, the Providence Kodiak Island Counseling Center, and the Filipino American Association of Kodiak. Funding for this project was provided by the Alaska Council on Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault. The survey was administered by RTI International. Data were analyzed by the UAA Justice Center.

- 22.9% of adult women (or 1,039) experienced sexual violence in their lifetime, with:
 - 14.3% (or 649) experiencing at least one alcohol or drug involved sexual assault, and
 - 18.3% (or 830) experiencing at least one forcible sexual assault.
- 1.1% of adult women (or 50) experienced sexual violence in the past year, with:
 - 0.6% (or 27) experiencing at least one alcohol or drug involved sexual assault, and
 - 0.5% (or 23) experiencing at least one forcible sexual assault.

Important Limitations

The survey excluded non-English speaking women, women without phone access, and women not living in a residence. Estimates may be higher among women excluded from the survey. Estimates may also be conservative because of the continuing stigma of reporting victimization. This survey measured the number of victims, not the number of victimizations. In addition, not all forms of intimate partner violence or sexual violence were measured. All of these limitations may vary across regions. As a result, the validity of regional comparisons remains unknown.
