Chicago, Sept. 10 .- The executive has abandoned the strike against the the same lines in the future as in the *meat packing plants and ordered the past." members back to work. The strike committee of the other trades involved took the same action. With the decision of the various labor organizations to adopt this course the struggle came to an end. The strike concluded with utter collapse. The men receive less than they had when they first walked out and much less than was given them in the agreement which terminated their first strike.

End Comes at Union Conference.

The end really came in the meeting of the joint conference board during the afternoon. President Donnelly of the butchers arose and suddenly took the position of leader which he formerly was supposed to hold. By an unexpected exhibition of backbone he brought this talk of further war to a close. He told the representatives of the various unions that the executive board of his organization had determined to call off the strike. The union was going to pieces, he said, and the members were suffering. No matter how the others regarded the move.

Pifty-Nine Days on Strike. Begun July 12, the struggle continued for eight weeks and three days. them practically all they had demand- since 1888. ed. The second walkout occurred the morning work was to be resumed under that contract. It was charged by the packers that the union broke the Two Young Thugs Rob a County Treasuragreement by this act, and since then the organizations steadily lost ground. In Chicago a few members deserted. and in other packing centers thousands abandoned the fight. Desperate means were resorted to to stem the tide, but the packers continued to operate their plants with better and better success. At the last the only thing left for the union was complete surrender.

Expect Strike Breakers to Leave.

Those conversant with the conditions in the stock yards believe that almost all of the strike breakers will desert before Monday. There are few skilled and still fewer experienced workers among them. It is believed, moreover, that the employers would prefer to have the old men all through their plants rather than have mixed crews with the certainty of jarring and discord.

While the packers will not discharge at once any of their new employes, they will efford them every facility to leave. Timekeepers have been told to pay off the men and women as rapidly as they apply, without requiring them to go through the usual formality of cashing checks. Special trains will run for the accommodation of those who want to go in large

ROOSEVELTS ACCEPTANCE

Points from His Letter, Accepting the Leadership.

New York, Sept. 13. - President Roosevelt's letter of acceptance, which has been given out for publication, is highly pleasing to the Republican leaders. It is like all his pronouncements, straight and strenuous. He is aggressive from first to last, and attacks his political 'opponents, rather than defends his party. Among the notable passages in the letter are the following:

"A party which, with facile case, changes all its convictions before election cannot be trusted to adhere with tenacity to any principle after election. • • • If on one great issue they [the Democrats] do not mean what they say, it is hardly safe to trust them on any other issue."

Pomeroy, O., Sept. 10 .- The boldest daylight robbery in the history of the county took place here. Two youthful strangers entered the county treasurer's office, covered Treasurer T. J. Chase with revolvers, and went through the safe. They secured $14 .-000, locked Chase in the vault and made their escape. Chase was locked in nearly three hours before he was by his wife.

A local banker was secured to work the combination as Chase directed from the inside. Five thousand dollars in gold in the bottom of the safe was overlooked. No trace of the robbers has been secured although attempts were made to trail them with bloodhounds. The robbery was planned with great foresight, as it was the last day of the county fair and but few people were in town. The county carries $10,000 insurance against rob-

Low Death Rate in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 13.-The death rate in Chicago during the last week is characterized as "remarkably low" by the health department. Only 443 deaths were reported, against 491 the previous week and 504 for the corresponding week last year. This is 22 per cent. less than the average for September The water supply, the weekly health bulletin issued says, was good all the week, and only nineteen out of 500 milk samples tested were below the standard.

> Washington, Sept. 14. - The develcoments so far as they relate to the Russian cruiser Lena at San Francisco is the clearing up of the official muddle arising out of the doubt as to which of five departments of the government should deal with it. It was finally decided by the president that the state and navy departments should treat the case, acting jointly, a decision calculated greatly to simplify its handling. A telegram from Admiral Goodrich at San Francisco, shows that on his own initiative he has caused one of his expert officers to make a preliminary examination of ? the Lena, that temporary repairs would occupy six weeks' time and that new boilers would involve eight months' delay. This involved a further expert examination of the ship.

However, there is a growing belief that the vessel will be obliged to intern in the end, for it is altogether likely that by the time she could be made ready to go to sea one or more Japanese cruisers would be off the Golden Gate ready to sink or capture her. NO RENEWAL OF FIGHTING

St. Petersburg Says Also That Zassalitch I

Neither Wounded Nor Captured. St. Petersburg, Sept. 14. - There has been no renewal of fighting on a large scale between the Russian and Japanese armies in the Far East, Here the people are harassed by rumors of impending disaster to General Kuropatkin, which find ready credence because of the lack of official information from the general's headquarters at Mukden, and for the moment the popularity of the head of the Russian armies in the field is in eclipse.

The war office denies the reported wounding and capture by the Japs of General Zassulitch and 3,000 of his men. It is reported that Kuropatkin has been reinforced by two army corps and 300 guns, and is prepared to give battle to the Japanese. The authorties here are unanimously of the opinion that General Kuropatkin will not withdraw from Mukden without accepting battle.

It is expected that he will leave 50, 000 men to defend Mukden while the remainder of his army retires to Tie pass. It is believed that General Kuropatkin has over 200,000 men.

THE LANSING SILO

Manufactured by the SEVERANCE TANK WORKS

A few reasons why it is the best silo:

It has a continuous opening.
It has a permanent iron ladder.
It has NO boits, nut; or screws to unfasten the door.
It takes but a minute to open or close the door.

The agent who sells them here does not require to make his living by selling these silos, so the buyer gets the agent's profit.

If you think of building a silo, then write or call on the local agent,

JOKE WRIT ON A BERRY BOX

Ends in the Marriage of a Girl Who Wrote It to the Man Who Read It.

Muskegon, Mich., Sept. 10 .- On a berry box packed at her father's farm at Lake Harbor, Miss Carrie L. Greuling wrote the first lines of a mance that reached its climax in a wedding at the Greuling farm house. Frank H. Thompson, who received the wooden missive at his home in Morris, Ill., is the bridegroom, it was two years ago that Miss Greuling, as a joke, wrote her name and address on a box of berries she packed. There was a party of six girl friends assisting her, and each put her name on one of the boxes. No response came except to Miss Greuling. Young Thompson, who is chief clerk in a grocery house at Morris, saw the girl's name as he unpacked the fruit from a case and out of curiosity he sent her a letter. Correspondence followed at first jokingly, later friendly, at last affectionately. At the time Miss Greuling packed berries last year Thompson made a trip over here to visit her. Soon afterward they became

DEGENERATE'S BRUTAL WORK

He Murders a Girl Whom He "Loved" and Then Puts a Bullet Through His Own Heart.

Detroit, Sept. 12.-Repulsing the advances of a degenerate of the halfimbecile type cost pretty Annie Sienklewicz, belle of the Polish quarter, her life. She was shot dead by Amos Prommovel, a coal heaver. He had pursued the girl for months with protestations of love, but owing to his habits and mental condition had been repulsed by the girl and her family. Late at night he called at the girl's home after she had retired and frightthe Detroit Women's Press club, and ened her mother into calling her by his wild demands. Extending his arm, as if to shake hands, as the girl approached him, the degenerate shot her through the heart. Stepping from the house as she fell, he turned his weapon shooting himself through the heart and dying almost instantly.

Col. W. A. Gavett Dead.

Detroit, Sept. 12. - Colonel W. A. Gavett, well known in railway, civil service and military circles, is dead at Grace hospital, where he went a week ago to submit to an operation. He wasn born in Hillsdale, Mich., in 1844. In the civil war he served in the engineers' corps and after the war supervised the construction of national cemeteries at Nashville and Stone river, Tenn., and Camp Nelson and Mill Spring, Ky.

Takes All the Blame Herself.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 12. . Lottie Newman, 17 years old, who ran away from her parents here to meet Fred Pearle, 19 years old, declares it was all her fault and pleaded with the Chicago police to release the young man, who was arrested at 78 North Clark street. Miss Newman, who is tractof, will be detained at Chicago until the arrival of her mother. Died on His Wedding Anniversary.

Adrian, Mich., Sept. 9 .- The funeral thirty were women. Their candidate of Marshall Doollitle, a Wabash brakeman killed at Romulus, will be from Mary E. Marshall, in Tecumseh. Horse Kicks a Woman in the Face.

Manistee, Mich., Sept. 12. - Mrs. Eugene Cramer, of Honor, while alighting from her wagon on Maple street, was kicked in the face by her horse with both feet. Her entire face was badly cut, an eye and ear injured and the skull fractured. The Cramers were traveling from Honor to Grand Rapids in a single covered wagon to look for work.

His White Wife Is Missing.

Adrian, Mich., Sept. 10. - Mrs. Fannie Wright, the white wife of Ora Wright, colored, has been missing since Tuesday, and her husband says he believes she has run away with James Hutchinson, a colored teamster. While Wright was working, it is alleged, that Hutchinson appeared with a horse and Mrs. Wright drove away with him. Fell Down Stairs and Died.

Traverse City, Mich., Sept. 13. -John Richard, aged 90, who, it is said, never drank, but occasionally stopped in Bert Ellis' saloon to rest, was found dead at the bottom of the cellar steps of the saloon. He had evidently fallen down stairs.

Pioneer Citizen Killed.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 9. - John George Scheirer, one of the oldest ploneers of this city, was killed at Lakeland by a train on the Ann Arbor railroad. He was 86 years old and leaves a widow and eight children.

He Is Not Even Recptive.

Lansing, Mich., Sept. 13. - Deputy Attorney General Chase says he is not even a receptive candidate for the attorney generalship. From long service he is doubtless minded that the deputyship goes on and on.

A FINE BLACKBERRY.

Highly Commended by Michigan and Wisconsin Fruit Growers.

El Dorado has been one of the good vielding blackberries at the Michigan station. It is described as very hardy and productive, ripening a few days in advance of Snyder and superior to that variety in size and flavor; fruit medium to large, firm and of very good quality.

Commenting upon this variety before the Wisconsin Horticultural society, W. Hanchett said: Our attention was first called to the El Dorado blackberry some six years ago. We set

EL DOBADO BLACEREREY. plants on the most favorable spot on the farm, gave them the most shiftless cultivation and were agreeably surclous berries that in flavor were ahead of any other variety we had ever tried. After having tested them two fruiting years, we planted two and onehalf acres on virgin soil that had just been cleared of heavy timber. We gave them thorough cultivation, and they made a fine growth. The next season we harvested from this plantation of yearlings 125 cases of the finest blackberries we ever saw. In the season of 1903, after having nearly onehalf of the crop destroyed by a frost the first week in June, we harvested from the two and one-half acres 1,125 cases of fine berries, which held up in size and flavor to the last berry. This was the first crop from the full grown cane. We give them full faith as being the most satisfactory blackberry we have tried, and we have tried Snyder, Stoner, Hardy, Early Harvest, Taylor's Prolific, Wauchusett, Thomelers and Briton. They surpass Briton, which has been our leading market berry for years, in size, flavor, appearance and healthfulness of foliage and are equal in productiveness and shipping quality. In season they are about fen days earlier than Briton and ripen

DAMAGE BY LIGHTNING.

Severe storms have done heavy damage in various regions this season, and especially have many fine specimen trees been torn by high winds or struck by lightning. Sometimes a tree is killed outright by the stroke of lightning, but more generally the damage is local and confined to one or two limbs or to the trunk. Shattering by the electric fluid is not at all uncommon, but sometimes the damage is not visible on the outside. The fluid enters the tree maybe and for a determination of the state in- in the upper part, and the damage becomes visible near the ground. The bark of the tree becomes loosened and is sometimes completely ripped off. In that lies the danger, not in the prominent scar in the hard wood. American Gardening in commenting on these cases says the proper method of treating trees struck by lightning If the tree is lightly struck and the bark is only injured in a narrow perpendicular strip, the best method of treatment is the removal of any loosened and ragged portions of the bark, leaving a clean cut edge, and the painting of the wound. This paint should be renewed until the new bark heals entirely over the scar. Bridge grafting-that is, inserting strips of live tissue at intervals-is sometimes used in this connection. The treatment given to a large tulip tree recently which was badly shattered by lightning and the bark loosened nearly all the way round to a height of from eight to ten feet was the application of a plaster of well rotted cow manure and the binding of the loosened bark tightly with ropes.

As a general rule the use of grafting wax instead of the application of manure is far preferable. The treatment with manure has, however, proved efficacious in different instances.

many years of experience have taught me to believe are essential points in selecting a profitable dairy cow and will commence at the nose, says Harding Bailey in Jersey Bulletin. Take a cow that can put her nose in a tin cup; you can take a tin cup to milk her in. But a cow that it takes a bucket to get her nose in, you will have to take a bucket to milk her in.

In other words, I want a cow or calf of either sex, in order to make a profitable dairy animal, to have a great broad mouth (so it can mow a wide swath), with thin lips, indicating a thin hide and fineness throughout, enabling it to sift out most of the nutrition in food consumed and return it to you in its milk; with broad, open nostrile, giving it good breathing capacity, and short from nose to eyes—long in this space indicates long in the legs. Too much wind blows under it and soon dries up the milk, even if it gives a good flow in the start.

The dairy cow should be broad between the eyes, indicating a broad, deep cow throughout, with good heart, lungs, liver and digestive organs; large, full eyes, indicating plenty of nerve force to carry out the requirements of the body; long from eyes to horns, indicating good sense; narrow between the horns, indicating but little combativeness and a mild disposition; a well developed body, not "pot gutted," with large tents and plenty of loose skin for udder development-but not a large, meaty, fleshy udder that will be nearly as large after being milked as it was before-a long tail with a good switch these are enough to give a beginner a

The Polled Jersey.

Effect of the Electric Fluid on Fine breed than any other, says American Cutivator, from which the picture of Buffalo Boy is reproduced. The cut was made from a photograph of Buffalo Boy 74, A. P. J. H. B., taken at the New York state fair last year, where he headed the winning berd of Polled Jerseys and was himself first in class (two-year-old) and senior champion. Buffalo Boy 74 was sired by Ensign 17, a half brother to Nubbin Ridge Queen 37, the richest cow of the ten breeds represented in the Pan-American model dairy, both being by Innovator 4, who was related to twenty-four of the twenty-five Jersey cows in the dairy contest at the Columbian exposition at Chicago. Successful Dairying.

One essential point that the successful dairyman must observe always is the keeping of good cows. He should look upon every cow as a machine, taking her value into consideration from the actual profits returned. The economical feeding and the protection from the inclemency of the weather are important points that must be observed, and last, but not least, is the milking of cows at regular times and by regular milkers.-Creamery Milking Cows by Electricity. In the newly invented German apparatus for milking cows by electricity rubber hoods are attached to the udder of the cow. These hoods are connected with a vessel for receiving the milk by means of a rubber tube, from He will which the air is exhausted by means of the electrical device. It is claimed that the suction thus secured resembles very closely the sucking of a calf and that for this reason the cow "lets down" her milk more freely than when milked by hand. It is also claimed that absolute cleanliness of the milk may be secured when this method is employed.

Feeding Value of Silage.

Silage has a greater feeding value than the same forage would have if cured by drying in the field, because it is more digestive, says Farmer's Advocate. There is more to be gained by siloing corn than by siloing crops that have finer stems that can be more quickly dried. There is usually great loss in field curing the fodder part of corn. It takes less labor to make stlage of a corn crop than it does to prepare it for feeding in any

Best Churning Temperature.

Probably a majority of buttermakers churn at about 60 degrees, but careful tests show that the lower the temperature at which cream can be churned the better, says American Agriculturist. In many cases it is possible to churn at 45. About 50 degrees ought to be the standard where very high class butter is anticipated. Of course low churning temperatures require rich cream. Poor, thin cream must be churned at a higher temperature.

of rich and varied color in the late summer and early autumn days is unrivaled. A sturdy and cheerful flower is the dahlia, requiring only plenty of food and moisture when of the show or double kind, while the single kind will flourish in almost any soil under ordinary garden conditions. For the finest flowers of course a rich deep soil, good cultivation and watering are three feet apart to allow cultivation by placed two inches beneath the surface desirable.

The cactus dahlia is a recent type, with the bloom somewhat loosely built and perfectly double, like a Japanese chrysanthemum. The flat petals, twisted and reflexed at the points, give it a striking and very artistic appearance. Notable among the cactus type is the starfish dahlia here illustrated. Its flowers are large and deeply built, petals long, curled and pointed, color pure orange scarlet.

The roots of the dahlia may be left in the ground till the approach of freezing weather and for some days after the frost has cut the tops. When dug they should be left exposed to air and sunshine for a day or two to dry out, covering them at night to protect from frost. After shaking off the dry soil the bulbs may be kept in any cool and dry place, such as is suitable for storing potatoes.

Apples generally keep better in boxes than in barrels. This is especially storage. The influence of the pack- plant. age in this respect is greatest in varieties that ripen quickly. The bulk of fruit is larger in the barrel than in the box, and the contents of the former cool off more slowly after the package is placed in the warehouse. The ripening is therefore checked more quickly when the fruit is packed in a box. In the smaller package it can be stored for a long time after it has begun to mellow, but in a barrel it would be effects of rough usage and has a rich bruised in this condition from its own weight.

A closed package is generally preferable to a ventilated package, as the fruit is likely to shrivel if exposed to the air for any length of time. The shriveling of the fruit, however, is influenced by the degree of moisture and circulation of the air in the warehouse, and where these factors are properly regulated the ventilated package may be used advantageously with varieties that need cooling quickly. The life of the fruit is often prolonged from two to three months by a fruit wrapper, and the spread of diseases from apple to apple is made more difficult. For the finer grades of apples that are to be packed and stored in boxes a fruit wrapper is most desirable, as it not only adds to the life of the fruit, but it prevents bruising and retains its glossy, brilliant appearance or the natural bloom.-G. HANDLING CUTTINGS.

Grape and Currant Cuttings For Propagation-Cutting Back.

Grape cuttings for propagation are made from the largest and best developed wood of the past year's growth. ty of sunshine can have his own rose They should be cut into pieces about especially in those of the cactus and eight inches long and having at least two or three joints. If their length varies two or three inches it is no mat- loam, but a good rose bed can be made ter, but the lower cut should be made in clay, sand or gravel. close to the joint and the upper one about an inch above one. The roots come out at the joints or nodes much more easily than between them, and there is no need of any wood on the cuttings below where the roots come out. As the top bud is the one that is above ground and will make the growth, it is important that there should be no danger of injuring it, and that is why a little wood should be left above it. The wood should be cut early in the fall and stored in a moist place, says a writer in Rural New the surface to retain the rainfall. Yorker. As to handling current cuttings the same journal says:

In cutting back the new wood from the currant bushes it is best to remove about two-thirds of this season's wood. You can cut back any time from now until March 1. For propagation make cuttings four to nine inches in length and insert them in well enriched soil straight down at once. It is best to plant them in double rows ten inches ward and outward without touching apart. Have the cuttings five inches each other, and the collar or point apart in the rows and the double rows horse. THE BOSTON FERN.

A Very Rich and Satisfactory Sport of This Popular Plant.

Everybody who has the slightest acquaintance with house plants knows the popular Boston fern, so called (Nephrolepis exaltata var.). It is a delightful subject for house or plazza decoration not only on account of its own general habit and bearing, but also be- some of the Choicest Are Poor Ship-cause of its comparative hardiness and true when the falls are hot and the resistance to the usually untoward confruit has ripened during a delay in ditions which surround the house

The nephrolepis in question is remarkably hardy, and it has given several forms quite distinct from each other and fully as serviceable as the type. American Gardening figures the sport known as scottii, which forms a develop quickly, so that it soon makes a handsome specimen. It makes a shapely plant, does not easily show the look that is very pleasing.

Time to Transplant Ferns.

I believe that all of us that possess a garden, be it ever so small, have place for a few ferns. What they require above all else is shade. It may be the eastern or northern side of a dwelling or a wall or any other situation where the afternoon sun does not reach them, and it will do. Under trees is not suitable, as a rule. The roots of trees exhaust the soil of moisture, and the branches shed big streams on the fronds, both to the injury of the plants. My own collection of native sorts are planted on the eastern side of a neighbor's house, which forms a division line. The sun shines on them until noon, but not later. They flourish in the best possible way. The time to collect ferns is toward late summer. All the kinds can be seen then, and, their fronds being fully matured, the height to which they attain is shown, and the proper place for them in the garden can be determined. Take a good ball large sized slips, fill a common tin can of earth with them if possible, though. with good, rich earth, put cutting in, as it is easy to get all their roots, they pressing earth very firmly around it, are not difficult to transplant without

Apples Shipped in Bulk.

According to President C. H. Weaver of the International Apple Shippers' association, the most noticeable effect of high prices for new barrels is seen in the increased quantity of medium and low grade apples which are shipped to market in bulk in car lots. "It is," in Mr. Weaver's opinion, "not a satisfactory method for the dealer, yet a continuous advance in barrel prices will have a tendency to cause the farmer and packer to grade their fruit more closely, packing only the best in new barreis, while secondhand barrels, bulk shipments and other cheap methods will be devised for transporting the medium quality."

ROSES OUT OF DOORS.

Have a Rose Garden-Early Autumn Is the Time to Plant.

Every one who loves a rose and possesses a few feet of ground with plengarden and find pleasure and health in cultivating the queen of flowers. Of course the ideal soil is a rich deep

Roses abhor wet feet, and if the soil is wet it must be thoroughly drained. This can usually be done by digging out the bed to a depth of three feet and filling in one foot with broken stone, brick, cinders or gravel.

Rose roots revel in a deep, rich soil; therefore the beds should be at least two feet in depth, with a generous supply of manure at the bottom. Cow manure is best, but horse manure may be used if old and well decomposed. It is well to depress the bed an inch below

Garden roses, grown in two ways, can be obtained from dealers on their own roots or budded on the manetti or brier. From the experience of a quarter of a century with both, I believe the less vigorous varieties are better budded than on their own roots.

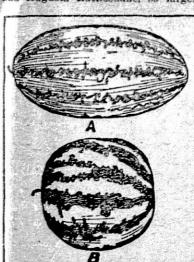

The holes in which rose plants are set should be made so deep and wide that the roots can be spread downwhere the bud was inserted should be of the soil. This deep planting is necessary to prevent suckers being thrown out by the roots. Should a brier or smooth to prevent it starting again. The canes of a wild shoot are covered with minute thorns and bear seven leaflets instead of five.

After planting, the canes should be shortened to about twelve inches and the entire surface of the soil covered with coarse manure, leaves and litter for a depth of at least three inches. This is all the protection needed for the perpetuals and hybrid teas, and it should be repeated annually as soon as the ground has one good freezing. If done before the soil is frozen, we are apt to protect some of our insect enemies that we are anxious to be rid of.-Robert Huey.

The Lime Oil Wash For Scale.

Something new for the San Jose scale is the formula worked out by Mr. Dickson, a Delaware fruit grower of much experience. "Lime oil" it is called. The process is said to be to slake ten pounds of stone lime with five gallons of refined kerosene oil, after which add twenty-five gallons of water. This gives a 20 per cent oil solution, which, it is claimed, kills the scale, does not injure the foliage and is easily applied. If this wash proves as simply made and efficient as appears to be the case, it is a boon to the fruit growers in relieving them of the troublesome and laborious preparation of the lime, salt and sulphur

W. B. CHURCH, M D. PARKER HAS PLANS

Goes to New York to Confer with the Democratic National Managers There.

PLEASED WITH MAINES VOTE

While Rossevelt Is De-lighted - Davis' Letter of Acceptance Nearly Ready-Political Notes.

Esopus, N. Y., Sept. 14. - Judge Parker expects to go to New York tomorrow and to return on Friday. No announcement has been made as to the arrangements for the trip, and Judge Parker's reason for leaving Rosemount are not known. It is understood that he will take apartments in some New York hotel and confer with political friends. For several days it has been rumored that the judge was planning a visit to New York to call on the members of the national committee and other managers of the campaign. It was said also that he might remain there and take a hand in the running of the campaign, It is believed here that the candidate has under consideration important plans of campaigning intended to change completely the working methods in some sections of the country.

Gratified at the Maine Result. Judge Parker's trip to New York will be the first visit of a political character since his nomination. Results of the Maine election are gratifying to the judge and his political friends who visited Rosemount. The candidate has not discussed the election nor commented for publication on the returns, but those who have talked with him say he is greatly pleased at the increased Democratic vote and feels that there was a sentiment displayed there which may be expected to develop throughout the country and show in more material form in doubt-

President Is De-lighted.

Bangor, Me., Sept. 14.-Hon. F. M Simpson, chairman of the Republican state committee, has received this message from President Roosevelt, dated Oyster Pay, N. Y., Sept. 13: " am delighted with the result, and congratulate you and those who have worked with you most heartily.".

Governor Odell and his friends are outspoken in their advocacy of Higgins, and in a poll claim to have 709 votes assured in his favor.

The convention's total vote is 974. Senator Platt and Woodruff's advocates do not by any means admit this situation, and allege most emphatically that they will carry the fight to the floor of the convention. Many believe, however, that Higgins will be the unanimous nominee of the convention. The final decision of the Higgins advocates to insist upon the nomination of the lieutenant governor was arrived at in a conference held in Governor Odell's quarters at which were present practically all of the leaders in the offered to the Kings county men.

MAINE PLURALITY DECREASES

DAVIS COMPLETES HIS LETTER

He Has Senator Gorman's Advice Thereon -Will Appear After Parker's.

New York, Sept. 14. - Ex-Senator Davis has completed the first draft was the only surviving brother of the of his letter accepting the Democratic nomination for the vice presidency. Davis came to New York to confer with the leaders of his party regard. old. ing this document, and Senator Gorman came on the same errand. Both are at the Fifth Avenue hotel, and work on the letter progressed rapidly after their arrival.

No callers have been allowed disturb the task, although Chairman Sheehan, of the executive committee, Chairman Taggart, of the national Democratic committee, and ex-Senator C. A. Towne have been consulted regarding the document. The draft of the letter will be revised and the final touches added by tomorrow, when Davis expects to leave for Elkins, W. Va. The letter will not be made public until after the formal acceptance of Judge Parker has been published.

Would Not Heed Governor Garvin. Providence, R. I., Sept. 14. - The effort of Governor Garvin to obtain three amendments to the state constitution - the first to provide for constitutional initiative, the second a moderate veto power for the governor, and the third permitting registry voters to vote for city councilmen-was frustrated by the failure of the general assembly to act on any of them. Both branches passed a resolution condemning the action of the governor in calling the extra session and calling for an adjournment until Nov. 15. This ended the session.

Taggart to Meet Illinois Workers.

Chicago, Sept. 14 .- With the arrival in Chicago next Monday of Demoeratic National Chairman Thomas Taggart the Parker campaign will be started by the national Democratic managers in Illinois. The workers of the party have been invited to headquarters at the Sherman House to meet Taggart. The invitation includes chairmen of the county central committees, the congressional campaign committees and the candidates on the state ticket, and for congress.

BLCODHOUNDS ON THE TRAIL

Bobbers Hold Up a Rock Island Train Whisky Hollow, Is., and Loot the Express Safe.

Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 14. - Two packs of bloodhounds are on the trail of five thugs who held up a passenger train near Leets, Ia., and robbed the United States express safe. The point where the crime was committed was Whisky Hollow, a lonely place in the Mississippi bottoms, surrounded by heavy timber and far removed from habitations. The thugs signaled the train with a red lantern, and when it stopped they climbed abcard, firing a fusillade of shots to intimidate the pas-

Without even detaching the express car from the train the safe was leisurely rifled and the robbers escaped on the engine, which was abandoned near Columbus Junction, ten miles west. ST. SWITHIN'S DAY.

The Venerable Superstition That Is Associated With July 15.

St. Swithin's day falls on July 15, and in England there is a superstition that if it rains on that date the succceding forty days will be wet, and if, on the contrary, St. Swithin's day be fair then the succeeding twoscore days will likewise be pleasant. The superstition is venerable, for one old historian remarks that "St. Swithin, a holy bishop of Winchester, about the year 800 was called the weeping St. Swithin, for that about his. feast Praesepe and Aselli, rainy constellations, arise cosmically and commonly cause rain."

Another version of the story is that the good bishop left orders at his death that he should be buried in the open churchyard and not in the chancel. The monks, however, disobeyed the wishes of their dead and laid him to rest on July 15 within the minster, whereupon rain fell heavily and continually till on the fortieth day the offending priests became alarmed and hastened to fulfill their dead bishop's request.

Statistics furnished by the officials at Greenwich observatory discredit the show that the greater number of rainy days after St. Swithin's day followed a dry July 15.

The late Mr. Horsley, R. A., has re corded that at one time he studied almost daily one of Turner's finest water colors, called "The Snowdon Range," admiring especially the tender warmth of the light clouds encircling the moon. He tried all sorts of glasses to see if he could discover how the particular glow was gained, but without success, Chance revealed the secret. The picture began to buckle from its mount, and its owner, Sir Seymour Haden, put it into the hands of a noted expert to be remounted. When he had successfully removed it from its old mount the expert sent for the owner to show him what he had discovered. A circle of orange vermilion had been plastered on the back with an ivory palette knife where the artist wanted the effect and then worked off sufficiently far through the pores of the previously wetted paper to give the show of color, while retaining the smooth surface, without a trace of workmanship on the right This may have led Mr. Horsley him-

OPEN AIR STATE JAIL. Primitive Place of Confinement In Montenegro.

The open air state jail of Cettinje, Montenegro, is unique in Europe. This primitive place of confinement is situated in the principal public square of the Montenegrin capital. Persons guilty of such minor offenses as assault or petty thefts are sentenced to imprisonment in the open air jail. The prisoners are allowed to roam about the square at will, the mere fact that they have been deprived of their weapons being considered appropriate punishment. At night the prisoners are removed to a room in the town hall, where they have far more comfortable quarters than they would have at home. The thought of escaping from their open air jail seldom occurs to in Yates Center, Kan. He was 86 years them, and even if it did there is no place where they could find refuge. The Montenegrins are, above all, men of honor, and were a prisoner to escape the population of Cettinje would soon be at the heels of the fugitive guilty of having broken his promise not to attempt to escape.-New York Tribune.

> A Clock Without Works. In the courtyard of the palace of Ver-saines is a clock with one Rand, called L'Horloge de la Mort du Roi. It contains no works, but consists merely of a face in the form of a sun, surrounded by rays. On the death of a king the hand is set to the moment of his demise and remains unaltered till his successor has joined him in the grave. This custom originated under Louis XIII. and continued till the revolution. It was revived on the death of Louis XVIII., and the hand still continues fixed on the precise moment of that monarch's death.

Appearance a Protection.

"Appearances are deceitful" is an old saying, which was illustrated by an old lady in one of our banks a few days ago. She drew out a sum very near the $1,000 mark. The banker kindly asked her if she did not wish an escort to her destination in order to insure protection for the large amount. Looking calmly at the banker, she replied, "Why, nobody would think I had more than $1.25!"-Rumford Falls Times.

EFFECTS OF TOBACCO.

In Some Cases It Is Stimulating and In Others Narcotic.

have done so from the first.

These classes are mentioned as specially large consumers of the weed in Dr. Everard's "Panacea," published in 1659. Hobbes and Newton both used tobacco to stimulate. Goethe and Heing hated it. Scott smoked profusely; but, according to Mr. Trelawney, Byron "never smoked pipe or cigar."

Modern experience and observation seem to indicate that tobacco is a stimulant in moderation and a narcotic in excess, in this respect resembling all other intoxicants, using the term in its widest sense, from tea to opium.

CAT'S CRADLE.

Origin of the Name of the Familian

String and Finger Game. Cat's cradle has been familiar to most of us from childhood as a game for two players, in which the first winds a looped cord over the fingers of both hands in a symmetrical figure, and the second inserts his fingers and removes it in such a way as to produce a dif-ferent figure. This they do alternately several times, always changing the formation. The art consists in making the right changes.

The cord forms a rude representation of a manger, and the name originally was "cratch" cradle, cratch being a manger (creche, French), such as that in which our Saviour was laid. "They layde hym in a cratche," was Wyclif's translation of Luke ii, 7. The word is still used in Roman Catholic countries in that particular sense.

The Abbe Prevost says in his "Manuel Lexique," "Cratch is the name given to a manger for cattle and which is consecrated by the birth of Jesus Christ." To the present day the racks which stand in the fields for cattle to eat from are called cratches.

"Yankee Doodle." As for the origin of the tune of "Yankee Doodle," over which there is much controversy, this can be said-that most of the views expressed about its origin are right, but only partly so. It is true the tune is the same as that of "Lucy Locket Lost Her Pocket," "Yankee Doodle Came to Town," and that of the Dutch reapers' song, "Yonker Dudal, Dudal Daun," but it is also identical with the old Biscayan "Danthe comparatively small area and the za Esparta" (sword dance) and that of mass of water involved, as to have a German song which was published escaped detection until scientific meth- at Cologne in the year that Columbus discovered America.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—The first general exodus of "strike breakers" from the stock yards began at night. It was accompanied by a series of assaults upon non-union workers in which several women were hurt. Stones and other missiles were hurled. Riot calls sent to the stock yards station brought policemen who were compelled to use their clubs on the union sympathizers. Women participated in the trouble. Eight persons were injured.

More than 7,000 of the former strikers at the stock yards gathered in Packingtown in the morning looking for work. About 1,100 were given employment and the rest went away muttering imprecations upon the nonunion men who supplanted them during the long strike. Of the 1,100 reinstated, 150 were teamsters.

ANTS' NOSES.

There Are Five of Them, and Ench Has Its Own Duty.

In their antennae, or feelers, ants Mukden. The fourth, consisting of 40,- have five noses, each of which has its own duties to perform.

If an ant be deprived of a certain is time to cease transplanting trees, nose, it will live peaceably with enemies, but if it retains its fifth nose it will fight the alien to the death. There is a difference in the functions of nose one and nose five, although they appear to be somewhat alike.

This sense of smell does not come till the ants are three days old. If, therefore, ants only twelve hours old are placed among others belonging to different colonies, they will grow up quite amicably and not understand that they are a mixed lot, because they will have grown up with ideas of scent in accordance with their surroundings. The sense of smell to them is as important as the sense of sight to human beings.

EARTH LIGHT.

Evidences That Our Planet Possesses a Luminous Quality.

In proof that the earth does emit light Humboldt (1808) points to the aurora berealis. The light produced by this luminous arch is distinct from that received from the sun, and its intensity slightly exceeds that of the moon's light in her first quarter. At the poles this glow continues with scarcely a break, reminding us of the planet Venus, whose side turned away from the sun often gives forth a feeble phosphorescent light.

Humboldt goes on to argue that other planets also may possess a similar luminous quality, and in our atmosphere there are other evidences of this emission of light from the earth itself. Such were the famous dry fogs of 1783 and of 1831, which gave forth light perceptible at night, and such is that diffused glimmer which guides our steps in the nights of autumn and winter, when clouds hide the stars and the earth is not covered with snow.

It is therefore not entirely true that, as Sir Norman Lockyer puts it, "the earth cannot give out more light than a cold poker can." .

GENIUS AT WORK.

Curious Postures of Some Men to Woo a Flow of Ideas. Lombroso says that some men of Paisiello composed beneath a mountain of bedclothes, and Rossini found bed the best place for his best works. Cujas worked lying prone on the carpet, and Liebnitz is said to have been obliged to assume the horizontal to meditate at all satisfactorily. Rousseau worked with his head in the full glare of the sun, Shelley on the hearth rug with his head close to the fire, and Bossuet, retiring to a cold room, wrapped his head in hot cloths.

It is possible that some of these devices increased the flow of arterial blood to the head, just as many can think best when exhilarated by rapid exercise or by walking up and down a

There is a time for everything, especially the fransplanting of trees and shrubs. In my opinion, based on experience, all shade trees and shrubs can be transplanted with good success ture shows herself to be awakening it shrubs and herbaceous plants.

For rhododendrons, azaleas, ilex and advance of their reception by making of the cost which the Council decided thorough mixtures of two-thirds good top soil and one-third leaf mold. While either fall or spring planting is safe, I prefer planting in fall. A mulch of from twelve to fifteen inches of leaves should be placed about them that frost may not penetrate too deeply and severely. Hybrid rhododendrons should be protected on top during the first two or three years until they have become acclimated.

The evergreens are more restricted in the time of planting. While with deciduous trees the running of the sap is the sign that transplanting must stop, evergreens should be transplanted only when the sap begins and not be continued after the new growth has made about an inch. There is a second period in August and September if the ground is not too dry and a good ball of earth about the roots can be removed. The 15th of October, I should say, is the latest date when evergreens may be transplanted safely.

A hole sufficiently large to accommodate all the roots naturally is important. It is quite as important to remove all damaged roots with a sharp knife, with a clean cut facing to the ground. Good top soil should then be firmly tramped about the roots. After the general planting has been concluded and the rush hours are over the time is ready for placing the finishing touches on the lawn.

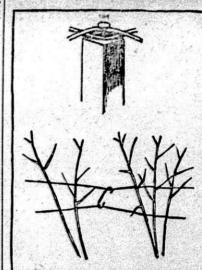

The earth should be in a good physical condition, not too wet nor too dry, and all lumps reduced. Seed should be sown by hand and cut or raked into the soil half an inch deep with an iron rake. The seed sown, the lawn should be well rolled when the soil is in proper condition so it will not stick to the roller. If the sowing has been made late in the year a covering of short, well rotted manure is advisable.-William Kleinheinz, New Jersey.

HARDY BORDER PLANTS.

The Beautiful Herbaceous Perennials and Their Proper Care.

It is a common belief that a border of hardy plants, native or otherwise, once planted is a fixture and will keep on increasing in beauty.

To a certain extent this is true when compared with summer bedding and half hardy plants in general, but if half the attention and expense were devoted to the herbaceous borders that are given to the former the results would be far more satisfactory.

To obtain the best results from the hardy border attention should be given as to how often the different kinds require transplanting. Such kinds as hollyhocks, foxgloves, Sweet Williams and Canterbury bells give the best results if treated as biennials unless planted in places peculiarly adapted for them.

Then follows the section that arrive at their best the second and third year from the time of planting. These can readily be recognized by their mode of growth. They spread and increase by an underground stem and are mostennial sunflowers, asters, goldenrods, heleniums, etc. These should be dug up and replanted about every third year and if possible their location on the border changed, as each kind of plant exhausts the soil of food peculiar to itself.

Among the kind that may be left undisturbed for a longer period are peonies, iris, dictamnus, hemerocallis, funkia, etc. These have thick, fleshy root stocks and will be satisfied with a top dressing of manure dug under in the spring.

So marked has this sometimes been in the excitement, pain, etc., a poison has been infused into the milk that has resulted in convulsions and death of the nursing child. No doubt the same animals. Experiments prove that one side of the udder of a cow may be milked and then the cow be frightened or greatly excited, and the other side be immediately milked, and a marked change will be seen to have taken place in the milk. There will be a material reduction in the per cent of fat, besides other changes. All this we know by experiment and experience, but now the milk is secreted, and by what process it is deposited in the udder the most skilled anatomist has failed to inform us. Some claim it to be a nerve production, others say it is secreted by the blood, while still others assert that it is an independent production, each giving apparently good reasons for his position.

The fact that in a single minute by fright or anger the character of the milk may be changed shows that the nerve system exercises a powerful control over it. The large quantity of blood passing from the udder to the heart through the milk veins tends to prove that, in some way, blood is an active factor in milk production, while the quantity of milk secreted is such as to render the method mysterious, as (so far as any writer whose works I have read has said) no trace of this milk is found in the blood. If in the blood, the quantity secreted in twentyfour hours is so great it would form a large portion of the blood flowing from the heart to the udder. With all the investigation that has been made up to this time we are compelled to confess that we know very little about it. Some breeds of cows produce a large butter fat globule highly colored; others a small and light colored one. This

The Dairy Steer.

Suppose the steers raised from cows bred to dairy bulls are worth a great deal less than those from cows bred to beef bulls, which they are, what steer Of San Jose scale an exchange says: will bring a profit of $50 over and "No orchard once infested seems to above the feed it will take to get him ready for the market in two and onehalf years? And yet this is what he would have to do in order to make the beef combination as profitable as the dairy type, even though the dairy steer rect in saying that dairy sires would raise the average butter yield from 150 From half to three-quarters of a full to 250 pounds, and we certainly believe
