FORT HARRISON, MONTANA

Oct. 26, 1905.

To The Utah Agri. College,

I am compiling a cyclopedia of schools and colleges of the U. S., which will be published and sent, free of cost, to every public library in the U. S., also to the High School Library of the county seat of every county in the U. S., thus reaching directly the class of boys or girls who are about to go away to school or college.

Each school or college will be given not more than five hundred words to describe its peculiar advantages with regard to location, sanitary conditions, courses of study, tuition, athletics, moral influence and such other advantages as it may have. This description to be written by the president or some responsible official of school or college, and is not to be exaggerated, although all of the good points of the institution may be brought out in as favorable manner as possible. It is also to be neatly typewritten on same size paper as this letter. Cuts for illustration should be furnished by the advertiser.

The total cost for this unique method of advertising is $20.00 and will accompany your manuscript. All manuscript must be submitted before November 20th, 1905. Only the schools and colleges that submit manuscript accompanied by $20.00 will be advertised in this catalogue.

Should the agreement proposed in this letter be violated in any manner, your money will be returned to you.

As to my reliability, I respectfully refer you to:

J. K. Toole, Gov. of Mont.

Mr. Harmon, Supt. of Public Instruction of Mont.

Gen. R. A. Alger, Detroit, Mich.

Wm. Alden Smith, M. C., Grand Rapids, Mich.

U. S. Senator Thomas Carter, Helena, Mont.

Trusting that I may receive your advertisement at once

I remain,

Very respectfully,

Loren C. Graves,

Lieut. U. S. Army.

LIEUT. LOREN C. GRIEVES,

Fort Harrison,

Montana.
