FIRST GAME OF THE SEASON IS PLAYED

AGGIES VERSUS ALL STARS MAKE GOOD SHOWING.

Aggies Play Fort Collins Next Monday.

The first game of the season was played on the A. C. campus Saturday at 3:40 between the Aggies and the All Stars.

In spite of the miserable weather the game was witnessed by a fair bunch of spectators. These were fully repaid for coming out in the cold by a game interesting from start to finish.

The teams were evenly watched and it was seldom either side was able to make their yards. At no stage in the game was either goal in danger, but had it been a dry field a score might have been expected from the Aggies as they seemed to have a better system of advancing the ball. The first, second, and third quarters were a trifle slower than the fourth in which each team made a special effort to score. With the exception of the new ruling on the forward pass no new features of the game were brought out. The forward pass was attempted twice by the All Stars. Both attempts were failures.

Our team played remarkably well considering the short practice they have had, and with a week or two more of hard work they should be in good shape to start on their schedule of hard games.

The first game of the new schedule takes place next Monday, Oct. 9, and victory for the Aggies is earnestly desired.

The line-up which will be used Monday is as follows:

Center	Martineau
Guard L.	Caine
Guard R.	Leatham-Owens
Tackles R.	Batt
Tackles L.	Emerson
Ends L.	V. Peterson
Ends R.	J. Jones (Capt.)
Half Back R.	T. Aldous
Half Back L.	D. Jones
Full Back	B. Crookston

STUDENTS HOLD FIRST MEETING

OLD AND NEW STUDENTS GET TOGETHER IN CHAPEL.

Many New Faces in Evidence At Gathering.

The first Student Body meeting of the year took place in the chapel last Friday, with President Leroy A. Stevens in the chair. The College yells and songs were gone over, the old students leading out with vigor, and the new ones joining in with a vengeance.

It was noticeable that several of the Student Body officers failed to put in an appearance when President Stevens invited them to come forward and take their places on the platform. This was due evidently to a misunderstanding regarding the day of meeting, several thinking it was class meeting instead of Student Body Day.

President Widtsoe welcomed the students. He stated briefly the purpose of the Student Body. "It is to teach the students to become self-governing in all their affairs," he said, and expressed the hope that the Attendance Committee, at present maintained by the faculty, would soon pass into the hands of the students to be regulated as they deem proper.

Dr. Widtsoe then introduced President Leroy A. Stevens, of the Student Body. This is the second year Mr. Stevens has been elected to the office and his appearance was the signal for an outburst of applause.

President Stevens urged each of the delinquent students to register as soon as possible, and announced a football game to take place upon the campus later in the day.

Song Master Ensign then took the meeting in charge. The first song was old "A. C. U. Our A. C. U." to the tune of Maryland, and the way the old students put all the pent up energy of the sum-

More Fraternities Needed in The College.

In every big school the sorority and fraternity is an essential part of the College Life.

How many college women have derived great benefit by becoming a member of some good sorority.

Who is there that will take the trouble to search out the good qualities in a man as will a Frat brother?

When a fellow is down and needs a helping hand, who is most willing to reach out that hand? The frat brother.

A school the size of the Agricultural College should have more of these organizations than it has at present; there are only three fraternities and one sorority. Let us see what they are doing.

First, we mention Sorority, one that has stood the test of time and come out on top—"Sorosis." The girls have been very busy

AGGIE CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

The first meeting of the Aggie Club, for this year took place Saturday. A goodly attendance was recorded.

The election of new officers was the occasion for the meeting. The following officers were chosen:

Byron Alder, President.
George Caine, Vice President.
Orson Israelson, Secretary.
Jenkin Jones, Treasurer.

The club rooms were newly furnished last year and the members are planning for a year of great activity. Lectures on Agricultural topics will be given from time to time by prominent speakers, and this year will witness many stirring events put on by the Aggies.

SEN. GORE MAKES STIRRING SPEECH

BLIND SENATOR DEFINES SOCIAL DUTY.

Need of Gospel of Civic Responsibility.

Before an audience that completely filled the main floor of the tabernacle Wednesday night Senator Gore of Oklahoma gave his address on "Social Duty." In an oration re-intillating with wits, surcharged with good natured humor; spiced with telling sarcasm and distinctly characterized by simple earnestness and sincerity, the noted blind statesman plead for noble citizenship and honest government with equal opportunities for all, but special privileges to none. The three attributes to the greatness of a state and nation he defined as being the intellect and morals of the people, the laws and institutions of the land, and the material resources of the country. Enlightened, constant and aggressive public sentiment he declared to be the most potent force in any national life and activity, being greater than congress, and kings, emperors and czars, thrones and dynasties. Institutions and laws of the land in the long run are made by the people for the people and in the image of the people. In material resources the senator declared that the sun in all his course looks not down on any country so blest as the United States.

Speaks With Earnestness.

Senator Gore spoke with clear strong voice, and with the grace of manner that bears evidence of skill and long experience. Though his eyes are bathed in perpetual starless night, and unseen to him are his own gestures or the countenances of the people before him, still he faces his audience easily, turning to the right and the left as though his eyes swept the whole assemblage and drew inspiration from them. His simplicity and earnestness of manner are calculated to draw the interest of an audience, but the realization of the physical limitation under which the man labors, and in spite of which he has carved for himself a place in the national hall of fame, draws out a warmth of sympathy between speaker and hearer unusual in a political address.

Without any ostentation he delivered an earnest message of advice and warning to the citizens of the great Republic of the West. In no place did he pause to allow the applause his sentiments were winning in the hearts of his auditors, and not until his address was finished and the farewell word had been said, did occasion offer itself for expression of feeling by the audience, and then a spontaneous outburst of hearty hand clapping kept the Oklahoma congressman bowing his thanks for several minutes.

Glory of a Nation.

By use of well placed epigrams which emphasized by brevity as well as by striking contrasts, he placed the essentials of his message in form to cling long in the memory. Civic duties, he said, the people could not escape if they would, and would not if they could. The glory of a nation is in the character of its citizen-ship, and of the 350 millions raised annually by taxation in this country, that expended for education is the most wisely invested. Man is a three fold being of muscle, mind and morals. To the first two of these being; there are definite limits to mans improvement, but to the development of the third being in man, the moral-man, there is no limit. Every man, woman and child may be as moral and as patriotic as the greatest sages and patriots of all history.

The form of government is not infallable proof of good government. It is said, "That form of government is best which is administered best." The speaker referred to the fact that 100 cities have adopted the commission form of government and pointed out that there is still need for active work for, said he, "the evil forces of society never sleep."

Two Much Waste.

Waste in public affairs was strongly condemned, and Senator Aldrich quoted as saying he could save $300,000,000 annually in the national budgets by introducing business methods. Reference was made to the terrible and utter waste of millions of the public funds in many appropriations for river and harbor improvements and for public buildings, illustrating one town of 1900 people where a federal building costing $179,000 is now being erected. The annual expenditure of $250,000,000 for Army and Navy was effectively contrasted with the $9,000,000 spent to advance the peaceful art of agriculture in the nation. The appropriation of $20,000,000 for 2 new battleships was set off against the $20,000,000 loaned to develop new irrigation systems, and he hope was expressed that in the future—tho maybe the dim future—a year of peace would be declared by all nations, wherein the $250,000,00 Army & Navy expenditure might be used for internal improvements and agriculture while the $9,000,000 expended for Agriculture might support the needs of the war preparations.

A plea for citizenship above partizanship was made. A plea for old fashioned Jefferson Democrats and old fashioned Lincoln Republicans. A hope that such good men would be selected for office that whichever party lost the election, the people would win.

All in all the address was inspiring, and filled with lofty sentiments of patriotism.

It's dandy to note the number of new students at school. Keep busy, get acquainted.

FRATS GETTING IN READINESS

(Continued from page one) . . . lately up in the south wing, and wondering students have been led by the sound of snapping carpets and swishing brooms, to find out what was really taking place in the upper stories. It is really a fact "Sorosis" has re-furnished its rooms in a very creditable manner, and it must be confessed that many have been tempted to "drop in" and have a snooze on the new "comfy" looking couch.

The work of the society has started in earnest and from what is known of the "bunch" great doings may be expected before many days have passed.

The Pi Zeta Pi men are gathering to their frat house on the hill, which is now ready for use, and the boys all say they are glad to get back to the old haunt again. There are about ten of the old members back this year, and they are preparing for initiations in the near future, so watch for the fun.

On Thursday night the Frat. was pleasantly entertained by Prof. Wm. Walker in compliment to Edgar Brossard, who is a Pi Zeta Pi of long standing, and is leaving for a two years sojourn in Europe.

The Phi Kappa Iota frat is starting in with a boom this year, and means to keep it up. The suite over the Co-op Drug Co., formerly occupied by Hart & Nebeker, has been rented for this year and furnished in elegant style. They have promised to have an open day before long so the visitors can judge for themselves whether or not they are really alive. Some good men have been pledged for fall initiations.

The "Sigma Alphas" are very quiet at present—which fact of course points to lively "doings" before long. Their room upon the 4th floor in the North wing, is being made ready for use, and some new furniture has been added to the supply. The boys extend an invitation to the students to call around and see where they are located.

STUDENTS HOLD FIRST MEETING

(Continued from Page One) . . . mer into the first college song of the year, harbors well for the spirit of enthusiasm that shall characterize the ensuing school period.

Johnnie Sharp, who is no bigger than a good sized yell, then initiated the bunch into the demi-semi-quavers of the various yells. The response came with a vim, the students all crowding into "mass action" in their efforts to get the noise out of their systems.

One incident only, marred the enthusiasm of the meeting and that was when the President was forced to make a special appeal to get some of the students out of their chairs during practice. However, most of the delinquents were new students and their failure to respond was due more likely to timidity, rather than a lack of college spirit.

Coach Teetzel gave a splendid talk on the system of football, after which the meeting adjourned for one month.

SCIENCE CLUB TO MEET.

The A. C. Science Club will hold its next meeting on Wednesday evening, Oct. 11th, in the woman's building, to discuss Student Life in large Universities.

Music

The Music Department of our College will be an extremely lively adjunct this year.

Regular work has already commenced in the Choir, class and in the Band. The new members of the Orchestra will meet Prof. Spieker this week.

It is reported that registration for private work is considerably in advance of previous years. Already at almost any hour of the day, one passing along the upper halls may hear the earnest student at work at the piano, on the cornet, with violin, or practicing his sol fa.

It is a well known fact that the Chapel Choir, U. A. C. Band and our Orchestra are splendid aids to the various entertainments and social functions which occur at intervals during the school year.

We take this occasion to welcome Mrs. Nettie Sloan, one of the State's most successful teachers, who returns to again head the piano department.

Since her very satisfactory work among the A. C. students several years ago, she has spent one or two years in New York under Rafael Josephy, New York's noted pianist and teacher.

We say learn the piano, violin or some other instrument while still young. The wise student is he who takes two hours from the twenty-four to study and practice music so easy to procure in this our popular and loved school.

Don't engage in it to the exclusion of the prescribed work of graduation, but do enough that you may learn to entertain your friends and better still understand the splendid works of the Great Masters.

Art

The students in art are doing some interesting work in symbolic nature study leading up to work in design.

A number of the advanced studio students have returned and with the new special students the prospects are that some record breaking work will be done.

Prof. Fletcher is exhibiting six oil paintings, two water colors, and two drawings at the State fair.

The work in decoration seen upon the walls of the faculty room, board room, president's rooms, and the President's residence was designed and supervised by the professors of the department during the summer.

Mr. Moser has been appointed instructor in drawing during the absence of Prof. Powell, who is on leave of absence studying art in Paris. We all join in wishing them both success in their work.

Mr. Moser has been asked to act as judge in the Art department of the State Fair. This came as a special request from the artists of the State.

Many people think art consist in making a natural picture or figure in sculpture. They think it is a luxury for the rich only. This may or may not be art. Art is a way; the beautiful way of doing any thing. It is not isolated from life; it is life; consistent life. If we do not love art it is because our life is not orderly and consistent.

Further announcements: Mr. E. T. Ralph was married during the summer. All the older students remember "Eph". He is at present teaching at the Lehi High school.

WHAT THE SCHOOLS ARE DOING

AGRICULTURE

Many desired improvements have taken place in the Agronomy department this year, and various others are under contemplation. One very essential addition is that of a laboratory for the Experiment Station.

In the past the Experiment work has been greatly handicapped because of the lack of suitable equipment for proper observation. Now, however, it is hoped that the analytical work can be prosecuted as those in charge of it desire.

Another feature which will add greatly to the efficiency of the department is the addition of a laboratory for advanced students in Agriculture. This is to be located in the basement of the main building. It is not yet ready but when completed it will be a valuable factor in the work.

An Agronomy Library is the third new departure. It occupies one of the new rooms made out of the former Drill Hall, and is to be stocked with the very best new and old works bearing on the subject of Agronomy.

The Nevada University has a Girls' Tennis club which expects to hold an inter-class tennis tournament. They will put up a silver cup as a trophy to go to the class carrying off the honors.

—Ex.

COMMERCE

Although most of the old students know that the Commercial department occupies the greater part of the third floor of the main building, it would be well for all new members to visit it and see the kind of work which is carried on there.

The three new courses as outlined in the last catalog are already attracting much attention, as is shown by the fact that a large number of students have changed from other courses to register under one of these. Of the three viz: Finance, Accounting and Industrial Management, the latter seems to be the most popular because it fits into the western idea of practical education. The aim of this course is to prepare men for the management of industries peculiar to the western country.

The Commercial club which was organized last year has brought the students into closer acquaintance with each other as well as with the department. The club will have a big reception for all new members in the near future.

To the young, unmarried, desirable man of good habits and fine prospects who is pondering the problem, "Do college women marry?" "Ask one of them."

—Ex.

MECHANIC ARTS

On account of the fall work, the registration in Mechanic Arts is never very large at this time of the year. We have, however, at the end of the second week an even half hundred, divided as follows:

Machine Work	13
Blacksmithing	14
Carpentry	23

This is very satisfactory.

Students from other departments who take shopwork, are not included in the above figure.

This year two new courses are offered, that of horse shoeing, and wood carving. The first, no doubt, will prove a great drawing card, because of its necessity, and therefore it should be popular.

The latter will do more to develop the aesthetic side of our students in Mechanic Arts, and it is to be hoped that they will take advantage of this opportunity.

The faculty of the Mechanic Arts department, is very optimistic of the future. Soon every school, in this great land of ours, will have it on its curriculum, and then, as intended it will prove a prime factor in our educational system.

A course in Esperanto, the new artificial language will be given at Stanford this year.—Ex.

HOME ECONOMICS

Registration in the Home Economics department shows a gratifying increase in numbers compared with registration the same day last year. In some classes the number almost doubles that of last year. The greatest increase is found in the College classes—the Sophomores being in the lead.

That all conflicts are satisfactorily arranged and the classes in good working order is evidenced by the fact that the D. S. 11 girls were treated, upon their second appearance at class, to a written quiz—the best of proof, so they think, of the working order of things in that section.

The Faculty Woman's League held their first business meeting Friday, September 29, at which was discussed a very interesting program for the coming year. Among the events are several entertainments, formal and informal, for the Home Economics girls, and for the other girls of the institution. After the business was transacted, the members were entertained by Mrs. Linnartz in one of her delightful songs, and by Mrs. Bowman with a beautifully rendered piano selection, after which light refreshments were served.

Schools and colleges report the largest entering classes ever known.—Current Events.

Alumni Notes

MRS. HERMOINE HART ROBERTS, '97.

The news of the death of Mrs. Hermoine Hart Roberts of the class of 1897 comes with a painful shock of surprise to her many friends and fellow-alumni on the U. A. C. Faculty, in Logan, and throughout Utah and surrounding states, wherever the older graduates of the College are to be found. Mrs. Roberts, who was married less than a year ago to Mr. David Roberts, rancher and commission merchant of Bloomington, Idaho, died of heart disease at her home in Bloomington, on Saturday, September the 30th and was buried in the same place Tuesday, October the 3d.

The blow came with unexpected suddenness to her family and relatives and, especially, to her friends, none of whom had heard of her illness. Hermoine S. Hart, daughter of James H. and Sabina Hart, was born in Salt Lake City, July 18, 1875, but her parents moved to Idaho the same year, and Bloomington has been her home ever since. She first came to the U. A. C. in 1892, largely self-educated because of the inaccessibility of schools in Bear Lake county during her childhood. At the U. A. C. she passed examinations permitting her to register in the freshman year in Domestic Science. She taught school at Bloomington during the year 1894-95, returned to the College and was graduated with the class of 1897, being the fourth to receive a degree in Domestic Science in the State of Utah.

After graduation Miss Hart returned to her home county and for a number of years taught school in various towns and settlements. In 1906 her executive ability was recognized by the people of her county and she was elected County Superintendent, a position which she held with honor until her resignation, just before her marriage in February, 1911.

No one could meet Mrs. Roberts and not become impressed by her perennial good humor and sweetness of temperament. Wherever she went these qualities won her friends and admirers. Her fellow alumni and her class-mates,—the class of '97 was for years the largest in the history of the College—will miss her cheerful presence at Commencement. She was a loyal supporter of the U. A. C. at all times, and made many visits to Logan and the College in the years that have elapsed since graduation. Her death is a distinct loss to her community as well as to her family and friends. The U. A. C. Alumni Association extends to the stricken relatives in this hour of sorrow, most heartfelt sympathy at the loss of one who did her best at all times to reflect credit and honor upon our Alma Mater.

Miss Eunice Estella Jacobson, of the class of '08, who spent last school year and the preceding summer as a special student at the University of Chicago in the departments of English and Physical Culture, is now instructor in these subjects in the Fielding Academy, Paris, Idaho. Before going to Chicago she was instructor in English in the L. D. S. High School, Salt Lake City, and in the Ricks Academy, Rexburg, Idaho. Miss Jacobsen will be remembered by all connected with the U. A. C. during her student days, as one of the most talented graduates of the College. She was a very active member of the Sorosis,—witness her work in their immortal Minstrel Show; she played a leading part in "She Stoops to Conquer," in "As You Like It," and in "Pygmalion and Galatea;" she sang prominent roles in several operas presented by the Music Department. The School at Paris is to be congratulated on securing the services of so versatile an instructor.

DE LAVAL

The Cream Separator by Which all others are Judged

For more than thirty years the DE LAVAL has been acknowledged as the World's Standard.

You may hear it said of some separator that "It's as good as a DE LAVAL;" or if some competing salesman wants to make his argument particularly strong he'll say "It's better than a DE LAVAL." The concern with a cheaply and poorly constructed machine says "Just as good as a DE LAVAL and costs less."

But everywhere the DE LAVAL is recognized by experienced creamerymen and dairymen and even by makers of would-be competing machines as the World's Standard

The cream separator is more frequently used than any other machine on the farm, and for that reason, if for no other, only the very best should be purchased, and that's the DE LAVAL.

The more you come to know about cream separators the more certain you will be to buy a DE LAVAL.

Classes! Wake up and organize.

President Widtsøe is in Salt Lake attending the State fair.

Speaking of the classics in English, one student said he had read Robert d Chaneery.

Married-men students of the A. C. are agitating a Married Men's club. Who'd a thunk it?

A couple of girls as the gym class were exercising on the lawn. "So that's football, is it Isn't it peculiar."

No fair getting cases in the Bacteria Laboratory. It retards the growth of the plants. Offenders take notice.

Alf. Stratford was seen at school Tuesday. He was down looking for another teacher to assist in his special work at Grace, Idaho.

President Stevens, delegated to meet Senator Gore at the station, said: "I wonder if we shouldn't get the college rig and take him out to see the sights."

Mr. Working visited the college yesterday. Mr. Working is connected with the Department of Farm management office of experiment stations. He has charge of the work in this department in Utah, Idaho and Colorado.

Ernest More was all out of sorts at the breakfast table one morning, so one of the guys inquired what was the matter. "Well," Earnest growled, "that Mr. Paek is the biggest 'Sissie.' Do you know, last night when I was sound asleep, he crawled in bed and happened to kick me on the little toe, and woke me up to say 'excuse me.'"

Miss Vera Madison is visiting at school.

Junior to Prep. "Who won the game Saturday?"

Prep.: "O, I don't know, A. C. I guess."

Lon J. coming up the hill. "This is the prettiest valley in the world. I haven't seen all the world, but I've seen Salt Lake."

Former students of the institution are continually joining us.

Miss Funk denies all accusations made against her, and registered in her maiden name.

The music rendered Wednesday in chapel by Prof's Thatcher and Spieker and Mrs. Spieker was certainly enjoyed. We wish every day were Wednesday.

Several girls, while they were waiting for some meat in the Bacteria Lab., strayed out and happened to meet the teacher. One girl said: "We are going out to meet the meat."

Hervin Bunderson also decided during the summer (perhaps) that it was not well for a man to live alone. Anyway, he was married shortly before school commenced and makes his headquarters down in the seventh ward in a cozy little cottage built for two.

A number of last year's degree graduates and students of the institution, who are teaching in different parts of the valley, were seen in the halls Saturday. Some were visiting, while others were arranging for special work during the winter. Among them were Ivan Egbert, June Andrews, Henry Plant, Lelia Taylor, Jennie Nyman, Irene Izatt, "Crimson" Lindsay and Leroy Beagley.

"Keep the week day holy."

"Don't cry peeling other people's onions."

Why don't the amusement committee loosen up and give us a dance?

Dr. Robert Stewart gave a paper before the Millers convention at Salt Lake Wednesday.

Don't forget to remember the game next Monday. All be out and learn the cheers and songs in the meantime.

VOL. 10. NO. 3.
Friday, October 6, 1911.

BY WAY OF GETTING ACQUAINTED. In assuming charge of the editorial affairs of Student Life we confess to a feeling of trepidation. Student Life stands as the advocate and champion of the rights of some twelve hundred students. This in itself demands that the men and women responsible for its conduct shall give to their work the very best thought of which they are capable. In addition to this Student Life has attained to a position of prestige among the college journals of the West. Many of the best men and women that the College has boasted in the past have given freely of their time and talents in placing the paper where it now stands.

IT MUST NOT GO DOWN! Its motto is onward and upward. Small wonder then that we feel to take up our labor "in fear and trembling." We take heart in the thought, however, that it is not the paper of the editor. Nor is it the property of the Business Manager, nor the staff. It is the organ of the Students!

Its success or failure depends upon just one factor, and that factor is YOU. The paper was started in the beginning to bring out the latent talent of the students. That is the present purpose. Whether its columns shall be bright and breezy; sparkling with wit and wisdom, to quote the poet: "a thing of beauty and a joy forever," or whether it shall fall into what Grover Cleveland described as a condition of "innocuous desuetude," weakly mouthing the vain "abberations" of the editor, remains for you to say. Do not complain if it fails to attain to all you now expect of it. A paper cannot continue without suitable material for its columns. And should ever the dearth of suitable material become too great, we shall close up our official sanctum and spend our time to better advantage down by the river side listening to the grass grow.

The box for literary contributions is placed just outside the door of Student Life room. Turn in your efforts in poetry and prose and let us be "all together all the time, for a better and brighter Student Life."

WHEN THE CROWD YELLS. Were you in attendance at the first Student Body meeting last Friday? Did you notice that a number of those present sat quietly back in their chairs while the crowd was practising the old college yells? Were you one of the delinquents? If you were let us say just a word to you. Those yells are the articulate expression of the pent up enthusiasm of the Agricultural College of Utah! Do you catch our meaning? Many a weary athlete struggling vainly to bring honor to his Alma Mater has felt himself suddenly rejuvenated; spurred on from certain defeat to glorious victory, as one of those old yells, issuing from the throats of several hundred fellow students has fallen upon his ears. Many a game of football or baseball has turned upon a college yell given at the right moment. And then, it does the student good to let out a good, rousing yell once in awhile. Most of our school work is sedentary. The study of science requires the closest kind of mental application. To offset what might otherwise be the calamitous effects of a rigid course of study the wiser minds that have passed through a similar course, have inaugurated the student activities. Properly appreciated they serve as a safety valve to let off a little of the pent up feeling. The only way to enjoy an activity of any kind is to get the spirit of it. And here we come to the quibbling point of it, yelling isn't "dignified." It isn't "ladylike"—for let us venture the hope that there isn't a MAN at the A. C. who ever needs preaching to on the subject of the college yell—it tends to unsex girls. Bosh! Pick out the girls who have been most enthusiastic over the college activities of the past and show wherein they have failed to manifest the traits which glorify womanhood. Have they made poorer sweethearts, wives, or mothers than they would have done had they gone through college like superannuated old women, with a sneaking idea of their own importance? Not much! Those girls yelled for the Agricultural College of Utah! They just couldn't help it. They forgot all about themselves, or what folks might say, and became for the time being, just a part of the old A. C.

That is the spirit that counts. It is the spirit that makes the world go round.

However, if you can't join in the yell, or the song; if you just can't enthuse to the point of self-forgetfulness, why next time the boys and girls of the A. C. enthuse, just betake yourself to the zoological laboratory and spend the period of foolishness contemplating the clam, for the clam is most fearfully and wonderfully made.
