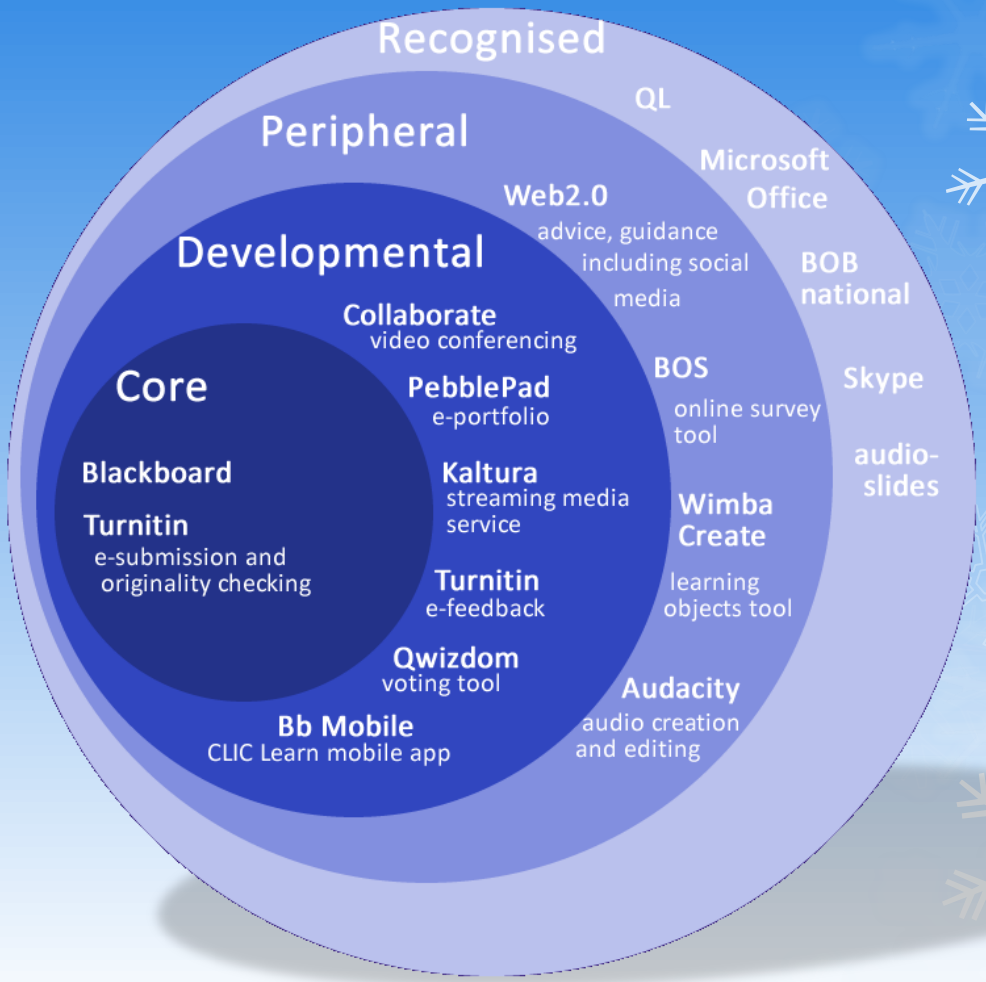
I’m streaming of a white Christmas

The “greatest”* digital story every told

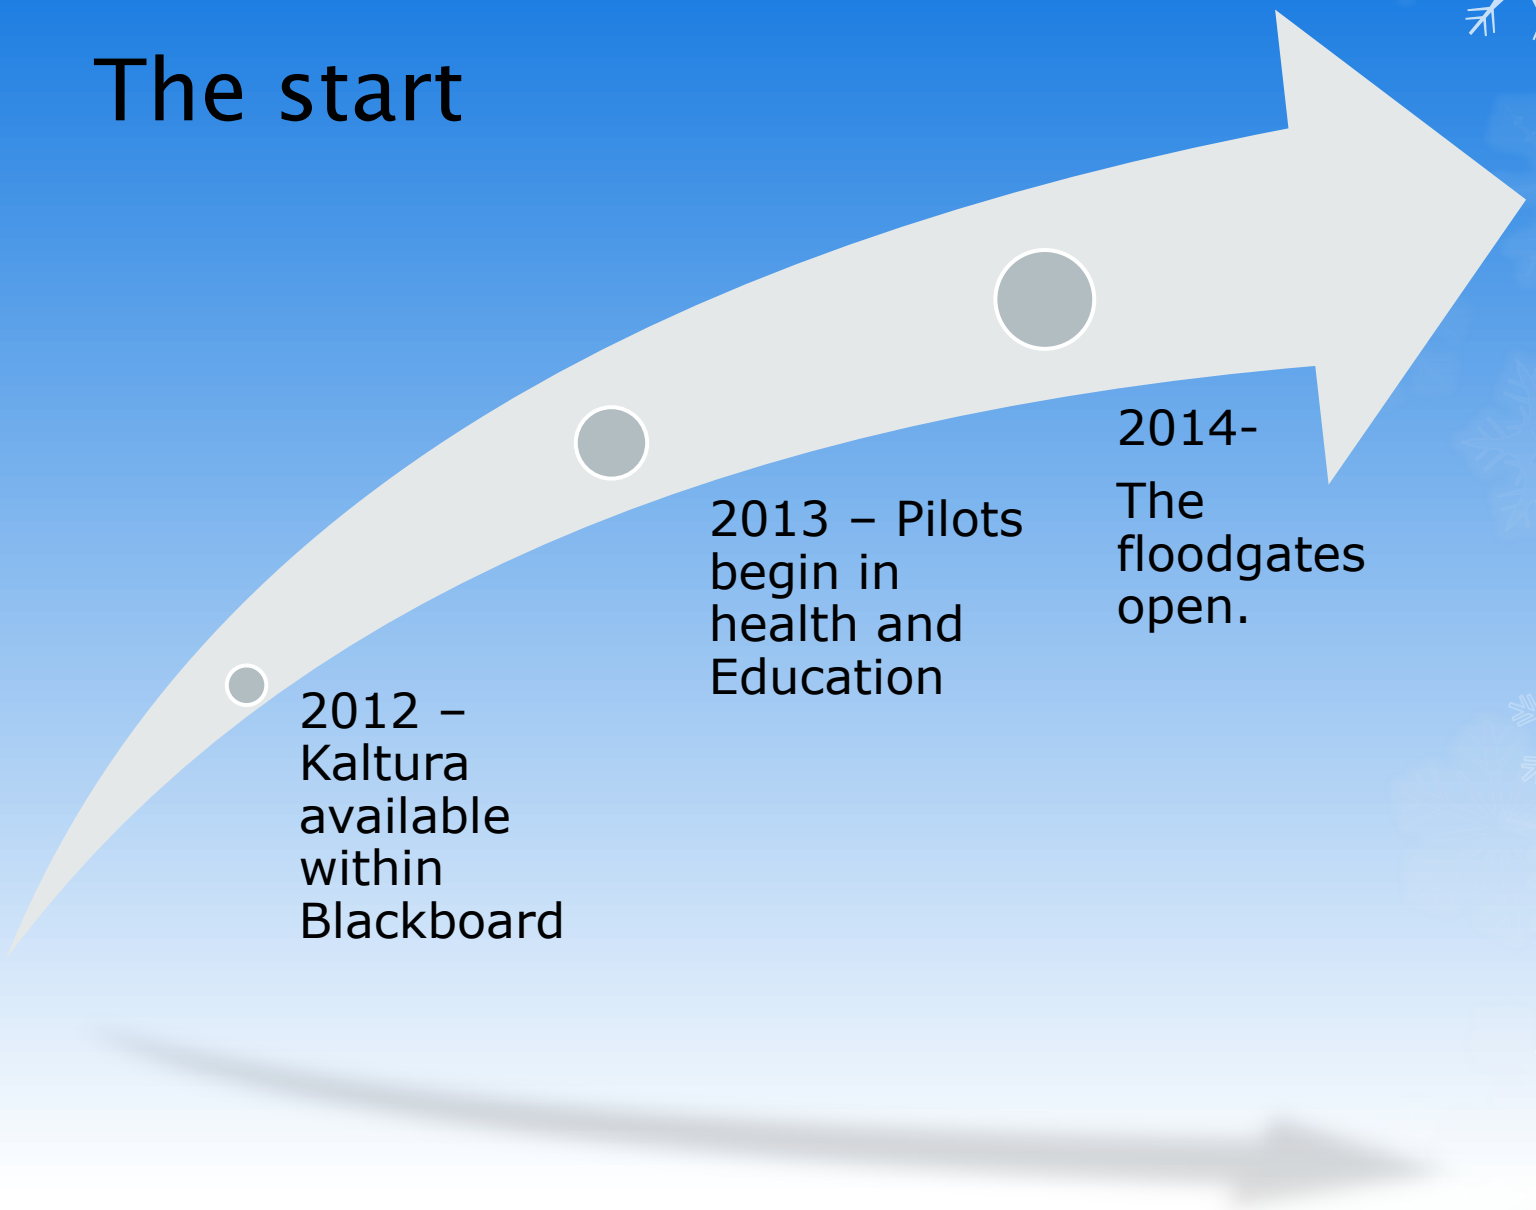
Lynne Burroughs – Faculty Learning Technologist
Dr Lioba Howatson-Jones – Senior Lecturer
Sam McFarlane – Faculty Learning Technologist

Who are we?



Canterbury Christ Church University

The start



2012 – Kaltura available within Blackboard
2013 – Pilots begin in health and Education
2014-
The floodgates open.

2013 – Pilots begin in health and Education

1) Teaching observations (Post-Compulsory Education)

2) Providing instruction around the contexts of participation tool (Occupational Therapy)

Kaltura is an easy to use tool, not necessarily requiring face to face training.

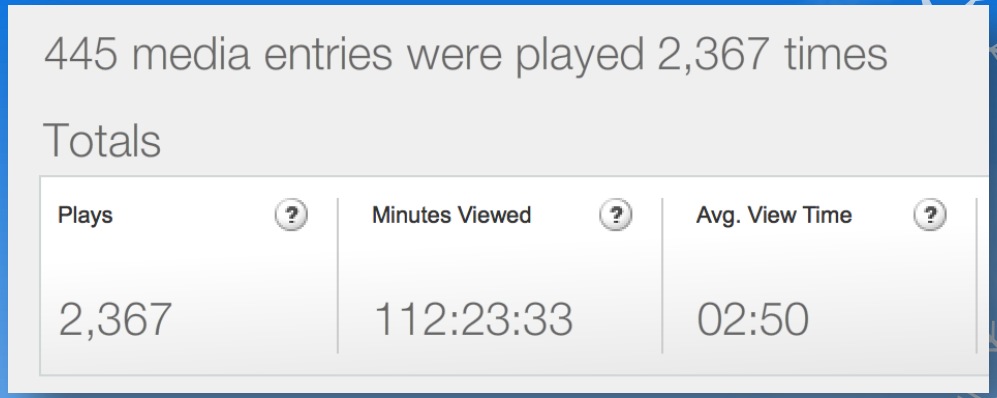
Students could not upload files to Kaltura from home, where presumably broadband connections were not sufficiently fast.

Users of Kaltura often require information on video equipment, shooting videos and file compatibility.

It takes time and effort to organise and produce most forms of multi-media.

2014-

The floodgates open??



Too much technical change

Time

A gimmick

Technical issues affecting webcam use

Version did not have the killer app.

Current Use

- Talking head videos
- Flipped classroom
- Help videos (screencasts) in our LMS.
- Student assessed work

The future

turnitin

Sustainable future - ideas

- Moving out of Learning and Teaching
  - Streaming Vice Chancellors Speech
  - Providing functionality for the University record label
- Looking into Capturespace for lecture recording.
- Video Presentations – linking that to digital storytelling, talking head.
- Housekeeping
