Supervisors Approve Barring Sex Offenders from Ice Cream Trucks

The Black Voice News SAN BERNARDINO

The San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors this week approved an ordinance proposed by First District Supervisor Brad Mitzelfelt that would prevent sex offenders from obtaining a business license to operate an ice cream truck. Supervisor Mitzelfelt proposed drafting the ordinance recently in coordination with a bill proposed in the State Legislature by Assemblyman Paul Cook (R-Yucca Valley).

"I'm pleased the Board agreed with me in taking this common-sense precaution," Supervisor Mitzelfelt said. "This will give parents additional peace of mind that the person driving the neighborhood ice cream truck is not a sex offender.

Assemblyman Cook earlier this year introduced Assembly Bill 2169, which would have prohibited cities and counties from issuing a business license to operate an ice cream truck to registered sex offenders. That bill has since stalled in the Assembly, but the County ordinance proposed by Mitzelfelt would enact such a prohibition in San Bernardino County in spite of the bill not passing.

Assemblyman Cook proposed his bill after parents in a Riverside County neighborhood found out their local ice cream truck driver was a registered sex offender. The parents were alarmed to find out, after reporting the incident to police, that it was not against the law for the man to operate the truck. Several other incidents of sex offenders operating ice cream trucks have been reported in munities There are more than 250 ice cream trucks operating in San Bernardino County. The ordinance will go into effect July 3, 2008.

June Statewide Primary: Election Staffs In Overdrive

Welcome to 2008. It's been a mind boggling year if you love to vote and a crazy nail-biting year if your job is to make sure those thousands and thousands of ballots get printed, mailed, sorted, scanned, counted and double checked.

U.S.

With the now historic Super Tuesday, Feb 5, California presidential primary in the win columns of Sens. Hillary Rodham Clinton and John McCain, local election offices are once again in overtime mode. With three major statewide elections this year full time staffers and volunteers are preparing for what promises to be'an election tsunami, a prospect that both thrills and alarms them.

Much of that voter interest has been stoked by a drawn-out and highly competitive Democratic contest between two historic candidates: Sen. Barack Obama and Sen. Clinton.

But interest also has been unusually high on the Republican side. On Super Tuesday alone, turnout records were set in 15 states where both parties held primaries. Twelve states saw record-breaking Democratic turnout while 11 set Republican turnout records.

With the June 3 statewide primary just weeks away and the Nov 4 general election on the horizon Registrars of Voters are bracing for what is

Giving A Community Confidence

The scene at Anne Shirrells Community Park on California Street in San Bernardino this past Saturday with all the children having fun brought a flash back to the sixties. The Westside was plagued with high unemployment, especially with Black and Latino kids and the genesis of gangs had begun to emerge. The youth of our city had nothing to take hold of, so Southern California Edison, The United Way, the faith community including St Paul AME, New Hope MBC, Delman Heights Four Square Gospel, St. Anthony, Our Lady of Guadalupe, local schools Muscott Elementary School Vernon and Mount Elementary School all worked independent of each other but had Boy Scout troops and Cub Scout packs.

Edison provided the leadership by recruiting and encouraging its employees to get involved in their community. Some of the volunteers that stepped forward were Don Griggs, Pete Baez, Ruben Amador, Al Yzaguirre, Frank Palomino and me (all of Edison). Wilbur Brown was at the home Of Neighborly Service. Jess Flores was a scout leader at Urbities Elementary School. And Alaska Jones was at New Hope.

Operation Pheonix, even the animals in the petting zoo get along.

At that time, just like now, no planned activities were ongoing so they decided to have a Camporee in the local park on 9th Street where the Boys and Girls Club is now located. For an entire weekend 100 boys had fun practicing first aid on each other, cooking over open camp fires, tying knots, running relays, singing around the campfire but most importantly getting to know one another.

This same spirit has been captured by Operation Phoenix in Anne Shirrells Park under the leadership of Rev. Bonica Nettles Martindale, Councilmember Rikke Van Johnson and Mayor Pat Morris. Operation Phoenix, the brain child of Mayor Morris, uses a collaboration of many agencies, city departments and community organizations to do a common good for the community they all serve. In doing so no one agency or person shares the full load of suppression, prevention and intervention in the community. Crime, unemployment, highschool dropouts, teenage pregnancy, and city blight are community problems which take a whole city to solve.

Chancellor Appointment

RCCD has been without a permanent Chancellor for a long time now. This void has been hurtful to RCC because strong leadership connections have not been established. This appointment is urgent due to the financial instability in the state. It is critical to make connections with neighboring educational agencies to be able to coordinate efforts. The RCCD Board must act with one voice and make a selection. The Board demonstrates a lack of leadership if they can't come together.

They did not begin a search until late, then they did a search, brought candidates before faculty and community, and then opened the process again.

Two candidates have now been selected, brought before faculty and community again. If they open the process again, RCCD Board of Trustees will be viewed as weak. The one final candidate that should be considered is Dr. Raúl Rodríguez is from California, familiar with the community college system, he can hit the road running. I encourage the Board to support and make this appointment unanimously. His strengths cannot be diminished.

Assembly Speaker Karen Bass Makes History

Letter to the Editor

Today at the California State Capitol, Assembly Member Karen Bass made history when she was sworn in as the first African American woman to lead a legislative body in the United States. Former Assembly Speakers Honorable Robert T. Monagan; Honorable Willie L. Brown, Honorable Herb J. Wesson, Jr.; Honorable Cruz M. Bustamante; and Honorable Antonio R. joined Villaraigosa; Speaker Emeritus Fabian Núñez and Governor Arnold Schwarzenegger to usher in Bass as the 67th Speaker of the California State Assembly.

After the swearing-in, which was conducted by Speaker Emeritus Núñez, Speaker Bass delivered the following speech:

"To the former Speakers who joined me today as my escorts - -you honor us with your presence the way your service honored this house and this state. Thank you for taking the time to be here today. Since I have been in the legislature I have sought each of you for your guidance, critique and solidarity. And I thank you for that - and assume you'll be available for many more phone calls.

Members....honored guests...dear friends and family....since my election on February 28th to be the 67th Speaker of the Assembly, I have had the opportunity and experience to be part of an incredible transition - part of a complex and comprehensive process of receiving the torch from the 66th Speaker of the Assembly, Fabian Núñez.

I know the job ahead of me as Speaker will be both easier and harder because of the example set by Speaker Núñez.

Easier because of the outstanding processes he has put in place for this house. Harder because of the high threshold he has set for results.

Mr. Speaker, thank you so much for your leadership, your friendship, and, especially, for the enormous generosity of spirit you have shown me during this seamless transition.

Members, as Mr. Speaker men-the pain?" Members, we have to respond to the current economic crisis the same way we would a natural disaster.

We have to toss aside the boxes we put ourselves in and the labels we. place on others and come together to. get the job done.

I believe part of that job has got to, involve looking at the big pictureand really examining California's overall economic structure.

Most importantly, we have to ask the question of whether a tax struc-, ture that was established in the. 1930s is sufficient to meet the needs of Californians in 2008

And, frankly, members I think we need an answer to that question that is developed outside the day-to-day give-and-take here in the legislature.

To answer this question I have asked for help. I have asked 2 for, mer Governor's - Governor Pete, Wilson and Governor Gray Davis to assist the legislature in identifying the leadership and membership of an independent Commission to examine California's tax structure.

This will be a bipartisan group of California's brightest to work, together for one year to develop rec-, ommendations on how we can iden-, tify more consistent sources of revenue - the way 12 other States have already accomplished.

As we work to resolve the immediate challenge before us, the efforts. of this commission can help us find ways to prevent California from cycling through crisis after crisis, after crisis.

Mr. Villines, I am just as committed to working with you and your team. I want to continue and maintain the high level of civility that has been a hallmark of Speaker Núñez tenure.

I want to urgency of our cause to be marched by the unity in our commitment. The weight of history is not just on my shoulders.

And we've embraced each other through new children - Lori Krekorian - and grandchildren life's blessings as well.

If we could only harness the power of our common humanity, I don't think there's anything we couldn't do for the people of this state.

And members, they truly do need us now

People are losing their homes. People are losing their jobs. People are scared about the future in a state that should be all about hope for the future.

schools and met with teachers and school board members in San Diego and Norwalk where teachers received layoff notices.

California is a giant in crisis - and

By all accounts it will not be good

There are still some city officials who have not caught on to the vision but for those who have, we thank them. We have also witnessed a change in the police department's attitude toward the community thanks to the community standing tall and expressing its concerns.

Yes, this past Saturday hundreds of citizens went to the park in their neighborhood and enjoyed games, exercise equipment, computers, and yes -- one another -- without having to pay high gas prices for the trip. This is a big step in fighting crime and a giant step in giving a community confidence in believing in itself. Everyone can see their neighbors want peace, joy and happiness and are willing to stay and fight for it.

American Farmers Trade Tractors for Mules

We often see on television and read in the print media stories of how in third world countries farmers use mules and oxen to farm their crops. Well the George Bush administration has success where all other presidents have failed. Last week I read a story of an American farmer plowing his fields with mules while his tractors were parked. He said the gasoline was so high it would not profit him to use the tractors. Yes George Bush has thrown us backwards instead of moving the country forward. The only people who have moved up the ladder when it comes to profits and income are oil companies and the rich. The high cost of living has not touched them at all and I hate to speculate on what the Bush administration people will make when they leave office. I wonder how much the oil companies will pay them to make speeches in oil rich countries or join their boards of directors.

Yes George Bush and his policies have taken the tractors from the American farmers and given them mules. Way to go President Bush.

tioned, I do feel the weight of history on my shoulders today - as the first African American woman in U.S. history elected to head a state legislative body.

Consistent with the African side of African-American tradition, I begin today by acknowledging and honoring those people who have shaped my life but are no longer here to share my life.

My mother who taught all of us that the most important words in our vocabulary must be dignity, integrity and honor

My last image of her was watching her walking down the hospital corridor - she held her head high yet I knew she knew her life was about to end.

My father who never wanted me to run for office - because he was afraid I'd be hurt.

But yet he was the one who introduced me to politics, watching the civil rights movement on the nightly news and trying to help me understand the concept of legal segregation in the South where he was from--he instilled in me the passion to fight for justice and equality.

They are not here, but their presence is constantly felt and is represented today by my three brothers -Kenneth, Keith and Kevin Bass.

Will my brothers please stand. My beloved daughter and son-in-law - who I miss every single day. 'I look out on the floor - I sat where Assemblymember Eng sits and the memory is seared in my mind - of my daughter Emilia, who sat next to me during my first swearing in and giggled at the formality. Her then boyfriend - Mike - who would soon become my son-in law, sat in the gallery with eyes as big as saucers at the enormity of it all.

Emilia and Mike are not here, but their presence is constantly felt and she is represented today by her siblings - my step children - who have been in my life since the day you were born---Scythia, Omar and Yvette Lechuga - please stand.

And Emilia's best friends - my other daughters - who are very much a part of my life - Denise-Julia, Rolanda, Sterling, Ebony and Tiffany - will you please stand.

than Russia or India or Spain. We have it all.

The movie studios I represent in the 47th Assembly District use software created in Ms. Lieber's district. Professors at Ms. Wolk's UC Davis help Mr. Berryhill's farmers improve their crops.

And who wouldn't enjoy a glass of Ms. Evans Napa Valley chardonnay watching the sun set over Mr. Plescia's La Jolla coast?

More than 50,000 companies in our districts export products around the globe

20% of all U.S. trade - about a half a trillion dollars - passes in some way through California. Workers at our ports handle more than 40% of the nation's container cargo.

Almost one-third of all U.S. biotech firms are located in California, and we have more biotech jobs here than all the other states put together.

And it's no coincidence the biotech industry was founded here when more than 50 Nobel Prize winners have been associated with the University of California.

We are a $94 billion tourism industry and the nation's top travel destination. Millions of visitors come here every year to enjoy 1100 miles of coast and 300-foot redwood trees.

The laptops on our desk should remind all of us that the California visionaries who founded Silicon Valley in a garage, have changed the way the world lives, learns and leads · Thanks to California you can find anything you could possibly want on Google ... and then when you get tired of it you can turn around and sell it on E-bay.

Our 80,000 farms and ranches produce more than $30 billion worth of goods. And we export more than $10 billion of those goods - 350 commodities in all - everything from almonds and artichokes to turkeys and tangerines.

Among us we represent Koreatown, Little Saigon, Little Ethiopia, Little India and Little Armenia- little pieces of a lot of places.

California is a giant of a state - but solve the budget crisis.

If we can mobilize our resources to respond to major disasters like Northridge and Whittier and Loma Prieta - we must be able to respond to the budget crisis.

The wildfires in Sierra Madre in April reminded us all too well of the infernos we faced in 2007.

The combination of economic recession, the mortgage meltdown and skyrocketing prices for food and fuel are having the same destructive force as an earthquake or fire.

When you lose your home, can't feed your family, or can't afford health care for your kids, it's an

As we all move forward, it should be with the understanding that a society will be judged on the way it cares for its people.

As Speaker, I want you to judge me on how I am able to bring together the best of your talents, your experience, and, yes - the best of your hearts - to help build the kind of society that California deserves. Thank you members. Let's get to work."

The Board of Supervisors recently approved a $2,000 allocation to support the San Antonio Hospital Foundation.

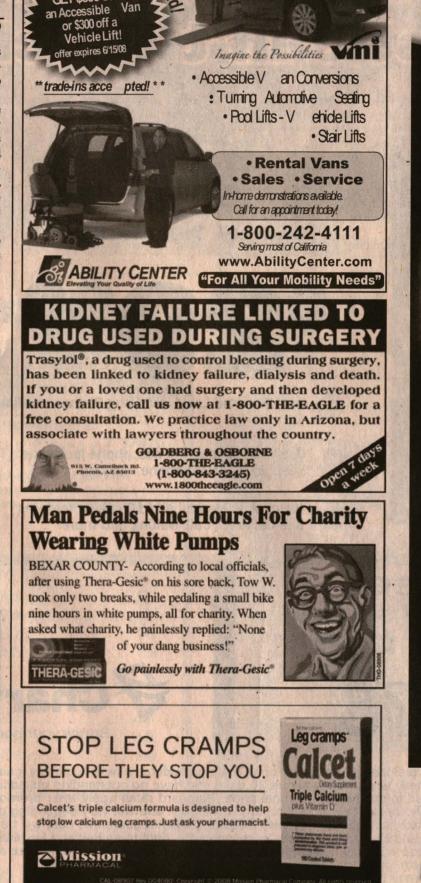

The foundation supports the efforts of San Antonio Community Hospital. Foundation funding is used to enhance hospital care and to provide health services and education to the public. For example, the Foundation provides scholarships to nurses so they can enhance their skills by furthering their education. Foundation funding also enables the hospital to participate in community health fairs and other public events.

"The Foundation allows the hospital to do many great things for the community, and it will play an integral role as the hospital continues to grow and expand the quality medical services it offers," said Board of Supervisors Chairman Paul Biane, who requested the allocation.

The hospital plans to build a new tower that will add 104 beds to the main facility in Upland. The hospital also plans to expand its emergency room.

San Antonio Community Hospital is a 279-bed acute care medical facility with satellite offices in Rancho Cucamonga and Fontana. The hospital is a nonprofit organization governed by a 15member Board of Trustees.

Dr. Ribeau will assume leadership as Howard University's 16th President on August 1, 2008.

"I am excited by the opportunity to serve this historic institution." said Dr. Ribeau. "Howard is a remarkable university, a truly international university and one that has made significant contributions not only in this country but around the world, training principally African Americans for global leadership roles in America and the world."

charismatic executive who works effectively inside and outside the institution he heads," said Gen. Colin L. Powell, US Army (Ret.), who with Richard D. Parsons, Chairman of the Board of Time Warner, Inc., cochaired the Howard University Search Committee.

"Dr. Ribeau brings to Howard a complete academic resume having served as professor, dean and vice president," Mr. Parsons noted. "He has built a well-rounded and impressive resume as a scholar and academic leader in higher education and has a solid record as an effective fundrais-

"We are delighted to announce Dr. Ribeau's appointment," said A. Barry Rand, Chair of Howard's Board of Trustees. "He brings to Howard a history of extraordinary achievement. During his tenure at Bowling Green he demonstrated his ability not only to grow an institution but to foster and sustain academic excellence.

We believe Dr. Ribeau's personal attributes and demonstrated leadership in higher education are the right combination to lead Howard into the future and build upon the contributions of the current and past presidents."

Dr. Ribeau's appointment came after an eight-month, nationwide search to replace the University's current President, H. Patrick Swygert, who last Spring announced his plans to retire in June 2008 after 13 years of service to the University. The presidential search was conducted by Heidrick & Struggles, Inc, an international executive search firm.

In addition to his responsibilities at Bowling Green University, Dr. Ribeau serves as a Trustee for Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association and on the President's Council for the National Collegiate Athletic Association. In the State of Ohio, he has served as Chair of the Inter-University Council 0 Presidents. He is also actively involved throughout the community working with the Bowling Green Area Community Partnership, Regional Growth Partnership, Toledo Symphony, Convergys Corporation, Anderson's Inc., and Worthington Industries.

That makes me happy." Happy was not a part of Albert Rankin's lexicon. On Monday, he pumped $50.00 into his luxury Cadillac.

"Normally I'd be filling up and springing to Vegas. Not this year," says the frustrated telecommunications retiree. "These prices are outrageous. I only drive where I absolutely have to. No more unnecessary trips," says Rankin.

Like Rankin and Roney, Americans are driving less, trimming vacations and cutting back on daily essentials. Seven in ten say they feel the pinch as nationwide retail gasoline hit an all time high of $3.78 a gallon. In California that translates to $4.00 regular unleaded and that pressure is felt increasingly by middle-income and higher income families.

The view from Bill and Glenda Smith's Fontana home is breathtaking. Their backyard is acres of scenic wilderness rising to 10064 feet Mt. Baldy. From their patio, you can watch the setting sun explode into orange and crimson before disappearing into a rolling ridge on the western horizon.

When the Smith's bought into their modern-day American suburban dream a gallon of gas was $1.71. -$160 a month for their Cadillac Seville. It beat paying more for a similar house in Orange County closer to Bill's job as a manager for a water distribution company.

But now, with premium unleaded gas hovering around $4.29 a gallon and rising, the Smith's are getting soaked at the pump to the tune of more than $415 a month (for one car), nearly triple their cost four years ago. They are among many families of modest means. who took on big commutes from exurbia for a taste of tranquility and upward mobility.

"Now I'm just going to work and coming home - not doing anything else," said Glenda. Giving up the occasional Starbucks latte and movie hasn't been the hardest part. More difficult was having to tell her 8 and 10 year old daughters - no summer computer camp in Big Bear this year. You have to think about it: If I drive them to Big Bear once a week, and pick them up, I won't have enough gas to get to work the rest of the week."

They're devastated, said Glenda, who makes a daily 140-mile round trip from San Bernardino to her teaching job in Barstow. "Instead of going to the market as often, if I don't have it, I just make do. In our neighborhood, we just borrow from each other.'

Some would be drivers are opting for less energy-dependent alternatives simply for money's sake.

In Perris, Cal State SB graduate student Lashanda Moses sold her gas guzzling Ford truck and now relies on the bus to get around. CSSB senior Lisa Griggs spent $6.00 on gas for her Ford Expedition at a 76 station in Los Angeles just so she could make it to a cheaper gas station east of the city. Next week she's trading in her guzzler for the wildly popular fuel efficient-Toyota Prius Hybrid car.

"Bigger used to be a status symbol" of success and prosperity that's changed suddenly smaller is better," said Griggs

The increase in gas prices comes at a time when many Americans of modest means are already finding themselves squeezed by increased insurances, wages that have not kept pace with inflation, and the exploding pressure of adjustable rate mortgages.

American Automobile Association (AAA) polls show that 63 percent of respondents have cut back on their driving because of the gas priceincrease, and 56 percent had cut back on other household spending. 32 percent say soaring prices have become a hardship. Nearly half said they expected to change their summer vacation as a result.

And everyone it seems is willing to join in the griping.

"Its hell," said Rankin. "I just feel like the oil companies are gouging us because they can. They got us between a rock and a hard spot and no one can do anything about it."

As for former BMW driving Roney, "It's a real disappointment you work hard for a taste of the good life. Then you get slapped. It's a snowball effect, when the price of fuel goes up so does everything else food, clothes, that trip to Vegas. We as the small man are squeezed in the middle. We have no choice but to grin and bear it."

Our Bodies EVISTER, JR. F.A.C.P. F.A.C.P.M.

Your Aging Brain

Dear Dr. Levister: My mother died from Alzheimer's disease last year. I'm 51. Lately I've noticed I'm more forgetful. Should I be worried? B.W.

Dear B.W. As our biological clock ticks, most of us notice changes in the way our brain functions. These changes are a normal part of aging and are usually not a cause for worry, although serious cognitive difficulties should be assessed by a doctor.

Age chips away at our brain cells, just as it chips away at other cells of our body. But the wear and tear differs from individual to individual. Some of us live to a ripe old age with little evidence of cognitive decline; others experience early mental decline or the onset of diseases such as dementia and Alzheimer's disease.

Some brain changes are inevitable with aging; others may be avoidable. Factors such as stress, lifestyle and diet can greatly affect how our brain weathers the years.

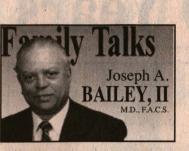

Ever notice how people who smoke cigarettes or drink too much alcohol look older than their age? Lonely people, seriously obese people, poor people, individuals who live in stressful environments or have stressful jobs are highly vulnerable to chronic depression, are typically less healthy and are at great risk for early brain decline.

A study published in a recent issue of the journal Neurology underscores the importance of stress in age associated mental decline. The study suggests that chronic mental stress and poor physical health can greatly speed up cellular aging and hasten brain cell death

Building on these studies, researchers have found that individuals who maintain a healthy lifestyle, engage in regular physical and mental activity and reduce stress stave off early widespread brain cell death and mental decline.

That's why it's important to take steps to reduce risk factors that can lead to brain aging and to undertake measures that can help keep your brain active, alert and healthy.

Ecclesia Christian Fellowship Open House and Ribbon Cutting Ceremony

Import and export mean to carry in and out of harbor or country. Thus, many words have sprung from Latin, "portus" (Anglo-Saxon-port, harbor). Because the port, harbor, or gate to an ancient city was the avenue of much concern, originally the word "important" related to international trade. The Important is that which is worth bringing into harbor (or into oneself)-that which has weight-and is of value and/or of worth. One reason Ancient Africans and peoples Classifying The Important located around the Mediterranean Sea were so smart is that they utilized the best of what was "imported"-i.e. that which was carried into their ports and harbors. The ancient Greeks and Romans particularly wanted what Africans had developed, to their birth, over thousands of years prior. The things of greatest importance to the Greeks and Romans were whatever African contributions they needed to build their civilization (social and technical development) and culture (spiritual and intellectual development).

What is important permeates every part of ones life and exactly what is chosen is a personal decision. To illustrate, let us look at the classification used by a generic person with good character. First, one considers the Immaterial Realm. For Ancient Africans, who I believe had the world's best ever system of what is important, the Absolutely most important was God. From their beliefs about God they built the most important selfhood mastery paradigms--that of Ma'at (Love in action) and Nonaggression. Second, is the Sublime (the Intangible) where the human mind can find "Seeds" of the highest quality of whatever one needs-Truth, Beauty, Goodness, Harmony, and Unity. The "Seed" is the most important part of the Tree because it contains all the "genes" that will give rise to the rest of the tree; it determines the order of arrangement of the tree's parts; and it replaces any damaged or lost (e.g. when someone breaks off a limb) parts. Hence, to study the "Seed" gives you more information about the composition of the rest of the Tree than studying any other part because all parts of the rest of the Tree have whatever comes out of the "Seed."

Third is the Unbounded Tangible realm. During a marriage, the bride and groom use their respective lit candles to light a third candle. This symbolically removes the separateness of the couple and forms a standard for the structure of the marriage. That structure becomes more important than are either the bride or the groom as individuals. Fourth, the Partially Bounded Tangible introduces both the most important things of what you want and the most important of what you do not want. These are under the umbrella of your System of Values-i.e. things of Worth (e.g. Love, peace, harmony) and things of Value (e.g. material things like money, possessions, power over people). Fifth is the Concrete realm. Similarly, it is about what you want (e.g. creature comforts) and what you do not want (e.g. needless struggle for others and for oneself-especially to not be dependent in your old age). When one is giving consideration to what to focus on in ones Purpose in Life-the most important goal one can choose-- one looks at each of these five categories. For selections to be at their best, one must rise above any desire for recognition, fame, or money. At the same time one must successfully deal with lacks, losses, and obstacles. To make the best decisions about each of these realms requires the use of ones Pure Feelings (not emotions) properly integrated with ones Rational Thinking so as to formulate a goal for the greater good and that will endure.

learning to play football or basketball swimming is a personal safety skill. No one has died from an inability to play any sport for example, but many have died from an inability to swim.

In my opinion, Black females drown much less than Black males for one reason - vanity; they're reluctant to get their hair wet and therefore enter deep water less often but still drown more than white and Latino girls.

Lack of swimming skills among Blacks is generational. If a parent doesn't know how to swim or has knowledge of water safety it's unlikely that they'll stress the importance of these skills to their chil-

De La Hoya/HBO Impress Mayweather Rematch Next

The Black Voice News
CARSON

Transformed into a boxing venue, the Home Depot Center provided a stage for someone other than David Beckham. Not since 1971 when Mando Ramos fought Chango Carmona in the coliseum has professional boxing drawn a large outdoor live gate in Los Angeles. Over Cinco De Mayo weekend, who else could promote and deliver fan value than Oscar De La Hoya. De La Hoya's "Golden Boy Promotions" agreed to cross market the event with HBO and make the fight card available to a large non pay per view audience. De La Hoya may not need to raise his "Q" rating between big fights, however, he has embraced his unique role of holding up the credibility and honor of the sweet science. He is the ultimate promoter, someone who can raise the billboards and deliver in the ring.

Billed as a tune-up for a much anticipated rematch with Floyd Mayweather Jr., De la Hoya agreed to take on Steve Forbes at 150 pounds. Forbes won the reality TV series called "The Contender" posted a record of 33-5 and a super-featherweight belt. De La Hoya prepared for this bout in Puerto Rico and reunited with trainer Floyd Mayweather Sr.

On fight night, 27,000 packed the Home Depot Center to watch De La Hoya go to work on Steve Forbes. The fight went the distance as De La Hoya worked on his jab and left hook. To ring side observers, De La Hoya appeared to be relaxed and fluid. By comparison, De La Hoya's hand speed and foot work was superior. Fight stats revealed that De La Hoya threw 406 jabs to 470 for Forbes, but twice as many of those connected for Oscar. De La Hoya was also ahead in power punches thrown and connected. De La Hoya looked like the bigger boned fighter that he is for that weight as he danced on his toes and had his way all night. The decision was unanimous.

De La Hoya has changed his style a few times over a 16 year career. In this tune-up for a September mega-fight, Oscar appears to be trying to incorporate a veteran's ability to relax and wait for counter-punching opportunities. Halfway through his career, De La Hoya developed a tactical defense and an ability to launch punches from a crouch. His last big fight with Floyd Mayweather Jr. had 2 million pay per view buys and it is certain that many of those paying customers were looking for Oscar to deliver the best left hook in the business. Putting together his power, hand speed and defensive finesse will be key to victory over Mayweather.

In the post fight Oscar was swollen around the eyes but quite pleased with his performance. In his own words "My rust went away, I tried to stay on my toes each round and I feel good about it". " I can't wait for September." De La Hoya is referring to the much anticipated rematch with Floyd Mayweather Jr., who edged him by split decision last year.

De La Hoya praised Steve Forbes for a competitive contest and predicted that he will be a champion one day. Oscar said his left hand was hurting in the later rounds and needed to be xrayed. Oscar looked faster after most exchanges and too much experience for Forbes to handle. As the crowd shuffled out, most seemed content with the venue, and the result.

Nothing has been inked yet for the Mayweather rematch, antici²⁴ pated for September. Any date around September 16th would be likely. There has been some rum. blings about a Miguel Cotto match-up, but that scenario is unlikely. It's De la Hoya vs. Mayweather and the end of a marvelous career in the ring.

Greater Faith: A Church with a

MORENO VALLEY

The Black Voice News

Religion

By Victoria Taylor

A church with a vision is siting in the city of Moreno alley. It is known as Greater Faith Christian Fellowship (G.F.C.F), pastored by Elder JD White Jr. The Bible declares hat, "Without a vision the people perish" (Proverbs 29:18). Within one month G.F.C.F has opened up their church to the community by putting on two lynamic events. The first event, which everyone is still talking bout, was the "Adam Where Art Thou 2008 Conference". It took place last month with nine of the most powerful preachers in the Inland Empire.

"This was my first time meetng Pastor White and when I shook his hand I felt that he has the heart of a Bishop, he is a pastor's pastor," stated Pastor Campbell of Koinonia Evangelistic Center in Moreno Valley, one of the preachers from the Adam Where Art Thou 2008 Conference. This conference allowed people to get an understanding behind the question God asked Adam in the Garden after he had eaten of the forbidden fruit.

Pastor Campbell eloquently taught, "Had Adam been where God had called him to be he would have never had to ask where he was, Adam was simply out of the will of God. He took on the form of the world and God simply did not recognize him, the Adam he created". The second program "The Daughters of Naomi," was held on April 17, 18, and 19. Pastor Ona Profit of Heavens Vision Ministries put together this amazing retreat for the women. This event allowed the women to see how important they are to God, and that being a Daughter of Naomi is a blessing. The next event, which will be held at G.F.C.F., is the Friends & Family Day Celebration June 8, 2008

"Elder White believes in opening up his church to fellowship and I am grateful for him," stated Pastor Profit. Elder White grew up in Pine Bluff Arkansas. When he moved to California he received his teaching and training under the late Bishop RW Mc Murray of Greater Bethany which was located in Los Angeles, California. Many who remember Bishop McMurray say that he was one of the most prolific preachers of all time.

Elder White's upbringing has equipped him to carry on the vision of his former Pastor in glorifying the name of Jesus Christ by building up God's people. This allows them to operate in their gifts and callings, and the ultimate task is winning souls for The Kingdom of God. "Being that I am a and why are the members so newly saved Christian I am grateful for the wise counsel Pastor White offers us here at Greater Faith Christian Fellowship. He preaches the literal interpretation of the Bible, line upon line, precept upon precept. He encourages us to search the Bible for ourselves and not to rely on someone's opinion, stated Regina M. King, a member of G.F.C.F.

So where is this church going eager to follow? "God's army is the most divided army. First we must break the denominational barrier. I have a question: what denomination was Jesus Christ? Instead of professing to be the church with all the answers, let's fellowship together, each one of us has something to offer the world," stated Elder White.

"Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us", Continued on Page B-2

Allen Chapel AME Presents Women's Conference 2008

The Black Voice News RIVERSIDE

By Ashley Jones

Allen Chapel AME presented the first annual Women's Conference 2008 on Saturday, May 11, 2008.

Last Saturday's event was hosted at the Villegas Community Center in Riverside. The event congregated women from across the Inland Empire. The message presented to the attendees was "Women of God Called to Service and Commitment."

The keynote speaker of the event was Margaret Rhone, First Lady of Allen Chapel AME. Additional speakers included Mildred Tyler, retired Assistant Director of Education Opportunity and Student Affirmative Action from UCR and Deborah Fontaine, Coordinator for the AIDS service agency. The speakers educated the audience on Black History

Deborah Fontaine, First Lady Margaret Rhone, and Mildred Tyler

and HIV/AIDS awareness.

"Because we live in such horrific times, and since women are the caregivers of their home, we want to help them retool so that they can help raise their families and become more productive citizens. That's not an easy job to do, so we need to help women gain their strength and give them resources so that they can raise children. The object is that we raise our children, and we put them in the world, and they become the next generation for the next group of people, so we want to do the best that we can," said

First Lady Rhone.

Fontaine said, "I hope the attendees have gained a basic knowledge of what HIV and AIDS is. I want them to know how it is transmitted, to get tested, and get your results. Talking to young people, teenagers, and older people about HIV and AIDS, is very important. Get folks to get tested, that's a major factor."

"I think the first Women's Conference was a resounding success, we had almost 75 women who attended. We worked diligently, this is the first Women's Conference for Allen Chapel, and it has been a pleasant success. We have women from other areas, not just Allen Chapel that came to support today. We have women who are in the office, we have women who are leaders in the community, this is a very important conference for us," said Terri Gordon, event staff member.

Hebrews 12:1

Elder White vision is to see the people of God living a victorious life, free from sin, guilt, shame, fear and defeat. There are so many men and women of God living beneath their privileges.

"This vision has been planted in the hearts of the ordained elder, ministers, evangelist, deacons, ushers, singers, musicians, men, women, teens, and babies at Greater Faith Christian Fellowship and now it has been brought to you. Now is the time to pray and seek the mind of God for your life. We are living in the last days; it's time out for the prosperity message and to receive the sincere milk of the Word. He that hath an ear let him hear what the spirit is saying to the churches", stated Pastor White.

Every Sunday morning Elder White is prepared to proclaim what God has to say to his people. "We magnify the name of Jesus in song, with instruments and with a shout but it's something about the Word of God; it's refreshing and fulfilling, it allows me to apply it to my everyday life. When I leave the church it is still with me. It's sad but people today want to be entertained in the house of God instead of hearing the Word of God, says Elder Taylor G.F.C.F's Minister of music.

St. Paul AME, Oldest Black Church in S.B. Celebrates 104th Anniversary

The Black Voice News SAN BERNARDINO

By BVN Staff

The African Methodist Episcopal Church was founded in 1787, when Richard Allen shook the dust off his feet and walked to his nearby blacksmith shop to start the first Black denomination in America. His pupit was an anvil. He had not been allowed to pray at the altar in the former St George Episcopal Church in Philadelphia, where Blacks were relegated to the balcony. This is the history of the founding of one of America's great churches.

One hundred years later, just 20 years after the Emancipation Proclamation was signed, Henry Inghram moved West from Kentucky. He was born enslaved in 1859, in Columbus, KY according to his daughter Dorothy Inghram's book "Beyond All This". He had been a teacher in Kentucky. The State allowed limited education of some free Negroes in certain areas. Mary Bonner was born in Missouri and was already in the area when they met. It is not clear how they met but the records show they married on January 30,1889, a year after he arrived in San Bernardino.

Pastor Larry E. Campbell is presented a proclamation by Senator Gloria Negrete McLeod Representative, Ann Knickerbocker.

Finding a job was difficult and Mr. Inghram heard about the mining boom in the northern part of the state. The Inghram's joined the many who were going to claim their fortune. However, when they arrived they found terrible conditions and the mines had dried, not to mention their two oldest children contracted Malaria and died. Pregnant with another child the couple stayed until she was born and returned to San Bernardino. They found a house on Sixth Street between Harris and J Streets and immediately moved in. They rekindled community relationships and tried to bury the past, Ms. Inghram said that he never spoke about the family's misfortune and it may be why she said that her mother didn't speak about her past. Life was looking up, Mr. Inghram got his first job as a janitor for the city library.

The city began to bustle. It had doubled in size and was making progress. The family was attending North Methodist Church. Not long after arriving back to San Bernardino, Mr. Inghram said he saw the need for a Negro church. He said that every community needs a church and he began knocking on doors to gather enough people to organize one. It proved to be more difficult than he thought but he didn't give up. He did his homework and found that the African Methodist Episcopal Church would allow them to organize with 12 people. He spoke with Mrs. Bush and convinced her and her son to join, praying it would be enough. He wrote to Presiding Elder Wilson and asked him to come, announcing with Mrs. Bush he had 8 people. (His wife, five children, Mrs. Bush and her son.) He found a mission building owned by the St. Paul Methodist Church downtown San Bernardino, located on the corner of 6th and Harris, that they allowed them to use. It was a tiny church and since he was so determined the Presiding Elder organized them without a name and without a minister.

The first name that he selected was "Wesleyan A.M.E." after the founder of Methodism. Since Riverside already had an A.M.E. Church and a pastor, Rev. Frank Johnson was asked to also pastor the new church and the very next week services began. That was Easter, April 6,1904.

As new members joined and New Hope Missionary Baptist Church was formed in 1911 nearby, some of the members wanted to rename the church. After going through the names Mr. Inghram agreed to St. Paul A.M.E. Church. In 1912 the Quarterly Conference renamed the church.

In the tradition of the church, the 104th anniversary was wonderful. Elected officials and their representatives visited and presented resolutions and certificates: Supervisor Josie Gonzales, Councilman Rikke Van Johnson, Assemblywoman Wilmer Amina Carter, Senator Gloria Negrete McLeod, Aquanetta Warren, Fontana Councilwoman/Mayor Pro Tem. Rev. Larry Campbell, the 45th pastor, was successful with the list of activities he wanted to accomplish.

The Hattie McDaniel production (see BVN Vol. 35 Number 49, 3/8/08) kicked off the celebration, followed by Sunday School, and morning worship services. The afternoon program added to the celebration. The Inghram Community Center (formerly Carpenter's Hall) was filled with excitement as the Ecclesia Praise Team, and the 16th Street Seventh Day Adventist Church Praise Team led by Bobby Elston ministered during the worship service.

Thursday, May 15, 2008

One of the A.M.E. Church's most revered Bishops, Presiding Prelate, Ninth Episcopal District, Bishop T. Larry Kirkland, brought the outstanding message, speaking about how far the church has come. He spoke fondly of his friend the late Presiding Elder, Rev. William Jacks and of the warmth he has always received at St. Paul.

Members who passed away during the year were remembered with a moment of silence. Pastor Campbell also recognized members who had been there for 50 years or more: Winfred Breland, Aleace Cameron, Carl Clemons, Dorothy Inghram, Ann Malcom, Bea Pitts, Ida Roberson, Lou GeneTapp, Alveria Taylor, Elnora Williams, Nettie Wright, Mary Rowe, Ben Inghram and Cheryl Brown.

The Anniversary committee included: Chair Dr. Althea Dupre, Co-Chair LaFlora Williams, members Marlene Sell, Evelyn Keith, Pearlie Whitfield, Reginald Roberts and Hardy Brown, Sr.

A very proud Presiding Elder, Rev. Norman D. Copeland congratulated the committee and the church for such a wonderful program as he gave closing remarks.
