European Perspective of Human Security: From a Conception to the Reality?

Abstract: Due to the transnational nature of non-traditional security issues, the role of the security is no longer limited solely to the defense of the national territory, but to defend interests of a whole region even a continent. So, it is the interest of the EU to stabilize the regions surrounding it permanently. In this context, human security conception can be seen as a redefinition of the role of EU in its security and foreign policy. Because security issues that need to be addressed should not only be in reference to the state, but also to individuals and societal groups. Indeed, the concept of human security broadens the actors and structures identified as being causes of insecurity.

Role and Capacities of Local Community in Environmental Security – on example of polluted drinking water in municipality of Uzice

Abstract: Environmental security is integral part of human security. It includes consideration of environmental degradation problems and problems with insufficient natural resources. These problems can bring conflicts as much as endanger the human security. Environmental security is focused on civil security from irresponsible water, air, soil and wildlife pollution as much as civil security from inefficient institution for law enforcement. Systematic changes in all segments of modern society, also in environmental field, assert increasingly important role of local community. In this study we show jurisdiction, role and capacities local community in environmental security in Republic of Serbia. Especially is considered role and capacities of protection and rescue system subjects in municipality of Uzice during drinking water pollution.

Keywords: human security, environmental security, local community, water pollution
