Dear Jim:

Got your letter of Mar. 7. I should be happy to send you a set of the photos I sent to Jim Meredith, there were approx. 26 prints in the set I sent to him. The photo lab charges me $1.00 per print, for prints such as I sent to Jim.

With this in mind, you might want to go through the set of Jim's again, and note the numbers of those you wish, in case you don't want to get all 26. I also have many more, and if you are intrested in any particular facet, let me know, and I can probably find more shots in any particular vein. I tried to give Jim Meredith a overall selection, without concentrating on one event, during the events of the registration week.

Of course none of the photographs can be ~~reproduced~~ reproduced in any manner without my written consent. But I am willing for them to be used in this way, so just drop me a line if and when you might want to use them in any reproduction way, and consent will be forthcoming.

Thanks much for the enclosure, those of us who went through the week's events of Jim's registration know how true the article is. In fact, when I returned a couple of days after the riot, the local newspapers in Miami, carried stories so full of mis-statements of fact, that I called each, and they printed my impressions of what actually happened.

Just returned from doing a story in Haiti, the political situation there is very bad, you can see the article in this past week's LIFE, the issue with Jean Seaburg on the cover.

Would be intrested in your keeping me abreast of events at the University.

Thanks, and best regards,

Flip
