Dear Mr. Meredith:-

New applications of the dynamics of the physical world, nuclear fission, solar energy, atomic fusion, aided by electronic automation shall some day within our lifetime bring us limitless supplies of power. Consequent transformation of agriculture and industry, medicine and biology, transportation and communication shall then free all men from political and economic slavery; unite all men and all nations in an enduring peace. Society shall then be conducted in such manner so as to do the greatest good to the greatest number with the least effort in the shortest period of time. Let us not forget that the seeds of hope are sown by many hands and that in hearts too young for enmity lies the hope to make men free.

As a University is an institution of free inquiry, so is Education the tool the human race finds indispensable. Education is one thing no one can take away from you. Mindful of the fact that the blood of all nations is red we are hopeful of your success.

Yours for Safety for Everyone,

Dear Mr. Steen:

Due to the heavy volume of mail I could not answer your letter of October 4th, and thank you for your generous donation and good wishes.

The kind thoughts expressed by you and many others during this period will always remain with me.
