Legal Education and Training of Legal Profession

1. Legal Education in Thailand: Historical Background

1.1 Before Legal and Judiciary System Reform [before B.E. 2411 (A.D. 1868)]

Back in the year of B.E. 1781 (A.D. 1238), the Kingdom of Thailand was in the period of Sukhothai Reign. King Pau Khun Sri-Intratit of the first monarchy, which was called “the Fountain of Justice”, had provided way of solving the disputes among his citizens by exercising his power himself. His judgment was a sign that the king impliedly imposed rules or regulations which were meant to be the law of the kingdom. In B.E. 1862 (A.D. 1319), the invention of Thai Alphabetical words were established by King Ramkhamhaeng Maharaj. It was then the new era of education in all range of knowledge including opportunity to record all events and historical stories of the kingdom. Nonetheless, many legal nobles believed that the law was recorded even before that invention. Some said that the law was written in the Khmer script or Sanskrit script, the language which was originated in India and widely used in those periods and the law had some root from Code of Manu, the ancient Hindu Jurisprudence. However, when Thais had their own alphabet, they recorded the law in the so-called “Sila-Jaruk” or Royal Stone Inscription, under supervision of King Ramkhamhaeng Maharaj. According to the Sila-Jaruk, the record showed that there was the implication of some rules that had criminal penalty and some rules in civil matters. At that period, there was evidence that people had started studying many fields of knowledge such as medical science, literature, mechanical subject and so on. But legal education was dimly shown its existence because the society then was simple and static. Way of life among that period was plain. And more importantly, people had great respect to the King who presided upon the dispute and delivered judgment; everyone honor the King decision without any question. There was no need for complication of the rules imposed by the King to regulate his people. In this period, people were more interested in working for living than in legal matter which, somehow, was not acquainted with their daily lives. Therefore, the legal education back then was not likely established in systematic function even though the law itself had been starting to surround the community. The way of dispatch legal knowledge was done by telling and somehow teaching between relatives and friend among persons who needed to exercise their legal rights.

In B.E. 1893 (A.D. 1350), the so-called “Sri Ayudhaya Period”, Krung Sri Ayudhaya was promoted as the capital city of Thailand till B.E. 2310 (A.D. 1767). The society of this period became more subtle because of the improvement of people’s life and increasing of population. The King had no longer overseen and delivered his royal decisions to all dispute put before him. The King instead delegated his power of judiciary to his royal noble officials or the so called “Purohita”, the Chief Chaplain to the King, who had general knowledge in legal matter. However, the King’s power of judiciary was still absolute in his hands. When the King delivered judgment by himself, it was the model and royal precedent for others to follow. Consequently, it became law. In the same time, the King also exercised his power on legislation to order his royal officials drafting the law and be reviewed and declared by him. During this period, King U-Thong gave his order to have all legal matters assembled and put in written forms for the first time. Even though it was evident that the law was getting more and more evolved but the group of people who gained legal knowledge was confined to the royal officials who were entitled on the legislation and judiciary matters in the royal palace. The Legal education, therefore, started literally from the royal institution among those royal officials.

In the beginning of Rattanakosin period, B.E. 2325 (A.D. 1782), after the end of Sri Ayudhaya Period where Thailand had lost to Burma (Myanmar) during the war, some collections of the law which had been recorded during Sri Ayudhaya Period were partly destroyed from the Burma invasion. The first monarch of Chakri Dynasty in this period, King Rama I, exercised the law partly inherited from Sri Ayudhaya period and in the same time he engaged the power of judiciary and created the precedent of the law to fulfill the missing. He also established new rules of law, which conformed to way of life during his period of the reign. And according to his concern in the law, he ordered to have all laws and regulations assembled, revised and rectified. After 11 months, the rectification was finished and the law was written into three copies and was called “the Three Emblems of State Law or the Law of the three Great Seals”. This Law was considered as the original formality of the Law of the Land and was used as the Basic Law of judiciary. This Law had been used for 103 years. In the meantime, there were some minor laws enacted to solve some urgent problems. Legal study during this period, however, had not been changed much since Sri Ayudhaya Period because the way of life and culture maintained its pattern including legal system and judiciary.

In B.E. 2369 (A.D. 1827), while Thailand had been developing trade relation with western countries for some period of time, England, under resenting perspective in trading with Thailand because of the monopoly of Thai bureaucrats, threatened to use force to amend the Thai regulations and rules of law on trading. However, King Rama IV, who just ascend the throne, proposed the agreement with England and other colonial hunting countries on trade and relationship. Those countries, therefore, became soften their resent. However, Thailand was inevitable under pressure to conclude the Royal Relation Treaty to England called “Bowring Treaty” which in fact brought about unequal right to economy, law and judiciary of Thailand. According to the treaty, English had no obligation to Thai law and judiciary. Other western countries followed suit, claiming that their people should not be put under Thai law and judiciary as well because of the lag behind and unsystematic of Thai Law and Courts. They preferred to have their people respond only to their laws and special tribunal of judiciary established by them. This situation created special right of judiciary over sovereignty of Thailand for foreigners; it was consequently harmful to Thai legal Society. King Rama IV, therefore, was trying to improve Thai law and judiciary acceptable to other countries. The Thai law was then written and promoted to foreigners and Thai people to understand and act according to the law. Also in this period, technique of printing was invented. Therefore, many law books were available to all people who were interested. Legal study during this period, having the effect from legal knowledge in the law books, moved forward dramatically even though there was no law school, law curriculum or technique of teaching law in systematic pattern.

1.2 After Legal and Judiciary System Reform [after B.E. 2411 (A.D. 1868)]

At the time when King Rama V was reigning the kingdom in B.E. 2411 (A.D. 1868), England and France both conquered and colonized Thailand neighboring countries. Therefore, it was the time for Thailand to get ready to challenge the threat of colonization. Improving and developing the country in the way of westernization was the plan to challenge or slow down the threat from those countries. The King ordered the moves to revolution of the administration foundation toward modernization. In the area of State Administration, the King appointed the Privy Council and the Council of State to deliver advice of state administration and policy in the same style as English system. In the area of public utility, the King built water supply, electricity and post offices. In the area of public health, the King established hospitals and medical school. And one of the significant royal responsibilities created by the King was the declaration of abolishment slavery system in Thailand. The Kingdom in this period was in the so-called “Absolute Revolution”. When the community was prospering, communication and trade relation among people was expanded. There were a lot of foreigners coming to Thailand and the numbers had been increasing drastically. However, the factor that made Thailand felt troublesome to cope with foreigners was exception of judicial power above them. When the aggressive western countries were trying to interpret the treaty to expand its special rights not to be obligated to Thai Law and Judiciary for those Asian people in their colonized nations, It was led the incredible way for those to evade the law and justice. Consequently, the law was not seen as the enforceable tool for administering and protecting peace in the community. The only way to confront with these undue practices was to improve Thai legal system and judiciary at the maximum to the acceptance of western countries and brought back the sovereignty right of the judiciary above the people of the western nations living in Thailand.

In B.E. 2434 (A.D.1891) the royal Thai government announced the establishment of the Ministry of Justice which was the organization mainly responsible to reform and improve Thai judiciary. The moving of Thai legal system followed modernization of the European countries. Common Law and Civil Law system were among the system that Thai looked forward to adaptation as Thai model law. In the first place, there was an idea to bring Common Law system as the principal law for Thai legal adaptation because most of Thai lawyers and judiciaries graduating with law degree from England were familiar with this system. However, after taking serious consideration, all concluded that Common Law system was more suitable to English people than others because it was the system that the Law was based mainly on traditional practices and judgments of the Court. The Law was not organized well enough for studying and using as the model. On the other hand, Civil Law system of the continental has been well-organized into section of code which was suitable to learn and adopt. Moreover, many western countries except only England exercises Civil Law system. If those countries accepted Thai legal system and judiciary as moving toward the modernization of the Civil Law system, it would be more possible that multilateral negotiation to terminate undue advantages on the Thai law and judiciary would be agreed upon. Finally, the royal Thai government took Civil Law system to be the model of Thai legal adaptation. In the process of reforming Thai legal system, there was the consideration of the real need of the people, custom practice, tradition, culture and way of life; not just made the copy of the law. The very first law reform was the Criminal Code on the Chakri Dynasty Era of 127 (B.E. 2451). This Criminal Code was drafted with very thorough consideration and discreet. Firstly, the draft was done in English by Mr. George Padoux, the Chief of drafting committee which included some of legal foreigner experts and the draft, then, was translated into Thai. This Criminal Code was considered as the very modern law at the time because the popular principles of criminal law of the western countries were included while some rules were changed to suit with Thai community. In the following, in B.E. 2438 (A.D. 1895) there were 2 other drafting laws, the draft of Civil Procedure and Constitution of the Court of Justice. And in the later year, many laws were drafted and utilized. In B.E. 2478 (A.D. 1935) Thailand had the set of code laws which included Criminal Code, Civil Code, Criminal Procedure Code, Civil Procedure Code and Constitution of the Court of Justice. That was the period of the fulfillment of the legal system and judiciary reform to challenge with western countries and to claim back independence of the Thai judiciary. Finally, in B.E. 2481(A.D. 1938) Thailand gained back entirely its independence of the Law and judiciary from all western countries. It is important to note that even though Thailand had reformed Thai legal system and judiciary, it was also exhausted with diplomatic persuasion with powerful countries and trading off some of its territories to bring about this result. Upon this reform of the legal system and judiciary, the legal study had been expanding from simple learning in the house or premise of the royal official to teaching law in the royal institute among new officials and in the same time sending some of scions of the royal house and outstanding officials to study law overseas. For example, the King sent his brother, HRH Prince Sawasdi-Sophon, to study at Balliol College of Oxford University, England and sent Khun Luang Phraya Krai Sri, a Thai judge, to study Barrister-at-Law in the English Bar institution. Later on the King's son, HRH Prince Rapee-Pattanasak or Prince Rajburidirekrit, was sent to study law at the Christ Church College, Oxford University in England. This Prince was the one who later founded the first law school in Thailand and he was acclaimed as "the Founder of Thai Modern Law". And many officials and judges were sent to study and graduated with Bachelor degree of laws from Cambridge and Oxford University and Barrister-at-Law from many institutes such as Gray's Inn or Middle Temple.

In the period of establishment of the Ministry of Justice, workload of cases was one of the problems the department had to solve. However, in the beginning, the solution focused on court procedural efficiency rather than inputting manpowers. But when the laws were being reformed and there was a need to have personnel with adequate knowledge to the reformed law, the government, temporally, hired legal experts from foreign countries which had no conflict of interest to Thailand to solve the lack of personnel. For example, the government hired Mr. Rolin Jacquemyns and Mr. R. J. Kirkpatrick, legal advisers from Belgium. Mr. Tokichi Masao from Japan and Mr. William Alfred Tilleke from Sri Lanka were invited to work with Thai judges. However, the Thai government had to hire some legal advisers from England and France due to the commitment of the treaty between Thailand and those countries. These legal experts even though working in Thailand for years, however, still had the perception that interest of their countries should come first. Therefore, Thai government was trying to keep the number of foreign legal advisers to the limit. And the King was trying to send more Thai officials to study overseas meanwhile trying to educate officials with better knowledge in law by providing legal education. In B.E. 2440 (A.D. 1897), under the responsibility of HRH Prince Rapee-Pattanasak, who was promoted as the Head Official of the Ministry of Justice at the time, the school of law was established with determination of producing new generation of legal officials to handle judicial tasks under the reformed legal system. In the beginning, the school had around 100 students participating in classes. Chief Justices of the civil and criminal courts and some other judges came to help as the lecturers of the law school. The style of teaching in the school was like English legal teaching because most of the lecturers graduated from England. Moreover, English culture had played important role in the society at the time. The curriculum and law books used in the school were adapted mostly from England.

However, when the time went by, many lecturers wrote more law texts in different areas of law such as land law, law on evidence, civil damages, corporate law, contract law etc. The curriculum of the law school was one-year term and final examination was provided at the end of term before graduating with Barrister-at-Law degree. In November 22, B.E. 2440 (A.D. 1897), the Ministry of Justice announced the schedule of the first examination during December 2-7, B.E. 2440. The subjects of the examination included criminal, contract, succession, tort, family law, procedural law and international law. Each day, there would be 10 questions to be answered and 4-hour period (9.00 – 13.00) was allowed to complete the examination. For the first examination there were 9 out of 100 students passed this test and qualified as Barrister-at-Law. In B.E. 2441, the school proposed the plan to have a committee taking care and running the school. Therefore, the committee so-called “the Thai Bar Association” was established. The conference of the Bar would be entitled to vote for the members of this Bar Association. All regulations of the school was enacted such as school regulation on committee election, committee process of conference, conduct investigation of Barrister, process of admitting judge who graduated from overseas to be Thai Barrister-at-Law, process of applying to be students in the school, process of practicing litigation in Court, robe of Barrister, etc. The school, under unofficial supervision of the Ministry of Justice, had duty to teach and conduct professional training in the meantime, which was more like Inns of Courts of England. The Bar Association was also acting as same as one of the profession association. In B.E. 2454 (A.D. 1911), during the period of King Rama VI, the school of law was royally declared to be the royal college under the Ministry of Justice by reason of the government would take full responsibility to run this school like other professional schools. The Head of the Ministry would be responsible to all activities in the school. Therefore, the Bar Association ended its role from this law school. The law school under supervision of the Ministry of Justice was categorized as the level of college. The student must finish high school before entering as the law student.

In B.E. 2456 (A.D.1913), when civil law was completed its drafting, there was the change of the curriculum in teaching to be suitable for civil law system. There were two ways of changing Thai legal study according to the new coming of civil law system. The first way was that some of Thai students were sent to study law in France and Germany or the United States of America to gain broadly legal knowledge instead of only knowledge of Common Law system from England like in the past. The second way was to reorganize and develop curriculum and teaching. In B.E. 2462 (A.D.1919), there was the change of the legal curriculum to extend time frame to 2 years within 2 terms. In the first term, the subjects included jurisprudence, private international law, criminal law, criminal procedure law, contract, torts and land law. The second term included agency law, corporate law, bankruptcy law, Bill of exchange law, buy and sale, succession law, family law, law of evidence, civil procedure and public international law. This development of the school moved toward the system of substantial legal study more than professional learning as in the past, which more liked the style of the school in the continental. Between the period of B.E. 2457 (A.D.1914) to B.E. 2466 (A.D.1923), the curriculum and teaching style had been changing in the way conforming to the changing and improving of the civil code which maintained legal rules and legal methods in the system of the continental law. Therefore, the King gave the order to announce the improvement and development of the curriculum by way of establishing the so-called "Legal Council" to take care of the changing of the curriculum according to current legal system and making up to the international standard like foreign school of law. In B.E. 2467 (A.D. 1924), the curriculum of the law school was changed into 3 terms within 3 years. First term included jurisprudence, legal history, criminal law, civil law on chapter 1 and 2, marital law, will and property law. Second term included civil law chapter 3, bankruptcy law, evidence law, civil procedure, criminal procedure and private international law. And third term included special law (to be announced), public international law, economic study, administrative law and financial law. A student who passed the first 2 terms would graduate with the degree of Barrister-at-Law and a student who passed the third term would graduate with the Bachelor Degree. In B.E. 2473 (A.D. 1930), the Legal Council announced the new curriculum by increasing the term for Barrister-at-Law curriculum from 2 years to 3 years which was the same curriculum of Barrister-at-Law of other countries such as United States of America, Japan, France, etc. In the meantime, the curriculum would include English or French Law for a student to choose. This was very beneficial to students to make comparison both Thai and foreign law. However, in case of a student who graduated with Bachelor Degree or Barrister-at-Law from abroad, that student would not have to take this foreign law and had the opportunity to take the examination in many subjects after enrolling to study one year. This new curriculum which extended into 3 terms within 3-year-period combined with the first term; jurisprudence, legal history, administrative law, constitution of the Court of Justice, criminal law, criminal procedure, English or French law, the second term: commercial and civil code on juristic act and obligation, insurance with person and property (which meant suretyship, mortgage, pledge, lien, buy and sell of goods, exchange of property, gift, leasing, hire of property, hire-purchase, carriage of goods, loan, deposit, warehousing, compromise, gambling, corporate and association, civil procedure, law on evidence, bankruptcy law, English or French law and the third term; international law (state and individual section), commercial and civil law on property, family and will, agency, current account, insurance, bill, management of affairs without mandate, English or French law. The Legal council set up the subjects including English and French law as follows:

First term

English law: Constitution of the Court of Justice, Criminal Law, Civil Procedure and Criminal procedure.

French law: Constitution of the Court of Justice, Criminal Law, Civil Procedure and Criminal procedure.

Second term

English law: Common Law and Equity

French law: Civil Law.

Third term

English and French law: Commercial Law

According to the Bachelor of Laws curriculum, the Legal Council set the higher subjects of learning by allowing a student learn how to accomplish legal research not more than 2 years. It was meant that after a student graduated with Barrister-at-Law Degree, he or she would have to spend 2 years doing research and came back to take written and oral tests on the topics of general law including English and French law (except the student who graduated from oversea). Moreover, the student would have to fulfill a thesis in a topic that the examination committee assigned. The reason that the Legal Council had to put English and French Law in the curriculum was Thailand had been put to sign the agreement with England and France to hire English law teachers to teach the English Civil and Commercial Law where England demanded Thailand to apply as that law which Thai law did not interpret in its Civil and Commercial Law. And the agreement with France demanded Thailand to establish legal Department and drafted the new curriculum and regulation of the law school while the director of the school would be French. Moreover, Thailand had to hire French legal advisers attaching to the Ministry of Justice. Therefore, by force of the State Agreements, Thailand had to appoint Mr. L Duplart, a French lawyer with other 2 French law teachers to participate in the law school. Meanwhile, the school also hired English law teachers to teach Common Law as well.

This establishment of the law school, in the time of King Rama VI through the period of King Rama VII, which was declared as the royal school under supervision of the Ministry of Justice, was the foundation to Thai legal education until now.

2. Legal Education in Thailand: Current and Future Trend.

In B.E. 2476 (A.D. 1933), King Rama VII considered that the law school of the Ministry of Justice had been being prosperous and reached at the level of the standard college like most others in the western countries. The King, therefore, declared the royal decree to merge the curriculum and regulation of the law school and established another one of the faculty in the university; it was announced as the Faculty of Law and Political science. At that time, this faculty was in Chulalongkorn University and later on it was transferred to be one of the faculties in Thammasat and Political Subject University in B.E. 2477 (A.D. 1934). During B.E. 2477 (A.D. 1934) through B.E. 2491 (A.D. 1948), there was only one legal study institution in Thailand, the faculty of law in Thammasat and Political Subject University. In B.E. 2494 (A.D. 1951), Chulalongkorn University reestablished a department of law in the faculty of Political Science and within a few years, the university developed this department to be the faculty of law. These two universities rendered legal study service for students in their institutions for many years. After B.E. 2500 (A.D. 1957), more universities provide legal study in their institutes. In this year of B.E. 2543 (A.D. 2000), there are total of 21 law faculties in various universities in Thailand. Five out of twenty one universities are State Universities: Chulalongkorn University, Chiangmai University, Thammasat University, Ramkhamhaeng University and Sukhothai Thammathirat University. The first three universities require applicants to take the entrance examination before admitted to study while Ramkhamhaeng University and Sukhothai Thammathirat University are the Open University which need no entrance exam to apply for studying. These open state universities try to provide legal education to those who are interested but have no opportunity or time to enter the others. Therefore, distance legal learning for students who stay in other provinces is provided by these universities. And apart from those universities, another important legal institution which has to be mentioned here is the Institute of Legal Education of Thai Bar Association which provides higher level of legal study and offers Barrister-at-Law degree to a candidate who passes its examination.

2.1 Current Legal Education in the University of Thailand

Undergraduate level

The current legal study of undergraduate level in most faculties of law of present universities combines with 4-year standard terms in which students will normally have 4 years of studying. The credits of graduation with Bachelor of Laws accumulate with around 135 to 145 credits. The main qualification of a candidate who will be admitted to study in the university is to have high school knowledge or any degree on the same level. To enter some state universities, a candidate must take the so-called “entrance examination” and gain appropriate scores to be admitted. Most faculties of law in various universities provide relatively the same subjects of legal studying. However, there are some differences among those schools on methods of teaching and patterns of enrollment, which lead to identify expertise or major area of studying of students.

This paper will pick up the update curriculum of one of the faculties of law of the State University and enter to some details of the subject matters of legal study. This will provide some prospective idea of how legal education in Thailand on graduate level is like.

Bachelor of Laws program of Chulalongkorn University

Title of Degree: Bachelor of Laws or LL.B.

Philosophy and objective of the curriculum

- build the social concern among students
- establish legal professionalism from students
- magnify internationalization through students

Postgraduate Level

Due to the development of the global economic and trade, there is a need to have personnel who are qualified to work in the area of this development. As well as in the area of Public Law, Thailand had recently enacted the new Constitution which is regarded as the most democratic one. The Constitution provides many significant fundamental rights to the people. The Society, therefore, is turning to focus on fulfilling and maintaining citizen rights under their new Constitution. According to the Constitution, there are new institutions established, namely the Constitutional Court and the Administrative Court. Public Law, which is mainly used by those institutions then, comes to its important role to accomplish the expectation of the Constitution. Those areas of law are important to the lawyers in the community to have the opportunity to acquire more intensive knowledge. Many universities in Thailand provide postgraduate programs for students to further their knowledge in specific area. The faculties of law in various universities, as well, have developed postgraduate program to produce qualified candidate to serve the need of the legal community. Moreover, some universities have created international programs in legal study by cooperating with outstanding universities overseas such as Japan, United States of America, England, etc. and have been producing students who qualify to serve regional and international legal communities. The Institute of Legal Education of Thai Bar Association

At the time of B.E. 2476 (A.D. 1933), when there was the royal decree to terminate the Legal Study Council who had responsibility to organize the curriculum of the law school in the Ministry of Justice, the Bar Association, therefore, did not play any role in legal education. Until B.E. 2490 (A.D. 1947), the Bar Association Committee, with advice of the Judicial Committee, considered to establish the legal training course focusing mainly on legal professional practices to produce personnel serving the judiciary in the Ministry of Justice. The committee, therefore, founded the department of legal study in the Bar Association. And in B.E. 2491 (A.C 1948), the Legal Education Institute of Thai Bar Association was established with the duty of educating and promoting knowledge of legal practicing for law practitioners. There was a special committee which was enacted to direct legal study in particular. At the time, the President of the Supreme Court was nominated to be the president of the institute. The objective of establishment of the Legal Education Institute of Thai Bar Association was accorded to the agreement of the International Bar Association in which Thailand was a member. The consensus of the International Bar Association which was held in Hague, Netherlands in B.E. 2491 (A.D. 1948) stated that there should be enough practical training for legal personnel before performing his or her duty in the legal professions. At the beginning, the curriculum of the institute included Civil Procedure Law, Criminal Procedure Law, Evidence Law and the Constitution of the Court of Justice, Criminal Law, Civil Law and others. In present, the qualification of a candidate who can apply to study in the institution must be a person who graduates with Bachelor of Laws from Thammasat University, Chulalongkorn University and Ramkhamhaeng University or has studied in the faculty of law in other universities in Thailand or overseas and passes an examination up to the standard stipulated by the Legal Study Committee of the Bar. The curriculum of studying is as follows:

The curriculum of studying is as follows:

- Civil Law
- Criminal Law
- Administrative Law
- Intellectual Property Law
- International Trade Law
- Civil Procedure Law
- Criminal Procedure Law
- Evidence Law
- Constitution of the Court of Justice
- Others

The period of study is separated into two terms. The first term begins on June to September and the second term starts on December to March of the consecutive year. Time of teaching is provided in both normal class (8.00 to 16.30) and evening class (17.00 to 20.00 including Saturday 8.00 to 17.00). The subjects which are taught in the first term are: Criminal Law, Labor Law and Proceeding in Labor Court, Administrative Law, Civil Law on Property, Juristic Act, Obligation, Torts, Sales, Exchange, Gift, Hire of Property, Hire-Purchase, Hire of Labor, Hire of Services, Loan, Deposit, Suretyship, Mortgage, Pledge, Agency, Broker, Bill, Current Account, Partnership and Company, Family, Succession, Tax Law, Land Law, Intellectual Property Law and International Law. Second term includes: Civil Procedure Law, Bankruptcy Law, Constitution of the Court of Justice, Criminal Procedure in Small Claim Court, Trial Procedure in Juvenile and Family Court, Criminal Procedure, Evidence Law and Litigation and Witness Examining Practices. An examination will be held at the end of each term. The examination combines with written and oral tests. A student who passes the Bar exam will be entitled to Barrister-at-Law degree and qualifies to be a candidate applying to judiciary or public prosecutor recruitment.

From B.E. 2440 (A.D.1897) to B.E. 2476 (A.D.1933), where the school of law was running by the Ministry of Justice, there were 1,073 students who graduated with Barrister-at-Law. Since B.E. 2491 (A.D.1948) the Institution of Legal Education of Thai Bar Association was established and the institution has been producing many lawyers as stated on the table below.

2.2 Future Trend of Legal Education in Thailand

In the future, many legal education institutes are looking forward to accelerating their legal education improvement of producing appropriate personnel to serve the society. Many universities annually improve their curriculums to muster up students who will have their areas of expertise in the period the first or second year of studying. The curriculum will be more intense in each area and more legal subjects are provided for students to choose. This effect comes from the changing of society. The more areas of study occur, the more in-depth of knowledge is in need. The area of laws is inevitably effected. At present, it is the age of information technology where phenomenon has been bringing the world to no boundary. It is the era of international exchanging of information, which brings about many implications. International matters play the important roles in the world communities in many areas, especially in business activities. When the market of international business transaction is in need of personnel, most of educational institutes are moving toward those needs. With no exception to the legal education institutes, they are trying to serve this personnel shortage, which, however, has long been lacking. Even though the long plan to produce international practicing lawyers from undergraduate and postgraduate students has been being on the way as mentioned earlier, there is also urgent need to provide some knowledge on international legal forum to current practitioners both lawyers and non lawyers in the community. Some of the outstanding education institutes, then, are managing to provide significant education in this area of international legal matters.

They are coming with short course and medium course where students will obtain the diploma after going through the course. Some institutes provide Master Degree to a successful student who implements their long term course. One of the programs which is interesting and should be mentioned here is the Master of Arts in Economic Law 2000 provided by Chulalongkorn University. This program is designed under the consideration of the drastic trend of global economy, monetary transaction and international investment under the scope of the World Trade Organization (WTO) and the scope of regional groups such as European Union, NAFTA, AFTA, APEC, etc. In the section of economy and business of the country, the relation between law and financial & investment market has been increasing in every moment. The new creation of cooperation between private institution in investment, establishment of business organization, business negotiation, utility of new financial instruments needs to be approached with competent particular business concept together with legal perception as well. Due to the limited numbers of experts in this area, the program is, therefore, designed to prepare and produce both lawyers and businessmen who have conception and knowledge in global and regional economic law for the global business community. This program eliminates obligation, which the legal curriculum structure is always created significantly toward legal technical profession whereby a law student neglects the concept of other areas outside legal scope. This program, therefore, combines relation between law and economics in the sense of correspondence, which will create a candidate who gains vision and integrated concept and can serve the community in the mist of the changing of the global economic phenomenon. Qualification of a candidate who will be admitted to study is: graduated with law, economics, business administration or accounting degree and having working experience in those fields not less than 3 years or if graduated with other degree than those three, a candidate must have no less than 4 years experience or if a candidate has postgraduate degree, experience is not needed. However, a student who has less legal basic must take special courses on particular fundamental legal subjects approved by the Board of Postgraduate Study. The time of fulfillment is not more than 4 years and not less than 2 years. A student must accumulate at least 39 credits to graduate with the master degree. The curriculum subjects are as follows:

In the meantime, the Bar Association has also been working on transcending its curriculum to meet new legal environment. The Bar, upon legal experts brainstorming, concluded the future legal trends and created norms toward those tendencies to produce more productive lawyers to the community. Upon the conclusion, the appropriate lawyer is compared with social architect or engineer. He or she should have very keen legal knowledge in particular area. Economic, social, and politic matters will be important for all lawyers to understand those situations and its implications. Lawyers, therefore, will be able to manage to establish justice in the society, which is the step toward elevating quality and integrity of Thai community. Lawyers should be able to protect state interest and sovereignty. Toward the qualified lawyer, there must be concrete strategies to improve and establish legal knowledge and merit of all lawyers to serve the country. With those strategies, the Bar has concluded as follows:

1. There should be enough special curriculums in specific area of law for specialized lawyers such as in the area of Intellectual Property Law, International Trade Law, Administrative Law or Private International Law.
2. The way of learning and testing the students in Legal Education of the Bar must be differentiated from those in the universities. The curriculum must provide the opportunities of learning the law, understanding and applying them appropriately. The way of utilizing the law must be focused on its merit besides earning of interest.
3. The curriculum must also be concentrate on morality, ethical conduct and social responsibility. The improvement in this matter must be intense for the foreseen professional practices.
4. Legal Education of the Bar must expand its objective to cover all law practitioners. Not like in the past that the institute only provided legal personnel for the community of judicial, public prosecutor and litigation lawyer, the institute must presently serve the community out of the court as well by producing appropriate lawyers such as legal consultants to the field of business transaction.

From those educational moves of the Bar, we can foresee good pictures of legal profession of Thai Community in the future. If the Bar fulfills its expectation including the supplementation from legal educational markets in many learning Institutes, standard of Thai lawyer will be even better and levitate the society up to the anticipation.

3. Legal Profession Training and Development

3.1 Judiciary

Thai judiciary within the Ministry of Justice has long been providing legal training in its institution. Because judiciary is crowded with legal nobles and in the past there were not many numbers of judiciary, they, therefore, trained new comers individually. The way of training was more like on-the-job training where a candidate who was approved to work in the judiciary would be posted as Judge-Trainee and would be trained by a senior judge who had experience more than 20 years of judicial work. A senior judge would train a Judge-Trainee word for word by the reason of efficient training. The senior judge would have responsibility to contribute job operation knowledge in all areas from adjudicating through delivering a judgment. And more importantly, a senior judge would emphasize also on judicial ethic along the way besides professional training. Lectures and seminars were provided by high ranking and prominent justices from time to time. However, when there were the increasing numbers of new comers into the institute, the Ministry of Justice, therefore, established its Training and Seminar Division under supervision of the Office of the Judicial Affairs. This Training and Seminar Division had the main duty to organize training for Judge-Trainees before sending them to be trained with senior judges. In 1987, the Ministry of Justice realized that it was necessary to enhance judge and court personnel's knowledge and capability by means of pre-service training and continuing education programs in order to assist them in discharging their duties more efficiently and effectively. And due to the fact that the Training and Seminar Division had a very limited capability of manpower and place not enough to implement all training programs intended by the Ministry, therefore, under distinguished idea of Honorable Justice Sophon Ratanakorn, Permanent Secretary of the Ministry of Justice at that time, the Ministry of Justice eventually proposed and got approval from the government the project to expand and develop the Training and Seminar Division to be the Judicial Training Institute. Judicial Training Institute, nowadays, has its own twenty-storied building including more than 5 seminar rooms and 70 air-conditioning bedrooms for participants throughout the country to attend long term training. The Judicial Training Institute is annually running various kinds of both legal and related knowledge training and seminar for all level of judicial personnel not only a Judge-Trainee training. Normally, more than 40 courses of training and seminar are conducted for judges in each year. These courses are combined with short term (3 to 10 days) and long term (4 months) courses. Here are some interesting courses, which should be mentioned.

The Training of Judge-Trainee

Under the Judicial Service Act B.E. 2543 (A.D. 2000) the general planning for the training of judge-trainee is entrusted to the Office of the Judicial Affairs. In order to ensure high standard of training, there is a official body called the Committee of Judicial Training presided over by the Secretary of the Court of Justice to supervise the training curriculum. The present one-year training course aims at a balance education of the individual and insists upon both knowledge and wisdom. The training devotes much attention to the practical skills being on a bench. A good deal of time is also allotted to discussions and classes in allied subject. The academic training course is divided into three parts

1. Judicial knowledge comprises 6 sections:
 - Court works (30 subjects within 106.5 hours): Civil trial, Criminal trial and special trial. This section is designed to train judge-trainees both theoretical and practical skill in civil and criminal court proceedings.

2. Practical Training comprises 2 sections: In this training, judge-trainees will be assigned to write court decisions, court memorandums, orders of court and all proceedings carried out by the court from the copies of the real files under supervision of 7 senior advisers who were distinguished senior judges and had already retired from the office.
- Court Practical Training (39 hours)
 - Moot Court Practice (57 hours)
3. Observation Study (15 days): Courts and other related offices in the region and other governmental agencies such as Scientific Crime Detection Division, the office of Narcotic Protection and Suppression Committee, etc.

All subjects of training will be produced not only by learned judges in special field but also by the well-known professors and experts from state agencies and private institutions. This judge-trainee course is a campus type of training. All participants must stay during weekday in the dormitory of the Judicial Training Institute. During the course, participants are urged to choose additional activities such as sports, computer or languages after class.

After the completion of the four-month academic training, the judge-trainees will be sent to the Civil Court and Criminal Court for 8 months to learn the skills and techniques of adjudication of cases and administration of all case proceedings under supervision of senior judges in those courts. The trainees will be able to actually acquainting with all court works via this on-the-job training after learning important aspects of working from the Judicial Training Institute. After all these trainings, all judge-trainees will be finally evaluated by the special committee before being appointed to enter the position of judge to the Court of First Instance.

Chief Judge Training

When a judge has worked for more than 10 years, he or she will be promoted to the higher post and entitled to have administrative responsibility when he or she is elected to be the chief judge in a provincial court. The duty of the chief judge is not only taking care of case management in the court but also responding to court management including manpower, money and material. Therefore, the chief judge must have managing concept as tools to manage the court up to the standard. The Judicial Training Institute, therefore, provides court management knowledge for those chief judges before they discharge their duties. This course comprises 4 parts lasting within 8 days. All 4 parts are as follows:

- Court Administering (8 topics within 19.5 hours): Planning for Court Development Techniques, Court and Public Service, Public Relations of the Court, Personnel Management, Court Administration Management, Monetary, Financial and Accounting Management, Inventory Management and Court Rule and Regulation Memorandum and Correspondent.
- Court-related Works (6 topics within 13.5 hours): Court Policy for Development, Chief Judge and Royal Ceremony, Chief Judge and Social Meeting, Technique of Office Cooperation, Computer and the Court and TQM of the Court.
- Case Management (6 topics within 13.5 hours): Principles and Techniques of case advice, Mediation Technique, Court Bail Procedure, Special Procedure of Juvenile Case, Petty Case and Special Trial for Non-
