The Maine Alumnus, published five times a year in September-October, November-December, January-February, March-April and June-July by the General Alumni Association, Alumni Center, University of Maine, Orono/Orono, Maine 04473. Editorial and Business offices at Alumni Center. Donald M. Stewart, publisher. The General Alumni Association, Kenneth F. Woodbury, president, is an unincorporated association, classified as an educational and charitable organization as described in section 501C3 of the 1954 Internal Revenue Code. Total number of copies printed per year, 105,000. Average per issue, 21,000. Send changes of address to the business office six weeks prior to the next issue. Advertising rates on request. The Maine Alumnus is sent to members and to other subscribers, subscription rate, $5.00 per annum. Member American Alumni Council. Second class postage paid at Orono, Maine.

On the cover:

There were 8,951 students registered at UMO as of September 18. The total in Orono is 7,967 (4,733 men and 3,234 women), in Bangor 545, and in Augusta 439.

The Graduate School has 530 men and 164 women. There are 26 5th-year men students. There are 1,496 Seniors, 1,582 Juniors, 1,841 Sophomores, and 2,100 Freshmen. One hundred eighty-two are Special Students. There are eight Unclassified Degree Candidates, six Auditors, and 32 three-year Nurse students.

Enrolled in the two-year Associate Degree Program at Bangor are 463 students. Other students at Bangor total 82.

In addition, there are over 10,000 statewide CED registrations.

DIRECTOR'S CORNER

TWO-WAY COMMUNICATION

Everyone agrees that education is big business these days. And so is alumni association support. The inclusion in this issue of our annual report on the Alumni Fund reminds us that this facet of alumni association activity has brought more than a million dollars to the university from its alumni alone in the past decade. And at the present rate of growth we may expect the next decade to produce twice that amount in alumni support for the University at Orono. And over and above these alumni association contributions, we can count on additional alumni gifts. For instance, in this year when contributions in the annual fund total $160,000, we find that alumni gave $86,000 additional through other channels.

Over $50,000 of the funds given this year will go to support the Student Aid Program through 37 Alumni Class Funds. The income from such funds is an ever-growing source of support for students. It becomes especially important for alumni to increase their gifts at this time when students find it harder to find jobs and when they face increasing costs for their education.

This year the Association will devote an additional $8,000 resulting from the Annual Fund to projects on campus. A grant of $2,000 has just been made by the Council to provide the Student Health Center with a new diathermy machine and a whirlpool bath for physical therapy. A grant of $800 will help put Coach Walt Abbott on the air for a weekly series of broadcasts that will bring coaches and high school players before the ETV cameras in Orono. Other expenditures from this $8,000 University Projects Fund will be made during the year.

Contributions to the Alumni Fund made as unrestricted gifts to the Association will make it possible for the Association to increase the number of current projects on campus which can be helped. Last year the Association was able to draw on funds made as unrestricted gifts to purchase on short notice a supply of bass instruments for the University Band.

As important as these grants are, it is more essential that the Alumni Association carry out its fundamental responsibility of serving as a bridge between alumni and Orono. Here at the Alumni Center, through meetings and correspondence with alumni, and at our many local association meetings in Maine and throughout the country we constantly seek to find out what you think now and what you believe our university should become in the future.

In turn, the association seeks to bring back to Maine graduates a continuing report on the ever-changing patterns of life at a university of 8,400 students. The Maine Alumnus brings you reports on each issue from President Libby, who comments forcefully in this issue on the responsibilities and rights of faculty and students. It brings you the achievements of our faculty and our athletic teams and gives you a sampling of the great variety of educational activity that occurs on this campus.

In our Reunion and Homecoming activities we believe there is progress and a lively spirit of joining in with the students, faculty and administration to welcome alumni to Orono. The creation of an Alumni Center last year has helped to forward this part of the Association's program.

In our next issue you will find a comprehensive review of the goals and mission of the University at Orono. It will detail not only the current program but will outline some of the extensions of teaching, research, public service and university life that is wanted by our students and the faculty.

THIS ISSUE of The Maine Alumnus takes off on a big venture to reach ALL known alumni. Over 37,000 copies have been printed and sent to alumni in the hope that those who have not been receiving the magazine will wish to make sure that it reaches them in the future.

If you would like to keep on receiving reports on your classmates and news of how your university fares in this period of rapid change and new directions—become one of our active givers and one of the insiders in education. A contribution of $5.00 or more to the Alumni Fund guarantees you delivery of The Alumnus for the 1970-71 term.

ARCTIC RESEARCH

by Elizabeth Lewis

Anyone on the Coast Guard mailing list, receiving routine Cruise Announcements, will sooner or later feel a stir of wanderlust. If one such person is a geologist, and one such cruise is bound for Greenland, more than a stir can happen.

The day after the Titanic went down in 1912, the U. S. Coast Guard began the North Atlantic Ice Patrol, taking regularly scheduled trips to find out where the major active glaciers are. From the rates of movement of the glaciers they can predict the numbers and positions of icebergs which break off and move south into the shipping lanes. The Coast Guard cutter WESTWIND was scheduled to make a trip this summer to survey glaciers along the northwest coast of Greenland.

Geology Professor Harold Borns, who has been studying marine fossils of the last glacial period in Maine, began thinking it would be of real help to take a look at what is living off the front of glaciers today. In talking it over with Associate Professor John Dearborn of the Zoology Department, the idea grew into a letter to the United States Coast Guard requesting that the University of Maine be given consideration to be part of a scientific party going to the Arctic. In response to Dr. Borns' letter the Coast Guard granted permission for the University of Maine professors to accompany this expedition.

Geology professors Borns and Norton and Zoology professors Allen and Dearborn were all hoping to go. But both men of the Department of Geological Sciences had professional commitments during the time the trip was scheduled, and only the two Zoology men could make the trip. On August 11 Professors Kenneth Allen and John Dearborn boarded a C-130 aircraft as guests of Admiral Ellis, Commander of the First District U. S. Coast Guard.

They landed at Sondrestrom, a U. S. Air Base in Central Greenland. The next day they flew to Cape Christian, Baffin Island, where Admiral Ellis was to inspect the LORAN (civilian language: "Long Range Aid to Navigation") radio station. From there they flew directly to Thule and boarded the 269-foot ice-breaker WESTWIND. In the company of some 200 Coast Guard men they cruised along the northwest coast of Greenland to about 81° 19' north, with stops at the major glaciers between Thule and the northernmost point in the Kennedy Channel. (With Ellesmere Island on the Canadian side, and Greenland on the other side, the small channel between, just north of the Kane Basin, was the northern point of the trip.) Very few surface vessels ever get that far. They were in the world of Admiral Peary, and visited the monument to him just south of Thule.

They were surprised to see how many small, transitory Eskimo villages there were along this route, some of them clustered around only one building, others large enough to require eight to ten buildings. Two men were spotted by helicopter just south of the Humboldt Glacier. They venture far north in the summer, hunting seals and whales. In Murchison Sound, a major embayment north of Thule, parties of Eskimos came to the ship to trade sealskin mittens and narwhal tusks for U. S. money and cigarettes.

At the oceanographic stations where the Coast Guard were taking temperature, salinity, and depth profiles, Professors Allen and Dearborn took their water and biological samples. The sites of these sampling stations ranged from the edge of the glaciers to as much as five miles out. They collected for Professors Borns and Norton samples of water within a couple of feet of the bottom of the ocean, and clams and other mollusks, starfish and sea urchins — anything they could find with a carbonate skeleton.

Analyses are being made now at the University of Washington, of oxygen isotope ratios in the bottom water; and in the geology lab at Maine, of trace elements in the water and in the calcareous mollusk shells. From these findings a comparison will be made between the chemistry of the water and the chemistry of the organisms. This will give valuable information about the environment in Maine some 10,000 years ago. There is a marked similarity between the environmental conditions of marine life in present-day Greenland and those that existed in Maine during glacial times: our living fauna is different; our fossil fauna is close.

The glacial geologists will also be able, as a result of this study, to appraise the oxygen isotopic composition of the last ice sheet to cover North America. This information has direct bearing upon an evaluation of late and postglacial climatic changes.

While the Coast Guard was making its weather observations, Dr. Allen and Dr. Dearborn were making their own observations of marine birds and mammals. They saw many sea birds, arctic foxes, and arctic hares. They saw seals, a few whales, and one group of walrus. But no polar bears!

There were three major areas of study undertaken on this trip. The Coast Guard was interested mostly in physical oceanography and glacier surveys. The geologists were studying water temperatures and salinities on the bottom adjacent to modern glacier margins. The zoologists were collecting marine specimens for anatomical and physiological studies. In discussing the interdisciplinary aspect of the study, Dr. Allen remarked, "Although our project was entirely separate from the Coast Guard's, we are very grateful for their cooperation. They gave us not only logistic support for our work, but much useful background information." Apparently the Coast Guard felt the same spirit of cooperation. In his report of the cruise, Commander Kollmeyer, Glacier Survey Chief, said that our professors "proved eager participants and valuable elements in the cadets' instruction in the ocean sciences."

"With this first cooperative venture between the United States Coast Guard and the University of Maine, we hope that we can continue with more extensive biological and geological studies in West Greenland," said Dr. Dearborn. "Our geographical position as the most northeast university in the United States makes it natural for us to turn in our quest to cold land and water of the north."

Honors thesis in Drama

The Honors Program at Maine is one of the oldest among American universities. In the 1920's Swarthmore, under the leadership of Dr. Frank Aydelotte, pioneered the adaption of the English style Honors courses to the very different patterns of American universities. The Maine program began in 1934, at a time when there were less than a dozen similar programs in the United States. At that time the program was limited to the College of Arts and Sciences; it was not until after World War II that the Honors idea began to spread outside the traditional Arts and Sciences curriculum. From the late 1930's until his retirement in 1962, the guide and inspiration of the Maine program was Professor Ronald Levinson. His wit, his scholarship, his phenomenal memory, his ability to bring out the best from his students made an indelible impression on the Honors students of that period. The program was small in size, graduating three to five students a year, so he was able both to guide them in their exploratory readings and give each of them shrewd and sympathetic advice and guidance. The solid foundations on which the current program rest are his achievement; his successors remember and are grateful.

In 1962, Dr. Lloyd Elliott, then President of the University and a strong friend of the Honors idea, appointed a committee to explore ways and means of enlarging the program to make it available to a larger number of able students and to students in all colleges of the university. The present University Honors Program is based on the report of the 1962 committee, with only a few inconsequential alterations. It was decided to retain the basic ideas of the old Arts and Sciences program, to modify them only as much as was necessary to make them fit the needs of students from the other colleges, and to encourage as many able students to enter the program as could be handled by a necessarily limited Honors staff.

The program now includes around 190 students, a very small percentage of the total student body, and probably much less than half of the able students who could benefit from it. There is a great deal of turnover among students; many stay in the program for only a semester or two, leaving for both personal and academic reasons, and sometimes returning later. To qualify for the Honors degree, a student need not take a Honors course in each semester; if he selects the Honors courses properly, he can qualify in four semesters. This instability is characteristic of Honors programs in most universities; the very able students are often slow to make up their minds about what they really want to do. The Honors Council has felt that the Honors opportunity should be given to as many able students as may want to try it, and has regretted the limitations of staff which sometimes excludes students of considerable potential.

In general the Freshman and Sophomore work in Honors is devoted to encouraging students to explore the world of ideas, with no unduly heavy concentration in any one field. During the Freshman year the Honors courses are conducted in a seminar format, each section being limited to no more than fourteen students. In the fall semester, the students discuss significant books from five or six different areas of thought; this fall the areas will include politics, economics, anthropology, religion, and science. In the spring semester, the theme is the intellectual history of the western world from the end of the medieval period to the present. In both semesters written reports and essays are required in addition to the discussion of readings. During the Sophomore year, the students are divided in small groups of three or four, each group meeting once a week with a faculty tutor. They meet to discuss readings, which vary greatly from group to group. The idea is that each group will read in at least three distinct areas in each semester, and that the areas will be chosen so as to enlarge the intellectual horizons of the group.

The bulk of the student's Honors work in the Junior and Senior years is concentrated in his major field of interest. He works with a faculty member in that major field, meeting with him periodically. In the Junior year, the emphasis is on the detailed study of a topic or sub-field within the major. In the Senior year the student prepares a Honors thesis of a type appropriate to his major field. It may be based on laboratory experiments, as in the sciences; on library research, as in history or literature; or it may be of a creative type, as in theater, music, or art. A properly qualified student may be allowed to do his senior thesis outside his major field; when this is done it is usually in a field closely related to the major. In the Junior year students who do not feel that they need two semesters of specialized work in their major in order to be ready to do the Senior thesis may take a Honors seminar in an outside field. The available seminars vary from year to year; among those recently offered have been seminars in: the Nature of the Non-Western World; Mathematics in Western Culture; Art History; Technology and Civilization; the Nature of Scientific Thought.

In May of the Senior year, there is an oral examination before the Honors Committee of the student's college. About half of it is devoted to the Senior thesis; the other half is over three or four areas, chosen by the student, outside of his major field. On the basis of the quality of the thesis, the performance on the oral examination, and the student's accumulative point average, the Honors Committee awards him Honors, High Honors, or Highest Honors. Only by meeting the requirements of the Honors can a student graduate with some level of Honors; students not meeting them graduate with various levels of Distinction.

The staff of the honors program is drawn from the faculties of all the colleges. In an average semester there will be 15 to 20 teaching in the Freshman-Sophomore part of the program, and another 40 to 50 guiding Juniors and Seniors, usually on a one-to-one basis. No academic program can be better than the quality of teaching that goes into it; the Maine Honors Program has been extremely fortunate in securing the cooperation of many of the finest and most dedicated teachers on the Orono campus.

Over-all direction of the program is in the hands of the University Honors Council, which is made up of one faculty member from each college under the Chairmanship of the Vice-President for Academic Affairs. The Director of the University Honors Program administers the Freshman and Sophomore years of the program under the direction of the Honors Council. Each college has its own Honors Committee, which decides upon the admission and retention of its students in the program, controls the Junior-Senior year work, conducts the final oral examinations, and awards the level of Honors.

It is difficult for anyone who is deeply involved in a program to appraise its successes and failures. The students who have passed through the program and who have graduated with a Honors degree are almost unanimous in reporting that they have benefited greatly from their experience, although they may differ about what parts of the program they found most valuable. Their uniformly good records in graduate and professional schools suggest that Maine's Honors students compare very well with those from major universities across the country. The Honors Council is continuously concerned with improving the program. It would like to improve it in two directions: to make the Honors experience available to a greater number of students; to develop more individualized programs for students whose academic interests do not fit into conventional molds. The only obstacle to these changes, and a familiar one it is, is a lack of funds.

RIGHTS AND LIMITATIONS

“ . . . defining the legitimate spheres of authority of both students and faculty.”

Abstracted from a message to the Faculty by Winthrop C. Libby '32

President, University of Maine at Orono, September 10, 1970

No university can truly be a democratic institution if by democracy we mean “governed by the will of the people.” The “people” for the University of Maine at Orono is a varied and wonderful lot. Our internal community consists of faculty, administrators, students and classified personnel. Our external community consists of legislators, alumni, the Chancellor, the Trustees, citizens at large and parents of students. Do not let any person try to tell you that any one of these as individuals or as groups does not have an interest, a stake and a legitimate voice in directions or procedures of this, a public institution. They most certainly do. In fact, the Trustees have the legal responsibility to administer this campus. They have delegated responsibility to Chancellor McNeil who in turn has delegated major responsibility to me.

To gain consensus on any issue is impossible. Roles must be defined and responsibilities identified and accepted by us. This must be done clearly while at the same time maintaining principles of due process, free speech and assembly, freedom to teach, freedom to learn and a continuing dialogue between internal as well as external constituencies.

STUDENTS

It is hoped that the record of the past two years demonstrates that a climate of trust between students and the University is important and does exist. Student limitations and weaknesses are the human ones shared by all of us. Their strengths are varied but real and substantial. In a very real sense students set the tone of a university not only for themselves but for everyone who belongs to it.

The reasonable and sometimes unreasonable expectations of students come into focus about their desire to have the university experience a completely meaningful, exciting and rewarding one. Their drives are essentially to achieve such a climate. They have no desire to destroy the institution.

Students are unique only in that they have the impatience of the young. They have less than complete respect for the past and strong reservations about the promises of the future. It is the present and only the present which has meaning. This orientation to the present is really a very profound point and is the root explanation (as I see it) of much which has happened during the past two years and what may transpire in the future.

Since our students have rather consistently demonstrated reasonableness in their attitudes and behavior, the University respects and has confidence in them. Basic student rights are protected not only by the open communication which is part of our environment but also by the Disciplinary Code and by the Free Speech and Assembly policy.

Student Responsibility

The student has a responsibility for shaping the academic and social climate of the University. While the faculty has the major role in the academic area and the student in the social area, the two areas are complementary and together make the institutional climate.

The student has responsibility for his learning and this freedom to learn must be protected. He must participate in the classroom, in his department and in his living quarters. This participation must be in such ways as contribute to an atmosphere of high seriousness and scholarship to reinforce the values for which this University stands.

Student Life

Student life on campus has changed in a major fashion during the past three or four years. The University has relinquished its in loco parentis role and is limiting its concern in the non-academic area to the welfare, safety and rights of all of its students. Parents cannot really delegate their responsibilities to any institution but are encouraged to continue their parental responsibility throughout their son's or daughter's college years. As parents relinquish this responsibility, their sons and daughters must assume more.

Students must be directly involved in a major way in shaping rules which affect their lives as students. This involvement includes living areas, social facilities such as the Union and the entire living environment on this campus.

Rights and Limitations of Students in the Academic Area

Obviously, students are concerned about the kind and quality of the educational experience. This is after all their only reason for being here. Concern is expressed through a desire for involvement in the academic decision making process. It is my opinion that students have a particular and important contribution to make in evaluating teaching effectiveness, individual courses and departmental or college curricula.

Curriculum determination is a much touchier subject since in the final analysis only the faculty within an area of specialization can determine the curriculum needed to make it possible for students to get into graduate school, secure a job following graduation or to be awarded a given degree. Yet, students need to have explained to them the reasons for any given course of studies and should feel free to raise reasonable and logical questions about needs for change.

Beyond these three areas student thinking should be considered in evaluating grading systems, course prerequisites, academic calendar and, in fact, any element relating to the character and quality of the educational experience.

Students and faculty recognize that, under University policy, dissension and demonstration of a non-disruptive nature by students is a reasonable procedure. Students must not, however, interfere with the rights of others by obstructing university functions either in the classroom or elsewhere. Rational discourse is the only reasonable way to bring about change without creating powerful and ultimately harmful counter forces of reaction. Students must be guaranteed the freedom to learn as well as the freedom to dissent.

THE FACULTY

A university is known by its faculty—its competence, its dedication, its scholarliness, its willingness to contribute its time and intelligence, and its perceptions of its responsibilities to students and the larger public. The faculty of this University is one of which I and the University as a whole are proud. It is my opinion that you, the faculty, represent one of the very finest resources of this State. Your rights to practice your profession will be guarded to the best of our ability. Your capacity and rights to create the academic tone of the University are recognized and will be protected.

Faculty Responsibility

All of us here are agreed that membership in the academic profession carries special responsibilities. Occasionally, however, we need to remind ourselves of this and a rereading of the 1966 policy statement on Professional Ethics by the American Association of University Professors is an excellent way of doing it. Let me quote, in part and out of context with all of the attendant hazards, certain key sentences from this statement:

"(The Professor) devotes his energies to developing and improving his scholarly competence. He accepts the obligation to exercise critical self-discipline and judgment in using, extending and transmitting knowledge.  He demonstrates respect for the student as an individual, and adheres to his proper role as intellectual guide and counselor.  He avoids any exploitation of students for his private advantage.  He accepts his share of faculty responsibilities for the governance of his institution.  Although he observes the stated regulations of the institution, provided they do not contravene academic freedom, he maintains his right to criticize and seek revision."

The professor's attitude towards his subject and his dispassionate exercise of critical intelligence are every bit as instructive to his students as are his explanations. Any breach of faith with the University or with the requirements of the scholarly profession, can work an unhealthy influence upon the student and cause irreparable harm to the University.

Individual Faculty Member's Responsibility and Authority

The individual faculty member quite clearly must have control of course content, method of subject matter presentation, classroom management and procedures, techniques for evaluating student performance and assignment of grades. The individual faculty member has a responsibility to meet all of his classes as determined by the University time schedule.

The individual faculty member is expected both inside and outside the classroom to observe and support University policies while participating as needed in constructive criticism and suggestions for change. He must use every means possible to encourage students to bring about change through a discourse of reason rather than through a course of violence.

Implicit, also, in any list of faculty responsibilities is the need for scholarly activity within the discipline, cooperation with colleagues and activity on committees.

FALL SPORTS AT UMO

by Len Harlow '48

FOOTBALL

The fall intercollegiate athletic picture at the University of Maine at Orono looks bright with the three major activities given excellent chances of having winning seasons.

Although the Black Bears lost their football opener Sept. 19 at Amherst to a big, bruising University of Massachusetts team, followers of the Pale Blue feel the club, once its young players get adjusted, should come out a winner.

Leading the club this year are two sophomore quarterbacks, each with considerable talent and who, once they achieve game experience, can be the leaders to whom the young club will look for direction. The sophomore quarterbacks are Ron Cote, a solidly-built 5-8, 185-pounder, who scrambles well when his receivers are covered and runs the option with abandon and stringbean Henry (Sandy) Hastings, a 6-1, 165-pounder who throws as well as anyone around.

A major problem of the squad is the lack of size, a factor which cost the Bears dearly in the opener against Massachusetts, a club whose offensive line averaged 230 pounds per man and whose starting fullback was as heavy as any man in the UM lineup. But this has been a problem for the Bears in the past—a problem they have solved with quickness and aggressiveness.

This season Maine will meet other Yankee Conference foes New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut and Vermont as well as Hofstra University, C. W. Post College and Northeastern University.

SOCCER

On the soccer scene Maine fans can be considerably encouraged. Although Maine has never had a winning varsity soccer team, this could very well be the year.

Major reasons for the optimism are the 15 lettermen reporting back this season from the club that won four, lost seven and tied one last year, along with some new blood in the persons of two foreign students. The foreign students include Emmanuel Osobe from Nigeria, a freshman, who in 1968 captained Nigeria's soccer team in the Olympics, and Carleton Ming of Bermuda, one of the top players from last year's UM freshman squad. Maine has accepted an NCAA provision that allows them to use freshmen on varsity teams in all sports except football and basketball.

They will join senior Jossy Byamah of Uganda and senior Ruben Hernandez, originally from Cuba, to give the Bears their best scoring punch in many years.

The Bears opened their season Sept. 19 with a 1-1 tie with Jersey City State College. Coach Paul Stoyell has also been impressed with his goal-tending, utilizing veteran Bill Herland and newcomer Mark Sweetland, a former basketball player.

CROSS COUNTRY

Coach Ed Styrna has perhaps been more optimistic this fall than at any time in recent years. Out for the team this season are 12 fine runners—and not one of them is a senior. In fact, the hard core of talent on the cross country squad is mostly sophomore. In Maine's first dual meet, an easy 19-44 win over Jersey City State, four of the first five Bears across the finish line were sophomores. The only break in that grouping was junior captain Chris Bovie.

The top sophomores are Carl Warner, Larry Doble, John Daly and Bernard Ward. They are backed up by second semester freshman Dick Krause and junior Eric Hill.

The Bears figure to be a definite threat to unseat Bates College for the state championship—a feat that won't be easy as Bates, earlier this fall, racked up its 18th straight dual meet win.

A summary of the University of Maine's budget request for the 1971-73 biennium at the nine campuses

The budget is a result of requests from the campuses, through the Chancellor, and to the Board of Trustees for final approval.

The budget request was submitted to Governor Curtis on August 21, and will go to the 105th Legislature.

Part I covers continuing services.

Part II covers new or improved services.

PART I OPERATING BUDGET REQUEST (CONTINUING SERVICES) 1971-73 BIENNIUM UNIVERSITY OF MAINE

A continuing services budget request of $87,809,895 for the University of Maine has been submitted to the governor for the 1971-73 biennium.

Revenues from tuition, fees, grants, the federal government and sources other than the state are forecasted to be $25.9 million, leaving a need for state appropriations of $61.9 million.

The 104th Legislature appropriated $47.1 million to the University's $70.8 million operating budget for 1969-71.

Campus requests are $39,993,706 for 1971-72 and $43,049,918 for 1972-73; educational television $565,652 and $604,738; Office of the Chancellor (Bangor and Portland) $448,686 and $479,569; computer center $763,346 and $812,610; and other University-wide services $527,746 and $563,924.

Increases in the budget are a result of enrollment growth between the first and second year of the current biennium (1,227 fulltime students), salary and wage adjustments for 2,700 employees, the cost of the national inflationary trend for purchase of goods and services, and special uncontrollable cost increases, such as the social security increase.

Enrollment:

The addition of 1,227 fulltime students between the first and second year of the present biennium required additional faculty, supplies and services. Just to stay at the present enrollment level requires more funds than in the current biennium.

Salaries and Wages:

The nature of education is such that personnel costs (salary, wages and fringe benefits) make up more than 70 per cent ($64 million) of total expenditures. This is true nationally as well as at the University of Maine.

Two facts should be considered when the University's request for increased salaries and wages are discussed: 1) faculty and administrative staff salaries at the University of Maine are the lowest of any state university in New England, and 2) the University's classified employees, on the average, have lower salaries and wages than do State employees in comparable jobs.

The University is requesting an average increase for faculty and other professional staff of 8% in the first year of the biennium and 7% in the second. For classified employees, the University is requesting an increase of 10% each year.

National Inflation: Unless specific information existed to the contrary, the University used a 6% annual inflationary increase in the cost of all goods and services necessary to its current operation.

Risk Insurance: It is anticipated that fire insurance premiums will increase from $33,500 to about $115,000.

Social Security: Present legislation will cause the University to increase its social security payments approximately $300,000 during the 1971-73 biennium.

UMA Associate Nursing Degree Program: Start-up funds for this program are a part of the current biennial budget. However, to enroll and educate the approximate 75 students this program will reach, requires $63,770 for 1971-72 and $133,564 for 1972-73.

Other Programs:

Situations requiring funds more than the 6% inflationary growth include heating costs, library acquisitions, deferred maintenance, air travel tax and authorized expansion of new buildings or additions.

PART II
(NEW AND IMPROVED SERVICES)
1971-73 BIENNIUM
UNIVERSITY OF MAINE

The primary object of the university's part II request is to improve the quality of education being offered to the State and to make that education available to a larger number of Maine citizens.

The Board of Trustees is requesting a Part II State Appropriation of $15,371,050, to allow the University to generate additional revenue of $1,875,333 for a total expenditure for new and improved services at the nine campuses over the two-year period of $17,246,383.

The Capital Construction recommendations from the Board of Trustees calls for 25 projects totaling $27,440,000. The Trustees recommend further that the first nine projects on the initial priority list be funded from unappropriated State surplus. The nine projects total $8,055,000.

Comparisons With Requests To 104th Legislature

(In Millions)	104th	105th
Appropriation Request (Part II)	$16.4	$15.4
Capital Construction	$39.6	$27.4

Campuses, Chancellor and Board Requests For 105th Legislature

(In Millions)	Campus	Chancellor	Board
Appropriation Request (Part II)	$57.1	$23.6	$15.4
Capital Construction	$45.4	$27.4	$27.4

Student Aid: $1,250,000

Although this program will narrow the gap in justifiable student aid, it is 38% below actual student need.

Library Improvement: $1,250,000

This program will enable the campuses to initiate a conservative, orderly, long-range plan of library development. The major portion of the requested funds will be used to meet the minimum standards of the American Library Association by which the University is short by 1,000,000 volumes.

Increased Student Enrollment:
$6,327,000

The number of adults and high school graduates desiring higher education is increasing. We are now turning away qualified students. Also, we have, or will have by 1973, reached the physical capacity of many of our facilities, which caused the Board to slow down enrollment expansion by approximately 20 per cent. In number of students, the money requested, would allow for 1,294 new students in 1971 and 2,657 in 1972.

Employees Wage Increase: $405,387

University non-faculty employees are not paid on a par with State employees. For example, according to the Maine State Department of Personnel, the August issue of Maine Manpower and University of Maine personnel records:

	University Employees	State Employees	Private Industry Employees
Base Rate (hourly)	$1.45	$1.83	$1.60
Average hourly rate	$2.24	$2.49	$2.56

Student Health Services: $335,808

Excepting Orono, student health services on our campuses are deplorably inadequate. This program will provide for emergency treatment, reasonable routine health care as well as preventive medicine. This means 24 hour coverage for each campus.

Maintenance Reserve: $100,000

This reserve would help meet the emergency maintenance problems that occur.

Alterations and Minor Improvements: $500,000

This request will provide for only the most urgent alterations and minor improvements and none will exceed a cost of $100,000.

State-Wide Quality Improvement: $6,800,000

This request is aimed at four different aspects of improving the quality and quantity of public higher education in Maine.

1. Programs will be developed at the one and two year level in such fields as allied health professions, general studies, recreation management and computer sciences. Transfer programs among the campuses will be developed. The approach will be to offer needed community oriented programs and to diversify the offerings at the nine campuses.

2. There is a need for additional on-campus services for students who require special tutoring, counseling and instructional services.
3. The University will improve its teaching and learning methods on all campuses. This includes achieving accreditation for the two campuses which are not accredited. It also involves use of modern media to reach more students.
4. Maine has a need for research activities related to economic development to which the University can contribute with adequate support. In addition to improving present programs, a specific target will be the initiation of research programs for the new Advanced Study and Research Center in Portland.

Travel: $100,000

This program will provide the travel required for faculty recruitment and to cover the increasing extra cost as the University conducts more public service programs, such as CED and student teaching.

Fund Raising Activities: $178,188

This request is for money to raise money. Current fund raising programs on the campuses do not reach all the possible sources, from alumni, to federal monies in Washington, to private foundations in New York.

CC Nine faculty members of the University of Maine at Orono are among the more than 5,000 outstanding educators in the nation selected to appear in the 1970 edition of Outstanding Educators of America, President Winthrop C. Libby announced. Those named are Professors David Trafford, Robert Thomson, John W. Beamesderfer, Ashley S. Campbell, Frederick H. Radke, Frederick Hutchinson, Richard C. Gibson, Kenneth Allen and Jonathan Biscoe.

CC Improved and expanded service and training have been two of the significant features of the program provided by the Speech and Hearing Center this summer in their new facilities in North Stevens Hall on the Orono campus. A total of 53 children and adults received diagnostic and therapy services for language, speech and hearing difficulties during the 1970 Summer Session. This compares with 27 persons served during the 1969 summer program. The addition of complete testing services for persons with hearing problems accounts for a large portion of the increase.

CC Dr. Michael D. Bentley, a University of Maine at Orono chemistry department faculty member, is one of 40 young scientists throughout the country who has been awarded a $5,000 Merck Grant for Faculty Development. The Merck Company Foundation makes these awards annually to support independent research by young faculty members in the first year or so of their first appointment at universities and medical schools. Bentley, an organic chemist, was named to the UMO faculty in September, 1969. His particular research interests are in organosulfur chemistry, molecular orbital correlations and spiroconjugations.

CC About 500 original graphics usually seen only in major galleries or museums were on display in Carnegie Hall on September 21. The print collection, arranged by London Graphic Arts, is making a tour of colleges and universities. Included in the one-day exhibit were 16th century manuscript pages, old masters, modern masters, and a wide range of contemporary prints.

CC A $2,000 grant from the S&H Foundation's lectureship program has been awarded to the department of economics for a series of four lectures at UMO during the coming year. Lecture topics will include the economics of environmental quality control, the economics of regional development, Canadian policy towards regional growth and environmental quality control, and U.S. policy in the same fields.

CC Professor Emeritus Walter R. Whitney, who left the University of Maine in 1965 to be on the faculty at California State Polytechnic College, has just been appointed chairman of the Department of English and Modern Languages there.

CC UMO has received a research grant of $18,600 from Wood Fiber Products Research Division of Forest Products Laboratory in Madison, Wis., to explore methods of removing objectionable color from Kraft paper mill waste water. The grant has been offered for a three-year period.

CC Dr. Harold L. Chute, director of Development at the University of Maine at Orono, spoke on September 12 at one of the final sessions of the three-day annual meeting of the Quebec Veterinarians Association in Quebec City's Hotel des Laurentides. Chute, who is a professor of animal pathology and has an international reputation for his diagnostic and research work in the area of poultry diseases, spoke on the production of SPF in disease free poultry.

CC As classes were beginning on the UMO campus, and ETV's instructional programs were resuming, Maine's first public radio station, WMEH-FM took to the air. Located on 90.9, FM dial, it broadcasts in stereophonic sound seven days a week, 18 hours a day, within a 65-mile radius of the East Eddington transmitter. Programming ranges about 30 per cent news and public affairs and 70 per cent stereo music. Of the music, 80 per cent is "classical" or "serious." A program guide can be obtained free of charge by dropping a note to WMEH-FM Program Guide, Alumni Hall.

"Psychology of Literary Change", is being published by Temple University Press.

CC Dr. Colin E. Martindale, a new assistant professor of psychology, won the $1,000 first prize in the ninth annual Creative Talent Awards Program of the American Institutes for Research. The award is made for doctoral dissertations showing a creative contribution in human behavior and related disciplines. Dr. Martindale's dissertation,

CC More than 130 courses, varying in subject matter from college composition to the plant world, are being offered during the fall of 1970 at the Orono and Bangor campuses of the University of Maine by the university's Continuing Education Division.

CC Professor Michael Novak, provost of the Disciplines College at the State University of New York, Old Westbury, will be "Theologian-in-Residence" on the Orono campus from November 7 to 12. A highly regarded young Catholic theologian, Professor Novak has written extensively, perhaps being best known for The Experience of Nothingness and A Theology for Radical Politics.

CC New ideas that may have interesting consequences in the next five years in the field of physics were examined by members of the New England Sections of the American Physical Society and the American Association of Physics teachers at their joint sessions October 16 and 17 on the Orono campus. Paul Camp, chairman of the physics department at UMO is vice chairman of the New England Section of the American Physical Society.

CC The most successful athletic team at the University of Maine at Orono opens its 1970-71 campaign October 17 with 12 matches listed on its schedule. It is the UM varsity rifle team which, since its inception at the university in the 1955-56 academic year, has recorded 89 wins and 24 losses in dual competition for a .787 winning percentage, best among Black Bear intercollegiate teams.

ENVIRONMENTAL STUDIES

The 1971 Catalog devotes five pages to listings of courses that are offered in the new Center for Environmental Studies. Some courses sample the general aspects of environment and are open to all students with minimal or no prerequisites. Some sample the various areas of ecology. Most of them are taught as regular courses within the several departments of the colleges. These include many that are usually thought of in relationship to the study of the environment, such as Soil Mechanics and Forest Recreation Management. But there are many others offered, as diverse as History of Architecture, Social Psychology, and Growth-Learning Process, showing the wide diversity of fields involved. Interdisciplinary cooperation is encouraged in the physical, biological, and social aspects involved in environmental research, teaching and public service. Professor Harold Borns is Special Assistant to the President for Environmental Studies for the Fall Semester.

COURSE FOR POLICE IN CONSTITUTIONAL LAW

Dr. Eugene A. Mawhinney, head of the political science department, is the instructor of a nine-week course being offered this fall in Belfast, intended for those engaged in enforcing the criminal law.

The development of the federal constitution and the history of the Bill of Rights will be surveyed, and emphasis will be on recent court interpretations and trends. Among the topics will be history of constitutional provisions, free speech, free press and freedom of assembly, arrest, search and seizure, wire tapping and eavesdropping, interrogations and confessions, self-incrimination, and civil rights and civil rights legislation.

YOUNG WOMAN JOINS CAMPUS POLICE FORCE

A woman patrolman has been added to the campus police force, the first in the history of UMO. Mrs. Mildred Cannon, a 1969 graduate of UMO, shares the duties of the other eleven patrolmen, including traffic control, investigation, answering complaints, and taking speaking engagements.

Mrs. Cannon will be of special service in cases involving women students. Having been herself so recently a student, she hopes to be able to assist the police force and students in their communication with each other.

PULP AND PAPER SCHOLARSHIPS

One hundred eight scholarships and grants amounting to $42,750 have been awarded by the University of Maine Pulp and Paper Foundation for the fall semester to UMO students preparing to enter the pulp and paper and allied industries.

Twenty-four are for students taking the fifth-year paper management option program, and provide full tuition plus $1,100 for one year.

Eighty-six recipients are Maine residents, eleven are from Mass., five are from New York, three from New Jersey, and one each from Delaware, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

OUTREACH OF UMO COOPERATIVE EXTENSION SERVICE

State Program Coordinator O. Lewis Wyman describes six major areas of current Extension activities: Youth, Family Life, Community Development and Social Welfare, Agriculture, Maine Indians, and Civil Defense.

Youth programs are particularly successful. A film, school bulletins, and tours are all being offered to assist in career planning. Programs of sex education and drug abuse are available. Summer camps have been held state-wide, serving many low-income families. Inner-city children have been brought in to live briefly with rural families. Upward Bound has conducted summer educational programs for some 60 Maine young people (five of them Maine Indians) from disadvantaged backgrounds.

Homemaking skills are being improved in low-income families: class topics include making over clothing, best use of donated foods, health care, family planning, and improved housing. Men are learning trades. One woman has organized a homemaker group to teach homemaking skills. Day camp centers have been established with activities including remedial tutoring, counseling, educational trips, and recreation.

In the community development area, the citizens of one town decided to ask the town to take over and modernize the community water facility as the result of information presented at a public meeting conducted with the assistance of Extension personnel. Community recreation facilities in Aroostook County continue to expand with the help of Extension specialists, with projects under way in 14 towns.

In agriculture, Extension's efforts to convince potato farmers to handle fertilizer in bulk form are paying off, resulting in a $3.50 per ton saving. Mechanical harvesting, another Extension promotion, is increasing. Extension specialists continue to work with farmers on modernizing storage facilities and in using newly-developed harvesting and handling techniques to reduce losses caused by bruising.

Finally, in civil defense, a computer program to analyze radiation shielding in structures has been adapted to University of Maine computers. Also, a university-built Rural Civil Defense radiological display unit is being used throughout the state to illustrate the effectiveness of different building materials against radio-active fallout.

PARENTS AND FRIENDS WEEKEND AT UMO October 2-4, 1970

The Development Office of the University of Maine at Orono sponsored a Parents and Friends Weekend on October 2, 3, and 4, 1970. More than 1,100 parents and friends of the University of Maine at Orono were given the opportunity to attend weekend activities including campus tours, a chance to meet and talk with President Winthrop C. Libby '32, and an opportunity to attend a Yankee Conference football game between the Maine Black Bears and Rhode Island University. The Development Office also arranged for bus tours to Bar Harbor for over 120 interested parents and friends on what proved to be one of the peak weekends for the fall foliage. Mike Hanson '71 and Pat Tinkham '71, members of the GAA Undergraduate-Alumni Council, along with Greg Choquette, president of the Sophomore Owls, and other Owls and Eagles, helped to welcome returning parents and friends to the University and acted as tour guides on the bus trip to Bar Harbor.

BOULANGER MEMORIAL FUND

Leo W. Boulanger, Professor of Entomology, died suddenly in Orono on July 2. The "Memorial Entomological Library Fund" has been established in his memory. It is to become a part of the University of Maine Foundation, and interest earned will be used to supplement dollars used for the purchase of books and periodicals in the field of Entomology. Contributions are being received through the Alumni Office or in care of the Department of Entomology, Deering Hall. Checks may be made out to the Boulanger Memorial Fund and are income tax deductible.

TAX SEMINAR

A one-day seminar to discuss the Tax Reform Act of 1969 as it affects charitable giving was sponsored by the University of Maine at Orono Development Office on Saturday, September 26.

Arranged by Dr. Harold Chute, director of development, and Thomas Harper, assistant director, the seminar featured a morning panel session with Willard H. Linscott, vice president and trust officer of the Merrill Trust Company; Merrill Bradford of the law firm of Eaton, Peabody, Bradford and Veague; and Professor Edwin Heisler of the University of Maine Law School.

Invited to attend were attorneys, accountants, trust officers and university and college development officers in Maine's seven northeastern counties.

KELLOGG FOUNDATION GRANT

The W. K. Kellogg Foundation has awarded a second grant this year to the University of Maine. A grant of $32,500 was received in August in support of regionally significant continuing education programs. The funds are being used to develop an in-service training program for administrators and staffs associated with social service programs for disadvantaged people. This program, being carried out through institutions of higher education in New England, will include on its faculties directors of national associations involved with urban problems as well as faculty members in New England.

FORD FOUNDATION GRANT FOR ENVIRONMENTAL STUDY

The Ford Foundation has awarded a $79,000 grant to the University of Maine at Orono for the creation of an institute which will study the changing environments of the lower Penobscot River area. The area to be covered in the study, effective from September 1, 1970 to August 31, 1972, extends from Indian Island, above Old Town, to the head of Penobscot Bay in the vicinity of Turtle Head on Islesboro Island.

The project, being administered by the Center for Environmental Studies, is under the coordination and leadership of Edgar A. Imhoff, director of the Maine Water Resources Center.

ALUMNI NEWS

GAA ETV FOOTBALL SHOW

A chance to learn some of the finer points about the game of football is being offered to viewers of Maine public television through WMEB-TV, Orono; WMEM-TV, Presque Isle; WMED-TV, Calais; and WCBB-TV, Augusta. "Maine Football, 1970" has been made possible partly through a grant by the General Alumni Association.

UMO football coach Walt Abbott and program host Les Spencer present action films of each week's University of Maine football games, with a discussion of the upcoming games. In addition, many sidelights of the game of football are shown and explained.

Such programs include a description of how football players are taped and the equipment that each player wears during a football game. Referees' hand signals are demonstrated. On subsequent programs short features will take the viewer into the huddle, the locker room, and onto the practice field.

DR. MULVEY REPRESENTS UMO

Representing the University of Maine at Orono at the inauguration of Dr. Donald Hornig as 14th president of Brown University was Dr. Mary Mulvey, Director of Adult Education, Providence (R. I.) Public School System. Dr. Mulvey is a graduate of the University of Maine at Orono in the Class of 1930 and holds a Ph.D. degree from Harvard.

ALUMNUS GIVES PAINTING TO ALUMNI CENTER

An oil painting of a Scottish landscape, given to the University by Howard L. Bowen, '24, of Hallowell, will be hung in the Lounge of the Alumni Center. The painting is the work of Niels Moeller Lund (1863-1916), whose work was exhibited in European galleries and in the British Royal Academy. Mr. Bowen is a member of the Council of the General Alumni Association.

SENIOR ALUMNI APPOINT THREE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEMBERS

The University of Maine Senior Alumni Association announced this summer the appointment of three executive committee members, each to serve a one year term.

Those named are Howe W. Hall '14; Weston S. Evans '18; and Dwight D. Demeritt '19, all of Orono. All were at one time faculty members of the University of Maine at Orono.

HOBBS MFG., WORCESTER LOSES OAKES, GAINS HALL

Stewart F. Oakes, '41, became president of Worcester County National Bank on September 1. He was formerly president of Hobbs Manufacturing Company, Worcester. Succeeding him are two presidents, for the parent company and two subsidiaries.

Preston W. Hall, '54, was named president and general manager of Hobbs, and president of the subsidiary Simplatrol Products Corp.

Mr. Oakes is remaining as vice president of Hobbs and its subsidiaries.

ALUMNUS ASSUMES NEW POSITION

Dayton D. Decourcy has been appointed Secretary for Public Affairs for the Travelers Insurance Co. He received his B.A. from Maine in 1944 and M.F.A. in 1947 from Western Reserve in Cleveland, and also did graduate work at the University of California.

He joined the Travelers Insurance Co. in 1951 in Portland, Maine, and was later transferred to Hartford, Connecticut, where he was appointed Assistant Superintendent of Life, Accident, and Health Sales Promotion in 1958.

LOCAL ASSOCIATION NEWS

As we open another academic year, the General Alumni Association looks forward to an extremely active fall for local alumni association programs. All alumni interested in participating in local alumni association activities in your area are encouraged to contact the General Alumni Association, University of Maine, Orono, Maine 04473.

Presidents and program chairmen will find help in obtaining speakers and other program features from Don Stewart and Mark Whittaker at the alumni office.

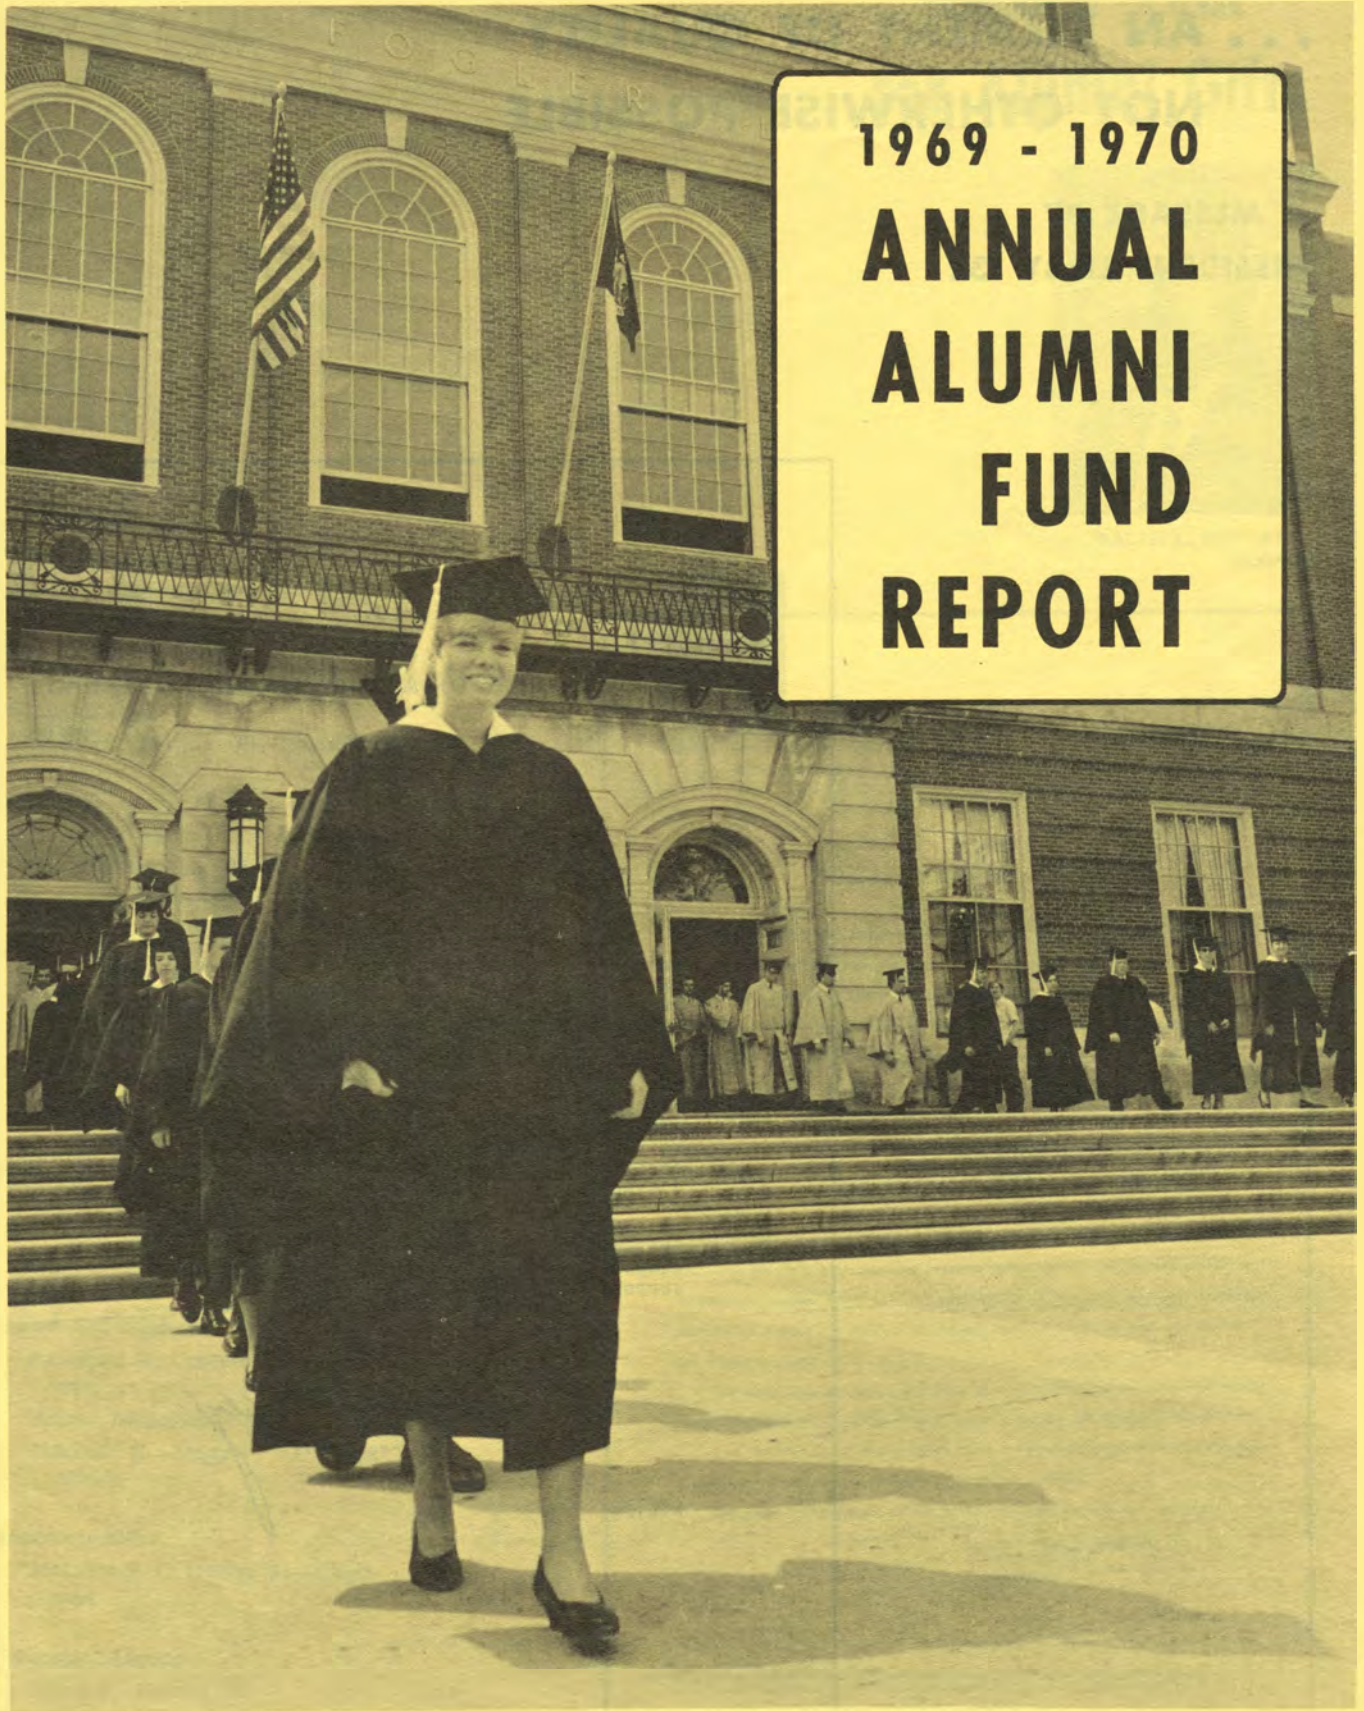

ALUMNI WILL MEET FOR MAINE-NORTHEASTERN FOOTBALL GAME

Plans are under way for alumni from the Central Boston Alumni Association and the North Shore Alumni Association to gather for the Maine-Northeastern football game on October 31 at Boston. This game marks the end of the playing schedule for the MAINE Black Bears during their away-game tour. All alumni in the Massachusetts area interested in participating in this alumni function which will follow the game are encouraged to contact Paul Bradstreet '53, 1257 Washington Street, Gloucester, Massachusetts 01930, president of the North Shore Alumni Association, or Raymond R. Couture '51, 54 Prospect Street, Reading, Massachusetts 01867, president of the Greater Boston Alumni Association.

PORTLAND ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

The Portland Women got together on October 8 at the home of Mrs. Rebecca Johnson '56, for their fall supper meeting. Invited guests to the meeting were Donald M. Stewart, '35, Executive Director of the GAA, Mrs. Betty Lewis, new editor of The Maine Alumnus, and Mrs. Mildred "Brownie" Schrupf '25, a former member of the GAA staff.

UNIVERSITY OF MAINE • ORONO, MAINE 04473

August 1970

Office of the President
Alumni Hall
207/866-7477

Over 6,800 alumni of the University of Maine at Orono demonstrated their respect, their loyalty and their love for their University through contributions to the 1969-70 Annual Alumni Fund. The dollars given by alumni are important since these funds help provide an element of quality not otherwise possible. Yet beyond the dollars themselves, as significant as these are, is the larger element of support and understanding. Your University needs this kind of sympathetic, constructive understanding and involvement. I sincerely believe we warrant it.

I want all Alumni to know that I as the current administrative officer for this campus deeply appreciate your continued support. Thank you.

Record Year for Alumni Gifts

Once again we can announce with pride that your contributions have exceeded our previous campaign total. A total of 6,813 alumni contributors shared in the honor of establishing a record total $160,000. This is an increase of 10% over the 1968-69 campaign total. Now embarking on its 10th year, the Annual Alumni Fund has, through the decade, raised over $1,000,000.

The continued growth of the Annual Alumni Fund is proof of your awareness of the ever increasing need for greater support of the University of Maine at Orono. Your loyalty and devotion to your alma mater is clearly evident.

Your contributions promote academic enrichment, underwrite student aid, make possible assistance to faculty, arts, administration and athletics. In addition, alumni funds paid for publication of The Maine Alumnus, supported your Alumni Center and enabled the Alumni Association to co-ordinate Reunion and Homecoming activities.

The unselfish dedication and contribution of time by the volunteer Annual Alumni Fund Committee and the Class Agents deserves our deepest praise.

Your General Alumni Association takes this opportunity to salute the many friends and alumni of the University of Maine at Orono.

The names which appear on the following pages deserve our applause.

WHAT ARE THEY THINKING NOW

By Ron Devine '55

Too young to be part of the older generation, too old to be part of the younger, the Class of 1955 should be something of a bridge across the generation gap. But is it? Or is it already balding complacently into middle age?

Reunion chairman Joseph T. Rigo wanted to find out. He proposed a survey of the class as a feature of its 15th reunion in June. He asked the journalism students of Professor Brooks W. Hamilton what questions they would like answered by some of the over-thirty crowd.

Then he put together a four-page questionnaire: What, fellow '55ers, do you think about the country today? How do you feel about youth? Campus rebels? The Vietnam War and the draft? The drug scene? The Nixon Administration? Motherhood? Dear old Maine, State of and University of?

Of the 400-plus questionnaires sent to class members, 109 were returned, a response of about 25%, considered good by most polling standards. As a member of Mr. Rigo's committee, I agreed to receive, tabulate, and attempt to analyze the returns. The first reply was prophetic: Under "comments", the classmate had written: "Sure glad I don't have to wade through all this!"

It took some wading, but it was interesting. Other classes might find the project worth trying, not only as a barometer of thinking among their age group, but as a way of generating some class interest. We claim no scientific accuracy either as to composition of the questions or the interpretation of the answers. But we do feel we have been able to draw a composite picture of the Class of 1955 in its 15th year "out in the world". For whatever they are worth, here are our findings.

Most of us are 36 or 37 years old (the eldest woman classmate to reply was 65, the eldest man, 59, and there were a few "babies" of 35). We are nearly all (90%) married—happily, it appears, for only three reported they had been divorced, an enviable record in light of the national average. We have 2.9 children, many of whom are reaching or are already into their teens.

Few of the women hold full-time jobs, though many are working part time. Women's Lib is not a burning issue, apparently, for most feel they should remain at home to be with their children. The men agree. About half, men and women, feel a woman's place is in the home, while a third feel that if a woman wants to work she should not be denied the opportunity.

Most of us (60%) live in the suburbs, quite a few (30%) in rural areas and only a smattering (10%) in the city. Nearly 90% are buying our own homes.

Professionally, the men are advancing nicely into middle and upper management positions, with salaries to match. Interestingly, many who have chosen to remain in Maine are doing better financially than their classmates in the rest of New England. Earnings of those outside the area are a notch above. The bulges in the profiles: Maine, $14,000-$18,000; rest of New England, $11,000-$14,000; outside New England, $18,000-$22,000.

The questionnaire was in the mail before the Cambodian thrust this spring and reached class members at about the time GIs were crossing the border. Thus, Indochina was on people's minds as they prepared their answers. Even so, it would not have been surprising that a majority thought the involvement in Southeast Asia was this country's biggest current problem.

Neither is it too surprising that pollution of our environment ranked as second most important. Third was civil rights, and fourth, poverty. Asked to list other problems, class members cited student unrest, a breakdown of law and order, the population explosion, deterioration of family life—and, "radical professors".

Was our country right in going into Vietnam in the first place? A shade over half said yes, a third said no, and the rest did not reply on this point. Once committed, did we pursue the war hard enough? About 60% said no, while 10% said we had pursued it too hard, and 8% that we applied about the right amount of force.

About three quarters of us would not oppose the drafting of our sons into military service—and a quarter of these would have them go "eagerly". Five classmates would encourage their sons to appeal for review, five would urge them to head for Canada, three would rather see them serve in jail than in Vietnam. Six feel the decision should rest with their sons themselves.

We are about evenly split on whether the draft should be abolished in favor of an all voluntary military. A majority feel the draft should be reformed, but don't know how it can be done. Most of us are not eager, however, to extend women's "rights" to military conscription—but 16 classmates (four of them women) think females should be drafted.

Should 18-year-olds be given the vote? More than half, 55%, said yes, 41% said no. Regarding the "drug problem" among young people, nearly half think it is underemphasized, while a third think it is getting about the attention it deserves. A few feel it is being overemphasized. Two thirds of us do not feel we know enough about the problem, while about a quarter feel we do. Six class members owned up to having smoked marijuana (one under clinical conditions).

We seem to be a bit cynical about the presidency of Richard M. Nixon, responding to an invitation to comment on his administration's biggest successes with remarks like, "What success?" and, "Just getting elected." Nevertheless, two thirds of us would vote for him again. Another quarter would not; the rest kept their political silence. We find his biggest failings to be the continuing war in Indochina and his lack of success in beating back inflation.

Two thirds of us are active in our community organizations, and are regular church goers. Most of us are about as religious as we were when we left college, and some (31%) are more religious. A few (15%) are less religious.

For the most part, we favor the consolidation of the state colleges into the "super university". About 60% think today's students are receiving a better education than we received. However, about the same number think the education we received was "good", while about a third feel it was "average", and 5% that it was "mediocre".

Wherever we may be, we still hold Maine dear. If we are living away, we would like to reside in Maine, were it professionally possible. Many of us journey "home" as often as we can, on vacations or whenever else the opportunity arises. We urge present students to stay if they can, as many of us wish we could have.

A bridge across the generation gap? The survey results do not provide an overwhelming body of evidence that the Class of 1955 can lay claim to that distinction. Maybe some of us are still "tuned in" to the youth scene, but most seem to be standing firmly on the Establishment banks of the great divide.

PENOBSCOT VALLEY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

September 25, 1970, was the date selected for program planning to involve all MAINE men within the Penobscot Valley Alumni Association. Willard C. Farnham '60, president of the Penobscot Valley Alumni Association, met here on the UMO campus and made plans for a series of meetings of MAINE alumni in the surrounding area to visit their University campus taking advantage of the cultural and educational programs available to them.

The goal of the Association is to build a strong relationship between Bangor area alumni and the students, faculty and administration at Orono.

SOUTHERN KENNEBEC ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The Southern Kennebec Alumni Association held its fall luncheon at Larson's Smorgasbord in Winthrop Center on Oct. 8. Guest speaker was UMO president Winthrop C. Libby '32. Also invited to greet MAINE alumni were Donald M. Stewart '35, Executive Director of the General Alumni Association, Mrs. Betty Lewis, new editor of The Maine Alumnus, and Mrs. Mildred "Brownie" Schrupf '25, former member of the GAA staff. Miss Marion Cooper '27 was presented a Black M Award for her long service to the association and the university.

SOUTHERN PENOBSCOT ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

A covered dish supper at the home of Mrs. Waldron Sawyer (Winona Cole '43) of Bangor marked the beginning of a series of events planned by the Southern Penobscot Alumnae Association. The Bangor area women plan a Christmas Auction on December 9, and their Annual Guest Night for March 16.

Mrs. Elizabeth Gilmore '60 is president of the group, which witnessed the presentation of a Black M Award to Miss Josephine Profita '38 for service to the university and the Bangor area alumnae group.

LEWISTON-AUBURN ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

The Lewiston-Auburn Alumnae Association held a "cook-your-own-supper" at the home of Mrs. Muriel McCarthy '58, in Turner on Sept. 16. The business meeting included a discussion of the club's scholarship project. The program was provided by Mrs. Marian Nash '33, of Auburn, who described her travels in Europe. The next meeting will be held on October 22 at the home of Mrs. Otto Wallingford '45, of Auburn.

CENTRAL NEW YORK ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Once again the Central New York Alumni Association ordered U. S. prime Maine lobsters for their September 19 local association meeting. It was a "bring - your - own - plates - silverware - napkins - pickles - nut-crackers - and - "Steins" alumni affair. Under the careful planning of the Lobster Picnic Committee of Gordon and Rachel Buchanan, George and Carolyn Remillard, and Dick and Mary Faloon this local alumni association meeting was considered a total success.

CLEVELAND OHIO ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Alumni from the Cleveland, Ohio, area were the guests of Arthur Willey '24, at a MAINE alumni lobster picnic on September 26. Herbert Cook '35, president of the Cleveland Association joined with other active MAINE people in what proved to be a lobster picnic for all to enjoy.

EDITOR APPOINTED

Beginning with this issue The Maine Alumnus has a new editor, Mrs. Elizabeth E. Lewis of Orono.

After her graduation from Wellesley College in 1947 Mrs. Lewis taught school for two years. She worked with Henry Holt Publishing Company in New York, and then in the Public Relations office of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. She was administrative assistant to the dean of the Chapel at Syracuse University before her marriage to the Rev. Theodore W. Lewis, Episcopal Chaplain at the University of Maine in Orono since 1957. They have two children, Michael, 10, and Kate, 9.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

Enclosed is a check for 102 nickels on the occasion of your 102nd birthday this Sept. 21.

This is the second summer I have spent my vacation in Maine and this is twice the state has impressed me with its beauty and character.

I hope some day all your alumni will realize that all they have is because of their school, and will contribute to their Alma Mater.

Regards from N.Y.U.,

C. A. Handelman
New York, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

The Summer Issue of The Maine Alumnus has just been received. As expected, it contains much important data, and interesting information, and excellent pictures.

But, as I am an alumnus, Class of 1909, I object very strongly to the color of the pictures on the cover. I do not like the color of the paper used for the alumni pages. My chief objection is to the color of the lighter parts of the pictures on the cover. To me, and I believe to others, this is an extremely unattractive and unpleasant shade of green.

When I was a student at the university, the colors of The University of Maine were light blue and white. I hope that if, in the future, colors are used in or on the magazine, The Maine Alumnus, the color printed or the color of the paper will be light blue.

Sincerely yours,

Merton T. Goodrich, '09
Keene, N. H.

Ed. Note: Sorry, but we just couldn't resist green for summer and autumn leaves for fall. We promise you Maine blue in the winter!

Dear Mr. Stewart:

This is just a somewhat belated note to express my appreciation for the fifty-year certificate. Since it was dated the same as my seventy-third birthday, it made for a very special birthday present.

I have been quite interested in following the activities of the students at Maine and they seem from here to be most commendable. However, as I wrote President Libby some time ago, twenty years from now most of these dissidents will be found among our groups of solid citizens, if you find them at all.

May I again take this opportunity to express my appreciation for the certificate and to wish you and the University all the best for the coming school year.

Sincerely,

Phil Libby, '20
Carlsbad, California

IN MEMORIAM

Where details are available, obituaries are included. We solicit your assistance in forwarding information to the Alumni Center.

1920 GEORGE ALVA POTTER, 71, recipient in June of this year of the General Alumni Service Emblem, the highest award granted to an alumnus, died August 19 in a Boston hospital. He was born May 18, 1899 in Mystic, Connecticut. Affectionately known as "Kid" Potter, his activities on behalf of the University of Maine have been many and varied. He was past president of the Black Bear Club of Greater Boston, a past member of the Alumni Association Council, Council's executive committee, the Annual Alumni Fund Committee, and president and class agent for the Class of 1920. He had served as chairman of special gifts in Eastern Massachusetts for the Arthur A. Hauck Building Fund, chairman of the New York Metropolitan Area for the Memorial Gymnasium Fund and was the first chairman of the Annual Alumni Fund committee in 1960. He was very active in the University of Maine Alumni Club in Boston. He received a B.A. degree in Economics from the University of Maine in 1920. He was a member of the Senior Skulls, Phi Eta Kappa Fraternity and Sigma Delta Chi honorary fraternity. Mr. Potter was with the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company for 43 years, as claims investigator and adjuster, and later as claims manager in Wilmington, Delaware; Albany, New York; and Newark, New Jersey. He also served as Chief Adjustor for the company in Chicago, New York and Boston; and in New England as Division Claims Manager. In 1950 he became assistant to the president of the company. He assumed additional duties in 1954 as assistant treasurer, and in 1956 as secretary of the company. He retired in 1965 as Corporate Secretary and assistant to the president. He served in the U.S. Navy during World War I. He is survived by his wife Helen (Clark) Potter, a 1921 graduate of the University of Maine; one son Clark Potter of Brewster, Mass.; one daughter, Mrs. Frank (Joan) Robart of Needham, Mass.; one sister, Mrs. John Brady of Mystic, Conn.; and three grandchildren.

CLASS NOTES

MR. FREDERICK J. SIMMONS
12 Glenridge Parkway
Montclair, New Jersey 07042

'06 Since the Commencement of the Class of 1906 — 64 years ago — Gertrude M. (Jones) Nutter (Mrs. Guy C. Nutter), B.S. Biology, has been a school-teacher, a house-wife, a director of an insurance agency, and only recently resigned as the supervisor of women at a frozen food plant. And added to that Gertrude has done elaborate color embroidered sofa pillows after her own design of Autumn Leaves, and sold 34 of these last winter.

Walter H. Burke, B.S. Elec. Eng., D. Hon., in a telephone conversation told me that he was in fair health. His voice was as clear and vibrant as a youth of 20 years. I could hardly believe him when he said he was slowing down, although he complained of the strict diet set by his doctor. Walter has resigned from the Board of the Central Maine Power Co. But he is still a member of the Chamber of Commerce and a director of the local hospital.

Carolyn A. Hodgdon (Mrs. Llewellyn Edwards), B.A. Greek, is very active in conservative politics. She is much concerned over the "Left-Wingers" and racial discords as we all are. She keeps your reporter well posted by sending literature on political matters and racial culture.

Letters from Frederick D. Southard, B.S. English, grad. work at Harvard, inform us that he and his wife have well recovered from illnesses of the past year.

It is hoped that the class has noted the new address of Dayton J. Edwards, B.S. Biology, Ph.D. Columbia, in Maryland.

Gothart Wilhelm Carlson, B.S., Phi Kappa Phi, one of our foreign born classmates (born in Sweden), now nearing his 93rd birthday is, says his wife, capable of writing a good letter; this summer he has gone sailing off the coast of Garrison Island, Friendship, Maine, with his granddaughters. One of his granddaughters (the daughter of his eldest son Sumner Tuell Carlson, Univ. of Mass., '39), was graduated from Gorham State College this June, and was married on Aug. 1st, 1970. Mr. and Mrs. Carlson have another son, Gilbert Mason Carlson, '43 U. of M., and a daughter, Ann Brackett Carlson, who is spending part of the summer at Friendship, Maine.

Gothart and his wife Ella Mildred Carlson came to Garrison Island in June, and plan to stay late in September. His class congratulates Gothart on his 93rd birthday.

Elmer John Burnham, LL.B., '06, a prominent citizen of Kittery, Maine has held many important offices in Kittery; has been Representative to the State Legislature, and is Trustee and Vice-President of the Piscataqua National Bank of Portsmouth, N. H. He writes, "I think that I am the last surviving member of the Law-Class of 1906 U. of M., and I am still practicing law at Kittery and doing a little golfing in my spare time." Mr. Burnham has two children, Bernice M. (Mrs. Lobdell) of Reading, Mass., and Elmer J., Jr. of Kittery.

Frederick J. Simmons, B.A., '06, (Ed.M., Harvard, '25, Cert. Univ. of Cambridge, England, '29), while at the Augusta House, Augusta, Maine, had these callers, Dr. Arthur E. Silver, '02, and Mrs. Silver, and Mr. Reno J. Thibodeau, '71, and at the Simmons Homestead, Morrill, Maine, Michael Woodbury, '71, James Berry, a recent U. of M. graduate of Kennebunk, Maine, and Philip Bowen, '58, of Billerica, Mass.

Mrs. George M. Hill of 382 Minnehahn Ave., Claremont, Florida, 32711, wrote me that he is still active and well and enjoying life in the Sunshine State of Florida. He requests "any other '06 members who visit Florida, please look me up."

The class will be saddened at the news of the death of Frank Carroll Stewart, B.S. Elec. Eng., on June 5, 1970.

'07 Perce Wyman, Skowhegan, called on me the latter part of August. He was in Belfast to measure up for an addition to the B & A R.R. round house. The railroad recently got another Diesel locomotive and had no place to service and store it, so Perce was given the job of designing the addition. He has had other railroad work since he retired and says it is a welcome break to his retirement.

A short letter from Terchak Bye, Portland, saying he, his wife, and daughter were taking a trip to Bar Harbor to see the view from Mt. Cadillac and would call on me on the return trip if possible. I am sorry to say we missed connections. He evidently is in good health except for his eyes. From the envelope, it would look as if he was still in the employ of the Casco Bank & Trust Co.

Ben Williams, Islesboro, says he and his sister are enjoying the summer and his garden. Inasmuch as he cannot purchase any cook stove firewood on the Island, he has taken to sawing and splitting it for their cook stove and says he enjoys it. On July 13 he became a great-grandfather. It was a boy. Ben passed the test for his driver's license, which is now good until 1972.

'08 A letter from Elton Brown of Norway, in mid-August, brought news of his activities. I wish that space were available to publish his letter in full. He writes, "Have been very well and still working at the store as usual. About due to retire having worked so long. Have a nice garden."

Leslie Sargent wrote the Alumni Office from Concord, N. H., "My wife and I are quite happy at Havenwood, the 'Home for the Elderly'. I don't think that there are any other UMO alumni here."

A letter from the Thorndike Hotel, Rockland, from Sally Trask, should also be published in full. She writes, in part, "It was so nice to hear from you. But was so sad to learn that Bell and Bill Cobb had left us. The last I had heard they were doing well. As for me, I am very well, just getting old. The stairs get steeper every year." At the time of her letter Sally was visiting a cousin and she writes, "We are all the descendants left of a family of ten." She tells of their families, the Cranes and the Allens and of their homesteads. The Crane home, built in 1792, was occupied by descendants until this spring when it was sold. Sally's old home in South Hope has been sold and is being maintained attractively by its new owner. Sally winds up her letter, "I am very happy living with Virginia and Sherman. Virginia and I are interested in many of the same things. . . . I am now a great-grandmother!"

Mrs. Mary Ganong from Digby, Nova Scotia writes of her husband's, Prof. Walter Kierstead Ganong, family background. "The Ganongs and the Kiersteads were Loyalists and there are many of both families in New Brunswick. There are at least two William Ganongs who went to Acadia when or after Bill (Mary and Walter's son William). . . . The Kiersteads had at least two outstanding college professors." Her letter was written in early May and reports, "The early flowers are in bloom here and lawn cutting time has arrived. It is good to get outdoors and work in the sun."

As noted in the Summer Alumnus, Clarence and Nestlin Weston celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary on July 26 in their home near Emory University, Atlanta, Georgia. Their son, Rev. Alvin B. Weston was home for the event, flying in from a conference in North Carolina. He and his wife Deanna made it a lovely occasion.

A large number of friends from the University, Church and neighborhood called in the afternoon and evening to offer congratulations. Nestlin surprised them by wearing the same dress she wore at her wedding fifty years before. Furthermore, it had been made from her mother's wedding dress, which in turn had been created from the gown her grandmother had worn about 115 years ago. The very full skirts of earlier years, and the balloon sleeves of the mid-nineties made the necessary changes in styles possible. The material is imported white silk taffeta with woven delicate sprays of flowers.

The next prospective wearer of the gown is Alvin's 4-months-old daughter, Joy Rosanna.

'09 It was good to have a phone call recently from Elton and Vira Towle and to learn that after nine long months of recuperation from a broken hip Vira is now getting about with a walker. She even takes a few steps without the crutch. Vira seemed all spunk and courage. Elton was nurse and housekeeper and reports some loss of weight.

Putt Bruce has written frequently and has supplied many interesting records of the people and doings of 1909. In recent months he has had great satisfaction in receiving from the hand of his son, Herbert, a 50-year medal from his Blue Lodge and a 40-year medal from his Commandery. The Bruces have the great good fortune that son Herbert, as a hobby, has a line of lobster traps off Nahant shores. He keeps the family supplied with that delicacy from the sea which most of us cannot afford these days. Congratulations Putt and Mildred!

Walter Harvey was the sole 1909er to return to Orono in June for our anniversary #61 in June. He is a most loyal class and UMO man. During recent months Walter has been in frequent touch with me and has sparked many letters of encouragement from classmates and friends. Thanks, Walter!

Margaret Gerrity (Mrs. Joe) has had a fine summer at her lovely new home on the rocky shore at York Harbor. Son Frank has a cottage nearby so, thanks to children and grandchildren, there is never a dull moment for vigorous grandma.

Margery Sutton (Mrs. Harry) has had a good season at her summer place in Ogunquit. She too is fortunate in having children not far away who have kept her out of mischief.

Isabel Nauman (Mrs. George) did not have a satisfactory winter in Spain (Mallorca). The friends who had expected to accompany or join her were unable to make it. Since her return she has been ill and has spent some time in a nursing home in New York state operated by a relative and expects to transfer to one in Bridgeport, Conn. for awhile. She still maintains her apartment in Peterborough, N. H.

Vida Pike (Mrs. Lewis) writes that Lew is still in Bedford, Mass. Veterans' Hospital and not gaining satisfactorily. Vida had a brief stay at their summer cottage at Small Point. The high spot of her year was her first trip in an airplane where she received V.I.P. treatment and really had a ball. The occasion was a visit to her brother in the South.

Your correspondent has had two trips to the hospital caused by a bad right knee and later for general check-ups. He is now on the mend and hopes soon to discard his walker and get back to normal.

Mary Ellen Chase is still in a nursing home in Northampton, Mass. I have no recent news about her progress.

Cora (Shaw) Gunn (Mrs. Thomas) writes very cheerful notes from Seattle.

Merton Goodrich writes a thoughtful letter of concern that 1909 notes have not appeared in the ALUMNUS lately. I hope this issue will calm his fears. It is good to know that the ALUMNUS is read so carefully.

'10 I received from Ernest Lamb a copy of a news report written by his son, David S. Lamb '62. David is a UPI correspondent who has just finished a 19-month assignment in Vietnam as a roving battle-front reporter. Excerpts from his news report are printed below:

"Saigon . . . I will remember their faces forever. They are the faces of a blood-spattered medic on 'Hamburger Hill', a private forcing a faint smile as he lay dying in the besieged Ben Het outpost, a 20-year-old lieutenant leading 150 men into battle in Quang Ngai Province. . . .

"In a few days I leave Vietnam for reassignment in the United States. I leave with the memories that date back to July 1968, when the war was more intense but no less deadly. . . .

"We were crouched behind a tank, and the corporal simply could not understand what a civilian who didn't even have to be in Vietnam was doing in a battle that already had claimed 200 lives.

"Despite my protests, he insisted I needed a rifle. The corporal, who had six days left in Vietnam, darted across 15 yards of open ground at considerable danger to himself, snatched a wounded American's weapon, and returned with it. I never fired a shot, but at least I then seemed less of a misfit to him. . . .

"I think back on all this, and it seems a strange way to learn the meaning of compassion, brutality, brotherhood and courage. But there is no more forceful way."

'11 The Albert Verrills were in Maine this summer at their place at Higgins Beach. They plan to go back to Indian Rock Beach, Fla. again for the winter season. Al says that they hope to make our 60th Reunion in June, 1971. Their family is growing fast as they have four great-grandchildren and two more on the way.

A note from George "Gap" Phillips saying that they spent a quiet summer at home in Groton, Conn.

Had a letter from Earle Whittier and he had a serious heart attack so his son brought him up to their summer place in Brooksville, Maine. But they had to take him to Worcester, Mass., where he is in the care of a heart specialist who is trying to fix him up. Earle mentioned that the second edition of "Byproducts from Milk" by Whittier & Webb would be out early in October.

The Louis Greerys spent the summer as usual at their place in Hancock Point overlooking the bay and usually come back to Bangor about the middle of October.

June 1971 is our 60th Reunion and N. E. "Nemo" Smith says that we ought to get a good group of old timers back for this important event so everyone should mark their calendars and try to come to Orono on that date.

'15 On June 5 we celebrated our fifty-fifth year after graduation with a dinner at the Penobscot Valley Country Club.

Old friendships were renewed during a social hour. Present were Frances (Jones) Bearce and husband; Raymond Fogler; Harold Hodgkins and wife; Laura (Hodgins) Jackman, husband and granddaughter; Harris Luther and wife; Montford Patten; Paul Slocum; Ross Varney and daughter; Edmund Woodsum and brother; Muriel (Colbath) Wyman, cousin and niece.

Following the dinner, president Fogler held a business session. Letters were read from many classmates unable to attend. It was voted that our Scholarship Fund Awards be restricted to the Orono campus. Our faithful secretary, Harvey Sleeper, resigned due to ill health. Raymond Fogler was re-elected class president and Laura Jackman, secretary. It was decided to hold the next reunion in 1975.

Raymond H. Fogler was elected president of the Senior Alumni Association at the annual meeting held on June 6.

News items from classmates will be appreciated.

'17 The class treasurer, Charles Crossland, passes on a bit of good news. The 1917 Fund is now over the $20,000 mark. Eighteen class members this past year allocated part of their Alumni Fund gifts to the 1917 Fund, which increased it to this point.

The last issue of the ALUMNUS carried the news of another generous gift by a '17er. We can all look with pride and appreciation on the Scholarship Endowment by Dr. Noel Davis Godfrey, the income to be used to aid deserving students from Washington County.

A note from Gerald Marble this week expresses the pleasure he has had in renewing old acquaintanceships at our Commencement gatherings. All classmates would undoubtedly enjoy these occasions if they could manage to be present.

John Locke sends an invitation to all classmates and friends to drop in when in his area. He is in West Gouldsboro, Maine, June to October, and in Florida, October to May. The Florida address is 1240 Gulf Blvd., Englewood 33533.

William West, who has accompanied Helen to so many reunions and special occasions that he seems like a real '17er, was married this summer. You will all remember that Helen (Danforth) West was our faithful and competent class secretary until her death almost two years ago. The new Mrs. West is the former Mrs. Frances Robinson of Brewer. Relatives say that she is a fine person and will make Bill's life pleasanter and less lonely than it has been these two years. We wish them happiness and good fortune.

We have all had a chance to make nomination for the Black Bear Award and the Career Award, to be presented at Homecoming. Hope you have all sent in your suggestions.

'18 Last June I found Harry Ellsworth rocking on his porch in Farmington. The Agway sign was on his barn. I talked more about a subject I know nothing about than I ever did before.

In East Corinth, across from the Library, Helen Farrar was chasing weeds from her flourishing peony bed. She is no longer active as a librarian, but was busy with it in New Britain for 34 years. She is now in her family home.

The class met after the Senior Alumni meeting, with Wes Evans, Harold Redding and Head. We agreed to elect the present officers, Pres. Evans, Veep Wunderly, Treas. Swift and Sec. Head. Tom Borjesson was at the Breakfast, but left before the meeting.

'19 Dwight Demeritt writes me from his home in Orono that last Good Friday he had major surgery at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center in New York. He was in the hospital nineteen days. He lost thirty-five pounds during this ordeal, but as of July 13 he had gained ten pounds back, and feels great. (These Tough Yankees!)

Our congratulations to "Bob" Chellis who has recently been awarded the Honorary Doctor of Engineering Degree by President Libby. (See the article in the summer issue of THE ALUMNUS.)

Condolences to Mrs. Kenneth Young. From her home at 195 N. Village Ave., Rockville Centre, L. I., N. Y. 11570, she wrote me that after a few days of illness, Kenneth died July 13, 1970. To quote Mrs. Young, "He worked up to the end. He was a wonderful husband, man and Doctor."

Once more I am asking you folks of 1919 to please send me some news of your doings. Perhaps you have had an interesting vacation this summer. Am sure we would be interested in hearing about it.

Unless I hear from some of you, am afraid this will be my last column. I appreciate the time some of you have taken in the past to write to me, in order that our column might survive.

Hoping to receive many letters before it is time to write again.

'20 The class will be saddened to learn of the death on August 19 of our former President and outstanding alumnus, George A. (Kid) Potter. All who knew him loved and respected him. He will be much missed and mourned by his wife, Helen '21, his children and grandchildren. To them we extend our sympathy.

Grace (Tripp) and Everett Foster celebrated their Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary in Dover-Foxcroft on August 2. Hosting the party were their children, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan (Ermenie) Burke of Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Leo (Mollie) Torrence of Deer Isle, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Foster, Jr. of Gardiner and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Foster of Farmingdale. All eight of their grandchildren were present.

Rex Buzzell and Helen celebrated their thirtieth wedding anniversary the day Rex arrived home from the hospital. We missed them at the reunion.

Eveline (Snow) Cross received a call in Guilford from Marguerite and David Beach early in August. They report that "Peanut" was interested in reports of the reunion, is not able to go out in crowds, but looks and seems well after her recent illness—has her usual good sense of humor, would like to have visitors.

We are glad to hear that Gertrude Peabody is receiving benefits from a new drug.

Letters, such as those from Iva Barker Bean and Leslie Bannister, indicate great enjoyment of our reunion and appreciation of the efforts of our officers and committees to make it meaningful.

'21 Greetings, all you wonderful '21ers! This is our big year! We, the committee and officers, need your cooperation to make our Golden Anniversary a memorable occasion, not only for us, but for our University. Two things you can do: 1. Answer all our communications! 2. Join your classmates in June 1971! Not too much to ask! Thanks, we count on you.

Now for news of your friends!

Hollis Jones, 911 Pueo Court, Honolulu, Hawaii 96816, moved there three years ago. Loves the place, the climate, the people. Raises tropical flowers, plants, trees. "(Have our own bananas, mangoes, papayas, and, of course limes for our drinks.) I work only when I feel like it. Fear will not make our big 50th, but keep me in touch. Any Maine people in Hawaii? Greetings to my classmates!"

Louise Leonard left Maine at end of our Sophomore year—earned B.A. and M.A. at Smith—retired in June '69 as associate professor of French at Hood College. In '68 former students and French majors established E. Louise Leonard Prize, awarded annually to a Senior in French.

Marion Bragg, 129 North Arlington Ave., East Orange, N. J. "In '69 my brother and I saw the town and bay from which our Norman-French ancestors sailed in 1660! After eight weeks abroad, we drove to California, and just a year ago to Orono to attend Alumni Council Dinner at Homecoming Weekend." (Editor's note: Herbert Bragg '25, Marion's brother, was presented the Annual Distinguished Career Award of the GAA.)

Steve Beaker, 6128 47th Ave., N. St. Petersburg, retired from N. Y. Tel. in '60, bought a home in Kenneth City, outside St. Pete—loves living there! "Have taken four Caribbean cruises, several cross-country trips—travel north the summer months visiting our New England relatives and friends."

Perry W. Howard, Hallowell. After 17 years with I. R. S. retired in '58 as Chief of the Office Audit. (In '56 became I. R. S. officer in Augusta.) "Since then have been in private practice as Public Accountant. From January to May I am busy, but rest of year I spend in caring for my home, lawns, gardens. With a 24' aluminum greenhouse my wife and I are kept busy, she being the chief custodian of the greenhouse operation. To quote Tennessee Ernie Ford, 'Lord willin' and the crick don't rise,' I am very grateful and thankful to be able to attend our 50th come next year!"

Your reunion chairmen, Roger Castle, chief, and yours truly, assistant, welcome your suggestions for our 50th.

'24 George Stackpole and his wife stopped in to see us this summer and I was sorry to miss him. Prexy enjoyed talking with them and swapping stories. My husband got the impression that Stacky hopes to return to Maine permanently some day. Good judgment, we think.

Edward C. Cutting passed away on June 15 at Rockport where he resided. This was a profound shock to many of our class members and his many friends. Our deepest sympathy is extended to his wife Grace Armstrong, '25. For many years Edward was a leading blueberry and Christmas tree farmer and wholesale businessman in these fields. He had offices in Union and in Portland. He was a member of the Maine Christmas Tree Assoc., the Warren Lodge of Masons, the Rockland Rotary Club, the New England Nursery Assoc. and of Kappa Sigma Fraternity. He will be greatly missed.

'25 The "Little Reunion" of some of the members of our class took place at a dinner and "gab fest" at Bar Harbor, Sept. 18. Louise Lord, Harriet Hume, Hope Bannister, Elizabeth Lawler, Rubena Pressey, Velma Oliver and your secretary got up to date on the class news. Elizabeth Lawler had toured Newfoundland this summer and attended an international meeting of the Rebekahs and Odd Fellows. We welcome any other members of the class to this summer event usually held in August. (Your secretary apologizes to Karl MacDonald '07 for using the term "Little Reunion" which his class used for many years for their summer get-together.)

Congratulations to Frank '26 and Leona (Reed) McDonald, of Owls Head. On the occasion of the 125th anniversary of Lee Academy, the school named their new gymnasium the McDonald Gymnasium after Frank and Leona who served on the Academy faculty from the early 1920's to 1945. A plaque was unveiled at the ceremony designating this honor. Frank is currently a member of Lee Academy's Board of Directors and has so served since 1945.

Dr. Lincoln "Mac" Sennett, retiring president of the University of Maine at Machias, was the guest of honor at a testimonial dinner on Sept. 19. "Mac" has served as president of UMM, formerly Washington State College, since 1952 and on the faculty for many years before that.

Classmates extend deep sympathy to Edgar D. Coffin '26, on the death of his wife, our classmate, Edna (Brown) Coffin, on Sept. 6, in Verona, New Jersey.

'26 Theodore S. Rowe ("Spin") — In a double commemoration last February Hamilton Kent employees honored the Company's 25th anniversary and the birthday of its founder, Board Chairman T. S. Rowe. Hamilton Kent had its beginning in the Rowe home in 1943 and was incorporated in 1945. Success for some of its products, Tylox rubber pipe couplings and Rexon vibration mounts started slowly and then progressed rapidly as Rowe, the businessman, and Nathan, the inventor, traveled extensively, educating manufacturers of water and sewer pipe on the concept of flexible rubber pipe joints, and demonstrating the advantage of the Tylox line. Hamilton Kent has advanced and prospered, building new and larger plants not only in Ohio but in other strategic, geographical areas throughout the nation and in Canada. "Spin," aside from his success in business, has found time to take part in community projects.

John K. Schroeder ("Jack") was honored at a testimonial dinner in May upon the occasion of his retirement after 40 years with the High School in York. Over 500 people were present from practically every organization in the community as well as alumni, faculty and fellow educators. Jack, a native of Newcastle attended Lincoln Academy, U. of M. where he received his B.S. degree, did graduate work at Harvard and Bates, and received his Master's in 1941. He came to York H.S. in 1930 as teacher, assistant principal and athletic coach. He became principal in 1938.

'28 Sept. 6. Summer is over, schools began here Sept. 1. Well, I love the autumn in Maine!

On July 30, Arthur J. Kelley, Marblehead, Mass., received a gift and Retirement Certificate as he ended 41 years with the Corps of Engineers, New England Division, Waltham. He was chief of licenses and permits in navigable waters. A native of Jonesport, he has been living at 14 Leicester Rd. but plans now to return to Jonesport.

Ardron B. Lewis was one of three receiving Honorary Degrees at the UMO June 5th Commencement. "Abie" was one of six brothers and sisters to graduate from UMO and was valedictorian of our class. In the 1930s he taught at the University of Nanking, China. In the '40s he served with the Farm Credit Administration in Washington, D. C., the U. S. Foreign Economic Administration, and later the Food and Agriculture Organization of the U. N. Since then he has taught at Penn State University and Chung Hsing University in Taiwan as well as serving with the Agricultural Development Council. He and his wife Christine were back for our 35th and I think I told you then of his family and present life.

Rev. Dr. Frederick Thompson, now our class prexy, will retire Nov. 1 after 25 years as pastor of the Woodfords Congregational Church, Portland. He and wife, Jeanette, plan to spend six months of the year in Maine and six months in Arizona (where his arthritis is much helped). Their son has recently returned after eight years with the Peace Corps in Africa and is now in the New York office. Daughter Margaret '61 is director of Instructional Television on the East Coast.

George and Thelma (Perkins) Dudley, our Class Agents, divide their time about as the Thompsons. Each is active in church and civic affairs when in Portland. George sings in the choir of Williston Church. Fred Thompson said Gordon Walker had recently retired from the Telephone Co. and moved to Venture, Calif., to be near their daughters and families.

'29 Our class president "Dick" Fitz-Morris, who is a commander in the U. S. Naval Reserves, was appointed a member of the Navy's Sea Power Presentation Team for the Southern Massachusetts and Cape Cod area. "Dick" took a "brushing up" course last spring at Pompano Beach, Florida, was Parade Marshal for the Chatham, Mass. July 4th parade and has been speaking before service clubs in behalf of the Naval Reserves.

Robert M. French, Solon, Maine, retired on August 1 after having spent 38 years as owner and operator of the Ben Franklin retail store in Madison and hopes now to find time for golf, bird hunting and fishing. George E. Des Jardins, who lists his mail address as Box 6, Stillwater, Maine, with Pemaquid, Maine, as an alternate address, writes that he has finally retired after 35 years in the Government service, the last three of which he was Motor Vehicle Safety Standards Engineer with the National Highway Safety Bureau in Washington. He has five sons and nine grandchildren scattered from Washington, D. C. to San Francisco.

Maple I. Percival lists her address as 17 High Street, Yarmouth, Maine and writes that she retired as of June 1 from teaching at Milford High, Milford, Conn. Donald H. Small is Vice President of Reynolds & Son, Inc., of Barre, Vermont, having been with this firm since 1933. He writes that he is not yet ready to retire. Gordon E. Hammond is a Sales Engineer with Donahue, Groover & Associates, Inc., of Coral Gables, Florida. Gordon writes that his firm are management engineers and consultants operating throughout the U. S., South America and the "Islands". (We presume he means the Caribbean Islands.) He lists his home address as 264 Lafayette Road, Portsmouth, N. H.

Myrtle (Walker) Dow and husband (George '28) have sold their Orono home and are now living in Nobleboro, Maine. Barbara (Damm) Adams recently retired after 25 years of teaching and lives at 7 Granite Street, Rockland, Maine. Whitney M. Baston is Technical Supervisor for the National Broadcasting Company, New York. "Whit" has worked for N.B.C. in various positions since graduation. His work has been diversified and interesting with some travelling to coordinate many nationally televised shows. He has been with N.B.C. 41 years and will reach compulsory retirement age in July 1971. "Whit's" residence is 15 Lynn Road, Port Washington, L. I., N. Y.

We have lots more news concerning many more classmates which we'll publish as space permits.

'30 Your response to our letter following reunion has been most appreciated. I'm sorry space does not allow me to include all the news I've gathered but I'll try to pass on most of it from time to time. We also hope we can get out another class letter soon; so if you have any news pass it on to Bill or me.

Again I want to say that reunion was most enjoyable. You really missed something if you weren't there. It was great to see familiar faces again.

We regret to report the passing of Ed Livingstone, Burleigh (Tom) Lapworth, and Jim White and extend the sympathy of the class to their families. Jim had worked so hard as a class officer. His place will be hard to fill.

Bill reported that following reunion he had a wind-up meeting with Syl Pratt, Emerson Stymiest, Frank McCann and Jack Atwood. They went out on Bill's boat to see the Prince of Fundy make her maiden voyage. Syl reports that we came out of reunion still in the black but if you would like another letter send donations for class expenses to Syl Pratt, Casco Bank, Portland.

Niran Bates and his wife are building a beautiful retirement home in Pemaquid which should be finished in a short time. Horace Croxford and Isabelle are also spending much of their spare time in Pemaquid.

Lois Burr is among this year's retirees after many years of teaching in Old Town. She looks much as she did while in college and certainly not old enough to retire, but we wish her much happiness in her new life.

Baldy Inman wrote how much he regretted missing reunion but he had a big Rotary meeting in Canada that weekend that he couldn't miss. His two daughters went to Maine, both presidents of Pi Phi. One son went to Ricker and the younger to Maine where he was president of Phi Eta, a Senior Skull and president of his class for four years. Baldy is development officer and Alumni Director of Ricker College.

Peg Warren Cook had to miss reunion because of the many activities involving her husband's retirement from the University and at the same time he was a candidate to the legislature from Bangor. We wish him well in the November elections. Their son Bill, a Major in the USMC, is stationed in Quantico Education Center.

Since reunion Royal Roulston and his wife flew to Florida for a two-week vacation where they have a house on the Gulf Coast. He has spent most of summer cruising in his boat near the Isle of Shoals. Sounds like a great life.

Harry Mayers continues as a member of the Alumni Council and a member of the Annual Alumni Fund Committee. He has recently been appointed by the National Council of Patent Law Associations as chairman of a committee to study and make recommendations concerning the Legal Protection of Computer Software. We congratulate him for this honor.

'31 MAKE YOUR PLANS FOR JUNE 1971! REMEMBER OUR FORTIETH!

Elmer Hodson and his bride, formerly Helen Vogoli Graham, visited us at our Bayside cottage this summer on their trip back from Prince Edward Island. They were married in a home wedding at Mansfield, Mass., on August 8. Elmer is still stationed in Boston as entomologist in the Foreign Plant Quarantine Dept. of the Agriculture Research Service of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. After 36 years he will soon retire. They will reside at 8 Green St., Mansfield, Mass.

Kenneth Keeney has retired as chief of the Division of Information and Education for the Northern Region, USDA Forest Service, after 39 years in Forest Service. As Assistant Regional Forester, Keeney has been responsible for information and education activities in the 16 National Forests of Montana, Northern Idaho, Eastern Washington, North Dakota, and Western South Dakota, since 1956. In announcing his retirement, the Regional Forester stated that ". . . Ken Keeney has provided dynamic and effective leadership in making available information about the National Forests and resource conservation. Much of his work, done in years before resource management and environmental concern reached the popularity they enjoy today, will be effective for many years to come." After graduating from Maine, Ken earned a graduate degree in forestry from Yale University. His first appointment with the Forest Service was a forest culture foreman on the Carson National Forest in New Mexico in 1933. In succeeding years he served as District Forest Ranger for Canjelson and Rio Pueblo Districts in Carson National Forest, and Assistant Forest Supervisor of the same forest; Assistant Forest Supervisor of the Lincoln National Forest at Alamogordo, New Mexico; Range Conservationist in the Southwestern Region Headquarters, Albuquerque, New Mexico; supervisor of the Sitgreaves National Forest, Holbrook, Arizona; Supervisor of the Conconino National Forest at Flagstaff, Arizona; and finally in his present position at Missoula, Montana. He has been a member of Missoula, Spokane and North Idaho Chambers of Commerce, advisory board member of the Montana State Advertising Dept., active in Community Chest and United Givers, serving terms on the Board of Directors and a member of the Rotary Club and Society of American Foresters.

Charles O'Conner was chosen as an honorary member of the Silver Key Society at the Massachusetts Bay Community College at its Spring Tapping ceremony held at Boston University's Daniel L. Marsh Chapel. Following the ceremonies, a reception was held at the College for initiates and friends. The Silver Key is an honorary activities society designed to recognize the contributions made by students in the college and the wider community. Membership in the organization represents the highest honor Mass. Bay can bestow for outstanding leadership and service to the college and the community. Charles is serving as Student Financial Aid Officer, Alumni Coordinator, and Counselor at Mass. Bay Community College. He now lives in Wakefield, Mass., at 40 Woodcrest Dr.

One of the most popular art exhibits held along the Maine coast this summer was that of Phil Brockway's works displayed at the Penobscot Marine Museum at Searsport.

'32 Keith Percival recently rated a four-column write-up by Jerry Durnbaugh in the Kennebec Journal. Keith is the chief material examiner for the State Bureau of Purchases. He has been testing items for the state for 13 years. His job primarily is to test materials offered for sale to the state but he also handles departmental requests to identify unknown substances. Testing is generally done prior to awarding a bid on a state contract; the outcome of the test does not mean the lowest bidder is the successful one if his product does not meet state specifications. Keith's job sounds like a most interesting one. He might test anything from a sour frankfurter to a tear gas grenade, the latter a crying job indeed. Keith has had experience in a commercial testing laboratory, food processing plants, and pulp technology before coming to his present job.

Yours truly had a change of scenery in August via a three-weeks vacation in Germany (the high point being the Passion Play at Oberammergau) and northern Italy where I visited 11 cities and towns, the high point of interest being a visit to Tramonti : di Sotto, the mountain town where my parents were born. Some rugged mountain climbing was involved in order to reach the two ancestral homes.

'33 Where has the summer gone—and all those "Newsy" letters!

A recent Portland paper pictured Arthur Forrestall, in his capacity as executive vice president at the Casco Bay Council at the Navy League, presenting a picture to Mayor Sturgis. In June Arthur was made treasurer at the Maine Historical Society—a most worthwhile but time-consuming office to add to his many community and civic responsibilities.

I had just caught up with Muriel Holmes Maines when she changed jobs! Muriel has resigned as chief of volunteer services at Augusta State Hospital to become a full time adult education teacher at the institution.

My grapevine from Houlton reports that Edna Grange Blood is teaching English there. Her children Peter and Linda are also teaching—Peter in South Carolina and Linda in Rhode Island. Mr. Blood has retired from the immigration service.

Dot Blair Bohanson received her master's degree this summer—such ambition!

We all want to know about you—write!

'35 With some hesitation I have agreed to try to replace Louise Rosie Paine as class secretary. Since it is impossible to write class notes without receiving information, I would like to urge you all to send brief reports of your own activities and any news you may have of other classmates. Undoubtedly there are many "35ers" living in the Boston area who could easily telephone me at 785-1891.

Perhaps a good way to start this first column is to tell you about the Stone family. "Stoney" (Don) is Appraisal Manager and Assistant Vice President of Stone and Webster Engineering Corp. He has been active in the American Society of Appraisers, serving as international president in 1967-68. We have a married daughter, Susan Plati, who teaches biology in Wellesley, Mass. Our son, Don, is a junior at U. of M. and plays varsity football. I keep busy with the League of Women Voters and an occasional trip with Stoney.

We met Charles Bicknell and wife Alice at an Appraisal Society dinner in June. Charlie is a Real Estate Appraiser in Portland and lives in Cape Elizabeth.

The Boston newspaper carried a wedding picture of Milt MacBride's attractive daughter who was married in June.

Carl Whitman, Needham, Mass., a past president of the U. of M. General Alumni Assn., has been elected president of the Boston Food Brokers Assn. He is vice president of the Administration of Food Enterprises, Inc., Canton, Mass.

Paul Bean, Auburn, is a member of the planning committee for the reunion of the 43rd Infantry Division to be held in Augusta in September. Paul is a past national commander.

We hope to attend some of the football games this fall and look forward to seeing many of you there.

'36 Congratulations to Gerald G. Beverage on being selected by the Kennebec Valley Board of Realtors as the realtor of the year. He is Secretary of the organization.

We regretfully report the death of Dr. Robert L. Clunie, Rumford dentist on June 8, and extend sympathy to his family.

John Porter Hennings and Solveig '38, opened their home at Falmouth for the tour sponsored by The Falmouth Historical Society this summer.

We were very pleased to have two 36ers visit our South Harpswell home this summer, Polly Butler of Albany, N. Y. and Dorothy (Nutt) Packard of Santa Ana, California. We also enjoyed having Brownie Schrupf drop in and hope she will make this an annual call when at So. Harpswell for her family's July 4th Reunion.

Dot Packard left Camden in August for a hiking tour of Norway (isn't she wonderful and I have proof she's surviving as her card says it's the greatest), then Dot jets to California where she teaches in winter.

This is the briefest of brief reports—no news, no column. How about using a few postage stamps, folks?

'37 Andrew Poulsen, of Littleton, N. H., is running for the Republican nomination for state senator from his district.

He is chairman of the Littleton Board of Selectmen, and a former member of the town planning commission. Andy has been in the lumber, timber, and pulp business in Littleton for a number of years. Last year he sold his business to his eldest son.

Professor Avery Rich, University of New Hampshire, was the featured speaker at a joint meeting of the Newburyport, Mass., Historical and Horticultural Societies. He has collaborated with George Talumis, well-known writer on environmental problems relating to the effects of salts and chlorides on natural vegetation, and this was his topic.

'39 Another summer has rushed by—and not a peep out of any of you! I trust the reason for the great silence is that you are all busy, busy, busy—and not that you have forgotten all about us!

Several classmates had sons and daughters graduating this past June from UMO—Spike Leonard's son, Colin; Dick Holmes, a son and daughter; Ken Clark, a daughter; Ted and Peggy (Hauck '40) Ladd, a daughter, Alison.

Spike saw Bob Heminway at a convention in Orono in June. He is vo-ag instructor in Caribou and lives at 6 Elizabeth Ave., Caribou. His son and daughter each attended UMO and are each now married, one living in Scotia, New York, and one in California. Ken Clark was also at the same convention—his school won the all-points trophy for all vo-ag departments in the state. Congratulations, Ken.

Received a clipping from Phoebe Thompson just after the last column was mailed, with a bridal picture and account of the marriage of Jeanne DeWitt, daughter of Jeannette (Sanborn) DeWitt, of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, to Daniel G. Voorhees of New York City. Jeanne (who looks so much like her mother) attended the University of Maine and is a copywriter for Charles of the Ritz in New York and is a free-lance photographer.

Helen Philbrook has left Groton School and is now Director of the Berkley Residence Club, the permanent residence club of the Y.W.C.A. in Boston. Her address is 40 Berkley Street, Boston, Mass., 02116. The building can house 211 girls, 18 to 32 years of age. This will be an interesting change for Helen after her former jobs of over-seeing teen-age boys.

Gwilym Roberts is professor of history and head of the Arts and Humanities Division at the U of M in Farmington.

Art Weatherbee has been named as U. S. director of the billion-dollar Asian Development Bank, which has 35 members including 21 countries in the Far East. The U. S. has a large investment in the bank, which finances economic development in Asia. Art and Polly (Jellison '40) will be living in Manila for the next two years. For the past 11 years Art has been assistant Secretary of the Treasury for Administration in Washington, D. C. This new position sounds very interesting and we all wish you well in your new venture, Art.

'42 Congratulations go to George W. Bucknam, the new fish and game commissioner for the state of Maine. He has served as deputy commissioner 17 years.

John and Barbara (Perry) Hess of Bangor recently announced the engagement of their daughter, Brenda Louise, to Kenneth Jordan, Jr. of Ellsworth. They are June graduates of Colby College. Brenda plans to attend Katherine Gibbs and Kenneth will continue his studies in law. John and Barbara also have four sons: Walter (Bowdoin '67), Alan, 18, Paul, 14, and John, 10. The Depositors Trust Co. has appointed Calvin B. Sewall to the Wilton Area Board. A graduate of Columbia Law School, he practices law in Wilton, is a member of the American Legion, the Lions Club, several Masonic bodies and has served as County Clerk of Courts and County Attorney.

News briefs: Hosts of Simpson College's summer tour to the Lowlands and Uplands of Europe were Rev. Gilbert and Bette (Barker) Taverner. Commencement speaker at Maine's South Campus at Bangor was Dr. William Irvine, President of Vermont College. Attending the June graduation of Miss Julie Mayo from Colby Jr. were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Mayo, her sister, Martha, and her brother, John, all from Falmouth. Rick, son of Dick and Janet Sinclair of Jackson, Miss. attends Louisiana State U. General Electric's Hank Gabe is working towards his master's in Industrial Engineering while his wife, Ruth, works at Upstate Med. Ctr. helping children with learning difficulties. Rosemary attends Utica College and Dan is at Brown. Art and Florence (Cousins) Worster's daughter, Mary Lou, attends Middlebury, Larry works in a hospital in Denver, and young Art and his wife are stationed at McGuire AFB. '43 John Lewis of Lawrence, Mass., has been appointed director of pulp and paper development and research by the Rust Engineering Co. John received his B.S. and M.S. degrees in chemical engineering from the U. of M. He and his wife, Lucille, will live in Mountain Brook, Ala.

Dr. Einar A. Olsen has been named president of Farmington State College. He has been a member of the faculty at Mankato State College, Minn., from which his son, Donald, graduated in June. Another son, Stephen, will enter Mankato in September.

The new dean of the evening division of study at Bentley College in Waltham, Mass., is William A. Lindsay of West Newbury. Bill, whose father is president-emeritus of the college, has been teaching physics there since 1963. Besides his B.S. from the U. of M., he holds a master's in aerological engineering from the U.S. Navy School, Monterey, Calif.

A leading force in the development of pollution detection equipment is Justin O. Johnson of Levittown, Pa. Justin's work has been with the Honeywell Co. on a monitor which instantly detects pollution in a body of water.

Don and Olive (Rowell) Taverner have been vacationing at their summer home on Damariscotta Lake in Jefferson. Just missed hearing Don speak at the Wavus Camps where our children have spent many summers. Also at Wavus, I had a chat with Annie (Dowling) Mawhinney who was visiting her son, Mark. The Mawhinneys live in Orono where Gene '47 is a member of the faculty at the U. of M.

A note from Charlotte (Gifford) Sennett brought the news that son, Everett graduated from M.I.T. in June. Another son, Chandler, spent the summer doing research at the Jackson Labs in Bar Harbor. Charlotte and Cliff spend their summers at Bailey's Island.

Many thanks to Pat (Ramsdell) West for keeping our class files up to date. Any news of class members sent to me at the above address will certainly be welcome.

'44 One of our many classmates who are moving ahead in big strides in their work is Marshall Dagan. Marshall has been entrusted with increasingly responsible positions at General Electric Company ever since he first joined that company in 1947. He received an award in 1957 for outstanding contributions in Laboratory Management. His latest assignment is Manager — Reactor Facilities in S7G, doing full-scale testing of reactor facilities under full load conditions. Marshall and his wife, the former Mary Packman, have two children, Lawrence and Sandra.

The CANUSA Games (Canada and USA Sports Competition) were held in Brewer recently. The Preston Rands '43 (Deborah Drinkwater) and their children opened their home to two New Brunswick boys who were among the 300 Canadian youngsters attending the meet.

Dr. Phyllis MacNeil is again publicly honored, being chosen from among 19,000 international finalists to be one of those whose biography will appear in the 1970 edition of The Two Thousand Women of Achievement, published by International Biography of London and New York. In addition to her surgical work, Phyllis is an enthusiastic horsewoman, actively associated with the Nashoba Valley (Mass.) Fox Hunt, the U.S. Equestrian Team and the U.S. Combined Training Association. She has a 1740 farm, which she is restoring to its original beauty and furnishing with items of historical significance.

This last item is a year overdue, but I think I should express appreciation to Dick Hale for showing a group of us fellow classmates through the new Forestry Building last June. Dick answered every question, volunteered a lot of pertinent information, and identified every kind of wood used (and practically everything in the building is made of wood, including walls, stairways, and a gorgeous parquet floor in the main lobby). With the faithful use of forest products throughout, and an exterior design that faintly suggests the Gothic to me it seems like a temple of tribute to the Great Woods, by the men who make forestry their life work.

'45 For those of you who were wondering where our erstwhile classmate, Dick Danforth, was at reunion time, I am pleased to inform you of his whereabouts. Dick and Bev were in Switzerland as guests of fellow Sigma Chi George Lobozzo, '51.

Strike up one more point for Women's Lib! Joan (Shea) Agnew is the new Customs Inspector at the International Jetport in Bangor. With the increased growth of the Jetport, Joan is a busy lady. Cindy Bradley, Carolyn and Russell Bradley's daughter, will be entering UMO this fall as a freshman as will Christine, Willard and Polly (True) Moulton's daughter. Dottie (Currier) Dutton and Bob's daughter Pam will be entering as a soph. They will be joining the already large contingent of '45 descendants attending the university. Ray Cook has resigned as assistant commissioner of education for the State of Maine. Ray has accepted a position with the Educational Development Center in Bath. EDC is a private organization with headquarters in Newton, Mass. It concerns itself with educational innovation and one of its current projects, run with the help of a federal grant, is training teachers.

Dr. George Faulkner's son, Jim, is one of the tri-captains of the Colby College football team. Dr. Lincoln T. Fish, professor of mathematics at GSC was appointed chairman of the presidential search committee by the Chancellor of the University of Maine, Donald R. McNeil. In making the appointment Dr. McNeil reminded the committee to seek "the best person available in the country, keeping in mind that a new, vigorous university needs a young-thinking vigorous president!"

'46 Donald T. Cloke of Orono has been elected a vice-president of Bangor Hydro-Electric Co. Don has been an engineer with Bangor Hydro since 1956.

Charles F. Hass is chief inhalation therapist at New Britain Memorial Hospital, New Britain, Conn. Recently he attended a PH-Blood Gas Analysis Seminar at the Instrumentation Lab in Lexington, Mass. Charles has been in the field of therapy for 16 years. Previously he was a teacher for three years and a minister for ten years.

Judy Fielder Harris very thoughtfully sent me a note and a clipping about one of our classmates. Lawrence Hadley has been named deputy assistant director for park management at the Washington headquarters of the National Park Service. Larry has been with the park service since 1950. Before his most recent appointment, he was superintendent at Yosemite National Park. Thank you, Judy.

A wee personal note — Don and I were most pleased and proud to see our daughter, Martha, graduate from the University last June. Then three weeks later, on June 20, she was married to Stephen Burnham of Winchester.

'48 Summer has hurried by — hope you all enjoyed it and had a chance to visit old friends. Write me about it so we can share the news!

I had a great visit with Betty (Small) Cunningham one day. She, Court, and their three boys were vacationing near her parents' home in Machias. They live in Silver Spring, Md., conveniently near D. C., but also close to a pleasant rural area and a lovely state park.

John '50 and Elaine (Punky Perkins) Fogler have just returned from a trip to Annapolis for Parents' weekend. Their son Bill, Midshipman 4th class, says he likes it even more than he expected — and that's a lot!

Merle and I will have half of our family at the University this fall—Margaret in her first year; Fred in his second. Merle keeps busy as City Manager of Bangor and recently became a member of the state Environmental Improvement Commission.

Roger L. Pendleton is currently serving as President of the Virginia Society of Professional Engineers. He's also a past president of the Washington, D. C., Chapter of the U. of M. Alumni Assoc.

Missoula, Montana, is the new home of the Robert Fishers, and their daughter, Carol, 11. Robert has been in the U.S.D.A. Forest Service since he graduated from Maine. Most recently he was in the Washington office, but now is assigned to the Division of Recreation and Lands, Northern Region Headquarters.

Dr. Wilbrod St. Amand, Jr., professor of Biology at the University of Mississippi, has been named their Outstanding Teacher for 1970. He received his M.S. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Tennessee and worked as a research associate and biologist at the Oak Ridge National Laboratory until going to Ole Miss. in 1958. His wife, Georgia, is also on the Biology faculty, and he says, "We compare notes—there is a lot involved in teaching, and we never leave it." Dr. St. Amand is also busy with research, University committees, Kiwanis, Chamber of Commerce, Red Cross, and Civil Defense.

MRS. FREDERICK P. ANDREWS

'51 We've moved again; however, this time within Framingham. We needed elbow space. Stan '49 is attending M.I.T., at the Center for Advanced Engineering Study for this school year.

Very pleased to hear from Dick and Sherry (Lang) Noyes. Dick is busy traveling to Canada in connection with his position at the Great Northern Paper Co., as superintendent of the Millinocket Mill. Sherry wrote a wild flower booklet for her garden club and is on the School Board for Katahdin Friends of Exceptional Children and teaches there twice a week.

Alvin and Gay Gamage are proud parents of Rawson Nathaniel, born March 26, 1970. He joins Evaline who is 2. Alvin is assistant librarian at Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, N. Y. Richard W. Sprague of Bangor and Houlton has been elected vice-president - public relations by directors of the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad. Harvey Bertram Scribner has been appointed Chancellor of New York City's schools, leaving his position as State Superintendent of Vermont.

Davis E. Jameson has joined T. C. Blake, Inc. of South Portland, Maine as insurance adjuster. Alvah T. Leighton has been promoted full professor at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, at Blacksburg, Va., in the department of poultry science. Arthur S. Tobiassen has been named advanced tractor design manager for Ford Tractor Operations in Birmingham, Mich. He and his wife and daughter live at 318 North Hill Circle, Rochester, Mich.

Frank A. Butler has been appointed assistant superintendent of the gelatin division at Kodak Park in Rochester, N. Y. for the Eastman Gelatine Corp., a subsidiary of Eastman Kodak Co. Horace McGowan, Consultant for Secondary Education, Maine State Department of Education, is Chairman of the Visiting Committee engaged in a review for reaccreditation of Traip Academy. Marjorie M. Merchant, associate professor, extension, University of Massachusetts, was the morning speaker at the Annual Homemaker's Day at Taunton, Mass. Her topic was "The Consumer and the Market Place".

Chester Norris, Jr., has been named director of the Commerce Department's new U.S. Trade Center in Sydney, Australia. Donald McGlauffin, has become associated with Fred W. Hassen & Son, a Bangor Real Estate and Insurance Agency. Karl T. Bye was selected to fill the newly created post of manager of product development for the Kidder Press Company of Dover, N. H.

Major Averill L. Black has taken command of the 262nd Engineer Battalion with headquarters in Bangor, and with his wife and four sons lives at 314 Broadway, Bangor. Stanley R. and Peg Christianson's oldest son entered the U. of M. freshman class this fall, and they have two boys and two girls to go. Richard Largay's son Charlie is an outstanding swimmer with the Bath Y. He broke the State mark in the 100-yard backstroke in the Intermediate Division.

Carlton '52 and Eva Wight's daughter, Carla Elizabeth Wight, was named third honor essayist in June at Morse High School graduation in Bath. C. Stuart Carroll, president of Carroll & Ray Inc. of Beverly, Mass., has completed a course of study leading to the designation "Graduate, Realtors' Institute" in connection with his real estate activities. Russell and Joy Walters write that they are busy with their three children, Mike, 6, Laurie, 3, and Jeanne, 3 months.

'53 David R. Getchell, a journalism major back in the "olden days" when we were all young (as my 10-year old sons) is now editor of the "National Fisherman." The magazine is based in Camden and is part of Journal Publications, Inc., a growing enterprise which recently launched International Marine Publishing Co.

Lt. Col. David A. Cole was recently graduated from the U. S. Army Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

During the Johnson family's cross-country trip this summer, we stopped to see classmates Mike and Joan (Russell) Mogilevsky in Titusville, Fla. Mike is manager of computer programming at the Space Center and Joan is as slim and young-looking a homemaker as the rest of us would like to be. We had a delightful visit with them and their children Michelle, 14, Anton, 10, and Andre, 8.

Now, then, any of you heading out West anytime have a standing invitation to stop with us in Tucson. We guarantee fine Mexican food and free removal of cactus prickles!

Commercial Street

Commercial Street today is such a permanent harbor-side boundary of Portland that it is difficult to realize that until 1850 no street existed there. The waterfront was bounded by Fore Street—narrow, paved with round cobblestones, lined with a jumble of grogshops, sailors' boarding houses and a few business establishments. Fronting on the docks jutting out into the harbor, crowded with oxen-drawn wagons or teams of six to eight horses hauling the material of commerce, Fore Street became, in the great expansion period of the 1840's, a veritable jungle of movement and confusion.

In 1840 a move was started to fill in the waterfront and build a wide street to care for all this commerce. Two railroads had established their terminals at either end of Fore Street, and the hauling of freight between them, plus that destined for the busy ships lying at dock awaiting cargo, accounted for much of the traffic snarl.

In its early days Commercial Street suffered regularly from high tides seeping through the fill that formed the foundation. Cellars flooded and parts of the street at times were impassable. The large cobblestones with which it was paved were easily dislodged by horses' hooves, and walking across the street at any time was a hazardous and terrifying experience.

The Island steamers, a new Atlantic service to Liverpool, and other increased activity soon made Commercial Street truly the "commercial way" of Portland.
