FIRST DAILY NEWSPAPER: The Murray State University Library has become the recipient of a copy of the first edition of one of the first daily newspapers ever published in Murray, the "Murray Daily Times," with the edition dated July 23, 1897. The newspaper, found in 1948 behind an old picture in a frame, was presented to the library in memory of his parents by William N. McElrath, left, a native of Murray and now a Southern Baptist missionary in Indonesia. Accepting the gift is Dr. Edwin Strohecker, director of libraries at the University. McElrath, the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Hugh N. McElrath, is conducting a four-evening Bible study at the First Baptist Church. He and his family, in the states on furlough, will return to their posts in Indonesia in May.

Senators See Little Chance Of Approval Of Vietnam Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key senators of both parties see little chance that President Ford can win congressional approval of the additional $300 million in military aid he says is "essential" for South Vietnamese morale and security.

And Ford's refusal to rule out a resumption of bombing in Indochina produced a warning from assistant Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd that such action "would be a catastrophic mistake."

The subject of possible U.S. responses to the deteriorating military situation in South Vietnam came up in five separate questions at Ford's news conference Tuesday.

The President said he would formally ask Congress later this week or next week for the extra $300 million, calling it "a proper action by us to help a nation and a people prevent aggression in violation of the Paris accord."

But Byrd said in an interview, "I think most senators will take a rather dim view of it," adding: "We can't go on indefinitely appropriating more aid. What will it be next year? Where will it end?"

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, agreed with Byrd that chances for the request were poor.

"I will support (Ford) and support him vigorously," the Texas Republican said. "But given the present complexion of the Congress, I'm pessimistic about the outcome of the request."

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he also doubts the Senate would approve the additional funds — restoring $300 million that was authorized by Congress last year but then cut from the appropriations bill.

Asked about Ford's refusal to rule out a resumption of bombing, Mansfield replied: "I can't believe that he would consider resumed bombing. It would be counterproductive."

Byrd took an even stronger stand, declaring "it would be a catastrophic mistake to resume bombing."

"I don't think the American people would stand for putting our boys back into the line of fire in Vietnam," he said.

Three Charged In Break-In At Lake Cabin

Three local men have been charged with third degree burglary in connection with a break-in at a cabin on Kentucky Lake, according to the office of Calloway County Sheriff Maurice Wilson.

Tony Hughes, 20, Route Six; Barry D. Dunn, Route One, Dexter, age 19; and Michael E. Hicks, 18, were charged with the theft of a bedspread and a pillow from a cabin in the Kentucky Lake Development subdivision. The cabin is owned by Edward Williamson.

Third degree burglary is a felony under the new Penal Code, and the three will appear before the Grand Jury next month.

All three posted $2,000 bonds and were released from custody.

Under $15,000 Families Would Benefit From President's Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's plan to boost energy prices while reducing taxes would leave additional spending money in the pockets of the typical family of four earning $15,000 or less. Families above that income level will suffer a net loss.

But Americans in both categories would be committed under Ford's program to paying higher energy bills before the administration could assure them of extra money to pay them.

Ford said Tuesday he will officially order higher import fees on imported oil beginning at $1 a barrel on Feb. 1 and rising to $3 a barrel by April 1

Treasury Department tax officials said Tuesday that each $1 of the import fee will add an average of about one cent to the price of a gallon of gasoline, home heating oil, and other products, rising to a total of three cents a gallon when the full fee is imposed.

One Treasury official estimated Tuesday night that a family of four with total income of $15,000 and below would receive a tax reduction greater than the increase in its energy bills.

He estimated the average energy bill would increase $250 under the program, although the increase would be lower for lower-income families and higher for higher-income families.

"Everybody below $15,000 will just be better off," said this official, who did not want to be named.

Several Democratic congressional leaders have asked Ford to delay the import fee plan until Congress can act.

Edgar R. Fiedler, assistant treasury secretary for economic affairs, said Americans may start paying the higher fuel prices within a few weeks, especially for such products as gasoline.

Ford has proposed a series of tax reductions for 1975 to offset the higher energy cost, but

Ford Presides Over Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., served as presiding officer of the Senate Tuesday, filling the chair vacated by the vice president.

Ford was also scheduled to preside part of Wednesday afternoon.

The primary issue before him was the introduction of the Senate resolution calling for a select committee on intelligence activities.

Following discussion and debate, the item was quickly placed on the calendar for a vote.

As lieutenant governor of Kentucky from 1967 to 1971, Ford was presiding officer of the state senate.

Ford expects word on his subcommittee assignment to the Senate Commerce Committee in the next few days.

Congress Responds To Ford's Economic Program With Quick Action; Energy Plan Disputed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is responding to President Ford's renewed drive for his economic program with quick action on tax relief while entangling his energy program in dispute.

In a no-retreat statement opening his news conference Tuesday, Ford said he will put into effect without congressional help his tariff on imported oil and would veto any mandatory gasoline rationing legislation.

House leaders went ahead with plans to open hearings today on tax abatement — both Ford's version and Democratic counterproposals.

But they moved to block the imposition of the $3-a-barrel tax on imported crude oil long enough for other options to be brought up.

House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., said hearings will begin Monday or Tuesday on his resolution to hold up the tariff at least 90 days.

Ford said he would put it in effect by proclamation this week, clearing the way for the tax beginning at $1 on Feb. 1 and reaching $3 April 1.

In the nationally broadcast news conference, Ford also said "the United States does feel that the danger of war in the Middle East is very serious" and that diplomatic efforts to avoid an outbreak are being intensified with both Israel and the Arab states.

"We are supplying some arms to various states in that region," he said, adding it is important to maintain "a certain degree of military capability on all sides" while negotiations go on.

Ford again backed Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger in refusing to rule out military takeover of oil fields in the hypothetical situation that the West might be strangled by a petroleum cutoff. But he said this would be an extreme situation, not something like last year's short-lived embargo.

On other matters, Ford: — Said he cannot foresee any circumstances in which the United States might re-enter the Vietnam war, but said he will ask for another $300 million in military aid for South Vietnam.

— Said that "unfortunately" he must refrain from recommending a national health program because of his decision to start no new costly programs. Democrats have promised to press ahead on health insurance.

— Predicted detente with the Soviet Union, including improvement of trade relations, will continue despite his disappointment over Soviet rejection of the 1972 trade agreement.

— Defended recommendations that increases in benefit programs, including social Security, be limited to 5 per cent and that food stamps be priced higher for some recipients.

— Repeated that he is analyzing whether his amnesty program for Vietnam-era deserters and draft dodgers, due to expire Jan. 31, should be extended.

Much of the questioning centered on Ford's disputes with congressional Democrats on energy measures. In an apparent thrust at the congressional majority, Ford said, "I will not sit by and watch the nation continue to talk about an energy crisis and do nothing about it."

Fire Reported At Riviera Courts

Murray Fire Department personnel answered a call early today to the home of Randy Cunningham, Riviera Courts.

Firefighters said a car backfired, blazed, and the fire spread underneath the trailer. Ten men and three trucks answered the call. The extent of damage was not reported.

Appointment Of City Prosecutor To Be Considered By Councilmen

The appointment of T. Wade Crawford as City Prosecuting Attorney will be considered by the Murray Common Council at its regular meeting at 7 p.m. in City Hall Thursday night.

Crawford's appointment, which will be subject to council approval, would be to fill the unexpired term of Donald Overbey who resigned at the first of the year. The City Court has been operated without a prosecutor since that time and City Judge Stephen Sanders has instructed city police officers to cite offenders into Calloway County Court.

At least two other local attorneys have reportedly been contacted about the position and the council was told at its last meeting that one of them would accept the appointment if the $3,000 per year annual salary were raised. Kentucky Attorney General Ed Hancock, in a ruling requested by the city, said however that the city could not hike the salary, which was set by ordinance, until the present term expired.

Other items scheduled on the agenda include:

— The reading of ordinance 609, establishing fees for volunteer firemen, councilmen, planning commission members, etc., for reimbursement for expense incurred rather than salaries;

— Authority to purchase three police cars, equipment for the Street Department and equipment for the Park and Recreation Department;

— Permission to partition a room on the second floor of City Hall;

— An appointment to the hospital commission from a list submitted by local school superintendents;

— Authority to borrow operating funds up to $100,000.

Murray Board Of Education Plans Meeting

The Murray Board of Education will hold its regular meeting at the board office Thursday at seven p. m., according to Supt. Fred Schultz.

Included on the suggested agenda are: recognition of Joe Sills, director of bands, for the purpose of reviewing the instrumental music program; a review of the policy for cheerleader selection and recommendation; a review of insurance statement of values; final approval of a bill for the renovation of two restrooms at Murray Middle; personnel recommendations; and the superintendent's report.

Break-In Reported At Settle-Workman

Murray City Police reported a break-in at the Settle-Workman Department Store downtown today, according to department records.

Officers said $25 in change was taken after entry was gained to the building through the rear door.

An investigation is continuing into this incident, according to police.

ABA To Fund Summer Institute On Democracy And Communism At MSU

For the second consecutive year, the American Bar Association is funding a summer institute on Democracy and Communism at Murray State University, Dr. Farouk Umar, chairman of the Department of Political Science at the University, has announced. A grant totalling $4,000 has been received by the University from the ABA for the program.

The institute, designed to help secondary school teachers develop an understanding of the treatment of minority groups in both democratic and communist societies, will be conducted during the University's 1975 summer term, June 9 through August 1.

Among the guest lecturers expected to participate are Dr. Michael S. Pap, director of the Institute for Soviet and Eastern European Studies, John Carroll University, Cleveland, Ohio, and Dr. Ed Rozek, director of the Edward Teller Center for Science and Politics, University of Colorado, Boulder, Dr. Umar said.

Twenty partial tuition scholarships are available to teachers who enroll in the program, he said, emphasizing the institute also is open to anyone interested in the program and who meets the university admission requirements for graduate study.

Three to six semester hours of graduate credit may be earned by participants and applied toward a degree, certification or renewal of certification by registering for the following courses to be offered through the institute:

POL 538 — Problems and Politics of Minority Groups (3 hours) and/or POL 645 — Seminar: International Relations and Foreign Policy (3 hours). Students seeking only three hours of graduate credit must register for POL 645.

Assisting Dr. Umar with the institute will be Dr. Gene Garfield, an assistant professor of political science at the University.

Persons interested in enrollment, scholarship or housing accommodations for the institute should write or contact Dr. Umar. His address is: Dr. F. Umar, Department of Political Science, Murray State University, Murray, Ky., 42071. His telephone number is (502) 782-2661.

Among delegates attending a recent two-day orientation conference for new school board members in Lexington were, left to right, Walter Byars, Supt. William Miller and Joe Dyer, all of Calloway County's board of education. They attended group sessions on school law, finance and school-community relations while at the meeting sponsored jointly by the state Department of Education and the Kentucky School Boards Association.

Tucker and Karraker Vows Read

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Karraker

In a candle-lit setting of beauty and simplicity, Miss Sabrina Tucker became the bride of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Karraker on Wednesday, January 1, at eleven a.m. at the Seventh and Poplar Church of Christ in Murray. John Dale performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tucker, of Kirksey and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Karraker of Reidland.

A program of A capella nuptial music was presented during the ceremony. Singers were Mr. and Mrs. Kent McCuiston, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bolls, Mrs. Sherry Harris, Mrs. Joanne Cavitt, Bruce Miller, and Ernie Rob Bailey. Selections included "My Own True Love," "O Perfect Love," "Sunrise, Sunset," "Bless This Home." and "The Lord's Prayer." The wedding procession was "Faithful and True", and "Joyful, Joyful" was sung during the recessional.

The wedding vows were exchanged before an altar highlighted with a fifteen branch arched candelabrum entwined with holly and white bridal satin bows. Spiral candelabra and large red poinsettia completed the lovely setting.

The unity candle which was lit by the couple during the ceremony was centered on a table covered with a skirted satin tablecloth made by Mrs. Rosemary Kondratko, especially for the bride couple. Family pews were marked with bows of white bridal satin with bits of holly also.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, was lovely in her floor length wedding gown of peau-de-sou, with Chantilly lace covering the bodice, and adorning the empire waistline and sleeves. The long full sleeves of silk organza had wide lace cuffs closed with small pearl buttons.

The bride gown was complemented by a mantilla floor length veil of white illusion encircled with lace and was attached to a camelot headpiece with a raised crown covered with Chantilly lace. The bride's gown was designed by the bride and fashioned by a friend, Mrs. Datha McCallon.

She also wore a tiny pearl pendant and carried a beautiful bridal cascade of white carnations, gypsophilla, red star flowers, holly, ivy, and accented with white satin streamers tied in love knots.

Mrs. Laurie Tobey, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Mrs. Marsha Hargrove was the bride's only other attendant. Both the matron of honor and bridesmaid wore floor length gowns of deep red velvet designed with empire waists, round necklines and enlaced with white lace and red ribbons around the bodice and sleeves. They wore small pearl pendants and white fur pill box hats, gifts of the bride couple.

The attendants carried wicker baskets filled with white and peppermint pixie carnations, holly, and red velvet bows tied in love knots.

Attending the groom as best man was Michael Severns of Paducah, and Leonard Dunman of Louisville served as the groomsman. Lighting the candles and serving as ushers also were Charles Tucker and Gene Karraker, brothers of the bride couple. The groom wore a white rose with baby's breath and the other men in the party wore white carnations.

Mrs. Tucker, mother of the bride wore a floor length gown of rust knit. She wore gold accessories and pinned a yellow cymbidium orchid on her shoulder. Mrs. Karraker, mother of the groom was attired in a two piece light blue floor length dress with navy accessories. She wore a white cymbidium orchid.

Mrs. Brown Tucker, Mrs. Newell Doores and Mrs. Bertha Doores, grandmothers and great-grandmother of the bride, wore corsages of white carnations. Newell Doores and Brown Tucker, grandfathers of the bride, wore sprigs of holly at their lapels.

Mrs. Joyce Gibson, friend of the bride, kept the guest register and Miss Gale Broach directed the wedding. Each of these wore peppermint carnation corsages.

Miss Jennifer Doores, cousin of the bride, passed rice bags out to the guests from a wicker basket decorated with white satin and red ribbons. She wore a red velvet dress similar to the attendants.

Following the wedding the parents of the bride were hosts for a lovely reception held in the basement of the church.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace spread and centered with a lovely arrangement of red silk roses and gypsophilla. Flanking the centerpiece were branched silver candelabra with red burning tapers. Silver trays were used under the punch bowl and cake and the nuts and mints were placed in silver dishes. Holly was garlanded around the punch and cake.

The three tier wedding cake further enhanced the beautiful setting. The cake was white with red flowers and a red staircase with tiny candles adorning the side and climbing to the top where two satin bells in a heart shaped arch were centered.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Kenneth Hosford, Miss Susan McCann and Mrs. Robert McCann, cousins and aunt of the bride. They wore peppermint carnations at their shoulders. Mrs. Betty Elkins, who also made the cake, assisted in cutting and serving it to the guests.

After the reception the couple left for a wedding trip and are now at home on 1608 College Farm Road, Apt. 6-E Murray. Mrs. Karraker is a sophomore nursing major at Murray State University and Mr. Karraker, a December graduate of Murray State, is presently employed at Henry A. Petters Supply Company in Paducah.

This photographer took more than her picture

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I met a man who said he was a top photographer for a famous magazine. He asked me to pose for him, saying I would get $100 for every picture. I agreed, and he came over on Sunday with his camera.

I posed with nothing on but a Santa Claus hat and beard. He also took a lot of pictures of me naked in the shower with the water running. We went outside, and he shot pictures of me picking oranges off a tree. Then we drove to the beach and he got some more shots of me on the beach and in the water. It took the whole day.

About halfway through, he ran out of film and didn't have his wallet, so I advanced him $20 for more film. Later we got hungry, so he borrowed $10 from me to pay for eats.

He promised he'd call me after the pictures were developed, but I haven't heard from him. I don't know how to get in touch with him. I want my $30 back but I'm afraid to go to the police because I said I was 21 and I'm only 17, and I don't want to get into trouble for being under age and posing like that. Thanks for any help you can give me.

G. IN LONG BEACH

DEAR G.: My guess is that the photographer is a phony. You could write to the magazine he claimed to work for, but don't be surprised if they've never heard of him. I can't help you get your $30 back, but I have some valuable advice for you: DON'T pose for any more strangers or you could lose a lot more than $30!

DEAR ABBY: I am a very attractive widower, having lost my wife two years ago.

My problem? I have a small fortune stuck in the stock market, and I don't have to tell you what's happened to the market.

How do I go about finding a charming middle-aged widow who could perhaps offset my losses with her gains?

TOOK A BEATING

DEAR TOOK: You appear to be looking for a "trade-off," not a wife. Too bad you didn't give me your address so I could tip off all the charming, middle-aged, well-to-do widows in your area.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I go dancing quite often with several other couples. We all exchanges dances except this one man, who dances only the first dance with his wife—then he sits. He never asks any of the other ladies to dance.

Meanwhile, the wife of this non-dancing man (I'll call her Vera) is asked to dance by all the other husbands as she is very pretty and a good dancer. So while Vera is dancing, one of the other wives has to sit it out.

I think that since all the husbands know that Vera's husband never asks any other woman to dance, they should not ask Vera to dance. After all, if one woman has to be sitting out, shouldn't it be Vera, since it's her husband who is sitting out?

What would you offer as a solution to this problem?

PART-TIME SIT-OUT

DEAR PART: It appears that the men are happy, but their wives aren't. Why not chuck the old tradition that says the woman must wait for the gentleman to ask her to dance? YOU do the asking—and every woman for herself!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

AP News Analysis

Ford Increases Risk In Economic Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — By his firm stand against gas rationing and his decision to speed a potentially inflationary hike in the oil import tariff, President Ford has increased the political risk in his energy and economic program.

If nothing else, Ford's stand will delay any final decision on rationing until much closer to the 1976 presidential election, while increasing his administration's reliance on a plan that even backers concede will increase inflation while it seeks to cut oil use.

Ford of course believes his proposal will succeed in reducing U.S. dependence on foreign petroleum — and that he will be the prime political beneficiary.

"I am convinced that the months ahead will prove that we were right and that political prospects, if they are affected by that, will likewise be improved," he told a news conference on Tuesday.

Contorted Logic

The dilemma surrounding our environmental policies seems to have been captured in microcosm at Gary, Ind. Under pressure of air pollution laws, U.S. Steel Corp. has shut down its open hearth furnaces at Gary rather than pay a $2,300 a day fine for discharging an impermissible amount of smoke into the atmosphere.

That's exactly how antipollution laws are designed to work, but the shutdown is hard to take for the 2,500 steelworkers at Gary who are losing their jobs and 1,500 others elsewhere whose jobs may be affected. It was also hard to take for Russell Train, head of the federal Environmental Protection Agency, who now finds himself in the odd position of arguing that U.S. Steel ought to pay the fine and keep its Gary employes on the job. In other words, those 2,500 jobs are more important to him right now than the pollution readings in the air over Gary.

Mr. Train is in the unenviable position of having to worry about the environment and the economy at the same time. The fact is, so are the rest of us, including all the legislative bodies and antipollution agencies that have laid down elaborate battle-plans for cleaning up the environment at any cost.

It borders on the absurd for our chief environmentalist to be urging that a steel company go on polluting the atmosphere and pay a fine for the privilege of doing so. However, if we do not get our environmental and economic policies tuned to the same frequency, more of our public officials are going to face the same contortions of logic.

U.S. Recycling Plan Better

On the surface, the disagreement between the United States of America and the Common Market nations over recycling of petrodollars appears to be one of means rather than ends. The plan advocated by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and the plan supported by Common Market finance ministers both would provide a pipeline for money to flow back to countries whose currency reserves are being drained to the danger point by heavy purchases of Arab oil.

The Europeans want to set up a facility to channel petrodollars back to oil-importing nations through the International Monetary Fund. This would give the recycling program a broad base involving the industrialized nations, the developing world, and the Arabs themselves — all members of the IMF. Mr. Kissinger wants the recycling done through the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, a new group limited to industrial nations and also concerned with cooperative action on other aspects of the energy problem.

Since the recycled dollars would probably get to the same needy nations by either plan, why all the fuss? Obviously the Europeans feel that the dominant influence which the United States might exert in the OECD would be diluted if recycling went through the IMF. Less evident, perhaps, is the fact that the Europeans are still uneasy about Mr. Kissinger's strategy of confronting the Arabs

However, some economists and politicians believe that the Ford energy plan, which seeks to reduce U.S. oil consumption by driving up the price of all petroleum products, will flop and that the result will be increased inflation with little, if any, drop in consumption.

The administration's plan is to offset the increased prices with decreased usage and lower 1975 income taxes.

Interviews with senators of both parties indicate their increasing doubts about Ford's plan.

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., says Ford's plan puts too much burden on things like home heating oil and electric rates, where only minimal fuel reductions are possible.

Democrats take an even harsher view. Assistant Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., called the tariff a "prescription for economic disaster" and warned of "a ripple effect that will reverberate through the economy," pushing up the price of gasoline, heating oil, fertilizer and bus and airline fares.

Congressional Democrats launched an effort Monday to block the tariff hike but Ford said he will move soon to increase the tariffs. If the tariff increase succeeds in its goal of raising domestic prices, Democrats will be able to accuse Ford of precipitating a new round of inflation. If it fails to stem consumption, the pressures already within Congress for gas rationing will increase.

"The Democrats have the best of both worlds," Sen. James B. Pearson, R-Kan., said. "They can put the ultimate decision onto the President, so that he gets the heat if he has to begin rationing and they can criticize him if he fails to act." He said an effort must be made to see if there are other possible choices.

Against that backdrop, Ford's criticism of rationing seems unlikely to have any immediate impact on Congress.

And the President left himself a loophole by saying he would veto a measure if it called for "mandatory" gas rationing and if, in his judgment, it was "a superficial answer" to the nation's problems.

Disaster Area

Now it turns out that Louisiana sugar cane growers whose crop is as much as 10 per cent below normal can get low interest loans from the government. This is because the state was proclaimed a disaster area following a September hurricane, even though prices and profits on the remaining crop are at record highs.

This would not be so upsetting if the government would recognize the whole truth and also declare the market place a disaster area for consumers.

—Atlanta (Ga.) Journal

with an organized counterweight to their oil cartel, which is what he envisions the OECD to be.

The Western European nations have been cool toward the idea of a "confrontation" with the Arabs because they are almost wholly dependent on Middle Eastern oil. They are emphasizing cooperation with the sheikhs. However, the Arabs, for their part, have shown no inclination to cooperate by establishing a more realistic price for oil which would be less crippling to the world economy.

If the Europeans do not want to look at their plight as a confrontation now, how much deeper into debt to the Arabs must they sink before they do? Mr. Kissinger is simply looking farther down the road. Europe, Japan and the United States now have the economic strength to bargain with the Arabs, who need us as customers for their oil and who need the technology and manufactured goods that only we can supply.

Petrodollars can probably be recycled as well through the IMF as through the OECD, but recycling must be coupled with a concerted effort by the major oil consumers to break the monopoly which the Arabs are now exploiting exclusively for their own economic and political aggrandizement. If it is not, the consuming nations eventually will discover that it is their own political and economic independence which has been recycled into Arab hands.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

FARM BUREAU BLASTS SUPER AGENCY BILL

REP. JOHN M. ASHBROOK (Ohio) "... I was very impressed with a recent speech by William Kuhfuss, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. . ." (Excerpts from an article in the Farm Bureau News regarding the speech follows):

"Consumers should be alert to legislation which would establish a new super government bureaucracy to be imposed on top of all existing federal agencies, intervening in all regulatory activities of each agency, saddling business with new red tape, and adding to the cost of their operations," Kuhfuss said.

Kuhfuss said that the legislation set for introduction in the 1975 Congress calls for the establishment of a Consumer Protection Agency. Such a bill was killed September 19 in the Senate with Senator Sam Ervin of North Carolina leading the opposition. Senator Ervin's retirement places Senator Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut as chairman of the Senate's Government Operations Committee. Senator Ribicoff was the author of the original Consumer Protection Agency bill.

"Modern farm families are not only consumers of food, housing, clothing, and other goods and services necessary for family living, but they are also major consumers of industrial products used in farm production.

"Farmers buy one-fourth of all the trucks produced in America, 10 percent of the U. S. petroleum output, and five percent of the nation's steel products." "Farm Bureau believes that government standards of quality, safety, health, and labeling have an important role in protecting consumers and we already have a wide range of more than 45 federal regulatory agencies operating in this and other areas of public concern. To keep up with all Federal regulations and proposals, the government issues a Federal Register almost daily that runs to 100 pages and requires a team of lawyers to interpret.

"If these agencies are not doing a job for consumers as some proponents of the Consumer Agency legislation contends, it is hardly likely that the creation of another super agency will be of much practical value except to provide more government jobs and more income for lawyers. . ." (And more paperwork).

CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

We quote Senator Lloyd Bentsen (Texas), "The paperwork problem is overwhelming and our means of controlling it are in complete disarray. It's not going to get better; it's only going to get worse." He has formed a Federal Commission on Paperwork to look into the problem. We wish his commission "lotsa luck."

A Different Routine For Breast Cancer

By F.J.L. Blasingame, M.D.

Writing in a recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Ralph Johnson, M.D., of the National Cancer Institute, makes timely and sensible suggestions to physicians regarding the management of women who have questionable cancer of the breast. His observation needs to be understood also by the public.

Dr. Johnson notes that about 90,000 new patients per year in the United States will be given the diagnosis of cancer of the breast. In handling these unfortunate persons, he feels that too much emphasis has been placed on a prompt breast biopsy, followed by a radical or simple mastectomy (removal of breast). He suggests a different sequence of events.

He makes a plea that a number of breast cancer patients have evidence of widespread dissemination of the disease that is detectable at the time of diagnosis.

When a breast mass is suggestive of malignancy, he recommends that mammography be done and points out that if the X-ray evidence is characteristic of cancer, a positive correlation of 85 per cent with biopsy findings will exist.

Next, patients with clinical or X-ray evidence of malignancy should be evaluated BEFORE biopsy by another dependable diagnostic study for extension to bone by a skeletal survey or bone scan.

If these studies show that the tumor already has extended to the skeletal system, as is the case with many breast cancers, surgery of the breast can be limited to a diagnostic biopsy by excising part or all of the mass or by a needle biopsy under local anesthesia.

By following this routine and confirming accurately the extent of the malignant disease, it is possible to avoid subjecting certain patients to unnecessary radical surgery and cosmetic deformity.

In this manner, primary attention can be devoted to methods to control the systemic extension of the cancer — which is unaffected by the radical removal of the affected breast.

Q. Ms. E.G. wants to know how a physician tells whether a medicine is doing any good and whether it is not a matter of guessing.

A. Most medications usually are given for a particular purpose. Before a drug is marketed, it undergoes extensive testing of its actions, toxicity, and side-effects. Animal experiments generally precede use on humans. In tests on humans, double-blind studies often are made in which the patients and the physicians do not know when the drug is being tested or a placebo (looks the same but is without any action) is given to a particular test patient. The effects are judged on each patient — often several hundred. Then the "code" is broken and the effects compared in relation to those who have been taking the new medication and those taking the placebo. In this manner, real effects can be determined.

Q. Mr. F.J. wants to know about the kind of anesthetic that is used for a vasectomy.

A. A vasectomy is usually done under local anesthetic. United Feature Syndicate

CPAs Explain Who Is A Tax Dependent

(This is the second of a series of five articles on 1974 Federal Income Tax Returns offered by The Kentucky Society of Certified Public Accountants.)

If you have enough of them, exemptions, worth $750 each, can reduce your taxable income substantially. Most people are aware that they can claim exemptions for themselves, for a spouse with whom they file a joint tax return, and for dependents. But just who qualifies as a dependent?

What about the child in college who is over 19? Or the aged parent in a nursing home? Or the person, not a relative, who lives in your home?

With certain exceptions, in order for an individual to qualify as your dependent he must have during the tax year:

- Obtained more than half his support from you.
- Had a gross income under $750. (This does not apply to your children under 19, not to those older than that who are full-time students.)
- Lived with you for the entire year. (This does not apply to close relatives.)
- Been a citizen or resident of the United States, Canada, Mexico or Panama.
- Not filed a joint return with some other person, unless it was only to claim a tax refund, not because the tax refund was required. (Called the Archie Bunker rule because Archie's daughter is married to a student but lives in her parents' home.)

Generally, a person who was a qualified dependent for any period of the year, however brief, can be claimed for the full exemption. Thus you may claim an exemption for a person who may have died in 1974 or a person you married or adopted, no matter how late in the year. But there are some exceptions:

—If your spouse had independent income, the exemption can be claimed only if you file jointly.

—If your spouse died and you remarried during the tax year, you cannot claim the late spouse a dependent.

—If you were divorced or legally separated at the end of the tax year, you can't claim the former spouse.

A person who is 65 or whose eyesight has fallen below a specified level can claim a second exemption. Thus, a couple—filing jointly, both past 65 or legally blind, may claim four exemptions. But if persons in such condition are dependents of someone else, that other person cannot claim the extra exemptions.

In the case of an elderly person, more than half of whose support is provided by several children, none of whom provides 50 percent or more of the support, the parent can be taken as a dependent on a rotating basis. Any one of those contributing more than 10 percent of the support claims the exemption, while other contributions of more than 10 percent agree in written statement attached to the return not to make the claim on their returns for that year.

Marshall County Holds On To Edge Past Lakers

By MIKE BRANDON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

From a mathematical standpoint, Marshall County Coach Charlie Lampley might like to play about 10 games against Calloway County.

From a practical standpoint, he's probably more than happy with the two games the teams have played thus far this season.

The Marshalls have won four times all year, and guess who two of those wins have been against. You guessed it, the Lakers.

The Big Orange notched their second win against the Lakers in a fashionable form Tuesday night in Jeffrey Gymnasium by slipping past their hosts 69-62.

Now here's where the difference between mathematics and practicality begins.

Number one, the two teams aren't going to play 10 times in one year. And number two, just because the Marshalls have defeated the Lakers twice doesn't mean that much.

Oh, it looks good to add a win to the record but really they've all been practice games and the real season doesn't begin until early March when the District Tournament gets under way.

And that's one thing that's keeping Laker Coach David King going. He knows that there's still a lot of time left between now and tourney time and he knows that it's still possible to put together a winning formula.

With the loss, the Lakers fall to 7-7 for the season and will enter their big contest Friday with Murray High on a losing record. Meanwhile, the Tigers are 6-5 after a win over Farmington last night and they will walk into the Murray State Sports Arena off a win.

For only a brief period, it looked like the Lakers might go into the game with the Tigers with a three-game winning streak under their belts. And then a gusty comeback rally skidded to a halt.

Midway through the last period, the Lakers trailed 59-47 and it appeared the game was over.

But the Lakers, led by the super defensive work of junior guard David Williams, began pecking away at the Marshalls' margin.

A five-footer by 6-9 Tony Wells, a 10-footer by David Thorne and four consecutive points by Williams pulled the Lakers to within five at 59-54 with just 3:25 left in the contest.

Tony Wells had an opportunity to score two from the line with 3:11 but the front side of the bonus fell off and the Marshalls scored a charity toss to up by six at 60-54.

Then with 2:44 left, the Lakers pulled to within four as Tony Wells scored from five feet away.

Marshall County countered with four quick points and went up 64-56 and then Wells fouled out in the closing minute and the Marshalls were able to increase the margin to as much as 11 before finally settling for the seven-point win.

The first period was extremely slow as both teams played deliberate offenses. At the end of the quarter, the score was knotted at eight apiece.

In the second quarter, the lead switched hands three times, with the Lakers largest lead being four and the Marshalls' largest lead being three, which came at intermission, 27-24.

Marshall County's largest lead in the game came midway through the third period when they led 40-28. At the end of the quarter, the Marshalls were coasting along with a 48-37 cushion.

Wales Conference Cruises To 7-1 Win In NHL All-Star Game

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

MONTREAL (AP) — Anne Apps will have a new car soon, courtesy of her husband Syl, who wrote himself into the history books with two goals Tuesday night in the 28th National Hockey League All-Star game.

Apps won the car as his Prince of Wales Conference teammates cruised to a 7-1 victory over the Clarence Campbell Conference in the historically classic but ritually wide-open event.

And among the record crowd of 16,997 at the Montreal Forum were two beaming parents who watched their favorite center overcome pregame nervousness to rise to the top of the league's playing cream.

"I'm awed just to be in the dressing room with these guys," the Pittsburgh Penguins' player said. "I was more worried about making too many mistakes than to even think about scoring two goals.

But score he did, with his former star father looking on proudly.

Apps was a little more than 2½ months old when Syl Apps Sr. scored a goal and an assist in the first official All-Star game played. Tuesday night, the two stood together in the steamy Prince of Wales dressing room.

"I've had a lot of thrills in hockey," said the elder Apps, who scored 201 goals for the Toronto Maple Leafs in a 10-year career, "but this is one of the greatest thrills I've ever had, watching my boy tonight."

"The only advice I ever gave him was to skate hard, hit hard and don't get hurt."

And the 27-year-old prodigy followed those rules perfectly at the Forum, although the hitting — along with the Campbell Conference defense — clearly was missing.

"When they got ahead 3-0, the game was over," said Philadelphia center Bobby Clarke, one of five Flyers on the Campbell roster. "Then we started taking chances, which opened it up even more."

The offensive theory might have worked had it not been for Montreal goalie Ken Dryden, who combined with former Canadiens' netminder Rogatien Vachon for some sparkling saves to blunt further an already dull Campbell offense.

Vachon made 15 of his team's 28 stops in the contest.

Apps still felt the pressure when the game began, but turned nervousness into excitement after 9:38 of play when he deflected a pass from California's Joey Johnston past Philadelphia's Bernie Parent for a 1-0 Prince of Wales lead.

The margin had soared to 4-1 on goals by Buffalo's Don Lucie, Toronto's Darryl Stittler and Boston's Phil Esposito before Apps brought the fans to their feet with a goal while falling to the ice at 3:25 of the final period.

That started a three-goal outburst within a 3:54 span against Vancouver's Gary Smith, who played the last half of the game in goal for the Campbell team.

"I'd hate to face a club like that every night," Smith said wearily. "I'd be seeing pucks in my sleep."

Frank Scores 25 As Tigers Go To 6-5 By Defeating Wildcats

By STEVE W. GIVENS
Ledger & Times Sports Writer
Murray High blitzed visiting Farmington for 24 points in the third quarter last night to overcome a 38-27 halftime deficit and slap the tough Wildcats with a 75-64 defeat before a sparse crowd in the Tiger gymnasium.

The visitors did manage seven points in the period, but they were thinly spread over the eight minutes as Coach Bobby Toon's squad romped to its sixth win in 11 starts...despite the fact the First Region scoring leader, Joe Chambers, burned the nets for 33 points.

MHS got the first two points of the second half on a steal by sophomore Lindsey Hudspeth with 7:40 showing, but the Wildcats bounced back to sink four free throws and shove their advantage to 41-29. Then Mark Williams hit his only two points of the evening, but they were big ones since the Tigers hustled from that moment until the final horn!

Forward Dean Harrison canned a 10 foot jumper which matched the 'Cats widest margin of the contest at 12, 43-21. Hudspeth then responded with a tip-in of a rebound and moments afterwards, Tiger sophomore guard Raymond Sims entered the action. He stole the ball on the 'Cats first trip downcourt, but lost it in a scramble under the visitors' basket.

With 3:25 showing, junior forward Bob Wilder crammed a rebound shot back through the net and cut the FHS margin to 43-38. A minute earlier he had taken a perfect feed from Sims and tallied a 10 foot jumper from the left side.

Hudspeth was charged with a personal on a driving lay-up when he went around Chambers, but the basket counted and MHS was within three.

Wilder drew his second foul with 2:25 left in the canto and seconds later pulled Murray High to within one when he grabbed a rebound of a shot missed by teammate Phil Miller and eased the ball into the net to make it 43-42.

The Wildcats missed a sterling opportunity to add to their fading margin when they lost the ball out of bounds at mid-court with 1:37 left after Tiger junior forward David Frank had knotted the score at 43-43 but missed the bottom half of a one-plus free throw situation.

Instead, Miller triggered the ball inbounds to Wilder, who fired from mid-court to Sims who went down the lane all alone for an easy lay-up with 1:25 to go and provide MHS with its first advantage, 45-43, since the early goings. The 'Cats never regained the lead and were unknowingly enroute to a 7-7 mark from then onward.

On the next trek downcourt, Miller stole the ball from Chambers in mid-dribble and bounced a pass to Wilder who went along the back baseline for a lay-up with 39 seconds showing.

Farmington hit its first field goal since 5:40 left in the period when guard Brian Harrison canned a lay-up. But even then, the Wildcats could not relax for a play as Hudspeth popped in a jumper at the buzzer for a 51-45 MHS advantage.

FHS forward Mike Pigg put the 'Cats back into the game with a three point play in the opening 10 seconds of the final period. He drove to the baseline and then fired a hook shot which was good despite his being fouled by the Tigers. His free throw was good to make it 51-48.

The visitors only managed to cut their deficit once again so close at 54-50, when Chambers connected with a long jumper from the right side with 6:52 left.

Wilder helped boost the Tigers to a six point advantage when he fed Miller on a perfect looping pass under the basket a minute later to make it 56-50. MHS quickly ran two more baskets on the scoreboard on a Miller lay-up and a jumper by Frank for its first 10 point spread at 60-50.

In a twist of fate, the Tigers went through the next 3:35 without scoring a point while FHS poured eight markers on their side of the score. Harrison dropped in a short jumper, then Chambers, who averaged near 26 points going into the contest, connected on a tip-in, before Pigg found the range on a 15 footer and then grabbed a rebound seconds later for another score.

Frank popped a rebounded shot back into the net to make it 66-56 with 4:14 remaining, but the scrappy visitors collected two points when Brian Harrison sank two shots after he was fouled by Hudspeth, who left the action with his fifth violation on the play.

Miller blocked a shot downcourt by Farmington's Stan Colley, but was charged with his fourth foul...and once again the Wildcats failed to cash in on the opportunity...as both shots bounced away from the net. Wilder grabbed a rebound after MHS had put up three shots and made it 68-60 when he finally found the range with 1:19 showing.

Murray had its 10 point edge back when Sims fed Frank going up the lane for a lay-up, but Chambers cut the margin seconds later with a long jump shot from the corner.

Sims assured the Tigers' victory on the next play when he dribbled enough time off the clock to allow Wilder to fire a pass to Miller all alone under the basket for an easy score while three Wildcat defenders were scrambling after him for the ball.

The visitors collected their final two markers on a pair of free throws by Chambers with 10 seconds remaining and Simses 20 foot jumper at the horn boosted the Tigers to an 11 point edge.

MHS had 34 field goals to 25 for the Wildcats, but lost the free throw shooting edge to the visitors decisively, 77 per cent to 44 per cent. MHS connected on seven of 16 while FHS hit a torrid 14 of 18. Chambers 33 points lead all scorers in the game, although Frank enjoyed one of his best shooting nights of the season by canning 25 big points for the Tigers.

Wilder pumped in 14, while Hudspeth had 13, Miller had 11, and Sims added 10 to round out the high MHS scoring. Coach Toon's squad faces arch-rival Calloway County this Friday night in the Murray State Sports Arena in the two teams' annual scrap which is assured to draw a large crowd. Murray High 17 10 24 24-75 Farmington 18 20 7 19-64

Racers Play Sycamores In Road Game Tonight

By Joe Tom Erwin
MSU Sports Publicity

Murray State's Racers, who have lost three of their first four Ohio Valley Conference games, will play at Indiana State tonight. The Racers will get back to conference action next Saturday night when they play Middle Tennessee at Murray.

After beating Morehead 93-88 in their first OVC game, the Racers have lost to Eastern Kentucky, Tennessee Tech, and East Tennessee. The last two losses were at Murray and they pretty well erased the Racers' conference title hopes. The Racer overall record is 8-5.

Indiana State lost 85-70 to North Carolina-Charlotte Monday night and is 7-9 for the season. The Sycamores have played a tough early-season schedule and among the teams to have beaten them are Purdue, Missouri, Mississippi State, and Oral Roberts. One of their victories was over Eastern Kentucky 97-70. Eastern beat Murray 104-85.

Leading scorer for the Sycamores is 6-8 forward Rick Williams with 20.3 points a game. He's also the team's leading rebounder with 8.9 a game. 6-6 forward Geoff Shuck has averaged 15.3 points and 7.3 rebounds; 6-0 guard Al Armstrong 8.7 points; 5-11 guard Steve Phillips 8.1 points; and 6-9 center Janis Ludeks 5.5 points and 5.2 rebounds.

As a team, the Sycamores have averaged 76.6 points and 42 rebounds to their opponents' 78.4 points and 44 rebounds.

Jesse Williams had 24 points in the Racers' 89-85 loss to East Tennessee Monday and leads Murray in scoring with 20.5 points a game. Grover Woolard has averaged 14.6 points, Zach Blasingame 14.1, Larry Moffett, 13.2, and Henry Kinsey 12.9. Williams has 10.2 rebounds a game, Moffett 9.6, and Blasingame 7.5.

As a team the Racers have hit 48.8 percent of their field goal attempts and averaged 83.5 points and 44.5 rebounds a game. Their opponents have hit 47.8 percent of their shots and averaged 80.0 points and 42.5 rebounds.

The Murray-Indiana State game will begin at 6:30 p. m., Murray time.

Kentucky State Holds Number One In Small College Ratings

By The Associated Press
The unbeaten Kentucky State Thorobreds are counting on horsepower to earn themselves a bid to the post-season National Invitational Tournament.

The Thorobreds, 11-0 through games of Saturday, were again voted No. 1 in the Associated Press college division basketball poll. Kentucky State has won 36 of its last 37 games and a confident Coach Lucas Mitchell is looking for new worlds to conquer.

Coach Mitchell's squad edged Georgetown, Kentucky 74-71, decisively Pikeville, Kentucky 122-101 and romped over Central State, Ohio 96-70, to retain the top spot in the rankings with 23 first-place votes and 375 points.

Part of the credit for Kentucky State's winning streak must go to star forward Gerald "Superman" Cunningham, No. 1 in the nation in field goal percentages, having hit 91 of 120 tries for an impressive 75.8 per cent. The 6-foot-8, 205 pound sophomore is presently averaging 23.3 points and 15.2 rebounds per game.

Gardner-Webb tallied three first-place votes and 241 points from a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters to emerge as the new second-place school — up a notch from last week after three straight victories. The Bulldogs, 17-1, defeated Warren Wilson 120-60, South Carolina-Aiken 111-85 and North Carolina-Asheville 59-57.

Jackson State moved up from fourth to third with 2 first-place ballots and 203 points after trouncing Grambling 106-79, Texas Southern 101-88 and Prairie View 113-93. Next was New Orleans, down from second place with 199 points. The Privateers slammed Southern University-New Orleans 87-64, but bowed to Tulane 76-61.

The University of Tennessee at Chattanooga remained in fifth place, losing to Tennessee State 92-90 and defeating Tennessee-Martin 70-69 to collect 137 points.

Bentley climbed from seventh to sixth place in the select group, attracting 119 points after trampling St. Michael's 105-99 and crushing Assumption 91-87.

Southern University at Baton Rouge fell from sixth to seventh in the rankings with 113 points. Southern U. defeated Alcorn 102-88, was trimmed by Prairie View 114-113 and then recovered to nip Texas Southern 93-82.

Old Dominion was steady in the eighth slot after beating Madison 89-54 and Marshall 80-63, the Monarchs receiving 109 points.

Number nine was Armstrong State, which walloped Columbus College 88-72 and South Carolina-Spartanburg 72-58 to earn 61 points, followed by Eastern Illinois, which lost to Indiana State 66-64, but bounced back to whack Western Illinois 81-59 and claim 44 points.

Rounding out the top 15 were the Randolph-Macon Yellow Jackets, who vaulted from last place with 36 points after stinging George Mason 103-80 and Baltimore Loyola 89-80; Augustana, S.D., down one place from 11th with 32 points; newcomer Edinboro State, awarded one first-place vote and 31 points; Youngstown State with one first-place ballot and 29 points and Morgan State, which slipped from 13th to 15th with 14 points. Cameron dropped from the rankings.

Braves Blast Sonics 118 To 108 Tuesday

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

When you think you've got Bob McAdoo where you want him — watch out! "He takes the 17-footers you want him to take — but they all go in," said Seattle Coach Bill Russell, whose Sonics were blasted by McAdoo's Buffalo Braves 118-108 Tuesday night.

Enjoying his best shooting night of the season, McAdoo sank 21 of 28 field goal attempts and poured in 49 points. His 21 field goals equaled a club record, and he also grabbed 19 rebounds.

Elsewhere in the National Basketball Association Tuesday night, the Chicago Bulls nipped the New York Knicks 97-94, the Washington Bullets beat the Cleveland Cavaliers 97-88, the Atlanta Hawks routed the New Orleans Jazz 135-103, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings edged the Portland Trail Blazers 109-106, the Boston Celtics defeated the Houston Rockets 113-102, the Philadelphia 76ers topped the Phoenix Suns 101-95 and the Golden State Warriors trounced the Los Angeles Lakers 138-108.

In the only American Basketball Association game, the San Antonio Spurs beat the Indiana Pacers 110-91.

McAdoo, the NBA's leading scorer, made his first seven shots of the game and 13 of 15 in the first half as he led the Braves to their sixth straight victory.

Bulls 97, Knicks 94 — Chet Walker's three-point play with 32 seconds left gave Chicago the victory in a hard-fought defensive struggle. Walker finished with 25 points, but game honors went to Chicago's Bob Love with 31.

Hawks 135, Jazz 103 — Atlanta came up with its highest scoring total of the year in routing the Jazz, with Tom Van Arsdale's 26 points leading the way.

Kings 109, Blazers 106 — Nate Archibald scored a season-high 41 points, including 23 of 25 from the free throw line, eight of them down the stretch. The Kings held Portland rookie center Bill Walton to six points in 29 minutes, his most time since returning after an 18-game absence.

Warriors 138, Lakers 108 — Rick Barry poured in 38 points to lead Golden State. The Warriors led by 16 points at the half and as much as 35 late in the game.

Cazzie Russell, playing his first game of the regular season after missing the first three months with a knee injury, was high for the Lakers with 24 points.

Bullets 97, Cavaliers — Mike Riordan scored 22 points for Washington, including four in a row in the final two minutes to clinch the victory.

Celtics 113, Rockets 102 — Boston captain John Havlicek helped the Celtics to their fourth straight victory with 22 points and 12 assists.

76ers 101, Suns 95 — Fred Carter's 30 points helped Philadelphia snap a four-game losing streak. Phoenix' Charlie Scott scored 34 before fouling out.

Spurs 110, Pacers 91 — Rich Jones scored 28 points for San Antonio, including 20 in the first half, and the Spurs broke the game open with 11 consecutive points midway through the final period.

Rossman To Fight

HAIFA, Israel (AP) — Mike Rossman, a New Jersey middleweight, has agreed to fight a benefit bout in Israel this spring with proceeds going to the rehabilitation of wounded soldiers, it was announced today.

Jack Shaladovsky, an Israeli fight manager, announced the bout and said he thought it would fill Tel Aviv's largest stadium.

Racers To Play Louisville?

It wouldn't be hard to devote the entire column to Murray State basketball today but I'll just brush a few points.

Number one, don't be surprised if you learn the Racers will be playing second-rated Louisville next season.

It will be a single game, probably to be played in Freedom Hall sometime in December.

The Racers will open their season by playing at Kansas and Oral Roberts. Wouldn't that be something to meet that kind of competition early in the year to prepare for conference season?

Most of the readers will be surprised to learn who some of the teams are on the schedule in future years. And sometime within the next week or two, I'll devote a whole column on the schedule, looking ahead as much as three to four years.

It seems that most people are puzzled over Murray. About a half-dozen people last night at the Calloway County game asked me what's wrong with the Racers.

Well, fact is, Freddie Overton wasn't trying to give a "snow-job" in his pre-season talks. Let's be completely honest about it.

Baylor and Texas, where the Racers opened this season with a pair of 10-point wins, have big names, yes. But not for basketball. They would do well to win three or four games in the Ohio Valley Conference.

Both teams were big and rather slow. And Murray, having a great deal more speed, was able to use that to an advantage.

Now, the next four games were against the likes of Louisiana College, Tennessee Wesleyan etc.

Okay, we won all four games. We go to 6-0 and everyone is talking in terms of a conference title. But wait a minute.

With the possible exception of the Missouri Southern game, Murray should have won all four of those non-conference home games.

So now we're off to a 1-3 conference start and we've lost two straight at home and everyone's talking about how they aren't going to come and watch the team anymore.

Win and the crowds stay with you, lose and you play in an empty gym.

Fact is, all the clubs Murray are now playing in the OVC are all quick. And the league is unbelievably balanced. In 16 conference games, the home teams have won only seven.

Tennessee Tech, picked to finish last in the conference, goes on the road and beats both Murray and Austin Peay in the same trip. You see, everyone talks about the OVC being so weak.

We never get national press because most of the time, a team that wins the OVC goes into the Midwest Regional with seven or eight losses. And with seven or eight losses, you aren't going to wind up in the Top 20.

So there's nothing wrong with Murray this year. Instead, take a positive look and try to understand what's right with the OVC.

Freddie Overton has promised to build quite a basketball program here. And he will do it.

You say how? By recruiting some of the best, and I mean best, players in the country.

Since it's illegal (NCAA regulations) to discuss those prospects or reveal who they are, I can't give you a clear idea of what kind of players we are looking at, and I might add, have an excellent chance of getting.

Most of them are, however, listed in Street & Smith as being All-Americans. And now you say, why will they come to Murray. Just wait, believe in what Freddie Overton's doing and support the team.

Things will get better.

Arkansas Report

East Arkansas College lost last week 119-99 to Phillips College.

In the game, Danny Hudspeth had 26 points, Porter McCuiston 25, Mike Woods 20 and Tyrone McCuiston 10. Little John Martin of Carlisle County had one of his poorest nights of the season in the scoring department, hitting just 4 of 13 shots and getting 10 points. But he had 12 assists in the game.

Tyrone had 22 rebounds, Danny had 23 and Porter 14.

The team will be playing February 8 in Murray against the Murray State Jayvees.

Danny Hudspeth and Porter McCuiston were both named to the Dean's List for the first semester.

Danny had a 3.37 average while Porter had a 3.31 average.

Frigid Zone From Cincinnati Cools Marquette To 68-58 Loss

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The climate has been almost perfect at the Milwaukee Arena for Marquette's Warriors during the last eight years, but a high-pressure zone blew in from the southeast Tuesday night.

The Cincinnati Bearcats cooled off the nation's 12th-ranked team with a frigid zone defense and carried away a distinguished 68-58 victory over the Warriors.

It was notable, of course, because hardly anyone beats Marquette at home.

"We played a zone because I think Marquette's much too quick for us, maybe the quickest in the country," Cincinnati

Coach Gale Catlett said after administering Marquette's fourth loss at the Milwaukee Arena since the 1967-68 season.

In other games, No. 9 LaSalle crushed West Chester 89-72 and No. 19 Rutgers walloped Delaware 110-93.

Cincinnati, sparked by light-scoring Garry Kamstra, opened a nine-point lead seven minutes into the second half and held on to upset Marquette.

The Bearcats, who trailed by nine points with four minutes left in the first half, outscored Marquette 15-4 at the start of the second half for a 49-40 lead. Kamstra, averaging 6.1 points a game, scored nine of the points in that burst and 12 in the second half, and finished with 16.

Successful baskets by Bo Ellis, Rick Campbell and Dave Delsman brought Marquette to within 55-54 with five minutes left. But Cincinnati's Mike Jones countered with successive baskets and teammate Mike Franklin made a layup after Kamstra stole a Marquette inbound pass, giving Cincinnati a 61-54 lead with 3:14 left.

Joe Bryant and Bill Taylor teamed for 34 points to lead LaSalle to an easy victory over West Chester. The Explorers, 15-1, who won their 10th straight game since suffering a one-point loss to Canisius, pulled away in the last nine minutes after the Golden Rams, 3-10, had crept to within 57-46.

Bryant led LaSalle with 19 points and 15 rebounds and Taylor added 15 points. Tim O'Brien was high for West Chester with 23.

The game was the opener of a doubleheader. Penn beat St. Joseph's, Pa., 79-70 in the second game as the Hawks lost their 12th straight game, a school record.

Phil Sellers scored 29 points to lead Rutgers over Delaware. The Scarlet Knights put the game away early in the second half behind their star player.

Elsewhere, Henry Horne and Greg Baldwin combined for 50 points to lead Lafayette past Columbia 90-72; Doug Brooks scored 30 points as Creighton upset Bradley 82-76; Rickey Medlock scored 16 points and Kent Allison collected 10 rebounds, leading Arkansas over Texas Tech 65-62; Don Floyd hit two clutch free throws with 30 seconds left to help Texas A&M beat Rice 64-61, and SMU scored eight

Grevey In Striking Distance Of Top Scorers In UK History

By BOB COOPER
AP Sports Writer

For a guy who plays basketball completely out of his head, 47 points in two games ain't bad.

Kevin Grevey, Kentucky's 6-foot-5 forward, did just that in the last two games, leading the Wildcats to victories over Mississippi and Alabama and putting Kentucky in a three-way tie for the lead in the Southeastern Conference.

"Once the tip-off comes you're in another world," Grevey said in an interview. "It's kinda like you're—it's hard to explain—in a glass jar or something. It's really a great feeling."

Grevey scored 27 points in Kentucky's win over Mississippi last Saturday, then added 20 points in the Wildcats' upset of seventh ranked Alabama Monday night.

Grevey, a senior from Hamilton, Ohio, is very soft spoken about his accomplishments. However, it's obvious he's proud of them.

"I can't explain it but I love it," he said.

"Some people put an upcoming game out of their minds, but I like to think about it—to get myself wound up for it," Grevey said. "On the road it's a lot easier because the number one thing is the game."

Even with an injured left foot, Grevey played the full 40 minutes against Alabama Monday night and in addition to his 20 points, pulled down 18 rebounds and had three assists.

Grevey has already won Southeastern Conference honors and is within striking distance of the top scorers in Kentucky basketball history.

Woman Claims She Supplied Drugs To NFL Players, Teams

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis police have withheld comment on a 40-page intra-department memorandum outlining a young woman's allegations that she participated in a ring supplying drugs to players in the National Football League.

A copy of the memorandum was obtained Tuesday by The Associated Press from radio station KMOX. The St. Louis station said it received its copy from a law enforcement official.

Police would only say that the 19-year-old woman "is confined" and declined to further discuss the case.

The report sent to top police officials said that Roxie Ann Rice told her activities while she was being questioned about her alleged use of a credit card stolen from defensive back Ken Houston of the Washington Redskins. Miss Rice was arrested Jan. 4 on fraud charges and was still in jail Tuesday night.

Among the NFL teams mentioned in the report were the Houston Oilers, St. Louis Cardinals, San Diego Chargers, Detroit Lions, Kansas City Chiefs, Cincinnati Bengals and the Redskins.

NFL Executive Director Jim Kencil said only that "there's nothing in what she has said that has been substantiated in any way."

A spokesman for the Cardinals said the team had informed the NFL security division of the report. He denied any knowledge of Miss Rice's activities.

Officials of the Chiefs and Chargers were unavailable for comment. Houston officials said they knew nothing of the allegations and therefore would have no comment, and a spokesman for the Lions said: "We have no comment. We have no idea what it's all about."

Joe Blair, a spokesman for the Redskins, said team officials "don't know anything about it." And he called the allegations "unbelievable, fantastic."

Mike Brown, assistant general manager of the Bengals, said, "This is the first I've heard of it. I wouldn't want to comment on it until I know more about it."

"Football's just like the rest of society," he said. "We've probably got some problems."

She said she was given false identification and was told to pretend she was a medical student from Ghana, learning about American culture in order to gain access to the players. Miss Rice said she was often introduced to players by a woman who seemed to be known to many.

Miss Rice told police the names of players, when she stayed with them, what kinds of cars they drove and where they lived, the report said.

The report also quoted Miss Rice as telling police that members of some teams told her they were buying drugs for too.

Miss Rice reportedly told officers that she transported briefcases to a number of NFL cities and was met by contacts whom she identified as NFL players. She said that inside the briefcases she found packets with names on them and, on one occasion, was given a bag in which she found marijuana, the report said.

their team. She said she was once asked if she could provide cocaine, but that she told a player she could offer her pills and marijuana.

Miller Says Pressure Is On Nicklaus Now

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — "The pressure is on him now," said Johnny Miller, looking forward to his head-to-head confrontation with Jack Nicklaus in this week's Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

"People are beginning to wonder now," Miller said. "They're beginning to ask, 'Hey, look at this Johnny Miller and what he's doing. Is Jack really that good?'"

"He hasn't played in quite a while. The pressure is on him." And Nicklaus, for a decade the dominant player in the game but a sideline spectator during Miller's amazing Arizona exploits, had but one reply: "I've risen to the occasion before."

Miller, who set some astonishing records in his second consecutive sweep of the two Arizona tournaments that opened the tour this year, and Nicklaus will have their first meeting of the season in this event that begins a 72-hole run Thursday over three courses on the spectacularly beautiful Monterey Peninsula.

"I've had a good rest," Nicklaus said. "And I've worked harder on my game than I have in a long time. I'm really anxious to start playing now."

Nicklaus was at his home in Florida, while Miller was splashing his gaudy arithmetic across the scoreboards of the Southwest.

He won the Phoenix Open with a 260 total, the lowest 72-hole score in 20 years of tournament competition. He shot an 11-under-par 61, within one stroke of the all-time tour record, in his victory at Tucson. He was 49-under-par for the two tournaments and won them by 14 and 9 stroke margins. His rounds this year have been 67, 61, 68, 64, 66, 69, 67 and 61.

"I've always had the potential," Miller said. "Look at the record. Look how many times I've shot those real low rounds. I've had a lot of them. But they've always been one a month. Now I seem to be shooting them every round."

While their duel garners most of the attention, the supporting cast of 166 other pros, each with an amateur partner, offers plenty of challenge.

Included are such $1 million winners as Tom Weiskopf, Billy Casper, Bruce Crampton and Gene Littler, along with such multiple winners from 1974 as Hubert Green, Bobby Nichols and Dave Stockton.

Kentucky Dairymen Will Hold Meeting At Louisville

Dairy farmers from throughout the state of Kentucky will meet in Louisville January 30 and 31 for the fourth annual Kentucky Dairymen's Conference. The conference, sponsored by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and the Kentucky dairy industry, will be held at the Holiday Inn on Brownsboro Road in Louisville.

The conference will get underway at 10:00 a.m. on Thursday, January 30. The first speaker will be R. W. Hemken, Professor of Animal Sciences at U. K., who will discuss feeding dairy cows with high-priced grain. He will be followed by Lewis Newman, Michigan State University veterinarian, who will talk about infectious diseases of dairy cattle.

The luncheon speaker will be

Clarence "Buckshot" Underwood, UK assistant football coach, who will talk about UK's football program.

The first speaker in the afternoon will be R. W. Everett, Associate Professor of Animal Science at Cornell University. Helping dairymen understand the new sire summaries will be his topic. Farm credit will be discussed by Earl Wilson, president of the Mammoth Cave Production Credit Association at Glasgow, Ky. John H. Nicolai, Jr., Extension dairy specialist at UK, will describe dry cow, clinical, and sub-clinical treatment of mastitis. Charlie Snapp, Cynthia, Ky., dairyman, will describe the Rapid Farm Adjustment Program as applied to his farm. How air and water pollution laws may affect the dairy industry will be discussed by Shelby Jett of the Department of Natural Resources at Frankfort.

On Friday, January 31, the program will begin at 9:00 a.m. J. Kenneth Evans, Extension forage specialist at UK, will talk about the place of big hay packages in a dairy feeding program. Robert Jacobson, Professor of Dairy Marketing at Ohio State University, will discuss the farmer's, processor's, and handler's share of the milk dollar. Everett will describe management decisions that affect profits. Evans Wright, UK Extension dairy specialist, will show what dairymen can do with records; and Jim Cavanaugh, executive secretary of the American Jersey Cattle Club, will discuss the impact of the registered cow on the dairy industry.

The luncheon speaker will be Richard Chichester, general manager of Select Sires, Inc. He will talk about the future of the dairy industry.

On Friday afternoon, the annual meeting of the Kentucky Purebred Dairy Cattle Assoc. will take place.

Dairymen interested in attending the conference can obtain additional information and pre-registration forms from their local County Extension Office.

Kentucky Travel Conference Set February 4-5

A program highlighted by professionals in the travel industry is set for the annual Kentucky Travel Conference, Feb. 4-5, in Lexington at the Hilton Inn.

O. T. Dorton, president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, will open the conference Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 4. Panel discussions will cover such segments of the travel industry as outdoor dramas, hotels and motels; campgrounds, boating and docking, public information, Bicentennial events, conventions and meetings, and travel legislation.

Panel members will include Bert Ballard, general manager of "The Stephen Foster Story"; Garner Hanson, president and general manager of National Park Concessions, Inc.; L. B. Harper, owner of Holiday Hills Camping Resort; Dr. Charles Peck, owner of Indian Hills-Lake Cumberland KOA Campgrounds; Bob Whitaker, commissioner of the Kentucky Department of Public Information; Mrs. Paul Westpheling, chairman, Kentucky Historical Events Celebration Commission; Walter Dunlevy, vice-president of the Northern Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, and William L. Sullivan, president pro tempore of the State Senate.

A reception will be held before the Tuesday evening banquet, with entertainment following the meal.

As chairman of the Kentucky Travel Council, Ballard will open Wednesday's morning session, followed by several featured speakers. Caleb Pirtle, travel editor for Southern Living Magazine, will discuss new trends in travel promotion.

Concluding the conference Wednesday will be the annual Travel Luncheon, with an address by Governor Julian Carroll.

HOUSEBOAT LIVING NOT ROMANTIC

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Life aboard a houseboat may seem romantic, but acute housing shortage rather than romance is the main reason thousands here have taken to the water.

Amsterdam boat dwellers in the past were retired sailors. Now, families and young people figure prominently in the city's floating population which has risen sharply since World War II.

The capital has approximately 2,500 houseboats moored along the river Amstel and on about 100 canals. An estimated 1,100 of these have not been registered with the city authorities and therefore exist illegally. However, because of the housing scarcity, there is rarely any move against the occupiers.

Shoplifting Tends To Increase As Unemployment Figures Grow

By Herb Brock
FRANKFORT, Ky. — As stagflation continues to gnaw at paychecks and as unemployment lines increase, more people apparently are being drawn to a fast-growing, multi-billion dollar "business" — shoplifting.

If predictions are correct, shoplifters rang up a record-high toll of $8 billion nationally in 1974, more than 40 per cent of which came during the Christmas season (Thanksgiving to Jan. 1, 1975).

Early reports from police departments around the state suggest that incidents of shoplifting may have doubled in 1974, with the shoplifters taking about $250,000 in merchandise during the recent holidays. By contrast, $100,000 was "lifted" a year ago.

For example, Jefferson County Police Chief Russell McDaniel recently said in a television interview that shoplifting cases reported to his department increased by 300 per cent in the last three months of the year. Lexington Metro police officials have estimated similar increases in shoplifting cases in Fayette County.

But, a recent case in Owensboro indicates that shoplifting not only is booming, it also is becoming more organized.

Last November, the Owensboro sheriff's office reported the arrest of 10 adults, accompanied by 16 children, at different department stores in the city. It was later disclosed that all taken into custody, including the children, were transients who were part of a shoplifting ring traveling the state.

"No doubt whatsoever in my mind that there's a strong relationship between the rise in shoplifting — and other crimes — and the growing number of unemployed persons trying to survive," Chief McDaniel said in a recent interview.

Untold millions of dollars have been invested in new and elaborate electronic gear by large department store chains over the past few years. But what about the small merchant who can ill afford security guards, snazzy alarms and cameras and must rely on home-made mirror systems?

The answer may be crime prevention teams, which are popping up across the state almost as fast as shoplifters. Most crime prevention teams consist of from one to a half dozen officers of the local police department. Their functions generally vary according to their size, but normally include the following:

- Helping local merchants develop their employees' ability to spot shoplifters, techniques to apprehend shoplifters and ways to display goods;
- Advising local police departments about ways to survey commercial businesses to determine which stores need greater security precautions;
- Informing private citizens that shoplifting hurts the consumer, since merchants have no other recourse than to figure in the cost of the stolen articles with the price of everything else.

"That (cost of stolen articles) can push the cost of other things upwards of 10 or 15 per cent," reported a spokesman for the Kentucky Crime Commission, which was awarded a number of federal-state grants for crime prevention teams.

"But the real problem is with employees," he added. "They're the ones who are 'ripping off' the stores, accounting for 50, sometimes 75 per cent of everything that's 'lifted' from department stores with large payrolls."

To detect employee pilfering, large department stores have invested millions of dollars in hiring the services of polygraph (lie detector) operators. Crime prevention teams also help store owners develop better inventory systems and encourage them to screen job applicants more closely.

A member of one crime prevention team said, however, that the danger in being overly cautious in small stores is that employers find it hard to impose harsh rules and regulations over one, or two or three-person staffs, for fear of creating "an air of distrust in a family setting."

Under a related program in Hopkinsville, Joe Maggart Jr., director of the law enforcement program at the community college there, is heading an anti-shoplifting effort which has produced "excellent results."

Maggart, who poses as a shoplifter to test the very precautions he's helped set up in certain stores, said shoplifters — of whom more than three-fourths are amateurs — will steal anything from a tube of toothpaste and candy bars to television sets and diamond rings if given the chance.

Maggart said he and his men have nabbed 76 "lifters" in one store alone during the first half of 1974. —Store managers, without the help of Maggart's team, caught only one person in all of 1973.

"There's really no typical shoplifter," he said. "It

Kentucky Above Average In 18-Year Old Signings

Frankfort — Kentucky is above the national average in the "signing-up" of its estimated eligible pool of males age 18 with selective service. This is the word of Colonel Taylor L. Davidson, State Director.

According to the selective service official, young men born in 1956 generally have responded in registering with

Social Security Earnings Limits Raised For 1975

People under 72 can work and earn more and still get their Social Security benefits starting in January, according to a spokesman for Social Security in Paducah. He gave the following information regarding the relationship between current earnings and benefit payments.

In 1975 people can earn as much as $2,520 and get their full Social Security Retirement or Survivors Benefit. Previously the yearly earnings limit was $2,400. The increase keeps the amount in line with increases in general average wages.

For earnings over $2,520 in 1975, Social Security benefits will be reduced by $1 for every $2 earned. But no matter how much people earn for the year, they can get their full Social Security benefit for any month in which they neither earn over $210 nor do substantial work in their own business. Previously the monthly earnings limit was $200.

Different rules apply to disabled people who are getting Social Security Disability Benefits. And people 72 and over will continue to get their full Social Security benefits regardless of earnings.

The $2,400 figure applies to the report of earnings for 1974 that people who get benefits must send to Social Security by April 15, 1975.

The Social Security contributions rate remains the same—5.85 percent of covered wages contributed by employees and employers; 7.9 percent of covered self-employment income.

The earnings and contributions base—the amount on which Social Security contributions are made—will be the first $14,100 of covered earnings for the year, starting in January. Previously the base was $13,200.

Social Security pays over $4.9 billion a month in retirement, disability, and survivors benefits to over 30 million people. The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

selective service. "This timely response and demonstration of good citizenship has enabled the state to be approximately 12 per cent above the national average," Colonel Davidson said.

"Our Washington Headquarters has projected that in the state through December there were 33,276 males born in the year 1956 who have the obligation to register with selective service. Approximately 91 percent of this estimated eligible pool have complied with the law," the State Director said.

He said "statewide there has been slight variations in registration input in the last quarter of calendar year 1974." The official attributed the minimal fluctuation to the fact that it has been more convenient for the young man to register within the 60 day period beginning 30 days before or 30 days after attaining age 18. This convenience was a result of the appointment of additional registrars including high school and college personnel, and use of a "mail-in" registration form.

Colonel Davidson stated his field personnel has intensified their registrar and school contacts to assure that every young man has been well informed of his obligation to comply with the Military Selective Service Act.

In the System's current "standby" status we are most grateful for the more than 800 public spirited citizens who now serve as volunteer registrars. Their civic mindedness has made it possible to provide a registration service in the 106 counties which do not have a full time local board office," the State Director said.

Colonel Davidson praised the media of public information, businesses, utilities and elected county officials for their support. "They too have made our task easier through providing publicity. We value this contribution and hope the good relationship will continue," the State Director said.

NUREYEV APPEARING WITH PAUL TAYLOR

NEW YORK (AP) — The Paul Taylor Dance Company will return to Broadway for the first time in three years — with Rudolf Nureyev making his American debut with a modern dance company.

Nureyev will appear for two performances only, on opening day, in "Aureole." The company's engagement at the Alvin Theater will run for one week.

Repertoire will include the local premiere of Taylor's "Sports and Follies" and "American Genesis," his full evening work which depicts the book of Genesis in terms of American history, with, for example, Noah and the Flood shown as a minstrel show on a Mississippi riverboat.

Hunt Reportedly Gave Info To CIA After Being Cut Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — Convicted Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt gave information to the CIA for nine months after the agency claims it severed relations with him, two sources report.

The sources said the disclosure was made by former White House aide Charles W. Colson, who reported Hunt delivered sealed envelopes and packages to Richard Ober.

Ober has been identified as the CIA counter-intelligence officer who directed a unit that monitored connections between domestic radicals and foreigners during the Nixon administration.

The New York Times reported allegations that Ober's unit conducted illegal, domestic surveillance, a charge that is being investigated by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

DEATH SCENE — Firemen carry bodies from night club in Montreal, Canada, after an early-morning fire. Thirteen bodies were found in a locked room when firemen came to the scene. Authorities speculate the slayings were underworld revenge.

Escaped Convict Suspected In Gangland-Style Nightclub Deaths

MONTREAL (AP) — Police investigating the mass murder of 13 people in a Montreal night club think an escaped convict named Richard Blass may have been involved. But apparently they have no concrete evidence pointing to him.

The police are trying to determine if there is any connection between the wholesale killing in the Gargantua Club Monday night and the mob-style killing of two men in the same club last October. They think the killer or killers Monday night might have been eliminating witnesses to the October slaying.

Two men entered the second-floor club over a cleaning shop last Oct. 30, fired 10 shots into Raymond Laurin, 30, and Roger Levesque, 28, and escaped. The police said they suspected Blass and Roger Roussel, who escaped a week earlier from a Montreal penitentiary and who the police said had been confederates of the two murdered men in 1969.

Roussel was recaptured about six weeks ago and is accused of another killing in another Montreal bar a week before. Blass is still at large.

The police made this reconstruction of the murders Monday night: The killer or killers shot the manager, Rejean Fortin, 43, in the head, and one of the customers, Pierre Lamarche, 29, in the stomach shortly before midnight. Then they herded the other 11 people in the club into a 6-by-8-foot beer storage closet along with Fortin's body and Lamarche, padlocked the door, barricaded it with a juke box and set fire to the building.

It took the fire department about three hours to put out the fire. Firemen said it appeared the fire was started near the door of the closet.

"We think they wanted to get rid of any witnesses," said Asst. Police Director Claude Desautels.

He said Fortin died of his wounds, but Lamarche and the others were asphyxiated by the fire.

The other victims included Fortin's wife, Claire, a go-go dancer at the club, 21-year-old Denise Lauze; another woman; and eight men. Most of them were believed to be innocent bystanders who happened to be in the bar at the time.

Automatic Thermostat Developed

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Two engineers from Lexington, Ed Mills and Mike Prewarski, report they're having trouble marketing an energy-saving device they developed.

The device, a "programmable thermostat," automatically turns home heat up and down as a homeowner wishes.

For example, a homeowner could set the device to turn the furnace down when residents are at work or away on vacation.

The two men say the device can be mass-produced to retail for $12 to $15 — if they find a manufacturer.

Mills said thermostat manufacturers want to examine the device without any obligation.

And, Mills said, when he approaches bankers about a $100,000 loan he feels would be needed to get the device on the market, they give him "smiles and lip service on the energy crisis."

The two have applied for a patent on the device and plan to continue efforts to put it on the market.

Tax Cut Table

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is a table showing the effect on a family of four if Congress passes President Ford's proposal for a permanent tax cut to begin with 1975 taxes.

Column A represents the family's adjusted gross income in dollars. Column B represents the family's tax under current law in dollars. Column C represents what the family's new tax would be in dollars. Column D represents the family's tax saving under the proposal in dollars. Column E represents what the family's per cent savings would be.

Liddy Goes Back To Prison

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — A stern-faced and silent G. Gordon Liddy today entered federal prison to begin serving the remainder of his Watergate burglary sentence.

Disregarding all questions, the mustachioed Liddy pushed through a crowd of reporters and walked 100 yards to a locked door where he stood rigidly until prison officials took him into custody.

Liddy has remained tight-lipped about his role in the June 1972 Watergate burglary and the plumbers operation. Considered the mastermind of the break-in, Liddy has served more time than anyone involved in Watergate and still faces the bulk of the stiffest sentence handed down in the case, 6½-to-20 years for conspiracy, burglary and wiretapping.

Last week the Supreme Court refused his bid to remain free on bail pending a final appeal of his conviction. Prison officials here said Liddy had served holding time at Danbury during the Watergate prosecution.

Warden John Norton said Liddy would be treated just like the other 710 inmates at Danbury. He said that following an orientation period Liddy would be assigned a job.

Deaths and Funerals

Foreman H. Graham, Former Murrayan, Local Businessman, Sid Noble, Dies

Dies At Hospital

Foreman H. Graham, prominent Murray businessman, died Tuesday at 9:50 p.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. He was 82 years of age.

Mr. Graham was a former partner in the men's clothing firm, Graham and Jackson, Foreman H. Graham Murray. He was a former president of the Murray Wholesale Grocery Company, Inc., a member of the Board of Directors of the Bank of Murray and the Ryan Milk Company, and founder and part owner of Murray Plaza Court.

The Murray man was a member of the First Christian Church. Born October 28, 1892, in Calloway County, he was the son of the late William Henry Graham and Ozier Utterback Graham.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Ola Johnson Graham, 1017 Sharpe Street, Murray; two nephews, Sonny Graham of Lewisburg and Jimmy Graham of Murray; one niece, Miss Wanda Jean Graham, Murray.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 2:30 p.m. at the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home with Dr. David C. Roos and Dr. James Fisher officiating. Burial will be in the Murray City Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after six p.m. today (Wednesday).

The family requests that in lieu of flowers that expressions of sympathy take the form of donations to the First Christian Church Memorial Fund or the Calloway County Heart Association.

Services Scheduled Thursday Morning For Cappie Beale

The funeral for Miss Cappie Beale will be held Thursday at ten a.m. at the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home with Rev. Richard Walker officiating and the music by Gus Robertson, Jr., soloist, and Richard Jones, organist.

Active pallbearers will be W. C. Elkins, Henry Holton, James Ruddy Albritten, Dr. James Hart, John Parker, and W. P. (Dub) Russell. Honorary pallbearers will be Gingles Wallis, J. B. Wilson, Vernon Hale, James M. Lassiter, Dr. John Quertermous, and Fred Schultz. Burial will be in the Murray City Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Miss Beale, 314 North Seventh Street, a retired school teacher, died Tuesday at 1:45 a.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. She was the daughter of the late A. B. Beale and Mary Jane Martin Beale.

The Murray woman was a member of the First Baptist Church, Murray Woman's Club, Rose and Garden Club, Magazine Club, and the local UDC and DAR Chapters.

Survivors include one sister, Mrs. J. I. Hosick, Murray; three nieces, Mrs. A. W. Russell, Mrs. Neva Waters, and Mrs. R. J. Chance; two nephews, Hayden Roberts and Clay Beale Morris; two great nieces, Mrs. Jim Harris and Miss Mary Keys Russell; three local cousins, Mrs. Jack Kennedy, Mrs. Joe Baker Littleton, and Jack Beale Kennedy.

Appeal Planned On Ruling On Broadform Deed

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ed Hancock said Tuesday an appeal is planned on a ruling that struck down a law requiring strip miners to get landowners' consent before mining.

Franklin Circuit Judge Henry Meigs ruled the 1974 law modifying the application of "broadform" deeds is unconstitutional. The deeds give owners of mineral rights virtually unlimited freedom to use the land surface in mining. They consistently have been upheld by state Court of Appeals rulings.

The General Assembly, however, passed a law last year requiring surface owners to give written consent before state surface mining permits would be issued.

It was that law, commonly known as House Bill 9, that Meigs voided Tuesday.

In striking down the law, Meigs cited previous Court of Appeals decisions and a section of the Kentucky Constitution prohibiting impairment of contracts.

Hancock said the case might go as far as the U. S. Supreme Court if Kentucky's Court of Appeals should uphold the law.

In the specific case on which Meigs ruled, No. 8 Limited of Clintwood, Va. applied to surface mine 13 acres in Knott County.

A permit was denied under the new law because the company hadn't submitted the landowners' written consent.

The Virginia firm filed suit to have the permit issued and the law struck down. Landowners Henry Hurt, J. R. Kelly, Mrs. Nancy Kelly and Floyd Whitaker intervened in the suit.

They were represented by the Lexington-based Appalachian Research and Defense Fund.

Wranglers Club To Meet On Thursday

The Wranglers Riding Club will have its regular monthly business meeting on Thursday, January 23, at seven p.m. at the Calloway County Court House.

New officers will be in charge and a new board of directors will be elected. Membership fees at three dollars per person may be paid at this meeting.

All old members are urged to attend this meeting and persons who are interested in becoming members of the Wranglers Riding Club are also invited to attend the business meeting, a club spokesman said.

Children Being Held As Hostages

LONDON, Ont. (AP) — Canadian police decided today "to play a waiting game" and not hand over $10,000 ransom to a gunman holding four children hostage in a farmhouse here.

A police spokesman said the gunman might pose an even greater danger if allowed to leave with the hostages he has held since Tuesday afternoon. The man has threatened to shoot the children.

A police announcement earlier today said the man would be allowed to leave the farmhouse with two unnamed hostages and a ransom.

A $10,000 ransom was delivered this morning to a command post about a mile from the farmhouse, but police said at the time negotiations were continuing on other demands by the gunman, an escaped convict identified as Donald Wayne Cline, 21.

The young hostages were Bob Fields, 12, his brothers, Donny, 11, and David, 4, and his sister, Kimmy, 7.

Their mother, Donna Fields, told newsmen she was watching television Tuesday afternoon when the man burst in and ordered her and the children upstairs.

She said two policemen searching the neighborhood came to the door and the gunman sent her down to "reach an understanding." Instead, the police hustled her away from the house as shots rang out.

Police surrounded the house. One policeman was grazed by a shot through a patrol car window.

A woman friend of the gunman was brought to the house in the evening and went inside to talk to him. There was no further news about her.

In the telephone conversation, the gunman claimed he had a rifle, a shotgun and at least two pistols.

John C. Winter

Winter To Present Concert Of Organ Music This Sunday

John C. Winter, professor of music at Murray State University, will present a recital of organ music in the Farrell Recital Hall of the Price Doyle Fine Arts Center at 3 p. m. Sunday, Jan. 26.

His program will feature compositions by Purcell, Stanley Bach, Franck, Ives, Vaughan Williams and Durufle played on the university's custom-built 35-rank Casavant pipe organ.

Winter, a member of the faculty since 1948, holds degrees from Louisiana State University and the University of Michigan. He has also studied at Juilliard in New York and Trinity College of Music in London.

During a summer improvement leave in 1971, Winter played and made recordings in north Germany of some of the famous pipe organs constructed by Art Schnitger almost 300 years ago.

Currently serving as assistant dean of the College of Creative Expression on the campus, Winter is past president of the Kentucky Music Teachers Association and past vice-president of the Southern Division of Music Teachers National Association. He also serves as concert chairman of the Civic Music Association in Murray.

The concert of organ music is open to the public at no admission charge.

At Great Lakes, Ill., awaiting further orders are Interior Communications Electrician PO 2.C. Charles R. Cooley, Clinton, reenlisting after a brief stay out of the U.S. Navy;

Boiler Technician PO 3.C. James D. Miller, Owensboro, reenlisting after a brief stay out of the Navy; and John W. Hibb, Water Valley, reenlisting after serving with another branch of the armed forces and going into aviation machinist's mate school.

Enlisting in the U.S. Navy's (cache) nine-month delayed entry program and scheduled to report to recruit training at later dates were Randall Wynn, Benton; William Weidner, Murray, and Phillip I. Yates, Paducah.

Presently in recruit training at Orlando, Fla., are Deborah Taylor, Paducah, enlisting with a school guarantee of radioman, and Gall Kemp, Murray, enlisting in the advanced electronics field.

Information about the U.S. Navy can be obtained from S. CPO George Fann or CPO Ken Jones in the Century Building, 17th and Broadway (phone: 443-6289), or in Murray, CPO Darie Root or CPO Jerry Wilkins at the Bel Air Shopping Center (phone 753-8439), or in Fulton, the "Red Caboose" (phone: 472-3100).

Almost 1,000,000 More File For Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly one million more Americans filed new claims for unemployment insurance during the first full week of 1975, the Labor Department said today, signaling a big jump in the nation's unemployment rate for January.

The department said 970,200 new claims were filed in the week ended Jan. 11. That is an increase of 289,000 over the previous week and the highest in any week since unemployment compensation was first paid in 1937 during the great depression.

The new claims were in addition to the 4,620,200 jobless persons who already were collecting unemployment checks for the week ended Jan. 4. That also was a record since the program went into effect 38 years ago.

That week the unemployment rate for the 65 million Americans covered by unemployment insurance rose from 6 per cent to 7.1 per cent, the highest rate since January 1961.

Races For House Committee Chairmanships In Final Lap

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the races for House committee chairmanships heat up, one candidate reports he has been threatened with loss of his subcommittee unless he drops his challenge to a veteran House chairman.

On the eve of today's voting, the No. 2 Democrat on the Administration Committee, Frank Thompson Jr. of New Jersey, announced his candidacy for chairman and accused incumbent Wayne L. Hays of Ohio of abusing his chairmanship.

Another heated race is a three-way contest for chairman of the Banking committee, which will handle many of the major economic proposals pending before Congress.

That pits the dean of the House, 81-year-old Wright Patman of Texas, against a Wisconsin liberal, Henry S. Reuss, and a moderate conservative, Robert G. Stephens Jr. of Georgia. Stephens' candidacy is thought likely to drain off some of Patman's support.

In addition, the 291-member Democratic caucus will consider the fate of Appropriations subcommittee chairmen.

At least four are considered in trouble: Jamie L. Whitten of Mississippi, who gave up his subcommittee's jurisdiction on consumer and environmental protection in an effort to save his chairmanship; Robert L. F. Sikes of Florida, who oversees spending for military construction; Joe L. Evins of Tennessee of the public works-atomic energy subcommittee, and Otto E. Passman of Louisiana of the foreign operations subcommittee.

At a news conference Tuesday, Thompson said a Hays supporter had threatened him with loss of his chairmanship of the subcommittee on accounts if he ran and lost against Hays. Thompson said the Hays supporter was a member of the housekeeping House Administration Committee but refused to name him. Thompson quoted him as saying, "You are in danger of losing your subcommittee on our committee if you run against Mr. Hays."

Hays denied he had initiated any such threat and said, "Nobody was authorized to say such a thing. Somebody might have gotten impetuous." He also denied that he would seek to remove Thompson as subcommittee chairman.

Thompson accused Hays of using the powers of his committee "as a personal vehicle — a power base — for himself."

In another development, F. Edward Hebert said he has given up his fight to keep the chairmanship of the House Armed Services Committee.

Hebert, a Louisiana Democrat rejected by the caucus last week, had threatened to carry his fight to remain chairman to the full house. However, Speaker Carl Albert said this would violate House rules.

42 Die In Fire In Manila Today

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — A raging fire swept a five-story building in a Manila suburb today, killing 42 persons and seriously injuring 79, authorities said. It was the worst fire in Philippine history.

Most of the victims were trapped when the blaze blocked emergency exits and they died in the flames or in jumping from the burning building, Fire Chief Benjamin Dela Paz said.

The fire occurred in the shoe-maker's suburb of Marikina, 15 miles from Manila.

Dela Paz said the fire, of undetermined origin, started on the ground floor and spread rapidly to the upper floors. He said a large number of laborers were working in a wig factory on the fourth floor.

The fire chief said the fire raged for nearly three hours and completely burned the building, which also housed a branch of the Philippine National Bank. There was no immediate estimate of property damage.

In his book, the History of Calvert County, Charles Stein Jr., claims Col. Henry Jowles was the first Southern gentleman to use mint in his julep.

"I was down in Calvert County in 1960 writing that book and I found out from some of the natives and from the exclusive South River Club, founded in 1700, that Calvert Counties lay claim to the mint julep," he said.

"They used to use brandy or corn whiskey at first for the drink, but nowadays they use rye whiskey and maybe a dash of peach brandy," he added.

There are several other versions of the origin of the drink. Some argue that the ancient Persians discovered it. Others say the Crusaders brought a recipe for a mixture of herbs and spirituous liquors back to Europe with them and the mint julep evolved from it.

Etymologists say the word "julep" is derived via Middle English and Middle French from the Persian word "gulab," a combination of the Persian words for rose and water.

According to Stein's book, Jowles was born in England, of the Banking committee, which will handle many of the major economic proposals pending before Congress.

That pits the dean of the House, 81-year-old Wright Patman of Texas, against a Wisconsin liberal, Henry S. Reuss, and a moderate conservative, Robert G. Stephens Jr. of Georgia. Stephens' candidacy is thought likely to drain off some of Patman's support.

Author Claims Mint Julep Originated In S. Maryland

BALTIMORE (AP)—Arguments over who invented the mint julep have generated almost as much heat as the famous drink has warmed off on long Southern afternoons.

A Baltimore lawyer and amateur historian has entered a claim for Calvert County in Southern Maryland to compete with the better established ones placed by Virginians and Kentuckians.

In his book, the History of Calvert County, Charles Stein Jr., claims Col. Henry Jowles was the first Southern gentleman to use mint in his julep.

"I was down in Calvert County in 1960 writing that book and I found out from some of the natives and from the exclusive South River Club, founded in 1700, that Calvert Counties lay claim to the mint julep," he said.

Cooking Up A Storm

Bachelor Living is a new course at Murray High School this year. There are twenty-two senior boys in the class taught by Mrs. Lucy Lilly. This unit of instruction is called Galloping Gourmet.

Mrs. Lilly helps Doug Spencer (left) and Steve Porter measure the ingredients for making homemade biscuits.

While Cliff Dibble kneads the dough Spencer and Porter start to roll their biscuits out.

ALL TOGETHER NOW: The boys are broken down into teams of four. Here they knead the dough, they are (left to right) Mike Outland, James Witherington, Craig Suiter, and Dan Foster.

Craig Suiter mixes the dough with his hands.

INSPECTION TIME Mrs. Lilly gives each group a grade on their cooking adventure. Each student also made their own apron.

Special Studies Are Planned By Dexter-Hardin

The first in a series of studies on "Understanding Human Behavior" will be held at the Dexter-Hardin United Methodist Church on Sunday, February 9, and Sunday, February 16, from 5:30 to seven p.m. with the pastor, Rev. John Churchwell, leading the discussion.

Lecturing and participating in these studies will be Dr. Hecht Lackey Ph.D. Coordinator for the Murray-Calloway County Comprehensive Center; Dr. Paul W. Schaper M.D., Benton, physician and surgeon; Dr. David C. Roos, minister of Murray First Christian Church; Dr. Bailey Binford M.D., general practice and psychiatry; Rev. J. Donald Brock, United Methodist Minister and Director of Alcohol and Drug Services for Murray-Calloway County Comprehensive Care Center; Mrs. Rebecca Adkins, psychiatric nurse with the Calloway County Mental Health Center.

These services are being offered free to the public, said Rev. Churchwell, who invites the public to attend and especially church leaders and pastors. Nursery services will be provided.

Carroll To Speak At Annual Press Association Meeting

Gov. Julian Carroll will deliver his first "state-of-the-commonwealth" address Friday when he appears at the 106th annual mid-winter convention of the Kentucky Press Association at the Galt House in Louisville.

Governor Carroll will speak at a luncheon session before more than 200 Kentucky newspaper publishers, staff members and guests.

He will be following a precedent set by Kentucky chief executives some years ago which calls for the governor's annual address to be delivered at the KPA convention in the years in which the General Assembly is not in session.

Mr. Carroll, who was elected as lieutenant governor in 1971, moved into the governor's post December 28 after Wendell Ford resigned to fill the U. S. Senate seat to which he was elected last November.

Also scheduled to address the newspaper group at their convention which opens with a reception Thursday night and runs through noon Saturday is William B. Arthur, a former Kentucky newsman and former editor of Look magazine, who now serves as executive director of the National News Council.

Arthur, a graduate of the University of Kentucky, has received a number of honors from his alma mater, including an honorary Doctor of Laws degree given in 1967.

The convention program Friday will deal with newspaper production during the current economic crisis and the outlook for the future of the industry.

Panelists will include a number of outstanding Kentucky newspapermen as well as news and advertising people from outside the state, such as William Mullen, general counsel for the National Newspaper Association; Charles Morgret, public relations manager for the Southern Railway System, and John Colburn, vice president for corporate development, Landmark Communications, Inc., Norfolk, Va.

Saturday morning will be devoted to the annual business session of the Kentucky Press Association. This will include election of new officers.

Current officers are W. E. Crutcher, Morehead News, president; Albert P. Smith Jr., Logan Leader and News-Democrat, Russellville, vice president, and Robert C. Carter, Kentucky New Era, Hopkinsville, chairman of the executive committee.

ORDER BARES INDIGNATION

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — An order by Australian authorities that women members of the National Ballet of Senegal cover up bare breasts during a recent show in Sydney has sparked indignation in the West African nation.

Senegal's leading newspaper, Le Soleil, said the Sydney city council showed disrespect for tradition by ordering "to put bras on girls which they would never have thought of wearing during a village dance."

Public Service Jobs Are Funded

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Soaring prices, spiraling unemployment rates and the state of the nation's economy cast gloom on many New Year's celebrations in Kentucky.

"As the new year gets underway, relief will come from two major bills passed by Congress and signed by President Ford on Jan. 2," says Commissioner Norman Willard of the Department for Human Resources' (DHR) Bureau for Manpower Services.

One is the Emergency Unemployment Compensation Act, which extends the coverage period of unemployment benefits—for those already covered. Its companion is the Emergency Jobs and Unemployment Assistance Act, which will create temporary insurance for employees not covered by jobless benefits and will authorize 100,000 public service jobs across the nation.

Commissioner Willard, after meeting with Gov. Julian Carroll, outlined how much these public service jobs can help Kentucky.

SHEDS SOME LIGHT ON CAR ACCIDENTS

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP) — A study by the Nassau County Department of Public Works indicates that traffic lights are no guarantee against accidents.

Comparing accident rates at 28 intersections before and after installation of traffic lights, the researchers discovered there had been 154 accidents in a two to three year period before, and 157 after. Injuries increased from 83 to 95 and fatalities dropped from three to two.

The state, which will administer funds and projects for 89 counties (large metropolitan counties and the eastern area are funded separately), will have approximately $4 million to create public service jobs. Dr. Willard has estimated that this will mean some 1,000 jobs distributed throughout Kentucky in proportion to the unemployment rate.

People will be employed on capital improvement projects such as parks, playgrounds and general environmental improvement. "Projects like these will not only supply jobs, but will contribute to the community and have lasting value," said Dr. Willard.

There is one exception to the "capital improvement project" effort. Dr. Willard noted that Kentucky is short-handed in the Food Stamp Program. "We are using some of these new funds to hire people to assist in taking food stamp applications in an effort to facilitate that program," he said.

Until persons have exhausted Unemployment Insurance benefits, they will not be eligible for public service employment. Therefore, all the funds allotted to increase employment will go further and aid more people.

Commissioner Willard feels that Kentucky has reason to be optimistic. "Our unemployment rate has been running about one per cent back of the national average and local officials across the state have promised their cooperation in getting public service employment projects started."

FARM CENSUS TIME AGAIN—Farmers and ranchers throughout the United States are being asked to report on their agricultural operations during 1974. The 1974 Census of Agriculture is the 20th nationwide farm census since the first one in 1840. Report forms are mailed out in January and the Bureau of the Census would like to have them filled out and mailed back promptly. All information is confidential by law. The results, published only in statistical form, provide the yardstick by which American agricultural advancement is measured every five years. No information can be released which might reveal the operation of an individual farmer or rancher.

For Residents No Natural Gas Shortage, But Prices May Go Up Under Measure

By The Associated Press
Americans who heat their homes with natural gas won't have to worry about a shortage of fuel this winter, but they will have to cope with rising prices that could go even higher if President Ford's energy proposals are adopted.

An Associated Press survey showed that utilities report an adequate supply of gas to serve residential customers. Shortages may cause problems, however, for so-called interruptible users — businesses and industries whose contracts include provisions for supply reductions in times of need.

The American Gas Association estimates that two-thirds of all Americans heat their homes with natural gas. The average heating bill for 1973, the latest year for which figures are available, was $155, the association said.

In a December ruling, the Federal Power Commission authorized natural gas producers to charge up to 50 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for gas sold to interstate pipelines from wells that began operation after Jan. 1, 1973. Ford, in his State of the Union message, proposed an excise tax of 37 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas and removal of federal regulation of interstate gas prices.

Ford also has urged steps to increase the price of both imported and domestic crude oil, a move that administration spokesmen say would boost the cost of gasoline and other petroleum fuels by about 10 cents a gallon.

Americans apparently are managing to pay their heating bills, however. With only a few exceptions, natural gas companies and heating oil distributors reported no increase in service cutoffs because of nonpayment of bills.

Local gas associations say prices to consumers already are up anywhere from 10 to 25

Taxation, Certificate Of Title Law Subjects Of Frankfort Hearings

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Public hearings on taxation of motor vehicles and a motor vehicle certificate of title law for Kentucky will be held Jan. 27 and 28 in the Capitol Plaza Tower Auditorium in Frankfort.

Although guests may testify both days on either subject, the hearing on the 27th will focus on certificate of title laws, while the following day will be devoted mainly to taxation.

The hearings will begin at 10 a. m. both days.

Invitations have been sent to representatives of banking institutions, county court clerks, consumer groups, automobile dealers, the Kentucky Department of Transportation, the Kentucky Department of Revenue and the state police.

Persons wishing to testify are requested to submit a statement outlining their position to Edith Schwab of the Legislative Research Commission (LRC) staff by Jan. 13.

Representative Steven L. Beshear, D-Lexington, heads the three-member subcommittee appointed by the LRC to study certificate of title.

House Resolution 120 of the 1974 session of the General Assembly directed LRC to study title systems in other states to determine which would be best for Kentucky.

The subcommittee expects to draft title legislation for the 1976 session.

Kentucky is the only state which doesn't have a title law.

Two bills to establish title systems died during the last session. House Bill 793, modeled after the Alabama law, would have created a central office for recording titles in Frankfort.

Under House Bill 818, modeled after Ohio's law, titles would have been issued and recorded by county clerks in the same manner as present motor vehicle registrations.

Title law advocates contend such a system makes it easier for a state to trace stolen vehicles. They also feel titles are harder to forge than registration certificates.

The LRC expanded the scope of HR 120 to include an examination of variances in the application of Kentucky's usage tax on new and used car sales.

On new car sales, the tax is applied to the full sticker price regardless of any trade-in allowance. On used car purchases, the trade-in allowance is subtracted before the tax is computed.

Other subcommittee members include Representative W. Edward Whitfield, D-Hopkinsville, and Senator Doug Moseley, R-Columbia.

25-Cent Pinball Machines Ruled Illegal By Office

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — All pinball machines which cost more than 10 cents to play are illegal in Kentucky, the attorney general's office says.

Asst. Atty. Gen. W. Patrick Stallard said in an opinion released today the General Assembly had two chances, in enacting the new penal code in 1972 and 1974 to raise the 5-to-10 cent limit. But it did not do so and thus any amusement-type machine using pinballs and requiring 25 cents to play are prohibited by the state ban on gambling machines, he added.

The machines in question give players one or two games or plays, and, if they did not cost more than 5 or 10 cents to play, would fall within the statutory exemption from the anti-gambling law, he said.

But the "shooting gallery" type machines which cost 25 cents to play do not use pinballs and so are legal, Stallard said.

The opinion was requested by Kenneth S. Handmaker, a Louisville attorney.

Stallard noted the Kentucky legislature originally took the position all pinball machines were gambling devices. In 1950, it excepted all "free-play" pinball machines but then in 1966 it moved back to excepting only "free play" machines that met certain requirements, including the 5-to-10 cent limit.

"It is our opinion that the legislature has never intended for there to be any doubt as to which pinball machines are gambling devices and which ones are not," Stallard asserted.

"All the excepting specifications of (state law) must be met," he added. "Otherwise, the pinball machine in question is a gambling device."

"Regardless of the present general economic conditions which you mentioned, the statute's requirements are quite specific and your 25-cent pinball machine does not satisfy all of them," he said. "The 25-cent pinball machine you described, therefore, is a gambling device."

"We are fully aware that the arguments supporting the legality of 'shooting gallery' type amusement machines will undoubtedly be made at some point in time in support of 25-cent and other pinball machines," he said. "However, the legislature has spoken and it is indisputable that the legislature has absolute control under its policy powers to regulate in this area as it sees fit."

Stallard noted, however, that shooting gallery type machines would be illegal if they were actually used for gambling.

Attempt To Ban Firecrackers By July Fourth Fails Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — An attempt by a government safety panel to ban firecrackers and bottle rockets before this Fourth of July has gone up in smoke.

The U.S. Product Safety Commission says time has run out on its efforts to seek such a ban. The lengthy appeals process required by law and triggered by objections from Asian fireworks manufacturers means that any commission ban this year would be too late to defuse fireworks that have entered interstate commerce.

"It is unlikely that any regulation would have that much effect" before the 1975 Independence Day celebration, Chairman Richard O. Simpson told newsmen Monday.

Last May the commission voted 4 to 1, with Simpson dissenting, to ban firecrackers of all sizes and bottle rockets and to impose new safety standards for all types of fireworks. The regulation was to take effect in mid-June 1974.

Bottle rockets are firecracker-sized devices attached to a slender stick. Inserted into a bottle and lit, they shoot into the air and explode.

The commission estimated that 6,600 persons were treated in hospital emergency rooms for fireworks-related injuries in 1973.

Big firecrackers such as cherry bombs, M-80s and silver salutes have been illegal since 1967 except to scare birds from crop fields.

Complaining that the proposed federal crackdown would stick them with $50-million worth of fireworks, manufacturers and traders from Taiwan, Macao, Hong Kong and Oklahoma requested a public hearing.

The commission reluctantly consented, delaying any rules for the 1974 holiday.

Cop Fired Because He Was Too Nice

CAPITOLA, Calif. (AP) — "I guess I was too friendly," says Henry Murren, who was kicked off the 12-man Capitola police force because he was too nice to be a cop.

"That's true," said City Manager Max Kludt, who fired Murren from his $900 a month job. "He'd make a helluva public relations man, and if we could have absorbed him here we would have."

Murren, 36, says he isn't mad at anybody, but he is a trifle bemused and frustrated over his misadventure as a townie officer of the law in this quiet Monterey beach town of 7,300 year-round residents.

"I wanted people to know I was there, available if they needed me," he said in an interview. "I wanted them to like the police, not fear them."

After he joined the force last March, Murren smiled and waved at folks, called them by their first name, went out of his way to give directions and helped fix flat tires.

Instead of arresting weaving motorists, he took them home. He wouldn't write marginal traffic or parking tickets.

In return, hundreds of letters poured into the city, praising Murren. But city officials were not amused by Murren's record of nearly no arrests. Last October, they told him he was through. Hundreds of citizens protested, to no avail.

"All they said is that I was a danger to myself and others because my attitude of being too friendly made me less effective as a police officer," said Murren, who is still looking for another job.

"Maybe I wasn't strict enough.... I didn't enjoy locking people up."

Kludt agreed that Murren simply wasn't tough enough.

The city manager said the nice constable of yesteryear presented a fine model of police behavior for that period, but he added: "I grew up in that era. It worked then, but it won't work in today's society."

Junk Car Clean-Up May Become Tradition

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Pads may come and go, but the Kentucky junk car clean-up has a lasting popularity.

"The enthusiasm of the people in the counties is great," said E. T. Reed, director of the division of special programs of the Kentucky Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

"Everywhere we've been the local citizens have expressed a lively interest."

About 10,750 junk cars have been removed in 12 counties since the clean-up program began last April, said Reed.

"One of the most active sponsoring groups we've had is the local school bands and their booster clubs," he added.

In Ohio County, the high school band and boosters recently completed a clean-up that removed 850 junk cars.

"For each car, a metal producing company paid $15, producing $12,000 that will be used to finance purchase of uniforms, instruments, band equipment and trips," Reed noted.

According to Reed, the widespread appeal of the junk car clean-up is evidenced by the growing number of incoming requests and calls adding to the waiting list. "Not only the financial benefits," said Reed,

"but also the clean-up concept make the program popular."

This program is part of the department's Commonwealth Clean-up Campaign, whose aim is to rid the state of trash and about 400,000 junk cars.

The sponsoring agency, explained Reed, which receives the money from the metal processors, has to be an organization that can benefit from the money. Such sponsors could be school bands, Jaycees, FFA clubs, chambers of commerce, and most any civic organization.

The program works with one county at a time. In Hart County, where the Jaycees sponsored the clean-up, the department worked in cooperation with county judge, other county officials, and the forestry service. Grayson County's high school bands assisted the state with the junk car removal. In Harlan County, where the sponsor was the Elizabethtown Chamber of Commerce, more than 600 cars were removed. Local government officials, concerned citizens, and personnel of the state divisions of forestry and highways also joined the effort.

The financial benefits vary. "Although the sponsor in Adair County received as much as $20 per car when the price of metal skyrocketed," said Reed, "the groups in some counties collected about $5 for each car. On the average a metal processor pays about $10-15 per junk car. The sponsor in Harlan County, which got rid of 6,000 abandoned cars, advertised and got bids." To begin junk car removal, the state must have the cooperation of county officials in addition to a sponsoring group in each county, Reed said.

The sponsoring agency must provide supervisory personnel who must be able to locate the cars to be removed, acquire a place to temporarily store the cars between removal and processing, and obtain releases of liability of the cars.

The Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection provides state manpower and equipment to remove the junk cars. "We help organize, and advise the local sponsor on what to do and how to secure releases. Later we pick up the abandoned cars and take them to a centrally located storage place. We also furnish the sponsoring agency with a list of metal crushers and processors."

Following a breakdown in negotiations between oil companies and the Libyan government, all foreign oil companies operating in the country were nationalized on Sept. 1, 1975.

FOR THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1975

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Start the day with verve and at a steady pace. Investigate the validity of new offerings. Caution in financial matters advised.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21) You will now be in competition with top-flight people and their activities. You can hold your own, advance some. Good ideas and eloquent speech will help.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21) You may have an unusual opportunity to advance your interests immediately—one which could have an important bearing on your future as well. Be ready to accept.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23) This is not time for dwelling on old errors, except to recognize that they must not be repeated. On with your present program—especially if it's been built on a solid basis.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23) Do not lower your dignity by using strong-arm or other forceful measures to achieve success. You will accomplish more through tact and graciousness.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) New offerings may attract you, but do not give up old projects of value. In those fields in which you are trained and for which you have a liking you may well speed ahead now.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Ride along with propitious influences! Acquaint yourself with new trends and take measures as occasion demands.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) With your innate enthusiasm and competence, you should be able to reap a fine harvest. Some good opportunities for advancing your interests in the offing.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) You always enjoy a challenge, and you may meet some interesting ones now. Tackle with vigor, but don't undertake enterprises you would not usually consider.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Fine gains for like efforts. However, be on the lookout for "gimmicks" that could trip you, persons who would undermine your self-confidence by belittling your efforts.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Auspicious aspects favor partnerships, promise cooperation in putting over new deals and projects. Don't procrastinate.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A splendid configuration of your planets encourages your fine talents and know-how. This is a day in which to give your finest performance, to stress good management.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a fine mind and a willingness to work hard in order to achieve your most ambitious goals. You have remarkable endurance but frequently lose this "staying power" if you lose interest in a project upon which you are working, or if you feel that your efforts are not sufficiently appreciated. Try to maintain the enthusiasm with which you usually start new undertakings, and inestimable success can be yours. Aquarians make excellent managers, journalists, artists, designers and decorators.

Unemployment Assistance Available

FRANKFORT, Ky.—During the first week of operation, 870 Kentuckians applied for unemployment insurance benefits under the new Special Unemployment Assistance (SUA) program.

The program, signed into law by President Ford on Dec. 31, 1974, became available to Kentuckians on Jan. 7. State and local government employees and farm and domestic workers are in the major categories which are, through SUA, eligible for unemployment insurance benefits. Previously, these workers were not eligible.

It is expected that some 12,000 to 15,000 Kentuckians will file claims for benefits under the new program.

Kentuckians who are receiving unemployment benefits under the regular program received a record high of $3,477,084 in benefits last week, according to statistics from the Bureau for Social Insurance, Department for Human Resources (DHR). By comparison, during the entire month of December, 1974, benefits totalled $7,715,963. During December of 1973, benefits were $3,069,514.

During the first week of January, 1975, individuals claimed 35,573 weeks of unemployment insurance. During the corresponding week of 1974, they claimed 21,332 weeks.

"It is disturbing that so many Kentuckians have lost their jobs," said Governor Carroll. "What is more disturbing, however, is that many Kentuckians who have lost their jobs are trying to live off their savings while searching for other employment rather than filing for unemployment insurance," he said.

"Unemployment insurance is an earned fringe benefit provided by employers for workers, much like social security. It is not a handout," said Carroll.

The new SUA program, plus the existing program, now makes every unemployed Kentuckian except the self-employed eligible for benefits. Application should be made at the Bureau for Manpower Services, DHR offices.

The Army Green

"Bayonet Division" Reactivated

By SFC JERRY WORK

Army Secretary Howard H. Calloway received a 19-gun salute and delivered the principal address at the unfurling of the division colors at Fort Ord, California ceremonies reactivating the 7th Infantry Division, the Army's "Bayonet Division" of World Wars I and II fame. Calloway is a former member of the division.

The division, also known as the "The Hour-Glass Division" after its unique shoulder-patch symbol, was first activated in January 1918 and was last deactivated in Korea in 1971.

Activation of the division's major line units - the battalions of the 17th, 31st and 32nd Infantry and the 8th Artillery - is scheduled for next spring and summer.

Two additional combat brigades, one each at Fort Polk, La., and Fort Stewart, Ga., have been activated this year.

By mid-1975, the 7th Infantry Division will have 5,600 soldiers manning four infantry battalions, a signal platoon, and division base consisting of medical, maintenance, supply and transportation components, in addition to adjutant general, finance, military police and band elements.

Soldiers who will make up the new combat forces will be recruited under the Army's Unit of Choice Program. According to Sergeant Jerry Work, Army Representative at the Mayfield Shopping Plaza.

An Early Bicentennial With the arrival of the new year, we are reminded of how imminent the nation's bicentennial is. In less than 12 months, we, the people, will mark 200 years of freedom unsurpassed in the history of the world.

But our anticipation of 1976

should not cause us to overlook 1975. For this year is also significant in our national history.

In fact, we'll celebrate this year the 200 anniversary of an act that was perhaps even more significant than the formal signing of the Declaration of Independence. It was in 1775 that the American people, in meaningful numbers, showed that they were ready to pay the price of freedom. On June 14 of that year, the Continental Congress established the American Army and the people joined.

If the events of June, 1775, did not take place, it's unlikely that the events of July 1776, could have occurred. For those first volunteers told the would-be nation's leaders that Americans were willing to pay the price for freedom.

Let us look with expectation to our 200th birthday. But let us also be mindful of other proud phases in our country's history. We can only fully appreciate our freedom when we understand how much others paid to win it for us.

Army In Europe For most of us, life doesn't really offer too much variety. Few of us ever get far away from home. But you can break out. You can change your lifestyle. The U. S. Army will show you the way. You can sign up for a European tour right now. You can pick the job that you want and work in Europe. For more information contact Sergeant First Class Jerry Work, Army Representative, Mayfield Shopping Plaza, Mayfield, Ky. at 247-4525 (Call Collect).

Parkway Toll Receipts Up

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Toll receipts on Kentucky's parkway system totaled $1,752,278 for the month of December, according to statistics released by the Department of Transportation.

That figure represents an increase of $329,588 over the same period last year, when parkways and toll facilities earned $1,422,690.

Receipts for November, 1974, were $1,633,193.

The following figures represent cash received by each toll facility and a comparison with receipts for the same month last year:

Shawneetown Bridge, $30,281 for December, 1974, up from $22,353 for December, 1973; Kentucky Turnpike, $617,301, up from $566,212; Mountain Parkway, $147,511, up from $100,925; Mountain Parkway Extension, $56,785, up from $38,488; Western Kentucky Parkway, $243,107, up from $201,968; Western Kentucky Parkway Extension, $13,168, up from $11,859; Blue Grass Parkway, $159,671, up from $135,221; Jackson Purchase Parkway, $38,102, up from $32,056; Penyrile Parkway, $138,453, up from $118,346; Sebree Bridge, $4,043, up from $2,896; Audubon Parkway, $43,085, up from $33,456; Daniel Boone Parkway, $57,778, up from $17,994; Green River Parkway, $130,597, up from $100,916; Cumberland Parkway, $72,395, up from $38,001.

Environmental Grant Of $10,000 Approved

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The Environmental Quality Commission has approved a grant of $10,000 which will finance an environmental education project to be carried out in cooperation with the state Department of Education.

The goal of the project, according to Environmental Quality Commission chairperson Jackie Swigart of Louisville, is to "develop an environmental ethic in the young people of Kentucky."

Flight Instructor Refresher Course Has Been Scheduled

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The Kentucky Department of Transportation's Division of Aeronautics and the Louisville branch of the Federal Aviation Administration are co-sponsoring a Flight Instructor Refresher Course to be held on Feb. 4-6.

The course, hosted by the Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association Air Safety Foundation, will be conducted at the Ramada Inn in Louisville starting at 8 a. m.

The course, which costs $35, will include 24 hours of concentrated lectures and discussion designed to update the flight instructor and to better prepare the flight instructor applicant for the FAA oral and flight test.

Some of the topics to be covered during the three day course include engine operation, the National Airspace System, medical factors, flight maneuvers and night flight.

For complete information, write to the Kentucky Division of Aeronautics, 421 Ann St., Frankfort, Ky. 40601 or telephone (502) 564-4480.

Pesticide Recalled By Federal Agency

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The federal Environmental Protection Agency is recalling some of the pesticide, Aldrin 20G Granules Insecticide, which may have been distributed in Kentucky.

The recalled products, which were manufactured after Aug. 5 by the Landia Chemical Company for Shell Chemical Company, are coded 425808, 424313, 424311, 424312, 425807 and 425822.

According to Fred Waters, chief of the pesticides section of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, the federal agency has suspended the pesticide because it is suspected of containing cancer producing chemicals. The recalled products were manufactured after EPA issued the suspension notice. According to Waters, Aldrin 20G Granules Insecticide has been used widely on many crops for years, particularly on corn.

Anyone who has the recalled product should return it to the place of purchase. The retail distributor should forward any returned Aldrin 20G Granules Insecticide which carries the recalled code to the manufacturer—Shell Chemical Company, Agricultural Division, San Ramon, California, 94583.

Anyone with questions about the recall should write Fred Waters, Pesticides Section, Division of Special Programs, Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Ky. 40601; or call (502) 564-7274.

will be set up to make information on environmental education available to public, private and parochial schools throughout the state.

Bill Blankenship, environmental education consultant for the Department of Education, explained that each school superintendent would be encouraged to appoint an environmental education coordinator for his or her district.

The first phase of the project will consist of a series of six workshops at which the coordinators will be trained to administer and evaluate environmental education programs and materials. A director listing all coordinators and agencies concerned with the environment will be distributed statewide, Blankenship said.

The idea of a network of environmental coordinators in Kentucky originated with the Environmental Education Advisory Council, a group appointed to advise the Department of Education on its environmental program.

"There are many fine environmental education programs in Kentucky," said Jerry Howell of Morehead, vice-chairperson of the advisory council. "The problem is that these programs are local and fragmented. The cooperative agreement between the Department of Education and the Environmental Quality Commission should do much to change this situation."

Goodell Urges Draft Dodgers To Apply For Amnesty Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential Clemency Board Chairman Charles E. Goodell today urged thousands of draft dodgers and deserters to sign up for the amnesty program before it expires in 10 days.

"We have over 100,000 out there ... eligible for the Clemency Board program," Goodell said. "And I don't think most of them know it."

As members of the board headed for cities across the nation to spread the warning that President Ford's program is about to come to an end, Goodell made the plea during an interview on the CBS "Morning News" program.

But Henry Schwartzchild, a lawyer for the American Civil Liberties Union who appeared in the joint interview with Goodell, described the amnesty plan as demeaning.

"It's the only game in town, but not an acceptable game," Schwartzchild said.

He said the best method would be unconditional amnesty for all.

Goodell said Monday that he is convinced that the reason more draft dodgers and deserters haven't signed up for the program is that they haven't gotten the word they are eligible. He said this theory has been proven by the "tremendous upsurge" in applications since he launched a nationwide radio-TV campaign Jan. 6.

Mining Fatalities Reach An All-Time Low During Last Year

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A record low number of 20 persons lost their lives in Kentucky mines during 1974. The steadily declining figure is down from 28 fatalities in 1973 and 29 during 1972.

"We are pleased that this is our best year in history," says H. N. Kirkpatrick, commissioner, Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, "but I couldn't be completely satisfied unless that figure was zero."

The record also includes the fewest annual underground mining fatalities ever recorded. Since 1890, when official records were first kept, 1904 had the year with the lowest underground fatalities.

Kirkpatrick pointed out that "the present figure is quite meaningful because in 1904 there were far fewer mines and much less tonnage produced."

Although official figures have not been released, Kirkpatrick estimates that Kentucky's 2,684 mines produced nearly 130 million tons of coal in 1974, surpassing the record-setting 127 million in 1973. In 1904 only eight million tons were produced by 202 mines.

"Training and education programs implemented in 1971 are contributing to the steady decline in mine deaths," explained Kirkpatrick, "and in 1975 we hope to expand and refine these programs."

Kirkpatrick declined to predict another record breaking year for 1975 because "the possibility of an accident involving a number of workers always exists."

The heaviest horse ever recorded was "Brooklyn Supreme," a pure-bred Belgian stallion weighing 3,200 pounds and standing 19½ hands (6 feet 6 inches).

Checkout Clerk Requires Much Skill And Patience

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — In these days of skyrocketing prices and outraged consumers, Maria Morabito's job as a supermarket checkout clerk provides her with a consummate test of skill and patience.

Like thousands of cash register clerks across the country, 18-year-old Maria must stand for two-hour stretches without a break during her eight-hour shift. During this time, her eyes are glued to the passing parade of groceries and her hands are working in different directions — one sorting the items and the other punching the cash register keyboard.

If she goes too slow, the grocery carts begin to stack up. If she goes too fast, she may make a mistake.

"Many customers have started coming in with hand calculators," she said. "They're ready and waiting when I come up with a total ... some will argue for an hour over two cents."

Maria acknowledged that she is barraged with price complaints, but said she doesn't mind them too much.

"I sort of like it when they come in with their calculators," she said. "It's a challenge and I'm hardly ever wrong ... it gets hectic but it can be fun at times."

An employe of one of Huntington's Tradewell markets, Maria has been behind a register only since last summer. But Dora McLaughlin has been ringing up totals for 32 years.

"I check out an average of about 200 customers a day," said Miss McLaughlin, who works at an A&P store in Charleston. "I probably get complaints from about 150 of them."

She said the recent price rises have brought the worst rash of customer complaints in memory.

Austin Kuhn, vice president of the West Virginia Retail Grocers Association and the owner-operator of Austin's grocery at Morgantown, says price complaints have become a way of life with cash register operators.

"It's simple," he said. "They take most of the heat because they are at the end of the line, where the cash is being forced over."

However Kuhn said, few clerks quit because of the complaints.

"It's the robberies that makes them quit," he said. "A store'll usually lose one or two after a holdup."

But our anticipation of 1976

Homemaker Services Important To Elderly

Permit Required For Any Structure Over 200 Feet

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A large percentage sees the need for home-delivered meals as more urgent than expansion of community center food programs, while 33 per cent listed home health care as a much needed program.

A number of the respondents were concerned with increasing the number of participating physicians and expanding coverage of Medicaid; expanded information and referral services; increased awareness of elderly needs by existing agencies; additional senior centers; more employment opportunities and assistance in filing for the Homestead exemption.

Some 22 per cent were concerned with economic issues such as lowering costs to older people through discounts or expanded services, or increasing income through guaranteed income or supplemental payments. A number stressed severe problems of isolation and deprivation in rural areas.

Interestingly, 20 per cent of the respondents could not limit themselves to five priority items. Those who did, often commented on the extreme importance of trying to make progress in all areas, which they regard as equally critical.

The 11-member institute will use the information gained from the circulation of the questionnaire to help them determine areas in which they should direct their efforts to fulfill the needs of the elderly.

The results show that nearly 86 per cent gave top priority to homemaker services to help people remain in their own homes; 42 per cent listed residential facilities, such as personal care, intermediate care and mini-homes, among their most urgent needs. They also stressed quality of care in these facilities.

In the area of transportation services, the largest number of responses were concerned with providing a means to transport older persons to places they need to go rather than providing reduced fare on public transportation systems or utilizing school buses.

Sam Hensley, 564-3150
Transportation Cabinet

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Ed LaFontaine, director of the Kentucky Department of Transportation's Division of Aeronautics, has indicated the Airport Zoning Commission has ruled on 30 cases since the fiscal year begun in July involving structures being built more than 200 feet in height throughout Kentucky.

Of the 30 cases reviewed, only two were rejected. One in Rabbit Hash, near Florence, where an out-of-state power company wanted to erect an 800-foot concrete chimney, and the other in Georgetown where a department store wanted to build an ornamental dome that was found to be below an airport's approach zone minimum.

LaFontaine said, "Anyone who is proposing to build a structure in Kentucky over 200 feet above the ground or 50 feet above the water level of any lake or river should contact the commission to avoid any conflict or violation of state regulations."

The main purpose of the commission is to regulate the height of structures that might present a problem to aircraft approaching or leaving a Kentucky airport. At first, the commission dealt with structures close to airports only. Now it has jurisdiction over the entire state due to the planning required for future airports to insure no encroachment into any present airport control zones, according to LaFontaine. The commission is chaired by Transportation Secretary Billy Paxton who is assisted by six commissioners appointed by the governor. The commissioners are Robert Keefe, director of planning and development of the Greater Cincinnati Airport; Foster Jones, aviation consultant from Louisville; Ed Adams, chairman of the Owensboro Airport Board; George Wolnitzek, an industrialist from Covington; James Clarke, attorney from Maysville and Robert Beans, a radio and electronics technician from Central City.

Specifically, anyone who wants to construct a building, radio and television antennae tower, water tank, powerline support, or any other structure over the maximum heights must give notice to the commission so it can approve or reject the proposal. In studying the possible effects of any structure, the commission hears comments of pilots in the area, searches for the possible effects on instrument approach procedures at the airport, the penetration into flyways, the proximity to any flight pattern, comments from the Federal Aviation Administration, and considerations for obstruction making and lighting.

Upon completing the study, a determination of "hazard" or "no hazard" is given to the party seeking to build the structure. There is a 30-day limit for appeal and request of a hearing for any rejected proposals. Questions concerning structures in the state may be addressed to Administrator, Kentucky Airport Zoning Commission, 421 Ann St., Frankfort, Ky.

Soybean Growers Vote Jan. 22

HENDERSON, Ky. — Kentucky soybean growers will vote in a referendum Jan. 22 to determine if they will join 13 other states in conducting a half-cent-per-bushel soybean checkoff program.

Funds generated through the program would help support soybean market development and production research, according to Jim Esche of Henderson, president of the Kentucky Soybean Association.

Voting will be conducted at extension offices in soybean-producing counties.

If the referendum is passed, an operating board will be established to collect and allocate the funds. The board will consist of eight soybean growers representing all areas of Kentucky.

"The checkoff, if passed, will be completely voluntary," Esche said. "Any soybean producer who does not think the funds are being spent to his benefit will be entitled to a refund upon request."

The operating board will only be allowed to spend funds on two types of activities, Esche noted. These are soybean market development and production research.

"Since these activities help assure strong demand and plentiful production," he said, "they have a direct impact on profits."

Part of the funds provided by the checkoff, Esche said, will go to the American Soybean Association (ASA), a non-profit organization dedicated to developing soybean markets.

"Even though the current supply of soybeans is short and prices are high," Esche said, "it is of vital importance to continue market development efforts. The soybean currently faces stiff competition from peanuts, rapeseed and fishmeal. If we do not prevent these products from taking our markets, we will be in trouble."

"Since only 50 per cent of the soybeans we produce can be used in the U. S., the remainder must find markets overseas." Research money generated by the checkoff will be partly kept in Kentucky to finance projects in areas of local concern to Kentucky soybean growers. Another part of the money may be allocated to the ASA Research Foundation to help support research of broader regional or national significance.

The ASA Research Foundation, Esche said, is currently funding projects which seek to increase yields and reduce disease, weed, insect and harvest losses.

Kentucky soybean growers lost 11.2 million bushels due to these causes in 1973, he added.

According to the American Bankers Association, U.S. export sales reached nearly $44 billion last year.

Bats are the only mammals able to fly.
