

ABSTRACT

FACTOR ANALYTICAL THAT CORRELATE TO SELF CARE AGENCY OF HIV POSITIVE MOTHER IN IMPLEMENTING COMMUNITY HOME BASED CARE IN SURABAYA

Descriptive Correlation Study

By : Nisrina Putri I.K.S

HIV positive mother should have a good self care agency. The reality showed that HIV positive mothers have poor self care agency. Multi factors that influence to self care agency of HIV positive mother. The purpose of this study was to analysis a relationship between multi factors and self care agency of HIV positive mother.

The design of this study was descriptive correlation with cross sectional approach. The sample were mothers with HIV positive. This study used purposive sampling technique. The independent variables were age, developmental state, health state, lifestyle, educational, occupational, family system and availability of resources. The dependent variable was self care agency. Data were collected using by demography, lifestyle, and the exercise of self care agency scale questionnaire. Data were analyzed using by spearman rank correlation.

The result showed the significant value and correlation coefficient of each independent variables with dependent variable ($p=0,870$ $r=0,029$; $p=0,011$ $r=0,432$; $p=0,002$ $r=0,516$; $p=0,000$ $r=0,819$, $p=0,141$ $r=0,258$; $p=0,183$ $r=0,234$; $p=0,012$ $r=0,424$ and $p=0,865$ $r=0,030$).

Developmental state, health state, lifestyle and family system have correlation with self care agency of HIV positive mother. Age, educational, occupational and availability of resources have not correlation with self care agency of HIV positive mother. The strong recorrelate factor with self care agency was lifestyle.

Keywords: Self care agency, HIV positive mother, community home based care