

JITTA

JOURNAL OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY THEORY AND APPLICATION

SPECIAL ISSUE:
IS E-COMMERCE DEAD, PAST ITS PRIME, OR JUST RESTING?
KEN PEFFERS, EDITOR

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Editor's Note: An Innovative Special Issue	ii
RESEARCH ARTICLES
Kendall, Julie E. and Kenneth E. Kendall , Rutgers University A Paradoxically Peaceful Coexistence Between Commerce and Ecommerce	1
Peffer, Ken , Hong Kong University of Science and Technology The Future of Electronic Commerce: a Shift from the EC Channel to Strategic Electronic Commerce	7
PERSPECTIVE ARTICLES
Weippl, Edgar , Software Competence Center The Transition from E-commerce to M-commerce: Why Security should be the enabling technology	17
Amor, Daniel , Hewlett Packard Company The Industrialization of the Internet Gold Rush	20
Klein, Stefan , University of Muenster Electronic Commerce: The Flip Side of a Buzzword	23
APPLICATION ARTICLES
Barnes, Stuart J. , University of Bath "Big in Japan" – iMode and the mobile Internet	27
Heart, Tsipi and Nava Pliskin , Ben-Gurion University of the Negev Is E-Commerce of IT Application Services (ASP) Alive and Well?	33