There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under heaven..." Ecclesiastes 3:1. In this fast paced society it seems like it is hard for one to slow down and just enjoy life. Olivet offers a higher education to students from all walks of life, and literally around the world. The subculture of campus life is growing as enrollment reached its all time peak this year.

"What will we be remembered for?" This is the question many may ask as we approach the next millennium. Some may ponder what was their most memorable experience. This year has brought new changes to Olivet. The school has seen new open dorm policies, a change in sign-out times, and the ninetieth anniversary of Olivet.

Starting off as freshman uprooting from their safe surroundings of homelife, bonds are made, and friendships that will last a lifetime are formed. Next the sophomores begin to discover themselves. They are still at the awkward stage of being considered still young and not quite having the respect and authority of upperclassmen. Moving up the ladder of students come the upperclassmen who begin to search to find who they are. Some will give up, others will tear down walls that were built in previous years, and even a few will find that special someone that they commit to love for the rest of their lives.

Olivet's diverse campus opens its arms to all. Each student is here with different goals, but all are somehow connected by their one main purpose. All students are striving to receive a higher education. Students are the only ones who can recall in full detail what events and activities have occurred. This Aurora features stories all done by someone who is considered to be knowledgeable on his/her subject.

When looking back at this book, remember all the memories, both good and bad, that are reflected here, forever etched in time. As the clock of life keeps ticking, never forget all the tears shed and the times of laughter enjoyed here. Flipping through the pages, you will see, through the students' eyes, this book as a symbol of the months, weeks, days, hours, minutes, and seconds spent at Olivet.

University Life? Some say the weekends are boring, some say they never want to go home. One thing for sure, there is always a ...different.

adventure around the corner. From toga late skates, concerts, late nights in the Red Room peanut butter (ahem), university students have always found unique ways to amuse themselves.

Remember the time when you used to go to bed before the day you actually had to get up? Or what about when you used to have something called "free time?" And, of course,

Incoming Freshmen Attend Summer Orientation

Incoming Freshmen attended Summer Orientation here on the campus of Olivet Nazarene University. Held the weekends of June 13-14, June 27-28, and August 25 for those unable to attend an orientation during June, it was a learning experience for some. Molly Brewer, from Flint, Michigan, said, "I thought it [orientation] was useful because I got to meet new people before school even started." Events that took place at Orientation included CLEP and ACT testing, planetarium shows, and an ice cream social with Dr. Bowling, music provided by the PR group, Joshua. Other activities included choosing classes, waiting in long lines to sign up for dorm rooms, meeting with freshman advising groups for the first time, and a few unscheduled activities, such as watching the Bulls game in the Red Room at first orientation. Summer Orientation appeared to be a positive experience for all who attended.

You Don't Really Know Someone Until You Stand In Line With Them . . .

You don't really know somebody until you stand in line with them for an hour waiting to get your ID picture taken. After about an hour, you know everything about the person in front of you, even things you never wanted to know. That's the way registration was at Olivet. You could get lost among all of the lines that had formed in Ludwig, lines to get ID and yearbook pictures taken, lines to the cafeteria, and of course, the longest line, the line formed at every door to the bookstore. Students rushed around trying to get all of the things they needed to begin classes. Registration was a time of bonding for all.

by Lexa Shelton

The first few days of school, lines are continually a part of life, as seen here in Ludwig.

A line to the dining room forms as students prepare to get dinner.

Starting The New Year Off Right... With a Weclome Back Party!!

Doubting Thomas sets the mood for dinner with some upbeat tones.

Everyone gathers on the grass to eat and enjoy each others' company after completing the first day of classes.

Dinner is served. . . over near McLain and Parrott, students line up, ready for a feast.

I thought the welcome back party was great. It provided a great opportunity for the incoming students to meet new people, while the returning students were able to reunite with old friends. I loved being out of the dining hall, as it was much more casual, allowing people to move freely from group to group. It was very encouraging to hear people sharing about the events of the summer. Everywhere you went, someone was laughing and enjoying the great weather. It really showed me how unified the student body was; nobody was left out. I also heard a lot of comments on what an upbeat sound Doubling Thomas had. Their music definitely set the tone for the evening.

Ollies Follies, 1997: See Dick and Jane get messy

"And the winner of this years Ollies Follies is... (drum roll please) for the first time in thirteen years, the Junior Class." Yes it's true, the 1997 Junior Class stacked up the most points during this years Ollies Follies competition. Great participation in all sporting events racked up the points for the champs. It lead them to a victory even though their skit was disqualified due to some questionable material. The participation brought the entire class together making the outcome an historical and always remembered upset.

Placing second was the Senior class which their talent "Stomp" rocked the inside of Chalfant Hall and the hearts of the judges. Earlier in the day, victory was gained by the Seniors when Cory Stupp and Heather Billington knocked the "yoke" out of all other classes during the ever favorite Fish and Egg Game. It was unfortunate that this was the only major victory that the Seniors had that afternoon. Many of the competitions were forfeited by the Seniors due to lack of participation.

In third, causing an upset to the Sophomore class, were the freshmen who creatively based their skit on Veggie Tales and had the crowd laughing as they sang the new famous line, "Oh, where is my hairbrush?" Their participation in the afternoon competition was what pulled them out of the "typical freshman fourth place" into a new slot for the year.

Finally, the Sophomore class made it's debut by reliving one of the Junior Class' favorite heroes. Kicking his legs in the air and sticking his tongue out, Chris Gonzalez made a stunning appearance as the ever famous Scott Armstrong. This incredible bit of acting was accompanied by the dating game in which Sophomores impersonating Coach Mike Conway, Wendy Parsons, and Chaplain Bill Bray, looked for that perfect date.

This event, sponsored by the Social Committee, is one that students look forward to every year. The student body supported them by spending the extra time to fit the 70's dress. Many went to local secondhand shops. Yet others simply went to their closets. In either case, the participation was outstanding. The night was filled with friends, pop, music and most of all – prizes. Free give-a-ways always warm a student's heart.

My New Home?

You wake up every morning to the sound of an alarm clock, which you promptly slap, and hope that you actually hit the snooze button. You lay back down for the extra five minutes and then wearily roll out of bed, and if you love your friends, you shower. On that long trek to the shower you encounter your floor mates and greet them with that "I just woke up don't talk to me yet" nod. While in the shower you make a conscious effort not to let any of your 2000 parts touch the shower walls. (I don't care if they do clean them everyday.)

Next you get dressed and head off to class. Oops, that was fun, now you're back in your room, looking at a stack of homework that you never dreamed possible. Sleep is not an option. Get used to it. And, of course, the reason you're not sleeping is because you and your floormates have sat down to study together. The table's set with food and caffeine, the stereo's turned up as loud as it will go. Instead of homework you and you floormates decided to "bond." And, then, when you look at the clock and it says 4:00 a.m., you wonder what prompted you to stay up that late.

Between sleep deprivation, attempting to study, and communal showering, Olivet's dorm life is a definite experience.

YVONNE CHALFANT

Donor Relations was integrated only three years ago as a new department in the Alumni Center. This year was a time to remember for this particular department as they hosted Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor for the annual Maggie Sloan Awards. This tremendous event was all planned by Yvonne Chalfant, Director of Donor Relations, to whom the 1998 Aurora is dedicated.

Yvonne Chalfant moved to the Kankakee community in 1989. Originally from Evansville, Indiana, Mrs. Chalfant and her husband wanted to be closer to their son who then attended Olivet. It was during that same year that she was hired to be on the Olivet staff.

Mrs. Chalfant first applied for the position of secretary to Dr. Max Reams but instead was hired as an assistant to Dr. Ted Lee.

Shortly after being hired, Mrs. Chalfant began working to finish her college degree and then went on to complete her Masters, graduating with high honors.

In 1995, Mrs. Chalfant took over the new Donor Relations Department. Her job includes organizing activities for donor recognition such as banquets, gathering addresses, and the presentation of the Maggie Sloan-Crawford Award. As the Director of Capital Campaign, Yvonne Chalfant says, "It requires me to be very flexible and move through events with somewhat ease. I really enjoy doing this work. It's so exciting!"

The Chicago Central District recently appointed Yvonne Chalfant as District Missionary President. This past June she also served as a delegate to the General Assembly in San Antonio, Texas.

Mrs. Chalfant serves her community as well. She is currently on the Kankakee Chamber of Commerce. Yvonne Chalfant and her husband, Morris, reside in Bourbonnais, IL. They attend the College Church of the Nazarene where her husband is currently on staff.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that the Aurora Staff dedicates the 1998 Aurora to Yvonne Chalfant for her many contributions to the community, the Chicago Central District and the many long hours of planning and serving the Donor Relations Department at Olivet.

A TIME TO REMEMBER

by Dr. John Bowling

In the spring of 1938, the graduating class of the Olivet Academy asked a young student named Byron Carmony to write a song for their graduation program. His efforts resulted in the Olivet Alma Mater. One of the lines of the Alma Mater is this: "The time we spent within these halls will ne'er forgotten be." How true those words have remained for the last sixty years.

Memory is a wonderful thing. It is upon our ability to remember that all learning rests. It is this capacity to recall that allows us to function beyond a mere stimulus-response level. Take away a person's memory and you take away a great deal of what it means to be a person.

To remember gives us the ability to relive days gone by, to recapture special moments in life, to recall friends and family from a former day.

Perhaps, in the course of time, you may forget much of what you have learned during these days at Olivet: the mathematical equations, the dates and names and places from history, the chemical formulas, the intricacies of a fine sonnet; if not used, these you may forget in time.

You will probably forget the combination to your mailbox, you will forget your student ID number or e-mail address. In time you may forget our names and faces--and all of that forgetting may not matter too much.

But if you forget God, if you forget the One to whom you belong, if you let your hearts get cluttered and crowded and cramped; if you lose your way spiritually, then no other amount of remembering will make much difference. It is this lesson, more than any other, which I hope you remember from your days at Olivet.

The years which students spend on this campus are truly "a time to remember." Let us seize these moments at Olivet to both make memories and learn the lessons truly worth remembering.

Homecoming 1997: Celebrating 90 Years of Education with a Christian Purpose

Homecoming at Olivet is always an exciting time for alumni as well as students. Many events were planned for visitors of all ages as Olivet celebrated its 90th anniversary. The students celebrated the week of Homecoming by participating in various class competitions, including spirit week, volleyball, basketball, and powder puff football. Homecoming Coronation, sponsored by the Women's Residence Association, was held on Thursday night November 6. The Homecoming Court consisted of five senior girls chosen by their peers. They were: Kari Hoffman, Sarah Luginbill, Kristyn Polmounter, Richelle Schmidt, and Jamie Schrock. The queen was crowned on the beautifully decorated stage in Chalfant Hall. Following Coronation, the bonfire and pep rally got everyone pumped up for a fun and exciting weekend.

Friday night, Homecoming visitors attended a concert with special guest Mark Lowry. Following the concert, many gathered in Chalfant Hall to celebrate Olivet's 90th anniversary. Saturday consisted of individual class reunions in the morning, and athletic events throughout the remainder of the day. The ONU Tiger football team took on St. Xavier University in the afternoon, while the men's and women's basketball teams opened their seasons against Mt. Vernon Nazarene University later in the evening. The annual Taste of Olivet featuring a large variety of foods took place in Chalfant Hall after the men's basketball game. The weekend concluded on Sunday with the President's Prayer Breakfast. Orphus Choir provided the special music, followed by a brief address by Olivet president John Bowling. Homecoming was an exciting and memorable time for all Olivetians.

Late Skates: Let the Good Times Roll

This year there were several late skates. The theme costumed events had music from the 50's, 60's, 70's, 80's, and early 90's. On the 50's night found a sea of poodle skirts and greasers. Some people even were caught doing disco moves.

Charlene Long was able to outswing her opponents to win the hula hoop contest. The 70's found many people who were bell bottom clad. These are nights for students to just get away and enjoy themselves.

Fall Play: The Man Who Came To Dinner

During the month of November, a huge amount of people came together and put on the fall play called "The Man Who Came To Dinner." It was a time for many laughs as one angry man disrupted the lives of many. I present to you the plot Summary: Sheridan Whiteside (Erik Gernand), having dined at the home of the Stanley's (Aimee Copley, Randy Kinder), slips on their doorstep, breaking his hip. A frenzied six weeks of confinement follow. The Stanley living room is monopolized by the temperamental invalid. Ex-convicts are invited to meals, transatlantic calls are made, and the arrival of strange gifts from his friends further destroys domestic tranquility. It would take a restrained housewife to harbor penguins in her library, an octopus in her cellar, and 10,000 cockroaches in her kitchen. When Maggie (Emily Kortanek), Whiteside's secretary falls in love with the reporter, Burt Jefferson (Matt Meyer), Whiteside summons a glamorous actress, Lorraine (Kara Lloyd), to win the affections of the young man. Knowing the girl's charms, Maggie enlists the aid of a clever impersonator, who, imitates the voice of Lord Bottomley, asks her by phone to return to him and be married. The plan almost works, but Whiteside, becoming suspicious, finds that no calls have come from London. In revenge, Lorraine suggests a three-week rewrite on a play of Burt's in which she feigns great interest. But Whiteside relents on his scheme to keep the lovers apart and now must rid himself of the temptress, Lorraine. The unexpected arrival of a mummy case furnishes a malicious idea. Tricking Lorraine into stepping into the case, he shuts the lid and blackmails his host into having it sent on a round-the-world cruise. Whiteside departs from the Stanley's home triumphantly, but a second later a crash is heard-he has slipped and fallen again! This play was very enjoyable and there was a lot of hard work put into it. If you couldn't make it to the show, you missed out on a great time.

Academics

Academics have been a key factor in determining our place in the real world. We make decisions on what our career is going to be through the classes we take. We have concentrations in certain divisions such as education, fine arts, natural sciences, nursing, religion, and social sciences. As we finish our academic studies at ONU our path is narrowed and we are again on another journey God has planned for us.

Art department

When asked my opinion of the Olivet's Art Department all I could say is that I love everything about it. I can't think of anything I would rather be doing with my time here. The whole department has a really laid back, relaxed attitude. This makes it really easy to get to know the people you work with on a one on one level.

The professors are great and teach you not only how to make it in the world of art, but how to make it in life. They're more than willing to listen to your problems and do whatever they can to help you out. Your classmates can become some of your best friends even though the classes have a really competitive feel to them. I've probably learned almost as much from my classmates as I have from the professors. Lessons that I will stay with me the rest of my life.

Singled Out

This year singled out was held in Kresge Auditorium. Much like the television version of the game, students were trying to win a chance to go on a date with two pre-selected students. This year students tried to win a date with either Brad Lacey or Lisa Sweinhart. Jon Mar Thill was the special host. His co-host and sidekick was Carrie Williams. Students were grateful to the Education Club for sponsoring this event.

There was something new that made its way into the Homecoming schedule this year. A fashion show featuring Olivet students was a great success. Many Alumni and students packed into Wisner Auditorium to make the show a success.

What Goes On, On third Floor Burke?

The Business Department has been active again this year. One of the major projects organized by the Business Department this year was Make a Difference Day. Students from the Business Senior Seminar class and SIFE organized students and people from the community into groups. These groups went into the Kankakee area and completed various projects to "make a difference" in someones life.. Many students involved in the Business Department are also in the Business club or SIFE. These groups encourage teamwork and creativity through various projects. Both of the clubs encourage community involvement. The Business department is also keeping up with the fast paced world of technology in order to help students adapt to a technologically dominant work place. Olivet has begun to require all business majors and minors to take complete applications. They also encourage students to incorporate technology in the classroom with various presentations. The Business department is definitely a great example of "Education With A Christian Purpose". By learning and adapting to changing technology as well as reaching out to the community the Business Department is educating students as well as providing a christian perspective and a clear path to the future.

Why Chemistry?

The Chemistry Department has grown within the past year with the addition of some new classes and prospects to do renovation on the Reed Science building. The added classes are Forensic Chemistry and Environmental Geochemistry. The introduction of these classes has greatly increased the scope of the department's curriculum.

Dr. Douglas Armstrong, along with an Olivet chemistry alumni, Bill Brower, published what is known as an electronic conference this past February. These are conferences that take place electronically rather than in person. This work done by Armstrong and Brower is the first of it's kind to come from Olivet's chemistry department.

The other faculty members and students of the chemistry department are concentrating on improving labs and their lab equipment. The department is expanding and they are making many changes to accommodate them. This has been an exciting year in the chemistry department and they hope to continue with the pace they have set for the future.

A Double Dose of Computer Science

The Computer Science Department at Olivet Nazarene University consists of two majors: A Computer Science major (CS), and a Computer Information Systems major. The CS major requires forty-three credit hours and a CIS major needs thirty-seven credit hours. The CS major entails more of an in-depth study of mathematical theory whereas the CIS major concentrates on the application of computer systems impact on the business world.

Some classes in the CS major include: Discreet Math, Theory of Computation, and Machine Architecture. Classes in the CIS major in part include: Structured Systems Analysis and Design, Data Communication and Computer Networks, and Field Experience.

The current topics class is Java Programming. Java is the most current programming language known today. Java is an important language for students to be learning because of its application to the internet. The upper division students are learning how to add Java applications to web pages, and for use on multiple platforms. This class exemplifies aspects of the department in that it is dynamic in content and always is exploring new areas of study.

Students in the computer oriented majors always hope to see better equipment, and more application to their academic life. We hope to see a quick yet painless death to the oppressive firewall. We hope to see faster machines, flatbed scanners, increased freedom on the network for use by the students studying it, and continued growth and improvement.

Education

Many of you can probably remember your favorite teacher. Many of you can probably even remember your worst teacher. Whether you realize it or not every teacher you have had has influenced you in one way or another. Dr. Tom Knowles, head of the education department, agrees by saying, "We are in the business of influencing lives." This is also the theme of the Student Education Association. SEA is a club that is focused on the importance of teaching. Although we have fun activities, SEA also works with the community outside of Olivet. Whether we help with tutoring or have speakers come to the meeting, SEA opens the door to the community. In the same way, Olivet has opened our doors to learning. As teachers, we are learning that what we do will have a great impact on society. After all, we are in the business of influencing lives.

Planning For The Future

Engineering is the application of scientific principles to practical purposes such as the design, construction and operation of structures, equipment, and systems. This involves using your mind as a creative tool, while applying many scientific principles. I chose an engineering major because I like to use what I learn to better improve lives around me. My future plans are to be involved in medical field and help many people. The engineering department here at Olivet has helped me to determine the paths that I want to take to achieve my goals and has helped me to realize and understand what engineering is all about.

English Department

Imagine spending fourteen hours together with your English class. This past fall Dr. Judy Whitis took her Teaching English in Secondary Schools class to a conference of the Illinois Association of Teachers of English in Decatur Illinois. They heard many teachers talk about their experiences.

This Spring, Dr. Ruth Cook will take five students to England for tours of literary sites to become more familiar with literature. The students participating in this trip can get credit in English.

The freshman class is on their own new journey this year. They are using DIWE, which is an acronym for Dataless Integrated Writing Environment. This new program is on the computer. This program allows the students not only to write their papers on the computer, but it also enables them to share their works on the computer. Another advantage of DIWE is that it simplifies attachment sending from the past.

There are also two new faculty members on the English staff. Kashama Malamba, from the Republic of Congo, is teaching World Literature. Professor Rebecca Belcher, a former student of Olivet, has returned to teach here.

The English department added its first department social this year. It was held in the Alumni Center Tea Room and was sponsored by Sigma Tau Delta.

Expanding Their Boundaries: Modern Language Department

Laura Mau, Megan DeRossi, and Danielle Repay at Mountmorency Falls in Quebec on a trip to learn about French culture.

Travel to foreign countries and explore their cultures, environment, and their way of life. It sounds almost like the beginning of a travel brochure but this is a new feature that has been added to the Modern Language department's requirements.

This year for the first time Spanish and French are offered as two separate majors. In the past, these majors were combined to form what was known as Romance languages. The new travel requirement involves a six week study abroad. In addition, the French department has added a new class called "French Culture." This class will meet the requirement for "International Culture" requirements.

Dr. Vicki Trylong, head of the department, said, "I'm really excited about this course. It will cover a variety of aspects of French culture and life."

The Latin American studies program will soon be visiting San Jose and Costa Rica. Different options will be available depending on what the concentration of study is. Professor Charles Perabeau gave examples such as a general track for people who want to know culture, business, or environmental information. He also went on to say, "According to statistics by the year 2037, half of the population in the United States will speak Spanish. Job offers are opening up in a wide variety of areas. For example in business. It's a great department. Spanish will be very useful in the future."

A Time to Build

Housing and Environmental Design, which is now a part of FACS, was added as a major three years ago. Professor Richardson said the major has grown from 5 courses to 15 courses over the past three years since it has been added to the curriculum. Richardson believes it will only continue to grow.

Laura Cornwall and Jennifer Stohr are two students in the interior design program. They were asked what they thought about their major.

"I think it is hard! You don't ever think about all of the parts that make up a simple house. It helps you to realize just how important the little things are, from deciding which door to put on a room to which light switches and outlets to put in a house." --Laura Cornwall

"I personally thought the classes [housing and environmental design] would be pretty easy. I was definitely wrong about that. My architectural drafting class has been the most challenging for me so far. I am not only learning about the class but I am also learning new stuff about myself at the same time. You definitely need a lot of time and patience for this major."

--Jennifer Stohr

Both girls commented that even though the classes may be very challenging at times, fun moments can be found in this major. Jennifer said, "When you can finally take time to sit back and relax and admire your work, it is one of the best feelings."

Geology Rocks The World!!!

Olivet's Geology Department has grown this year to include two new majors and some new equipment. The department has purchased a new map digitizer as well as new software to put the department on the forefront of technology. Along with this new equipment comes the added benefit of being able to apply real world skills in the classroom.

This year's seniors are actively doing research as well as internships to help them get prepared for graduate school and for the work force. Several of the Geology majors are able to broaden their horizons by incorporating the two disciplines.

Many Olivet students have taken Physical and Historical Geology as a general education requirement, and this has given the Lab assistants an opportunity to share with them what the Geology Department has to offer.

Figuring It Out: the Math Department

One of the things that I like best about mathematics is that it is intricately involved in many fields, from psychology to biology to geology. Mathematics is our way to describe the real world and is often described as “the universal language”.

Even the most abstract and theoretical mathematics have applications in the real world. Nobody could foresee a use for Riemannian geometry before Einstein’s General Relativity theory. Chaos, somewhat glamorized by “Jurassic Park” and now, “The Lost World”, is applied to many complex systems like predicting the weather. Despite most people’s feelings about mathematics, it is ingrained in every aspect of life.

by Ryan D. Herbert

Professor Atkinson gives the class instructions for their next assignment.

I chose math education as my major, even though I am not sure that’s what I want to do. I chose to teach math since it is a subject in which I am the most successful, but that is not the only reason. My dad’s influence also played a part in my choice. He was my math teacher all four years of high school, and his positive personality and his unique teaching style had a great impact on me. Finally, the last factor in my decision was and still is that I enjoy helping students with their math homework. I receive satisfaction out of the fact that they finally understand what steps to take with a math problem.

Music Makes Memories: the Music Department

The Olivet Nazarene University music department has long held traditions that every music major leaves with in his/her memory. Whether it's long nights in a practice room, recitals, sleeping on the orange benches in the hallways, opening a blue locker to find that once again you forgot your music, retreats, tours, forgotten theory assignments, auditions, or juries, every music graduate has had similar experiences. These experiences and others wrap up what the ONU music department is all about.

As a freshman, it can be intimidating walking into Kresge's auditorium, seeing the orange pipes and the empty seats and knowing that one day you will perform your junior or senior recital in front of a crowd of peers. But by the time the recital rolls around, Kresge has become a familiar friend. Music majors live, eat, sleep, and breathe music in these hallways, and Larsen becomes their home.

Through Orpheus Choir, University Singers, Band, Jazz Band, and Orchestra, acquaintances become family. Through auditions, variety shows, Messiah, and tours, strangers become confidantes. And through failed proficiency exams, sleepless nights, disappointments, and beautiful music, friends become soulmates. These are the things a senior remembers as he/she closes the blue locker by room 140 for the last time and looks down the hallway at Larsen's only drinking fountain humming the familiar tune, "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

Life of College Nursing Majors

The word "Senior nursing student" somehow does not seem to apply to me yet. I cannot believe this is the last year of my undergraduate nursing education.

These last few years have been fun and difficult at the same time. We have had moments where the class stopped and we all laughed. At other times, the class stopped, and we all cried together. The friendships made with the other nurses have been wonderful. We feel like a family. Most of us have been in many of the same classes for four years and have become very close.

My freshman year I had no idea of what I was getting into. However, I did know my desire was to be a nurse. Sophomore year I felt like I learned more of what a nurse does and who a nurse is. Junior year came with all of the late nights of studying and clinical preparation. Wow! I realized there was so much more to learn than I ever dreamed. Finally, my Senior year has arrived and we are trying to put all of the information together and preparing for the State Board exams.

I know the Lord has been with me through both the fun and difficult times. The most important thing that He has taught me is that He will always finish what he starts. He has proven this in my life as He has been with me every step of the way, helping and sustaining me.

Although I am in my final year, I still feel like I have much to learn. Nursing is a profession where I will continuously learn and expand my skills and knowledge. I have no idea where I'll be next year at this time, but I do know that Olivet has prepared me well for whatever lies ahead.

The Political Science Department- Bringing Students to the True Source of Power

I must admit that the thought of having to write about being a political science major is a little overwhelming because all I have learned has sunk deep inside me and become part of who I am. As a Political Science major, I have not only learned about governments and world power structures, but I have also learned about the responsibility of the Christian in this hurting, dying, broken world. As Christians, God has given us the responsibility to seek to do justice for all nations. Through Christ, all the walls that divide us have been broken down. It is up to us to be open to the revelation of His painful vision of the injustices of this world, and through Him, seek to bring about reconciliation and shalom, which is the fullness of peace.

Thankfully, God has not left us alone in our responsibility. He has been an ever-present actor in history through the creation, the fall, His redemptive work on the cross, His resurrection, and His future glorious return. Not only has he made Himself visible in His actions, but also in the living, breathing form of His Son, our friend and example.

One may laugh and say, "Libby, what on earth does this have to do with Political Science?" It has everything to do with it! At the source of politics is power. When one recognizes that Christ, through His death and resurrection, has taken control of all powers and gives us the power to do His will, is there liberation. In politics, yes, even in and through politics, God can and does bring about His will. And God can and will use us if we are willing to bring peace and justice even to the political arena. Bringing students to the realization of these truths is what I believe the Political Science department of Olivet Nazarene University is all about.

Psychology and Social Work: Harder than we think

"For I was hungry and you fed me; I was thirsty and you gave me water; I was a stranger and you invited me into your homes; naked, and you clothed me; sick and in prison, and you visited me... when you did it to the least of these, my brothers, you were doing it to me." This is the mission statement of Olivet's Social work program.

Under the direction of Professor Lareau and Professor Hockensmith, the social work department focuses on the generalist practitioner, code of ethics, and practice.

A student is first required to fill out an application after completing 60 hours and being accepted into the program. They are also required to take 120-122 hours and complete 405 clock hours in field placement.

During a student's participation in the program, a student is required to maintain a 2.0 average, good class attendance, and honesty in all its forms.

A student also has the opportunity to participate in DIAKONIA—the social work club. The students donate toys to foster children, offer shoes to the homeless, and work serving meals at one of the homeless shelters in Chicago.

Why Religion?

"Whenever I think I have things under control in my life, almost inevitably someone walks in, and without saying anything, makes a demand, addresses me with something that shakes my order, and there is called forth from me an odd response that sometimes comes forth precisely when I so not want it to: 'Here I am.'"

"I want to fit you into my schedule (I say), put you under a general principle...', but this whole thing is shattered. If I look the other in the face, I find that the response 'I have you figured out' is not called for... my totality is shattered by the call of the other." (Excerpted from Dr. Craig Keen's Modern Philosophy class, April 24, 1997, discussion of Emmanuel Levinas)

The Speech Department: Old and New Tradition

Our speech department had another strong year, maintaining some traditions and beginning some new ones. The traditions we maintained included hosting Fall and Spring speech tournaments for the fourth consecutive year. In these tournaments, all students enrolled in Public Speaking compete against one another with their informative speeches. The top twenty-four speakers break into semifinals with the top six going on to finals round. Our theatre department also maintained its growing tradition of excellence with director Jeff Wells' fall production of The Man Who Came To Dinner. Our FM radio station, W.O.N.U., continues to grow in excellence with the addition of radio professional Beth Kaye who joins Bill DeWees and Carl Fletcher for the morning Bill, Beth, and Carl show.

Two new traditions were started this year as well. Senior speech majors were required to display their speaking eloquence within an evening of Platform Tests held in the Alumni Center. Another new tradition which will evolve all speech communications majors is the participation with the Christmas in April program. To help build a sense of department camaraderie through service, all majors will be encouraged to participate in a one-day intense service project fixing up the home of someone in the community unable to afford needed repairs. If we can just harness one tenth of the energy possessed by both speech majors, this service project should be a breeze.

The Expanding ROTC Program

There were many activities we did this year for ROTC. We took a trip to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. Our Professor of Military Science(PMS) thought it would be great to actually see and to walk on the battlefield instead of talking about it in a classroom setting. We also rode in a Chinook for our Battalion Field Training Exercise (FTX). One of the things ROTC took pride in was to welcome Sandra Day O'Connor to our school. These are just a few things we have been doing to build our ROTC program here at Olivet.

I am a senior, MS IV, in ROTC. Being in ROTC has taught me a great deal about leadership. I went to Advanced Camp this past summer. This entailed thirty-five days of training. The Lord showed me servant leadership throughout the summer. As I stepped onto this campus for my last year, I realized that I had to be the one helping our juniors get ready for the same camp experience this summer. All I know is that the LORS is showing me that the military needs good Christian officers to share Christ. Olivet's ROTC program is building up these soldiers for Christ.

Gabrielle Garrett and Merideth Densford, both editors, have learned to lean on each other for support.

It's a bird, it's a plane, no it's Andrew Hall having a little fun on the job.

As you sit in the cafeteria one day, you take a look at the faces of your friends at the table. You realize that There is going to be a day when these people won't be here anymore. You'll all go in different directions. Each of you has a path to follow that will lead you apart. As you walk across the stage on graduation day, you will suddenly realize that your world has changed. time has slipped through your fingers. You are no longer a child. As an adult, you will have to plan your next move. Hey, maybe you will go to Disney World. Maybe not. What's important is, although you may be an adult when you leave Olivet, that does not mean that you will lose your youth. You can still go out and have fun. Okay, so maybe you will eventually have to go out into the world and work. No matter how "adult" you have to act or how far away you have to go, you will always have a place called Olivet. In some cases, you may be too far away to come back for a visit. That doesn't matter; Olivet will always exist in your heart and in your memories. There is something about this school that you will never forget. You may even almost hate to leave it. Now you begin to wonder what you are sitting here, spacing out for. The year is not even close to over yet. Out of nowhere a piece of carrot flies across the table and hits your shoulder. You realize that you are still in the cafeteria. Looking at the people. at the table, you wonder what kinds of memories have yet to be made.

A Time to Reach Out

This summer, Ben Schultz, traveled to Honduras with other members of his home church. They went this past July to help establish rescue missions and to pass out donated clothing and food.

Ben's church takes groups every two years to do mission work out of the country. He said on this particular trip, he enjoyed such tasks as picking cocoa leaves and getting to take a hike through the jungle. While he was there he met many impoverished people and his heart went out to them.

He was asked what was the most fulfilling part of his trip. Ben replied, "The highlight of my trip was being able to work with the children and interacting with the people of the community."

A Time to Reach Out

I feel so very fortunate to have gone to so many countries. At the end of the summer the total came to 20 different countries. This trip to Costa Rica was a highlight for just about everyone who went, I would say. This two week vacation/tropical field studies with the biology department was amazing. I have always wanted to see a rain forest, and we surely did see them, along with a lot of rain everyday. But that didn't dampen our spirits. We took a great deal of notes along the way about the cloud forest, Arrial Volcano and National Park. My favorite part of the trip was at Marengo Biological Reserve; it was like a deserted little island, apart from civilization. It is a paradise. We visited other little islands, including Corcovado National Park and Canos Island. At Canos Island we went snorkeling, took long walks, swam through the rain forest's small rives, and played in the waterfalls. On our way down to the other islands, we searched for dolphins. Nature is just the essence of God. The trip just made me excited about life and how unbelievable our Creator is. He has don a pretty good job. Everyone should have the opportunity to see a rainforest just once in you lifetime!

Autumn Dicer

Autumn Dicer traveled to Plano, Texas this summer to experience a life dedicated fully to children. During the day Autumn taught a pre-kindergarten class at Presbyterian Hospital Child's Center. During off hours she was a nanny in exchange for room and board. She watched four children, a 7 year old boy, a 5 year old with Down Syndrome, and 18 month old twins. Autumn always wondered what it would be like to mother a handicapped child, now she would consider it a privilege.

If someone were to ask Autumn about her family, she would tell them about two families. One related by blood and the other related by love. "I learned about being a parent and about special needs children have, all they want is to be loved.

Sam Rihani

Many college students work with children, but most don't get the intangible reward that Sam Rihani does when he works with his junior high group. Messing around and playing with the kids creates an unbreakable bond between the youth has been an incredible experience that has helped Sam draw closer to God.

Discussions concerning relationships, sin, the Christian walk, and ways the kids can share Christ with their friends are just a few topics discussed in weekly meetings. Spending time talking with each boy is very important to Sam. He wants each boy to know he is there because he wants to be not because he has to be.

For Sam the most rewarding aspect is seeing the boys grow in Christ and knowing he has effected their lives and Christian walk.

Theresa Steiber

Theresa Steiber spent this past summer working as Music Director for WONU. She also got to give the news for the morning show.

The highlight of her summer was working as an MC for World Fest in Elgin, Illinois. Teresa was able to go back stage and meet members from the bands Newsboys and Five Iron Frenzy.

Traveling was another aspect of the job. The weekends brought trips to Chicago, Indiana, and even to Atlanta for a conference. Theresa said that all of her activities kept her quite busy over the summer.

Girls Travel Cross Country

Amanda and Desiree Lattig, freshmen, spent five days traveling across the country and bonding with each other while making their trip to Olivet this year. They left from Washington and traveled through Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa, and finally ended up in Kankakee, Illinois. They spent 11 hours each day on the road, except for the last, which only six hours were spent traveling. The sisters met many obstacles along the way. There was no air in the car for over 106 miles. While traveling through Idaho, they got attacked by mosquitos, took an hour detour because directions were not clear, and had trouble driving uphill because the car was so full.

The trip was an unforgettable and the girls video taped the whole thing. Would they do it again? Yes, they said they would.

Leadership, ministry, responsibility, fun, organizations, friendship... these are just a few of the things students gain from being a part of a club or organization. There are almost endless opportunities for students to join in on the fun and work of at least one group. Hosting activities on Olivet's campus or in the area is just one of the things clubs and organizations do. They sponsor movie nights, Late Skates, picnic, Ollies Follies, Homecoming Coronation and a lot more. Many of these groups also take the time to minister to various people from a variety of backgrounds. They sponsor blood drives, food and toy drives. There are clubs that minister to homeless, children, college students, and churches. Clubs and organizations are also a great place for meeting people with similar interests. There are clubs for debate, social work, acting, nursing, and many other types of Clubs to meet your interest And Clubs and Organizations are a great way to be involved with life at Olivet Nazarene University during your time spent here.

Stay Tuned

1997 brought a time of celebration for WONU, as it represented thirty years of broadcasting Christian music from the campus of O.N.U. Originally sporting only ten watts of power as WKOC, Olivet's radio station has since expanded to 35,000 watts to reach all of Chicagoland.

Today, WONU remains on the cutting edge of technology with its recent website addition that allows internet subscribers around the world to tune in. Since this exciting development last fall, WONU has received email from listeners in the Philippines, Canada, the Netherlands, Singapore, Australia, and countless other places, including colleges across America.

Perhaps the staff of WONU would recall one of their favorite memories of the past year to be the annual trip to the Gospel Music Association week in Nashville, Tennessee, which culminates with the evening of the Dove Awards. The 1997

Dove Award ceremony, Christian music's equivalent to the Grammys, was nationally televised on stations like TNN. GMA week was an excellent chance to network with other radio personnel, as well as to "shmooze" with the artists!

This year at WONU has also provided many opportunities to interact with the listening audience throughout the Chicago area because of the broad spectrum of artist currently on tour; highlight shows include Jars of Clay, Phillips, Craig and Dean, The Waiting, Cindy Morgan, Caedmon's Call, 4 Him, Audio Adrenaline, Point of Grace, and Avalon, many of which spent time in the studio for interviews.

WONU has come a long way since its start as Olivet's voice, and promises to continue its growth and ministry through the powerful medium of Christian radio!

Now We're in Business

This year the business club has been keeping very busy. We have had two all school events, two club events, and volunteered for another event. That was just first semester. We are trying hard to get more people involved in as many events as possible, along with the other clubs. New events have been a key idea for us, doing something no one has done at Olivet or doing an old event in a new way. Our first event was a 50's Late Skate, which was an old event done in a whole new style. No one had ever done a 50's Late Skate before. We also tried to bring back the Lip Sync contest. This adds an interesting twist to the regular activities here on Olivet's campus. The business Club also had its annual holiday banquet at Mezzaluna Restaurant. This is our shining moment. Everyone dresses up, heads downtown to eat. It is a chance to socialize with the professors as well as classmates.

The club decided to volunteer to help with the NAIA Volleyball Tournament that was held here in early December. This was a chance for us to help someone else out and a chance to get our name out there. Our big event for the year was a career fair held during the second semester. This gave students the opportunity to network themselves and possibly get a job. It is also important to juniors because they can receive some opportunities for internships for the summer or the following semester. As you can tell the business club is really growing. Our purposes that we are always keeping in mind are providing students with information for their future careers, provide social events for everyone's enjoyment, and to keep Christ center of all things, especially business.

Reaching Out

Diakonia strives to reach out to the community as well as touch the heart of the Olivet campus. With activities including a toy drive, necessities drive, and the annual stress reliever (beating an old car with a sledge hammer), which any students can participate in during finals, the members try to reach out and get involved. The young men and women build relationships with those in the society, but they also build relationships with each other. The members traveled to Bloomington, normally in November, for their retreat. It was a time to get to know new members and recall old memories from previous years. This year was the first full year that the Social Work Department has been accredited, and the faculty as well as the students are very excited about the accreditation. Professor Mike LaReau says "social work is not merely an occupation it is a call to missions." The members of Diakonia share this vision and they hope others will share it with them. When asked what Diakonia does for club president Toyna Edwards she replied "It builds friendships and creates bonds with people who share common interests. The social work club is more like a family than a committee." When friends are made they are not just faces seen in class, but friends that extend into other social circle as well. When a Diakonia member thinks about another member they think of a warm face shining through a crowd of strangers. When someone joins as a freshman they grow with the other members, they learn from each other and themselves. This truly is a group that expresses God's love and kindness to all those they interact with.

Engineering the Future

The Engineering Club, a student governed club, plans activities, field trips, and celebrations for its members. Officers, Craig Twibell (President), Jeremiah Colling (Vice President), Wes Garrison (Innovator), and Kari Bennet (Secretary), kept the club busy with several planned activities throughout the school year. They kicked off the year with a trip to the United Center for a Blackhawks game. The group's camaraderie was evident on the return trip as even Prof. Morgan joined the members for a back seat wrestling. Another activity was a pasta dinner with a bridge building contest. The freshmen engineers designed bridges from raw pasta and glue, then tested the load that each bridge could withstand. Paul Greene commented, "I don't know which bridge will hold the most, but I know my stomach will hold the most pasta." Perhaps one of this year's highlights was the photo scavenger hunt. Wes Garrison commented, "I love taking pictures of goofy things." Although many of the activities were centered around having fun, they also planned for the future. The club hosts the WYSE, a contest where high school students use engineering applications to accomplish a task. The group also took a trip to Chicago for the International Design Show at McCormick Place. Craig Twibell stated, "The purpose of the Engineering Club is to make students aware of social organizations and teamwork strategies that apply to the engineering field." The trips and activities increased the members' knowledge about engineering and their fellowship with other students.

Geology Club Rocks!

“Phosphate!” Declared Geology Club member Steve Beauchamp when asked to name his favorite rock. Most people think of rocks when they hear the word geology. However, the Geology Club is much more than simply a rock lover’s gathering. The club deals with God’s creation in life, in nature, and in the environment. The student officers are Melody Kent, Kat Bowles, Amy Conradi, Shawn Jones, and Jeremy Brown. They worked alongside faculty advisor Brock Schroder planning events for the club. Most anticipated of the activities are the holiday parties at Dr. Reams’s house. In addition, the group will take from two to four field trips each year. This year they ventured to Turkey Run State Park in Indiana, and also took part in the Illinois State Geological Survey. Club historian Jeremy Brown emphasized, “Anyone with an interest in environmental science can be involved in the geological society.” Geology Club gives members an opportunity to learn more about God’s creation from a geological perspective.

Nursing Students in Action

Nursing Students in Action (NSA) represents the nursing student body on campus. This year we focused on our involvement within the community, which also included involvement on campus. We tried to broaden our education of the nursing body this year. We had many activities planned for the school year. We sent care packages to nurses in the mission field. We also had our annual blood drive to assist with the Red Cross. Another thing that we did to assist in the community was to have an ornament drive for victims of the flood. We also had some coffee houses for the nursing students. We offered blood pressure screenings for our students and community. To further the knowledge available for our nursing students, we had guest speakers come in and provide some inservices. With all these events that we provided, we pray that it helped build a sense of community within the nursing student body as well as been the hands and feet of Christ as we worked with our community and beyond. We were very excited for what the Lord did to us, for us, and through us. We pray that we will be a continual bridge to bring Olivet and the community closer together.

Sigma Theta Tau

Sigma Theta Tau, International is the nursing honor society of which Kappa Sigma is the chapter at Olivet. We are part of an international organization with over 350 chapters in the United States and several foreign countries. The society stands for excellence in scholarship, research and clinical practice. The society's motto is "Love, Courage, and Honor". This year Kappa Sigma was led by its president, Dr. Phyllis Reeder. Baccalaureate nursing students are selected for membership by achieving a 3.0 grade point average and recommendation by two Sigma Theta Tau members. Only 35% of the graduating class is eligible for induction. Approximately half of the eligible students are inducted at the end of the Junior year and the rest prior to graduation. The chapter focuses on presenting two professional nursing programs a year. This Fall, we had a presentation on "Death and Dying" and in the Spring we had Professor Connie Milton present her doctoral research on "promises". The chapter also presents two awards for nursing excellence: One for a graduating senior and the other for a practicing nurse in the community who exemplifies leadership in scholarship, research, or clinical practice.

Educational Fun

The Family and Consumer Sciences (FACS) is involved in the scientific, cultural, social, and economic dynamics of a changing society. Its purpose is to provide its members with fun activities that further their educational experience and contribute to a diverse understanding of their profession. Majors in the department include Family and Consumer Sciences, Dietetics, fashion Merchandising and Housing and Environmental Design. Students are encouraged to attend meetings, conferences, and activities at the local, state, and national levels. This year, the club started a financial assistance program to encourage student participation and representation in professional activities. Students are given an opportunity to become members of professional organizations, such as the American Association of Family and Consumer Sciences and the American Dietetic Association. Each year we are actively involved in the Homecoming Fashion Show, where we decorate, model, and serve refreshments. We also plan a Homecoming for kids nutritional program to teach the importance of a healthy life-style. SAFCS is planning to work with the Off Campus Student Association for a joint fund raising effort. Bake sales will be held at some of the ONU basketball games. Each year, we hold a semiformal banquet to present award, honor the seniors, and induct new officers. SAFCS invests in the lives of individuals and families to improve the world in which we live.

Honor in the Family

Kappa Omicron Nu, a national honor society, is dedicated to recognizing and encouraging excellence in scholarship, research, and leadership in Family and Consumer Sciences (FACS). Established in 1990 by the consolidation of Kappa Omicron Phi and Omicron Nu. The society emphasizes personal development, including intellectual, spiritual, ethical, and aesthetic qualities. Professor Dowell, the faculty advisor, relates its mission to Mark 12:28-34. In the passage, Jesus was asked what were the greatest commandments. He said the greatest commandment is to love the Lord with all you heart, understanding, and strength, and the second commandment is to love your neighbor as yourself. This scripture parallels our mission. Our members are motivated and committed to following these commands. Christmas ornaments, made by members were sold at Homecoming to Alumni, Faculty, and students. Another fund raiser was a valentine cookie sale. We helped support the National Volleyball tournament on December 3-6, by sponsoring a team along with the SAFCS. The society sponsored a stress management seminar, taught by Dr. Rewerts, Associate Professor of Business and Chair of the Department of Business. Kappa Omicron Nu will continue their work in achieving personal growth as well as impacting the lives of others through various activities.

Education: The Business of Influencing Lives

The mission and goals of Students' Education Association is to provide many opportunities for the Education majors at Olivet Nazarene University. First, the association creates a forum that allows Education majors to interact with professors, educators in the public sector, and with each other. Second, SEA highlights the Education Department and its members on Olivet's campus. It also provides an increased awareness as to the importance of the career of Education to others on campus. Third, it allows the Education majors at Olivet to give their time on a volunteer basis to various public nonprofit organizations to further better the surrounding community. They sponsored a fund-raising event this year called "Singled Out." It is a type of dating game. They also sponsor various other activities throughout the year on campus. We believe as a whole in the importance of the Education field and the impact that the educators have on their world. Education will always be needed in our world and there will always be a need for moral, Christian educators in our society. As Doctor Stan Tuttle is known to say teachers are the most important influence on children's values and standards, second only to the parents. To put it simply, Doctor Tom Knowles says, "We are in the business of influencing lives."

Perfecting the Art of Arguing

Academy, sponsored by Dr. Van Heemst, is a club dedicated to and focused on one thing: argument. Though our mother's told us to stop arguing, we worked on perfecting it. And perfect it we did. Some of the topics discussed were the boycott on Disney, poverty, Christian music, and trusting our government. Several members would get extremely heated up over issues. Jana Messer was known for standing on her chair to make a point. Jana says, "I may not speak for everyone, but I speak the loudest." Academy president Nicole Given comments, "I think the goal of Academy is to promote free and honest expression." Which for me, was great. Whenever I could, I freely and honestly expressed. For me, Academy was a relief from the school day. It wasn't like the rest of school, where I'm constantly searching for the "right" answer. At Academy, as long as I actually had answer, I was right. At least in my own mind. As Dr. Van Heemst says, "Oh, I see what you're saying."

by Betsy Swardstrom

Academy members: Duane Dubbert, Elizabeth Swardstrom, Matt Horn, Jennifer Hart, Nicole Given, and Jana Messer

Capitol Hill Gang, members Matt Johnson, Justin Long, Craig Griffin, Justin Crew, Neil Steffens, and Kris Grady, take time to celebrate together.

Making a Statement

The Capitol Hill Gang is best typified by a young group of people who think for their own and live life not by the dictates of those who went before. But, rather what is right in their own hearts. This political science organization is making a statement for having a great time with circumstances dealt to us, and living life for real success in the truly important aspects of life, both today and tomorrow. The group is lead by Dr. David Van Heemst Every meeting the gang discusses current issues in politics. They hold debates among the different professors on campus. When political figures visit the area they travel to see them and hear them speak. They also help students on campus register to vote. This year the group also invited the Kankakee County Clerk to speak about his dealings with the elections in Bosnia-Herzegovina. Basically Capitol Hill Gang is a group that gets together and tries combine their Christian faith and political views.

Loving Literature

1 997-98 was an exciting year for the Tau Theta of Sigma Tau Delta! The most exciting event this year was fall induction which tripled our membership. In addition to repeating last year's successful murder mystery dinner, we added several activities to promote community among English majors and appreciation of literature. We sponsored the first-ever English department social, and planned a trip to Chicago to see a play. Tau Theta is ONU's chapter of Sigma Tau Delta, an international English honorary society which seeks to honor students who have excelled in their literature courses and to promote the study and enjoyment of the English language arts. Members must have attended an institute of high education for at least three semesters. Second, they must have taken two courses of literature beyond the introductory level; in these courses they must have a GPA of at least 3.0. Finally, they must be in the upper 35% of their graduating class. Last fall, 12 students met these qualifications and were part of the largest induction ceremony in Tau Theta's history. Valerie Bates, Melanie Burdick, Rebecca Carlton, Aimee Copley, Laura Crisp, Lor Ann Drilling, Jodi Fischer, Heather Kinzinger, Christina Leatherman, Jenni Poe, Jessica Sherwood, Jeffrey Snowbarger and Gabrielle Steinhart were all inducted in November. The 1997-98 officers and returning members of Tau Theta were: Debbie Chase (pres.), Lisa Watson (V.P.), Charity Willard (sec.), Lisa Ghilardi (treas.), Amanda Collar (chapter historian), Denna Lecount, and Danielle Repay. The faculty sponsor is Dr. Shirlee McGuire. This was a busy year for the members of Tau Theta, on which has hopefully begun new traditions which will continue and grow.

Members of Sigma Tau Delta: Amanda Collar, Jenni Poe, Christina Leatherman, Laura Crisp, Valerie Bates, Lori-Ann Drilling, Charity Willard, Amiee Copley, Gabrielle Steinhart, Heather Kinzinger, Jeff Snobarger, Lisa Ghilardy, Melanie Burbrink, Dr. McGuire, Debbie Chase, and Lisa Watson

All About History

Phi Alpha Theta is an organization dedicated to recognizing and promoting outstanding scholarship in the field of History. The chapter at Olivet Nazarene University of Phi Alpha Theta was founded in 1967, making it one of the oldest student organizations on this campus. Dr. Dean is the current faculty advisor of the organization. Admission to Phi Alpha Theta is based upon having a certain GPA in the field of history in addition to maintaining a set cumulative GPA. They must also have completed at least 12 credit hours in the history department. In January the group attended Les Mes in Chicago. Current members of Phi Alpha Theta include Debra Barr, Jason Ferenczi, Sarah Finger, Steven LaBarre, Jason Lee, Vanessa Murrell, Todd Norton, Michael Ruff, Elizabeth Smit, Marie Stanfa, Charity Willard, Jeffery Williams, and officers, Suzanne Bell, Monica Bennett, and Mark Kohl.

In the Business of Helping

After the 1997 Students in Free Enterprise, (SIFE) team went to Kansas City to compete in the National SIFE tournament, the 1998 SIFE team knew that they had huge shoes to fill. Thankfully their predecessors marked the path well and the leadership of president, Scott Greer and advisor, Kevin Kelsey was constantly present to guide the way. The group is a team of students who are teaching others an understanding of how market economies and businesses operate, and helping them to use the knowledge to better themselves, their community, and their country. Most people think SIFE is limited to business majors, but it is intended for anyone interested in helping people and building community awareness of important issues. The team of 12 students met weekly to brainstorm ideas, discuss areas of concern and ways for SIFE to get involved. They also led an organized projects. The team also included 35 other students who met monthly to organize and complete projects. The success of both groups depended on them working together hand-in-hand. This year SIFE completed an assortment of projects that allowed ONU students to reach out to the community. SIFE was involved in National Make a Difference Day. Coordinated by Chris Ewing, David Hayse, Dan Lee, and Justin Monroe, SIFE members and other volunteers spent Oct. 24, doing service projects. The projects ranged from helping with the Grand Opening of the Exploration Station at Perry Farms to sodding the yard of Manteno First Church of the Nazarene. Other SIFE projects involved teaching elementary and junior high students about teamwork, leadership, college opportunities and future careers, tutoring local students, selling ads to area businesses to create placemats for local eateries, giving seminars at Barnes & Noble on personal financing and teaching senior citizens to surf the web. SIFE '98 achieved their goals and created new relationships between Olivet students and the Olivet community as well as the surrounding community.

Action!

Action is the operative word of the Green Room this year. They are active on campus and in the community. Green Room president Kacy Pike says, "Green Room is here to enhance the college and the public's awareness of the fine arts." Pike also reminds us that the fine arts are a form of ministry as well as a form of communication.

Some of the community involvements of the group this year were Christmas carolling in the Bourbonnais area, reading stories to children in Clifton, and performing a skit at St. Peter's Church in Clifton.

Green Room also took part in "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," a dramatic tour sponsored by Perry Farm.

At Olivet, Green Room sponsored the Second Annual Bachelor Auction and banquet as well as a Broadway Revue and a spring dramatic event. The organization also made plans to travel to Chicago to see Les Miserables, Phantom of the Opera, and a Shakespeare drama.

This active group is made up of the following:

Introducing Students to Music Beyond WONU

The Christian Music Society (CMS) is an organization whose main purpose is to make Olivet students aware of the variety of Christian music that is out there. We mostly emphasize music that is not played on stations such as WONU. A lot of the music we promote comes from smaller independent labels. One of the ways that CMS tries to introduce new music to students is through the CMS Music Library. This library is open to all students, faculty and staff. The library contains new music donated from various Christian labels. Besides the CMS Music Library, we take trips to concerts and also put on concerts of our own outside in the Quad once a year. Another event that has become a strong tradition for CMS at Olivet is the twice a semester coffeehouse. This event is usually held in the Warming House, and is well attended by students. The format consists mostly of an open mic and students are allowed to perform with anything from a full out band to reading poetry. Other events sponsored just for members of CMS includes a yearly retreat to the Indiana Dunes. This activity is a weekend camping trip that is held at the end of every school year.

Ambassadors For Christ

Ministering in music is not always an easy thing to do. Long trips in cramped spaces, sing the same songs again and again, and spending the entire summer looking at the same 7 faces can become monotonous. However, that is how the Olivetians ministered as Christ's ambassadors from Olivet. The group included: Paul Austin, Heather Billington, Joel Burbrink, Becky Carlton, Julie Habegger, Mark Jordi, Matt Smith, and Misty Wilson. Although they came from a collage of backgrounds, the group members blended their voices in praise and worship services across the Midwest. Travelling to camps and churches during the summer brought about many memories for the group. Julie recalled, "I enjoyed meeting lots of different people and getting to know them." The group also enjoyed goofing off and spending time with each other. "I get to travel in the summer and on weekends. Even though it's a job, I enjoy having fun and having an opportunity to minister," said Matt. During the summer, Matt could often be found playing basketball with junior high campers or honing his skills on the frisbee football field. The group members agreed that this summer they had some of the greatest experiences of their lives. Paul stated, "If I could do this my whole life, then I would. I would quit my job and leave my family. I would even sing naked if I had to!" Through all their experiences, it was evident that the Lord's hand was on them. Heather remembered one such instance. The group was driving on a snow covered road to a church in Michigan. They were about two miles from the church, but were somewhat lost. Joel spotted a snowplow truck just up the road. He stopped the van and explained to the man driving the truck that they were looking for the Church of the Nazarene. The man smiled and told the group to follow him; he would plow the way for them to get there. Heather explained, "When you're doing something for the Lord, it's good to know he is guiding and protecting you." The Olivetians represented Christ to the Olivet region, University, and each other.

Triumph Entry

“Joshua’s remarkable life was filled with excitement, variety, success and honor. He was known for his deep trust in God and as ‘a man in whom is the spirit’ (Nu. 27:18). As a youth he lived through the bitter realities of slavery in Egypt, but he also witnessed the supernatural plagues and the miracle of Israel’s escape from the army of the Egyptians when the waters of the sea opened before them. In the Sinai peninsula it was Joshua who led the troops of Israel to victory over the Amalekites. He alone was allowed to accompany Moses up the holy mountain where the tablets of the law were received. Only Joshua and his friend Caleb were ready to follow God’s will and take immediate possession of land. Even Moses died short of the goal and was told to turn everything over to Joshua. God promised to guide and strengthen Joshua, just as he had Moses.”

---The NIV Study Bible

To Olivet Nazarene University, Joshua has become the name of a new Public Relations group this year. A seven member, all male group has hit the road this year traveling throughout the '97-'98 school year representing the school. They traveled all throughout the Olivet region covering Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois. This group Joshua, in its first existence, is made up of: Freshman Josh Cobb; Juniors Jason Garrett, Dave Mills, Jay Sandbloom, Tim Strawser, and Brad Zehr; and Senior Joel Christie. Bringing the sound of traditional gospel music and more contemporary harmonies, Joshua has been accepted everywhere they've been, ministering in Jesus name through their music and relationships with the community. Of their many ventures this year, Joshua had the privilege of traveling to San Antonio, Texas in June for the quadrennial General Assembly of the Church of the Nazarene. This was by far a highlight of the summer and year as they shared the platform at many events with PR groups from other Nazarene colleges and universities, singing and working at the university booths.

Music Across the Miles

Rock repelling, squid and shaving cream wars, a high ropes course, human banana splits, flat tires, killer mosquitoes, long van rides, tent services in the rain, "talent shows", hundreds of teenagers begging for "Higher, Higher" one more time, gave Vision's summer a most desirable substance. Each member has a story of a special camper or family who they dared to share their lives with and are a little better off for doing so. The lessons learned from traveling will not soon escape these eight young men and women. They have changed them, bettered, humbled, and taught them that "no man is an island, entire in himself." They learned to rely on each other; accept weakness and share strength. Far above all the crazy games they played and the precarious escapades endured, to witness a person come to know Christ is the greatest reward of all. To have actually been a part of an eternal decision far outweighs bobbing for gummy bears or searching for Lance in the shady, black woods of the Upper Peninsula. Worshipping God and conveying his love to young and old alike, is the aim of Vision. Scott Armstrong connects especially with the junior highers because he says "they are on the same maturity level" as he is. Anyone willing to listen to a story is Holly's friend. This variety in Vision's ministry allows them to reach an entire audience in a service, blessing and being blessed just the same. Ephesians 4:2 instructs us to "Be completely humble and gentle; be patient, bearing with one another in love." There is never a better time for scripture to come to life than spending week after week with the same eight people. But, those people always "got your back" and became the most endearing solace come Thursday. Irreplaceable, Christ-centered relationships are gifts from the Lord to this unique, talented and experienced group called Vision. The members of Vision will never be the same because of them.

It's All About Playing

There is a man standing in front of a group of musicians, wildly waving his arms, staring at the piece of music in front of him. Suddenly, from the trumpet section, comes a wrong note that resonates throughout the room. The arms stop, his head comes up; snickers and jibes are sprinkled across the room as the musicians stop playing and await instruction from the director. He only shakes his head and chuckles. "Check your key signature," he says, then starts frantically waving his arms again. The Concert Band represents fifty uniquely different backgrounds, and fifty different styles of musicianship. Every year these students come together from across the region and beyond. They form what is known as the Olivet Concert Band, and they do it well. The concert band is open to anyone who loves music, knows how to play an instrument, and has a desire to give a little bit of time and energy to play that instrument. Professor Don Reddick is the director of the concert band, and chair of the music department. The band is always open for new instrumentalists each semester. Just because you sat out your freshman, sophomore, and junior years doesn't mean you can't join and play as a senior! Auditions are always at the beginning of each semester, and they are open to anyone of any skill-level or class ranking. Part of the fun of concert band are the tours that the band takes every year. These consist of three weekends a year. The whole band loads onto a charter bus, and heads off across the Olivet Region to play their instruments for various churches and for God. These are fun times of laughs and joking, good food and fun, meeting people and staying in their homes, and times when the band grows closer to God and to each other. Band members look forward to each tour as times when they can get away from campus and be renewed spiritually and laugh along the way. While the concert band may be viewed as just "another" musical group on campus, to fifty students on this campus it is a place where they can go to laugh, have fun, and grow closer to God. It is simply a group of students who are commissioned by God to share their talents with other people, and in turn, praise their Heavenly Father, who gave them the ability with which to do it.

Jazz Diversity

Playing alto saxophone in the ONU Jazz Band has been one of the biggest highlights during my four years here at Olivet. It has only been over the last four years that the band has received recognition. The Jazz Band, which has been around since 1980, is currently under the direction of Eric Penrod. This is Eric's eighth year as director of ONU's Jazz Band. The Jazz Band covers a variety of music styles. Just a few include Big Bands, Swing, Jazz/Funk, Samba, Fusion, and Blues. All of which we have performed for many different occasions. For the past few years the band has played for Homecoming at the "Taste of Olivet." For a first time, we were asked to play for the Homecoming concert along side Mark Lowry. It went extremely well! For Hoosier Hysteria the Jazz Band has been the pre-game entertainment for the Indiana Pacers game. The owners of the Pacers liked us so much that they called us back to play a pre-game and half-time show for a game against the Orlando Magic last year. A few of us members had a chance to get to know the "Pacemates" a little better and run into "Shaq!" That was cool! Other highlights of the band include hosting the Halloween Concerts at ONU, Christmas in the mall, entertaining elderly at the nursing home, playing "jazzed" up hymns in various churches, and believed it or not we played at a Craft show. .and we are still alive. Not only has Jazz Band been an awesome experience, it has been great for Public Relations. By traveling and performing, people see what Olivet has to offer and more importantly it gives us a chance to demonstrate our Christian lifestyles, while still having fun.

“The Lord Bless You and Keep You”

The final notes of “The Lord Bless You and Keep You” sparkle in the air exuberantly from a mass of purple robes. As I look around, I see new faces and old, but always, there are the grand traditions that hold us together. It all begins when I was a freshman...(dreamlike music)... Every freshman or new member is “initiated.” My initiation was performed by now alumni Jerry Sipes and Matt McBurnies. I was told I was a part of a random survey for which I had to do various athletic activities. My final “test” was to run across campus (I was timed) and retrieve a note at Ludwig desk and then return to McHie Arena. Directly after this I was told to open the note, and it read: “Congrats, you made Orpheus Choir!!” This began a number of traditions I will always remember - the fall retreat, with a senior dinner and the singing of the benediction to new members, the infamous

Orpheus Variety Show, Praise Gathering, tour, Orpheus uniform: black shoes and black socks, and the Orpheus banquet... with the singing of the benediction for the final time to exiting members. Soon my time will come and I will be in the inner circle once again, as the rest of the choir surrounds me to sing “The Lord Bless You and Keep You” for the final time. There is laughter ringing in my ears as I think of the memories and close knit relationships I have with my fellow Orpheus choir members. There is a lot to be said about sharing such intimate musical experiences with over sixty other people. I will always remember Orpheus choir...as is summed up by Brayden Wisehart, another member: “I like Orpheus.”

Songs Sung with Heart

Spirit is something that sets University Singers apart from choirs at other universities. The group consists of 50 singers from various fields of study and backgrounds. Under the direction of Martha Dalton, University Singers traveled to churches throughout Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan, spreading their energetic spirit and carrying a message of God's love. This is not just a choir—it's a ministry. The University Singers' fresh combination of contemporary and classic music, testimony, and concern for others stands as a witness to those who see them. The group does not solely perform; they purpose to share the worship experience. Not only does University Singers minister to churches, but they also minister to each other. There is a very strong spirit of family within the choir. Everyone shares joy and grief, fun and work. Members are encouraged to pray for one another and to build supportive friendships. This is done through prayer groups, a fall retreat, and countless hours spent together in rehearsals, devotions, and long bus trips. Devotional time is held at the beginning of each rehearsal and before each performance. A spirit of fun and fellowship emanates from the singers. Rehearsals and trips are often accompanied by laughter. It's no surprise to find Jeremy Orr, University Singers vice-president, hiding in the luggage compartment under the charter bus. Another bus-ride favorite is called, "Everybody Sing Your Favorite Christmas Carol All at the Same Time!" University Singers is a memorable time for everyone. Its spirit will not be forgotten.

Helping YOU Help Others

Who helped you move in to school your freshman year? Who bombarded you with flyers when they ran for an office? As entering freshmen are introduced to the members of A.S.C. after the very first week of school, the same question may run through their minds, "What is A.S.C.?" Much like the freshman, most upperclassmen also ponder what A.S.C. is and what the council actually does. "Breaking down the walls" is the theme chosen by this year's president Brandon Williams. His goal was to serve the students and make the group more accessible. A column to bring the position of president closer to home was integrated in this year's GlimmerGlass. Through his articles Brandon brought words of encouragement to the students. Some of the other "behind the scenes" activities formed by this year's council was the new open dorm policy, new cerfew rules, locks installed in all dorms, and a new door was open to improve student and administration's relationships. The council has paved the way for the students of the future to help make the world a better place to live in.

The Social Page

Social Committee has worked hard this year to provide social activities for the students. The first event of the year was Ollies Follies. Behind the scenes, making it happen, was the Social Committee. Throughout the week were class competitions in different sports. On Saturday was the goofy games, followed by the skit and talent night. Overall, the winners were the juniors. After Ollies Follies, five freshmen were added to the social committee to complete the council. They then took a day to make plans for the year and went to Chicago for a retreat that evening. The next event was school-wide capture the flag. The upper classmen took on the freshmen, who outnumbered them by about ten to one. Of course, the freshmen won, but the upper classmen, wanting to redeem themselves, challenged the freshmen to a second game. The night ended with the two teams coming together to warm up with hot chocolate and hot apple cider and a movie in the Nash. With Homecoming approaching, Social Committee decided to get the student body involved. They planned a Spirit Week for students to dress up and earn points for their class. Monday was roll out of bed day. Tuesday students wore hats, without getting fined. Wednesday was senior citizen day. Thursday was Western Day, and on Friday students sported their purple and gold. After the points were tallied, the senior class redeemed themselves from the loss at Ollies Follies winning the competition. Probably the event most associated with social committee is the Christmas Banquet. This year's theme was "It's Christmas Time In the City." After spending many hours painting a skyline, setting up a fountain, setting up trees, and hanging lights, the room was complete. Bags from different stores in Chicago added the finishing touches, while a jazz ensemble played background music. Students dressed up to attend the banquet and celebrate the Christmas holiday. Second semester Social Committee remained active by providing different activities, such as karaoke. Social Committee has worked hard to provide activities throughout the year so students will look back and remember Olivet as a fun and rewarding experience.

Working on More than Fun

This year the Men's Residence Association (MRA) have been very productive in and for the Olivet Community. MRA has sponsored several prayer breakfast and devotional, organized by Chaplain Jeff Stackart. Trying to help meet some of the spiritual needs of the Olivet men. We are also in the process of organizing a library of books dealing with many issues men face daily from God to girls to the business world. We also have had other events such as paintball for the guys. We have worked with WRA to coordinate events for the entire campus. The back to school bonfire, devotional with the women and toga late skate. MRA has had a successful Gotcha this fall, and will do it again in the spring. Later on this year we are planning on having a nine foot basketball tournament. A hockey night for the entire school and will attempt to have a professional wrestling type of event to appeal to the men of Olivet's more sensitive side. We are also planning on having a bench press competition and an activity that resembles the American Gladiators. As president this year Matt Mund has really enjoyed organizing these events, but more than that he enjoys representing the men and taking their concerns to student development and working with them to come up with a solution. All in all MRA has had a great year.

Successful Women

The 1997/98 school was packed full of activities for the Women's Residence Association and it came off as a success. In preparation for the upcoming school year, Shannah French invited WRA's executive council to her home. This was a wonderful opportunity for the executive council to get to know each other. Not only was this a chance to bond, but it also gave the group a chance to brainstorm ideas for the quickly approaching school year. The first semester began well under the leadership of Shannah French and the seven member executive council. Peggy Alsip also joined the team as the new faculty sponsor. Seventeen additional members joined in the work to complete the team. WRA planned many events involving not only the women on campus, but the entire student body. There was of course, the infamous TWRIP weekends, Family weekend, and their biggest project Homecoming Coronation. They also did a men's contest entitled Mr. ONU. The council ended up beginning with a smaller council this year and the girls were wonderful and easy to work with.

Literally Saving Souls

Olivetions For Life (OFL) is a club that believes that every human life is important and worth living. Our Missions statement is: "Our purpose is to educate people on the tragedy of abortion, euthanasia, infacide, and assisted suicide." With this in mind we want to let others know that these kind of things affect not just those outside of the Olivet community, but also those inside the Olivet community. This is our first year as an ASC club. Last year our president, Katie Lewis, started the group here at Olivet with the hope that eventually it would be a club. Last year we were not given clubship because ASC was not sure how well it would be accepted or if it would last. This year there were letters sent in by faculty and staff and the concern of the student body to the ASC and Student Tribune and ASC voted to give us clubship. Since our start we have been involved in a wide range of activities, Some of these include hosting baby showers for Living Alternative and Crisis Pregnancy Centers, Pro-life Rallies, Walk-a-thon in the spring, and a Memorial for those who have lost someone to abortion. This memorial is something that can help with the closure that may be needed in the grieving process. Within our club we work on staying updated on what kinds of bills and laws are up for vote in the Congress.

Home Away From ONU

Living off-campus adds a whole different perspective to life at Olivet. One organization that is helping off-campus students develop a sense of community is the Off-Campus Student Association. The association was start just three years ago, but already become very involved. The group generally consists of older students, who have many responsibilities outside of school. Each year they sponsor two potluck dinners, one at Thanksgiving and another at Christmas. During the Easter season they sponsor activities for kids including an Easter egg hunt. This year they also sponsored a volleyball team for the NAIA National Volleyball Championships held at Olivet. To raise money to help support activities like sponsoring the volleyball team they usually try to hold a garage sale each year. This year they also went to Chicago, and at the end of year they all get together. The association does more than just spend time together. They addressed a parking problem they were having. Members of the Off-Campus Student Association also spend time together outside the group. They could often be found eating lunch together in Redroom.

FIRE!!

“Do not put out the Spirit’s fire.” (1 Thessalonians 5:19) This command is simple enough for you. You don’t want to put the Spirit’s fire out; in fact, you want to spread it. You want to see students become excited about God in a new and unbelievable way. Is there something you can do to help? You think for a minute... You’re a leader by nature. You genuinely care about the students’ spiritual life. You’re involved in a Spiritual Life group that helps students or surrounding communities. Most important, you just want to tell the world about Jesus. Suddenly, a light bulb comes on. You can go for Spiritual Life Council!

In the words of Jessica Sherwood, leader of Prayer Warriors, “Spiritual Life Council is a great group of people looking to serve God in their own ways.” There are indeed a variety of ways to serve God as a member of the Council. Seventeen groups are represented, each different from the next. Sherwood continues, “[We] just want to make a difference in students’ lives and change them a little.”

In order to make a difference in someone’s life, you have to take initiative, to be willing to lead. As Joel Parsons, co-president of Student Mission Fellowship, says, “People on the Council are among the spiritual leaders of campus.” You have to be willing to be a leader if you want to spread the Spirit’s fire. The Spiritual Life Council is fortunate to be in the hands of strong leaders. Parsons also remarks, “Brent [Tallman, Council Vice President] is an exceptional leader.”

Tallman is one of many leaders. Each Spiritual Life group’s leader is on the Council. Here are the groups represented:

Omega, 180, Fresh Spirit, S.O.S., Evangelists, Disciples, FCA (Impact), SMF, Unspeakable Love, Holy Hands of Praise, Shepherd’s Flock, Urban Children’s Ministries, Life Song, Prayer Warriors, Mission Possible, Prayerband, and Compassionate Ministries.

Spiritual Matters: ONU Spiritual Life Groups

“... As I have loved you, so you must love one another.” John 13:34. Our desire to minister comes from God loving us and then we naturally want to tell others about this great Love! As a result GOD’S LOVE becomes Our Motivation to Save Every Nation. As a leader of Spiritual Life, I have the privilege of enabling willing students with opportunities to share the Love of God.”

-Brent Tallman, Vice President of Spiritual Life Ministries (Spiritual Life pamphlet)
Brent does a great job putting into words what being a part of spiritual life is all about. Being a part of a spiritual life group can be both fun and rewarding. It can be a chance to make close friends with your team members and with the people you are ministering to. There are three headings the spiritual life teams are placed under--traveling teams, outreach teams, and campus “in-reach”. (see pages 224-229) The motto of these teams as provide in the Spiritual Life pamphlet is “As Spiritual Life Ministries of Olivet Nazarene University, we exist for the Spirit-led advancement of God’s kingdom through the service, acknowledging Christ as our foundation.” The pamphlet went on to give a Bible verse to expound on their motto. “And He Himself gave some to be . . . pastors and teachers, to prepare God’s people for works of service so that the body of Christ may be built up until we all reach unity . . .” Ephesians 4:11-13.

Traveling With Spiritual Life

The traveling teams in ONU's Spiritual Life ministry teams consist of four different groups. They consist of Omega, Unspeakable Love, Holy Hands of Praise, and Life Song. Each group has their own style of ministry. Omega is an acting group. According to the Spiritual Life pamphlet, "Omega utilizes the exciting world of drama through skits and songs to minister to Christians and those who need to hear the Good News." This group is also known for their initiation week of new members. New members can be found throughout the week doing wild and crazy things when the group leaders wink at them. The silent team of the bunch is Unspeakable Love. Unspeakable Love is an evangelistic mime team that travels on the weekends to various churches. They perform mimes to contemporary Christian music. The mimes can be both humorous and spiritually challenging for those who watch. This team also made a visit to chapel first semester with the spiritual warfare mime "Ashton." Praising God through puppets is Holy Hands of Praise. This is a puppet team that demonstrates the Gospel through entertains puppet skits and songs. This group carries a message for all ages. The fourth traveling team, Life Song is described by the Spiritual Life pamphlet as, "A music ministry that travels to various churches, encouraging people to seek a deep, vibrant relationship with Jesus Christ through the medium of music." Life Song has some very talented singers and piano players on their teams. Most of these four groups are broken down into various smaller teams. This is to allow more student involvement and enable them to travel to more locations. They are often in high demand. Having so many different places wanting them to come they are kept hopping. These teams involve a time commitment for those involved. Each team practices once or twice a week and travels numerous weekends.

Reaching Out to Touch Someone's Life

Outreach teams: "These groups work where the need arises, not for profit or reward, except for the eternal benefit of changed lives. The groups minister in many ways ranging from local to inner-city works," says the Spiritual Life pamphlet. These teams work for hard and sometimes in some difficult situations. They reach out and try to fill a large number of needs in society. There are eight different outreach teams. Compassionate Ministries reaches out to physical and emotional needs for people. They do this through inner-city projects, environmental projects, hunger relief and much more. Evangels is a ministry to three local nursing homes. They minister to the residence of these homes through friendship. S.O.S., Save Our Streets, ministers to the urban community through things like ministry to the homeless and street evangelism. Disciplers reaches out to the children and youth of the impoverished areas of our city. They provide Sunday Schools and other types of ministries for the children. Next meet Club Beyond, an outreach to youth in Peotone High School. They hold weekly meetings filled with fun activities and a Gospel lesson related to issues high schoolers face. Working with the developmentally disabled is Shepherd's Flock. They endeavor to help the disabled with a loving, Christian spirit. Another Outreach team is Urban Children's Ministries. This ministry reaches out to inner city children through Christ centered activities. They work both independently and through the Kankakee Salvation Army. The prison ministry, Mission Possible makes weekly visits to the prisons bringing the message of God. These are the Outreach Ministry teams.

Ministry to Olivet

“The efforts of in-reach ministries center upon the spiritual formation of the student body. Through prayer, Scripture and accountability, we encourage all to strive for a deeper relationship with Christ.” - Spiritual Life Pamphlet.

Campus in-reach consists of six different groups striving to help Olivet Students with their Christian walks. Prayerband is a weekly praise service led completely by students. It is a time for prayer, singing, worship and testimonies. They meet on Monday nights in Kelly Prayer Chapel. 180 formally known as Praiseband is similar to Prayerband, but they hold a more contemporary praise service, which meets every other week. Looking for a devotional thought written by students or faculty, you will want to read Fresh Spirit. This paper is delivered on a monthly basis to the students during Chapel. One of the more popular groups on campus is the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. You don't have to be an athlete to get involved you just need to enjoy sports. They meet once a week for fun and devotionals. Another group which recently has had a name change is Mission Club, they are now known as Student Mission Fellowship or SMF for short. This is a group of students who have a heart for missions and for overseas missionaries. The sixth and final in-reach team is prayer warriors. Students who are dedicated to praying for our students, our faculty, and our community. The in-reach teams work together to provide Olivet with various opportunities to worship God.

Stop the Presses!

Fingers pounding on keyboards...phones ringing off the hook...the rustling of stacks of pages to be proofed...anxious faces intent on meeting deadline...these are the sights and sounds of the GlimmerGlass office. The newsroom, located on the lower level of Ludwig Center is at the heart of this activity. The staff is comprised of Executive Editor Gabrielle Garrett, Business/Advertising Manager Leah Hudson, Head Photographer/Design Editor Marion Harrison, News Editor Valerie Bates, Features Editor Jaelyn Couch, Sports Editor Eric Olson, Opinions Editor Charity Willard, Arts Editor Adam Robinson and Faculty Advisor Dr. Sue Williams. The GlimmerGlass is a team with each member contributing a vital part to the production process. The section editors assign stories to the reporters who then conduct interviews, gather information, and write stories. Photo assignments are made to provide art with the copy. The articles are then e-mailed to the editors for copy-reading and placement on the pages, using the Adobe Pagemaker program. The pictures are developed, scanned into the computer and placed with their stories. After layout is completed, the pages are proofread by volunteers. Final changes are then made, and the newspaper is saved to a Zip Drive. The editor then assumes the responsibility of taking the finished product to be printed. Deadline is 5 a.m., and the GlimmerGlass is typically on the newsstands by early afternoon the same day. The GlimmerGlass is a mix of local and world coverage- a potpourri of information. The news section offers "Global Glimpses" for those keeping up with world events. The features section serves up "Survey Says," a column offering the opinions of students on campus. The sports section gives the reader the play-by-play and in-depth analysis of all Olivet sporting events. The highlight of the entertainment section is the Dave Barry column, a favorite among students. The arts section informs students of the cultural happenings on and off-campus plays, art shows, and concerts. The diversity of the GlimmerGlass staff combines to help Olivet read all about it.

Freeze!

Tick... tick... the hands of the clock are spinning, spinning. It's two a.m. Why am I here, again? Oh, yeah...that's it- the yearbook. It's deadline night, and writer's block is at its peak. Copy, crop, paste, drag, save, zzzzzzzzzz... Here I am at that old, familiar campground, the Aurora office. The campfire song that echoes in my mind is, "Where's the pizza, where's the pizza?" In this wild forest called Ludwig Center, cries rip the darkness: "Where did I put those pictures?" "What do you mean, no one wrote the story?!" Blocking out the wild noises, I sit down at the computer and begin to type: "Freeze! Aurora is here to capture your memories and to immortalize them within its pages. From August till February, the Aurora staff bustles around campus, gathering pictures, stories, names, and ideas. Everyone is encouraged to take part in the creation of the yearbook. Students from many of the clubs, organizations, teams, and departments submit their own stories to appear on their group's pages. Flyers are posted in August, asking anyone who has pictures of school events or of their friends turn them in to the Aurora office so that they can appear in the yearbook. The Aurora aims to catch both the candid and the formal shots of as many students as possible. Many students who have had fascinating experiences are featured in special stories. Aurora takes hold of our memories and imprisons them in the black and white boundaries of the printed page." As I sit at this computer, my eyes growing heavy, I smile in amusement at the memories I've had the opportunity to share this year. The desperate cries of "Who's covering ASC?" are fading away now, leaving the once-wild Ludwig Center peaceful and silent. Breathing a sigh of contentment at the completion of my page, visions of finished copies of the Aurora are dancing in my head. Ahhhh...copy...crop...photos... deadlines....ZZZZZZZZZZZZzzzzzzzzzzzzzz...

Success was defined throughout Olivet's athletic department during the past school year. Not only were athletes challenged on the playing field, but they were also challenged in life's journey. As participants, each athlete was faced with the task of winning his or her contest. This task is paralleled by the task before each of us to triumph in life. In this way, athletics brought lessons to participants, spectators, and coaches. There is no limit to the opportunities found through athletics. The football team was victorious in the opportunities found through athletics, as they were victorious in the inaugural NCCAA Victory Bowl. The men's soccer team experienced a .500 season for the first time in several years. Women's Volleyball was host to NAIA National Championship, and the men's basketball team once again had a 20-win season. This year was also a time for individual successes. Brad Odgers set the record as Olivet's all-time leading passer, and Jeff Knight became the Tigers' all-time leader in receiving and in receiving yards. In soccer, Nick Good was voted to the NSCAA Coaches Umbro All Midwest Team, while Corrie Allan was named 1997 NCCAA Player of the Year in softball. Success was more than mere scores and statistics. Players learned teamwork is important to accomplish anything. They also found that Olivet was a place where they could demonstrate God-given talents with a Christ-like attitude. As reinforced in the Athletic Department Mission Statement, "They [athletes] are given the daily opportunity to demonstrate that piety, scholarship, and competitiveness can effectively work together to provide opportunity for ministry through Athletics."

Making History...

In only his second season as head coach of the Tiger football program, Mike Conway has taken a once struggling team and made them into champions. In the two years before Conway's arrival, the Tigers produced two consecutive 2-8 seasons. This year, the story has certainly changed.

The Tigers began the season with a shaky start, going 2-2 in their first four games. After losing a close game to Findlay, the Tigers made a personal commitment to excellence for the rest of the season. From that point on, the Tigers surged ahead on a five game winning streak, the longest ever in Olivet's history.

The season culminated with the Tigers being selected to participate in the first ever NCCAA Victory Bowl, located in Canton, Ohio. The game was to be played in Fawcett Stadium, which lies adjacent to the Pro Football Hall of Fame. ONU faced off against Mid-America Nazarene College and emerged victorious. The Tigers finished 8-3 on the year, and broke the record for most wins in a season.

Don't expect the Tigers to stop there. Coach Conway has even bigger plans for 1998. "The next step is taking that hunger for post-season play and achieving even greater things next season, namely the NAIA playoffs."

-Scott M. Weinberg I

Junior running back Hollist Brown avoids a defender, and dashes for the endzone. Brown finished with 1,015 yards on the ground. Senior Josh Cimala breaks through the line. The combined talent of the O-line and running backs produced big plays all season long.

Bringing the wood is Senior linebacker Bruce Mann. Mann led the Tigers in tackles with 144.

Senior wide receiver Jeff Knight became the all-time leader in career receptions as well as receiving yards this season.

win. Finishing the season with a 10-10 record, the Tiger's showed great improvement over last year. One of their more exciting games was in a tournament in Michigan, when the game went into a sudden death overtime against Northland Baptist College. Scoring the winning goal for the tigers, freshmen Nick Good, was rewarded with a team pile on.

Junior Captain Steve Keegan commented that his most memorable moment was also that weekend in Michigan when "Jon Hooyenga cried for mercy while he enjoyed the fruits of team initiation." Good thoroughly enjoyed the North Central game because he was able to play against his brother. "It was one of the most memorable moments of my soccer career," said Good. Craig Maines felt, "the overall attitude and focus of the team was much improved over last year. Every guy on the team contributed, and this combined with our higher intensity level made for a great season."

Defending the Tiger turf, Captain Chris Rickelman passes the ball out of Tiger territory. As the only Senior on the team Rickelman was a leader on and off the field.

Improvements Build Morale

In the second year of its existence, the women's soccer program greatly improved. "The team definitely showed progress throughout the entire season. With the added help of experienced players we were able to read and anticipate the games better. We played some pretty soccer this season," said Captain Cindy Jones. Other coaches who had played the Tiger's previously commented on the improvements, and some were even a little scared for what they might face next year. With five freshmen players the team had a new face. "The upperclassmen made us feel welcome, and really helped us get use to playing college soccer," said freshmen Drew Adams. In one of the more exciting games of the season, Bethel College came out to a sure win, only to be met by an Olivet squad ready for action. After upsetting Bethel 5-3, the team had a new confidence. It was also proved to be a great year for records and awards. Jones was named to the second All-American team for the NAIA, along with five other awards including All-Conference and Scholar athlete. Others named to the All-Conference awards were Dawn Henderson, Drew Adams, and Amy Conradi. Conradi, the goalie, also beat the record for number of saves in a game. Junior Keri Stipp said, "I only wish that I had been able to play in more games. Being injured isn't fun, and with many starters injured, the team struggled near the end of the season. Next year looks very promising."

Team hosts NAIA Championship

The volleyball team had a very competitive season this year. There were several players who were given special recognition, and the team ended their season with a 21-27 record. A big win for the Tigers was a home game against the College of St. Francis. The team had never beaten them before and this win helped to tie them for the number one spot in their district in the Chicagoland Conference. A highlight of the season was having a 5-2 record in the Chicagoland Conference. The Tigers were seeded third going into the conference tournament. # Cheerleading is a varsity sport

Hot or cold, sunshine or rain, wins or losses, the Olivet Tigers have at least one group of constant fans- the cheerleaders.

These women are at every home football and basketball game cheering on their team. According to sophomore Erin Field, the team practices four days a week, Monday through Thursday. "The time I enjoy cheerleading the most is when I am in front of the fans and the fans are clapping and cheering with us," said Danielle Ross. According to Field one strength the team possesses is its experience. She said, "I think we all pretty much have experience, unlike last year." Another team strength she mentioned was its willingness to work and try new things. "We are a willing to do anything squad," said Field.

Ross described some of the team's strengths as well. What stands out in her mind is the team's diversity. Ross said, "I think we have a lot of varied skills. We are all good in our own way." She also said that these varied strengths are incorporated into the squad making the team stronger as a whole. Coach Denise Boone and her 12 member squad seem to have [had] a busy year - with the practices, conditioning, games and fund raising.

BASKETBALL

The 1997- 1998 basketball season has proved to be thrilling since it began back at the November homecoming game with a 88-79 victory against Mt. Vernon Nazarene College. The excitement began to pick up after that with the Tigers winning their own invitational tournament beating both St. Francis and St. Ambrose. Since then the team has played numerous games here at McHie Arena and all across the nation; traveling to places such as California and Kentucky. Each game has been close and action packed all year long. According to sophomore guard Brian McCauley the team has played good all year, but the best is still to come!

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

The women's basketball team was put to the test this year as they were challenged by team after team. Their record, though is deceiving. The team was much better than their record showed. According to freshman Diana Wendall, "Our hard work will pay off eventually." Head coach Dan Voudrie said, "I am proud in the fact that they play hard regardless of the score....They've never lost that sight of what they are trying to attain."

A highlight of the season was playing in the California Baptist Tournament over Christmas break. Although they came up short of a win, the team played very well.

Coach Voudrie looks on at a practice and finds ways to improve each play.

Freshman Diana Wendell shows her skill by driving down the lane, looking for a shot or an assist.

Despite blocks from her defenders, Holly Disch still manages to get the shot off.

Struggling between two opponents, Natalie Gatlin shoots for the basket.

Women's Basketball: Row 1: Sally Walter, Sarah Luginbill, Diana Wendell, Keri Gaskill, Kari Myers, Holly Disch, Row 2: Anna Babinski, Natalie Gatlin, Brigit Mattix, Julie Erffmeyer, Suzanne DeJong, Megan Skinner, Angela Lorenz

Men's Tennis

"It is nice to be able to play some tough competition to prepare us for later in the season," stated Craig Manes, "and it's a great place to work on my tan." The team had high aspirations for 97-98, as their goals were to win Regionals and have a strong showing at Christian Nationals. Above them as a team. "It's almost like we're a family; I love playing with this group of guys," said Dwayne Miller. This years tennis team was sure to have a successful season.

Women's Tennis

Although generally an individual sport, at Olivet, my fellow tennis players and I believe that no matter what the outcome, as a team we always win. This year, Olivet's 1997-8 women's tennis team exhibited the best season in thirty years. The season record was 6-5, leading the team to take second place in the regional tournament. Our display of respect and support for all members of the team is noticed by other teams in the region who remark on the friendliness and respectability of the ONU team. This tennis team wins matches and leaves having made new friends--not new enemies. With the addition of three freshmen in Varsity tennis, we have gained new talent but we will be losing two seniors who can never be replaced in our hearts. Coach Coomer put it best when he told us, "We are all like a family. When one of you leaves, you take a part of me with you." I believe this to be true. Hard work and conditioning is extremely important in creating a strong team, but possessing a good team relationship is the most essential element and that is accomplished only by starting with people who have a heart for God--on and off the tennis court.

Thanks must go out to each member of the team for their friendship and Coach Coomer for his patience and guidance. To the fans: "You ain't seen nothin' yet!"

BASEBALL

Only one senior is on this years team, Jeremy Wiltgen. Needless to say this year is a young team. Head coach, Baker, said, "We may be young; but our junior and sophomores have experience. I hope our opponents look at it that same way."

Baker goes on to say good things about this years twelve freshmen members. The even dozen are mature beyond their years. Probably there will be two freshman in the everyday lineup. Six of the twelve are on the pitching staff. In the fall the players got to warm up for their season. The play is much different in that they only play junior colleges. The season ended with a 12-4 record. In the Spring the season begins with a trip to Kentucky and Alabama on March 12. All of the stats count on this trip. This years team is lead by captains Scott Wadsworth, Chad Wiersma, and Jeremy Wiltgen.

Intramurals

Wendy Parsons is in his 13th year as the Director of Olivet. Each year he encourages as many students with intramural athletics. Wendy's persistence has paid off as over 25% of the student body participated in some form of intramurals this year. There were a variety of sports offered indoor/outdoor volleyball, flag football, table tennis, and tournaments, bowling, several others. The contests were sometimes intense which provided a real sense of competition for those who were looking for that varsity athletics atmosphere. Other students just wanted to have fun, and that is what intramurals gave them the opportunity to do. Intramural athletics provided something for everyone, whether it was for bragging rights or just for fun. For those who are lucky enough to be champions, the taking of the oath...the acceptance of the Intramural Champs T-shirt...and the high five from Wendy, are things that will be remembered for a lifetime.

Two Olivet students display their athletic ability during a flag football game. Intramurals allowed students that didn't compete on the varsity level an opportunity to play sports.

These students take time out to pose for a shot after winning the intramural co-ed softball championship.

Volleyball is another favorite intramural sport here at ONU. Members of this co-ed sand volleyball champion team include : Dan Braik, Alison Krock, RaAnn Ware Tim George, Theresa Miller and David Ward.

Kent Dinius puts up a free throw in one of the holiday tournament games. The Holiday Classic is held every year between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Club Volleyball

The team numbers about twelve. Tryouts for the team are held both before and after Christmas. The club plays a variety of schools in the Chicagoland area. The only basic requirement is that you must take six hours. The team is self supported by donations or out of their own pockets. The whole season ends up usually costing around $700-$1,000. In the past this broke down to about $100-$150 per player. This year Head Coach John Hall has cut costs down to around $30. The team had a head start by raising $500 on their own. "We have a lot of athleticism and talent, some even just learned how to play the game, we will be alright," said Coach Hall.

Do you remember your freshman year?

There is a time in our lives when all good things must come to and end. This comes at the end of the year when Senior get that little thing called senioritous and they get ready to graduate. This back section is devoted to you. With your help of donating pictures and stories this is a section to make you laugh and remember your years here at Olivet. As you go on to try and find out what is lying in store for you. Remember that you will hold a special place in our hearts and minds. We wish you the best of luck for the future. Congratulaitons seniors you did it!

England in the summer. Rolling hills, historic cities, and winding spires. I spent seven weeks walking on history as a student at Oxford University, or more approximately, the Centre for Medieval and Renaissance Studies.

Arriving amidst rain and cloudy skies, I spent the first two weeks freezing, but also thankful that I had the vision to pack a flannel and sweater midst my shorts and sandals.

Studying the renaissance and reformation in Europe as a lecture, I also opted to take a seminar on William Shakespeare. But, not all our time was spent in a walled classroom. A part of our six weeks of study was a "field trip" every week. We traveled the English countryside admiring Cathedrals, large estates, small villages, and not to mention the highlights including Stratford and Stonehenge.

The Weekends were primarily ours to study or travel and I usually opted for the latter. After a July 4th party including hamburgers and sparklers, a group of students and myself headed to Ireland for the weekend I spent other weekends hitting the sights in London and Scotland.

The most compelling aspect of my summer abroad was the people I met. We spent hours talking late into those summer nights about religion, literature, and our lives in the U.S. Those few weeks brought people into my life that I will always hold dear and memories I will always cherish.

It's time for a campfire and s'mores.

Ahh the charming voice of Holly Karr is enjoyed by this classy group of seniors at Ollies Follies skit night.

Michelle Manley and Alison Baker show even the stresses of nursing can't get them down.

Kunitoshi Sakai

I was asked to be a translator for the 24th General Assembly of the Church of the Nazarene. I had the privilege to provide Japanese translation for thirteen services and business sessions. During the General Assembly I faced many Asian delegations who had a negative preconception towards the American church because of what American missionaries had done in the past in the Asian countries. This made me wonder if there is a political movement rather than a concern for the healing of Christ in our church. A country which is very close to my motherland is ready to be independent from the rest of worldwide Nazarene family. One night, after the General Superintendent preached about the need to reach out to the poor, the lost, the outcast, and the homeless, and everybody was very happy to hear the message. There was a woman sitting on the bench, who was obviously in despair. Nobody paid attention to her. It was a very painful moment for me to see that. And I thought about what the gospel meant for us.

I also visited Manhattan, New York with my uncle and cousin from Japan. I noticed God's children who were in despair on the street because of HIV, and those who wore $100 ties, who owned limousines, who were transvestite, and so on. And I thought again about what the gospel meant for us.

Sometimes we as students at Olivet have an illusion of being a Christian. I doubt the one who depends on external appearances, such as believing in not cussing, not drinking, not having long hair, smiling all the time, being good Christian kids in front of parents, going to church on Sunday morning, getting a good GPA, and going to Olivet makes you a Christian. Soren Kierkegaard said, "...the genuine subjective thinker is always just as negative as he is positive and vice versa... He is, therefore, never a teacher, but a learner, and if he is continually just as negative as positive, he is continually striving. Instead of having the task of understanding the concrete abstractly, as abstract thinking has, the subjective thinker has the opposite task of understanding the abstract concretely." And I really think about what the gospel means for our Olivet family.

Shelby Moore

Shelby Moore spent her summer as a youth pastor at her home church in Grand Haven, Michigan. A new pastor was hired and his son asked Shelby if she would like to become a co-youth pastor working alongside him. She started in the Jr. High class. The group took many trips. They went on a bike trip in Northern Michigan. The most memorable trip however was the one taken to Mt. Heral, a 11,000 foot mountain in Colorado. Shelby describes this trip as a, "good learning experience."

The mountain took five days to climb. While climbing Shelby and others experienced many set backs, and they saw how God provided in many ways. One example of this is one night when the weather was awful, the tents froze and God helped them not to cave in. Shelby also recalls a jeep trail that was long and dangerous. "We were covered with dust, and when you breathed in all you took in was that same dust," said Shelby. They had no water left to finish out that four and a half mile hike, but somehow God helped them get through it. "The group completely relied on the Lord and he brought them through it," Shelby added.

Julie Keefer

I spent this last summer in ministry with Youth in Mission in Fiji. I, along with three other Nazarene University students, teamed together to win others to Christ in this South Pacific Island. Using such ministry tools as puppets, drama, singing, mime, and magic, and balloons we were able to reach thousands who had a thirst to know more about God's love, forgiveness, and tender mercy. We were in charge of a youth group that grew from six to twenty-nine in a few short weeks. There was also a prison ministry which led us to be on a Christian radio show geared to the prisoners. In the wee hours of the morning we would go out and help the poor and homeless, which caught the attention of the television media, Fiji Dateline. Along with those exciting ministries, we were able to enjoy God's beautiful creation on this island. We went cliff diving at a few different waterfalls, canoeing in the ocean, and our infamous journeys through the jungle brush. It was an incredible experience to become a part of another culture where my outlooks on our world were broadened and my relationship with Christ was strengthened.

All too happy to be showing off their school spirit this group of fans goes to extremes.

The grand opening of the coffee house, "Common Grounds."

Joelle Heilemann gets a few highlights from Nicole Given.

"I want some fries with that," says Ron Hadley, while Keith Mauck tries to decide what to eat.

Parsaoti Kuya eagerly jumps to get the phone.

Mark Rice enjoys some of nature's beauty.

It is a showdown between Shannon Swilley and his opponent.

Thank You

What a year! I still cannot believe it is finally over. We survived even with the rough start at the beginning of the year. Together we accomplished great things. Many doubted such a young staff could pull it off, but we did it.

Through my experiences on Aurora, I learned a lot about teamwork, to strive for excellence and a great deal of patience. I hope all of you will go away from this experience with Aurora knowing that you were vital, and this book would never have become a reality without you. I believe I was blessed to have such a talented group of editors.

We definitely can say we had a time to remember this year at Olivet. We scarfed down a great deal of animal crackers and had plenty of anti-dancing parties. Through it all we still managed to put out a quality product. Below are a few people I would like to thank:

Dr. Whitis- One of the world's greatest advisors as far as I am concerned. Thank you for lending an ear when I needed you and also being willing to stand by me. You are great!

Lexa Shelton and Amanda Lattig (University Life and Events)- Wow! Your knowledge has blown me away. Where have you been all of my life? Your creative ideas seem to be a never ending stream. Thanks for stepping in when I needed you both.

Bridget Szpot (Academics)- Thanks for sticking it out. You learn quickly and you never seem to give up. Some day I will invent a talking computer that gives instructions, just for you.

Jeremy Selwidge (Index)- Thanks for helping out even after you knew what you were getting yourself in to. You are the backbone of this book.

Iola Noble (Organizations)- Thanks for putting up with me. You have helped me out more than you will ever realize. When you see your roommate tell her how lucky she is to have lived with you for two years.

Dana Hayse (Sports)- Hey girl! My hats off to you. You had to tame some crazy reporters and you did it. Your dual talents of writer and photographer have really left me in amazement at how you have time to do it all.

Josh Richardson (Ads)- Thanks for stepping in and taking over. This book might not even be here if you would not have come along. You are a life saver!

Andrew Sears (Head Photographer)- You are the greatest! Your professional manner and the twist of humor have made it fun to work with you. Thanks for putting up with all of my long messages I left you. You did a good job this year!

Staff- I would like to thank all of you. I know the deadlines were tedious and often the nights seemed like an eternity, but all of you made it, and we have a wonderful yearbook to show for it. Each one of you played a vital part in the production.

To my family- Thanks for supporting me when I felt like I was going crazy. Thanks to all of you for keeping me in your prayers. Last, thanks for teaching me to go for what I believe in and to persevere. I love all of you very much.

Dr. Jay, Jeanette, Rachel, and T.J. Martinson- Thanks for all your love and support.

Megan McGuire- Thanks for putting up with all of my "just one little" questions. You kept me from being a complete wreck when I thought things were falling apart.

Also a special thanks to the following people: Dean Webb, Peggy Alsip, Nancy Bretzlaff, ASC, Gabrielle Garrett, JonMarc "Vomit" Thill, and to those special friends who went the extra mile to support and listen when I needed you most.

Heidi Kellinmeyer and Libby Smit ready to begin a day of classes.

*Merideth Densford,
